I can recommend these brethren highly.

Brooks Terry, 2314 Overton Road, Dallas, Texas, June 8: The church at Overton Road in Dallas continues to grow. This year thirty-five have answered the invitation; fourteen have been baptized, three restored, and fifteen have placed membership with us. A new record in Bible school attendance has been reached. Some of those who have been baptized were heads of families and came out of denominationalism. Leonard Mullens recently did the preaching in our gospel meeting in which six were baptized, two were restored, and three placed membership.

W. L. Fritts, 501 N. Main, Winnsboro, Texas, June 2: We began our work here May 24th, and everything seems to be in fine order. We hope there are great days in the future. We had a very fine service the first day we were here. Singing in the afternoon and all seemed to enjoy it very much. Our work in Texarkana, Texas, at the Rose Hill church came to a close on May 17th. Our last day was in a way the greatest. We had twenty-one to come forward: eleven at the morning service, and ten at the evening service. We spent five and one-half years with the church at Rose Hill and enjoyed the work very much.

Robert H. Bell, 672—19th Street, San Diego 2, California: From April 1st to 12th the East Mabel and Santa Rita Streets church in Tucson, Arizona, conducted a meeting in which I preached. The church had been prepared for the meeting and all seemed to think it was a success. Only two were baptized, but good otherwise was accomplished, I trust. The other faithful congregations in the city and their preachers were in attendance. Brother Clarence C. Gobbel is the preacher for this congregation and is doing a good work. I enjoyed the meeting very much. Brother John W. Wilson closed a meeting with us here at Central on May 27th; one was baptized, one restored and two identified. All of the churches in the city and their preachers gave much encouragement with their prayers. The Lord willing, I will begin a meeting with the Friendship, Tennessee, church on July 5th. Brother David Davidson is the preacher for this congregation, and is an outstanding song director. He will conduct the singing during the meeting. From there I go to Glass, Tennessee, just west of Obion to begin July 19th. Then to Vaughn's Grove to begin August 9th. I am looking forward to worship with each of these congregations, and trust many souls will be saved. Brother Robert W. Lehmann, of this congregation, continues to do good work with the El Cajon church, but will devote his full time to the work here in my absence this summer.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, June 8: I am in the midst of a fine meeting with the church in Angleton. Brother J. A. Bristow is their evangelist. We are having a fine meeting as far as visible results are concerned. I believe that we have had nine so far and the meeting began only last Friday evening. The church here is building a fine new building which is badly needed. They have had a fine growth the last few years. We begin a Vacation Bible School at home June 15. We are hoping and praying for the greatest we have ever had. Last year we had an average of about 350 in attendance. Pray for us and visit us in Victoria.

Rue Porter, Neosho, Missouri, June 2: It has been some time since I have reported my work to the Firm Foundation but I have been busy nevertheless. Eight meetings in California beginning January 4th, and one in Oregon which ended early in May. All were enjoyable, and I shall return for several in 1954. Have just closed a good meeting with the new congregation at 53rd and Blackwelder in Oklahoma City. Pat Abbananto is their efficient and faithful ministering servant. I am now at Dayton, Arkansas, the home of Brother H. H. Dunn. Few men have done or are doing finer work in the kingdom than Hurley Dunn. I go next to Stamping Ground, Kentucky. May the Lord bless all the faithful everywhere.

J. Cleo Scott, Box 898, Conroe, Texas, June 9: The church in Conroe is overflowing in Bible classes and worship services. We are beginning the construction of additional class rooms and annex to the auditorium immediately. We have had fifty-one responses since January 1. Thirty-two are additions to our working forces. We give glory to the Lord for the abundance of the blessings that have been ours.

John F. Pournier, 843 E. Florida, Beaumont, Texas, June 8: Our hearts were made to rejoice yesterday at Evadale. One of our young men returned from the army and confessed wrongs and his wife made that good confession and was baptized the same hour of the night. This makes four baptisms and three confessions of wrongs since last report. Remember us at Evadale in your prayers.

Tom E. Wallace, P. O. Box 7, Hobbs, New Mexico, June 4: Last Sunday completed two years' work for me with the congregation here in Hobbs. During this period there have been 157 additions, most of this number baptized, and the remainder were restorations. We have been exceptionally proud of our Wednesday evening attendance. For many months our Sunday morning Bible study attendance and our Wednesday evening Bible study attendance has run along hand in hand in the number attending. Often, for weeks at a time, our Wednesday evening attendance has exceeded our Sunday morning class attendance. Our record Wednesday attendance during this period was 393 persons; our record Sunday morning attendance was 391 persons. Our largest contribution was something over $1,700. For several months now we have been engaged in building programs. We have added 5,100 feet of floor space to our own property here in Hobbs, and we paid for this addition in cash out of our weekly contributions as we built. At present, with the help of the Parkview congregation in Odessa and other sources, we are completing a building in Chihuahua, Mexico, where Brother Ben Cano preaches. The elders and deacons with the entire congregation have done a grand job in planning, carrying out, and supporting all of these good programs. We have had a part in the work among the colored people here, and we have helped out in other works as well.

Neal Marshall, Fort Worth, Texas, June 5: The meeting with the church in Albany, Texas, in which I did the preaching, resulted in three baptisms and one confession of fault. It is said to have been one of the best meetings in the history of the church. The church there is now meeting in their new building. They are full of zeal and should go forward. I was asked to return for another meeting. Brother Bill Teague is preaching for them and is loved by all. The work here at Diamond Hill is still going forward in a most outstanding way. The month of May was still another record month. Our Bible study attendance averaged over one hundred per cent of our membership. The offering was the highest ever and 12 responded to the invitation. Four were baptized, including two Baptists and one Methodist, three were restored and five identified. Remember us in your prayers and visit with us when possible.

Earl R. Anthony, 4501 Richmond Avenue, Austin, Texas, May 17: April 17th, I started preaching for the Leander, Texas, congregation with great prospects for the future. May 17th these began to mature with two baptisms. Much progress is in sight. When passing through Leander, worship with us.

Granville Jones, Box 364, Stinnett, Texas, June 5: Our meeting with Brother A. W. Chism preaching, and Brother O. F. Shewmaker directing the singing, closed May 28th. There were eight baptisms and the church strengthened by the fine lessons presented, both in sermon and in song. Both Brother Chism and Brother Shewmaker are fine co-workers. These baptisms brought to a total of nine baptisms for the month of May, two restorations, and five indicating their desire to work with this congregation. Truly God is to be praised for these results. This congregation is sending me to Mena, Arkansas, June 7th, to assist in a meeting. This is a small congregation, but a willing and working group. When coming through the high plains of Texas, worship with us.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, May 25: After more than two years with the fine group of saints at Crane, Texas, we began working with the church in Mission, Texas, last Lord's day. We left a good work at Crane. The attendance and contribution more than doubled in the two years we were there. We began there when the work was at a very low ebb, with less than a hundred in the Sunday morning Bible classes, and contribution less than one hundred dollars. When we left, the Bible class attendance averaged over two hundred with close to two hundred and fifty for the morning worship and contributions averaging around two hundred and fifty dollars per Sunday. We left the finest group of young folks there of any place we have ever worked and we will miss them greatly. The work in Mission was a challenge to us. Just to think that in a city of almost 11,000 eternity-bound souls there were only about 60 in the Sunday morning Bible classes. Most of my preaching work has been in hard fields, and the Lord has blessed our labors. Thus, we came here to see if there was something we could do with helping the church here to go forward. Satan has gotten his nickel's worth in the valley which will take time to overcome. The church here has two excellent elders, men that love the church, and have the courage to stop false teaching. When in the valley, worship with us, and remember us in your petition to the throne of God, that the work here may grow and prosper and souls be saved.

Billy Norris, Box 14, Sparta, Tennessee, June 8: On July 1 my family and I shall move to Searcy, Arkansas, where I shall work with the Harding College congregation as evangelist. There is almost an old-time spirit of revival here in Sparta, with numbers being baptized. There have been eleven baptisms the last two Lord's days.

Max T. Neel, Waco, Texas, June 8: After five of the most pleasant and profitable years of our lives, we have resigned our work here effective August 9 to work with the Lawndale congregation in Houston. This comparatively new congregation with about two hundred and fifty members and a new building the auditorium of which cost well over $100,000, offers a great challenge. We solicit the prayers of friends and brethren that we may please the Lord in this endeavor. The man who moves to the Herring Avenue congregation will be fortunate indeed. Never have we seen a group of people more cooperative and desirous of doing the Lord's will. We predict for them a bright future as we look back over the years of labor together and note the progress that has been made, and anticipate what can be accomplished in the future. The congregation, though only five years' old, now numbers upward of 475 members, after helping to start a new congregation in the city, and have three acres bought for the location of another. So far as we know, there isn't a "ripple on the water," for which we humbly thank God! Pray for us!

Howard A. Blazer, Sr., P. O. Box 364, Crossville, Tennessee, June 2: Thirteen were baptized and eighteen restored in my work here last year. Since the first of the year four have placed membership and one has been baptized at Mayland, and four baptized at the new mission at Alloway schoolhouse. Three of these were Baptists and one a Catholic. Other work in the county is also encouraging. Brother Roy J. Hearn, who is the local minister for the Crossville congregation, engaged Mr. W. W. McMicken, a Seventh-Day Church of God preacher, in a debate here May 11-16. The first three nights Mr. McMicken affirmed that the sabbath is the day for Christian worship today. The last three nights, Brother Hearn affirmed that the first day of the week is the day for Christian worship and the Lord's Supper. While this was Brother Hearn's first debate on these issues he showed himself capable in a most gratifying way. Every argument was anticipated beforehand by Brother Hearn and charts prepared which were used with telling effect. Both speakers conducted themselves in a wholesome manner and the crowds were estimated to average about five hundred each night. I kept time for both speakers.

Archie L. Waldrum, Box 288, Palestine, Texas, June 8: The church in Palestine, Texas, is to have early morning worship during the months of July and August. Beginning the first Sunday in July, the church will meet at 8 o'clock on Lord's day morning instead of the usual 11 o'clock hour. We hope those traveling through Palestine, and expecting to worship with us, will remember this change in meeting time on Lord's days. I preached in a meeting with the Colgate Avenue church in Lubbock, Texas, the first two weeks in May. There were seven additions. Brother John T. Smith is doing a wonderfully fine work with this good church. He is one of the best to work with in a gospel meeting.

L. E. Fooks, Anadarko, Oklahoma, June 2: Sunday, May 31, was a day of mixed emotions for all of us at Tuttle, Oklahoma. We had a very joyous service in the morning and a dinner afterwards and singing in the afternoon, all this summed up means wonderful Christian fellowship. We also had a good worship service that night. Norman Campbell preached in my place, and the lesson was a plain, good gospel sermon. After the sermon, I stood before the group of Christians and told them goodbye. It was hard for me to do. There were tears and much sadness. All in all it was a very memorable day. My family and I left the church in peace, though there are some problems that are known to the congregation, and they are working to remedy them. I have a great hope for the church at Tuttle in the years to come. We moved to Anadarko to work with the church in this city. This is a city of more than 6000 but the church is small and weak in comparison. Some have said that this is a hard place for the denominations are so strong and worldliness is rampaging. We are not blind to these facts. With the grace of God, love in our hearts, and a willingness to work, we shall accomplish the task set before us, so help us God.

Thomas F. Shropshire, Box 1225, Post, Texas, June 5: I am now living temporarily in Post, having terminated my work with the church in McLean, Texas, about a month ago. My work with the church there was pleasant in many respects and we regretted leaving many friends whom we learned to love during our nineteen months of association. I am now available for meeting work or a regular local arrangement or both. I have had fifteen years of experience in preaching the gospel and have a clean record throughout that time. Any congregation desiring my services in either way mentioned above, may reach me at the above address or by phoning 64W, Post, Texas.

C. T. McCormick, Italy, Texas, June 2: It has been several months since my last report to the papers of my work with the churches. I closed my part of the work with the brethren at Dawson, having served the Lord with them for twenty months, and began work here on the first Lord's day in May. I enjoyed being with the brethren at Dawson, having been with them in many a meeting as song leader, for such men as C. R. Nichol, R. D. Smith, Brother McFee, J. W. Brents, T. B. Thompson, J. L. Hines, Cled E. Wallace. Thirteen meetings with these brethren, and assisted the brethren as minister in one. God has faithful children in Dawson. Some 25 years passed before I finally got back to Italy, but I made it in just the way I wanted to make it. My wife and I rented our home in Dallas and moved into the comfortable little home belonging to the church here to serve the Lord with the brethren to the best of our ability, and the strength that God will lend us, for without him we can do nothing. The Lord has blessed me with most excellent health; only one Lord's day have I failed to preach because of illness in fifteen years. In passing this way, if convenient, stop with us.

A. E. Botts, 231 West Main Street, Brawley, California: We met in our new building for the first time Sunday. There were 172 present for the morning service. This is one of the finest buildings in this section of the country and the brethren here are to be commended for the unselfish effort to make the progress that has been made. The seating capacity is approximately 280 without crowding. I have preached for the church here since shortly after coming here last fall to build the building. The brethren asked me to continue to preach for an indefinite time which I have accepted. Interest is high and good cooperation exists as is attested by our contributions for the past seven weeks which have averaged $434.60, with an average for March of $453.60. This is commendable since the membership here is only 84. Within the past two months we have had four baptisms and one restoration. It is our prayer that many will obey the gospel and that our new building may be a means of our rendering a greater service in the work of the Lord.

TO ALL CONGREGATIONS OF THE CHURCH:

This is to certify that Brother G. Vincent Gaskill, who has served this congregation as its minister for the past ten months, June 29, 1952, to April 26, 1953, submitted his resignation on the latter date, in a Christian spirit and with the respect of the congregation.

However, as the elders serving this congregation, we have seen fit to request Brother Gaskill to continue his services until July 1, 1953, in the interests of the welfare of the congregation and his own as well.

We further state that there are no doctrinal differences existing between us and Brother Gaskill. He is sound in the faith and scriptural in his teaching and preaching. He is a very capable Bible teacher and has done good work in personal visitation.

It is our desire as Christians to assist Brother Gaskill, through the medium of this letter, that he may continue to faithfully serve in the ministry of the Lord, in whatever field he chooses to locate.—Signed: Elders H. Glen Burton and Paul E. Fossler, Andrews Avenue Church of Christ, 1153 South Andrews Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

MAJESTIC HYMNAL -- Well Received

GREATLY PLEASED, but not surprised we are noting the reaction of those who have received copies of our first edition of "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL." Sample copies called for have been sent, and examined, and already orders, large and small have reached our office. Some were so certain that the book would please them that they placed orders for their full requirements in advance, to be shipped as soon as the books were from the bindery and these orders have already been filled. We appreciate this confidence, and are glad of course, when we receive a message that "we are more than pleased" with the book.

You will note that "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL" is different. It is not just like the common run of song books. You are entirely correct in this; and we are glad that you take notice of it. And we want to add that this is not at all unintentional on our part. For example you will find quite a number of songs that are designed and intended to be used for special occasions, a line of composition for which we have frequent calls, and which are very much in demand among our singers, specially among the younger groups in many of the larger congregations, and are of the very first importance in musical training and song drills, which are greatly needed to revive the proper interest in singing in most of the churches.

Boost the song service; practice singing frequently, and also have a real Singing School at frequent intervals. Nothing will build up interest in the congregation more than really good, enthusiastic singing; and excellent singing will do more than any other one element in leading souls to obey the gospel. No matter what song book you are now using, you will make no mistake if you order a supply of "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL" just for a real period of teaching, and drill, and developing an interest in new and old songs. We can use an old book too long; also it is a good thing sometimes to get a new book for some special drills and for use in the church even if we store the old ones for future use or for supplying weaker, smaller, or mission groups. Prices: Full cloth, $1.00; Leatherette, 80 cents.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Gunnison, Colorado

If there are any loyal disciples living in Gunnison, Colorado, I would like to have their names and addresses. There are Texas people, who are members of the church, who spend part of the summer in that vicinity each year, and so far they have not been able to contact other members of the church of Christ.

Gunnison is a good size town, and there must be members of the church living there. It is very unfortunate that members of the church of Christ will identify themselves with the Christian church, when they find themselves in a town having no church of Christ. The proper thing to do is to try to find other disciples, and start a church in that place. There is a state teacher's college in Gunnison that has a good sized enrollment each summer. Surely there are several who are members of the church of Christ in this student body.

If this comes to the attention of any who are living in Gunnison, or any who are spending the summer there, I will appreciate hearing from you, giving your street address. Also this may come to the attention of some who know of members of the church of Christ living in Gunnison. Anyone who knows of disciples living in that place, please write to my address at the close of this article.

Sermons By The Devil

The devil is not sincerely religious, but he does not hesitate to join religious movements, when he can advance his own interests by doing so. He will encourage revivals if the truth is not preached. Modern union meetings are just to his hand—he knows the truth will not be preached in such meetings. The gospel of Christ does not fit into a union meeting. On this point we read in the book of Job, "Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them" (Job 1:6). Of course the purpose of Satan in attending this service was not for any good that he might do. On such occasions he is present to corrupt the service if he can—to discourage, frustrate and preach false doctrine.

Probably the sons of Job did not know the devil when he came among them, but the Lord knew him. When Satan goes to church, he does not introduce himself as the devil. He identifies himself with some high-sounding name. In this meeting the devil's subject was "Doth Job fear God for naught?" He put him forward as a time-server and a hypocrite. The Lord knows a man's heart, but the devil does not. The devil represented Job as a hypocrite while the Lord knew he was sincerely devout.

The devil's sermon to Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden is typical of his preaching. He is a blasphemer, and contradicts the word of God. The Lord told Adam and Eve that they would die if they ate the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. The serpent said they would not die, but be made wise by eating.

The devil's sermon to Christ recorded in the fourth chapter of Matthew had three points. First, turn these stones into bread. Second, cast yourself down from the pinnacle. Third, fall down and worship me. "If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread." "If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down." We observe that the tempter was asking him to do what he came to do—work miracles and fulfil prophecy. He showed Jesus the short road to victory—fall down and worship me for the kingdoms of this world and their glory.

A Question On Dancing

Ross W. Dye

When a preacher stands in the pulpit and condemns popular sins, there are usually widely varying results. On the one hand, some will wish they had stayed home. They will be offended and brand the preacher an old "moss-back." On the other hand, some will be brought to repentance and saved from eternal condemnation. Many others who are striving to do right will be strengthened in the faith. God will be pleased when sin is rooted out and the Christ and his gospel are lifted up.

I am in receipt of a letter from a brother in Dearborn, Michigan, who had read one of my articles on dancing, but still asks, "Where has our Lord or his apostles so stated that dancing is sinful?" You will find a specific prohibition against dancing in the same passage where such a prohibition is found against playing the numbers racket, gambling, and many other things which God-fearing people hold to be sinful. If we had to find a specific statement prohibiting each thing that is wrong, I am afraid the world could not contain the books. The Bible sets forth principles which will cover every new way men can ever invent to do age-old sins. The New Testament does not say, "Thou shalt not use mechanical instruments of music," but does that mean it is right to use them in worship? Some sins can be committed in a number of ways. To be sure, the Bible does single out the sin, but it isn't necessary to mention all the ways of committing the sin. I want to demonstrate in this article that dancing is one way of committing at least one of the works of the flesh which Paul mentioned in Gal. 5:19-21.

Testimony Of The Experts

First, let us hear from the Chicago vice commission. These men asked three hundred prostitutes, "What caused you to become what you are?" Eighty-five per cent said, "My first step wrong was caused by the modern dance." In the light of this testimony, can parents be so reckless as to permit their children to accept such odds?

A college president in Dallas, Texas, said, "The dance has contributed many disgraced girls to the world. Many boys have lost honor and character in the dance hall. Girls lost virtue and purity in dance halls, but never has one been made purer." A former owner of a Chicago dance hall said, "We are all men. We know the natural desires of youth. We know that sex is the strongest impulse planted in the human race. You can picture the effect on a boy or girl of eighteen or twenty, when this hunger is keenest, when knowledge and experience are lacking in the foundation of judgment, of one of the dances which calls for close abdominal contact and frequently brings the cheeks together and entwine the limbs. Yet we find thousands of boys and girls dancing this way every day and whose fool parents look on complacently." There is left, then, but one reason for its popularity. Sex appeal. Now, you fathers and mothers know that this man told the truth. How can we be indifferent toward such a thing?

A Chicago physician specializing in nervous diseases said, "As a medical man I flatly charge that dancing is fundamentally sinful and evil. I charge that dancing's charm is based entirely on sex appeal. I charge that it is the most insidious of the maneuvers preliminary to sex betrayal. It is nothing more nor less than damnable, diabolical, animal, physical dissipation. Do mother and father, husband and wife dance like that? Why is the long-married man soon wearied of dancing with his wife? I'll tell you the basic spell of the dance is the spell of illicit physical contact—we doctors know there are mysterious current affinities that seem almost chemical. I am no preg or prude, and so I frankly tell you that it is not safe to subject even the strongest to the subtle temptations of the dance. A trail of broken homes proves this. The stimulation of the dance, with its fingering of the lowest and most primitive emotions, drugs the intellect and spirit."

A man who studied dancing in high schools, said, "I visited 'Teentown' a few nights ago and took a brother with me. I asked him what he thought of it. He was amazed and called it a 'Young Honkietonk.' The men behind teentown and those who run it are unselfish men who seek to better the community, but they are deceived. In reality teentown is a training shop for dance halls and night clubs! When the children get out of their teens where are they going to dance?"

The matrons of Rescue Homes in Los Angeles said, "Sevenths of the girls received here have fallen through dancing and its influence." Ex-dancing teacher, Professor William H. Holmes said, "I found the ballrooms an avenue of destruction to multitudes." Ex-dancing teacher, Harry Stribes, said, "I will say that I do not believe that a woman can waltz virtuously and waltz well, for she must yield her person completely to her partner." Mr. Faulknew, a former dance master of Los Angeles said, "It is a startling fact, but a fact nevertheless, that two-thirds of the girls who are ruined fall through the influence of the dance." Dr. Frank Richardson, speaking before the Homeopathic Association of New Jersey said, "Dance halls are the modern nurseries of the divorce courts, training shops of prostitution and graduating schools of infamy and vice." An archbishop said, "Nine-teen of twenty women coming to the confessionals, attribute their fall to the dance."

Contention Of Dance Proponents

Some say, "Supervise the dance for the young people; they are going to dance anyway." In the first place, this is not fair to our young people. This infers that they are bent upon deliberately plunging headlong into sin. I am proud of the young people in the church. Of course, some of them are not what they ought to be, but is that nearly so much their fault as it is the fault of their parents? I know many young people who know the evil of the dance, and who would not think of attending such a carousal. Further, the idea that sin can be supervised, fenced in, and given a gloss of respectability is an insult to the intelligence. How long will it be before someone advances the idea that fornication is all right if it is supervised? If dancing is good, why the need for such close supervision?

Others say, "I know many not hurt by the dance." Not everyone who takes a drink becomes a drunkard. Shall we advise liquor in moderation? Certainly I would be the last to charge that all who dance are libertines and whoremongers, but the grim fact remains that the dance leads to that. That someone might not be hurt by it is not because of its spiritual uplift but despite its demoralizing influence.

The Bible And Dancing

The Bible condemns the fruit of the dance. Jesus said, "Every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit" (Matt. 7:17, 18). It is hard to see how anyone can deny the fruit of the dance, yet some close their eyes and refuse to see. Some insist upon putting good for evil. "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter" (Isa. 5:20). The worldly-minded have never been able to see anything wrong with sin. "Those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil" can readily see that something is dreadfully wrong with the dance. Who can read the following statement by Dr. Hall and deny the fruit of the dance? "A boy and girl were dancing at a masked square dance. In the emotional excitement attending the affair, they slipped away and violated the sacred moral principle that is as old as man. Then the young man pulled the mask from the face of the girl. She heard his shout of fiendish horror, My God, sister, is that you?" Dr. W. W. Hall says, "One went into eternity by way of the morphine bottle, the other by a gun." When they meet in the fiery furnace of eternal hell, will they still think there is no harm in the dance? "That is the reason I say," says Dr. Hall, "That every dance is as rotten as hell can make it."

There are many scriptures which condemn the dance. We are told to "love not the world" (1 John 2:15). "The friendship of the world is enmity with God" (Jas. 4:4). The dance is of the world. Do you expect to find gospel preachers or devout elders on the dance floor? No, you expect to find the divorcee, the beer drinkers, the irreligious. "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God" (Rom. 12:1, 2).

In Gal. 5:19-21, Paul lists the works of the flesh. One of these is lasciviousness. Webster defines that as, "Wanton, lewd, lustful—tending to produce lewd emotions." Isn't it true that dancing produces lewd emotions? Therefore, dancing is lasciviousness. The Greek word which is here translated "lasciviousness" is "aselgeia." Thayer defines it as, "Wanton acts or manners, as filthy words, indecent bodily movements, unchaste handling of males and females." If, according to Thayer, telling filthy jokes is lasciviousness (I presume all will agree that it is wrong to tell filthy jokes, and that all can see that lasciviousness includes that), why can we not see that dancing is lasciviousness for the same reason? Aselgeia, lasciviousness, is unchaste handling of males and females. Can you take a beautiful woman in your arms, place your hand on her bare back, entwine your limbs in hers, lay your cheek against her soft and delicately perfumed face and sway to the strains of sweet music, and not think evil and have your emotions aroused? If you say you can, you are either a liar or a dead man. "Whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart" (Matt. 5:28).

My friends, the Holy Spirit declares that, "They which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God." It is high time that brethren everywhere realize that worldliness is just as repulsive in the eyes of God as denominationalism or any other evil. While we perhaps have restored the doctrine of the church, we are far from restoring the purity of heart and life that is taught in the New Testament. I firmly believe that the church is not in nearly so great a danger of doctrinal apostasy as it is of being overwhelmed with a tide of worldliness that will choke out the last vestige of spirituality and leave the body of Christ bruised and bleeding before a doubting world. We need to catch a vision of the Christ and look upon him as the model and mold our lives like unto his perfect example.

Some Misleading Translations In The King James Version

James H. Childress

When a presumptuous stranger on an ancient highway asked the Ethiopian eunuch, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" (Acts 8:30), he received an honest answer: "How can I, except some man should guide me?" Most of us need a host of Philips to aid us in our study today. Not only is the Bible the most widely circulated book in the world, it also has the rare distinction of being the least understood book in all the universe.

1. The Bible is to some extent misunderstood because of inaccurate or faulty translations.

Of course you and I know enough to realize that the Bible is a translated library. To that extent we have the advantage over the sister who went to her grave insisting that the apostle James wrote the Bible in the English tongue.

The expression, "be converted," as found in such passages as Matt. 13:15; 18:3; Acts 3:18, and so on, has been responsible for much religious delusion. Denominational preachers have argued at great length that "be converted" is passive—as it is in this faulty translation—and it follows that the alien sinner is acted upon by an outside influence in a mysterious way in order to bring about a "conversion." As a matter of truth the sinner is active in obeying the gospel.

"Be converted" is correctly translated "turn" or "turn again" in the American Revised Version.

The King James translators for obvious reasons merely anglicized the Greek word baptizo and its various forms. The popular practices of substituting sprinkling and pouring for immersion have hidden under this cloak for generations, and creed-bound preachers have rejoiced to have it so.

In the second chapter and fourth verse of 2 Peter we learn that God "spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell." In this citation "hell" is tartarus, a word that occurs nowhere else in the sacred writings. Perhaps one of the most inexcusable errors in translation is the unhappy use of one English word to express three entirely different Greek words: "hell" has been used as the equivalent of Gehenna, hades, and tartarus. Such inaccuracy more than doubles the trials of anyone sincerely endeavoring to teach the word of truth.

The King James wording of 2 Peter 2:9 follows: "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished." But a later and better rendering gives the passage thus: "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation and to keep the unrighteous under punishment unto the day of judgment." According to the former, the punishment is entirely future.

And while we are discussing inaccurate translations, we may as well tell our friends that their humorous references to Jonah's "whale" are groundless. The rendering in Matt. 12:40 is wrong. The Greek word is properly translated "sea monster."

Our common version states that John baptized "with water" (See Matt. 3:11; Mark 1:8; Luke 3:16; John 1:26; Acts 1:5; 11:16). A proper translation would have stopped the puerile arguments of the old-time Methodist debaters, who contended that this phrase proved that the water, and not the subject, was handled by the administrator in the act of baptism. John baptized "in water"—not "with water."

In Gal. 3:24 we read that "the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith." The Greek word here translated "schoolmaster" is "paidagogos"—meaning a "child-conductor," usually a slave who had charge of boys until they became of age. The Greek "paidagogos" differed so widely in character and function from our "schoolmaster" that we may conclude the current translation to be extremely inaccurate. Indeed, the beauty of God's striking figure is obscured until we learn something about the nature of the work of the ancient pedagogue.

When we, in studying the Authorized Version, read that "once in the end of the world hath he (Christ) appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself" (Heb. 9:26) we are very likely to be confused because in our current speech the "end of the world" is yet future. If I understand the meaning of this language, Christ appeared at the end of the age—that is, the Jewish age or dispensation—to put away sin by atoning sacrifice. (Frequently, "world" ought to be rendered "age" or "ages").

2. The Bible is frequently misunderstood by modern readers because of antiquated translations.

Even a pious reader might be inclined to grow skeptical upon seeing these words of the psalmist: "I prevented the dawning of the morning" (Psalm 119:147). Such passages become clear when we are told that the word "prevent" here means to "come before" or "precede." The word is also used in this sense in 1 Thess. 4:16: "... we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep." Our English language is undergoing a steady metamorphosis.

There is to our modern eyes and ears something extremely awkward in this phrasing: "Moreover, brethren, we do you to wit of the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia" (2 Cor. 8:1). It is clear enough when we modernize it to read as follows: "Moreover, brethren, we would have you understand . . ."

I once read of a banquet given by society leaders in a large city of the North. The profits were to be used to help the needy. Upon the wall these words appeared: "The greatest of these is charity." "Charity" to those revelers meant what it means to most of us today: giving money to the poor. It is possible for one to bestow all his goods to feed the poor and still lack charity. "Love" is the better term; the popular conception of the meaning of "charity" has changed since 1611.

Our favorite, 2 Tim. 2:15, does not mean what nine-tenths of us make it mean: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Now, here is what we make it mean in our sermons: "Study and investigate the Bible for the purpose of making God approve you; the way to do this is by showing people the difference between the Old Testament and the New." What's wrong about that? Simply this: "study" as used by the translators here does not mean what "study" means in our everyday speech. It is here equivalent to the Latin studeo, "to be zealous," "to strive," etc. Let me try to give the meaning of 2 Tim. 2:15 in modern speech: "Make a strong effort to meet with God's approval . . . handling the truth accurately and correctly." (Incidentally, it is well to note that there are several other of our favorites that need to be reinterpreted).

To most Americans "meat" means flesh, and "corn" means maize. I remember a teacher who once told her class about Abraham's making cornbread. In the Bible (as in England) "meat" means food, and "corn" means grain.

The latter part of Rev. 2:10 is usually misinterpreted because we fail to give the word "unto" its right meaning. It reads as follows: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." Note that the word is "unto"—it doesn't mean "until"! It does mean: "Be faithful even if it costs your life."

Ask the next ten persons you meet this question: "Does the Bible mention a 'straight and narrow way'?" At least nine will say, "Yes, everybody knows that." Turn with me to Matthew 7:14: "Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." The gate is "strait" and the way is "narrow" there is no such phrase as the "straight and narrow way" to be found between the lids of the Bible. It originated, of course, in the minds of people who confused "strait" with the more familiar "straight."

Brother Aniceto Sparagna May Be Deported June 30th

Ralph V. Graham

Brother Sparagna's application for a permanent visa in order to remain in this country has been turned down, rejected by the American Consul in Montreal. His extension permit, which under these circumstances cannot be renewed, expires June 30th. Unless something can be done before that time he will be deported from this country. This news comes as a severe shock to Brother Sparagna and his wife and to those of us who have worked and waited so long for a victorious outcome of his struggles to be free.

It has been more than two years since we initiated efforts in behalf of Brother Sparagna and in which thousands of brethren and friends took part. At the time of Brother Sparagna's conversion to the Trenton Church of Christ in October, 1950, we learned that he was a victim of ecclesiastical persecution. In fact, it was the action of a high ecclesiastic in Camden who placed charges of misrepresentation and fraud against Brother Sparagna in the Immigration Office at Philadelphia, that caused all his trouble. Due to this fact the North American Baptists, the Masons, the National Council of Churches, Protestants and Others for the Separation of Church and State, and thousands of the members of the churches of Christ intervened in his behalf. Many representatives and senators, after being personally contacted and after receiving thousands of letters, and many telegrams and telephone calls from all over the United States, assisted in the case. It was in 1951 that a conference with the assistant attorney-general was arranged and he dismissed the charges, clearing Brother Sparagna's character, and granted him the right to re-apply for pre-examination pursuant to his obtaining a permanent visa.

Brother Sparagna complied with the necessary regulations. A new hearing was granted in Philadelphia in the spring of 1952, and on August 8th the hearing officer granted Brother Sparagna permission to take the necessary steps in obtaining a permanent visa. All necessary documents were prepared. Brother Sparagna's affiliation with the church of Christ as minister thereof met the requirement by the government to be a minister of a religious group for two years in October, 1952. During this time the lawyers on the case revealed that they discovered evidence of pressure being exerted in certain areas by an ecclesiastical power against the interests of Brother Sparagna. After all papers were sent to the Consul in Montreal, we waited for some time. As it ordinarily requires only a short time for the American Consul to act in such a case, the lawyer made repeated inquiries concerning the progress of the case. The Consul replied that he was studying the case. Several senators wrote the Consul, asking him to give the matter favorable and speedy consideration. After some delay a request came from the Consul's office to the effect that since it might facilitate matters to apply for a visa on the ground of being married to an American citizen, the necessary papers should be forwarded at once. This was interpreted to mean that less trouble would be involved if the visa could be obtained on other grounds than religious. These documents were prepared. A letter came from the Philadelphia Immigration Office of the United States Department of Justice stating that this visa petition was approved subject to the approval of the appropriate American Consul.

Then, a few days ago, the lawyer talked with the American Consul by long distance telephone and asked whether the application for pre-examination and re-entry would be granted. The Consul replied that Brother Sparagna was not eligible and hence the visa could not be granted. When asked why the documents had been requested showing that Brother Sparagna is married to an American citizen, the Consul replied that it was a mistake of a clerk in his office. The puzzling thing is that Brother Sparagna should be eligible either as a minister of two years or more in the church of Christ or as being married to an American citizen. His character has been cleared and he has had no affiliation with any political system abroad.

Two courses of action now lie open which must be pursued with great speed since his permission to be in this country terminates June 30th of this year. One way is to persuade some congressman to introduce a special bill in the legislature to prevent Brother Sparagna from being deported. The other is to ask senators and representatives to use their influence with the State Department to grant his permanent visa independent of the action of the American Consul. Either way may be very difficult. You can do your part by asking your senator and representative to support such a bill in the event it is introduced or to exercise their influence with the State Department to grant Brother Sparagna a permanent visa. But please act NOW. Arrangements have been made to meet with certain senators in Washington, D. C., to discuss these procedures.

Brother Sparagna has proved his value and consecration to the church by lecturing in behalf of the Lord's cause in more than forty states in this country, in writing sermons and tracts which have been distributed in many parts of the world, in preaching and conducting meetings where he has been called, in helping build up the church in the Northeast, especially at Collingswood, New Jersey, where a new church building is now being erected for a new congregation which was established March 2, 1952, in answering many letters of brethren and others who required information and help with various religious problems, in helping bring two other ex-priests into the church of Christ and having an important influence in the conversion of many other persons throughout the United States, and in talking with many religious persons seeking freedom and truth. Even now in the midst of his trials he is translating with Brother Mattucci and transcribing sermons to be used on the new Herald* of Truth program in Europe over a radio station in Monte Carlo, Monaco, France, which starts June 6th. Let us help Brother Sparagna and keep him in this country.

Mission Of The Church And Orphan Homes

Thomas L. Campbell

(NO. 1)

Unquestionably the mission of the church is to save souls. I know of no one in the brotherhood who questions that the primary purpose of the church is to preach the gospel and win souls. The only thing that brethren can possibly differ on is the method or methods to be employed.

The anti-class brethren agree that the church is to teach, but say that our method of teaching is wrong. Our classic reply has been, "What method should we use that will accomplish as great a result?" We have always insisted that the program of classes is a matter of method by which the Lord expects us to use the greatest intelligence possible to "get the job done." None of the brethren who use classes claim for it that it is the perfect system of teaching. We know better with our poor teachers and poorer materials, but it far surpasses anything used by the non-class brethren. We are simply striving to carry out the Lord's command to teach. I, for one, appreciate the warnings of our non-class brethren concerning the dangers in the class system. There are dangers in anything worth accomplishing. Should I desist because of dangers in the way? Is it better to do nothing because of dangers in the way, or to go down striving to accomplish something for the Lord, which men may pervert to evil or worthless ends?

Now there have arisen in the brotherhood some who say we are prostituting the purpose of the church from its God-given task to preach the gospel unto the care of widows and orphans. I cannot understand this kind of talk. What church among us has quit preaching the gospel at home and abroad to feed "loaves and fishes" to the needy? Has not the gospel gone forth more at home and abroad in these days when new "institutions" for the needy have become numerous? Almost without exception the congregations which are supporting more preachers to declare the word are also the ones who are doing the most for the orphan homes; that is, they are the largest contributors to the homes. It seems to me that very little can be said about the "homes" choking out the preaching of the gospel or its influence. I dare say they are worth their weight and effort. They give evidence to the world that we are a benevolent people who are interested in both the spiritual and physical well-being of our fellows. You can preach Christ crucified on Calvary's cross until you are blue in the face, but until you show that your life coincides with the Great Physician's life, in his tenderness, sympathy, and care for the distressed of earth, you preach in vain. Benevolent works prove now as they did in the days of the apostles, the sincerity of the message and the messenger.

The purpose of the "homes" is to save souls in two ways: 1. They take the cast-off child, and strive to implant character and a love of truth within him. This leads him to the gospel and its obedience; 2. they are one of the means of letting our "light shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven." Hence, they are advertisements of the church to the world that the church is unselfish and worthy of attention.

I agree wholeheartedly with the concept that the mission of the church is to seek and to save the lost and that everything else should be tributary and consequential. I insist that the erection of "homes" for orphans and aged is one of the methods to accomplish and contribute to the preaching of the gospel. If the "home" does not work to the accomplishment of saving souls, and does not cause men to see the "light of the gospel" then I, too, should oppose them in the church budget. Statistics will show that seldom does a child stay in one of the homes conducted by our brethren who does not become a Christian.

Sometimes one is asked if the work done by these "institutions" is the legitimate work of the church. 1 Tim. 3:3, 9 and James 1:27 indicates such. Acts 6:1-6 accepts such as the expected thing. No apostle argued that it was not the work of the church to perform these charities, they only state that they cannot "leave the word of God, and serve tables." They suggest simply that other men be appointed to this work. Only by the sleight of words would men question the right of the church to do this work. And it is the church and not individuals as is seen in Acts 6.

Another question that is asked is: Can the church delegate its responsibility to a human institution to do for it? This is a tricky way of wording a question. What is meant by "human institutions"? Under some definitions even the church is a "human institution," for it is an institution and it is composed of human beings. Does having separate buildings from the church building make it a "human institution"? Is it such because it must comply with the laws of the state and be granted a charter? Does that make it a "human institution"? Do you mean we farm out the orphans and aged to non-members who run such efforts separate and apart from the wishes of Christians? Now, I would most heartily be opposed to that. If you mean by "human institutions" the asking of some well-recognized and talented brother to superintend (oversee), with the buildings, superintendent, and employees answerable directly to the elders of a congregation, then I would say yes. This would be doing what the apostles did in Acts 6:1-6 except one man is superintendent instead of seven. That the Jerusalem situation was for a few months or a few years, would have little to do with the principle involved.

Actually the whole discussion is a matter of method. It is the same quarrel that we have with the non-class brethren. It is not over faith but over ways and methods. Methods must be approached with wisdom and good judgment. Brethren have a right to warn of any dangers in any work or policy. We should appreciate them. But we must remember that we are discussing the efficiency of a method and not a principle of faith. Well-meaning brethren can do a positive disservice to the cause by confusing whether these things are faith or judgment.

Studies In Galatians (No. 17)

R. C. Bell

The book of Galatians champions Christian liberty and nobility, and challenges legalistic bondage and bigotry; it is a comparative study of the religion of the Spirit and the religion of the flesh. The last two chapters, especially, warn against the perversions and abortions into which legalism sinks the church. To correct the strange misunderstanding that Christian liberty gives license to indulge the flesh, Paul discusses four points under the heading, "Use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh": first, do not be lawless and consume one another; second, do not be unclean and wallow in the filth of the flesh; third, do not be proud and despotic; fourth, do not be avaricious and parsimonious. The legalistic Christian in falling "away from grace," inevitably falls into some or all of these fleshpots. The assertion that the addition of the legal principle would promote good morals and spirituality in the Galatian churches is not being fulfilled. Rather, the flesh is running riot to the peril of clean living and Christianity. Paul shows that the pride of the flesh causes much of their abuse of Christian liberty and troubles.

Gaining a Brother

"Even if a man be overtaken in any trespass, ye who are spiritual, restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness; looking to thyself, lest thou also be tempted" (6:1). Even a Christian over whom the flesh does not reign, may be so pursued by the flesh, which ever stalks him, that he sins. This verse does not contemplate a reckless sinner who overtakes sin, or meets it head-on. This man, like Adam in Eden, is "afraid" and ashamed. He needs a kind, understanding brother to lift him out of the remorse that leads to despair up to the repentance that restores. In such cases, legalists, smug and secure in their false self-competency, thinking they cannot fall and that all should be just like them, are too stern, exacting and incapable of being gentle and tender with others. Paul wrote the church at Corinth about the restoration of penitent brothers who had fallen: "Forgive him and comfort him, lest by any means such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow" (2 Cor. 2:7-11).

In the event his recommendation concerning an offending brother should work, Christ says, "Thou hast gained thy brother" (Matt. 18:15). Gaining the brother is the first purpose of discipline. The self-righteous bigot, who cannot see his brother for whom Christ died with a brother's eye, and who thinks the way to restore him is to "talk down" to him with an air of, "I never would have even thought of doing such a thing," had better not attempt it. I have read of a prisoner who resented all "church workers" until a meek Christian man went to his cell, sat beside him with an arm about him, and said: "Was it not good in God to send his Son to die for poor sinners like you and me?" That thawed the ice at his heart. This man could understand the prisoner because he understood himself and the gospel of grace. He did not deceive himself by thinking he was "something" when he was "nothing." Not until a man realizes that he has no merit before God, and can never have, can he be really gentle with men. Without compromising truth or winking at sin, spiritual men can correct brethren without offending or humiliating them.

Bearing Burdens

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ" (6:2). To sympathize with and help each other bear the common infirmities of mortal life should be as natural for Christians, who are parts of the same organism and who share the same nature, as for the various members of a human body to help each other. Christians may also share with one another the burdens arising from the troubles and sins of others, as, for instance, a mother brokenhearted over a sinful child. All such bearing of burdens fulfils the law of Christ, which reads: "A new commandment I give unto you that ye should love one another; even as I have loved you." Of course too, Christians are happy to follow and fulfil, up to their measure, the life of Christ, the great burden Bearer.

There is an undercurrent of thought here, which comes more to the surface in Rom. 15:15-21 and 2 Cor. 10:12-18. Throughout his missionary career, Paul, resolutely refusing to build on another's foundation, sought out new fields. After he had planted the church in Galatia, Judaizers came in to take over. They thought they were very superior to Paul, gave themselves airs, loaded men down with "burdens grievous to be borne," which they would not so much as touch with their little fingers, and lorded it over the church generally. That Christians should "mutual burdens bear" never once entered their minds. Are not these Galatian Judaizers much like some pre-Christian Pharisees and lawyers, whom Christ encountered in Jerusalem? Paul's having once been an unbending legalist himself gives him their number precisely. Legalism, because it makes man the center and measure, never has made, nor can it ever make, spiritual men. The religion of the flesh is destructively and fatally off center.

Paul is setting the Judaizers in their place and rescuing the church from their strangle hold. Let them cease being puffed up with fictitious self-importance, and, with envious scorn, setting better men aside; cease boosting the defunct power and glory of Judaism, and, bloated with ignorant pride, cease imposing an impossible legal yoke on the neck of God's free sons. Let them get out and "prove," not just think, they are something; let them do some real honest, independent Christian work, because after all, a Christian is known by his own work and character, not his neighbor's. The Greek word translated "burden" (v. 5) is not the word rendered "burdens" (v. 2). The practical lesson is that a Christian's own life is the basis of his standing and reward. Concerning this class of men in Corinth, Paul wrote: "For we

What Does The Bible Say?

Business Interests Oppose Christianity

Truth and error are always in conflict. Righteousness and worldliness cannot dwell side by side in peace. Men who do not love God will always resent and oppose God-fearing men. So today the lines are being drawn between men of goodwill, men who are loyal to Christ and his kingdom, and those who serve Mammon or the gods of this world: self, lust, pride, power, etc. Jesus told us: "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon" (Matt. 6:24).

When Paul preached Christ crucified as the Son of God in Ephesus the pagan business interests stirred up opposition to him and his preaching. The silversmiths made money out of fashioning images of Diana, the pagan goddess of Ephesus. They quickly realized that if Paul succeeded in converting the city to Christ their business would fail. Apparently they never considered whether Paul was telling the truth or not. They loved money more than the living God whom Paul preached. Appealing to the prejudice of the people, they stirred up a great mob, but the wisdom of a town-clerk saved the Christians from martyrdom that day.

The lesson for us is this: Let us examine the preaching and teaching we hear and decide whether it is true to the Bible or not. The great question for us is not what effect this teaching has upon our previous ideas, or our businesses, or our prejudices, but whether it is true or not!

If every person who reads this column would determine to study the Bible as if it were a new Book dropped in his hands from heaven, he would be amazed at the truths he would discover.

Important Meetings Scheduled For The Children's Home Of Lubbock, Texas

James C. Kerr

On Monday, June 22, brethren from all over this section of the country are invited to be our guests in an important meeting on the ground which has been donated for the new children's home of Lubbock. We plan to meet at 6 P.M. on the 200 acres which Sister Ida S. Collins donated for the site of the new home. It is located just one-half mile east of the Corral Drive-In Theater on Highways 62 and 82, east of the city. A sign on the highway designates the property.

Some of the brethren will furnish sandwiches for this meeting and everyone will be given a chance to look over the property. After this meeting, we will all meet in the auditorium of the Broadway Church of Christ at Broadway and T Streets, at 7:30 where several children from the Tennessee Orphan Home, Spring Hill, Tennessee, will present a program under the direction of Brother W. B. Richter. We believe this unusual program will interest and encourage all who can come.

We will have some plans and sketches of individual units to show, and a table-size model of how some of the cottages may look according to present suggestions. We hope to begin construction of the first unit shortly after this meeting. We especially urge everyone who is interested in providing a home for homeless children to be present. If you will let us know ahead of time, we will make arrangements for you to spend the night in one of our homes.

In our contacts with the Child's Welfare Bureau, we have learned that the need is great. There are thousands of children who need a home. The present homes are having to turn them down at the rate of several each month. One home that we visited recently turned down over 300 children in its first year of operation. There are many children who for one reason or another are not legally adoptable into some private home, but who can be cared for by the church through such a home as this. It is our plan for the home to begin with three cottages and to continue to build on the cottage plan. It will be operated under the direction of the elders of the Broadway church. A separate bank account has been established for the funds for this purpose. We are now looking for a suitable man to serve as supervisor of the home. We invite your prayers in the behalf of this work. We will gladly answer your letters of inquiry. Do plan to be present at this important meeting, Monday evening, June 22.

McMillan Resigns—Need New President

Otto Foster

E. W. McMillan, president of Southwestern Christian College, resigned some time ago, and is soon leaving to again resume his work as local minister of a church, this time at Whittier, California. We regret very much to lose him, and feel he has done a great and good work as a pioneer in this position. But, we are glad to see him go back to his first love—preaching the gospel and working for the salvation of souls in the church of the Lord.

We need a capable and qualified man to follow him as president of Southwestern Christian College, the only one of its kind in the world. Could that be you? Do you know of such an one? Write to us, if you do.

Our colored brethren need what a Christian college has to offer much more than do the whites. It is a great challenge to some man, one that is capable and qualified—one with a desire to do a great work for God and for humanity. Can you say, "Here am I, send me?"

While we are looking for a president, Dr. John G. Young, 4005 Andrews Drive, Dallas, Texas, President of the Board of Trustees, will act as president of the college. J. P. McGinty of Terrell, Texas, and Brother Farmer, preacher for the church in Terrell and a teacher in the college, will assist Grover Washington, our dean, in handling things on the campus. We are planning to open the college this fall as usual, and hope to have a larger and better student body than ever before.

Studies In Galatians (No. 17)

are not bold to number or compare ourselves with certain of them that commend themselves: but they themselves measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves with themselves, are without understanding" (2 Cor. 10: 12). Men's comparing themselves with other men is idle and wholly of the unwholesome flesh. It is like a child's thinking he is nine feet high because a false yardstick which he made himself says he is. If they want a standard of comparison, let them use Christ, the proper standard and touchstone of life and work; if they must have law, let them fulfil his law of love.

SOUTH PORTLAND, MAINE, CHURCH
PURCHASES PROPERTY

The Lord has richly blessed this congregation since its beginning some 19 months ago. Those who have been here since the beginning have seen much growth in numbers, contribution, and in spirit. During the month of May the contribution record has been broken four consecutive Lord's days.

On May 9th the final arrangements were made and the deed transferred on the property which the Lord has seen fit to have used for his kingdom here in South Portland. Eight hundred dollars has been raised, and one of the Christians here who gave $200, also mortgaged his home for the remaining $1500 needed to complete the payment of the property, which has an area of 24,000 square feet. The congregation plans to have the note paid within the next two years, if God wills.

This property is ideally located in South Portland across the street from a new junior high school. It is on a thoroughfare in a new section of the city that is rapidly building up. There is not a building of any religious body within more than a mile in any direction. There are many children in this neighborhood and with a new school building we expect many more in the years to come.

Plans have been borrowed from the church in Augusta, Maine, which is now constructing a building of similar design. Besides the Christian who gave the $200 on the lot and borrowed $1500 to pay off the note, another has given a large barn to be torn down and used in construction. With his connections with building concerns, he has made arrangements to buy materials at a good reduction, and has offered to contract the job at no cost to the church. With opportunities as they are, we believe we can construct this $15,000 building which will seat about 150 for $8,000 to $10,000 and less if much of the labor is donated as is now promised.

Recently we arrived at the rented "dance" hall in which we meet in South Portland in time for Bible classes Sunday morning only to find it locked and raining. We managed to get in through a window, and found the hall just as it had been left early that morning following the "regular Saturday night dance." Cigarette butts scattered all over the place, dirty ash trays in the windows, the "schedule of dances" hanging at the front of the hall, chairs lined up along each side, and the hall was uncomfortably cool and untidy. This was the scene we beheld. With one of the members was a lady to attend the services of the New Testament church for her first time. You can imagine the impression that was made.

This situation came about as a misunderstanding with the custodian, but nevertheless, it gave us a "firsthand" view of what takes place only a few hours before the worship of God's people. Now we can understand better why the people of the community refuse to come and "search the Scriptures" with us. Now we can understand better why the people remark with a casual "oh" when they are invited to attend the services and are told where we meet. We are thankful that we have this place to meet, as there is no other available place at any price to our knowledge. But you can surely understand what the Lord's church is up against in this area without a respectable place of worship. The church is "new" to most people in this area, and they are skeptical of it because it is "new" to them. In the interest of New Testament Christianity, please "come over into the northeast and help us" construct a house of worship for God's people. We have the property, and will, with God's help, get it paid for, but the cost of a building is almost impossible in the immediate future from the present 16 members of the congregation. Assistance in any form will be greatly appreciated and promptly acknowledged. Send contributions marked for Building Fund to: South Portland Church of Christ, Box 1754, Portland, Maine.

If only some of you who read this could come to Maine and see for yourselves the opportunities and the needs. We extend to you a cordial invitation to come on your vacation and get a firsthand report of conditions. Of the 16 members in South Portland, eight are men, all of whom take an active part in the work, both privately and publicly. All lead public prayers, four lead singing, all assist in the communion service, four are Bible class teachers, and four ladies also teach. Currently four to six non-member visitors are present at each service. There are six adults now being taught, that we believe will obey the gospel before very long, some of whom would unite families in the Lord. Recently one Christian received a raise in salary and promised the entire raise to the Lord. Still another Christian with a large family changed jobs and received a larger salary and has promised a good portion of the raise to the Lord, which could be used to a good advantage in the family.

With God's help, with the prayers of Christians, and with the added financial assistance from the saints in stronger areas, the South Portland, Maine, congregation looks forward to great accomplishments for the Lord in the time to come.—CHARLES CHANDLER, HOWARD MITCHELL, Ministers.

Sweet Resigns At University Church, Austin

After serving as preacher for the University Avenue church in Austin for almost exactly seven years, R. B. Sweet has resigned and will be succeeded by Elbridge B. Linn of Denver, Colorado, the last Sunday in June.

R. B. Sweet

Brother Sweet has given up local work in order that he may devote his time to the publication of Bible school study material and evangelistic work. He will be available after July 1 for Sunday appointments and for meetings. He will continue to live in Austin, Texas, at 715 East 43rd Street.

During his seven years in Austin, there have been 1,038 responses to the invitation, not counting those who have come during protracted meetings. The membership is now 774.

During that time also the church erected one of the most beautiful church buildings in the city. The church plant has a value of about $350,000 and is in a strategic location between the University campus and the State capitol building.

Linn To University Church In Austin, Texas

After a little more than six years in Denver, Colorado, Elbridge B. Linn has accepted work with the University Avenue Church of Christ in Austin, Texas. He will preach his first sermon there June 28. His family will move to Austin the last week in June. His wife is the former Zelda Moser, and they have two sons, Charles, who is eleven years old, and Michael, six.

He was born in Oenaville, Texas, August 4, 1911. He attended high school and grade school in California. He was graduated from Abilene Christian College with a B.A. degree in 1933. Graduate studies were pursued at the University of Southern California, and Pacific School of Religion.

Brother Linn has done work with a number of congregations in California and Texas. He has lived and preached in Ontario, Richmond and Pasadena, California. In Texas he has done local work with the Central, Eastside and Westside churches of Cleburne.

In 1937-38, he and his wife were in mission work in Tokyo, Japan. Brother Linn states that he believes good was accomplished, although results were not many due to the fact that the nation was at war with China at the time.

He has had extensive radio preaching in a number of states. In 1952 the church of Christ in the Park Hill section of Denver, where he has labored, underwrote and supervised a daily radio program over a local station. Other congregations and preachers in the area cooperated. During the time he has been in Denver, Brother Linn has delivered two hundred and fifty radio sermons from twelve to fifteen minutes in length.

During the past six years more than five hundred persons have been added to the Park Hill congregation by baptism, restoration, and transfer of membership.

The Linns moved to Denver for the health of their son, Charles. They hope and pray that he will not be troubled with asthma in Austin.

MARLIN CONDUCTS HOLY LAND TOUR

J. T. Marlin, minister of the Fourth and Elm Streets Church of Christ, Sweetwater, Texas, left Sweetwater by plane Sunday evening accompanied by two of the church members there for his second visit to the Bible lands. Others joined the party at Fort Worth and New York. They left New York at 3:00 P.M., Monday, June 8, for Paris, France. From there they will go to Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Israel, Greece, Italy, Jordan, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland and England. In 1951, George DeHoff and J. T. Marlin toured most of this country, making thousands of feet of movie film and hundreds of colored slides. This time Brother Marlin is taking along five thousand feet of 16MM movie film and several hundred shots of 35MM. Many in the tour he is conducting will also be taking along a large supply of film. They are traveling by air and plan to return July 17.

A. R. Holton writes: Former students of Thorp Spring, Texas, will be glad to hear former president R. C. Bell for homecoming on Sunday, July 26.

J. M. Gainer, 231 Raleigh Avenue, Knoxville, Tennessee, June 10: Two professed primary obedience and one was restored at Broadway church, Sunday, June 7.

James M. Benson, Box 373, Lepanto, Arkansas, June 9: Five have been baptized here in the last two weeks, including my daughter, Barbara Ann. There was also one restored.

George Tipps, 211 W. Grand, Jackson, Tennessee, June 10: A grandfather and his granddaughter were baptized this week at Highland. Our plans for a new building are moving along nicely. A record contribution was made thereto last Lord's day.

B. C. Hogan, Bogart, Georgia, June 12: The work here is moving on nicely. The meeting here will begin the third Lord's day in July. I am in my fourteenth year with the work here. Last Lord's day I preached to a full house in Burkesville, Kentucky.

A. R. Holton, Nashville, Tennessee, June 10: The Vacation Bible School and Encampment at Thorp Spring, Texas, July 20-31 is largely a boarding school, and enrollment is limited. Reservations should be sent at once to Miss Jewell Watson, Thorp Spring, Texas.

Richard Weaver, Box 372, Smyrna, Tennessee, June 8: Edward Craddock's meeting with us resulted in three baptisms and three restorations. His messages to the church strengthened us. I begin meetings with Sand Hill (colored) June 21 and Old Jefferson July 5.

Gene R. Fox, 507 Laclede, Wichita, Kansas: We are looking forward to a good meeting with Brother Frank Pack starting June 21. The church is on the march in Wichita. Southside is to establish a new congregation this summer in south Wichita. So on we go, working for the cause of the Master.

Silas Triplett, 812 Clark, Marlin, Texas, June 8: Yesterday was the beginning of our second year here. The past year saw an increase of 50 percent in attendance and contribution. About 40 responded to the invitation and about 20 for baptism. With new classrooms and our radio program we hope to accomplish much in another year.

A. R. Holton, Nashville, Tennessee, June 10: Former students of Thorp Spring, Texas, will be glad to hear R. C. Bell at the reunion, July 26. Group Camping at Thorp Spring, Texas, Encampment, July 20-31, is limited. For information and reservations, write Miss Jewell Watson, Thorp Spring, Texas.

J. D. Pinkerton, 7306 Marcell Street, Austin, Texas, June 10: The church that meets at 81 San Marcos Street of this city is moving on in its work in a very substantial manner. Since my last report through this paper fourteen have responded to the gospel invitation. One of this number was baptized, five made confessions of wrongs, and the others were transfers of membership. At this time we are engaged in a very interesting Vacation Bible School. The Lord willing we shall begin a series of gospel meetings Sunday, June 21, to continue through the 28th, with the writer doing the preaching. When in Austin we invite you to worship with us.

Douglas Stahl, Box 112, Clinton, Arkansas, June 9: The Lord's work is moving along with a high interest here. We have just completed a gospel meeting with J. Loyd Rice of Sanatorium, Texas, doing the preaching. There were no additions to the church at that time, but we do feel that much good has been accomplished. We had splendid crowds, and enjoyed the Christian fellowship of all that came our way.

Everett Day, Sr., Houston, Mississippi, June 8: Last month was a record breaking month for the Houston church. We had the largest attendance, the largest collection, and the largest number of visitors to the regular services in the history of the church. One who had been a Baptist for several years was baptized. A family moved to Houston from Alabama. The father is a member of the church. Brother Lindsay Allen begins a meeting with us June 22.

Loyd R. Brents, 1520 Hickory Street, Texarkana, Arkansas, June 10: Two were baptized, one restored, and nine placed membership at Walnut Street last Lord's day. Our vacation Bible school, the first in the Texarkana area among churches of Christ, got under way Monday morning. Enrollment to date is 304, with almost that number in daily attendance. G. C. Brewer will be with us in a meeting June 14-24. When in Texarkana, worship with us.

Elmer H. Irby, Hankamer, Texas, June 11: The church here is supporting me in a meeting at Votaw, Texas. This is a very small group and they need encouragement. Brother Clarence Metcalf of Monroe City has been preaching there about a year and has done much to strengthen them. Brother Allan Sowders of Daisetta is leading the singing in a very commendable way. He is also conducting a class for the young people, that is creating a lot of interest and is adding much to the meeting.

Gordon L. Downing, Floydada, Texas, June 7: Since our last report, three people have confessed wrongs, one placed membership, and two young men were baptized. We have just finished a most profitable Bible school, the first school in a number of years, with an average attendance of 105. The attendance was fine considering the fact that four more schools were in progress in Floydada at that time. The work continues to be most encouraging and enjoyable because the members have a mind to work.

Jesse M. Kelley, Box 1381, Port Arthur, Texas: At the invitation of the elders of the DeQueen Boulevard church in Port Arthur, we accepted the work and began on June 1. Apparently it is an excellent work with great possibilities. The brethren seem willing and anxious to get started with a greater program of work than the church has ever had. We are thankful for this and are looking forward to a busy and profitable stay. In many ways we regretted to leave the fine people at Jacksboro, for some of the most faithful we have known live and worship there. However, we believe a greater opportunity awaits us here and we solicit the prayers of the faithful as we enter into it. The church is located at 1601 DeQueen Boulevard. When in Port Arthur, worship with us.

O. M. Reynolds, Box 242, Leahey, Texas, June 12: June 7th Brother Louie M. White of San Marcos closed his fifth meeting (and a week's very fine vacation Bible school, the first here) with the church here, with very fine interest and attendance, the church greatly edified and six baptisms (two of whom had been members of the Holiness church here) and one restoration. One restoration came before the meeting. I taught a class, vocal music and lead the song services for the meeting. Brother White is a fine Christian gentleman, excellent preacher and is loved by this church.

A. G. Hobbs, Jr., 3156 Jane Lane, Fort Worth, Texas, June 9: During my recent meeting in Chattanooga, Tennessee, there were eleven responses, five baptized and six restored. From May 24-31, I did the preaching in a meeting with the Rosen Heights congregation of Ft. Worth; eight responded to the invitation, two for baptism. At the present, I am doing the preaching in a meeting in Dallas with the Owenwood congregation. My next meeting will be in Waco, June 22-July 1 under a tent in the Bellmead section of the city. All within driving distance are invited to attend. I am devoting my time to meeting work.

A. Chester Grimes, 1548 Heights Blvd., Houston, Texas: Our fourth annual Vacation Bible School closed today with an enrollment of 441 and an average daily attendance of 321. Children from almost every denomination were enrolled. More than 150 non-member homes were represented. Brother C. Ray Wood of Muskogee, Oklahoma, assisted in the singing. Our regular work is going along in a fine way. Four were baptized and three placed membership with us last Sunday and three baptisms the Sunday before. I am to preach in a meeting in Rochester, New York, June 17-23.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman Avenue, Dallas, Texas, June 12: During the month of May ten were added here at Skillman Avenue church. Of this number, three were baptized, two restored, and five identified. Our Bible School averaged 604 for the month and our contribution averaged $2,547.19 per Sunday. Two were baptized and one was restored Sunday. Our vacation Bible school begins Monday. Jack Nadeau will teach the adult class. I am to assist William F. Walker and the National and High church in Springfield, Missouri, in a gospel meeting June 21-30.

Herb Swinney, Box 7, Coleman, Texas, June 10: Seven have responded to the invitation in the last two weeks. One of the young ladies baptized represented the Methodist church's only pianist. Her response was the result of one year of personal work. The Coleman church has purchased a bus to bring to services those who do not have a way. It is even used in ladies Bible class. Ninety-seven were present in this class last week. We are now on the air (KSTA) six days a week. Dan Fogarty starts our meeting today. We have fifteen hundred chairs on hand for this open-air meeting and expect to use all of them.

A. H. Bryant, 1445 Nogales, Del Paso Heights, California, June 8: Yesterday was another good day with the church here. A middle-aged couple—man and wife—were baptized, and three adults confessed wrongs and negligence and were restored to the fellowship of the church. Members rejoiced greatly. The work on our proposed new auditorium is getting off to a good start and all are happy in the work. The work here has been hindered greatly because of a lack of room, both in auditorium and class work. This should all be out of the way within the next few months. We are considerably inspired.

F. L. Lemley, Box 42, Trinidad, Colorado, June 6: Last Sunday was a great day for the church in Trinidad. We moved into our new building and we believe into greater and better opportunities to do good for the Lord. For the past ten years we have met in a home which is not very conducive to church work and church growth. Our building is being built with donated labor, the preacher supervising and helping work. Very little outside help has been received. Financing the project has been extremely difficult for our small congregation. We plan to have a formal opening the first Sunday in August and take advantage of the publicity to benefit the meeting that will be in progress at that time. Brother Paul Southern of Abilene will be here at that time in a meeting and vacation Bible school.

James L. Crowder, 2602 West Craig Place, San Antonio, Texas: On Sunday, June 21, if the Lord is willing, I shall make my one hundredth trip to Tilden, Texas, to do the preaching for the church there. Tilden is located in McMullen County, 75 miles south of San Antonio. As a trip represents 150 miles, this is a total of 15,000 miles since November 1949 when I began the work for the Tilden congregation. During this time I also made nineteen trips to Bandera and five to Hondo, Texas, to assist the church in each of these cities—an additional 2,000 miles. The Grove Avenue Church of Christ in San Antonio has been sponsoring the work in Tilden since November 1949 when Brethren Louis Pursch and L. T. Shannon, leaders of the church in Tilden came to San Antonio and requested the Grove Avenue Church elders to furnish brethren to do the preaching for them. For a number of months, Brother Harry Melton, an elder of the Grove Avenue Church, and I did the preaching for the Tilden congregation—each making a trip every other Sunday. In the summer of 1952 Brother Melton was called to do the preaching regularly for the Hondo, Texas, Church of Christ and he is still filling this noble assignment. Various members of the Grove Avenue Church, especially many of our soldier boys on duty in San Antonio have assisted in the Tilden work, but I have steadily maintained my every other Sunday appointment during the past three years, and lately have been going every Sunday. Immediately after the services on June 21, the members of the church will have a picnic in appreciation for the work which has been accomplished in Tilden. Many members from the Grove Avenue Church are planning to visit the Tilden congregation on this date.

J. B. Jordan, Dallas, Texas, June 8: On the night of April 15, 1953, Brother Solon Bailey, accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. G. W. Gooch, denounced their former position as Anti-Bible class advocates. Brother Bailey and family left the ranks of the "Anti" Group and placed their membership with us here at the Letot congregation in Dallas. Brother Bailey has, in past years, done local work at the following places: Mexia, Ft. Worth (N. W. 27th St.) Abilene (Locust) Robstown (5th St) and at Farmer's Branch. He has conducted meetings in Texas, Mississippi, New Mexico and Iowa. Brother Bailey wishes it to be universally known that after two and one-half years of careful study, he is thoroughly convinced that the teaching of the Bible in classes is both scriptural and desirable. May we, at Letot add that we believe Brother Bailey to be a sound gospel preacher with ability and good judgment. We highly recommend him to any congregation desiring a man for either local work or meetings. Brother Bailey can be contacted through Letot Church of Christ, 10524 Hines Blvd., Dallas, or through Peak and East Side church of Christ, Dallas.

Vaughn D. Shofner, 1524—24th Place, Lubbock, Texas, June 9: Plans to relieve the crowded condition of the Southside church began as early as October 1, 1950, while I was still preaching there, when two services were started on Sunday morning, and reached completeness in the new work which started in Vandellia Village March 8, 1953. Of the 450 members of the Southside church, 60 favorably responded to the "swarm" that day. With the help of the other churches in the city, 135 people signed membership cards at that initial service. Some "John Marks" have gone back "home" but some "Sillas" have united with us, and the membership now numbers 208, 7 of them having been baptized and 3 restored. Brother Thos. McDonald preached in the first meeting, May 31-June 7. Four were baptized and one restored in this meeting. The vacation Bible school conducted during the meeting averaged 240 students per day, with an enrollment of 300 and a peak attendance of 261. The New Testament churches in Lubbock often have 3,000 people in Sunday morning Bible study now, a number never reached before the beginning of this new work. No greater proof of the value of God's way, "swarming", is needed.

R. L. Colley, Box 207, West Memphis, Arkansas, June 12: Brother H. I. Taylor, of the North Austin church, Austin, Texas, conducted a ten days meeting for us here; I believe will do us much good. Brother Taylor is a fine gospel preacher, the church was strengthened and encouraged to do better things. One was baptized. I will be at West, Texas, in a meeting June 19-23.

Bill Hearn, Box 924, Sioux City, Iowa, June 10: The flash flood that struck Sioux City, Monday, June 8, has resulted in at least 11 deaths, 30 million dollars in property loss and untold suffering for over 3,000 people. One church family had over five feet of water in their home. Sister Perry reports her husband's television and radio testing and repair equipment was in the water. A dealer estimates this alone as a $2,500 loss. The church here, though small in number has responded with food, clothing and $55 in special contributions to help. We will be glad to use any money or clothing sent to help these people in the best way possible. We have already set up relief quarters in our church building.

James D. Groves, 8234 Normille, Detroit 4, Michigan, June 11: In January, 1949, we entered our new auditorium and this was outgrown more than a year ago. In October of last year we started an additional service at 8:30 a.m. Last Lord's day, W. A. Bradfield of Freed-Hardeman College spoke forcefully at 8:30; I spoke at 11; William at Luckett at 7:30 p.m. Three were immersed at 11 and one at 7:30. I have concluded sixteen years in the North; over seven years in Toledo and eight years and eight months at Vinewood. You will be welcomed warmly here at Vinewood should you have occasion to be in Detroit. There are now some 54 congregations in our metropolitan area, a considerable territory.

Harding College conferred degrees on 126 students at Commencement exercises here June 4. At this 29th annual Commencement ten graduate students received the first Master of Arts degrees in Bible and religion to be granted by Harding College.

During the past year about 40 students were enrolled in the graduate department. Ten other students are scheduled to receive their degrees in August. This department was opened in June 1952.

The 1952-53 school year also saw the opening of the School of American Studies. This department is designed to train young men and women for leadership, careers in business, public life, and education. Much progress has been made this year in assembling a competent staff, in planning and constructing a modern, air-conditioned building, and in expanding the library and other facilities.

Among the highlights of the year were the Lectureship in November, the concert and entertainment series, student productions including four plays and an opera, and nationally known lecturers speaking on current problems.

The new auditorium and administration building were put to excellent use. The auditorium, seating about 1,350, was filled to capacity during the Lectureship. Students met here for chapel every school day.

An even greater year is anticipated for 1953-54. New faculty members will include James L. Atteberry, English; Jack Ward Bates, history; Bonnie Belle Beach, elementary education; Russell Carroll Cannon, Bible and religion; Nona Hanes Cannon, home economics; Kenneth Davis, music; Leonard Lewis, education; Jack Lewis, Bible; Wanda Luttrell, speech; and Richard Walker, speech.

The Harding Academy also had an outstanding year. Twenty-seven students received diplomas at their Commencement program June 3.

New teachers in the Academy next year will include Harvey Arnold, Cecil Beck, Lucetia Farrar, Alpha Lee Turman, Polly Williams, Ponder Wright.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, June 10: Brother P. D. Wilmeth begins our gospel meeting June 15. We expect great results. Interest is good and the membership has been helpful in publicising the meeting and all the work. Bible school attendance averaged 251 in May. The Wednesday night attendance average 226, Lord's day worship attendance averaged around 400, at night near 300 and the regular offerings a little above $500 each week. Many visitors are at this resort town and we welcome them all to the services.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut St., Cookeville, Tennessee, June 6: In this, the first Vacation Bible School ever held at Willow Street Church of Christ, and the largest ever held in Cookeville by any religious group, 409 were enrolled and were presented with certificates on Friday evening, June 5th. For this final program of the school over 600 children, parents and friends were present in the auditorium of the Willow Street church. The Bible School was marked by more students having perfect attendance than in any school the writer has conducted in the last ten years. The highest attendance on any one day was Friday with 327, but 324 were present on Thursday, 323 on Wednesday, 315 on Tuesday and 289 on Monday. The cooperation of all the churches of this area was wonderful. Sycamore sent a bus load every day. I will conduct a similar school at the Green Hills church of Christ, Nashville, Tennessee, beginning June 15.

Gleann R. Sheumaker, Sr., Box 143, Hollywood, Florida: May 25-28 Brother W. Ray Duncan, from the Southwest church in Miami, met Mr. D. L. Welch of the United Pentecostal Church (Jesus Only) from Pensacola, Florida, in a religious discussion. Miracles and the Godhead were discussed. The debate was held in the Seventh Avenue church building. Large crowds were present and good order prevailed. Many preachers and visitors attended from distant cities. Brother Duncan read from the creed of the United Pentecostal church every night and pressed Mr. Welch to defend his creed. It was evident that Mr. Welch was deeply disturbed when Brother Duncan continued to press him concerning his creed. For more information about the debate, or, if you would like to order a creed book, write to Duncan-Welch Debate, Box 41, Miami, Florida. We believe that such discussions will do much good. The writer moderated for Brother Duncan and Mrs. George Duplissey moderated for Mr. Welch.

W. Curtis Porter, P. O. Box 195, Monetite, Arkansas, June 6: I am scheduled to meet A. J. Wall, Missionary Baptist, in a four-night debate at Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, beginning June 29. On August 4th I am to meet D. L. Welch, United Pentecostal church, in a four-night debate at Mobile, Alabama. I also have propositions signed for a debate with T. A. Drinkard, Premillennialist, at Morrilton, Arkansas. And I have also signed propositions with Julian O. Bunt, of the Christian church, for a debate in Lexington, Kentucky. These have no definite dates as yet. Propositions have been signed also for a debate with Mack D. Abbott, United Pentecostal church, for Farwell, Texas, or Texico, New Mexico. But we have been unable yet to get a date from them. Efforts are being made by his brethren to get Billy Sunday Myers to meet me in debate at West Frankfort, Illinois. So far he has not come through. Other debates are in prospect if my health permits.

A. R. Holton, Nashville, Tennessee: Rich Garrett, President of the Ex-student's Association of Thorp Spring Christian College announces that the reunion speaker for the ex-student's reunion at Thorp Spring, Texas, on Sunday, July 26, will be R. C. Bell. Brother Bell was the second president of Thorp Spring Christian College. This reunion of students at Thorp Spring, including students from 1873 to the present time, will be a feature of the encampment to be held at Thorp Spring July 20-31.

Curtis J. Torno, Devine, Texas, June 9: I began working with the church here March 20, 1953. I am a medical officer stationed at Lackland AFB, but I am working on a part time basis with the group of Christians that meet at Devine. The church is young in Devine, being less than ten months since they began to meet. They began with thirty-five members and now have fifty. Since I have been working there, the attendance and zeal have been excellent. Even the midweek Bible study attendance is between fifty and sixty and our Sunday night attendance is around eighty. June 8-19 the Vacation Bible School is in progress. There were well over 100 at the first session. Beginning June 21 and running through June 30, Brother H. R. Little from LaPorte will be with us in a series of meetings. It will be the second meeting this year for the church. In March Brother H. O. Roney from Green's Bayou, Texas, held a ten day meeting here with gratifying results.

F. P. Shepherd, 1732 Keeaumoku Street, Honolulu, T. H., Hawaii: Service personnel and tourists coming to Hawaii are urged to contact us upon arrival. The meeting house can be reached by the Punahou-University bus downtown and getting off corner of Wilder and Keeaumoku. Walk one and one-half blocks down Mauka. Our hours of worship are the same as on the mainland. We can be reached at one of three phone: 67952, 999099, 468102. Parents of servicemen please write us their names and addresses and we will do our best to locate them. Urge them to contact us since it is easier for them than for us. We have little facilities for finding men in the barracks, since they are in and out so much in their duties. We are still planning to begin replacement of this building within a few months. Our new structure will be erected in units as money permits. So much coming and going makes a work like this difficult to maintain at par. At present there is more going than coming on account of reduction in the armed forces.

Lloyd Connel, 1244 S. Evanston Street, Tulsa, Oklahoma, June 9: Since the first of the year at Tenth and Rockford we have had seventy responses to the gospel invitation. Of this number, 32 have been baptisms and 38 restorations and memberships. Brother Reuel Lemmons of Cleburne, Texas, did the preaching in our spring meeting. The members here tell me this was the best attended and most interesting meeting they have had. Brother Lemmons did his work well in presenting the truth in such a way that it could be understood. There were thirteen baptisms and eleven restorations and memberships during the meeting. Brother Paul Epps did a fine job in directing the song service. It was a joy and privilege to work with these two men in the work of the Lord. Interest continues to grow in the work here with visitors at every service. We are looking forward to a profitable and enjoyable work with this good church. The elders are respected by the church and are doing their work well.

Brother Raymond Kelcy, who preceded me here, left the work in a very good spiritual condition, and I appreciate him more each day for his work's sake. I am to do the preaching in the following meetings this year: Knott, Texas, in August, and Norwich, Kansas, and West Berry in Ft. Worth in October.

John O'Dowd, 1215 Cullen Boulevard, Houston 3, Texas, June 12: I have just closed a meeting with Brother Wilson Coon. We pray it honored God and exposed the devil. Brother Coon is a dependable soldier of the Lord. I will meet Cecil Abercrombie in their house in Birmingham, Alabama, June 23-26, 1953, in debate. We are daily broadcasting over KRCT, 650 kc, Baytown, each morning at 8:30 a.m. Tune in and let us hear from you.

Dick Powell, 212 Taylor St., Gainesville, Texas, June 11: Upon the conclusion of an enjoyable ministry in Glen Rose, Texas, I moved here to Gainesville to accept work with the Broadway congregation. My successor at Glen Rose has not been named at this writing. Brother Ernest Witt of Freeport, Texas, has just concluded a fine meeting here at Broadway. Although no one responded to the invitation, the elders feel that much good seed has been sown. Brother Witt is a capable evangelist, and any congregation would be edified by having him for a gospel meeting. My work and association with him during this meeting was enjoyed immensely. The work here is off to a good start, and we feel that in time much good can be accomplished within this community of some 13,000 souls. To substantiate this belief we receive a lot of mail in regard to our radio program which can be heard over station KGAF, 1580 on your dial, every Sunday morning from 8:30 to 8:45. To make the work even more pleasant than was anticipated, I am happy to announce that Brother Earnest McCoy has just accepted work with the Commerce Street church. I shall look forward to and count it a joy to work with him. When in Gainesville, everyone is cordially invited to attend services at the Broadway church located at Broadway and Taylor Streets. I would like for all of my correspondents to please notice my new address.

W. E. (Bud) Irvine, Evangelist: The Pruett and Lobit Streets congregation of Baytown, Texas, formerly known as Murrill and Ashbell Streets, moved into its new building April 12, 1953. The brethren had been meeting at the old address for over 26 years and it was with great thanksgiving and rejoicing they moved into new facilities. The work of this congregation had been handicapped a great deal because of the crowded conditions. Now there is a bright future of work and service for the Lord and it is our prayer the brethren may take hold of the new opportunities now before them as they have in the past. The building was constructed at a cost of almost $150,000 including furniture. It has a seating capacity on the ground floor of 688 with facilities in balcony to seat another 100. There are 20 class rooms, two offices, nursery and utility rooms. The building is also equipped with a refrigerated air conditioning unit, which is almost essential in this part of the country. EVENING VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

J. T. Marlin

For years I have been thinking about the possibilities in conducting vacation Bible schools in the evening instead of the regular morning and afternoon sessions. So far as we know, this had never been tried in the church until this week. During the first four days here at Fourth and Elm, we have enrolled 320. Naturally there are some disadvantages, but the many added advantages far outweigh them. Our prediction is that the next few years will find many churches throughout the brotherhood conducting their vacation Bible schools in the evening. This affords a wonderful opportunity for Christian families to study together.

our new quarters Sunday morning Bible school attendance has averaged over 335 per Sunday and contribution around $650. However, the contribution has averaged near the $600 mark for the past eighteen months. For morning preaching and worship service we are averaging between 500 and 600 in attendance. This congregation is the oldest in this part of the country, having its beginning about 28 years ago with the help of Brother W. R. Smith of Abilene, who was then superintendent of schools in this district. After meeting in the city hall and other public buildings for about three years they bought the Murrill and Ashbell Streets property. About eight years ago they bought the Pruett and Lobit Streets property, and erected a nice preacher's home there about three years ago. The church building and preacher's home are located side by side. Three congregations were established with the assistance of brethren from Pruett and Lobit which are 2600 Virginia Street, Baytown; South Main and Cleveland, Baytown; and the Highlands church, about ten miles from Baytown. Ministers serving this congregation were: W. R. Smith, Thomas Rose, Leonard Bankhead, Bela Watson, Osby Weaver and W. E. Irvine is the present preacher, having worked here almost four years. Brethren Landis Ford, Gordon Phillips and Roy H. Rowland serve as elders. In addition to the regular local church program, this congregation participates in a local daily radio program over station KREL, Baytown, Sunday through Friday, 9 a.m. Brother Buta of Messina, Sicily, is being supported full time by this congregation. In the future the brethren hope to have another man in the field preaching. The elders have outlined a very ambitious program for the next few years, and congregational enthusiasm is at its highest.

L. D. Webb, 623 Northeast Hassalo, Portland 12, Oregon: The tenth congregation within ten years was started in the Portland area Sunday, June 7th. The new location of this congregation is in the auditorium of the Columbia Bible School Building at 90th and NE Glisan Streets. The membership is composed of 90 members sent out by the Central Church of Christ. The first day's attendance was 113 in Bible School and 169 for worship services. Bob Guild of Springfield, Oregon, led the song service and I preached for the congregation the first Sunday. A basket lunch was spread at noon and a fellowship singing was conducted in the afternoon at 2:30. Brief, inspirational talks were made by visiting elders and preachers on the growth of the church in the Portland Area. The congregation started off in a fine way the first day with two baptisms and eighty-seven placing membership. The church is being started in a new district and a real challenge affords this congregation with great opportunities for the future. This congregation is in full fellowship with other congregations of the church of Christ in this area and is expected to be self-supporting from its beginning.

Jess Hall, P. O. Box 401, Paducah, Kentucky, June 11: The last two Sundays of July I will be at Blanco, Texas, for a meeting with Brother Raymond DeSpain and the good church there. My son, Jess Hall, Jr., will direct the singing for the Blanco meeting. I will begin at Brownwood, Texas, with the Early High congregation on Monday night, July 27, and continue for ten days. Monday, June 15, my family and I will go to Unity, Maine, for some work with Brother Shirley Morgan and the church there. We are looking forward to this work in Maine. During the past six weeks three have been baptized and twelve have identified themselves with us here at Broadway. After three years of pleasant work with the brethren here at Broadway we will move to Fort Worth August 17 where we will be associated with the Birdville congregation. I was in a good meeting with the Birdville congregation in April this year. Five were baptized and three restored. Foy Hall of Fort Worth led the singing.

Robert Gordon Clement, 701 North Fourth Street, Marlow, Oklahoma, June 8: This new work continues pleasant and productive. One was restored yesterday morning making a total of three baptisms and six restorations in the past thirty days. Our vacation Bible school closed Friday night with a service in the auditorium where the students gave a demonstration of the things they learned during the week, the teachers demonstrating the various methods they used in their teaching. Monday we had 142; Tuesday, 143; Wednesday, 140; Thursday, 132; Friday, 139; an average of 139.2. The bishops of the congregation, J. W. Eatmon, R. W. Fowler, and Jack Matthews are to be commended for their unselfish service. Under their oversight the congregation is progressing steadily. We are located on Highway 81, the main highway from Fort Worth to Enid or Oklahoma City. Worship with us when in this vicinity.

John Patrick Fogarty, 1028 E. Locust St., Davenport, Iowa, June 11: Four more were baptized this week in the Mississippi River. Within the next few months we hope to have our new building finished and a more convenient place to baptize. We have been at work on our building for three months using only volunteer labor from our members. We soon will exhaust our funds on hand and begin to sell $25,000.00 in bonds. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the building and will pay five per cent. Two well-known business men of Nashville, Brother J. C. Shacklett and Nile Yearwood, with Brother H. Clyde Hale, the preacher for the West End congregation serve as our trustees of this issue. Further information will be gladly furnished relative to this work.

Kenneth J. Arrington, Wichita Falls, Texas, June 11: We have closed our first Vacation Bible School at 23rd and Grace Streets with exceptionally good results. Our daily attendance was far above what we had expected and interest ran high throughout the entire school. Many contacts were made with those who are not members of the church and we look forward to results yet to come. We are to have a five night singing school and song drill beginning June 22 through 26 preparatory to our gospel meeting, July 5-15, with Brother Claude Guild doing the preaching. Brother Guild was with us in November, 1951, and we are looking forward to his return this year. When in Wichita Falls, visit with us.

James F. Fowler, 403 Church St., College Station, Texas, June 13: I am in a very fine meeting at Belton, Texas. The house is filled each night for preaching services and 165 are attending the Vacation Bible School each morning. Four have been baptized thus far. Brother T. J. Ruble is the local preacher and is contributing greatly to the steady growth of the Belton church. Their new auditorium is being well filled already and they are in the process of building a classroom wing to care for their growing Bible school.

ABOUT 500 ALUMNI and friends of Harding College visited on the campus June 3 and 4. It was truly inspiring to have these former students return for a visit to their Alma Mater. They all had words of appreciation for Harding College similar to the following:

"I have found that the training I received at Harding College equipped me to meet the competition of other college and university graduates in the business world. Not only did Harding give the necessary academic background, but also a spiritual foundation that most schools do not offer."

"Harding helped me to realize that man's greatest and gravest responsibility lies in seeking the salvation of the souls of all mankind."

Harding College is anxious to serve Christian young men and women. Why not investigate what Harding has for you?

PUERTO RICAN REPORT

Joe McKissick

The first Puerto Rican, Gregorio Rodriguez, was baptized into Christ in the La Platte River outside of San Juan on April 30. His baptism came as a result of much study of the Bible and a concentrated study through the correspondence course offered by the Dalhart Church of Christ. Clark Hanna, a Pan-American pilot, from New York, first saw the great need of the two and a half million people located on the tiny island. About forty-five enrolled in the course as a result of the advertisements placed in two Puerto Rican papers by him. The Saner Avenue church in Dallas and church at Dalhart sent Brother John Young and me to begin the work. Brother Winston Atkinson and Cecil Freeman, with their families, are now working full time on the island, concentrating most of their efforts in San Juan. Brother Atkinson is being supported by Saner Avenue in Dallas, but as yet Brother Freeman has no support. Anyone interested in helping the Freemans is urged to write the elders at 325 West Saner Avenue in Dallas, or Cecil Freeman, Box 10239, Santurce, Puerto Rico.

About eight members have been found at Ramey Air Field in Aguadilla, and there are five meeting with the church in San Juan, besides the preachers and their families.

Brother Rodriguez is an earnest student of the Bible and is ready to preach wherever and whenever he can. He has been ill lately because he has studied and labored so hard for the church. He has an amazing knowledge and love for the truth. He is 38 years of age and has a wife and two small children. If you care to write him or help him at any time, his address is Box 2965, San Juan, P. R. Puerto Rico is a wonderful country with a great future for the church of the Lord. The laborers need your prayers.

Box 1208, Dalhart, Texas.

THERE IS A RESTORATION IN PUERTO RICO

John W. Young

The Lord is blessing the efforts of Christians in Puerto Rico in the restoring of New Testament Christianity. Brother Joe McKissick and I have just returned from baptizing the first native Puerto Rican and locating five members of the church and putting them to worshipping in the New Testament manner. I remained until Brother and Sister Winston Atkinson arrived to take up the work regularly. When Brother McKissick and I arrived the two newspapers in San Juan, (a city about the size of Dallas) interviewed us and carried pictures and a story about the church that papers in this country would not dare carry. The reporter was taken away with the idea of restoring New Testament Christianity. We spent much of our time teaching Brother Rodriguez who was hungry for the truth. He began immediately after his baptism to teach his friends and neighbors. Brother Atkinson writes that he is now ready to do some public preaching. There is absolutely no prejudice against the church; I preached twice in a Christian Alliance Church and the people were amazed that anyone would use so much scripture. Right in front of their preacher some of them said, "Let's get him to preach for us all of the time." The preacher did the interpreting for me and he put as much or more feeling into it than I did. Out of that four people followed me and wanted to study further. I do believe that the entire denomination could be converted.

Puerto Rico is 85% Catholic, but few of them are devout. You can not get an argument out of a Catholic there for they are almost persuaded of the corruption of the Catholic Church. For the first time Puerto Rico has a governor who is not a Catholic. The editor of the San Juan paper, "El Mundo" is protestant. It is not difficult at all to get someone to study the Bible with you. They come asking for teaching.

Members Located

About ten members of the church have been located in Puerto Rico who are there in the service or in Civil Service. We have reason to believe that there are more and need help in locating them. If anyone knows of any member of the church there, please send their names and addresses to Winston Atkinson, Box 10239, Santurce, Puerto Rico.

The Saner Avenue church of Dallas is supporting the work there. The Trinity Heights congregation, and Preston Road congregation assisted in sending Brother Young to start the work. The Dalhart church sent Brother McKissick to aid in starting this work. The Welch Street church in Denton and the church in Lewisville, Texas, has fellowship in this good work. Brother and Sister Atkinson are being fully supported by Saner Avenue, but Brother and Sister Freeman have gone at their own expense out of nothing but a love for the preaching of the gospel to lost souls.

The immediate need of this infant church which is growing so rapidly is (1) A building. It is almost impossible to rent anything suitable for a place of worship. The cost of a lot would be about $3,500 and a modest 15 x 30 building could be built for about $4,000 which would serve temporarily. (2) Support for Brother and Sister Freeman who have answered the Macedonian call having faith that the brethren will not allow them to go uncared for.

Any contribution may be mailed directly to the Church of Christ, Box 10239, Santurce, Puerto Rico, or sent to the Saner Avenue Church of Christ, 325 W. Saner Avenue, marked for Puerto Rico.

The elders at Saner Avenue are leaving me free to speak on Wednesday nights in the interest of the Puerto Rican work. If anyone desires my services for a Wednesday, write to the Elders, Saner Avenue Church of Christ, Dallas, Texas.

Let us answer this Macedonian call.

FROM FORT COLLINS, COLORADO

R. P. Smith

On June 1st we will have been with the church here in Fort Collins for one year. The Lord has blessed this church in many ways and we have grown in every respect, for which we give him the honor and glory.

During the past year there have been 23 responses to the gospel invitation: nine baptized, eight restored, and six memberships with the local congregation.

During this year we have also purchased a choice corner where we plan to build a new building in the not too distant future. This location is just three blocks from the Colorado A&M campus, one block east of the Loveland highway and one block south of the Denver cut-off. On this property is a seven-room house that is serving very efficiently as a home for the preacher.

During the past school year we have been blessed with some 14 very fine young Christians who are students at Colorado A&M. This is one of the many reasons why it is so vital that the church grow and prosper in this fine city. We pray that by next fall we will be in much better condition to serve these young people as we should.

We have just completed a gospel meeting with James W. Reynolds, of Pueblo, Colorado, doing the preaching, and are planning now for another meeting to begin July 8th with Max T. Neel of Waco, Texas, doing the preaching.

Fort Collins is sixty-five miles due north of Denver, and is the gateway to the Poudre Canyon and Cameron Pass. If you come our way this summer, visit and worship with us. We solicit the prayers of all the brethren in behalf of this work.

PREACHER NEEDED

We are seeking to locate a preacher in his forties or younger who will live in this small community and work with the congregation of some 60 members. We have just completed a modern home for his use. Contact: Floyd Bloodworth, Jacksboro, Texas, or Bruce Baker, Loving, Texas, or Frank Brown, Loving, Texas.—Signed: Elders, Loving, Texas.

The church of Christ at Texhoma, Oklahoma, is in need of a regular preacher. We have a fair church building and a good preacher's home all clear of debt.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Foolishness of Preaching

Here is a paragraph that men should memorize: "For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe. For the Jews require a sign, and the Greeks seek after wisdom: but we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God. Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men; and the weakness of God is stronger than men" (1 Cor. 1:21-25).

Men meditate upon the things that are firmly fixed in their minds. If men are worldly, it is because their minds are filled with worldliness; if they are godly, it is because their minds are filled with the word of God. Since it is so easy for us to forget our own weakness and God's strength, we ought to memorize this passage of scripture, and meditate upon it every day. Man's ignorance and God's wisdom are emphasized on nearly every page of the Bible. Even those who profess to have faith sometimes measure God by themselves. If they do not know a certain thing, they think God does not know it. Also they think God cannot do a thing, if men cannot do it.

Preaching Christ crucified as a means of salvation was foolishness to the Greeks. Paul was referring to this when he said, "It pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe." Paul, of course, does not mean to convey the idea that preaching Christ crucified is actually foolishness. It was only the idea of some men who were inflated with worldly wisdom. They did not see how the gospel of Christ could be true if it did not stand the test of their own wisdom. Men lift up their own standards of truth, and what is out of harmony with their standards, they regard as being false. The gospel of Christ did not measure up to the Greek standards, so they said it was foolishness to preach it.

If the power of the gospel could be demonstrated by human standards, there would be no room for faith. Men would be saved upon the condition of knowledge instead of faith.

The Atomic Age

It is the wisdom of the world that designates the present time the atomic age. Personally I do not see anything in it to brag about. Up to the present time how much good has the split atom done? It has caused a lot of pain, sorrow, suffering and death; and has filled the world with fear. But on the other hand I do not see one good thing that it has done. I do not doubt that its potential power for good is wonderful. But, like a great many other scientific contrivances, men use it in the wrong way.

About the time that W. J. Bryan was debating with Clarence Darrow on the subject of evolution and other things, I wrote a few articles contending that the wrong use of the sciences would ultimately destroy civilization. Now the scientists themselves say that there is great danger that civilization will be wiped out by the atomic bomb. While science contributes some pleasure to human life, it also contributes a lot of sorrow and pain. But the wisdom of the world marches on, and we know of no way to halt it. Withal let Christians walk by faith, not by sight. "The world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever" (1 Jno. 3:17).

Which Is Safe—Skepticism Or Christian Belief?

Hoyt Bailey

The purpose of this lesson is to show what course to pursue to be infallibly safe. To what danger is the man exposed who believes the Bible with his whole heart, and honestly practices it, in any conceivable event? To say the least, the man who believes the Bible, and practices its teaching, is as good as the unbeliever. He is certainly as happy. Beyond all dispute, he does as much for his race as the unbeliever. So far as this world is concerned, he is certainly infallibly safe in any possible or conceivable event. Nor does any man doubt that he is infallibly safe so far as the world to come is concerned.

Conceive the idea, if you wish, that, in the final winding up of human affairs, it were possible for every one to turn out as the skeptic has argued; the Bible to be entirely of man, all religious conviction to be founded in ignorance; to what danger is the man who honestly believed and obeyed the Bible exposed? Conceive the possibility of everything turning out finally as the skeptics argue, and the Christian to have honestly believed the Bible with his whole heart and practiced it faithfully; to have preached it, published it, and advocated it with all his might, through his entire life, and to opposed infidelity, fought against and done everything in his power to put it down, to what danger will he stand exposed, living or dying, in this world or that which is to come? No danger of any sort.

No man living can show that he has lost anything that can in any way contribute to greatness, goodness, or happiness in this life, and the skeptic himself will not claim that he has endangered himself in reference to the life to come. No man of any sort, no matter where he stands, nor what he holds, maintains that any great danger can befall a man on account of his believing and practicing the Bible; that he is, on this account, in any sense, not safe for this world and that which is to come, even if all the skeptic's claims could, by any conceivable event, prove true. If, in the end, he shall find that all he believed concerning God, Christ, the Holy Spirit, angels, and men—in one word, all he believed about the Bible—to be true, he will be an eternal gainer; he will have gained all things. But if you conceive the possibility of his being mistaken, and the skeptic right in every particular, he is then as safe as any skeptic on earth, living and dying, in time and eternity. You may confidently defy any skeptic to show that he is not infallibly safe by believing and obeying the teaching of the Bible.

Look at the other side of the question. Let the skeptic prove mistaken, and look to the consequences of his mistake. He finds himself, in the end, standing in opposition to his merciful Creator, who has, in kindness and compassion, put forth his hand to save him; opposed his gracious Redeemer, who died for him, and to the Bible, intended to guide him to happiness and eternal glory. He believed not the God who created him, and the Lord who gave himself for him.

The sentence is, "He who believes not shall be condemned." "He who believes not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abides on him." He knows that his skepticism cannot possibly make him any better in this life, any more happy; that it cannot do the world any possible good; that it has nothing in it to elevate, ennoble, and adorn humanity; that it cannot possibly bring anything great and good to a single soul of the human race; that it cannot civilize, educate, or enlighten mankind, but its whole tendency is to pull down morals, education, and enlightenment. If the claims of the skeptic could prove true, every believer in the Bible would be as safe in all respects as the skeptic for time and eternity.

It is infallibly safe to believe the Bible with the whole heart and practice its teaching. This no man denies. This is indisputable. It would be exceedingly strange if that which is infallibly safe were not infallibly correct.

Why is it that such a large proportion of skeptics, when near the close of their lives, or are in the immediate expectation of death, renounce and repudiate their skepticism? Why does their foundation fail them at the very time when they need support more than at any former period? Why is it that, at the gate of death, so many of them renounce what has been upon their lips for years? Why is it that the most impudent scoffers, bold and ridiculing unbelievers, in such large proportions, when they approach the change of worlds, repudiate, frequently with their last words, the unbelief that has dwelt upon their lips for years?

Why does the meekest believer in the kingdom of God press his faith to his heart the more closely as he approaches death? Why is it that not a man who claimed to believe the Bible, while in life and health, ever denied it when he approached death? The answer is, that the divine testimony is sufficient for all confidence, worthy of all acceptance; and the human soul, at the hour of dissolution, when it needs support, leans on that which is infallibly safe, as also infallibly correct. Then, to believe and practice the teaching of the Bible is infallibly safe for this world and the world to come.

But what if a man does not believe the Bible and obeys not its teaching in this life? He is not safe, and no argument can make him safe. He stands on doubtful ground. He takes a risk, while he might have a certainty. He admits that all who believe and honestly obey the Bible are safe. This no one denies. All men can believe the Bible, and obey its teaching, and thus be infallibly safe.

Some may be confused over the questions of fore-ordination, pre-destination, or election. There is one safe way to settle all three of these questions. It is obvious that the apostles preached the gospel to all wherever they went. They approved those who believed and obeyed, and disapproved those who did not believe and obey. Unbelief is a ground of condemnation: "He who believes not shall be condemned." Disobedience is mentioned as a ground of condemnation: "The Lord will take vengeance on those who know not God, and obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ."

The gospel of Christ is the only thing to be preached. It is to be preached to all nations for the obedience of faith. It is infallibly safe to preach the gospel to all men, for all men to believe and obey it. There is no one who believes that the Bible came from God, that does not admit that it is right to believe and obey its teaching. This is infallibly right, as all admit. That which is infallibly right, is, beyond all doubt, infallibly safe.

Why should anyone discuss the question of whether baptism is essential to salvation? Why discuss the question of whether anything the Lord has commanded is essential? All such questions have their foundation in disloyalty to the divine government. There is no need of starting the question of whether baptism is essential to salvation.

Do you inquire for the way of arriving at something that is safe, then ask: "Is baptism a commandment of God?" All parties of any note respond, "Certainly it is a commandment." About this there is no dispute of importance. It being admitted that baptism is a commandment of God, the next question: "Is it right to obey the commandment of God?" There is but one answer. All admit that it is right to obey God. Is there any man of any note who does not admit that? If one does not obey this commandment, he is not safe. If all agree, as all of any consequence do, that baptism is a commandment of God, it is infallibly right to be baptized, and it is infallibly safe to be baptized, because God commanded it.

How essential is baptism? It is so essential that one cannot get into the kingdom of God without it. Jesus said: "Except a man be born of water, and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." The Lord said: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." The Holy Spirit said: "Repent, and be immersed, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins . . ." (Acts 2:38). The scripture mentions being baptized into the name, into one body, into the kingdom of God, for remission of sins, to have sins washed away, or baptized to be saved. These expressions all, in amount, are the same. If a man is in the name, he is in Christ, in the body, has the remission of sins, is in the church, or in the kingdom. So, if a man is in the kingdom, he is in the body, in Christ, is in the name and is pardoned.

There is not an intimation of any man being in the church, in the time of the apostles, without baptism. Where is the ground for disputing about baptism being essential? There is no ground for this skeptical dispute. All admit that it is a commandment of God, and that it is right to obey the commandment. Let all do what they admit the Bible teaches to be right, be baptized as the Bible directs, and they will be safe so far as this one act is concerned.

that immersion was the original practice. The validity of immersion remains unquestioned by anything deserving the name of authority, and is sanctioned by the weight of all historians, critics, commentators, lexicographers, translators. There is no question about immersion. It has never been in dispute or doubt. It remains unquestioned and unquestionable, so far as men of learning and reputation are concerned. Those who receive immersion are at rest about the ordinance. Scripture says: "We are buried with Christ in baptism" (Col. 2:12; Rom. 6:3, 4). Thus, immersion comes into the mind in spite of all efforts to keep it out. What, then, is the safe course to pursue? Undoubtedly, to practice that which never was in doubt; that which never was in dispute among great, good and pious men. "Go," according to the scripture, "to a certain water," where there is "much water," to "down into the water," be "buried in baptism," come "up out of the water," and the controversy is ended so far as you are concerned.

Preaching theories about the influence of the Spirit, or the operation of the Spirit, may sound religious to those who do not understand the matter, but there is nothing in it to save a single human being. The thing for man to do is to listen to the word of the Lord, believe it with the whole heart, and do what the Lord commands. This is the best that man can do. It is all that he can do. If he believes all the Lord has said, and makes every effort in his power to do all the Lord requires, the Lord will do everything right on his part. The thing for man to do is to exercise faith in God and he will do his part, in all things, faithfully, whether man can understand how he will do it or not. All should come to God in full assurance of faith, all confidence that he is able and willing to do all things well—to do all for man that he needs—to save his soul. It is not theories about the influence of the Spirit that man needs, but faith and obedience to the commandments of God. There is no threat against any man because he does not understand any theory about the influence of the Spirit, but there are terrible threats against the unbelieving and disobedient.

The safe course is to believe the teaching of the Bible, to be immersed for the remission of sins, and to remain obedient and fruitful in every Christian virtue as long as life shall last.

(NO. 2)

Thomas L. Campbell

In the previous article we attempted to point out that criticism of the erection and maintenance of orphan homes pertains to methods rather than to principles of faith. It is not hard to criticize any human being or his plans. Anything that calls for the expediency of method can be and should be examined and its false tendencies pointed out. The "homes" among God's people today are far from being above reproach; a fact which the elders and superintendents of those homes are first to admit. Yes, it is a fact that a large percentage of the orphans in most of our homes are from delinquent homes rather than where death has visited. Delinquent parents have ceased to care for innocent children. Shall the church say, "Sorry, little one, we know you are innocent, but your parents aren't dead, and therefore we can't help you." This child is undergoing an experience which in most instances is worse than death of his parents. It is worse to be rejected by living parents than to be a victim of circumstances with dead parents. The very fact that most of these children have living parents is all the more reason that a "home" separate and apart from individual homes is imperative. Frankly, I deem it extremely unwise to take two or three of these unfortunate ones into my home and let them mix with my boys. If I could get them when babies, I would be happy to do so. But after their impressions are set and habits are made, I agree with the consultant who advises against such a course. But does that relieve me of my responsibility? I don't think it does. Why could not similar-minded persons suggest to the church that they contribute to the support of such ones? It is no more my responsibility than it is my other brothers' in the church. The church is an institution desiring to save, and "zealous of good works." Let them pool their resources and care for these.

Critics of the orphan homes say they are sickened by the silly question, "What are you doing?" Yes, what do you have to offer that is better? We admit to our non-class brethren that the class system of teaching leaves much to be desired, but what have they to offer in the matter of methods that is better? We feel that we have scored when they hang their heads in silence. The only alternative suggested on a better method is that Christians take them into their homes. To this we all agree. It is a better method and every superintendent of an orphan home in the brotherhood is the first to say "amen." Just when do we start doing this? We will never start, because down deep we know it is unworkable. An action of this kind would convert most of us to "institutionalism" in a hurry. I honestly wish my brethren would do this for one year, and then we could go on to ironing out some other problems. If the critics alone will take these into their homes—and keep them, there will not be an "institution" among us in five years. Its beauty and heroism will shame the rest of us, until we imitate the action and depopulate every home in the brotherhood. Sometimes some brilliant young man who has adopted a child or two from the maternity homes in the large cities cites himself as a great example of caring for the orphans. I think that is noble, and every childless couple ought to, if possible, follow the same procedure. I am quite willing myself to add two or three to my home from such places if I can get them while babies. This is a far cry from taking children ten, twelve, and older into your home—with delinquent parents continually molesting and disturbing them, so that no impressions for good can be made, nor proper discipline maintained. I know, brethren, for I have tried it! If you want to know some real unhappiness, I suggest that you try it. The state will not let you adopt from the orphan homes, and the state knows why! They know that the average child in an orphan home is not suitable to adjustment to just any home. They know that some otherwise good people could not make the proper adjustment to such children. To spare both you and the child great unhappiness, they forbid adoption.

It is true that a church is not a rehabilitation agency to mend and sustain all of the maladjustments in our society today, but it is expected to do what it can. God has never required for us to do above our ability in any line. He does expect us to do all we can to help mankind. Catholics seem to agree with the policy that no funds of the church should be expended on the rabble. In Italy we are told that the bishops and priests parade in luxury while the people starve. So we must cloak ourselves with self-righteousness, and refuse to spend a penny if it was given inside a church building to help anybody who is not a "saint." That must have been the reason that the priest and Levite passed by on the other side, while the Samaritan helped the beaten Jew. Paul gave a command to the churches of Galatia that knocks sky-high such hypocrisy. He said, "Do good unto all men, and especially unto them who are of the household of faith." The fact that he distinguishes those in the church from those out of the church seems to indicate the Holy Spirit knew this idea might creep into the minds of some. We can spend money to build church buildings for the convenience and comfort of the saints, but not one penny for food for a sinner! We can spend the principal part of the "budget" for the breaking of the bread of heavenly manna (gospel) to him, but don't you dare give him a crust of wheat bread, or raiment in the name of the church or with church funds!

There is not a record in the Scriptures for the spending of money out of the treasury of the church for church buildings. Yet we all understand that a building is needed in these times for the preaching of the gospel. In Montana there are brethren who positively forbid the purchase of church buildings, and refuse to meet in them because the apostles did not. It is still a matter of methods of carrying out what God wants us to do.

In my opinion we could improve the orphan home situation by having smaller homes and more homes. Why could not two or three congregations collaborate in their own back yards, hire a man and his wife to be father and mother to a dozen youngsters who have been cast out on the streets? No special building would have to be erected—just simply purchase a large home. This will be raising children in the simplicity of a normal home, and another advantage is that it will be right in the midst of the members where it can be looked after and appreciated.

Our critics warn of centralization, and it is by far the most constructive criticism made. In collaboration there is always danger of centralization. Let us always be mindful of this danger. The orphan home or any other cooperative efforts must not be allowed to get so powerful as to be the tail that wags the dog. However, this is not an immediate danger at present as our "homes" are hardly able to keep out of the red. Smaller homes with family-sized units supported by a few congregations seems to be an answer to this danger of centralization.

So, again it is the matter of exercising the best judgment possible in avoiding as many of the dangers as possible, and at the same time accomplish both individually and collectively what the Lord wants us to do. May God bless us to this end.

Central Christian College Completes Third Year

James O. Baird

At the close of three years of service to students, the college is happy to summarize some of its activities up to this point. The outstanding thing thus far is that God has blessed the school and is using it, in spite of all human imperfections and shortcomings. I believe that the board of trustees and Brother Wilson have done a remarkable job in achieving as much as they have. Largely through their efforts, the school is located on a one hundred and fifty-two acre campus with five buildings. Although there are many needs and much is yet to be done, the mortgage on the property has been burned. Interest in the school is increasing. Each year the student body has increased about 35 percent. To date, 338 students have taken work for credit here. Forty-six will have graduated on May 23rd. Thirty-eight young men who are preparing to preach are in attendance this year.

Academically, the school has become accredited by the Oklahoma Board of Regents and is a member of the American Association of Junior Colleges. Students who have transferred to other colleges maintain about the same grade averages they did with us, showing that the academic standards here are not out of line with the larger colleges. This is due largely to the quality of the faculty, their sacrifice and dedication to their tasks. A recent study published in a national journal shows that in faculty preparation Central Christian College ranks in the top seven percent of the nation's junior colleges. All of the faculty members are Christians. The student-faculty ratio is one to twelve making it possible for each student to receive individual attention. Next year three new faculty members and a full-time librarian will be added to the staff.

One of the most heartwarming things about such work is to talk with young people who have completed their work here and who return later for a visit. In conversation and in manner, they show that their lives are more Christ-centered and Bible-directed. This causes all the effort that has been put forth to make their education at a Christian college possible seem little in comparison with the result.

Frequently, the prayer in our daily chapel includes this petition, "Raise up friends for this school in order that it may do the most good." Contrary to some rumors, the college is not financially underwritten by the large oil companies of Bartlesville nor by wealthy people of the town. It is dependent upon the interest and contributions of Christian people. We need your prayers and support.

Studies In Galatians (No. 18)

R. C. Bell

Paul teaches that a perpetual struggle between the flesh and the spirit takes place within Christians. The stubborn flesh, though ideally crucified as a hopeless law-breaker, wages in practical life a lingering battle. It insists that Christian liberty grants it indulgences, incompatible with spiritual living. In our studies of Paul's rebuttal, we are now to hear his answer to the clamor of flesh that it has right to money that belongs to the Spirit. What Christians do with their money is pivotal. They must not be covetous and illiberal.

Sowing and Reaping

A passage to Galatia and one to Corinth, two of Paul's great Scriptures on a Christian's use of money, both teach the correspondence between sowing and reaping. Gal. 6:6-10 stresses the truth that the harvest must agree with the seed sown in kind; 2 Cor. 9:6-11 the supplementary truth that the harvest will be proportional to the seed sown in quantity. "He that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully . . . And he that supplieth seed for the sower and bread for food (in nature), shall supply and multiply your seed for sowing (in religion), and increase the fruit of your righteousness: ye being enriched unto all liberality." This scripture teaches that God's work done in God's way, shall never lack God's supplies; that one who really desires to give shall never be denied the privilege and blessing of giving. What an opportunity! Why be stingy? Is it reasonable to trust the seed, the soil, and the sun, yet not trust the word of their faithful Maker and Governor?

As if to guard against a misunderstanding of "each man shall bear his own burden" that would lead to illiberality, Paul follows it with: "But let him that is taught in the word, communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things. Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for what a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth unto his own flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth unto the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap eternal life." Although this passage deals primarily with material support for teachers, it also has a much broader scope. In view of "the works of the flesh," which he has just enumerated, Paul means to tell the Galatians that "the flesh" is a dangerous enemy so resourceful and irreconcilable that it must not be pampered, but rather be turned over to the executioner for crucifixion; that to allow it to spend money on its own pleasure that should be used in spreading the gospel is to reap corruption; that only after it is curbed can they sow to the Spirit and reap life eternal; that eternal life is contingent upon continuance in well-doing, preferably to Christians, though others are not excluded.

Sowing and reaping is truly a solemn matter. In the field of destiny, nations and individuals reap as they sow. The condition of the world today shows that God is not mocked. The world has sown to the flesh, and is now reaping the inevitable destruction and desolation. As for men, the present determines eternity. According to God's wise and inviolable decree, flesh is flesh, and can never evolve into spirit. Grapes are not to be gathered from thorns. The flesh, anywhere, is a marvelously deceitful and diligent architect of misery and ruin. Now as ever, the flesh in the church is its weakness and frustration. The Galatians are not the last Christians to begin in the Spirit, only to be bewitched into finishing in the flesh. The flesh is unbelievably adept in simulating the Spirit. Many things that seem to many Christians to be of the Spirit are of the flesh, and must therefore reap corruption. "God is not mocked."

Concerning this subject, we need to be on our guard against materialism and determinism. The superlative good news of all time is that the personal God of providence proposes to intervene between sowing and reaping that the harvest of flesh need not come to the full. God's offer of pardon and repair constitute Christianity. God, the Maker of the law of sowing and reaping, arrests its operation in this world, and promises more than completely to correct all injury man has suffered, by giving him a spiritual body at the resurrection. All this is but God lawfully exercising his sovereign liberty in grace. "He hath not dealt with us after our sins" (Psa. 103:10). Did Joseph's brothers reap all they sowed? Christ did not say to the thief dying at his side, "You have sown tares, now reap tares." Paul's "if" in "if we faint not" gives light. If the Galatians ceased sowing to the Spirit, the harvest would fail. Likewise, if men cease sowing to the flesh, corruption is arrested in time, and life wholly spiritual is reaped in eternity. But even sins forgiven leave scars that remain until death.

Double Crucifixion

In the close of his letter to the Galatians, Paul draws a sharp contrast between himself and the Judaizers. He offers as proof of his strong, unselfish, personal attachment the fact that he, apparently with exceptional procedure and discomfort, writes them in his own handwriting (v. 11). Contrariwise, the selfish, insincere Judaizers have no personal interest in them whatsoever. By having Gentile Christians circumcised, they cannot only escape the bitter, unrelenting persecution of orthodox Jews, but also build themselves up as able, skillful founders and leaders of a new Jewish sect. They have no intention of burdening their party with the whole, wearisome law; the crux, circumcision, will suffice. Paul's blunt, unreserved expose of these time-serving politicians and hypocrites with their mongrel religion, based, as are all religions except pure Christianity, on law, flesh, and human merit, surely is enough to cause leaders of the church today to probe their souls for the inspiration of their leadership and activities.

"They desire to have you circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh. But far be it from me to glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through which the world hath been crucified to me, and I to the world." In this incisive language, Paul gives his interpretation of Christianity. The cross was to Paul, Christ's invitation, "Come, die with me." The glory of the crucified, risen Lord blinded Paul to the world physically three days, and spiritually forever. According to the flesh, it was the end of Paul; he attended his own funeral! To him it was a choice between the church and the world—one or the other, not both. "I suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but refuse, that I may gain Christ" (Phil. 3:8). The cross speaks of death and separation, without compromise. It divides mankind into the spiritual church and the fleshly world.

The Value Of Family Prayer

Claude B. Holcomb

One of the strongest segments that went into the making of the old family circle was the time of daily devotions, when all the family gathered to hear the head of the house read from the word of God and lead their minds in prayer. How much stronger would be the church, and how much better place to dwell this world would be, if this practice were more prevalent in the Christian homes of our land today! Too many worldly activities have robbed too many homes of the rich blessings to be derived from daily family devotions. Consider the consequences!

Every worthy parent feels a deep interest in the welfare of his children, and makes use of every right means to promote their happiness, and to secure their future well-being.

Parents recall many touching scenes of watchfulness, care, anxiety and toil, to provide for the needs of their children, to alleviate their suffering, and to train them for future success and happiness. We cherish the hope that our children will grow up to be a joy and a comfort to us; and our hope is kept constantly alive as we help them in their pursuits of noble ambitions. One of the surest ways of securing the realization of our hopes in regard to our children is to make deep and profound impressions upon them in early life through regular family prayer in the home.

The most important responsibility that rests upon parents with respect to their children is to help them in obtaining eternal life in the world to come. After having been so extremely solicitous of their temporal good, shall we put them under the necessity of perishing eternally because of our neglect in training them in the way they should go? Family prayer is one of the most direct and effective means of defending against the sinister influences to which our children will be exposed. It is not easy for any child to disrespect a father whom he has known often to approach the throne of grace, especially when the child knows that approach has been made in his own behalf. Nor is it easy for a child to disrespect the heavenly throne before which such intercessions have been made.

The value of family prayer is inestimable in its far-reaching influences over those who have been the subjects of those prayers. No man can understand the true relationship that should exist between God and man without that familiarity with God that comes from frequent, earnest prayer. Nor can a man instill the principles of this relationship into the minds of his children until they have heard with their own ears the proof of his acquaintance with God. If a man's own children have never heard him pray, they have no real evidence of his intimacy with God, and thus they are left without the constraint of a loving father's influence to keep them from yielding to evil propensities.

Our present generation has tragically felt the impact of worldly wantonness, greed, hatred, licentiousness, degradation, and all manner of sin, that results from the spiritual depravity of those who foster such things. Could this be the consequences of neglect on the part of those who profess to hold to higher and nobler principles? Would there not be a brighter hope for our world today if the spiritual values derived from the older traditions of the family circle—including daily family prayer—were reinstated in the Christian homes of our land?

New Policy In Children's Home—Part III

F. E. Hayes

Christian parents who want to adopt children from our Christian orphan homes, or give them foster care, should be reminded that it is important to get expert counsel and that such counsel is easily available.

Considerable interest has been aroused by Brother Byron Fullerton's recent statement that Tipton Home stands ready to help Christian parents provide foster homes for children. It seems advisable now to give whatever guidance is possible to those parents who may want to accept the opportunity he reveals.

In order to protect the children and the foster or adoptive parents, careful investigations are made. The different children's homes know about these things and can advise any Christian parent who will take time to write.

Most child welfare experts say that children who can be cleared legally for adoption should be placed in carefully selected permanent homes. The number of children who can be adopted is relatively small, but completely deserving of our best efforts.

Miss Sibyl Foster, Adoption Consultant for the New Mexico Department of Public Welfare, says: "The goal of the adoption agency should be to find a home for every child who can benefit from family life. The earlier the adoptive placement can be made with safety, the better the chance for the child's achieving emotional security in the home. Every child who can use family life can be placed for adoption if sufficient time is put into the search for the family who can accept him with his history and capacities."

Christian parents in the Oklahoma area will be happy to know that Miss Laura Dester, Director of Child Welfare in Oklahoma, is aware of our problem and is anxious to help us. Her department has 40 qualified workers whose services are at our disposal. She assures us that they are morally bound, when requested, to place children in a private home of any specified religious faith. In our case, of course, Christian homes would always be specified.

In other words, they would place children from our Christian children's homes into suitable Christian private homes when allowed to do so. This means that we have expert counsel available to help us get children out of institutions into private homes.

Some may be surprised to read a comment made by Miss Dester when approached on this problem. She said: "I don't suppose we would ever get to the bottom of the list of applications we have from Church of Christ members for adoptive children."

She stresses the need for a thorough and painstaking investigation of the background of children being placed, but says her workers are qualified and ready to do the job. Careful investigation, she says, reveals information needed to help the child adjust himself.

It is equally necessary to investigate prospective homes to protect the interest of the children. The needy child is the first consideration, of course, and the childless home the second. During the period of investigation each child remains in the institution. That means that support to the Christian children's homes must be continued at all times.

The writer has tried to inform the brotherhood of three things: one, that children are available for foster care and that the orphan homes are anxious to help; two, that the private home is far, far superior to institutional care; and, three, that expert counsel is advisable and available.

What is left, then? If Christian parents by the hundreds are looking for children and Christian children's homes are trying to find individual care for their charges, why is there not a considerable movement of dependent children into private Christian homes?

The only reason this writer can find is that none of us have tried hard enough yet to bring these two groups together. It has been the purpose of these articles to attempt that. If foster homes prove available in adequate number and if foster parents make a good record with children, it surely isn't too much to hope that the orphan homes will then take a still more forward step and begin using efficient state welfare agencies for adopting children into good Church of Christ homes.

What Does The Bible Say?

Why Observe the Lord's Supper Every Sunday?

A visitor to the morning worship of the church has asked this question: "Why do churches of Christ observe the Lord's Supper every Sunday?" That is a reasonable question. Perhaps you have wondered about it too.

We are striving to restore the simple worship of the church in the days of the apostles. The church in those days observed the Lord's Supper the first day of every week. The approved example of this is found in Paul's experience at Troas. Paul "tarried seven days" in Troas. Evidently he was awaiting the opportunity of breaking bread with the church there. "And upon the first day of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread, Paul discoursed with them. . ." (Acts 20:7). This scripture shows that it was the custom of the early church to "break bread" or observe the Lord's Supper on the first day of the week, which day we call Sunday.

Secular history adds to this scriptural example and shows clearly that the early Christians did meet to observe the Lord's Supper or Communion on the first day of every week. (See International Standard Bible Encyclopedia, page 1925). Justin, who was martyred about 165 A.D., wrote that the Christians of his day met on the "day of the sun" because "it is the first day on which God, having transformed darkness, created the world; and on the same day Jesus Christ our Savior rose from the dead." Then he described how they read the Scriptures, and heard preaching, and then partook of the elements representing the Lord's blood and the Lord's body.

So, we who are trying to reproduce New Testament Christianity in our present age follow the approved example of the early Christians in remembering the Lord's death until he came on the first day of every week. This regular memorial is a source of much spiritual strength to Christians who partake in a worthy manner.

What's In A Name?

Cleon Lyles

Since we moved to our new location, our house of worship in Little Rock is designated as The Church of Christ at Sixth and Izard. For the sake of convenience, it is usually briefed as The Church at Sixth and Izard.

As minister of this church, I often conduct series of meetings away from home. Many of these meetings are held outside of Arkansas. When I am identified as minister of The Church of Christ at Sixth and Izard, the congregation almost invariably breaks out in smiles. Sometimes there is a ripple of laughter, even an occasional guffaw.

The Word "Izard" does it. It sounds funny to people who are not acquainted with the background and history of the word. It sounds funny, maybe, because it rhymes with such words as blizzard, lizard and gizzard.

There may be some excuse for hilarity when the name of a church makes one think of the terms that define a blustering-snowstorm, a lowly but harmless reptile, or the part of a chicken that most people detest.

But the name also rhymes with wizard which denotes cleverness and skill, whether it pertain to sage or sorcerer.

I do not in any way resent the mirthful attitude of people who are not familiar with the name of "Izard." Nor do any members of the congregation resent it. We simply take it in our stride. But I do believe an explanation is in order. And that is the purpose of this article.

The Little Rock church is located at the intersection of two streets. These two streets are Sixth and Izard. Therefore the statement embraces the complete address. This offers a convenience to strangers. Moreover it is according to Biblical custom. The New Testament churches of Christ are listed according to location—address. For example, the church of Ephesus, the church of Sardis, and so on.

Should we use such terms as the "Memorial" church, the "First" church, the "Second" church, or some other worldly designation, we would perhaps be greeted with something worse than laughter—and deservingly so.

Izard Street is no joke. It was named for George Izard, second territorial governor of Arkansas. Izard was born in South Carolina in 1776, a member of one of America's noble families. His father was one of the first U. S. senators elected from the native state. Young Izard graduated from the University of Pennsylvania at the age of 15. Shortly after his graduation he was sent to London, in care of Thomas Pickney, then minister to England, to attend the military schools of Europe. He first entered the Prince of Wales' Royal Military Academy. He later became a student in the military school at Marburg, Germany. His next school was the Ecole du Genie, an institution for teaching the art of military engineering, located at Metz. While here he received a commission as lieutenant in the United States artillery and engineers, and in 1797 returned to America. The Secretary of War placed him in charge of the construction of Castle Pickney, in Charleston Harbor, as engineer. Two years later he was promoted to captain and in 1802 was placed in command of the post at West Point.

Early in 1812, when war with England was imminent, George Izard was commissioned colonel and placed in command of the Second Regiment Artillery. The following year he was commissioned brigadier-general and in 1814 was promoted to major-general.

It was in March, 1825, that he was appointed by President Monroe as governor of Arkansas Territory. After completing his first three-year term, he was appointed to a second term by President Adams. He died shortly after beginning his second term.

The public and military life of George Izard is a tribute to both state and national history. I have briefed it to the foregoing paragraphs, sufficiently to establish respect for the name of Izard.

There is also a county in Arkansas named for the territorial governor. Coincidentally, Izard County, Arkansas, has possibly produced more outstanding ministers of the church of Christ than any other county in its population range in the United States. Among the Izard County natives are such profound defenders of the faith as: Will Schultz, Joe Warlick, Clarence Wilkerson, Franklin T. Puckett, Harrison Porterfield, and A. S. Croom, first president of what is now Harding College.

SMALL CHURCHES

Brother M. E. Waldrum kindly supplies us interesting data on another small congregation. It is ten years old and has a membership of 24. No group of faithful disciples should be despised because they do not boast of a large membership. The quality of the material is of far more significance. A small church of good men and women, faithful to their obligations in the home and in the church, is simply precious in the sight of God. A large church that has departed from the sound doctrine of Christ, or the conduct of whose members is not in keeping with the high standard of living detailed in the New Testament for their guidance is of far less value in heaven's sight than a small church of loyal and faithful members. Churches are to be appreciated for what they are and what they do. Their numbers are more often about the same from year to year, except as fluctuations in population in the communities may be responsible for increase or decrease in numbers. Let us appreciate and try to establish many small churches, so that all may have the opportunity to worship no matter where they live. Then our responsibility is to lead our children and all others whom we can persuade to obey the Lord and strengthen the church. The gospel of Christ has been and is being proclaimed by many faithful preachers and there is now a large number of small and not a few large churches in the lovely "Sunshine State" of New Mexico. If you are travelling through, you can find without difficulty, where the disciples come together to break bread, and where they will give you a cordial welcome.

REPORT ON THE CHURCH IN VAUGHAN, NEW MEXICO

In 1943 some of the larger congregations in the state helped support a preacher for one year. Since then the leadership has been the local brethren except for gospel meetings. There are 24 members, including five teen-agers and several who do not attend regularly. Brother Lewis Merritt encouraged this work from the beginning and has done much of the preaching. Brother J. M. Baker is principal of the public grade school and assists Brother Merritt. Church building is valued at $10,000 and is paid for. Other works include: assistance to Las Vegas, New Mexico; contribute to three orphan homes; pay for articles in weekly paper; charity, etc. The average weekly contribution for the first three months in this year was $61. I recently assisted them with a gospel meeting.—M. E. WALDRUM, Box 446, Santa Rosa, New Mexico.

TEACHERS WANTED—$250,000 WORTH

Levittown, Pennsylvania, one of the best opportunities for the church in the entire Northeastern United States, needs public school teachers. This community of 70,000 which has sprung up in two years time has had a painful school problem. All school systems in the area are crying for teachers of any level or kind. Teacher salary budgets have increased $250,000 for this year. We have names of superintendents and principals available. The church needs teachers who will move to Levittown, take positions in the school system and help the church grow. So far, there is no more than a nucleus of Christians living there, but a full-time evangelist will arrive in July to begin work, and plans are under way to build a strong congregation there. If you are a Christian teacher and interested in such an opportunity, write us for further details. Salaries start at $3,000. Full particulars are available. Write in care of: Church of Christ, Box 5486, Philadelphia 43, Pennsylvania.

THE CHURCH IN URBANA, ILLINOIS

In May, 1952, the church in Urbana, Illinois, began to meet for worship in the modern building pictured above. Located some three blocks from the campus of the University of Illinois, the building is of contemporary design and provides seating for 400 people. A classroom section at the rear of the building houses the church office and four classrooms. Balcony facilities and the auditorium provide space for five more Bible classes. One large classroom at the rear of the auditorium serves as a nursery and an overflow room for large audiences. The building is of brick and wood panel construction. The windows at the tops of the panels are firmly fixed, and the auditorium is ventilated by means of the louvers at the bottom of the panels. The interior of the auditorium is finished, for the most part, in natural birch paneling. Acoustics are excellent.

The industry and zeal of the South Lincoln Avenue congregation are manifest in that the entire building project was undertaken and is being carried out in addition to the regular program of local and mission work. Money needed for the building over and above the amount provided in a building fund was raised through the sale of bonds, over two-thirds of which are owned by members of the congregation. One of the members of the church served as general supervisor of the building program, thus effecting a number of savings.

Under the oversight of its capable elders, Victor W. Kelley and Frank R. Day, the congregation has taken the initiative and has assisted materially in the establishment of three new congregations in Illinois, strategically located in Springfield, the capital of the state, Decatur, and Bloomington. One of these congregations is now self-supporting and is carrying out an ambitious program of local and mission work of its own, and the other two are continuing to build steadily on solid foundations. Recently the South Lincoln Avenue congregation has made application to university officials for permission to establish a Bible chair offering religious instruction for university credit.

The church in Urbana had its beginning on September 23, 1928. Four days before this date, 23 members of the church had met and decided to establish a congregation in Urbana. The group began to meet for worship in an upstairs hall in the city. This hall and one other served as meeting places for five years. In the fall of 1933, the congregation purchased a dwelling at 408 West Main Street, remodeled it at that time and again seven years later to take care of the growing congregation. The membership at present numbers approximately 145, and the average attendance is around 180. Preachers who have served the congregation regularly are: Elmer Smith, George S. Benson, Hugo McCord, T. T. Carney, Robert Turner Victor H. Sellers, Ira L. North, Farrell D. Walters, Jack Duncan, Charles Chumley, and Pat Hardeman.

"Birds Of Prey"

Genesis 15:8-11

Claude A. Guild

Introduction:

The aged Patriarch, Abraham, was not content to allow the vultures or birds of prey to devour the sacrifices he had made to God. (1) Describe his very common altar of earth and stone and make parallel application to our very common, yet unique and apostolic order of worship (Acts 2:42). We do not have robes and rituals and all the other fineries to ruin our New Testament worship.

I. Opposing birds of prey today:

1. Misbehaving men in the church (1 Tim. 3:15): Elders and deacons who do not exercise themselves in their offices scripturally become birds of prey. (a) Elders that do not teach, care for their families and bring them up in the church or get an ill reputation in the community, are in the minds of brethren, birds of prey. (b) Deacons who fail to take care of their work become birds of prey.

2. Distracting thoughts: (a) Dressmakers can see a neckline, blouse, or a suggested fashion and begin to dream designs during a quiet hour of worship that she has never thought of before. The next thing she knows the worship hour is gone. (b) Mechanics, beauticians, merchants or any other profession can allow distracting thoughts to rob them of the hour of worship.

3. Attitude of demeanor: (a) Our behavior during the worship hour means much. Misbehavior becomes birds of prey. There is the vacant stare, wondering eyes, whispering lips, dissipated countenances, knives, chewing gum, etc. These become birds of prey. (b) The place where you sit may become a bird of prey to you. Some cannot worship acceptably in the balcony, nursery, back seats, or out of their regular habitat.

4. Appointments too close to the hour of worship: (a) We arrange dinner dates at the "Swanky Shack," 12 noon. When you see the preacher is prolonged in his discourse or if there is to be a baptismal service you become disturbed, thinking you will not make your appointment on time. (b) We delay our preparation for worship; the newspaper, sleeping late, late shaving, checking the car, meeting the bus schedule and just carelessness brings us to the worship service in no frame of mind to worship. These become birds of prey.

5. Late-comers: (a) The habitual late-comer disturbs the ushers (they should worship, too) and members of the church as far down in the auditorium as they need to go for seats (in some places the late-comer has to take front seats because members have occupied all the back seats). It takes the preacher some time then to renew his connections in thought with the audience after they have been disturbed by late-comers.

6. Unworthy and unclean: (a) There are heretics, fornicators without compunction or drunkards who through someone's carelessness are permitted to wait on the Lord's table or serve the congregation. The worship is disrupted, brethren are thinking "why will they allow him to participate in public services?"

7. Sleeping in Church: (a) You have been under the impression that sleepers wouldn't disturb anybody, you need to preach awhile. I have seen wives embarrassed, nudging their husbands. I have seen them reach in and turn his flesh over to try to wake him up. I have heard children say, "I am not going back to church with you any more, daddy, unless you stay awake." It leaves the impression with the minister that you are disinterested in his sermon.

8. Children: (a) We need mothers, preachers, and babies, but we must learn to manage so the worship will not be disturbed. They are cute, and mothers sometimes want others to see how sweet they really are. Grandparents play with them in church and so do brethren. Children should be taught that this is the sanctuary of the Lord. The nursery should be a part of the worship too. Mothers should not be discussing the first tooth, the first step, etc., in the nursery.

9. Absentees: (a) Your absence becomes a bird of prey. It tells Christ you are not interested in being his guest. You tell the preacher, "I am not interested in your sermons." It informs the eldership "your program is not a concern of mine."

Conclusion:

May I make a plea for you to study your particular case. Find out wherein you had failed to worship, stand guard as the ancient prophet, over your sacrifices in worship and never be content to allow birds of prey to rob you of your worship.

Any one interested may address me at 900 So. Grand, El Dorado Springs, Missouri.

Roy Burgess, Maysville, Alabama, June 22: One restored here yesterday. Our goal of 200 in Bible study was almost reached. September 7th terminates my work here and I will be glad to correspond with another congregation needing a preacher. Recently I traded my wire recorder, and five spools of wire (new) and will be glad to let some one have them very reasonably. Write me before July 5. There are two debates on the wire, one of them Totty-Welch, and the other the Porter-Abecrombie debate.

T. Reginald Boley, 2825 Avenue E, Fort Worth 5, Texas, June 22: For a few weeks I have been going to Rio Vista on Sundays. My visits there have been very enjoyable to me. They now seem to be in a fine working condition. There are many good workers in the church, both men and women. Their summer revival will begin July 10 and continue for two Sundays. They anticipate a good meeting. The congregation is an old church, dating to near the beginning of the century or perhaps before. My work there is only temporary. They know how to cause a man to be at ease.

G. A. Dunn, 692 N. Van Buren Avenue, Dallas 8, Texas, June 22: On June 19 we closed a meeting in a large tent in Russellville, Alabama, with tent full and many outside in automobiles. There were eleven baptisms. Brother Chester Stout directed the singing in a fine way. Brother Hershell E. Patton labors with the church and is liked. Vicksburg and Oak Ridge, Mississippi, planned a meeting for Oak Ridge where I baptized more than a hundred over fifty years ago. We began yesterday with two sermons at Oak Ridge and dinner on the ground, and one sermon in Vicksburg at night. J. W. Evans works in Vicksburg.

C. B. Thomas, Corpus Christi, Texas, June 17: It was my pleasure recently to assist the Garden Oaks congregation in Houston, Texas, in a series of gospel meetings. Two were baptized, one restored, and five identified by transfer of membership. Brother W. Wallace Layton preaches regularly for this church. Two of our elders and our educational director preached here in my absence.

Robert W. Lawrence, 709 W. Dayton St., Madison 5, Wisconsin: Last Saturday night an elderly lady was immersed for the remission of sins in her home. She had been a Baptist. Two placed membership Sunday and one made confession the week before. James D. Willeford spoke here June 14, thus terminating six years of prosperous work in this city. A. J. Kerr of Lincoln Park, Michigan, will move to Madison the first of August, devoting full time to his work and again giving us a team here.

J. Luther Dabney, 674 Ceylon, Eagle Pass, Texas, June 11: We have enjoyed a pleasant year with the church here, and regret that it has become necessary for us to leave. But since we first came, family after family has moved away until we feel that the burden is falling too heavily upon the shoulders of a few. The church here needs help. There are a number of openings in the school for new teachers and the church would profit by Christian teachers coming here to teach. We have made no arrangements and will be glad to receive word from a church desiring our services.

Ira Y. Rice, Sr., 1107 W. Eufala Street, Norman, Oklahoma, June 7: I closed my part of a vacation Bible school with the Northwest congregation in Lawton, Oklahoma, last Friday, June 12. I also conducted a song drill for the church in connection with the Bible School. Brother Loyd L. Smith is the efficient and faithful minister for the church there. He is doing a great work with and for those good people. I enjoyed my work with them very much. I am to begin a song drill for the church in Lindsay, Oklahoma, next Monday night, June 22. Success to the Firm Foundation staff.

Dennis Kellog, Box 363, Holliday, Texas: The church here recently sent me to Monument, New Mexico, to hold a mission meeting. Three souls were baptized, a lady and her daughter, and a fine young man who had been a Catholic altar boy. His folks turned against him and he gave them up to be a New Testament Christian. Our vacation Bible school here was a great success. We almost doubled the Baptists who ran one concurrently with ours. Brother Paul Southern preaches in a meeting here July 3-12. We extend, any who may be passing this way, a cordial invitation to stop with us.

H. E. Seidmeyer, Box 140, Seymour, Texas, June 16: The last Sunday in May brought to a close three very happy and eventful years in the ministry as we closed our work with the Broadway congregation in Gainesville, Texas. Along with an entirely new physical plant including a new auditorium and educational building, the congregation has slightly more than tripled. The brethren were fortunate to engage Brother Dick Powell of Glenrose as evangelist to succeed me in the work. We pray for them and their continued success. We are looking forward to a good work with the church in Seymour, Texas. All correspondents please note my change of address.

Raymond C. Keley, Tenth and Francis Streets, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, June 20: I closed a meeting last Lord's day at Pulaske Heights in Little Rock. There were six baptisms. The singing was ably led by R. J. Richardson. J. O. Jones, who did a great work with the Normal church in Memphis, Tennessee, has moved to Little Rock to work with this fine congregation.

Joe Cooke Van Dyke, North Broad Street, Lexington, Tennessee, June 18: Frank Van Dyke did the preaching in a series of meetings for the Lexington church from May 31 to June 9. Garfield Lewis and Parnell Roak directed the singing. The preaching and the singing were good—two were baptized. A number had been baptized shortly before the meeting began. It was a pleasure to be associated with Brother Frank Van Dyke, also a brother in the flesh.

Elbert R. Garretson, 110 East Santa Fe, Fullerton, California, June 17: Very recently I conducted a meeting with the church in Stockton. Brothers Arvil Lee and Russel Burnley serve efficiently as elders and Brother Guss Eoff as local preacher. They are doing a good work. Four were baptized, two restored, and two identified. Our work in Fullerton shows real progress, through love and understanding, Bible study, and financially. I conducted a meeting in Waterford where Robert Padgett preaches the truth. Three were baptized; two of them were Catholics.

Lawrence Hazelp, 1509 William Street, Valdosta, Georgia, June 19: Nine were baptized in a good tent meeting at Bemis, six miles north of Valdosta. Three others have been baptized at Central since last report. Twenty-eight have been baptized in the last six weeks. We enrolled 365 in our vacation Bible school. Average attendance was 261 for the ten-day period. Paul Cantrell will preach at Central this summer. The church here is now supporting four preachers full time. We have about 300 members. I begin in Albany, Georgia, the 21st, where Forrest Chapman labors.

Stoy Pate, Memphis, Tennessee, June 15: The last of May, Brother Melvin J. Wise conducted a very successful meeting here. Thirteen were baptized, ten restored, and thirteen placed membership. Since the meeting, five have been baptized, two restored, and one placed membership. This makes 114 that have responded in the last seven months. The first week of June we had the first half of our vacation Bible school and 380 were enrolled in the five days. The last half will be the last week of August and we hope to enroll over 500 in the ten days. Brother J. B. Cox led the singing during the vacation Bible school and Brother Will Swinney led the singing for the meeting. Both did fine work.

James F. Fowler, 403 Church Street, College Station, Texas, June 22: Yesterday was a good day at the A&M Church of Christ. Two were baptized, one was restored and four placed membership. One was restored and placed membership the Sunday before while I was in a meeting in Belton, Texas. Four different members of the church did the preaching while I was away. Four other men of the local congregation will preach while I am away in July for a meeting in San Marcos. Our local non-student membership is small, but most of the men can fill in for the preacher when he is gone. We also have several students who do a good job of preaching. We are enjoying our new building.

Logan Buchanan, Dallas, Texas, June 16: We are pleased to recommend to you Brother Solon Bailey, who for thirteen years preached for the non-class brethren, doing local work at several places with them. He has preached locally at Locust and Seventh in Abilene, four and a half years in Robs-

BIBLE BRIEFS and SERMON OUTLINES

G. H. P. Showalter and W. M. Davis
A New Printing of the Enlarged Edition
Price: 50 cents; Dozen, $5.50

We have just printed several thousand copies of "Bible Briefs and Sermon Outlines."

Printed on the specially thin, opaque paper with clear, bold type; 216 pages, so thin that it may conveniently be carried in the vest pocket.

Contains Nearly 200 Subject and Sermon Outlines

A comprehensive view of the Bible in its relation to man as set forth in a series of scriptural themes by which the Bible becomes its own interpreter.

"The Bible," "Unity of the Bible," "Composition of the Bible," "Facts About the Bible," "Helps for Bible Reading," "Rules for Bible Study," "The Dispensations of Religion," "Proper Division of the Word of God," etc.

Scriptural references throughout the outlines. A most wonderful book of sermons on the fundamentals and on congregational development. To these extensive outlines is added the famous "Hedge's Rules of Honorable Controversy," set forth by Dr. Levi Hedge, which Rules are generally accepted and used by debaters.

Remember, this is not only the latest but the "Enlarged Edition". Every preacher should have at least one copy for his own personal use.

This book, we believe, has no superior as a book for study in class work. It is very peculiarly adaptable as a text for a class of leaders and prospective preachers. Notwithstanding the high cost of production, the price remains the same, that is 50c per copy postpaid, or $5.50 per dozen. Why not send your order today? If you have never seen this book, you will be amazed at the fullness and enormous volume of its contents.

town, at Mexia, at 27th Street at Fort Worth, and at the fine church in Farmers Branch, near Dallas. Since he changed his position, he has preached at Central in Cleburne, Glen Rose, Plano, Letot church, and has spoken in our building in Dallas. We recommend Brother Bailey to you for gospel meetings or for local work. He has been supporting his family with secular work since he made the change, but needs to be back in the church work where his heart lies. He can be reached in Dallas at 11654 Harry Hines Boulevard, Phone NI-7-7364. Brother Bailey gives the Brownfield debate much credit for his change of views, but his own personal study and deep sincerity have forced him to do what no debate would have caused. These many brethren who are changing over on this question need to be used. They have great talent and abilities, and nearly every one of them is now doing very excellent work with our congregations.

J. B. Barnett, Box 397, Chillicothe, Texas, June 15: It has been some time since I have sent in a report, however, I have been busy in the Lord's vineyard. We moved here from Munday in December. One was baptized here last evening, formerly a Baptist. This makes sixteen responses to the Lord's invitation since we moved here. We just concluded a very successful vacation Bible school. This was their first to try here. Brother W. E. Burkham of Burkburnett will hold our summer meeting, beginning July 27. The brethren here are sending me to Riverton, Wyoming to help them in a meeting beginning June 24th. Brother Stanley Shipp has done and is doing an outstanding work with that congregation that had its beginning last summer. I enjoy reading the Firm Foundation and noting the progress the church is making. May we all realize our responsibility and work even harder in the future.

Haskell T. England, 211 East B Street, Waurika, Oklahoma: Tom Brown directed the singing and I did the preaching in a meeting at the Gregory Chapel church of Christ near Alma, Arkansas, May 25th through June 3rd. Bill Guymon did the preaching and I directed the singing in our meeting here in Waurika June 5-13. Two were baptized and one was restored. We also had a very fine Vacation Bible School in conjunction with the meeting. The foundation digging has been completed and we are ready to begin pouring the foundation for our new building. Peace and harmony prevail, interest is high, and we are looking forward to some very busy and profitable months in the Lord's work. Remember us in your prayers and visit us when passing this way.

Thitt S. Teddlie, Ennis, Texas, June 22: A young mother, formerly a Baptist, was baptized Sunday. Her husband placed membership with the local congregation. The Normal Music school at McLean, Texas, opened June 22 with 138. The enrollment will likely reach 200 this year. I begin a meeting at Buffalo, Texas, July 5.

Murrey W. Wilson, Mountain View, Oklahoma, June 22: I have resigned my work here to accept the work in Bentonville, Arkansas, and will begin there about the middle of August. The church here is in good condition. It has a good church building and two bedroom home for the minister. Any minister of the gospel interested in this work should write the elders in care of A. S. Lack. Harmony and love prevail in this good congregation.

Preston Cotham, 2000 Oakland Boulevard, Fort Worth, Texas, June 15: Brother Hulen Jackson of Dallas closed a very fine meeting with us last evening with six baptized and two memberships. A vacation Bible school was held each day during the meeting in which we had a daily average attendance of 240. Last month was a fine month for the Meadowbrook congregation with 15 additions. Our budget for the rest of the year calls for $835 a week so as to retire all indebtedness on our building and get ready to build our main auditorium. We now have 400 members and are less than two years old.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Kentucky Avenue, Paducah, Kentucky, June 8: Yesterday marked the first anniversary of the completion of our new building at Clements Street. It was a great day in the life of this great congregation. Lord's day Bible school has been consistently over three hundred the past three weeks, and mid-week Bible study over 200 each week. Last Lord's day we had 304; last Wednesday evening we had 219. Contribution last Sunday was $532.41. The past two and one-half years' growth has been phenomenal, the future has even brighter prospects. Two have been baptized and one restored recently. Brother Roy Cogdill holds our meeting beginning September 3.

Tice Elkins, 4428 Gresham Street, San Diego 2, California, June 16: When you read this in the paper, the writer will be in El Paso, Texas, in Southwest General Hospital. Low altitude corrected all heart ailments, but the damp, cold, and foggy mornings are proving too much for an old lung trouble, so I must get back to the care of my old stand-by, Dr. R. H. Homan, for treatment of that, and the dry, warm climate. It will require at least a month in the hospital, perhaps longer, to enable me to go back to my home in Alamogordo. My address after you read this will be Southwestern General Hospital, El Paso, Texas, and send your prayers to heaven for my recovery.

C. Ray Miller, 208 South Witte, Poteau, Oklahoma, June 18: Our local meeting closed at Poteau last night. The results: three baptized into the Lord—two teen-age girls and a lady in her late sixties, the oldest person I have ever baptized. Due to the fact that Brother Lemmons could not be with us as was scheduled, I did the preaching. The crowds were excellent, support from surrounding congregations splendid. The "outsiders" in Poteau attended well. Many heard the gospel for the first time. My wife and I are spending one day visiting in Searcy, Arkansas, with my parents, and on the campus of Harding College. Saturday night I begin a meeting at Moten, Arkansas, and also a vacation Bible school.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, June 22: Brethren Wilmeth and Baker preach and sing in our gospel meeting. Five have been baptized so far. The enlarged auditorium has been comfortably filled much of the time. The church is on high ground.

Jimmy Jividen, Sheffield, Texas, June 17: The dates for the Pecos River Encampment have been set for July 10-19. We will be able to accommodate more people than ever before as we have a new boy's dormitory and are enlarging our teaching program. Bible classes are provided for every age group with special classes being conducted for Bible teachers and singers. Brother Reuben Stanley will teach a class on "Making a Christian Home" and Brother R. C. Bell will teach on "Church Government." Bible classes, a sunrise devotional, gospel singing, preaching twice a day, combined with Christian fellowship will make this a spiritual feast long to be remembered. Ranch style barbecue is a daily treat. All of the meals are prepared over the camp fire by skilled cooks and served on the grounds. A well supervised recreation program has been arranged for the young people. Write me for further information.

Paul Southern, 1642 College Drive, Abilene, Texas, June 15: One was baptized during the meeting in Wharton, Texas. Good interest and attendance prevailed throughout the meeting. A Vacation Bible School was held in connection with the meeting. The average daily attendance was 246. Mrs. Southern and I assisted with the school. I am now (June 12-21) engaged in a meeting with the Southside church in Mineral Wells. Mrs. Southern is conducting a training course for primary teachers at Tenth and Francis in Oklahoma City.

E. D. Green, 221 E. Garfield Street, Del Rio, Texas, June 21: After nearly five years with the church in Del Rio, I have resigned my work here to accept the work with the church at Bryan, Texas. I am to move to Bryan on the first of August. My address after that date will be 1404 Hoppess Street. This has been one of the most pleasant works of my life. No one has been selected to work with the church in Del Rio yet. The brethren are interested in securing an able preacher about thirty-five years of age. If you are interested in the work here, please contact the elders or send your application to me and I will see that it gets in the hands of the elders.

Vernon J. Gahagan, 11404 Barnes Avenue, Dallas, Texas, June 16: I preached for the Cockrell Hill Church of Christ, Sunday, June 7, and June 14 in the absence of their regular minister, Charles C. Goodnight, who was holding a gospel meeting at Scotland Drive here in Dallas where I labor. This congregation has three services each Sunday due to the fact that their present building is too small to hold all the people for the morning worship. They have morning worship at 8:45 a.m. and again at 11:00 a.m. They are erecting a new auditorium which will eliminate one of the morning services upon completion. I certainly enjoyed the association and fellowship with these people of God. I have time to conduct a meeting or so near Dallas this summer from Monday through Saturday. If you desire my services, contact me soon.

Guy W. Sims, Jr., Hamlet, Nebraska, June 15: I have preached recently in a gospel meeting in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Good crowds in spite of bad weather. One was restored. Recently I returned to Indiana for a vacation and preached for the church at 14th and 5th Avenue in Terra Haute. I also preached for the church in Crawfordsville and Greencastle, Indiana. I go next to Ogallala, Nebraska, for a gospel meeting. In the near future, I will return to Cheyenne for surgery designed to improve the quality of my voice. The church is progressing at Hamlet. V. M. Gilbert of Des Moines, Iowa, preached here recently. There are several small congregations in this area that need preachers who can partly help support themselves while preaching the gospel. A fine opportunity for some young man. Interested preachers should contact me at the above address.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL AT THORP SPRING, TEXAS

A. R. Holton

The encampment at Thorp Spring takes the form of a boarding school for students and others who come. The date is July 20-31. The space is limited and reservations should be made at once. The vacation Bible school is designed for all ages. In addition to the boarding students, young people within driving distances of Thorp Spring come and spend the day. The boarding facilities are limited. Write Miss Jewel Watson, Thorp Spring, Texas, for reservation and information.

A PREACHER IS NEEDED

In the city of Georgetown, South Carolina, the church of our Lord numbers about ten souls. These faithful brethren have accumulated approximately one thousand dollars with which to purchase a lot on which they hope to erect a building. One of the brethren has been driving from Charleston each Lord's day to preach for them but they feel the need of having someone with them who can devote all his time to the work. This is a virgin field and some church that is able, could do no better than to send a man to Georgetown to preach the gospel there. Georgetown is a city of about 6,000 population and has one of the largest paper mills in the nation. This is their principle industry. All communications should be addressed to the elders of the church at Charleston, South Carolina, Sans Souci at Hester Streets.

MY CALL FOR MINNESOTA

Warren W. Haesly, M.D.

In the state of Minnesota, there are only about five loyal congregations of the church of Christ. More are needed, especially because the digressive church which exists there could be influenced by strong leadership. It is my desire to see a congregation established at Winona, Minnesota, a city of 27,000 in the southeastern corner of the state. Wayne Mickey at Rochester, Minnesota, is already broadcasting a weekly radio program in Winona. Wayne needs help in his efforts to evangelize Minnesota. Winona is the next logical place to establish a work. I hope while I am in Texas to find this supporting congregation. All we need is a congregation willing and able to pay the salary of an evangelist to work in Winona. If you are at all interested, contact Warren W. Haesly, M.D., 147 Pinecrest, San Antonio, Texas, or Wayne Mickey, Box 852, Rochester, Minnesota, or the Firm Foundation Publishing House.

MAJESTIC
HYMNAL*ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION*-COMMENDATIONS-

I have received my copy of the MAJESTIC HYMNAL. My wife and I have examined every song, and we think it is the best of all your works. I want to say to the congregations throughout the brotherhood where I have conducted meetings the past fifty years: "BUY IT."—TOM WALKER.

* * *

We rejoice with the publishers of Majestic Hymns for they have toiled into the night to produce a song book that would meet the needs of the churches everywhere and in all places. Each song is a gem and will have a spiritual effect in congregational and group singing.—J. G. DOOLEY.

* * *

Have never seen a book that to me was more appealing. My son and I went through the book—"Majestic Hymns"—last evening and he agreed with me that it is a masterpiece of poetry, music and scripturalness and suitableness to any and every occasion.

* * *

I have received and thoroughly examined a copy of the new Majestic Hymnal. I find it to be an excellent compilation of good gospel songs, and I am sure it will soon become a very popular song book among the congregations throughout the brotherhood. There are many numbers worth far more than the price of the book. Hearty congratulations to you upon the completion of this fine book.—ELBERT V. KELLEY, Texas.

* * *

After a partial examination of The Majestic Hymnal I find many of the songs we used to sing in the happy years gone by.

Such gifted singers as Acuff and Evridge, Taylor and Edmiston, Kelley and Boring, and many other leading song writers and singers of the church seem to be fully represented as contributors to this work. This book will find a warm welcome in many congregations. The songs of hope and love which it contains will stir the hearts of old and young to deeper reverence and godly living. Thanks a million for the copy you have sent to me.—TILLIT S. TEDDLIE.

TO ALL SINGERS AND SONG LEADERS: I write this message to you to declare that I have just received and closely examined a copy of MAJESTIC HYMNS, the brand new song book just off the Firm Foundation press, and that I cannot recall a single gospel song book of the past forty years that so completely justifies its title, Truly, it is MAJESTIC. Three hundred and twenty-eight songs. Many brand new songs, many of the favorites of the past, suitable for every purpose where good singing is desired and truth taught. This book has my heartiest commendation, and I urge a thousand churches to order them in large lots.—TICE ELKINS.

* * *

I received your song book, Majestic Hymns, and I think this is one of the finest books I have ever had the pleasure of looking through, and I have been using song books for a long time.—J. W. BRAGG, Arkansas.

* * *

Our new books were here by the time I arrived. Looks good to have a new book with a lot of new songs that can be used.—EDGAR FURR.

Sample copy sent free to song leaders in the churches, for examination.

FOUR ELDERS AND FIVE DEACONS NEWLY APPOINTED AT RIVERSIDE IN FORT WORTH

Claude A. Guild

The elders and deacons of this congregation selected a committee of eight men from the congregation about three years ago, to seek out material that could be developed into qualified elders and deacons. This committee faithfully worked and completed their labor over a three year period by recommending to the officers nine men. These men were put before the congregation and accepted without one written complaint against any of them. They were ordained into to their offices May 31, 1953.

We are happy to announce the following men as additions to our eldership and deaconship, respectively: Carl Bradshaw, H. B. Bruce, Glenn Holden, and David P. Shore; J. D. Brown, Seth Castleberry, Herman Knowles and W. F. Snelson. These men are a source of great strength to this congregation.

A. R. Holton, 145—5th Avenue N., Nashville, Tennessee, June 17: Claude McClung of Arlington, Texas, will be glad to see all ex-students at the reunion at Thorp Spring, Texas, on Sunday, June 26.

John M. Burnett, Box 973, Ajo, Arizona: Our spring meeting, March 15-22, with Clarence Gobbel of Tucson, Arizona, as evangelist, resulted in three baptisms and one restoration. Brother Gobbel did his part well, preaching the gospel of Christ in a forceful way. I preached at Mable and Santa Rita congregation at Tucson on the Sundays. Brother Gobbel was here and enjoyed the fellowship with the Christians there. I preached in a lectureship program Tuesday night, April 7th, at Coolidge, Arizona. Brother Arthur White is the minister there and is doing a good work. I held a meeting at Buckeye, Arizona, April 27 through May 6. One was baptized and two restored to their first love. Arthur Milton is their local minister and he led the song service during the meeting. He is doing a good work for the Lord at Buckeye. My meeting time is filled for 1953. The Lord willing, I

Department of Education

The James F. Cox chapter of the Future Teachers of America is one of the largest student organizations on the campus of Abilene Christian College. Members of this chapter are Junior members of the National Education Association and the Texas State Teachers' Association. The chief purpose of the chapter is to help interested students to become efficient teachers.

Each year representatives of the Abilene Christian College chapter attend the state meeting of the Texas Association of Future Teachers of America. At that meeting a Miss Future Teacher of Texas is selected. Each participant gives a short talk on "Why I Want to Teach." Contestants for this honor come from a large number of colleges and universities in Texas. This coveted award has gone to an Abilene Christian College student for three of the past four years. In the 1950 meeting at Denton, Texas, Miss Bonnielyn Waters was chosen for this honor. In 1952 at the Alpine convention Miss Shirley Belcher was the honoree. In the 1953 conclave held at Abilene Miss Anita Wood was elected. Moreover, in the 1951 gathering at Lubbock, Texas, when Abilene Christian College failed to place a student as Miss Future Teacher of Texas, another student, Miss Beth Leach, was elected State President of F. T. A.

The purpose of the Department of Education in Abilene Christian College is to develop good teachers to teach in the public and Christian schools and to teach the word of God at every opportunity. The faculty in this department is composed of seven well qualified Christian teachers. Each year approximately 1100 students take courses in Education. And each year there are approximately 75 graduates who major in Education.

Students who major in other departments find it very profitable to take courses in Education. For example, a Bible major is greatly benefitted in his efforts to teach by acquainting himself with human behavior and methods and techniques of teaching.

Graduate work in the Bible and Education Departments was started at the beginning of the present summer session. ACC is a member of the Southern Association.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Peace With God

Peace with men is desirable. What is more unpleasant than a disrupted relationship between neighbors? Paul writes, "If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men" (Rom. 12:18). And this suggests that it may be impossible to live peaceably with some men. What Paul says does not mean that we should sacrifice the truth to be at peace with men. It does not mean that we should be neutral on an important subject just in order to live peaceably with other people. But it does mean that we should not indulge in provocative criticism when it is not necessary.

But peace with God is much more important than peace with men. Paul says, "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Rom. 5:1). Again he says, "For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us; having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace" (Eph. 2:14, 15).

The supreme purpose of Christ's death was to make it possible for all men to be at peace with God—both Jews and Gentiles. "And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby" (Eph. 2:16). All God-fearing people are at peace with each other when they are at peace with God. The only place where men can be reconciled to God and to each other is in the body of Christ. Men are enemies of God by their wicked works (Col. 1:21). They must be reconciled to God in order to have peace with God. "And you that were sometimes alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unreprouvable in his sight."

Unconverted Church Members

Jude writes of certain wicked men who had identified themselves with the Lord's people. They "crept in unawares." Our opinion of men may be wrong. We may think a man is a hypocrite when he is honest. And we may think that one is sincere when he is a hypocrite. The Lord only can distinguish clearly between an honest man and a hypocrite. He sees the heart and knows the purposes of men. Paul said to the elders of the church at Ephesus, "For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them" (Acts 20:29, 30). Such people are not true Christians—they have not been genuinely converted. They are hypocrites—wolves in sheep's clothing.

Jude paints a dark picture of these characters. He says, "These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots; raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever." Such is the inspired description of the unconverted, hypocritical church member—spots in your feasts of charity, clouds without water, trees with withered fruit, raging waves of the sea, wandering stars. Their doom is certain. God knows every one of them, none can escape his wrath.

On Recognizing Dangers

Weldon B. Bennett

It has been pointed out that there are dangers in "congregational cooperation," especially the danger that the matter will get out of hand and result in the loss of local congregational autonomy. We admit there are dangers in this method of church work just as there are "dangers" in any other church function. There are dangers in contributing into a church treasury. (I know instances in which dishonest men have robbed the Lord's money, but none of the preachers have said members should stop giving). There are "dangers" in preaching. (How many times have preachers split the body asunder or led the church astray!) There are "dangers" connected with taking the Lord's Supper. (Many eat and drink to their own condemnation); there are dangers in public prayers, in singing. Yes, brethren, dangers are in relation to every item of worship and service, enough so that we need to warn and admonish one another repeatedly. But the fact that there are dangers present is no proof that the thing is wrong per se. If we eliminated every function of service in which dangers are prevalent we just couldn't do anything! I see great dangers, for example, in having "brotherhood papers." One editor can often have more power in influencing the brotherhood thinking than 50 preachers. But I'm not one for stopping our publications. They can wield inestimable power for good. They can and do promote the spreading of the gospel more than any one man could ever do simply by word of mouth. I thank God for what the press has been able to do for our work in Germany, and the same can be said of the work in many other nations where the gospel has gone since World War II. What can be done about the dangers involved in these publications? In love, warn and help keep the men straight who are governing the papers' policies. Such men as B. C. Goodpasture, Olan Hicks, G. H. P. Showalter, et al, are not perfect and exempt from the possibility of error.

There are all kinds of dangers related to foreign mission work. During our more than four years' work in Germany we have made mistakes; we have worked out plans and decided later that they were not good. We have also questioned the judgment of others in what they are doing. Instances have proved we are right, others showed we were wrong ourselves. Time alone must determine the wisdom of some decisions. Through our errors we have learned much. We are not throwing our hands up and saying it is a hopeless task just because we are not 100 percent successful in every endeavor.

Some brethren challenge the scripturalness of several churches sending funds to one group of elders to be used in preaching the gospel in another locality. We believe the practice is in harmony with the Bible, however, and as proof we want to consider two passages of scripture:

First, 1 Cor. 16:3, 4: "And when I arrive, whomsoever ye shall approve, them will I send with letters to carry your bounty unto Jerusalem; and if it be meet for me to go also, they shall go with me." Here is what we learn from this passage: (1) Paul was contacting various congregations concerning collections for a needy cause in Jerusalem. (2) He urged the churches to "approve" certain men as bearers of those funds. (3) It is not stated in this passage whether those "approved" at Corinth were the same ones "approved" by other churches to carry the funds. (There is no reason, however, to rule out that possibility).

Secondly, we notice 2 Cor. 8:16-23, "But thanks be to God, who putteth the same earnest care for you into the heart of Titus. For he accepted indeed our exhortation; but being himself very earnest, he went forth unto you of his own accord. And we have sent together with him the brother whose praise in the gospel is spread through all the churches; and not only so, but who was also appointed by the churches to travel with us in the matter of this grace, which is ministered by us to the glory of the Lord, and to show our readiness: avoiding this, that any man should blame us in the matter of this bounty which is ministered by us: for we take thought for things honorable, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men. And we have sent with them our brother whom we have many times proved earnest in many things, but now much more earnest, by reason of the great confidence, which he hath in you. Whether any inquire about Titus, he is my partner and my fellow worker to you; or our brethren, they are the messengers of the churches, they are the glory of Christ." In these verses we find that: (1) At least one brother was "appointed by the churches" to assist Paul and Titus in the receiving and delivery of funds, and (2) the purpose of having others assist who had been appointed by the churches was to avert any blame, which we understand to mean "to avert any mistrust, any suspicion." That was in a time when "cold cash" had to be delivered in person. That detail does not exist any longer as a problem because of modern banking technique with its personal and cashier's checks, money orders, telegraph and cable. However, a principle is involved which still holds. Brethren who are gathering funds for a worthy project and churches who contribute should use utmost care that the money is properly appropriated. I have heard Brother Otis Gatewood relate many times how he urged the brethren in many churches he visited during the fall and winter of 1950-51 not to give money to him personally. What was the wise thing to do?

Either send it to some evangelists on the field or to a group of men whose Christian deportment was beyond question and where the possibility of misappropriation was less likely to occur, namely, to that group of elders (no unscriptural "missionary society," mind you) who selected him and sent him out and to whom he felt himself liable at all times. Brethren, if the churches (plural) in Paul's day could select men to accompany Paul in the matter of gathering funds, certainly the principle will admit the churches of today entrusting funds into the hands of a group of qualified, business-experienced Christians.

In the case of raising funds in 1950-51 for church buildings in Germany it was through the urgency of us evangelists here that Brother Gatewood went to America. As far as I know not one evangelist in Germany was opposed to his performing this service. Only common sense should show the absurdity of all of us leaving the work at the same time to present this need to the brotherhood. But we, unanimously, had confidence in the ability and trustworthiness of Otis to perform this task.

If some of the critics could only know the circumstances and if they could eliminate some ungrounded prejudices they would be able to view the matter as we. One regret that we have is, that not enough money was contributed at that time to finish all of the buildings planned. Prices have continued to rise and some of the buildings are in an unfinished state.

When Brother Gatewood returned to America in 1948 in the interest of the German work, he talked to the elders of the Hillsboro church in Nashville, Tennessee, about the need of a businessman in Germany to give counsel and to lead the workers in the many business duties for which the evangelists had no experience or time. We shall always be grateful for Hillsboro's willingness to send and support J. C. Moore, Jr., who took most of this load from our shoulders that we might have time "to give ourselves to the word of God." How often have Dieter Goebel and I wished to have J. C. with us in the preparation for our work in Hamburg! We have spent not hours, but days, in looking for a proper meeting place and in talking to relators. J. C.'s business ability could now help us immeasurably.

There is another matter that we believe the brotherhood should know. Some two years ago the finance ministers of the tripartate occupation governments legalized the purchase of "blocked German marks" by foreigners who wished to make property investments here. This was money which foreigners had previously invested plus gains from those investments. To prevent an economic collapse in the post-war years these financiers made it illegal to transfer this money to other. But as a result of continued improvement in the economy these powers now permit these marks possessed by foreigners to be sold to other foreigners. Many holders of blocked marks are thus willing to sell them at a reduced rate. The market has fluctuated from eight to ten marks per dollar two years ago to an average of seven marks per dollar at the present time. But these purchased blocked marks may be used only for securing real estate property. For all other purposes the rate of the dollar is 4.2 marks. Thus our readers can see what a wonderful opportunity we have to invest now in church buildings. We can do construction here for at least half the cost as in most American cities (two years ago it was perhaps one-third). But only "currency-foreigners" can handle this money. Americans living in Germany as long as six months are no longer considered "currency foreigners." Thus, neither we nor Germans can purchase and use blocked marks. We can only act with a power of attorney from "currency foreigners." This makes it imperative at the present time for each building constructed to be purchased or leased in the name of one of our congregations in the states. Perhaps some will contend, "If a building is secured for a group of German Christians it must be done in their name and not by a church 5,000 miles away." But that is impossible. Later when a group of brethren have developed to the point that they can serve as "trustees" of an incorporation then the rights can be transferred. Now, brethren, I do not read a word in the Bible about a church incorporating and having "trustees," but I don't believe it is necessary to have such details. The principles of the New Testament do, however, grant us this liberty. It is not changing the organization of the Lord's church, but, is simply conforming to scripture which commands us to "be in subjection to the powers that be." We believe as strongly as any, however, that the "powers that be" are limited. We are not to subject ourselves when called upon to violate a divine command or principle.

Six months ago Edith and I, together with Dieter and Margaret (Dunn) Goebel made the decision to begin a new work in Hamburg, second largest city in Germany (over one and one-half million population), located on the Elbe River and near the North Sea. But we knew that we would need a meeting place. In Germany it is practically impossible to rent any kind of building without paying for the lease. I wrote to Brother Claude Guild and the Riverside church in Fort Worth and described our plans and needs. These brethren relayed the matter to several congregations. The response was good. Eighteen hundred dollars were sent for this work. Seventeen other churches "approved" the men at Riverside as trustworthy "bearers" of their funds. Then I wrote Riverside for the power of attorney to spend this money in their name. At this writing we have just signed a contract for the lease of rooms in which to begin our work in Hamburg. The lease stands in the name of the Riverside church. This situation is, of course, not permanent. When we have competent men in the church in Hamburg and when the church here can fulfil the necessary legal requirements in Germany, then the local church will attend to these business affairs themselves.

We have cited this example to show our readers that it is imperative at this time that some one congregation in the states take the responsibility of such projects and that this means of congregational cooperation is both scriptural and often necessary.

Is Christ's Kingdom Everlasting?

J. Luther Dabney

Did the church, or kingdom continue through the Dark Ages, or did it languish and die? That is the question. Has it continued from Pentecost to the present time?

Daniel prophesied of Christ and his reign saying, "And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all the peoples, nations and languages should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed" (Dan. 7:14). Again, "But the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever" (Dan. 7:18). Again, "And the kingdom and the dominion, and the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High: his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him" (Dan. 7:27). Again, "And in the days of those kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, nor shall the sovereignty thereof be left to another people; but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever" (Dan. 2:44). Though Daniel wrote the above he did not overlook the struggle and misfortunes of the kingdom. He spoke of an opposing king saying, "And he shall speak words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most high; and he shall think to change the times and the law; and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and half a time" (Dan. 7:25). But he did not foresee this enemy of all righteousness taking over, for he had just said, "nor shall the sovereignty be left to another people." With these scriptures before us, it must be admitted that Daniel taught that the kingdom "shall not be destroyed," the saints would possess it "even for ever and ever," "his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom," and "shall stand for ever."

There are some who think that A. Campbell, B. W. Stone, either separately, or together with others restored the kingdom, or were responsible for it coming into existence again, as if it had been blotted out. Some reason that there were two dominions of the kingdom; that the first dominion was not everlasting and was destroyed, but that the second dominion is everlasting after being restored. If this be true, what Daniel said could not be true. Besides this, Paul would have belonged to the first dominion, and he said of it, "Wherefore, receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken, let us have grace, whereby we may offer service well-pleasing to God with reverence and awe" (Heb. 12:28). In verse 23 he had called this kingdom the "church of the firstborn." Speaking of the church in Eph. 3:21 Paul says, "unto him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus unto all generations for ever and ever." The margin reads, "all the generations of the age of the ages." Did Paul think the church would cease to exist? If it did, how was Christ glorified in the church unto all generations? Has there been a generation when he was not glorified in it? That is the question.

Others have contended that the church or kingdom existed then only in the seed. Now the Greek word translated church means "the called out." Does the church exist where people have not been called out by the word? Is an egg and a chicken the same thing? The word of God is the seed of the kingdom. It is just that—the seed—not the kingdom. They do not equal the same thing, therefore they do not equal each other. The question is, Did the seed continue to make Christians during the Dark Ages. If it did, the kingdom continued; if it did not only the seed existed. Wind can produce rain, but wind does not necessarily produce rain. "Seed time and harvest" are not the same thing. Many a farmer wishes at harvest time he could get his seed back. The word—the seed—will produce Christians, and Christians compose the church, if it makes anything. But, whether it makes anything depends upon whether or not it is planted, and where.

Since I have never seen some of the arguments in print that I am going to use, and since a clarification of this issue would add much to our understanding on this point, I not only invite you to consider the following, but to point out any weakness you may detect. I find that the book of Revelation deals with some of the same issues taught in Daniel, and in some instances is a commentary on that book. The question before us is an example.

Daniel said, "He shall speak words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the Most High . . . and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and half a time." This last is found in Revelation also, and corresponds with "forty and two months," and "one thousand, two hundred and sixty days" which is generally understood to be 1260 years. In Daniel it is the time during which the saints are worn out; in Revelation 12, the time the church is in the wilderness. I think Revelation 12 answers our question fully, and many others.

In this chapter, under the figure of a woman, the church was about to give birth to a man who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron. This takes us back before the beginning of the great persecution, when the church was experiencing a phenomenal growth which would have resulted in the kingdoms of this world becoming the kingdoms of our Lord through her influence. (See the promise, Rev. 2:26, 27.) But, alas, at this same time Satan, using the "secular arm" of the church of Rome stood as a great red dragon, and destroyed a third of its leaders, symbolized as stars, and "cast them to the earth." When the woman travailed and brought forth (showing that persecution short of absolute destruction could not prevent its growth) the dragon devoured her child. Under such persecution the church could not become the ruling factor in the earth, but this did not destroy her. However, there was but one way that the church could be preserved from the designs of Satan and the diabolical hand of Rome. "And there were given to the woman the two wings of the great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness unto her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the serpent." Here is Daniel's time. But again, "And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that there they may nourish her a thousand two hundred and threescore days." Can anyone read the foregoing and believe that the writer is talking about the word of God, rather than the church itself? Now here is the part I have never seen in print, though it may be, and I believe it worthy of consideration.

God who has known all things from the beginning, has foreshadowed every important thing pertaining to the church. When Israel fell away from God and followed Baal, just as Paul said there would be a falling away after the man of sin (2 Thess. 2:34), God sent Elijah into the wilderness (Watch the similarity) where he fed him for three and one-half years, or for 1260 days, the same number of years the woman was in the wilderness. During these years, through every kingdom Ahab searched but could not find Elijah. In like manner the church was hidden in the wilderness in a place known only to God. Elijah thought that he was alone, saying, "Lord they have killed thy prophets, they have digged down thine altars; and I am left alone, and they seek my life. But what saith the answer of God unto him? I have left for myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to Baal" (Rom. 11:3, 4). Because we cannot trace the church from the present back to the beginning does not prove that it ceased to exist. Nor does the fact that we do not know where God preserved her argue against her being preserved. If God preserved seven thousand men, unknown to Elijah, could he not as easily have preserved the church. What else does Revelation, chapter 12 teach?

Eve who was a type of the church was attacked by Satan three times. The woman in Revelation 12 has been attacked once, and has found refuge in the wilderness. Satan was defeated. "And the dragon prevailed not . . . And the great dragon was cast down" (Verses 7, 9). This first attack was a persecution. "He persecuted the woman that brought forth the man child" (Verse 13).

In his second attack he changed his method. "And the serpent cast out of his mouth after the woman water as a river, that he might cause her to be carried away by the stream" (Verse 15). He resorts to false teaching. Jesus had said, "He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, from within him shall flow rivers of living water. But this spake he of the Spirit, which they that believed on him were to receive" (Jno. 7:38, 39). This was the means by which the church was to be nourished. The Word of God would flow from within the Spirit-filled apostles as a river. Having failed in his attempt to destroy the church through persecution, the dragon now imitates the apostles. There issues from his mouth a flowing river of false teaching calculated to drown the woman. But in this second attempt upon her he failed also, because "the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth and swallowed up the river which the dragon cast out of his mouth." This no doubt is a reference to the Reformation which helped her by restoring the Bible to its rightful place, and focusing attention on the false doctrine, and corrupt practices of the church of Rome. This diversionary action relieved the pressure. The Dragon failed in his second attempt to destroy the church. "And the dragon waxed wroth with the woman, and went away to make war with the rest of her seed, that keep the commandments of God and hold the testimony of Jesus" (Verse 17).

I have tried to avoid speculating with regard to exact dates, but of this I think I can speak with certainty. The devil failed to destroy the church during the 1260 years when she was preserved of God in the wilderness, "and went away." Persecution could not destroy her, neither could the river of false teaching coming from his mouth, so he went away. But to whom did he go? "He went to make war with the rest of her seed." The seed in this case is not the "seed of the kingdom" but those that "keep the commandments of God." Note this: To make war with the seed of the woman he went away. She was in the wilderness but her seed was not in the wilderness. The church as we know it today was never in the wilderness because we live this side of that period. Having failed to destroy the church then, do not be surprised when you hear that he is warring against us, for we are her seed to whom he has come. "Unto him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus unto all generations for ever and ever." Amen, and Amen.

Studies In Galatians (No. 19)

R. C. Bell

The religion of the flesh and the religion of the Spirit are mutual opposites. In the Bible a group of closely interlocked words and phrases (flesh, old man, body of sin, natural man, world, law, sin, death) are descriptive of the former. Another group, similarly interlocked, (spirit, spiritual man, new man, grace, cross, church, righteousness, life) are descriptive of the latter. There is no interlocking between the groups, however; they are as distinct as are sheep and goats.

After saying that the Judaizers, though they pretended to be the best Christians in Galatia, selfishly gloried in the flesh, Paul, as the antithesis, says: "But far be it from me to glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." That is, their chief satisfaction, joy, and crown was, hypocritically, to build up in the church a legalistic party, while Paul's chief delight and glory was in the cross. "The emblem of suffering and shame . . . so despised by the world." Elsewhere, Paul says that Christians, "Worship by the Spirit of God, glory in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh" (Phil. 3:3).

The Cross

The irreconcilable warfare between God and Satan came to a crisis in the decisive cross of Christ, where God is revealed at his very best and Satan at his very worst. As Christ faced the cross he said: "Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth (on the cross), will draw all men unto myself" (John 12:31, 32). In the invincible strategy of God, Christ's being crucified by Satan through his world became the means of ultimately casting out usurping Satan and his doomed, corrupt system of government over the world, which at that time was represented by the Roman Empire and Caesar. As David slew the fallen Goliath with his own sword, so God by the resurrection of Christ snatched Satan's weapon out of his hand and turned it against him. In this long conflict, Adam sided with Satan, and Christ with God; neither could be on both sides.

The struggle, as seen between Christ's church and Satan's world, yet divides men. "What concord hath Christ with Belial? or what portion hath a believer with an unbeliever?" (2 Cor. 6:15). The church and the world will not amalgamate. The confusion, wickedness and misery of the world are no more displeasing to God than are the pride and works of the world; the sin of the rebel flesh and the righteousness of the rebel flesh are both abominable to him. Christians, being identified with Christ as they are, can be rejected and hated by the world, which has never repented of murdering Christ. "If the world hate you, ye know it hated me before you . . . because ye are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you" (John 15:18, 19).

"Jesus suffered without the gate" of Jerusalem, and "without the camp" of Judaism. (See Heb. 13:11-14). Although this scripture originally pleaded with Jewish Christians not to desert Christ, but to cleave to him, become strangers, pilgrims, even outcasts with him, as he literally "went out, bearing the cross for himself," it still applies to all Christians of all races. The cross no more separates Christians from their sins than it separates them from the world; it no more brings them peace with God than it brings them war with the flesh. To help Jewish Christians first, and all Christians since, not to think the narrow gate, the strait way, and the separated life too difficult, or even unreasonable, this scripture closes: "For we have not here an abiding city, but we seek after the city which is to come." Indeed, this is still timely monition for worldly Christians: And who can say it so well as Paul said to the Galatians long ago, "The world hath been crucified unto me, and I unto the world."

A New Creation

"For neither is circumcision anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature." This verse is the very heart of Galatians, even of Christianity. All along, Paul had been thundering, "If ye are led by the Spirit, ye are not under the law"; thundering, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" to grow in conformity to the universal principle of life and growth in all realms—the principle that growth proceeds from within to without, never the reverse. When men give themselves over to God in the Christian way, such a renewal takes place in their spirits that a covenant of law is no longer needed to curb their flesh. And, since Christians are the first and only men ever to experience this constitutional, spiritual renewal, they are properly a new creation. "Wherefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature (both here and Gal., ASV, have alternative readings, "a new creation"): old things are passed away; behold, they are become new. But all things are of God" (2 Cor. 5:17, 18). Most men, even some Christians are lamentably slow to learn that only the God who created them in the beginning can re-create them after discreative Satan has bruised their heads.

Lazarus and a few others have been called back from death to live again in their same, resuscitated bodies until released by death again. But the body in which Christ lived after he came back from death was a strange, new creation. It was a type of human body with which earth is unacquainted—a spiritual body—adapted to a spiritual eternity. Christ's new body is not only the "firstfruits" of the bodies to be raised at his coming; it is also a symbol of his body, the church, another new creation. Before the church was created, mankind consisted of only two classes of men—Jews and Gentiles. Out of willing individuals from these two classes, Christ created a "new man, so making peace" (Eph. 2:15), thus creating a third class of men, in which "neither is circumcision anything, nor uncircumcision." "Give no occasion of stumbling, either to Jews, or to Greeks, or unto the church of God" (1 Cor. 10:32).

What makes legalists legalists is they fail to see that the transition from legalism (elements of the world, Judaic or otherwise) to Christianity is a change of religious center from flesh to Spirit, from man to God. Christ calls this essential, constitutional change, that really makes old things new, a new birth. This spiritual birth is what makes Christianity a new creation, a new covenant. Christians who fall into legalism, Galatians teaches, "are severed from Christ . . . are fallen away from grace," and have the same old, futile religion of the flesh, which men had before God in grace came to die for them, and to indwell and to strengthen them "with power through his Spirit in the inward man."

Interest In North Carolina

A. R. Holton

Robert Rigdon, a graduate of Abilene Christian College, began work on June 14, 1953, with the church of Christ at Waynesville, North Carolina. Brother Rigdon is being supported by the 11th and Willis Streets Church of Christ in Abilene, Texas. W. R. Smith, vice president of Abilene Christian College, is the minister of this congregation. The Waynesville church is a relatively new congregation. They have recently completed a building well located and adequate for the present needs.

Brother W. R. Smith writes us that his interest was aroused in North Carolina by attending the Blue Ridge Encampment at Blue Ridge, North Carolina. Brother Smith was one of the faculty members and did part of the teaching during this meeting. The churches in North Carolina were given an opportunity to express their needs. Brother Smith learned something of the needs and opportunities of the church at Waynesville. The elders of the Willis Street church in Abilene, because of the interest of Brother Smith, chose Robert Rigdon to work with the congregation in Waynesville. Brother Rigdon is a young man of zeal and integrity and we are looking forward to hearing great things of the church in Waynesville. Let me point out that the Blue Ridge Camp Meeting has been successful in that it has called attention to this great mission field. We are hoping that the camp meeting July 18-24 of this year will bring further results.

Waynesville is at the door of the great Smoky Mountain National Park. It is a few miles out of Asheville and only a few miles from Blue Ridge, North Carolina. Many visitors from this section come to Waynesville as well as other towns near the Smoky Mountain National Park. Visit this great scenic wonderland and see for yourself the great open door for the church in the two states of North and South Carolina. Filled with the finest stock of southern people, the cause can grow and develop there with great rapidity if we take advantage of every opportunity.

What Does The Bible Say?

Remembering Christ Until He Comes!

Jesus ordained the memorial of the Lord's Supper saying, "This do in remembrance of me." The early Christians observed this Supper or Communion on the first day of every week, the Lord's day, as we noticed last week in the example of Paul at Troas (Acts 20:7). Paul tells us that "as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till he comes" (1 Cor. 11:26, ASV).

So on this coming Lord's day, as on every other first day of the week in the year, Christians should eat the bread and drink the cup "to proclaim" the Lord's death till he come. The word "proclaim" is often translated "preach." By faithfully observing this memorial feast, every Christian can "preach" to the world his faith in the sacrificial death of Jesus as God's Son, and his faith in his resurrection and coming again.

Many times we have not emphasized the fact that the Lord's Supper not only looks back to Jesus' death, but looks forward to his coming again. He could not come again if he had not conquered death, if he had not risen from the dead. Jesus lives today! He is at the right hand of God the Father. He is king over his spiritual kingdom in the hearts of faithful Christians.

But his very resurrection is a sign of his coming again. "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also that are fallen asleep in Jesus will God bring with him." And then Paul goes on to say: "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven, with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God, and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we that are alive, that are left, shall together with them be caught up in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord" (1 Thess. 4:16, 17).

Are you prepared to face the fact that Jesus died for your sins and rose again on the third day, and is coming again? Are you faithfully "proclaiming" to the world your faith in these facts, not just once or twice a year, but every Lord's day as you "eat this bread and drink this cup." What an honor it is for Christians to preach this sermon.

If you have not yet obeyed the gospel of Christ, may I appeal to you to become a Christian today. Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, repent of your sins, and confessing your faith in Christ, put him on in baptism. Then live every day in his footsteps, and each Lord's day "proclaim the Lord's death till he come." Glory be to God! Christ is risen and is coming again.

Absolving The Mysteriousness Of The New Birth

W. N. Bohannon

In Saint John three, and in the fullness of time, the Lord himself declared in code form and language, that a man must be born again in order to re-enter covenant relations with God in his church or kingdom, then near at hand. But he left the processing of the regeneration to the work of the apostles, which was to begin at Jerusalem on Pentecost day (Luke 24:44-49; Acts 2).

In verses 4 and 7 of John 3, Nicodemus was marveling as to how an old man could be re-born; so in verse 6, Jesus described the two natural elements of man as the flesh part, born or coming of flesh, and the spirit part, born or coming of spirit (like producing like in man's propagation) as to his source and constituent parts. Later, in the new dispensation, the apostle Paul pictures these two parts of man as "the first man Adam and the second man Adam, the one of earth, earthy, which was first; the other, spirit, as breathed into his nostrils by God, Gen. 2:7; 1 Cor. 15:44-49, where Paul is explaining the future transitions that await man's soul and body—Mod. speech Tr. There is an outward man and an inner man (2 Cor. 4:16). Corroborating the above, note that the two pronouns, "that, which" of verse 6 have for their antecedents the two nouns "flesh" and "spirit," also past tense in meaning; hence, we find that verse 6 does not augur to a future birth as the other verses do, and that sectarians err in preaching that the spirit part only was to be in the regeneration, and that it comes about in some mystical-touch way that's "better felt than told."

Mankind had been alienated from God in the forbidden fruit episode in Eden's garden, Gen. 3, and in Gen. 6:6 God was repentant that he had so made man; yet, he was long-suffering toward him, 1 Peter 3:18-22, and in order to perfect a reunion with God, Christ required that man be born again, born of water and the Spirit, vs. 3, 5, transforming him more like unto God for congenial companionship and translating him into his holy kingdom for succoring (2 Cor. 6:2; Col. 1:13).

Note again that the personal pronouns "thee, ye he and him," verses 3, 5, and 7, have the noun "man" for their antecedent, showing that man in whole is affected in the new birth. Like the wind, not knowing whence it cometh, and whither it goeth, the Lord did not reveal the process of conversion to Nicodemus, the teacher, but later he gave charge to his apostles to go into all the world and preach of him, baptizing those begotten, raising them in newness of life (Rom. 6:4). The apostles had the mystery made known to them (1 Cor. 2:9, 10; Eph. 3:1-6, 8-10).

Other expressions pertaining to the new birth: having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, clean through the word by faith, Jno. 15:3; Acts 15:9, and our bodies washed with pure water (Heb. 10:22). The gospel begets through the virtue of faith, and baptism brings forth by the washing of water by the word, into Christ (1 Cor. 4:15; Gal. 3:26, 27; Eph. 5:25, 26). Yes, in his charge, Mark 16:15, 16, the Lord said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." He had said also that except men repent, they likewise shall perish, and commanded through the apostles that all men everywhere repent (Acts 17:30).

In demonstration, the Lord requires that man believe and express the same in confession of his name, Matt. 12:34; Acts 8:37, et al, and that repentance be expressed in baptism as fruit or works meet for repentance (Acts 2:38; 26:20). We see that faith motivates and prompts us to do good, while it takes repentance to activate us in doing the will of God, and by thus blending together, man reaches his limits, coming into the open door where his sins are remitted, and is added unto the redeemed.

Just why so many otherwise good people renege at baptism or water of John 3:5 is distressing to all saints. The Lord made and dedicated both water and the spirit as mediums of and for our obedience and may it be remembered by all, that the Lord is the author of salvation only to them that obey him (Heb. 5:8, 9).

Lula Covey

My cousin, Lula Covey, died on June 8th at her home near Snowville, Virginia, and was buried on June 11th in the family burial ground. She was my father's brother's (William Showalter) oldest child. She was born September 18, 1860, and her age at the time of her death was 92 years, eight months and 20 days. There are many interesting and important matters connected with her life. She was baptized at eleven years of age, was married when she was twenty to Tom Covey, a well-to-do farmer in the community. She was a member of the same congregation of Christians worshipping at New Salem for 81 years, never being affiliated with any other church or congregation. The place where she was born and the farm home where she lived and where she was buried, were less than a mile apart. My father, J. T. Showalter, baptized her and also solemnized her marriage vows. Her children consisted of two sons and three daughters. Her husband preceded her in death a long number of years. The five children are all members of the church of Christ.

There is probably not a person in Southwest Virginia whose life, faithfulness in the church, and outstanding service for the Lord in her community, surpasses or even equals the work of Lula Covey. For more than four score years she rendered an uninterrupted service in the one congregation where she was baptized and for that length of time served in the Lord's work. Naturally, she was widely known and her influence was felt in a very wide circle. The New Salem congregation and other groups of Christians throughout the area were increased in numbers and were strengthened in the faith through the exceptionally good influence of her long and useful life.

The services on June 11th at the home, were conducted in the room where all of her children were born, and the faithful in that community, besides many of her friends and prominent citizens in that locality, were in attendance at the funeral. The services were conducted by Lowell Altizer, minister of the church at Christiansburg, Virginia, who, in his remarks, specially featured her church life of more than 81 years. This congregation also supplied singers whose service was greatly appreciated by the family. Ray and Tom Covey, her two sons, are active in the New Salem church; Ray is one of the elders.

These lines are written with the sweet recollections of the long, long ago. My memory goes back to the time of her baptism and more particularly of her marriage. I knew her husband, Tom Covey, quite well as an active worker in the church. Lula has closed a long and conspicuously useful life. The longer we live, the more good we should do, the greater impression we should make on the community in which we spend our time, and the deeper should be the influence on the hearts and lives of men and women. Such a life leaves in any community an influence for truth and righteousness and an inspiration for the hope of heaven that nothing else can affect. Of the righteous Abel, divine revelation has said, "He being dead, yet speaketh," and so it is with Cousin Lula Covey and with all of those who serve in a worthy way, Christ Jesus, our Lord, who has redeemed us through the blood of the everlasting covenant.

May the peace of God and the love that passeth all understanding, bless the loved ones who linger yet on the shores of time and whose lives are made richer, happier, sweeter and better by the long service of a truly devoted Christian.

A New Congregation

S. F. Meyers

Ten miles north of "Fabulous Phoenix" lies a community known as Sunnyslope, with an estimated population of ten thousand.

The banner of Christ was planted in this area October 19, 1952, by this writer and other Christian families. We moved into our new building January 4, 1953. At the beginning of this work we found fourteen thriving denominations of about every sect you could imagine at Sunnyslope. The church of Christ was certainly long overdue in this community. Nevertheless as we write this, we are happy to report that at the end of eight months we have experienced a healthy growth with the help of neighboring congregations throughout the valley. Our additions total thirty-three, including nineteen by baptism, nine restorations with membership, and five who placed membership.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank three of these congregations for holding a two-week meeting which began May 4, 1953. Brother Urie T. Poisall of Mesa preached the first week during which four were baptized into Christ. Brother Harry V. Davis of Glendale preached the second week during which there were three baptisms and three memberships by restoration and one placed membership. Brother Billy Nelson of Tempe closed our meeting Sunday, May 17, 1953, with a fine lesson on Mormonism. One was added by restoration on this day.

Since the meeting we've continued in the work with six additions: two by baptism, three memberships with restoration, and one placing membership.

The future looks bright for the work at this place. Our congregation consists of approximately fifty members. We covet the prayers of Christians everywhere for the work here as we labor on, giving God the praise, looking ever to Jesus as the Author and Finisher of our faith.

9401 N. 7th Street, Sunnyslope, Arizona.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Brother Elmer H. Irby, of Hankamer, Texas, has just closed a meeting at Leander with six baptisms.

J. Roy Waldrum, Jacksboro, Texas, June 19: I began work with the church here yesterday. The outlook for a good work is promising.

A. R. Holton writes: Final reservations are now being made for the Blue Ridge Camp meeting, July 18-24. Write or wire J. W. Brents, 4001 Woodmond Boulevard, Nashville, Tennessee.

Ross W. Dye, 408 N. Marshall, Oklahoma City 10, Oklahoma, May 4: During the past month, fifteen have responded to the invitation here: three for baptism, 11 restored, and one identified. This makes 62 additions here since January 1st.

Doyle Banta, Box 205, West Helena, Arkansas, June 26: Charles Chumley of Athens, Alabama, closed a meeting with us this week. It was one of our best. There were four baptized and twenty-five restorations and confessions of fault. We had 263 to attend our vacation Bible school.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, June 25: Brothers Wilmeth of Tyler and Leo Baker of Abilene closed nine days of gospel preaching Tuesday night with great crowds and good interest; seven baptized and two restored. One was a leading dry goods merchant that Catholics and all the other denominations in town had long tried to get. Many new contacts and friends were made for the church.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, June 15: Closed a great meeting at Angleton, Texas, last night. Brother J. A. Bristow is the local minister. He has done a great work there and the church is really growing. We had ten responses in the meeting and I trust that the church was edified a great deal. Came home this morning to help in the vacation Bible school. Things look good for a great school.

Cornelius C. Abbott, 401 N. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma: The gospel meeting came to a close here June 7. One was baptized during the meeting. We also conducted the vacation Bible school during this meeting and averaged 258 each day. Cleo Wallace preached and Glenn Boyd conducted the singing. I begin June 17th with the Berclair church in Memphis, Tennessee; McLoud, Oklahoma, July 13, and Little, Oklahoma, July 26.

James O. Wilburn, Box 11, Gruver, Texas, June 15: We closed our vacation Bible school on Friday with record attendance. Contact with homes untouched by the gospel, development of teaching ability, and the increase of knowledge of all pupils richly repays efforts expended in such work. Our meeting in August will be conducted by John Maples and Paul Harlin. Jim Wilburn will go to Wisconsin in September to work with the church at Greenbay. This is a mission endeavor and more support is needed to do the work effectively. The bishops at Winters, Texas, are arranging for the support. I will be working some in Western Kansas this summer in new fields.

Remember the rate in clubs of six or more for the Firm Foundation is only $2.00 for the year.

A. C. Huff, 901 West 7, Plainview, Texas: I preached at Kress, Texas, Sunday morning and evening. The Lord willing I will preach here the following Wednesday night.

During your gospel meeting why not fortify the results of the meeting by making up a club of subscribers for the Firm Foundation? The preacher and the other members in the congregation will cooperate.

Gospel meeting, July 3rd to 12th at the church of Christ, Liberty Hill, Texas. Preaching by J. Kearby Bentley of Springtown. Song leader, Sidney Stewart of Austin.

Tom Harris, 1802 Caroline Street, South Bend 14, Indiana, June 22: Four baptisms the first three weeks of June at Caroline and Calvert Streets. I am to be with the brethren in Farmersburg from June 28 to August 9 while completing my graduate work at Indiana University.

James P. Miller, Orlando, Florida, June 22: I preached six nights last week in the beautiful new building of the church in Winter Haven, Florida. They have erected one of the finest building in the state and it is certainly a credit to the cause here in the deep South. Robert Hendrix preaches for them and is a splendid Christian man. Two ladies were baptized. One was baptized at Jefferson Street here in Orlando on June 14th.

Joe C. Malone, Fort Worth, Texas, June 25: The Lord's church at West Berry in Ft. Worth concluded an eight-day gospel meeting on Sunday, June 21, with Brother Frank Van Dyke, of the Bible department of Freed-Hardeman College, Henderson, Tennessee, doing the preaching. Five were added to the congregation; two by baptism. In conjunction with the meeting, a five-day vacation Bible school was conducted with an average daily attendance of 551.

Cleo N. Blue, 635 South High Street, El Dorado, Kansas, June 16: The growth of the church here is commendable. Baptized one last Wednesday night. I have preached in meetings this year at the following places: Gospel Hill, Missouri; Blytheville, Arkansas; Bellfonte, Arkansas; Benton Harbor, Michigan, and Rock Island, Illinois. Ten baptized and seven restored to their first love. My next meeting will be at Morrilton, Arkansas, July 7, the home of Joe H. Blue, my father.

Cleo E. Jones, Box 988, Iowa Park, Texas, June 18: Brother Joe Laird closed a one-week meeting with the church here in Iowa Park last Sunday. The meeting was well attended and resulted in four baptisms and three restorations. Our youngest son was among those baptized, thus completing our family in the Lord. The work with the congregation here is pleasant and in many ways much progress is being made. Last Sunday broke a 21-month record for the Bible study attendance and also the contribution was a record for the past 21 months. Visitors in this section of the state will find a welcome to our worship service.

W. O. Hall, Madill, Oklahoma, June 23: Two baptized and two restored recently.

A. R. Holton, Nashville, Tennessee: Blue Ridge, North Carolina, is in the heart of the greatest open door for the churches of Christ. See it. Attend Blue Ridge Camp Meeting, July 18-24.

Brother Elbridge B. Linn has entered upon regular work with the University Avenue Church of Christ at Austin, Texas, with fine prospects for a great work.

Thlit S. Teddlie, Ennis, Texas: Two hundred and thirty have been enrolled in our music school at McLean, Texas. Eight have been baptized during the school. I begin a gospel meeting at Buffalo, July 5.

Brother J. D. Plunkerton held a meeting for the San Marcos Street church in Austin, Texas, last week. The meeting was well attended and one prominent man whose obedience has been earnestly desired was baptized.

Ross W. Dye, 408 N. Marshall, Oklahoma City 10, Oklahoma, June 22: The work continues in good order here. One was baptized and two identified yesterday. We recently improved our facilities by the installation of twenty-two tons of air-conditioning equipment.

Robert P. Stewart, Box 459, Grass Valley, California, June 25: Since our last report, we have baptized two more fine young people here at Grass Valley. The work is progressing nicely. We begin a meeting with Brother Andrew F. House of Oak Park (Sacramento) July 12th. Pray for us in our efforts to advance the cause of our Savior here in this vacation paradise.

W. R. Craig, Quitman, Texas, June 20: I have accepted work with the church in Magnolia, Arkansas. Will begin with these brethren in the next few weeks. Luther Savage has done a fine work in Magnolia. It will be a pleasure to follow him. A new $100,000.00 meeting house is now under construction there. We look forward to a rewarding work. A preacher to follow me here has not been selected. Those interested should address the Church of Christ, Box 576, Quitman, Texas.

J. K. Bentley, Fort Worth, Texas, June 29: I closed my fourth year at Springtown, yesterday; two baptized and one restored. I am to begin at Liberty Hill, Texas, July 3 to continue through July 12, and at Hayden, Colorado, July 19 to run through July 26, or longer. Brother Hugh Ousley has been selected to follow me at Springtown. The church there is at peace and has a great future. My address will be at 300 N. Riverside Drive, Fort Worth, through July and August.

Joe Bullock, Box 484, Lewisville, Texas, June 29: Since our last report of May 21, three have been baptized and one identified. By the time you read this, our meeting with Brother John Banister will be near. July 20-29 is the time, and if you live within driving distance you are invited to attend. We are anticipating a great meeting, and we have all the right to think so, as Brother Banister is capable of preaching the gospel with simplicity and with power. I am to preach in a meeting in Governador, New Mexico, August 5-18. If you live close to Governador, we want to extend an invitation to you to attend this meeting. May the Lord bless all the faithful everywhere.

E. W. Stovall, Glasgow, Kentucky, June 18: Work here goes well. One baptized and two placed membership recently.

Robert D. Bankes, 810 Houston Street, Kilgore, Texas, June 29: I will be with the College Hill church in Gunter, Texas, in a meeting, July 5-15. I will then begin a meeting at Tom Bean, Texas, July 20-29. There were three responses here at Houston and Broadway yesterday: two placed membership and one confessed wrongs.

H. Lester Parker, Blythe, California, June 13: The church in Blythe has recently installed a refrigeration unit with sufficient capacity to cool the auditorium and classrooms. Attendance, interest, and contributions are holding up well. Four of our young people were hospitalized recently. I preached for the church in Pomona, California, last Lord's day. Brother P. H. Hill, Jr., did the preaching at Blythe in my absence.

Paul McClung, 1703 Speedway, Wichita Falls, Texas, June 25: I have been working with the Tenth and Broad church in Wichita Falls for three weeks. During these three weeks eleven have responded to the invitation: three baptized, five restored, and three placed membership. George H. Stephenson did a great work with the church here prior to my coming. I will be in a meeting with the church in Denver City, Texas, from July 3 to 12.

George Hickey, Clemmons, North Carolina, June 15: I have preached for the church at Greensboro, North Carolina, for the past three Lord's days. Harry Clements has been the very efficient song leader, treasurer, and teacher for this church from the beginning. I will begin a year's work with the Warners Chapel Church tomorrow. I was baptized by A. P. Warner (elder) at this place fourteen years ago. Remember us in prayer.

Charles Ellege Hill, 2928 Dunford, Fort Worth, Texas, June 24: Interest continues to be high in the Vickery Boulevard work. We are constructing a new building on the corner of Mitchell Boulevard and East Berry Street. We plan to move into this new location as soon as we can finish the building. The opportunities are unlimited in that section of the city. Four have been baptized the past week and five restored. Our meeting will begin July 12. I will do the preaching in this effort. I have some time for meetings in 1954. If I can serve you, call me.

R. V. Hamilton, Box 107, Hamilton, Texas: I have just concluded an interesting and profitable meeting with the Lord's church in McDade, Texas. The meeting was held out of doors, and the weather, while hot during the day, was ideal each night with gentle cool breezes. Two were baptized with one of the two coming from a family of sectarians. This may be the means of converting the rest of the family. Brother C. E. Packer is the preacher for this congregation. He is well liked and appreciated by his home congregation for his life and work and proved to be a very splendid and congenial co-worker during the meeting. We enjoyed fine attendance throughout the meeting with a number of visiting preachers. A number came often from Smithville, Austin, Elgin, Giddings and other points near by. The singing was excellent throughout the meeting, being led by Brethren Dale Sanders and Kendrick Stagner, alternating from night to night. I could arrange to hold one more meeting after the middle of August or before the 15th of July.

A. R. Holton writes: Everything is in readiness for a good camp meeting at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, July 18-24.

W. F. Showers, Box 104, Pleasanton, Texas, June 27: Our vacation Bible school closed last night. Two hundred and twenty-one enrolled this time. Twenty-one teachers of the congregation did a splendid work. The church here will sponsor a meeting in Karnes City, July 20-29, in which I will do the preaching. I shall be with the church in Melrose, east of Nacogdoches, August 10-18.

Paul T. Dumm, Charleston, South Carolina, June 16: On May 31, I had the pleasure of speaking at MacDill Avenue in Tampa, Florida, a congregation with which I have labored. Since returning to Charleston, two have answered the invitation, one to confess sins and one to confess Christ and be baptized for the remission of sins. When in Charleston, worship with us. The building is located at Sans Souci and Hester Streets.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Kentucky Avenue, Paducah, Kentucky, June 29: The Clements Street work has never been better—two baptized yesterday. A very dear friend in the city has had the study air-conditioned as a gift. It is a wonderful gift and is so enjoyed. We begin a tent meeting in the Oakdale section of the city, July 1. Home forces will be in the lead. Our daily radio program continues to enjoy a wide hearing. In spite of the torrid heat, our work continues to grow both in spirit and number.

E. Lacy Porter, 104 High Street, Huntington, Tennessee, June 26: Our vacation Bible school from June 8 through 12 was well attended. We went above what we expected. The daily attendance ran around 145. Our series of meetings will start July 5, 1953. Brother George W. DeHoff will do the preaching and Brother Billy Ringold will direct the singing. If passing through, stop and be with us. My first meeting this year will be with the Shaddy congregation, near Grove Spring, Missouri, beginning July 19. Then to Gardner, near Martin, Tennessee, the second and third Sundays in August.

W. R. Swinney, Bandera, Texas, July 29: Ira B. Sandusky of Beaumont, Texas, closed an eight-day meeting with the Bandera saints last evening with one baptism. The meeting was a disappointment to both of us in the matter of attendance and response. We had more out-of-town visitors than local. The meeting was climaxed with an all-day service. Brothers Cox and Fry and their families from Kerrville; Brothers Melton and Smith and their families from Hondo and Brother Joe Teel and family from Ingram were with us in the afternoon services at which time Brother Joe, a fifteen-year-old preacher delivered a splendid sermon, which was much beyond his age. We forecast a great future for him. I have finished my work with Bandera and expect to take my leave of them August 1.

R. P. Drennon, Fort Sumner, New Mexico, June 25: We closed a splendid meeting last night. Brother Dean Brookshire did the preaching with James T. Beckner as song leader. Eight responded to the gospel invitation: four were baptized and four returned to their first love. The congregation is in the best condition since I have been here. To God be the glory and praise.

Choice L. Bryant, 165 So. 15th St., Salem, Oregon, June 15: Recently there have been seven transfers of membership, one confession of wrongs and one baptism in Central church in Salem. There were two confessions of wrongs during the campaign in The Dalles, Oregon, where I served as visiting evangelist May 17-29. I am to be with the Southwest church in Phoenix, Arizona, June 21-July 1 in a protracted meeting.

Wm. J. Whaley, Box 228, Bedford, Indiana, June 26: Just home from a three-week trip to the Northwest. I spoke at the Nora Avenue congregation in Spokane three times, twice in Wenatchee and one Wednesday night at Northwest church in Seattle. I met several preaching brethren and many old friends in Christ of past labors in that area. Brother Robert McIndoo of Terre Haute, spoke for the brethren at home in my absence. Since my last report, five have been added here in Bedford. A fine vacation Bible school was held here from June 1st to 12th. We had our largest night audience on June 21st since our work began here. The Lord's work in Indiana is encouraging.

Sgt. 1/C Johnie Simpson, Pittsburg, California, June 18: We concluded a gospel meeting here May 30, 1953, with Brother Don Rudd of Walnut Creek doing the preaching. Seven were baptized and one made confession of wrong. We believe much good was accomplished.

Claude C. McQuiddy, Sherman, Texas, June 19: I am now in my second year with the congregation here. The past year the Lord blessed our work with 75 responses to the Lord's invitation. The work here is growing both in numbers and spiritually to which we give praise to the Lord. Brethren, we solicit your prayers.

R. H. Banks, Jr., 1331 East Eleventh, Shawnee, Oklahoma, June 14: Seven have been added at the East Main church recently. Three were formerly affiliated with the Baptist church. Our vacation Bible school closed June 12th with a record attendance of 226. Brother Lyle Price will be with us in a gospel meeting June 15th through the 24th. I will be at Loving, Texas, for my third meeting there on June 22nd.

R. Ervin Driskill, 2509 Gould Street, Columbus, Georgia, June 25: Our meeting with W. Douglas Harris, of Anniston, Alabama, closed May 16. In many respects it was the best meeting with the Rose Hill church since we came here in March, 1950. Three were baptized and one was restored. Five more were baptized the week following the meeting (including our oldest daughter). Thirteen have been baptized, ten restored, and thirteen identified since January 1. After having decided to stay on here until the first of March we have definitely decided to leave the work here. Any congregation desiring the services of an evangelist can reach me at the above address or call me at 3-6868. If references are wanted, I can supply them. I will be in Texas July 2-9 and can be reached by phone at my sister's, Mrs. Irene Kennedy, Sabinal, Texas.

James W. Huggins, Box 72, Gunter, Texas, June 23: A number of members have moved here, but about the same number have moved away. Robert Bankes of Kilgore is to do the preaching in a meeting here July 5-15. The new dormitory for the Home for the Aged will soon be ready for use.

Ernest McCoy, Gainesville, Texas, June 22: I have moved from Borger to Gainesville and have been here now for two weeks. The work looks encouraging. We have had one baptism and some for membership and restoration. There are two congregations in the city. I am with the Commerce Street church.

F. A. Bailey, Route 2, Box 27, West Fork, Arkansas, June 16: On May 24 I closed a meeting at Heart, Arkansas, with no visible results, but I believe much good was done there. I preached at Heavener, Oklahoma, the first Lord's day. I will be at Winslow next Lord's day. The Lord willing, I will begin a meeting at Greenfield, Tennessee, August 16.

J. W. Brents, 4001 Woodmont Boulevard, Nashville, Tennessee, June 15: There is no more interesting place in all America to spend your vacation than at Beautiful Blue Ridge, North Carolina. Spend your vacation here. The YMCA hotel, the national headquarters of the YMCA, is made available for this great meeting. Write me for full information. The date is July 18-24.

W. T. Hamilton, 607 N. First, Lamesa, Texas, June 25: During the two weeks that I have been in Lamesa, two have been baptized and one restored. The church here is very active, both at home and abroad, supporting five preachers full time and helping with the support of three others. We are blessed with a good eldership that loves the congregation and leads, and with a congregation that loves the elders and follows. Brother Paul McClung did an excellent work here for six years and is loved by all the church, but he left the first of June to work with the Tenth and Broad church in Wichita Falls, Texas. It is a pleasure to me to succeed him in the work here in Lamesa.

Dick Powell, 212 N. Taylor Street, Gainesville, Texas, June 15: The work here at Broadway is off to a good start. Last evening, Sunday, June 14, two came forward to make acknowledgements of wrong and asked to be restored. Also, one of these came stating that she wanted to be identified with this congregation. May all praise and glory be given unto God. I will be engaged in a meeting at Garrett, Texas, from June 21 to 28, Lord willing.

A good work for sisters in the congregation—make up a club of subscribers—$2.00 each in clubs of six or more.

W. Wallace Layton, P. O. Box 10086, Houston 18, Texas: During May, I held meetings in Providence, R. I., and Baxter, Kentucky. Three were baptized in Kentucky. Brother C. B. Thomas of Corpus Christi just closed a meeting here at Garden Oaks; two were baptized, one restored, and five placed membership. We appreciate Brother Thomas' work.

Claude A. Guild, 2791 E. Belknap Street, Fort Worth 11, Texas, June 22: The gospel meeting at East Side in Lubbock came to a close June 14 with five baptisms and six restorations. East Side has a good eldership and Brother W. R. Jones is one of our finest gospel preachers. My next meeting will be in Wichita Falls.

Robert D. Bankes, 810 Houston Street, Kilgore, Texas, June 15: In the last two weeks there have been five additions here at Houston and Broadway. We have just concluded our vacation Bible school in which 328 were enrolled. This is one of the most effective ways of teaching the Bible. I will be with the College Hill church in Gunter, Texas, in their meeting, July 5-15.

Donald W. Hinds, Manteca, California, June 26: We are at the present time engaged in a fine gospel meeting here in Manteca. Brother A. J. Hendrix of Sonora, California, is doing the preaching. I have the privilege of leading the singing in this meeting. We are in need of a new bunch of song books for the congregation here. Please send me a copy of "Majestic Hymnal" for examination. (We have sent the book.—Publishers).

C. C. Doggett, 1102 Eager Street, Albany, Georgia, June 25: Five have been added to the membership of this congregation since my coming here on February 15, 1953. The work here is making steady progress and we are expecting greater results during the remainder of the year. Many members of the Lord's church pass through here on their way to and from Florida. We cordially invite all to stop and worship with us.

Melvin J. Wise, 4216 Stanhope Avenue, Dallas, Texas, June 15: On May 27, I closed an interesting meeting with the McLemore Avenue church in Memphis, Tennessee. It was a pleasure to return to Memphis again and to work with this good church and its preacher, Brother Stoy Pate. Thirteen were baptized, ten restored, and thirteen placed membership. I promised to return for another meeting in 1956.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, June 19: Half of our vacation Bible school is history. Average the first week was 328 per day. Over 300 present every day and there were 350 present on day. We enrolled about 400. We are working hard and have had fine cooperation in the work. Brother Robert LeCroix of the Downtown congregation and Brother and Sister Ronnie Pope of the Yorktown congregation have been indispensable with their help. Only with all working together can such an undertaking be put over. There are two large congregations in Victoria and a new work started out of Central on Crestwood Avenue, Sunday, June 21. We are happy to have a part in a work like this. I have never enjoyed work for the Lord anywhere as I have in Victoria. Worship with us in Victoria at one of the following places: Downtown church of Christ at 408 West Constitution Street; Central Church of Christ at 907 North Cameron St., or Crestwood Avenue Church of Christ at Crestwood Avenue and Retama Street.

WORSHIP WITH US

John G. Bills, 4133 Middlesex Drive, San Diego 16, California, June 14: We had fine services at Linda Vista today. Eleven have responded since last Sunday: four baptisms, two memberships, and five confessed wrongs and were restored. We have bought a building to be moved on our property for one-fourth of what it would cost to build a similar building. It will be sectioned, moved and put back together, ready for use on our property. We are hoping and praying that all works out as outlined. Pray for us.

F. B. Shepherd, 1732 Keeaumoku, Honolulu, T. H., Hawaii, June 22: Two more were baptized here within the past week. We are getting several classes started among the "local" people that should result in additions to the one body. You make haste slowly here. With Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Filipinos, Portuguese, besides the Caucasians, many religious ideas have to be met and a multitude of false philosophies combated. The constant changing of the armed services personnel part of our church makes it still more difficult to increase the overall attendance at worship. At least one-fourth of the members who were here when I came in January have moved. Some others have come to take their places but not nearly as many have come as have gone. Brother Guillermo and I are happy to make every effort possible to contact your loved ones who are sent here for service.

Alvin Jennings, Box 1023, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, June 11: It was my privilege to moderate in a debate on the subject of "Divine Healing" for Brother J. C. Bailey on May 19-21. The opponent was J. B. Reesor of the Church of God (Pentecostal) from Lemmon, South Dakota. The debate was very good, and Mr. Reesor desired a repeat of the discussion at his home town, and arrangements are being made to repeat it here in Saskatoon in the fall. This debate was instigated by my offering $1,000 for one proven case of miraculous healing, which offer a Church of God preacher at Wawota, Sask., claimed. He offered as proof a printed leaflet showing how a man was healed of cancer over a period of eight years, showing pictures "before" and "after." He forgot to send the names of two doctors, however, so when we wrote him a check for the $1,000, we forgot to sign a name. (There's really nothing in a name, anyway!). The debate was at Wawota, and five preaching brethren from Montana were present: Ross Hinshaw, Clinton Brazle, Bob Clayton, James Johnson, and Jack Church.

Ellis G. Grubb, Van Alstyne, Texas, June 26: I moved to Van Alstyne, Texas, last December and have been busy at work in the Master's vineyard. Everything is moving nicely; baptized one, an elderly lady who had been a Baptist all of her life but now she is happy in the church of our Lord. Our meeting at Winnsboro, Louisiana, will begin August 1st and run two weeks. I hope to see all of my friends while there. We plan on holding as much of a campaign as possible doing personal work daily. The plan is to invite any who would like to come and help to do so. Members of the church will take the personal workers into their homes while there. We will bring as much gospel literature as needed to cover the town at least a couple of times. In this way we hope to put the church on top in Winnsboro. If you and the congregation where you live will see to it that you or some other good Christian workers come to Winnsboro, Louisiana, for this campaign it will succeed to the glory of our Lord and the salvation of souls. "Come over into Louisiana and help us."

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, June 29: Yesterday was a good day of worship. Two were identified, one of them restored from the Christian Church. Around three hundred were present at night to hear "Amaziah who willingly offered himself unto the Lord" (2 Chron. 17:16). Two hundred were present at prayer. The church is on high ground since our gospel meeting. We endeavor to avoid any slump.

Garnie Atkisson, Fort Morgan, Colorado, June 10: I finished my work with the good congregation in Lovington, New Mexico, the last Lord's day in May. We began work with the small group here in Fort Morgan the first Lord's day in June. This seems to be a great field, almost untouched. We are looking forward to a pleasant and profitable work.

J. Boyd Taylor, 1506 N. 9th Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, June 25: Ray F. Chester of Vernon, Texas, did the preaching in a meeting with the Lincoln Street church here in May. Three were baptized, one restored, and one identified with us. Six more have been added since the meeting. The Lincoln Street church is a little more than a year and one-half old and the membership has just about doubled, having increased from 97 to 192. We have lost about 30 who have moved away. This month I have assisted the 23rd and Grace congregation here in a vacation Bible school, conducted the singing for a meeting at Iowa Park, and my wife and I both taught in the vacation Bible school at the 10th and Broad congregation here. The Lincoln Street church is the nearest one to Sheppard Air Force Base here.

Perry D. Wilmeth

"The Preacher—His Belief and Behavior." By J. W. Storer. Broadman Press, Nashville, Tenn. pp. 104. 1953. $1.50.

This is a series of addresses delivered by the author to the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, and is what the title suggests—counsel to "preachers" and in this case, Baptist preachers composed the larger portion of the audience. This is not a book "about" preachers, but is a book "to" preachers. One reads this book feeling that the author has served both small and large churches. Fundamentally the work of a preacher is the same wherever it is, although the approach may differ somewhat.

The author of these lectures deals with such topics as the Preacher's Preparation, His Preaching, His Ethics, His Leadership, His Administration, His Appearance, His Private Life, and His Tenure of service with any given congregation. Any preacher will read with interest this volume of addresses. They are spiced with bits of humor that will thrill any preacher who reads them. This volume will find its largest circle of readers among those who are giving their time to preaching—because of what it actually is—a book to preachers.

"Doves in the Dust." By Perry F. Webb. Broadman Press, Nashville, Tenn. pp. 115. 1953. $1.50.

This is a volume of twelve typical sermons delivered by my good friend, Dr. Perry F. Webb, preacher of the First Baptist church in San Antonio, Texas. This reviewer knew for some time that Dr. Webb planned this, his first volume of sermons. We venture the prediction that he will have others to follow.

These messages vary in purpose and appeal. The sermons are addressed largely to "church people." Any one of the sermons is well worth the price of the book. Perhaps the ones which appealed to this reviewer above others are: "A Preacher's Prayer" based on Phil. 1:10, 11, "Keep the Light Shining", and "The Sin of Tolerance". For aptness of illustration, there are few parallels—some of the richest this scribe has seen in sermonic material. No preacher, whatever his religious identity, will read these sermons without having his sermonic material enriched and embellished.

This book may be ordered from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

"The Wallace-Ketcherside Debate." By G. K. Wallace and W. Carl Ketcherside. Telegram Book Company. Longview, Washington, 1952. pp. 286. $3.00.

This is a debate that took place June 30-July 4, near Paragould, Arkansas, between G. K. Wallace, preacher and teacher of Bible at Florida Christian College, and W. Carl Ketcherside, outstanding exponent of present-day Sommerism and editor of The Mission Messenger, a paper published in St. Louis, Mo. The oral discussion was recorded, transcribed and published in this present form. It is a must for those who want to be informed. Both disputants conducted themselves in a fine manner, according to the written discussion. Each did his best on the issues. They were:

1. "The employment of a preacher to preach for the congregation as now practiced by the church of Christ, at Second and Walnut Streets, in Paragould, Arkansas, is Scriptural."
2. "The New Testament authorizes an evangelist to exercise authority in a congregation which he has planted until men are qualified and appointed as bishops."
3. "The organization, by Christians, of schools such as Freed-Hardeman college is contrary to the New Testament Scriptures."
4. "The organization, by Christians of schools such as Freed-Hardeman College is in harmony with the New Testament Scriptures."

Brother Wallace affirmed No. 1 and No. 4. Ketcherside affirmed No. 2 and No. 3.

The book is interspersed with numerous charts and diagrams which were kept constantly before the audience during the debate, and which adds appreciably to the debate. The book is neatly and substantially bound, and mechanically perfect.

The discussion is entirely representative; and the issue was debated with thoroughness and effectiveness by each participant. The printed volume will provide for a wider range of interest, and provide far more information than many of us may have. It is commended reading for elders, preachers, and all Bible students. "George W. Truett"—A Biography. By Powhatan W. James. The Broadman Press. Nashville, Tenn. 311 pages. 1953. $3.00.

This is an enlargement of two former publications of 1939 and 1945. It is here presented in its Memorial Edition, with a special section of pictures depicting the various structures erected in memory of George W. Truett.

A ministry of more than forty years in the First Baptist church in Dallas comes to life as one reads this most interesting book of a man who succeeded in his chosen field.

It is a story of the forces that shaped and molded the man. Although one may not be in accord with Baptist teaching, one can thrill at the life story of a giant and man of this stature so honored and recognized among his people. It affords inspiration to all men, and serves to point toward certain qualities of life structure which endure. For those who enjoy reading biography, this is excellent.

For the preacher, who ever he is, there is inspiration in the explanation of Dr. Truett's habits of study and of his sermon preparation. It is a genuine pleasure to commend this biography to others.

"A Spiritual Journey with Paul." By Thomas S. Kepler. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, Nashville, Tenn. 1953. $2.00.

Here are forty meditations inspiring the reader to explore the teachings of the Apostle Paul. The author depicts Paul as he would deal with the problems in his day, and gives relevance to modern day problems. The author uses the Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

Dr. Kepler draws also on the resources of others and quotes freely from their writings. The reader will find practical insights in every day living. These are down to earth lessons for the man of the street, the man in office and shop, and wherever mankind is found. It is hoped that many will find this an interesting journey. The reader will want to understand that the author takes a more or less liberal point of view in his writing. For example, he does not ascribe the Ephesian and Timothy letters during Paul's life time, but as coming later. Of course, this reviewer cannot agree with this point of view. This does not obviate the lessons drawn from these letters.

Our readers may purchase their copies from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

"Why I Left Masonry." By Claude McClung, 1614 W. 2nd St., Arlington, Texas. Privately published. 1952. $2.00.

This has been a most difficult book to review. The writer is obviously an "ex-Mason". The reviewer is neither a Mason, nor an ex—hence cannot give the evaluation to the volume that a Mason could, or that one could give, had he been a former Mason. However, if the premises are correct, then the conclusions are correct. I asked a Mason to read the book and give me his evaluations of it, but he was gracious enough to give neither "pro" nor "con". This is one reaction to the volume.

But to those who want to really read the valid reasons of why one Mason left the Masonry Organization, and who is himself or was a Mason, or who contemplates joining, I'd commend the reading of this volume. One Mason friend of this scribe suggested that he had disassociated himself from Masonry because there was nothing in Masonry that he did not find in Christianity, and many things in Masonry, which he did not care to have. The book contains the following:

- Origin of Masonry
- The Religion of Free Masonry
- Symbolism of Free Masonry

Our friends may order this volume either from the author, or from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

Bill McCown, 176 Ohio Street, New Braunfels, Texas, June 20: A meeting among the colored people of New Braunfels has just been concluded. A. N. Patterson of San Antonio did the preaching for 19 nights. This effort has resulted in the establishment of the West End congregation, with 33 members, all converted during this meeting. The church here is happy to have had part in making possible this meeting and our prayers and help in every possible way shall continue with these brethren as they press on in the Christian life. Brethren from San Antonio, Austin, and Lockhart helped encourage this work. A number of the colored preachers were in attendance each evening from the above named places. One was baptized at the local congregation last Sunday morning. We are contemplating others rendering their obedience. I am to begin a meeting with the church at Gonzales on July 5 to continue through the 19th. Roy Lanier is to be with us in a meeting November 1-11.

Robert C. Copeland, Jr., Box 863, Clarendon, Texas, June 14: One recently baptized here and one confessed the sin of adultery and was restored. I preached at the College Street Church in Junction, Texas, last Sunday. It used to be big and strong but division and confusion has reduced the number. Walter W. Leamons preaches for the 10th Street church just one block from the College Street building. It has two signs, one, "Church of Christ," and the other "Christian Church." There is also an anti-Bible class group there. Is Christ divided? Last Wednesday night, I preached for the good congregation at Glen Rose, Texas. The attendance and contributions are holding up here even though a severe drouth and record heat continues in this part of the country. In unity there is strength, but divided we fall. I hope and pray to God that unity and fellowship can be restored at Junction, Texas. It grieves me to see so many factions, groups, schisms in a town of less than 3,000 population. The world laughs and mocks us when division besets us like it has in that town. God give us the courage to expose sin when, where, and how we see it and by thy word. Lord willing, I shall be at Irene, Texas, in a meeting that starts July 3rd. Am hoping for great results.

Vernon J. Gahagan, 11404 Barnes Avenue, Dallas, Texas: The church at Scotland Drive has grown considerably since the first of the year. There have been 15 baptisms, three restorations, four restorations and memberships, and nine to place membership—a total of thirty-one additions to our working forces. We have already broken two records in Bible school attendance. Last Lord's day we had the highest Bible school attendance and contributions in the history of the congregation. We have just concluded our daily vacation Bible school with an average attendance of 147 for the five days. A large percentage of the children were from denominational homes. Also we have just concluded a gospel meeting with Charles C. Goodnight of the Cockrell Hill Church of Christ doing the preaching in which thirteen were baptized, two restored, and one to place membership. Brother Goodnight certainly did a splendid job of preaching the gospel and the results will be felt for days to come. He endeared himself to the hearts of all the people, and we hope to have him back again next year in a similar effort. When in Dallas, visit with us at the Scotland Drive Church of Christ, 2507 Scotland Drive, one mile northeast of the Lisbon Veterans Hospital.

J. F. Doggett, 1001 Meadow Lane Street, Tyler, Texas, June 30: Since my last report, two have been baptized and several have placed membership with the Crescent Heights congregation. The work seems to be making progress. Only recently our building has been air-conditioned throughout. The third Sunday in July will bring to a close a very pleasant three and one-half years' work with this congregation. At this time I will be moving to Grand Saline, Texas, where Dean Bullock has done a very fine work for the past two years. In August, Brother Robert L. Turner of Prescott, Arizona, will be moving here to begin working with this congregation. I predict for them a fine work together. When coming this way, stop and worship with us at 1418 West Bow Street.

E. R. Davis, Jr., Main Street, Danforth, Maine, June 25: The Danforth church has just concluded a very successful vacation Bible school in which there were 104 enrolled and 70 in attendance on the average. We were so understaffed and there was so much to do that I was exhausted on the last day, passed out, suffered a bump on the head, and spent four days in bed. But x-rays show no serious results and I am much better now. Also there were three baptized here two weeks ago: a man, his wife, and their son. They came from the Methodist church. Danforth is looking for a man to come here to preach and work with the church. One hundred dollars of his support is assured by Danforth and Riverside, Fort Worth, Texas. There is a place to live in the building which would be rent free. It is possible that a teaching position could be secured in the local schools if desired. Anyone interested, should write immediately to the Danforth church or to the Riverside elders, 2701 E. Belknap, Fort Worth 11, Texas. We are moving next month to begin a new work in Caribou, 90 miles north of here. The huge Limestone Air Base is just outside the town, and 9,000 men are coming there this year, mostly from the South. There will be many members who can help begin a permanent work in this heart of the potato empire of the Eastern United States. The time is right and we must not miss growing with this tremendous development that is taking place there. It will be the northeasternmost congregation in the United States, Houlton now holding that position. If anyone knows of personnel at the Limestone base or the Presque Isle Base, please send me their names immediately. We will begin meeting next month if the Lord wills. Pray for us.

Basil D. Shilling, 2015 Kenwood Avenue, Austin, Texas: The last Sunday of February of this year I closed a little more than four hard but fruitful years of work with the Lawndale church in Houston, Texas, and began the following Sunday with the Southside church in Austin. I first came to Austin in 1939 to work with the University Avenue church, where I spent six and one-half years. Now after eight years, I am happy to be back in Austin, this time with the fine church in Southside. Our work with the Lawndale church in Houston was made difficult and was handicapped not a little by lack of adequate and comfortable facilities, which also made necessary two worship services on Sunday morning about half the time. However, last September the construction of the second unit of the plant was begun and is now completed and in use. This provides an auditorium of more than five hundred seating capacity, more classrooms and all air-conditioned. This much-needed addition will mean much to the growth of the work at Lawndale. The work here at Southside is most pleasant and enjoyable. The church here has a relatively new building. The auditorium has a total seating capacity of about seven hundred, and the classrooms are adequate for the present, at least. The entire building is air-conditioned for comfort in both summer and winter. Since coming to Southside we have conducted a meeting in May and a vacation Bible school in June. During the meeting, there were five additions to the congregation, making a total of nine since the first of April. Our vacation Bible school reached a total enrollment of 238, with an average daily attendance of 191. Almost 150 attended every day.

Dale Sexson, Box 474, Andrews, Texas, June 22: I just returned home from a meeting at Hutcheson, Kansas, with the old 9th and Maple Streets congregation. They have just recently completed a new building on the corner of 5th and Pershing. It was my privilege to preach the first sermon in the new building as it was opened with this meeting. Three were baptized, one formerly a McPherson Holiness, another a Methodist. Two were restored from the Christian church and there were some erring brethren restored. Earlier this year, I assisted the churches at Okeene and Oakwood, Oklahoma, in meetings. These meetings resulted in six baptisms and four restorations, one of which came from the Christian church. Joe Laird just recently closed a meeting here with one baptism, one identified, and twelve confessions of unfaithfulness. Palmer Wheeler has been here too this year with a fine school in singing.

J. W. Webb, Box 397, Moore, Oklahoma, June 29: Brother Don Willingham of Amarillo, Texas, has just closed a very fine meeting with us. We all enjoyed his splendid sermons. They were inspirational, encouraging, and edifying to all who were privileged to hear them. We had good audiences and good attention and splendid attendance throughout the meeting. Although no visible results, so far as baptisms, restorations, etc., are concerned; yet it helped the church a great deal. Brother M. Ben Hall, one of our elders, directed the "song-worship" in a very efficient and excellent manner. There is a gradual growth here in attendance, interest, and contributions. Although a small congregation, yet a very good one. Some of the finest people you will meet anywhere who love God and have a regard for his word. We have several visitors nearly every Lord's day for which we are very grateful, indeed. If ever passing through Moore, please stop and worship with us.

ATCHESON—Brother J. E. Atcheson was born September 11, 1874, in Denton County, Texas, and departed from this world April 28, 1953, at his home in Crowell, Texas, after a long sickness. He was married to Miss Mittie Peters of Young County, Texas, May 30, 1909. He and his wife moved to Ford County in that year and had lived here every since. To this union were born two girls. There is one girl by his previous wife. Brother Atcheson leaves his wife and all three girls. The children are all married. Brother Atcheson will be missed as a great leader in this section of the state. He served as County Judge two terms and County Attorney for several years. He was connected with the school system for twenty-three years. Most of all he will be missed by the church. For many years he has been a worker in the church of Christ. His influence will live on. He leaves behind many relatives and a host of friends. I brought the message of consolation.

ANDERSON—Funeral services for Lewie M. Anderson were conducted April 28 at the Second Street Church of Christ, in Portales, New Mexico. Mr. Anderson was born seventy-eight years ago in Bell County, Texas. He received his education at the old Lockney Christian College at Lockney, Texas. In early manhood he was married to Ina Dukeminer, and to this union two daughters were born, one dying in early life. This companion of Mr. Anderson's passed away and later he was married to Miss Eva Morrison and three girls and one son were born to them.

In 1901 Mr. Anderson moved to the Bethel community northwest of Portales and homesteaded. He spent the rest of his life in and near Portales. At the time of his death he was a faithful member of the Second Street church in Portales. The funeral services were conducted by Loye C. Ruckman of Carlsbad, New Mexico, assisted by W. T. Garnett of Portales.

Survivors include the widow, one son, Merlin Anderson of Wichita, Kansas, and daughters, Mrs. Garnie Atkisson, Lovington, New Mexico; Mrs. Velma Cantrell, Mrs. Margie Moore and Mrs. Gus Burson of Portales, New Mexico.

JORDAN—James Nicholas (Nick) Jordan, Jr., 46, was called from the walks of men at 2:55 p.m., Tuesday, March 24, 1953, to be with his Lord whom he loved and served while on this earth. The writer has been very closely associated with Nick in the work of the church, and otherwise, and always found him at all times in harmony with God's will. Brother Jordan came to Junction seven years ago, and he and his good wife, Grace, placed their membership with the church here, coming with a commendation where he formerly worshipped, as a faithful child of God, and he surely had proved his faith by his works when called from this world to a better land. Nick had served the church here at Junction as one of the elders for the past five years. He will be missed, but we know this his works will follow after him. He had a fine Christian family: his wife, Grace, was formerly Grace Fisher, and a sister to Congressman O. C. Fisher of San Angelo; two wonderful daughters, Mrs. T. P. Jacoby of Sonora, and Mrs. J. A. Hasse of Junction; all of whom are members of the body of Christ. Nick not only loved the saints of the Lord, but he loved the souls of all men. The above statement was made evident by the lovely flowers that banked the building, and the many kind words spoken by friends from far and near. Funeral services were held at the church of Christ. Officiating were Harrison Matthews of San Angelo, and Roland D. Fry of Junction. Nick's body was tenderly laid to rest in the Junction cemetery until the angel of the Lord shall put one foot upon the sea, and one upon the land, and declare that time shall be no more. Just why the death angel has called Nick from us in the prime of life, we cannot fully understand, but God in his infinite wisdom knows best, but if we could only look into that realm where the saints have gone to await the resurrection, perchance we could hear Nick singing a good old song he loved:

Twilight and evening bell, and after
That the dark: and may there be no
Sadness of farewell when I embark,
Thou from out our hour of time and Place, the flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my pilot face to face,
When I have crossed the bar.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Wise Unto Salvation

Paul said to Timothy, "But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them; and that from a child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim. 3:14, 15).

This being true, the Bible is the most important Book in the world. There is no other book that can make men wise unto salvation. There are other books that claim to do this, but their very contents contradict the truth of such a claim. The Koran of Mohammedanism is presented as a revelation from God, and claims to be able to make men wise unto salvation. But common sense shows it to be a human production. The Koran promises to its followers a heaven where the saved will practice vices condemned in the Bible.

The Koran promises a heaven where men can practice sin without restraint. This one thing stamps it as a human production. It is not a book that makes men wise unto salvation. The word of God reveals what men need to know in order to be saved.

The Bible teaches that all men are sinners, unless they have been saved by the blood of Christ in obedience to the gospel. The Bible reveals what sin is, and makes known the penalty. Then the Bible reveals Christ as man's only Savior. He was God manifested in the flesh. He was crucified on the cross, buried in the grave, rose the third day, and ascended to heaven. He was coronated "King of kings and Lord of lords." In his official position he is man's High Priest, Mediator and Advocate. The Bible reveals Christ as a complete Savior.

Wise Builders

Those who estimate the value of real estate say that a house is worth no more than the foundation it rests on. We have seen buildings with costly superstructures become almost valueless on account of defective foundations.

Jesus concludes his sermon on the mount by telling of two men who built houses. One built his house on the rock, and Jesus called him a wise man. Jesus called the other man foolish because he built his house on the sand. Both houses were tried by the forces of nature—the wind blew, rain descended, and flood's came. The house on the sand fell while the one on the rock stood. The man who built on the sand was foolish, because he anticipated no adverse contingencies. The other man showed wisdom by building a house that would stand in a storm.

Jesus says men build on the rock spiritually when they hear his sayings and do them. But men display foolishness when they hear his sayings and do them not. They build on the sand.

Some people think they are Christians because they read the Bible. But what does it profit one to read the Bible, if he does not do what it commands? It is foolishness to try to go to heaven short of obedience to the teachings of Jesus. We should be impressed with the word "do." Great multitudes are trying to find a way around this, but they are doomed to disappointment in the end. It is not hearing; it is not believing, but doing Christ's commandments that gives us recognition at the final judgment. "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only."

If Going To Heaven Is Worth Anything, It Is Worth Everything

S. H. Hall

(An address delivered to the Arcadia congregation after a month's vacation)

Introductory—The one supremely important thing today is to impress souls that we are not here to stay but to go, sooner or later, and, as a rule, it is sooner. Never have I been impressed more with this fact than on our recent trip to Tennessee and Georgia. There, at Russell Street in Nashville, where I labored hard for twenty-eight years and seven months, on the 17th of May, I was confronted with an audience that filled the house to capacity. But while I was confronted with a host of friends, but few who were there when I began my work there in 1922, could be seen. They had slipped away through death's door into another world. How I would love to give their names and say what can be truthfully said of their faithfulness to the Lord!

Then to Trion, Georgia, where, under a tent on the highway between Summerville and Trion, I was pleased to see friends from Chattanooga, Atlanta, Dalton, Rockmart, and even two souls from Nashville, Tennessee, with Menlo, Halls Valley, Pleasant Grove, Lyerly, Summerville and Trion, all well represented. As I looked out over that audience, but few, very few, souls, did I see who were there when Brother Jimmie Worsham first called me to help with the struggling few at Trion in 1909. Yes, those who were at Trion then are not there now, and the same is true of Dalton, Nenlo, Lyerly, Pleasant Grove, Halls Valley, and only a few of those who were the youngest when I went to Rockmart. The struggles and sacrifices made at each place to try to get the work going, I remember, and thank God that he led me to those places.

Then to Atlanta, through the kindness of Brother Gus Richmond, for a homecoming. And such a homecoming it was! My soul was stirred within me when I saw so many old friends who were just children when we went to Atlanta in 1907 and where we continued for about fourteen years—and I have never been able since leaving that work to get out of Georgia, and I presume it will continue to be so, so long as I am able to go. The only adult, when I went to Atlanta was at this meeting—Brother O. D. Bearden, who, with his faithful wife, who left us just recently, started the Atlanta work, and, through the influence of F. W. Smith, who baptized me, had Mrs. Hall, Phil and the writer to move there and help twenty-five struggling souls put that work on its feet.

There, in Atlanta, I made sacrifices that seems now to have been impossible. But God was with us. But now, from that small beginning, we have congregations at Cary Park, Druid Hills, East Point, North Avenue, Grant Park, Moreland Avenue, Glenwood Hills, North West, Chamblee or Brookhaven, Liberty Hill, Union City, Douglasville, Marietta, and West End where the work started; with colored churches at Simpson Street and College Park, with five radio programs going in June, 1952, when this report to me was sent in. Then the twenty-odd congregations established in other parts of the state that space forbids my naming. Yes, as I think of it all, with multiplied dozens of other places, to which the Lord has led me, I thank God and take courage to press on. But the point I am making is that all who were with me at the beginning of the work at the different places I have named, have slipped through death's door into a better state than in while here. And here I am, almost alone, still remaining. Do I feel lonesome? No, a thousand times NO. For God has led me to Arcadia where the greatest work of my life is being accomplished, and to Pepperdine College and the Japanese Church of Christ where the remainder of my days shall, in Christ's name, be spent. I am so very, very happy.

But I started with the thought that "If going to heaven is worth anything, it is worth everything." How much scripture would I give you today if I undertook to give it all to you that teaches, in thundering tones, this all important truth? Time will not permit this, but this much anyway:

1. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness," as commanded by Christ in Matthew 6:33, emphasizes its importance. It must be first in our hearts, when we rise up, when we sit down, and as we travel along the way. If this is not true, what did our God mean when he said to fathers and mothers, of old, "Hear, O Israel: the Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them as a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as front-lets between thine eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thine house, and on thy gates" (See Deut. 6:4-9).

If this scripture does not teach that going to heaven worth it all, what could God say to teach it? It should begin in the home, so soon as the child is old enough to be taught. Is this true of us? I ask again, Is this true of us? Do we attach this much importance to going to heaven?

2. Christ says he is that bread that came down from heaven, not the bread the fathers ate in the wilderness and died, but that he is that bread which, if we eat, we can live forever. This shows that the manna eaten in the wilderness was a type of Christ (Read it in John 6:58). But how did they appropriate that bread that gave physical life but was a type of Christ our Lord who gives eternal life? It declares that it had to be gathered the first thing in the morning, at the beginning of the day, else they got none; for when the sun waxed hot it melted (See Exodus 16:21). This teaches us that each day should be begun by reaching out and taking a little stronger hold on Christ, the bread that came down from heaven, and each day should be closed with thanksgiving for the blessing of the day and a prayer for a good night's rest. Tell me not that this is true.

3. Matthew 16:26 teaches the lesson, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?" Well, he will not give anything, not even his own life, when once he appreciates the importance of its being saved. But, sad, sad, O how sad it is, that many who claim to be church members will sell their souls for most any kind of the frivolities of life. Paul, thinking of this fact, was moved to so teach and exhort in tears. Here are his words: "For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are enemies of the Cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is their shame, who mind earthly things" (See Phil. 3:18, 19).

Really, do you believe the salvation of your soul is worth more than all the wealth of the world? If so, then why sell it, Esau-like, for a mess of pottage? Is not going to heaven worth it all? Should this come first and be held, in importance, above everything?

But since the above address was delivered, it occurs to me that a few added thoughts are in order.

The privilege of having a part in the commencement at David Lipscomb College and a picnic dinner for the senior class and their parents that afternoon, can never be forgotten. But in keeping with all that has been said, may I ask, Where were D. Lipscomb who, with James A. Harding, founded this school, and Harding himself, E. A. Elam, E. G. Sewell and J. C. McQuiddy for whom the different buildings are named. They were all there when I entered the Nashville Bible School, as it was first called. But they, with nearly all the others associated with them then, are gone. Yes, gone home for a very much deserved rest.

My last preaching, while in Nashville, was at Charlotte Avenue where I conducted nearly a month's meeting in 1906, just after graduating from that college—two weeks under a tent and two weeks in the old brick building in which they then worshipped. But what a change has taken place! All the then leaders are gone. Brother J. E. Acuff was a young preacher then, and he and his good wife entertained us that day, June 7, and Acuff is now an elder and the treasurer of that immense congregation. I presume that I addressed at least one thousand five hundred souls at 11 a.m., which address was tape recorded and broadcast that night on the air. Many more old friends, whom I did not get to see at Russell Street, were there, as well as a number from Russell Street. This congregation's budget this year runs around $50,000.00, and they are helping orphans homes, and struggling congregations, here and there, and having the gospel preached at home and across the seas.

Time and space forbid more at this time. But no visit that I have ever made has impressed more upon my heart that this life must end. And, again, when I think of all those dear souls with whom I have labored at all of these places, who are with us no more here, it makes me feel a bit lonely. But these dear people at Arcadia, Pepperdine College, and Ishiguro and Nagai at the Japanese Church of Christ will never let me feel too lonely, regardless of how much longer my stay here may be. May God bless them and enable me to be a help to them, is my fervent prayer.

"Whom Say Ye That I Am?"

W. S. Boyett

In Matt. 16:13-18 we have the record of Jesus asking the above question. He first asked: "Who do MEN say that I am?" Then he asked the disciples, "Who do YE say that I am?" They gave answer to the question according to both sources of information; that is, they told him who men said he was and then who they knew him to be. Surely the answers of men could not have been more inaccurate. The one given by the disciples, though entirely correct, is quite comprehensive. It is our purpose in this article to answer this question from still another source: That of the Lord himself. Who did Jesus say he was? There are at least eight places in the gospels where Jesus said: "I am -----" We shall study each of these.

Jesus said: "I am the living bread which came down out of heaven; if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever" (Jno. 6:51). He is not literal, but living bread. He tells us that the bread that he is to give is his flesh. He was to give his body for our sins and that gift was to be as bread to our hungry souls. This bread is not food for the body, but for the soul. It is the universal food for the sin-sick souls of all men. There is no other that can satisfy the soul-hunger of the human race. Many passages show that only through the word of God can the spiritual food of man be supplied. In the Lord's Supper we eat of the bread, which is to us the body that Jesus gave for our sins, and through this means we receive in living portrayal the flesh that he said we must eat in order to have life (Jno. 5:53). The word of God is the living bread only in the sense that through obedience to that word we receive the benefits of the sacrifice of the body of Christ upon the cross.

Again Jesus said: "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life" (Jno. 8:12). He is not "a" light, but "the" light of the world. Men have a need for light that can be supplied through no other means. The sun may supply light to walk by in the day, and we may profit from the light of the moon in the night, but only Jesus can supply the light necessary for us to walk by in the path that leads to everlasting glory. There are at least three things that should be closely noted in this passage. They are: First—One must be active or moving to profit from this light. "He that followeth me." No man can sit idly by and derive any benefit from this light. Nor can anyone follow any other path than that outlined for us by Jesus in his word, and receive any benefit from this light. He must not follow men, but Jesus, if he has the light of life. Second—There is safety in this course or way. "He shall not walk in darkness." Darkness throughout the New Testament represents evil or sin. Paul told the Ephesians: "Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness" (Eph. 5:11). The man who came to the feast without a wedding garment was commanded to be cast into "outer darkness, where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth" (Matt. 22:13). Thirdly—This is the life giving way. "They shall have the light of life." This light guides in the way that leads to life. The Lord said in Matt. 7:14: "For narrow is the gate, and straitened the way, that leadeth unto life, and few are they that find it." We must forsake the darkness and walk as children of light to be saved. "Ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord; walk as Children of light" (Eph. :8).

Jesus said: "Before Abraham was born, I AM" (Jno. 8:58). Thus Jesus affirmed that he is the eternal one, the pre-existent Son. He existed before his birth in Bethlehem. "In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God . . . And the word became flesh and dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, glory as of the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth" (Jno. 1:1-14).

He also said: "I am the door, by me if a man enter in he shall be saved" (Jno. 10:6). Only those who enter this door shall "go in and go out and find pasture." Those that climb up some other way are thieves and robbers (v. 1). Christ is the only way to the Father, and there is no other door because there is no other way. There is but one heaven and but one way to go there, so there is but one door through which to enter that way.

Directly in connection with this statement is the one made by the Master in Jno. 14:6: "I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh to the Father, but by me." Hence he is both the door and the way. He is the new and living way (Heb. 10:20). He is also the truth. He is the word (Jno. 1:1, 14), and the word is the truth (Jno. 17:17), therefore, he is the truth. He is the incarnate word. To know him is to know the truth, and to know the truth is to be made free by it (Jno. 8:32). To know him is to keep his commandments. None who do not keep his commandments know him. "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him" (1 Jno. 2:4). He is the life, because he is the only source of spiritual life. "Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour cometh, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live. For as the Father hath life in himself, even so gave he to the Son also to have life in himself: and he gave him authority to execute judgment, because he is a Son of man" (Jno. 5:25-27). He is not only the only source of life, but he is our life. "If ye were raised together with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is, seated on the right hand of God. Set your minds on the things that are above, not on the things that are upon the earth. For ye died, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is your life, shall be manifested, then shall ye also with him be manifested in glory" (Col. 3:1-4).

Again: "I am the good Shepherd; and I know mine own, and mine own know me" (Jno. 10:14). Here is one of the most comforting passages in all the Bible. "The Lord is my shepherd," said the shepherd boy of Israel, and then follows one of the most beautiful poems on the loving care and protection of God, that is to be found in any language. Jesus as our good shepherd assures us of proper pasture. How truly sweet and comforting is the thought of loving care supplied by the good Shepherd. "I am the good Shepherd, the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep" (Jno. 10:11). There is also the unmistakable identity: "I know mine own." Note the blessings that the good Shepherd promises: "I give unto them eternal life and they shall never perish." It should be closely noted to whom these promises are made, and on what conditions. "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me." It should be noted that Christians are to follow Christ unto death. "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give you a crown" (Rev. 2:10). Also he does not give us eternal life in this world, but in the world that is to come (Mark 10:29, 30). Certainly in the world to come "they shall never perish, nor shall any man pluck them out of the Father's hand."

"I am the vine, and ye are the branches" (Jno. 15:5). It is obvious that the disciples as individuals are the branches, for he says in verse 6: "If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch." Just as surely as the branch cannot bear fruit without the vine, neither can the disciple without the Lord. Not only so, but there must be a vital connection between the disciple and the Master, like that between the branch and the vine. Disconnect the branch from the vine and it is sure to die. The same is true of the Christian and the Lord. "He is our life" and without him we cannot live. The branch cannot bear fruit unless it abides in the vine, nor can the Christian bear fruit unless he abides in Christ. The non-fruit bearing branches cannot please the Father (v. 8), and they will be cut off and cast into the fire.

Finally: "I am the resurrection and the life, he that liveth and believeth in me, though he die, yet shall he live" (Jno. 11:25). When we compare the statements: "Christ who is our life," and "It is appointed unto men once to die," there seems to be a paradox, but in the light of the above passage all is clear. "He is the resurrection." What does death mean to those disciples who know the Lord, and who from him receive life and the resurrection from the dead? Our hope in Christ is not in this life only. "If we have only hoped in Christ in this life, we are of all men most pitiable" (1 Cor. 15:19). Christ's answer to the question at the heading of this article certainly presents him as the "fullness of him that filleth all in all." "For it was the good pleasure of the Father that in him should all fullness dwell" (Col. 1:19). "For in him dwelleth all the fullness of the god-head bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power" (Col. 2:9, 10). "And of his fullness have all we received" (Jno. 1:16). Our Lord's answer to the question presents two outstanding facts we should never forget: the utter hopelessness of those that are out of Christ and the completeness of those that are in Christ. Is this Christ, who filleth all in all yours? Remember, he promised: "If a man love me, he will keep my word: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him" (Jno. 14:23).

The Herald Of Truth, Management And What It Does

J. M. Patterson

An Elder of Highland Congregation, Abilene, Texas

(1)

James W. Nichols and James D. Willeford preached their first sermons at age fourteen and have been preaching ever since. Both are graduates of Abilene Christian College. They were co-speakers for a few years over a six station radio network in Iowa and Wisconsin. Prospects revealed by radio were followed up by conventional evangelism. Seven active congregations were established by this campaign. This was the birthplace of the Herald of Truth Radio Effort. The plan was submitted to the Highland elders in the autumn of 1951, with request that they supervise and direct the program. The elders flashed the "green light," thousands of letters were written to congregations and many area meetings were held, explaining the objectives, with solicitations for assistance. In three months $250,000.00 was assured.

Some ask, why did the Highland elders pick Nichols and Willeford instead of older preachers to do the speaking? The elders were on the wrong side of the table to pick. The whole idea was a "brain child" born out of the minds of Nichols and Willeford. The elders accepted the responsibility, including the authority to change preachers, in case they failed to measure up to the quality of preaching needed, also the right to have, or not to have, guest speakers and to make any other alterations, expedient to the success of the program. The Highland elders make all such decisions; some may be mistakes, some may not. The elders have warm response by Willeford and Nichols to all decisions.

More than a year has passed since the Herald of Truth went on the air over 105 stations. It is now on 250 stations, scattered well over the USA and parts of Canada. Thousands of letters, and many personal contacts in area meetings reveal unimpeachable evidence that the POSITIVE, SIMPLE and APPEALING APPROACH, woven into their radio sermons, is winning its way into the hearts of millions of the radio audience, representative of all classes and beliefs, known in our land. We believe the facts indicate that the present setup should not be altered very much, if any, so long as the gospel is being received by so many people in so many classes of our cosmopolitan society. Willeford and Nichols are young men in calendar years, but seasoned with maturity in radio evangelism.

Handling Contributions

From beginning, down to date, books have been kept, showing all contributions and expense items. These books are audited semi-annually by a certified public accountant and are subject to inspection by contributors at any time. As the money comes in, it is deposited in the bank in a special fund, earmarked, "The Herald of Truth." The Highland elders appointed Bro. P. S. Kendrick to write all checks on this special fund, with instructions not to write any checks without specific authorization of the elders. None of this fund is ever used for Highland's other obligations. All who handle this money are under a commercial bond, for your protection. The elders are using every means available to safeguard these contributions. This money is used ONLY for the radio work for which it was contributed.

Inspection of Broadcast Material

All material of each broadcast is carefully inspected by the elders, before transcription is made. The purpose is to safeguard against errors, of any kind, getting through and on the air, which might escape attention of the writer. Nichols and Willeford are willing for the elders to use a "fine toothed comb" on their sermon material, to help protect them and the radio audience against errors. We are all conscious of the fact that some errors and sour notes slip through our fingers and boom out over the air. When such happens, we solicit your patience, understanding and sympathy for after all, we are doing our very best to keep the program scriptural, dignified and simple. We solicit your prayers.

Office Work

Soon after the Herald of Truth was on the air, we became "snowed under" with mail, which grew heavier as time passed. We dug out by persuading Brother John F. Reese to dispose of his business and work full time for the Herald of Truth, on a regular eight hour basis, which does not interfere with his other duties as an elder at Highland. Brother Reese has achieved economical efficiency in handling the office work. Every worker is assigned a specific job to do, knows the job, and does it well. All who work in the radio effort are members of our Lord's church, and they are happy to serve. Brother Reese is familiar with all decisions formally made by the group of elders and is able to dispose of most matters each day within bounds of such decisions. All other matters that come up are discussed and decided upon by the group of elders; thus keeping all clerical matters under constant supervision of the elders as a body.

When a lad, I hunted squirrels, with my father, in the big timber of Tennessee. The dog would tree a squirrel, which would hide behind a limb as father and I approached the scene. Father would pick a good place to stand with his gun, and tell me to go around on the other side of the tree and SHAKE A BUSH, which would frighten the squirrel around on his side of the tree. Thus the squirrel came RIGHT OUT IN THE OPEN. One shot would bring home the meat, because father could see what he was shooting at. RADIO SHAKES THE BUSHES, so to speak, as millions of people listen to the radio singing and teaching. Many listen with increasing interest which, growing into a driving intensity, moves them RIGHT OUT IN THE OPEN. This is evidenced by their response to the usual radio announcements, by many attending services at local congregations and others writing local churches. Great numbers have written directly to the Herald of Truth. Letters involving Bible questions that we receive are forwarded to the closest congregations to the prospects to be handled in the way they may determine. MOST ALL OF THOSE THAT ARE OUT IN THE OPEN are bombarded with the mighty power of the Word of God, by pulpit preaching, personal work and the printed page, under the direction of congregations all over the USA. This bombardment is being done with deadly accuracy, because they can SEE WHAT THEY ARE SHOOTING AT. When the BUSHES ARE SHAKEN by the Herald of Truth, the supervision and direction of the Highland elders ceases to follow any further, except to follow up and try to complete the teaching necessary to convert the interested prospects, which COME OUT IN THE OPEN within the Highland's own limitations of congregational autonomy. It is the sole mission of the Herald of Truth TO SHAKE THE BUSHES, and leave the shooting up to the direction of local congregations, as they may desire. Hundreds of happy people, which we know about, and obviously many others, are now walking in a NEW LIFE, WITH CHRIST, because they tuned dials at the right time and the right frequency which opened the doors and let the Herald of Truth COME IN.

In closing, the Highland elders would like to state that it is their hope that no local radio program will lack support because of the Herald of Truth but that by joining hands and uniting efforts the greatest number of gospel sermons can be carried to the greatest possible listening audience.

The Classes At The Abilene Christian College Lectureships

J. D. Thomas

Our mail concerning the 1953 and 1954 Lectureships at Abilene Christian College has brought us many interesting items. Practically all of the new features that were added this year were well-received and there are many suggestions to continue them. As an illustration of the interest that the daily classes in teacher-training and other subjects evoked, we give herewith a letter from Sister Ed Anderson practically verbatim.

Midkiff, Texas
Box 525
March 21, 1953

Dear Brother Thomas,

This was my first year at Lectureship and I certainly was inspired by it.

In response to your request I am writing you (on the bulletin). I can't say enough for the teacher-training classes. The trouble was that there were so many good ones and I could only attend one each day, since they all were conducted at the same hour. First, let me say I go to church at Rankin, which is only about a year and one-half old, nearly two, and am very interested in teaching the Bible to little children in an interesting way that will stay with them. Now, back to the Lectureship. I wanted to attend all of them, but since I couldn't and was interested in teaching children, I went to Sister Oler's class the first day. She, as you already know, is grand. I like for her to give demonstration lessons as she does. The following day I attended Sister Southern's class. She, too, is grand. She told us about flannel background as did Sister Oler, that we could save money if we would buy the flannel and color our own backgrounds. So the next morning I came by the dry goods store and bought four yards of white flannel. That afternoon after class Sister Southern invited me to her home to color mine like the ones she has. In other words, I have six backgrounds for $1.56, which is far less than one at the store. What I thought about is, could it be possible to add a sort of workshop? Could the classes be arranged so we could attend more than one?

I went to Sister Pack's class the last day and found it to be just as inspiring, since I am also interested in "Personal Work in the Church for Women."

Of course, I realize that my suggestions might not be helpful ones to you, since I am not acquainted with the difficulties that they would involve.

Once again, I want to thank you and all those who were responsible for the grand Lectureship. I hope to be there next year.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. Ed Anderson

P. S. I came back to Rankin and demonstrated what I had learned to one of our Bible teachers. She was delighted and asked me to meet with her class and her class, too, was favorably impressed. I used what the teacher called "Flash Cards." I have now worked out two more lessons in her class. I am sure there would be no way to know how much good was done in those training classes.

Thinking Out Loud

Ross W. Dye

As I sat before the typewriter musing on various things with which I could fill this page in the weekly bulletin, I began to wonder whether any man ever sees himself as he really is, with all the imperfections of the flesh. I know the Bible is a mirror in which we can see our true nature, but do we objectively look into that mirror, or does bias prevent our seeing the real image that is reflected? Could we be like the Laodiceans who said, "I am rich, and increased with good, and have need of nothing"?

When we read Paul's catalogue of works of the flesh, do our eyes fall upon murder and such like, and impart to us a self-satisfied feeling because we are innocent, and fail to scrutinize our hearts to see whether there are any enmities, strife, jealousies, wraths, factions, divisions, parties, envyings, etc.? Malice, jealousy, and party spirit are listed along with fornication and murder. These sins manifest themselves in various ways. One common outcropping of these particular works of the flesh is whispering or backbiting. One of the blackest lists of sins in the Bible is found in the first chapter of Romans. Among these base things we find whisperers and backbiters. These are other words for gossips and talebearers.

One reason that the Bible doesn't get out of date and fail to supply our needs is because man is the same as he has always been. In Paul's day, some men had a rule-or-ruin disposition. John describes one such character in his third epistle. Diotrephes loved to have the pre-eminence in the church. He wanted to call the tune for the church. It would be surprising if there were no Diotrephes in the church today. There are always some few who turn sour and talk against the work of the church because, as the children, they say, "We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced; we have mourned unto you, and ye have not lamented."

Diotrephes wanted his way. He couldn't be out of step; it was the rest of the army! Hence John said he was "prating against us with malicious words." Diotrephes was simply a backbiter and a whisperer. He unleashed his malice, jealousy, and party spirit in the form of slanderous gossip. Perhaps he was the kind of fellow who couldn't say enough to condemn sin in others. Someone else was carnal because of immorality, but he didn't know that he was carnal because of his jealousy and "big I" attitude.

Let us take heed lest we strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. "For whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?" Someone said, "Of the unspoken word thou art master; the spoken word is master of thee." If you can't speak well of your brethren, and if you can't be a booster to the work, the least you can do is keep out of the way so that earnest workers can be busy without hindrances and unnecessary obstructions.

Studies In Galatians (No. 20)

R. C. Bell

Christians may trust God never to require, or to permit, anything that is inconsistent with the laws of their mind and nature, or that is inimical to their welfare. To them, God is too wise to make mistakes, and too good to betray their confidence and take advantage of their limitations and helplessness. In Christianity, this is the basic relationship between Creator and creature.

Frustration of Christians

It is very difficult for men really to get onto this Christian ground. Even when they intellectually perceive the correct relationship between the divine and the human in Christianity and want to dethrone self that Christ may reign in their lives, there may be no corresponding inner reality to the outed symbolism. Instead of the old man's being buried and a new man's being born in baptism, the old man may remain alive to dominate the desires, ambitions and activities of their lives. Those who go through this pattern of a regenerated life with little or no change in purpose and direction of life should not be surprised when they reap frustration, for "God is not mocked."

Christ taught much that pertains to this matter. He repeatedly warned his disciples against doing things to be seen of men and against the unreality and hypocrisy of the Pharisees. In substance he said: "The attempt of the Pharisees to make men think they are pious and good, when they are not, has eaten the very heart out of Hebrew religion. Beware of their leaven; this must not be repeated in my kingdom." Did Peter, James and John, as well as Judas, need this caution? He warned "his disciples first of all" (Luke 12: 1) of this supreme danger. Christ knew that not only his immediate disciples were disposed, but also that many in coming generations would be disposed to pervert his way of living into a code, which they would attempt to "stick on" the old man instead of becoming new creatures, who could live Christ's way naturally, because it would be in harmony with their new nature. He knew that the effort to do good without being good would be as unnatural and impossible as for thistles to produce figs; he knew that this unreality would dress wolves in sheep's clothing.

Some Christians are frustrated and joyless because their "fruits of the Spirit," like cut flowers, is rootless and artificial. As the foolish Galatians and Colossians (Col. 2:16-23) thought, they foolishly think that Christianity lacks power and effectiveness; that, if the best fruit is to be had, the gospel must be eked out by "rudiments of the world," legalism, and human merit. This perversion upsets the exquisite balance and perfect adaptation of the gospel to human need, cuts the tap root of the fruit of the Spirit, and otherwise obstructs the divine "power that works in us" (Eph. 3:20).

God's Sovereign Cure-all

Sin has not distorted the nature of plants and animals

as it has the nature of man. They still live naturally according to their original nature. But when Adam rebelled against God, something deep within his inmost being snapped with catastrophic ruin to his whole personality. He was so disorganized that he could never restore himself, because he had lost the power both to do right and to refrain from doing wrong. No matter how heroically men strive in this depraved state to live rightly, they, as Romans 7 attests, always miserably fail. Since other creatures of earth, from animals, birds and insects through flowers, have never so "fallen," such striving is unknown to them. Man's being exceptional among earthly creatures in this respect is good evidence of his having been created in the image of God, of his tragic fall, and of his fitness for restoration.

To correct all the ravages that sin has wrought in human nature is the prodigious task that God has set himself in Christianity. And inasmuch as nothing can reach maturity except through the fulfillment of its nature, God proposes to restore man's original nature so that he may live, naturally, as he was made to live, without moral drudgery. Now, this is a religion worth having, and worthy of God! However, Christians on earth are yet in training, and, by reason of their imperfect surrender to God, much frustration and failure occur. "But now we see not yet all things subjected to him (Jesus). But we behold . . . Jesus . . . saying . . . Behold, I and the children whom God hath given me" (Heb. 2:8-13). God and Christ are perfecting a host of "children," healed of all wounds, to be "a new harmony yet." "Not yet" do we see it; we are yet to see it.

Sowing seed in soil does not make a harvest. In both nature and religion, sowing seed is prerequisite, but inadequate. The seeded soil must lie exposed to the sun for a season that God with superhuman work may produce his harvest. Likewise, Christians must lie exposed to God's superhuman redemptive workings as he advances his stupendous task of restoring man's original personality.

And as men, knowing that the work of seed, soil and sun cannot be divorced, never vex themselves about the part each plays in making a crop, so they need not argue about the respective work of the inseparable word and Spirit in their souls. Nevertheless, God the Spirit's ministry was not completed with his giving the written word. He takes up his abode in those who receive his word to help their infirmities, and in wordless groanings to pray for them (See Rom. 8:26). Of course, all that he does is in conjunction and agreement with his written word.

Christians, can we but realize how deep our hurt, how on a human level incurable our wound, how when given the best human treatment it but festers and grows worse, surely we can humbly and truly trust God's treatment. Can we but realize the difficulty and the immensity of the task of recreating wrecked humanity, that, "It is by no (mere) breath, turn of eye, wave of hand, that salvation joins issue with death"; realize that not only man's destiny, but also God's name, honor and glory are involved, surely we can see the extreme folly and peril of rending the seamless robe of Christianity and discarding part of it as being unnecessary. If in our redemption, God, assuming a work that, if any work can tax, taxes his resources, graciously proposes to dwell in us as his temple and to strengthen us at the place of our greatest weakness and need "with power through his Spirit, in the inward man," who are we to say that such help is contrary to the laws of the human mind! May not such an attitude be responsible for some of our frustration with its mere fluttering instead of flying? "Grieve not the Holy Spirit of God."

We close our, "Studies in Galatians" with Paul's benediction: "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brethren. Amen."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY? (No. 42)

M. Norvel Young

Continuing our study of Acts we find Paul leaving Troas on his way to Jerusalem. He called for the elders or overseers at Ephesus to give them a final charge. "Ye yourselves know, from the first day that I set foot in Asia, after what manner I was with you all the time, serving the Lord with all lowliness of mind, and with tears, and with trials which befell me by the plots of the Jews . . ." Paul had the misfortune to be persecuted more by his own brethren than by the pagans. Then he goes on to say, "I shrank not from declaring unto you anything that was profitable, and teach you publicly, and from house to house . . . I shrank not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God" (Acts 20:27).

Today many preachers and teachers of the Bible teach only a part of it, and refuse to plainly teach those passages which are unpopular. Paul was not that kind of preacher. By his example he shows that God expects his followers to study and teach all of God's word. To stress a few passages of scripture to the neglect of great areas of equally important teaching is to distort God's word. Let us not be ashamed to declare to our friends and neighbors the "whole counsel of God." This includes not only teaching sinners to believe, but also to repent and be baptized. But it doesn't stop there. It includes teaching newborn babes in Christ how to live godly lives, how to grow in the Christian virtues, how to worship God acceptably, how to conduct themselves as Christians in the home, in business, and in the community.

This includes the condemnation of all forms of worldliness, ungodliness and sin. It also includes the encouragement of all righteousness, love, spirituality. Every scripture has its part to play: "Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work" (2 Tim. 3:16).

Wherever preachers fail to declare the whole counsel of God they are failing in their sacred task. Wherever disciples of Christ fail to study and apply the whole counsel of God they are falling short of their duty. As you read through the Bible, mark those passages which apply to you and which you have not paid any attention to before. Mark those upon which you never heard a lesson or sermon. It will surprise you how complete the word of God is. It will challenge you to study "to show yourself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim. 2:15). Remember, the word of God is the seed of the kingdom. Wherever it goes men may read or hear it, accept its message and be saved by following its Christ. Start a Bible class in your home.

"They Are Not Too Small Nor Too Many"

James W. Nichols

In the last few months, it has been my privilege to visit and speak on the campuses of three of the junior colleges supported by our brethren. These visits disproved a favorite adage among some of our brethren: "We have too many small schools and they are too small."

I have been impressed with the work at Central Christian College at Bartlesville, Oklahoma; Freed-Hardeman College at Henderson, Tennessee, and just recently the Florida Christian College at Tampa, Florida. I do not believe that we have too many or that they are too small. They fill a very definite and proper place in the education of many Christian young people. These schools are worthy of our support and prayers.

I had the opportunity in February to spend some time on the campus at Florida Christian College during their annual lectureship. There were several things peculiar to this school that impressed me and, I am sure, would impress every Christian who would have such an opportunity.

First is the design in the planning to make the school as much self-supporting as possible through their hydroponics plant. "The growth of vegetables without the use of soil" is beginning to prove a very valuable asset. It is unbelievable that forty tons of tomatoes could be produced in one year off of one acre of space. While some tomatoes were bringing only 10 cents retail, these fine super-tomatoes were bringing 30 cents per pound wholesale. Within a few years, with proper expansion, the hydroponics department at Florida Christian College should be able to furnish a goody portion of the deficit that such a school would normally have to meet each year.

They are also developing a manual training department for the manufacture of furniture. Plans are in the making for the development of a small herd of cattle. These three projects are designed first of all to supplement the income of the school, and secondly, provide means of employment for those students who must work their way through school; and thirdly, to train the young men and women in such secular fields.

I believe that the men who have the administration of Florida Christian College, like our other schools are very capable and consecrated men. The department of Bible with Brethren Homer Hailey, Jim Cope, Clinton Hamilton, G. K. Wallace and others, will provide a well-rounded study in the Bible.

But let it be understood that a school as young as Florida Christian College has many needs. These needs can and should easily be met by brethren who are interested in education in a Christian environment. Schools such as Florida Christian College open up the doors of opportunity to many young people who otherwise would not attend a much larger school at a greater distance from home. With their work recognized as it is by other schools, the only conclusion that I can make is that they are not too small, nor are they too many.

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

AN INDICTMENT ON OPINIONISM

In the Millennial Harbinger of 1837 Alexander Campbell published the following article on "Opinionism." Though written more than 100 years ago it is entirely fitting just now. The churches of Christ have been disturbed during the last decade much on this line.

There is a growing taste for opinionism in the ranks of the Reformation. This must be squashed, or there will be an end to all moral and religious improvement. It has ever been the harbinger of schism and the forerunner of all discord, vain jangling, and bad feeling among all classes of religionists; it has, indeed, ever been the plague of Christendom. I have, therefore, resolved to be clearly and fully understood on this subject, and shall be at pains to define this new name of an ancient pest with all perspicuity and precision.

First, let me ask: What is an opinion? "Persuasion without proof," says some of our lexicographers. It is a speculation built on probable evidence. It is neither knowledge nor faith; but, in the absence of these, it is an inference, a conclusion to which the mind inclines or assents, according to its information and modes of reasoning. As vision puts an end to faith, and fruition puts an end to hope, so knowledge and belief put an end to opinion. Knowledge is our own experience; faith, our assurance of the experience of others; and opinion, our persuasion of the probability of a matter which we neither know nor believe. In one sentence, then, knowledge is the certainty of our own experience; faith, the certainty of the experience of other persons; opinion, the probability of our own reasonings. I know that honey is sweet, I believe that William IV is dead, and I am of the opinion that North American Indians are of Abraham's extraction.

An opinionist is one fond of opinions, but especially of his own. Opinionism, then, it may be presumed, is fondness for opinions. But that I may meet the exigency of the crisis and give a proper latitude to this term, I hereby define "opinionism" to be "the liberty of propagating one's own opinion."

Some of our correspondents suppose "opinionism", as thus defined, to be an element, an essential part of Christian liberty; and if any restrictions should be imposed upon their benevolent efforts to propagate whatever comes into their heads, they instantly complain of an infringement of their rights. It is not long since we have been blamed by some for not opening our pages to the propagation of certain opinions, and have thereby incurred the censure of not paying a proper regard to the rights of others.

But we do not admit the right; for if this be a Christian right, it is an equal and an inalienable right. Now, if the liberty of propagating one's own opinions be the right of a Christian, then every man, woman, and child in Christ's church has a right to propagate his or her opinions and to complain if that right be not respected by all the Christian community; and as there is no restriction as to the number or magnitude of subjects on which opinions may be formed, there can be no limitation of the number of opinions that may be offered for adoption or propagation; and thus the whole earthly pilgrimage of the church may be occupied in the discussion of such opinions.

Again, if such be the right of all, it is the duty of all to listen and judge; for all Christian rights oblige to corresponding duties. If only one person in a church has a right to propagate his opinions, it is the duty of all the rest to listen to him; for that the very nature of the right implies. But if all have the right in question, then all are obliged, in turn, to propagate their own opinions on any one or all of the ten thousand topics on which a person may form an opinion; for be it observed that the dominions of opinion are larger than the dominions of knowledge and faith united.

We are, therefore, rationally and religiously compelled to deny any such right. It is not the right of any one citizen of Christ's kingdom to propagate any opinion whatever, either in the public assembly or in private; consequently it is not the duty of all nor of any one to listen to an opinionist in his efforts to dogmatize or establish his opinions. This is an important point, and we state it confidently and boldly.

Opinions in religion can have no authority. Precepts, promises, and threatenings, sanctioned by Omnipotence, are the weapons of the Holy Spirit. Man may form opinions and walk by them on all subjects of mere temporal concern, in the absence of divine revelation; but to walk by opinions rather than by faith, or in opposition to faith, is effectually to make the Book of God of no authority. Moreover, in the decisions of that volume, he who propagates an opinion and seeks to attach persons to it, or to himself on account of it, is a factionist in embryo, in infancy, or in manhood.

Unless this matter is better understood, it will fare with us as with Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists, and other religious communities; we shall be broken to pieces as well as they. It is owing to the patience of contradiction and the great good sense of some of our more intelligent brethren that schisms have not already appeared among us under the assumption that every Christian has a right to propagate his opinions. While it is conceded that on some matters we have all liberty to form opinions, and, if asked for them, to express them, we must regard this as very different from the right to propagate our speculations, instead of practicing the precepts of the gospel.

There are two things hard to be uttered. The first is, "I have erred;" the second, "I am ignorant." A haughty spirit, rather than say the former, will frame many an excuse for himself; and rather than acknowledge the latter, he will advance many a speculation. Yet it is both piety and wisdom to acknowledge an error when guilty; and, in the absence of revelation clear and explicit, it is our privilege to be ignorant and to acknowledge it.

Training For Students Attending A and M College College Station Church Furnishes Christian

C. H. Bernard

In a recent issue of Firm Foundation I read an article concerning the enlarged building of the church of Christ in College Station, Texas. Since I worshipped with that congregation for ten years (1941-51) this article struck some very sentimental chords in my heart. College Station is the home of Texas A&M College and, as stated in the article, the church there was founded primarily in the interests of the students and this is still the chief mission of the group which worships at that place.

From 1921 to 1935 Brother A. D. Martin met with the students in the YMCA on the college campus. In 1935, Sister E. F. Woodward of Houston became interested in the work there and built a beautiful chapel and minister's home and supported the work until her death in 1943. Brother R. B. Sweet served as minister in a very fine way from 1935 to 1946, and Brother James F. Fowler has been serving in that capacity in an admirable way since 1946.

In 1941, when I moved to College Station, the congregation still consisted mostly of college students, there being less than a half-dozen resident families. At present, about two-thirds of the membership is made up of college students and one-third of resident members, the latter being about 75 consisting of 28 families. About 300 students enroll in A&M College each year who are either members of the church, or they express church of Christ preference. The $53,000 building expense taken on by the College Station congregation was necessitated by the need for a larger building and a major repair job on the foundation and cracked walls of the present building. The regular program of the church has required an annual budget of more than $10,000 for the past five or six years which has been carried wholly by the local members.

The church of Christ at College Station is doing a great service in the training of students from all parts of the state. This training has several aspects. The church there maintains a Bible Chair in the college which offers several Bible courses which give college credit. Many students who are not members of the church enroll in these courses. These courses are taught by Brother Fowler and the entire expenses of the Bible Chair are paid by the College Station church. The academic qualifications of the instructor must meet the requirements of the college for its faculty but the college pays none of the expenses.

Another aspect of the training available to the students is furnished by the church in its regular program. Every student who attends the church is given an opportunity to have an active part in its program of work and worship. Many students who had never before been active in church work have gone out from this congregation full of the spirit of Christ and prepared to take an active part in the church to which they moved after graduation. During one school year recently, the College Station church was furnishing five surrounding congregations with full-time student preachers which it was training. Many others go out on irregular appointments to preach, lead singing and teach classes. Some of these young men are now preaching regularly in the communities to which they moved after graduation from A&M College. Many others are used in the College Station church for leading singing, prayer, scripture reading, making talks, teaching classes, making announcements, serving at communion table, ushering, greeting visitors and personal work in the college dormitories. A recent bulletin which I received through the mail from that church indicated that 45 students participated in the worship program during a four-day meeting in which Brother Carl Spain from Houston was the preacher. The minister and the elders are doing a great work in the training of these young men.

Families and churches from all sections of the state are indebted to this church for the Christian training given their sons while attending Texas A&M College. Many individuals (some from the battlefields of Korea) and several churches have come to the aid of this church to help take care of its expansion program. I wonder if there are still others who would like to invest in the Christian training of their sons who are now attending Texas A&M College and those who are to attend next year and the years after that. If so, address your correspondence to the church of Christ, care of James F. Fowler, P. O. Box 98, College Station, Texas.

I have written these things from my heart because I know the problems this small congregation faces in trying to finance a $53,000 project with so little time to accumulate a large cash fund in addition to operating expenses and commitments already made for Bible school space.

3031 Ryan Avenue, Fort Worth 10, Texas.

A PARABLE

It is said that seven men met to discuss the night. Darkness had settled down, and these seven men were asked in turn what they thought about the night. One arose and said, "What a lovely night! The night has great purpose, it has a great place in human existence." The second arose and said, "We only have to think that the sun is shining; our thoughts can turn the darkness into day." The third arose and proposed a scheme to destroy the night. He said, "There is a way by which we in our own power can destroy the darkness that has come upon us." The fourth arose and said, "Let us pray, 'O Lord, come and destroy the night, and do it now!'" And he said, "Let us organize prayer meetings, and pray God to intercede on our behalf." And a fifth arose and said, "There is no God, and there is nothing to pray to." The sixth arose and said, "We are victims of despair; there is nothing to do. We are victims of the darkness, and there is nothing to be done." The seventh arose and said, "Let us light a candle. We admit that the darkness is upon us. And we admit that our situation is desperate, but we can at least light a candle."

It need not be pointed out that this is all very true to life. In the midst of a dark world, Jesus Christ has lighted a candle, and he himself is the light of the world. And Christians are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Let your light shine before men. Yes, we can light a candle against the world's darkness.

Bryan Vinson, 511 Pearl Street, Denton, Texas: The Pearl Street congregation recently engaged in a series of services, June 14-21 with Brother Pat Hardeman doing the preaching. While there were no additions during this time, a very fine young man was baptized last Sunday evening. The sermons delivered by Brother Hardeman were exceptionally fine. It was enriching and edifying to hear one who possesses such unusual ability, extensive knowledge of the Bible and related matter, and displays such admirable courage in the presentation of the truth as Brother Hardeman. I am confident there can be found no one of his age who is capable of contributing greater service to the cause of Christ both presently and in the years to come than he may. I am to be with the Lake Dallas congregation July 6-14.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

A. E. Wickham, I spoke to two large audiences in Coshocton at the East Main Street church of Christ in this city yesterday. The church is growing.

A. R. Holton, 145—5th Ave. N., Nashville, Tennessee, June 26: Thorp Spring, Texas, has been the home of students since 1873. The hills still ring with the voices of young people. Reunion of former students set for Sunday, July 26, Encampment July 20-31.

Earl K. Anthony, 4501 Richmond Avenue, Austin, Texas, June 30: Our meeting in Leander with Brother Elmer H. Irby closed with eight baptisms and two restorations. The church here in the last two years has grown from 35 to 63 in a town of less than 500 population. May the Lord continue to bless us with growth.

John H. Gerrard, 529 Clark Street, Aurora, Illinois, June 24: Just closed a meeting at Joliet, Illinois. The first time that any of the brethren here know that the gospel of Christ was ever preached in this city of about 60,000. One man from the Baptist denomination was baptized. Several members of the church were located and many more we believe are there. Services will be conducted there every Sunday afternoon until more permanent arrangements can be made. The work here in Aurora continues well.

E. W. Stovall, Edmonton Road, Glasgow, Kentucky, July 1: Just after broadcast yesterday a Baptist came to the office and asked for New Testament baptism. He had learned the truth from the broadcasts. In the presence of two of our deacons he was baptized into Christ. Our broadcast has the Baptists bothered. Any congregation desiring the service of a very capable gospel preacher, experienced also in radio work, would do well to get in touch with me. Call or write me and I will give you his address. He will be available in the near future. My phone number is 3228.

Jack Nadeau, 3243 Homer, Dallas, Texas: I have just closed a meeting at the 12th and Chestnut Streets church in Abilene, Texas, last Sunday evening. Brother E. R. Watson preaches for this congregation. It was an inspiration to me to be among these brethren. We are in the states for a few months and expect to return to Germany some time in the fall. I am engaged full time speaking about the Lord's work in Germany. The elders at Skillman Avenue, Dallas, are directing our work. If you would like to hear a firsthand report of the work over there, write me at the above address.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman, Dallas, Texas, July 6: During June, there were seven responses here at Skillman Avenue. Three were baptized, one restored, and three were identified of whom two were restored. Two were restored and three identified at yesterday's services. June 21-30 I assisted in a meeting at National and High in Springfield, Missouri, with no baptisms and one restored. William F. Walker has for several years been the local evangelist there and that is a working church. While there, Bob Beeman and James W. Nichols preached here in my absence. I am to be in a meeting at Lewisville, Texas, July 20-29 and at Olney, Texas, August 3-12.

We are looking for a new regular preacher at Liberty Hill, Texas. Anyone interested, write Walter W. McGehee, Box 406, Liberty Hill, Texas, for appointment.

A. R. Holton, 145—5th Ave. N., Nashville, Tennessee, June 27: Blue Ridge, North Carolina, is in the heart of the greatest open door for the churches of Christ. See it. Attend Blue Ridge Camp Meeting, July 18-24.

R. E. Davis, Sr., St. Petersburg, Florida, June 27: I am now working with the Ninth Avenue Church of Christ, St. Petersburg, Florida. The work is moving along well, showing an increase in attendance and contributions. I succeeded Brother Bill Humble, who went to Missouri. My address is now 1010 North 8th Street, St. Petersburg, Florida.

Henry B. Nunn, Box 501, Floresville, Texas: June 1 marked the beginning of my fourth year with the good people of Floresville. During our stay here the church has made steady progress in all phases of the work. Brother A. H. Maner of the Grove Avenue church in San Antonio concluded a week's meeting on June 21 in which there were six baptisms and two restorations. Brother Maner's sermons were edifying, instructive, and inspirational. The church was made stronger in the faith for having had Brother Maner with us.

Logan Buchanan, 2760 Emmett Street, Dallas, Texas, June 28: I am to meet L. H. Brown (Baptist) in debate at Ardmore, Oklahoma, for four nights in July. This debate grew out of a recent meeting with the Northeast church, where two were baptized. The debate will be held in the open air, and we anticipate a good debate. Two propositions will be discussed, one on Monday and Tuesday nights, and one on Thursday and Friday nights. Proposition 1: The Scriptures teach that man is saved by grace through faith, at the point of faith, and without any further acts of obedience. L. H. Brown affirms. Proposition 2: The Scriptures teach that the child of God, one born again, can so far apostatize or fall away as to be finally and eternally lost in hell. Logan Buchanan affirms.

Cecil E. Hill, 1111 West Mulberry, San Antonio 1, Texas, July 3: Last Sunday night the Mason, Texas, congregation closed a very fine gospel meeting. I did the preaching and Alan Hill, my son, led the singing. This was my second meeting with that congregation and Alan and I both were invited back for another meeting next year. Four were baptized and two placed membership. Two of those baptized were men past seventy years of age. Some of the very best Christians I have ever known live at Mason and the congregation is very active. Just recently Brother W. B. Cox began work there as the evangelist. Brother Cox is capable and studious and has a very splendid attitude toward gospel work. His wife is a great help to his ministry. I will go to Dublin for a meeting July 19-30. Lawrence Smith of Abilene is the preacher there and it will be a real pleasure to work with him and the Dublin congregation. Alan has the month of August open for meeting work and will be glad to serve wherever needed. The elders at Mason can speak for his work.

Archie Smith, 1437 N. Avenue 48, Los Angeles, California, June 30: Five baptisms and two by membership at York Boulevard church this month.

Roy Burgess, Maysville, Alabama, July 2: We are reaching for 200 in Bible study. After September 7, I will move. Place is not selected as yet, neither has my successor been named.

Dwight Mowrer, Box 642, Canadian, Texas, July 2: After working for a year as minister for the church in Canadian, Texas, I have accepted a teaching position in the Georgia Christian Institute at Valdosta, Georgia, beginning September 1.

Stanley E. Neeley, Bulo Church of Christ, Mayfield, Oklahoma, June 29: The work is moving along nicely with attendance holding up good. We had two fine people to be baptized into Christ recently—a man and his wife. We are expecting more at any service. I have time for a meeting the first two weeks in August. If I can assist anyone, write me at the above address.

Sister U. G. Wilkinson, Box 192, Comanche, Oklahoma, July 6: Brother G. W. Allison and his family have moved to Velma, Oklahoma. He did a fine work here. We will miss him. For the next two months, he will be in meetings in Arkansas, his home state, and the month of August he will be in Michigan, the home state of Sister Allison, his wife. I am still under a doctor's care. Remember me when you pray.

O. C. Lambert, 1309—9th Avenue, S. E., Decatur, Alabama, July 6: I am beginning a meeting in Long Beach, California, which continues through July 26. I have no engagement from July 26 to August 9. If any church in California wishes either a meeting or a series of lectures on Catholicism, they should contact me in care of J. H. Ritchie, 4350 Pepperwood Avenue, Long Beach, California, before July 26. Beginning August 10 I will lecture on Catholicism in the church building at Santa Rosa, California, and continue two weeks.

P. D. Wilmeth, 803 Hamvasy Lane, Tyler, Texas, July 3: I closed a good meeting at Lampasas where Brother Ben West is the congenial preacher. Seven were baptized and two restored. Leo Baker from Abilene did a fine job directing the singing. Our own Vacation Bible School closed with record crowds—more than facilities could accommodate. Due to a last minute meeting cancellation, I have time for one meeting in the fall. My next meeting is at Whitney, Texas. We begin our third year in the work here at Tyler with good prospects for a continued growth. When in our city, worship with us.

A. W. Chism, 415 Highland Park, Lebanon, Tennessee, June 29: Yesterday marked the close of one year with the Highland church. Since moving here we have been blessed in more ways than could be mentioned in this space. No one could hope for more splendid cooperation than we have enjoyed in every way. In the past year we have realized an increase of one hundred nine, forty-six were baptized, fourteen restored, and forty-nine identified with this congregation. We now look forward to another fruitful year in this field, with thankful hearts for his many blessings, carefully praising God and not man for whatever may be accomplished by our united efforts in his name.

Chas. E. Parker, 711 Blackworth, Miami, Oklahoma, June 30: During June, one was baptized, one was restored, and one placed membership with us. We have just completed air conditioning our building using Carrier equipment.

S. Marvin Phillips, R.F.D. 2, Box 343-A, Sinking Spring, Pennsylvania, June 28: After more than two years of pleasant work with the Shillington church, we are to begin with the church meeting at 960 West 31st Street in Indianapolis next Lord's day. Our new address will be 3230 N. Tacoma Avenue, Indianapolis 18, Indiana.

W. T. Stephens, 1704 Gurley Avenue, Waco, Texas, July 2: For about ten years I have been working for a wholesale house in Waco and preaching on Sunday for congregations near Waco. I now wish to devote all my time to the church work. I would like to hear from any congregation in need of an evangelist. I am forty-five years old, have a wife, and one married daughter. Any one interested may contact me at above address or phone 2-7125 at Waco, Texas.

W. S. Wiley, 503 E. Huisache, Kingsville, Texas, July 1: On a recent trip into Michigan and Canada I had the pleasure of preaching at South Dearborn congregation, in Detroit, where my brother, Floyd Wiley, is preaching; and at nearby Trenton. It was good to learn of the rapidity with which new congregations are being planted in that area. There are some fifty or more in Metropolitan Detroit at this time, according to information given me. Our work here is going well. L. R. Wilson will be with us for an October meeting.

S. Thaddeus Bookout, Elder, Peak and East Side, Dallas, Texas, June 22: Frank J. Dunn has begun his fifth year as local preacher here. During the past four years there have been 900 responses, including 224 baptisms. Bible school attendance has increased from 259 to 350 per Sunday, and contributions from $400 to $1,000 weekly average. We fully support two other evangelists, Kenneth Boyd, local co-worker, and Martelle Petty in Pretoria, S. Africa. During the past six months we have spent about $15,000 in mission work, including $10,000 toward the erection of a building in Pretoria. To God be the glory.

J. Emmett Wainwright, 547 East Walnut Avenue, El Segundo, California, July 3: The month of June was well spent in Santa Paula, the lemon capital of the world. Two mature ladies were baptized, some restored, and many members enjoy a peace of heart plus a hopeful outlook for the future. A capable man is being secured to serve as preacher. I evangelized in that section some fifteen years ago; and it was a pleasure to renew acquaintances from Fillmore, Ojai, Ventura, Oxnard and Santa Barbara. I am back home to continue work with the new congregation meeting at 406 E. Grand Avenue. Brother Rabe baptized two during my absence; and Brother Robert Matheny spoke the past Lord's day evening. Brother Roy Reid assisted in the speaking during my absence. I was called from Santa Paula to El Monte to speak at the funeral of Brother M. P. Mortensen, Brother John Allen Hudson assisting and concluding services. I have known this fine brother for more than twenty years; he came from Denmark many years ago and reared a wonderful family, with capable assistance of a devoted companion.

Fred M. Engle, 210 W. Walnut, Roswell, New Mexico, June 23: The meeting in Quemado, New Mexico, closed on the 21st. One was baptized. Interest and attendance continued good to the end. A preacher, partly supported by another congregation, is very much needed for this neglected field.

Bill McCown, 176 Ohio Street, New Braunfels, Texas, July 6: I am in what promises to be a good meeting with C. L. Maxwell and the church at Gonzales, Texas. I began yesterday to continue through July 19. Services, 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. 24 for first day service this morning.

W. Haliday Trice, 67 Waller Street, San Francisco, June 29: Two persons were baptized at our Wednesday evening meeting last week. The work at the Golden Gate congregation, 8th Avenue & Cabrillo Street, moves along nicely. Please send me the names of those who should be contacted in our city.

Clarence A. Price, Bryson, Texas: Our meeting closed here June 28 with eight baptisms and one confession of neglect. Of the number baptized two were Baptists and one was a Methodist. Brother O. B. Proctor of Abilene, did the preaching in a very excellent way. We learned to love him much for his great humility. The writer did the song leading.

Clarence C. Gobel, 1157 E. Mabel, Tucson, Arizona, July 2: Six have been added recently in our work here with four identified and two baptized. We are beginning our second year with the congregation here at E. Mabel and Santa Rita. During the past year about 29 have been added, with most of them by membership, and about six baptisms. We look forward with hope for further growth and development in the Lord's work here.

L. H. Newell, 1649 Shadowlawn, Memphis, Tennessee, July 3: Jack Hardcastle of Lubbock, Texas, preached in a meeting here June 21-30. There were five baptisms and one restoration. I will be in a meeting with the Green Forest church, Poplar Bluff, Missouri July 6-15. On July 27 I will begin a meeting in Winona, Mississippi. The church here will send me there for this meeting. We invite readers in that section to come and be with us.

Everett Day, Sr., Houston, Mississippi, July 2: June was another record breaking month for the church here. We had the largest attendance, the largest weekly collection, and the largest number of visitors for this year and for the church. Brother Lindsay Allen of Corinth, Mississippi, closed a meeting with us. Two were baptized. One had been a Baptist and the other had been a Methodist. Brother H. L. Meeks of Tupelo baptized a lady near Vardeman last Sunday afternoon. Brother Allen did us much good in his meeting, and we thank God and the Foote Street church for sending him to help us in the work here.

Cecil N. Wright, Box 4046, South Denver Station, Denver 10, Colorado, June 29: Last evening marked the close of a gospel meeting in Salt Lake City, in which I did the preaching and Brother David Dunn directed the singing—with no additions. Brother M. A. Wright (no blood relation of the writer) is the well loved local evangelist, and is doing a creditable work in a hard field. Brother Carl Spain of Houston, Texas, is to be with us at the Sherman Street Church of Christ, 125 South Sherman, in a gospel meeting July 12-19.

Chas. E. Parker, 711 Blackworth, Miami, Oklahoma, July 1: Brother Wilson Wallace closed a good meeting here tonight. One was baptized and one restored in spite of the fact that several things hindered. The preaching was fine and the church was strengthened. We expect to reap for many days as the result of this effort.

Clem Wesley Hoover, 317 S. Blanco St., Lockhart, Texas, July 6: The meeting just closed here with Brother Robert Creig of Bay City, Texas, doing the preaching. Results were four confessions and baptisms. Yesterday one placed membership. Brother Creig brought us some good lessons. I led the singing for the meeting.

Paul Southern, 1642 College Drive, Abilene, Texas, July 4: Three were baptized and two restored during the Southside meeting in Mineral Wells. Great interest and good attendance prevailed throughout the meeting in Freeport, which resulted in one baptism. I am now assisting in a meeting at Holliday. I go to Stephenville next.

John W. Hedge, Jacksonville, Texas, 636 Kickapoo Street, July 1: I closed a very fine meeting at Mountain Grove, Missouri, last Sunday evening. Eleven were baptized and much good done otherwise. Brother W. J. Standley is the preacher there and was an excellent co-worker in the meeting. I begin with the church at Sterling, Oklahoma, July 3.

W. W. Pace, 5841 Allston Street, Los Angeles 22, California, June 22: It has been a long time since I have written a report of my work but I have been busy in the Lord's work. I have just completed two years work with the Newland Street Church of Christ in Westminster, California. This is a new congregation about three years old and a very fine group of brethren to work with. We dedicated a new building to be used in the Lord's work in January of this year. I have just returned from a trip to Floydada, Texas, where my mother lives. I was glad to see the new building the brethren have erected there.

M. A. Mansur, 1405 Richardson, Columbia, Missouri, July 4: We rejoice that another young lady was baptized into Christ last Sunday morning. We are continuing to have fine interest and attendance at the services, for which we give thanks unto the Lord. When in this area, we cordially invite you to come and worship with the Lord and the saints at the Paris Road Church of Christ. Come to Columbia, Missouri, if you are interested in locating in a good University and College town. With thanksgiving, we solicit the prayers of the faithful, that the church everywhere, may grow spiritually and numerically.

J. D. Pinkerton, 7306 Marcell Street, Austin, Texas, July 1: Last week it was my pleasure to do the preaching in a meeting with the church that meets at 81 San Marcos Street of this city. W. H. Hill, Jr., directed the singing from Monday through Saturday night and did a very fine job. Vacation season, heat, and illness took a heavy toll in attendance but still we had good crowds for the most part and believe that our efforts will yet bear fruit. One man was baptized, which was an occasion of much joy. He has been married some forty-seven years to a Christian wife who has all of this time wanted him to become a Christian. Another man was restored. We cordially invite you to worship with us, when you visit Austin.

William F. Lemons, 906 West 10th Street, North Platte, Nebraska, July 3: The church in North Platte just concluded a gospel meeting with Ed E. Bryant of Abernathy, Texas, doing the preaching. Brother Bryant presented the gospel in a kind, clear, and forceful way. We hope to begin our building soon.

C. E. McGaughey, 2407 W. Lincoln, Springfield, Missouri, June 26: Meetings at Highlands, Texas, suburb of Houston, resulted in 19 baptisms, seven restorations, and three memberships. Ray D. Fullerton, Jr., is doing a fine work as local evangelist. I am now at Trinity Heights in Dallas, where large crowds are in attendance. Will be at Carnegie, Oklahoma, June 28 through July 9, and at Duncan, Oklahoma, Westside, July 12-21.

Kenneth Boyd, Peak and East Side Church of Christ, Dallas, Texas, July 5: At the conclusion of the first six months of this year there have been 106 responses to the invitation, including twenty-seven baptized. There has been an average of 362 in Bible school, and 480 in the morning worship services. I will have completed my first year's work here as co-worker with Brother Frank Dunn the first Sunday in August, and have been asked to remain another year. I just closed the first gospel meeting ever held in the city of Wray, Colorado, Sunday, June 21. There were three restorations. There are seven members of the church living in Wray, a city of 3,000 population. The meeting was conducted in the American Legion Hall.

Tice Elkins, 1523 Cuba Avenue, Alamogordo, New Mexico, July 3: Please permit me to say through the Firm Foundation that I am back at home, feeling far better than has been promised for a long time. Heart ailment about gone, lungs doing much better, and general health improving. I hope to be able to get back into the gospel field to work by the end of 1953. I am now able to help any who ask for it, to learn to read, understand and teach the gospel of Christ. I will be glad to have your questions on any Bible subject, and will be happy to have your letters whether you want to ask questions or not. We will be here at home on and on. Write us. We have lots of books and tracts for sale. Write for price list.

Clyde G. Smallwood, Woodward, Oklahoma, June 25: Two more teen-age boys were baptized into Christ last week at the Hillcrest Church of Christ at Woodward, Oklahoma, bringing the total baptized in our new building to eight. We have been in the building just over a month. This hard-working and fast-growing congregation is now looking for a full-time preacher. I have worked with them since December, 1952, and in that time I have seen them grow from about 65 souls meeting in a rented hall to around 125 souls meeting in a fine building which they built themselves. This wonderful growth which the Lord has given to them has resulted from their labors, not mine. I have been with them only on the Lord's day to preach for them as a part-time preacher while attending school in Enid, Oklahoma. I have now moved back to Abilene, Texas, to finish my work at Abilene Christian College and the congregation desires a full-time man. This is one of the best congregations that I have ever worked with. You preaching brethren will do well to contact Basil Duke, Jr., care of White's Auto Store, Woodward, Oklahoma, about this work.

130 RESPONSE MEETING

Dan F. Fogarty

My meeting with the brethren at Coleman, Texas, came to a close last Sunday night with 130 responses. This was a 12-night meeting, with audiences estimated up to 1050 in attendance.

We had 1500 available folding chairs, used a vacant lot on the north side of the city, with adequate speaking system, and therefore preached to hundreds more. You perhaps recall my report of last year's meeting, which, being carried out the same way, resulted in 38 responses.

There can be no doubt of the good which can be derived from meetings of this nature, since hundreds came who would never enter the building.

Those obeying the gospel came to us from all sorts of religious groups including Pentecostals, Christadelphians, Baptists, and First Christian, and ranged in age from 13 to 80.

In order to further encourage brethren everywhere in this type of meeting, let me add that Coleman is a town of but about 6500.

I am now with the Mobberly Avenue Church of Christ of Longview, Texas, in a good work here. Brother Herb Swinney is now with the church in Coleman, and is doing a fine work.

The 130 responses were as follows: 35 baptized, six placed membership, and 89 confessed wrongs and were restored.

A PREACHER AVAILABLE

Lloyd L. Smith

I know a young man of exceptional ability that would like to locate with some congregation in Texas or Oklahoma. He is a graduate of a Christian College, and has a Master's degree from a state university. He is sound in the faith, clean in life, and has unusually good judgment. If you are interested in such a preacher, I will be glad to put you in contact with him.

Our work at Northwest continues to grow, with four baptized so far this month and several have placed membership with us. Ira Y. Rice, Sr., of Norman, Oklahoma, was with us in a singing school and helped with our vacation Bible school in the first part of June. He did good work, helped us much, and was appreciated by the congregation.

The Lawton congregations continue with a daily radio program, and now we have added a weekly television program. It is too early yet to determine the value of it. 1903 Kinyon, Lawton, Okla.

G. S. Westbrook, Pioneer Park Church of Christ, Lubbock, Texas, June 15: As a part of our mission work for 1953 my home congregation sent me to preach in a meeting at Durango, Colorado, June 1-10. Several Texas churches have helped in this work. B. C. Stapleton is serving the church there as full-time evangelist and is doing an excellent work. The waters there have been troubled somewhat in the past, but for almost a year now all has been at peace. Much interest and good crowds characterized the meeting. All things were in readiness. Much advertising had been done by newspaper and radio. Local forces directed the singing in a fine way—five were baptized. At the rate the church in Durango is growing it will be self-supporting by this time next year. That is their desire and aim. Yesterday I preached at home—six were added by transfer. I begin a meeting with Loyd Bryant and the church at Caddo, Oklahoma, next Monday, June 21, the Lord willing.

Tom E. Wallace, P. O. Box 7, Hobbs, New Mexico, July 2: During June there were four baptisms and two restorations. I hold a meeting in Wolforth, Texas, July 12-19.

Bill Thompson, Lufkin, Texas, June 15: One baptized, one by membership at Fourth and Groesbeck yesterday. 333 present in Bible study.

L. Duane Canby, 1013 S. Main, Corona, California, July 4: I closed three and one-half years of work here the last day of June with three baptisms, making a total of nine baptized and two confessions of wrong in the last two months. Future plans are indefinite, but I can always be reached at 8451 Slater, Huntington Beach, California.

J. W. Pine, Grants, New Mexico: Since I have been with the congregation here we have put a new roof on the building and have done some work inside. We have just finished a six night meeting with Fred M. Engle doing the preaching. Fair attendance and good interest was shown. While there were no visible results, the folks seem much encouraged, and are looking forward to a greater work.

W. J. Stanley, Mountain Grove, Missouri, June 30: From a visible standpoint we have closed the best meeting in the history of the church in Mountain Grove. Brother John W. Hedge of Jacksonville, Texas, did the preaching in a splendid manner. We only had ten nights but there were additions nearly every service. A daily Bible school was held in conjunction. The Lord willing Brother Hedge will be with us next year the first part of June. Since my last report two were baptized at Mountain Grove and three at Ava, Missouri, where I just closed a very pleasant meeting. This leaves me in a meeting at Oak Grove near St. James, Missouri. I go next to a tent mission effort near Montreall, Missouri, July 17th.

R. C. Ledbetter, Box 62, Calera, Oklahoma, July 2: The Glenwood, Arkansas, meeting in which the writer did the preaching came to a close June 21 with two baptisms and one restored to his first love. The church was good to me in every way. I have preached in thirteen meetings in Glenwood. The work in Calera is very pleasant along all lines. I have never preached where there was more unity than prevails here. We have splendid elders, men who want to serve God in the right way. Our summer meeting begins Friday night before the first Sunday in August with Leon Savage doing the preaching. All in reach of Calera are requested to remember the time and arrange to be with us for the meeting.

FROM GILBERT, ARIZONA

The brethren at Gilbert, Arizona, plan to hold a six weeks Bible reading this winter beginning January 6, with Brother J. C. Roady of Sullivan, Indiana, teaching. There will be two sessions daily with the Old Testament studied in the afternoon and the New Testament at night.

Plan now to spend your winter vacation this year in the famous "Valley of the Sun" and attend this study of the word of God enjoying the fellowship of other Christians and learn more concerning God's will. If you want to take advantage of this opportunity, which is being offered without cost to you, and you desire more information write to Brother C. J. Cullumber, Gilbert, Arizona, or to Jess Brown, 454 So. Mesa Drive, Mesa, Arizona.

Accommodations may be obtained in Gilbert or Mesa and Chandler, which are about seven miles from Gilbert. Many tourists from the north and east spend their vacations here during the winter and it may be that some of your friends will be among them so tell them about the reading and all of you plan to be with us.

O. L. Winborn, Box 145, Anthony, New Mexico, July 3: We have recently baptized two men into Christ. Their wives were Christians. We enrolled 110 in our Vacation Bible School. Our highest attendance was 95.

Tim Walker, 2211 S. Tyler, Dallas, Texas, July 2: The Kleberg church of Christ, Kleberg, Texas, closed a ten night series of gospel meetings last Wednesday evening. The meeting was well attended. We had some fine preaching. Two were restored to their first love, four were baptized, two being heads of families. One came from the Baptists.

Preston Cotham, 2000 Oakland Boulevard, Fort Worth, Texas, July 6: June 21 we baptized two men here and their wives were restored and placed membership. On the 28th, four placed membership and one was baptized. During a little vacation the latter part of June, it was my privilege to visit with and preach for the Central congregation in Oakland, California. Four were restored and one placed membership there that Sunday. The work here at Meadowbrook is at its best despite the summer months and vacations.

Walter W. Leamons, Junction, Texas, July 5: In the month of June I officiated for the following marriages: Dr. J. L. Coleman and Miss Mimi Nell Moore, both of Melvin, Texas, here at Tenth Street Church of Christ, June 1; James Barnes and Miss Johnnie Faye Bynum, both of Big Lake, Texas, here at Tenth Street Church of Christ, June 14; A. D. Alexander and Miss Shirley Ray Ivy, both of Crane, Texas, at my home, June 14. During the same period I said several other marriages at the courthouse in the capacity of county judge. Some were for couples from other counties.

George Hickey, Warner's Chapel, Clemmons, North Carolina, July 3: Three were baptized and one restored in a well attended meeting with Howard Parker preaching. Brother Parker is a great blessing to the church.

George S. Wilkins, Eldorado, Oklahoma, July 1: The church here concluded a successful Bible School the 27th with good interest and good attendance throughout. Brother E. A. Sanders of Childress will be with the church here in a meeting July 19-29. May the church continue to grow everywhere is our prayer.

Claude Robertson, Haskell, Oklahoma, July 4: Our meeting with Herbert Broadas doing the preaching will begin July 12 and continue through July 22. I did the preaching in a meeting with the Valley View church, Greenwood, Arkansas, June 22 through July 1. During this meeting fourteen were baptized and three restored.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, July 2: Two hundred three present Wednesday night to hear the young men speak on "Five Great Duties of a Christian." A family of four was identified with us, transferring from Temple. Plans and methods of personal evangelism as laid down in Acts 5:42 are before us. We hope we may greatly enlarge the scope of our endeavors.

J. D. Rothwell, 1003 East Portland, Phoenix, Arizona, June 29: In August, 1949, we returned to the work at Eastside in Phoenix after an absence of over four years. Our first residence in Phoenix saw the beginning of Eastside as result of expansion by the Westside church and the experience of being its first evangelist. During this stay we saw the beginning of the 12th Street church in June of 1950. Eastside was remodelled and enlarged during the past year. Membership now totals over 400 and there have been 62 responses to the gospel invitation so far this year (21 baptized). There have been many problems, disappointments and difficulties in the work in Phoenix, yet we have enjoyed it. We have accepted the invitation of the elders of the Central congregation in Bakersfield, California, to labor with them as local evangelist and plan to begin our work there August 1. We believe there is a fine opportunity and look forward to a period of labor in this new field. A successor has not been selected for the work here.

Wayne Hargrove, 5317 South Park Boulevard, Houston 21, Texas, July 1: Last week (during the midst of summer vacations and the heat wave) new all-time attendance records were set here at McGregor Park in Sunday night and Wednesday night services. Twenty-seven have been added the past two Sundays, including two baptized and several restored. There have been 135 additions since January 1, including twenty-eight baptisms, and our membership is now 279. Contributions during June averaged $634 per week. Our new building addition, which will add considerably more classrooms (2750 sq. ft.), is rising rapidly, and should be completed early in September. The brethren here have established such good credit rating with Houston's largest bank that they were able to borrow $27,000 on personal signatures only (unsecured by real estate) to finance the entire cost of our new addition. We continue to have two enthusiastic morning services, with attendance of more than a hundred above our membership. We thank God for our continued growth.

Willard Collins

Joe Sanders, Boston, Massachusetts, will close the 1953 Lipscomb Summer Lectures on Friday, August 7. The series begins on Monday night, August 3.

Other evening speakers will be A. R. Holton, Athens Clay Pullias, and Ira North.

There will be several classes each morning and evening. Recreational activities are planned for the entire family. Rooms will be furnished without charge and there is no reservation fee. SUMMER CAMP WILL NOT BE HELD

Virgil Bentley

Camp Wa-Ki-Cu-Be for young people, conducted by the Cordell Church of Christ for the past six years, will not be held in 1953. Virgil Bentley, camp director, has announced. Construction going on at the camp grounds makes it impossible for camp facilities to be available this year.

Any fees paid in advance for the 1953 encampment will be refunded. Plans are being made to resume the summer encampment in 1954.

RUSSELL ARTIST TO TEACH AT LIPSCOMB

Willard Collins

Russell C. Artist will become professor of biology at David Lipscomb College, September 15.

He will move to Nashville from Frankfurt, Germany, where he has been teaching and preaching since 1948.

Born near Indianapolis, Indiana, where he graduated from Butler University, Artist also has the M.S. degree from Northwestern University and the Ph.D. degree in biology from the University of Minnesota.

He is a former teacher of Abilene Christian College.

This gospel preacher and educator is well prepared to present the God of creation to the young people who will study with him at David Lipscomb College.

CAMP HUNT OPENS JULY 12

E. Lewis Case

Camp Hunt, Hubbardsville, New York, opens the 1953 camping season on July 12. The season will last until August 22. We are expecting one of the largest groups of campers that we have ever had during the six years of the camp's existence.

However, we are urgently in need of some help. We need several Christian young men to be counselors for the boys. It seems that among all of the people who will read this article there will be at least three or four young men who could give their time in this way. The youngsters who come to Camp Hunt need your help. They need the example of your lives. They need the wise counsel which you can give them toward meeting every-day problems. Above all, they need Christ. You can give him to them.

We also need one or two men teachers for the Bible classes. We are short one teacher beginning July 26. If one person could come for the remaining time, that would be all that we would need. However, the time could be split between two teachers. One could come for the period beginning July 26 and ending August 8, and the other could come for the last two weeks beginning with August 9.

Another urgent need is for about 100 individual Christians to each send their check to Camp Hunt, in care of Hugh Liddle, Box 183, Nedrow, New York, made out in the amount of $10. This money is needed to make improvements, buy operating equipment, and discharge obligations left over from other years. Many are giving their time to this work. Others are making long trips at their own expense to help. You can send $10, can't you?

I feel sure that you will rise to the occasion, but please don't put it off, the time is near.

HOMEcoming AND GOSPEL MEETING AT WIEDERSVILLE, TENNESSEE

W. A. Bradfield

You and your family are cordially invited and urged to attend the annual homecoming at Christian Chapel, Wiedersville, Tennessee, on Sunday, July 19. There will be Bible classes at 10:00 A. M., preaching at 11:00 A. M., dinner on the grounds at noon, gospel singing at 2:00 P. M., and preaching at 7:45 P. M. The annual gospel meeting will continue through July 26 with services daily at 3:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. Morgan Taylor of Venice, California, will do the preaching both for the homecoming and in the meeting. You will want to hear this former Henderson Countian who has made good.

SPECIAL PAPER ON "EVOLUTION" AVAILABLE

J. D. Thomas

John Crow, a Junior student in Abilene Christian College, wrote a paper on the subject of evolution for his Bible class and he gave a lecture at the 1953 A.C.C. Lectureship, using this material. The paper gives the history of the doctrine and its present day status, and shows its fallacies of the several fields of Biology, Embryology, Paleontology, and Human Antiquity. It is well worked out and is an excellent presentation of the subject. Because of a demand, the paper has been mimeographed and is available from the A.C.C. Student's Exchange for 30c. There are sixteen pages plus a bibliography.

OGDEN, UTAH, CHURCH NEEDS PREACHER

Harvey Childress

The church in Ogden, Utah, needs the services of a faithful gospel preacher who is willing to work and is free of hobbies. There are about 70 members in Ogden at the present time. They have a nice brick building and a preacher's home, all free of debt.

In the past, a little dissension arose among some of the brethren at Ogden, but this has been settled, and they are working in peace and harmony. I preached there a short time this spring, and will return this summer for a meeting. As far as I know there is nothing that stands in their way to a successful work.

Any gospel preacher interested in work in that area may address the Church of Christ, Box 1364, Ogden, Utah.

This is a fine congregation of people, and willing workers in the Lord's vineyard. I began my third year as their local evangelist the

Our Departed

BACON—Bailey Bacon was born January 17, 1897, and passed from this life April 26, 1953. Early Sunday morning Brother Bacon went home to be with his Lord whom he loved and served for thirty of his fifty-six years on this earth. He is survived by his wife, Mary; three daughters and seven grandchildren. His daughters are Mrs. A. D. Patterson, Compton, California; Mrs. N. H. Crotts, Tucson, Arizona; and Mrs. Glenn D. Henderson, Burbank, California. Brother and Sister Bacon lived a happy married life for thirty-six years. All of the children are members of the Lord's church, also the sons-in-law and one granddaughter. He was a strong believer in missionary work and orphan homes. He could never give enough or do enough to satisfy his desire to help out in this work. A better Christian man never lived than Brother Bacon. He was among the best. He suffered most of the last year of his life but never forsook his Lord and the Lord in his tender mercy released him from his pain. Now he is resting and through Jesus we have the blessed assurance of seeing him again. It will be a lonely life here without him but it is the hope we have that helps to carry on until I can go where he is.

ROGERS—W. W. Rogers, the subject of this sketch, was born in Tennessee, in 1873, the son of George and Frances Rogers. While a lad he lost his parents but in 1892 came to Texas and worked on the farm until he began teaching school in 1892. In 1889 he had obeyed the gospel, being baptized by E. C. L. Denton. In 1898 he married Laura Kuykendall. Surviving this couple are Dwayne Rogers, teacher of Dallas, his wife, Gladys, who also is a teacher, and their daughter, Joan. In 1908, Brother Rogers moved to Commerce as principal of the local high school. After four years he established a grocery business. For three years he taught in the schools at Winnsboro and then in 1918 returned to Commerce to continue teaching until 1930. In 1934 he became county superintendent to continue four years, during which time he resided in Greenville and was one of the leaders in development of the Henry Street (now Walnut Street) congregation. He came back to his home in Commerce in 1941, where he lived until his departure on Sunday morning, May 31, after a few weeks illness of cancer. His first wife passed away in January 1950. In November of that year he married Mrs. Mollie Strong, a fine Christian woman of Wolfe City, who survives him. In 1912 Brother W. W. Rogers became one of the elders at Commerce. For about forty years he served faithfully in this capacity. About thirty years ago he began preaching as needs arose. For the past ten years he was busy most of the Sundays helping in small congregations near Commerce. He served as city commissioner in Commerce for four years and was leader in securing the city light plant. The life of Brother Rogers was slightly past the four-score level. For many years he was a regular reader of the Firm Foundation. He was characterized by industry, honesty, devotion, and steadfastness. He was long one of the ablest men in the church. His funeral was conducted at his request by Willis G. Jernigan and the writer.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

The Mystery of God

Paul writes, "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out" (Rom. 11:33).

Paul is not here writing concerning the way of God in salvation. That way is plain. Early converts to the religion of Christ had very little difficulty in understanding the way of the Lord. The little misunderstanding that did occur was due largely to prejudice or preconceived notions.

What does Paul have reference to when he says God's judgments are unsearchable and his ways past finding out? What he says is true of a great many things. It is true of nearly everything, except the plan of salvation. Look where you will and you see mystery. There is mystery in the heavens above and in the earth beneath. Who can understand the ways of God in the planetary system? God only knows whether or not Mars and other planets are inhabited. Men have tried to ascertain the facts in this matter, but so far have failed.

Jesus said, "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin." How does a lily grow? If we understood this, it would explain many other things. It grows just as all things in the vegetable kingdom grow; but how is it? What is the secret of the lilies absorbing earth, moisture, air, and sunshine to give it symmetry and beauty? This is one of God's ways that man is not yet able to explain. The mystery of God is apparent in our own bodies—how we see, how we hear, how we smell, how we taste, how we feel. No man knows why his food digests, or how his blood circulates.

We should be happy that the plan of salvation is not a mystery so far as man's duty is concerned. There is not a mystery in the Bible, the understanding of which, is essential to man's salvation. Some people think they must understand the mystery of the incarnation—how God and man were united in Christ—before they can be saved. Others think that one cannot be a Christian if he does not fully understand whether the thief on the cross was saved or lost. Such things have nothing to do with one's salvation.

Inconsistent Prayers

When Balaam had failed in a subversive ambition, he said, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his" (Num. 23:10). He tried to please both men and God, but failed in both. When his perverse plans had failed he was ready to die, but not prepared to die. "Let me live the life of the righteous" is a better petition to offer to the Lord. The only way to die the death of the righteous is to live the life of the righteous. It is in vain for people who have lived in sin to pray that they may die the death of the righteous.

One human weakness is to be beset with confused aspirations—a desire to please men and a desire to please the Lord. In such cases the desire to please men usually comes out ahead, and service to God is reduced to a mere formality. In spite of the plain teaching of Jesus, there are many who think they can serve both God and Mammon. But the inevitable end is a pathetic disillusionment. It is too late to pray, when one comes to the close of a life of sin. "The wages of sin is death," and this penalty cannot be changed. One who has spent his life in sin is not on praying grounds with the Lord.

Our Four Great Faiths

W. S. Willis

It has been some time since I have imposed an article upon the readers of the Firm Foundation. However, after reading the many fine articles in our religious papers and books written by our very best minds am persuaded in the words of Luke, "it seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all these things—" to write also upon the above subject.

Paul said, "Faith is the substance (foundation) of things hoped for etc." And "without faith it is impossible to please God, etc." And by faith the men and women of old obtained favor with God (Heb. 11). I believe it is well that we examine our faith and see if we, too, are found in favor with God.

We live in a land of plenty. We are the best fed, the best clothed and the best housed people on earth. Our material blessings have no equal in the long turbulent history of civilization. Yet, at the peak of our prosperity and power, we find ourselves beset with fears, by doubts and by uncertainties. This situation is alarming. The seed of this critical situation in which we find ourselves today were sown some nineteen hundred years ago, immediately after the Lord's kingdom was established on earth. His great plan for "peace on earth and good will among men." Though his church was disrupted by ambitions of men to set up a man-made kingdom to overthrow the church of the Living God. This "kingdom of darkness of this world" down through these many years, has striven for power and authority to overcome the power and authority of Christ. And it is this "spiritual wickedness of this present world we are fighting today." And there is just one source of defense against this power, and that is "OUR FOUR GREAT FAITHS." Because, Catholicism, denounces the basic faiths of the word of God as taught in his book, the Bible. Therefore it is important that we give heed and thought to these four great faiths.

Faith in God

In searching our minds and hearts for the answer for this question, let us remember, that at the beginning of the church, and down through the years, faith in God has been the all-powerful force in the lives of men, that it has been a never-failing source of strength in time of trouble.

Let us remember, that all of the great and lasting movements of civilization have been dedicated to, and founded upon, faith in a supreme power—faith in God. Upon these faiths rests the strength and security of the church today. Most of the world's two billion people have some kind of faith in a supreme power. Throughout civilization, that faith has persisted. It has survived the efforts of tyrants and dictators to stamp it out. Firm faith in God has given Christians strength when they faltered, courage when they were afraid, and united them when they were divided.

Recognition of the supreme power of God, and dependence upon that power for guidance was contained in every thought and act of the apostles and early Christians. So strong was their faith in God, they had no fear of suffering or death, believing that God would "never leave them nor forsake them." If we have fears for the future, if we are worried about tomorrow, then we should do as the early Christians did, turn to God, with a full, complete and steadfast faith in his word and promises.

Church leaders down through the years shared a sure belief in God. In crisis and in peace, they placed their faith in God's wisdom, in their own ability to work out their problems in the great justice of a free people. Between the church of yesterday and the church of tomorrow stands our present generation. To us has fallen the duty to preserve the faith, the honor, the strength, and the glory of the church. So guided, we will serve best our destiny, and that of the world. By looking to God, by dedicating ourselves to his teaching, we and our children can be filled with renewed faith and strength.

Faith in Ourselves

The scripture reminds us "that as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." This Biblical admonition tells us that we cannot think in terms of failure, and then succeed, in terms of weakness, and then be strong, in terms of fear, and then be courageous, in terms of doubt, and then have faith. Our material well being is ample proof that we must have faith in ourselves. We are told that, "The Lord helps those who help themselves." Each of us must hold fast that "Faith which was delivered once and for all to the saints." To do this we must have vitalizing faith in ourselves. No one can have faith in God, who does not have faith in himself. Faith in ourselves will pay off in richer, happier and fuller lives. We know, too, that it will bring us peace and security.

The history of the church is a history of a people who had faith in themselves. But down through the years they lost faith in themselves and defeat, sorrow and failure were the results—I wonder if we are not now losing faith in ourselves to do the wonderful works of the Lord, who said "Love the brotherhood—love one another," but to do this we must first "work out our own salvation with fear and trembling." That means that we must have faith in ourselves before we can love and trust the other person. This faith in ourselves is what the early Christians handed down to us. It is our responsibility to preserve it untarnished and undiminished.

Faith in Our Fellowman

It follows naturally that faith in God and in ourselves leads directly to faith in our fellowman. The early Christians possessed this faith. They lived by it, fought for it, and died to foster it. Our forefathers understood this faith in their fellow men, when they wrote the Declaration of freedom, "With a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and sacred honor." These are the words of men who faced the future with a firm faith in their fellow men. We today in no less degree, must seek the strength such faith in our fellow men yields. We, too, as Christians, the children of God, should pledge each other "our lives, our fortunes and our Sacred Honor, in working for the advancement of the kingdom, and in preaching the gospel to a lost and dying world as did those of the long ago. We must renew our faith in each other, increase our love for each other. The preservation of this basic faith, this foundation of brotherly love, is our duty and our privilege.

Faith in Freedom

The fourth and last of our great faiths mentioned, is Faith in Freedom. Personal freedom is the natural fruits of faith in God, in ourselves, and in our fellow men. The apostles and early Christian believed this. They believed that freedom was more than an abstract dream. They believed it was a God-given right, and not a man granted privilege. And they believed it so deeply that they made freedom an accomplished facts. This is why we have religious freedom today. This is why we, more than any other people in the world have been blessed so richly with so many of the good things of life—because men and women have been and still are willing to give their all and their lives to proclaim the "unsearchable riches of the gospel to the end of the earth." The reason the church is spreading the gospel to the ends of earth is because we live in a land of freedom of thought, words and acts, we have been blessed with the material things so needful in our proclamation of freedom in the gospel of Christ. We have been inspired by the great need and with our great opportunities. We have been encouraged by the anxious willingness of mind to sacrifice in support of our great schools for the preparation of young men and women who are willing and ready to give their lives, their fortunes and their all that the world may have the same great faiths and freedom the gospel has brought to us. We have been free to work, to achieve, to accumulate. And in all these wonderful blessings we have of God, faith in ourselves, faith in our fellow men, and faith in freedom. And it is in and through these four great faiths, we find joy in "giving as God has prospered us." This is the kind of faith we must have today to fortify our freedom. These are the kinds of faith we can have today if we are willing to look to God for guidance, to seek him in his temple, to follow his teachings. These are the faiths we must have if we are to achieve ultimately in preaching the gospel to every creature in all the world. Now is the time to take our stand, tomorrow may be too late. Shall we follow the dictates and teaching of men, or shall we follow the teaching of God, and "walk in his commandments?"

A Great Christian Passes

Carl A. Gardner

The family of Brother James Alexander Jones, Ft. Worth, Texas, has requested me to send, for the readers of the Firm Foundation, a sketch of the life and work of this beloved Christian elder. He departed this life Saturday noon, June 13, at the age of 86, and was buried the following Monday in Fort Worth. Brethren Wesley Mickey and Willard Morrow spoke comforting and appropriate words at his funeral held in the North Fort Worth Church of Christ building. A large crowd of brethren and friends who loved Brother Jones were present. The floral offerings were very beautiful.

J. A. Jones

Brother Jones has been a dear friend of mine for more than thirty years. Because he served as an elder in the North Fort Worth congregation for more than thirty years, it was my privilege to know him intimately and to appreciate his sterling worth as a Christian and as a man.

Brother Jones obeyed the gospel at Kaufman, Texas, near the turn of the century, being baptized by Brother Harvey, who then lived in the Kaufman area. About the year 1890, he married Sister Lettie K. White, whose father, Brother H. C. White, was a faithful preacher in Coryell County. Sister Jones, and a son, Brother H. C. Jones, are the only surviving members of the immediate family. A foster son, Reuben White, also lives in Fort Worth. Another son, Brother Leon Jones, left us about two years ago. Both sons have been faithful Christians for many years. Brother H. C. Jones is active in the North Side church, and teaches a Bible class.

At the time Brother Jones was chosen elder in this congregation in 1921, Brother Ben West was preaching here. He is one among a multitude of preachers who have enjoyed the hospitality of the Jones' home. Until recent years this was the principle preacher-home among the brethren here. Both Sister and Brother Jones were well known for their fine hospitality. Among the many preachers who sat around the family table through the years, they recall L. S. White, C. R. Nichol, Joe Warlick, Early Arceneaux, G. H. P. Shewalter, Foy E. Wallace, Sr., and his sons, Foy and Cled, N. L. Clark, A. B. Barrett, W. K. Rose, Horace Busby, Roy Cogdill, Arthur Holton, M. H. Moore, Price Billingsley, E. W. McMillan, T. H. Etheridge, the Dunn brothers, Harold Thomas, Joe White, Waymon Miller, J. A. McCall, C. M. Stubblefield and a score of others. Should any of these preachers now living desire to send a line to Sister Jones, she resides at 1600 Gould Avenue, Fort Worth. She is a great soul and bears up bravely.

At the time Brother Jones was chosen elder in the North Side congregation, three other fine Christians and elders had served for some ten years in the congregation. These were M. H. Moore, Felix M. May, and a Brother Harris. All these have passed to their reward. Brother Moore, more than any other, edified and helped the brethren here for many years. His memory is still precious to all who knew him.

Brother Moore was an able and unique teacher and preacher. The first time the writer heard him preach, he was impressed by the method he employed. He often took as his sermon, the lesson studied in the Bible classes the same day. He encouraged responses from the brethren in the audience. Occasionally he would misquote a scripture to learn if brethren were listening, or if they knew the difference. On this occasion brethren in the audience responded several times. "That's not the way the Book reads, Harve," one brother spoke out. Several gave similar responses, and quoted correctly, if misquoted by Brother Moore. I never before witnessed such a fine way to gain and hold attention. He kept the brethren "on their toes." Many times have I thought this would be a fine way in congregations today. To study with the speaker and to help him and the audience should be an excellent way. Jesus encouraged any in his audiences to ask questions or to even interrupt his speaking. Years ago when a preacher was proclaiming in a meeting and made an unscriptural statement, a preacher that loved him arose in the audience to ask if he did not mean to say such and such rather than what he had said. Courtesy was in evidence from both preachers. The audience was edified and attention was intensified. Of course, wrangling or debating on such an occasion would be out of order.

Among the outstanding qualities of Brother Jones were his steadfastness, patience, good judgment, rare honesty, cheerfulness and industry. He was not a learned man, but he knew the difference between true and false teaching. He taught many privately. Just before he left us, he was helping to lead a denominational preacher friend to obey the gospel. His genial disposition and sense of humor helped to make him many friends. Like Cornelius, he was a devout man and feared God, with all his house. He was very industrious in his vocation and gave liberally to the cause of Christ. His neighbors loved him, as witnessed by their daily calls and services during his illness. Like Phoebe, he and Sister Jones were helpers of many and cared nothing for the plaudits of men. He lived a simple life and his wants were few.

Brother Jones for a time operated meat markets. Later he entered the cutlery business by walking from shop to shop with his bag of tools to sharpen saws, knives, etc. Later he worked from a horse and buggy, and when his business grew to large proportions he bought a truck with mechanical equipment. Being a man who worked with his hands, he made many friends among the working people.

It can be truly said of Brother Jones that "he being dead yet speaketh." His family and relatives and all of his neighbors loved him dearly. Hundreds of us miss him very much. He loved the great outdoors and his hobby was fishing. Many members of the Angler's Club, of which Brother Jones was a member, found in him inspiration and good influence.

No doubt many who knew Brother Jones join with me in extending sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

Reaching People For Christ

Floyd A. Decker

The work of the Lord is the greatest work in all of the world. To be able to take part and to have fellowship with the Lord Jesus Christ, in saving men and women, should be esteemed above all blessings. To preach the gospel and look after the less fortunate of the earth is the work of the Lord. If the church has any duty other than this, and living in harmony with the will of Jesus Christ, I know nothing of it. The first century church emphasized taking care of the poor, and the Christians then were taught to sacrifice to see that was done. I am sure that our efforts to win people to Christ would be more successful if we would put more time in on caring for the poor in our own communities rather than institutionalizing such work as now seems to be the trend. By sending people away to some institution for their care we rob the people of the local community, where the church operates, of the object lessons which they need.

We are also missing the great blessing of our own personal service to such as come to need us. We come to depend on some "expert," paid worker, to do our work while we give a little money and no service—personal service, that is. It is that personal service rendered through love that will win souls for Christ. This is true whether we speak of a child or an adult. Brethren, we are too preoccupied with our own pleasures, as individuals, to render the proper personal loving care to those who need us.

How many of us ever go into the homes, even of our own brethren in the Lord, to render them a personal service? There are many who can not afford a nurse or a housekeeper when they are sick. There are many who get along fairly well normally, but sickness or other troubles come and they can not afford even the proper foods. Well, some say, get a check from the church, hire a nurse, a housekeeper and buy food for them and professional services for them. This is all right when it is all right. There are times when professional services are needed and nothing else will do, we know this. But, give a few dollars and it is soon forgotten and at times little is accomplished in the direction we most desire. Who, though, will soon forget when we spend a sleepless night at the bedside of a sick brother or sister or others who need our help? In this we are blessed of God and our willing personal service puts us in a position to talk Christ to those we serve. I know that we are not to try to impress people with our goodness but if we are good in heart and render that service which the will of God demands, people will be properly impressed and glorify God who blesses them through us. Brethren are we talking up and teaching personal service as we should or are we leaving the impression by the lack of emphasis, that giving of money is all it takes and then we can hire the rest done!

Reaching people for Christ through personal service was greatly emphasized in the New Testament. There is nothing like a godly example to soften hard hearts and break down prejudice. About the first thing we think of now is that when children and others get in dire need, ship them out of the community, give them ten dollars and get them out of town as quick as we can so they will not bother us. Do you not believe that real Christianity would want to study the case and help according to the need and would regret them leaving town because then the opportunity for personal service would be denied. The limit of such service would be bounded by the needs (not wants) of the individual case and our love for doing good—yes, our love for God himself.

With the above taken care of our preaching would become effective not only to those served but others who "behold your good works." It is a wonderful thing to preach the gospel by word of mouth—it becomes more wonderful when it is done in practice—both lip and life—this is God's way. Mass evangelism will never become obsolete. Even if we could train all members to be expert personal evangelists we would still have reason to preach to and teach the masses of the people. Radio is proving to be an excellent means of reaching men and women for Christ. Just how far reaching the effects of gospel preaching by radio we will never know, at least this side of that eternal day. I know of some good gospel preachers who first heard the gospel by radio. The fact that we are using every means at our command to reach people for Christ makes radio a useful tool. There is however, no substitute for personal contact. Radio, the press and other means of preaching are but supplements not substitutes for telling the story "publicly and from house to house."

We should rejoice in all means the brethren are using to proclaim the glad tidings and build people up in the "holy faith." The national programs are very fine as long as the gospel is faithfully proclaimed as it has been up to the present. It is my personal opinion that we make a mistake in sacrificing a locally controlled radio program in order to have a national program—especially so when it is run by transcription anyway.

The Herald of Truth radio program is doing an untold amount of good and reaching many thousands. I hope all of us will get behind that work more and more. Creswell Street church, in Shreveport, where I preach, is helping to support the program and I hope will continue to do so and I believe will continue its support as long as it is run as it is now. I think it deserves our fellowship. We must, however, watch that centralization does not develop into denominationalization. This would destroy the very purpose for which the program was begun. One thing, I think, objectionable on the Herald of Truth program, and many others, is the recorded prayer. I do not see any objection to the transcribed singing provided we look upon it as a demonstration of the fact that we can sing well without mechanical instruments. We can not worship God through transcribed songs and prayer. Those who recorded the songs and prayer could, and no doubt did, worship at the time they recorded—but they can not after this, thirty minutes or thirty hours later play back the recording and worship thereby. Brethren, this thing requires mature thinking. The Chinese sometimes write their prayers on a paper windmill so that each time the wheel turns it is counted as a prayer. In a good strong wind these people could get a lot of praying taken care of without much trouble. This is like the man we heard about who wrote out his prayer and fastened it to the head of his bed and then all he had to do was lie down at night, point to the written prayer and say, "There she is Lord, read it for yourself." What is the difference between this and a recorded prayer. When the program first started I felt like bowing my head and praying with them but when I found that the praying took place a week ago I wondered if it had not already accomplished its purpose, and so I do not feel so reverent about it any more. Sounds to me like someone saying: "Here is a prayer I prayed a week ago, how do you like it?" The Herald of Truth program is not the only one doing this, if it were I would take it up direct with them for I love them for the good work they are doing. No, brethren, we can not spiritually live on "canned" worship. Who was it that said: "I would as soon pray by machinery as to praise by machinery?" Wesley? Spurgeon? Anyway we use to quote that and thought we had a point that stressed a truth. I still quote it, but when I quote this and insist that it would be as consistent to pray by machinery as to praise by machinery and then after advising others to tune in radio programs and learn the truth—and they come back to me and say, and they do say this very thing, "Well, I notice you brethren have gone to praying by machinery why not include the praise?" And all I can say is, like Amos 'n Andy: "Uh-wa, uh-wa, uh-wa."

Speaking of national programs, I wonder if we could not think of "The Gospel Hour" on XEG (1050 on the dial) as a national broadcast? That station certainly covers the nation. Brother V. E. Howard, evangelist, of Greenville, Texas conducts this program which is on the air each Sunday night at 9:30. I have known Brother Howard quite well for many years. I have always enjoyed hearing him in meetings and now especially do I enjoy him on XEG. He is, in my opinion, better on the radio than otherwise. He is certainly well qualified and I rejoice that his program is reaching at least forty states of the union as well as thousands of English speaking people in Mexico. This program is not a "send me a dollar" program or a "help me celebrate my birthday" program. I understand the "The Gospel Hour" broadcast is getting upward of two hundred cards and letters a week. Request for the sermons, questions concerning the Bible and other communications because of the broadcast. Too, the type of mail received. Letters that show intelligence, cards written by people of ability to grasp things and express themselves. This means that many intelligent people are becoming interested in the plain simple gospel of Christ, that they are tired of the denominationalism forced upon them. Thousands know that what they have is not in harmony with the word of God but do not know what to do about it. Brother Howard is reaching many of them, as is the Herald of Truth, and we are going to see great results if these programs are continued. Brother Howard is spending more in mailing out literature, answering questions by mail and these general contact expenses than the station time costs him. I am glad those connected with the Herald of Truth want this and other work supported as well as their own (or our own). I could not respect them as I do if they did not have this attitude. So, let me urge all who are not supporting this work to begin now. I don't know how the Herald of Truth is coming along financially, but I do know that the Gospel Hour needs more help. Brother Howard has put hundreds of dollars of his own into this work and asks nothing in return for his personal services. Let's support him. XEG is the most powerful radio station on the North American Continent and it reaches millions of listeners and many are responding. Let us respond to their response. And again, brethren let us take down our Chinese prayer wheel. A prayer of the past will not suffice for the present.

Unto The Uttermost Parts Of The Earth

Hugh M. Tiner

(Lesson given over Radio Station KFVD, Los Angeles, California, June 28, 1953)

In the Scriptures it was prophesied that Christianity would be established in Jerusalem, at which time the kingdom of God would come with power (Luke 24:47; Mark 9:1; Acts 1:4, 5). Jesus spoke of the spread of Christianity after they received the power when he prophesied that the disciples would "be my witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judæa and Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8). As we read about the rapid spread of Christianity in the beginning it suggests to our minds many valuable lessons regarding the spread of Christianity today.

In the first place let us note the orderly fashion of the progress of Christianity. It began at Jerusalem. That was the focal point from which the kingdom spread. Its borders soon encompassed all Judæa and Samaria. This was the natural order of progress. But from these enlarged borders the gospel influence then spread unto the uttermost part of the earth. The gospel of Christ is dynamic and powerful, and its border of influence cannot remain static.

The apostle Paul tells us that the gospel had been carried into the whole world during the time of his ministry (Col. 1:23). This was due to the unceasing efforts and untiring zeal of the apostles and evangelists of that time, to the powerful influence of the gospel of salvation upon the hearts of the people who were burdened with sin and the yoke of bondage, and to the great spirit of cooperation manifested by the disciples at that time. The Lord blessed the efforts to enlarge the borders of his kingdom. Christianity caught fire among the Jews assembled on the day of Pentecost and spread into all the earth, since it contained within itself inherent qualities of universal need and since it possessed such an enthusiastic vitality as a result of the eternal purposes of God. Within less than a generation, Christianity had permeated the culture of that time, not only in the Jewish community, but in the urban life of the Hellenistic world.

World Ready For Christianity

In keeping with the eternal purpose of God, when Christianity was established the world was ready for it. Political, geographical and spiritual influences favored the spread of Christianity in the beginning.

The Roman empire had brought peace to the world. This empire embraced a much larger area of the Mediterranean basin than had ever been brought under one rule before. This political unity was favorable to travel which made the spreading of the gospel message easier. Commerce on land and sea was developed extensively. It was along the trade routes that Christianity first expanded.

In the first century the Greek language was spoken and read almost universally. The fact that the Lord chose this language for his revelation was extremely favorable for the propagation of the gospel throughout the then known world.

The spiritual background developed by the Jews also was a favorable condition for the spread of the gospel. The Bible student is aware of the manner in which God had overruled their destiny to the end that they were the only nation who had developed real morality and a definite monotheism. This spiritual background was certainly conducive to the acceptance and propagation of the gospel message.

But the gospel message spread to the uttermost part of the earth not only because of the physically and spiritually prepared soil but because it was superior to any message that had ever existed before. It was evident to the people that the gospel was divine and that it was the fulfillment of God's eternal purpose for the salvation of the world. It far outstripped anything that philosophy or religion had ever offered the people. It met their needs as no other religion had ever been able to do. The people were ready for a universal religion which could break down the middle wall of partition between Jew and Gentile. Its religious vitality and spiritual appeal were great because it came from Christ, the Son of God.

Jerusalem, Judæa, and Samaria

Christianity had its beginning in Jerusalem on the first Pentecost after the resurrection and ascension of Christ. On the birthday of the church, three thousand souls accepted Christ, were baptized, and were added to the Lord's church (Acts 2:41). There was a daily increase (Acts 2:47). The number of the disciples soon grew to be more than five thousand (Acts 4:4). During this time great numbers of both men and women were added (Acts 5:14). The Scriptures tell us that the number of disciples was exceedingly multiplied and even a great company of priests also were added to the faith.

The apostles with great zeal and enthusiasm proclaimed the message of the crucified and risen Savior. The growth of the kingdom was phenomenal. In keeping with the marching orders of Jesus, the kingdom spread into "all Judæa." Persecution against the church in Jerusalem arose and this was responsible for the gospel first leaving that city and being taken into all the world.

Opposition came from the chief priests and the Sadducees. Every effort was made in an attempt to keep the apostles from preaching the resurrection message. With the stoning of Stephen, persecution against the Christians became even more intense.

As a result of the great persecution many disciples left Jerusalem and carried the message of Christ wherever they went. This persecution proved to be a blessing to the cause of Christ. It was responsible for the gospel being taken to the uttermost part of the earth.

The gospel was next carried into Samaria. Philip, the evangelist, was a pioneer in the Samaritan field. Through his efforts many believed and were baptized. He led Simon, the sorcerer, to Christ. In Acts 8, we also have an account of the conversion of the Ethiopian through Philip's preaching. Philip continued his work in Samaria "and passing through he preached the gospel to all the cities, till he came to Cæsarea" (Acts 8:40).

To the Uttermost Part of the Earth

As we read through the book of Acts, we find that the gospel message was carried to the uttermost part of the earth. We read of the conversion of Cornelius, the first Gentile convert to Christianity, in the city of Cæsarea (Acts 10, 11).

We read of the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, who was later to become the matchless apostle Paul (Acts 9). After becoming a Christian, Paul became the most powerful exponent of Christianity that the world has ever known. Paul had a burning desire to let the whole world know about Jesus Christ and him crucified. Even though he was educated at the feet of Gamaliel his speaking and message "were not in persuasive words of wisdom but in demonstration of the spirit and of power" (1 Cor. 2:4).

Paul's influence for the cause of Christ was great. The borders of the kingdom were greatly enlarged as a result of his labors. He was in the true sense of the word a missionary. He made three missionary journeys, each of which took several years. He preached wherever and whenever the opportunity presented itself. Even as a prisoner in Rome, he continued to preach the gospel of Christ. Other soldiers of the cross accompanied Paul in his missionary activities.

Through diligent study of the book of Acts, we see that the gospel message was carried to the uttermost part of the earth. A study of the book of Acts should remind us all that we need to feel a very keen responsibility today in carrying the message of Christ to the uttermost part of the earth.

Points From Proverbs

Clarence C. Gobbel

The book of Proverbs was written in about 1000 B.C. That it was written by Solomon, the son of David, has seldom been questioned by any great scholars of modern times. However, some claim that many of these proverbs were not actually written by Solomon, but were collected by him and placed together with those of his own writing. Granting that there is this possibility, does not necessarily lessen their usefulness, nor even the inspiration of the truths contained therein.

However, realizing that Solomon lived before the great ethic teachers, and writers who are most famous in history, should be sufficient proof that he did not borrow from them these pungent proverbial expressions. He lived some 479 years before the "seven wise men of Greece" flourished, and around 679 years before we heard of such men of renown as Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle. Thus, consistency would declare, if nothing more, that from Solomon they may have drawn, but from them Solomon could not have borrowed the learning, and the wisdom that is manifested in these writings.

Men from all walks of life, have been, and may continue to be aided through their reading and meditating upon these proverbial wise sayings contained in this book. All men, from kings and courtiers to those engaged in the more common walks of life, "may here read lessons of instruction for the regulation of their conduct in their respective circumstances. Fathers, mothers, wives, husbands, sons, daughters, masters and servants may here also learn their respective duties; and the most excellent rules are laid down, not only in reference to morality, but to civil policy and economy" (A. Clarke).

The design uppermost in the mind of the writer of these proverbs is stated in the first six verses of the book. Here he gives the purpose of writing as that of being able to impart "wisdom and instruction; to perceive the words of understanding." Such expressions as these are found scattered throughout this piece of inspired literature. In verse 4, he says: "To give subtilty to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion."

The word "simple" as here used, did have the meaning, when written, of: "without fold, unmixed, uncompounded," or as applied to men: "innocent, harmless, without disguise." But it seems as time passed by, and standards were lowered, it had the meaning of: "silly, foolish." And such is the manner in which it is often used today. In this statement, the thought is, "to give skill, and cunning to the one open minded, and innocent." After all, those of these qualities would be really benefited by receiving this instruction, and not those of opposite tendencies. For he goes ahead to declare: "A wise man will hear, and will increase in learning." That is, it is a matter of wisdom for one to be willing and openminded, to receive further instruction along any given line.

After this short introduction, Solomon continues this very thought as we read: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction" (1:7). One of the favorite themes of this entire collection of proverbs is found in this one expression. The first thing to be learned is to "fear the Lord," that is, have a godly and deep religious reverence for the things of God. When this lesson is first learned, then the learning that follows will be advantageous, conscientious, and of lasting benefit. But when one leaves off this lesson in efforts to acquire knowledge then that which is learned may be, and often is, turned to avenues of greed, avarice, and even self-destruction.

Not only is it true that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge," but we also read in the closing words of that other book written by the same wise man, that: "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: fear God, and keep his commandments; for this is the whole duty of man" (Eccl. 12:13). So we understand that to fear God is the lesson we should be willing to learn, and to continue to keep afresh in our lives, for it is "the whole duty of man." Until man learns to "fear" God, he will not be willing to obey his every command, submitting himself to his every divine law. "But fools despise wisdom and instruction." Turning this around, those who despise wisdom, those who refuse to be taught other than what they have known, who close their minds to a continued reception of truth, are fools, according to this, and many other of these proverbs.

"The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that hearkeneth unto counsel is wise" (Prov. 12:15). "A wise man feareth and departs from evil; but the fool rageth and is confident" (Prov. 14:16). "A fool hath no delight in understanding, but that his heart may discover itself" (Prov. 18:2). Thus we can see how essential it is for our hearts to be willing to learn more of that which is true, and not to be self-satisfied to the point of refusing to listen to anyone in their attempt to teach the things of righteousness. Of course, it is also the part of wisdom to refuse to accept, and obey that which cannot be proved to be the will of God. But in order to learn all that we need, and may be able to use in life, we must not be foolish, but desire fuller understanding that can come only through further instruction.

What Does The Bible Say?

Did Jesus Buy A "Gold Brick"?

Frequently you hear someone say that the matter of salvation is personal and that the church isn't important at all. Of course, the matter of your salvation is personal and invokes your acceptance of Jesus Christ as the Son of God and your faith in him leading you to repent, and put him on in baptism (Gal. 3:27), and abide in him. No denomination or religious hierarchy controls the grace of God. No group of men on earth today can forgive sins or bind sins upon you. You can come to God through Jesus Christ in simple obedience to the gospel of Christ in the heart of India or in jungles of South America without ever meeting a congregation of Christians.

The eunuch heard Philip preach Christ, believed in Christ, repented of his sins, confessed his faith in Christ, and was buried with his Lord in baptism and went on his way rejoicing. He didn't have to go to Jerusalem to ask and obtain entrance into the church. The Lord added him to the church, the undenominational body of Christ, just as he added the three thousand who obeyed the gospel on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:47). One's trusting obedience to the gospel of Christ brings him "into Christ" and into the church, the kingdom of God. God does the adding so that no one who truly is converted to Christ is overlooked. God adds all the saved people to the church, the kingdom, the spiritual body of Christ!

But just because salvation is a personal matter between you and God does not mean that the church is unimportant. On the contrary, as we continue our study of Acts 20 we find Paul urging the elders of the church at Ephesus to "feed the church of God, which he purchased with his own blood." The American Standard Revision translates it: "Feed the church of the Lord which he purchased with his own blood." The church belongs to God the Father, and to Jesus Christ, the Son. Jesus paid his life's blood for the church. Does anyone dare to say that he paid his life for something that was unimportant? Did Jesus buy a "gold brick"? God forbid! The church is the most important and valuable institution in the world. The church is Christ's spiritual body. He is "the head of the body, the church" (Col. 1:18).

After Jesus ascended to heaven, imagine his talking with the angels about his mission upon earth. He would tell them how he had died on the cross to purchase the church with his own precious blood. Then imagine, if you can, one of the angels voicing the opinion which is so prevalent today, "Oh well, the church isn't important. It isn't valuable. Sinful human beings can be saved and live the Christian life without the church." Such a conversation is unthinkable.

The church is composed of all those who have been saved by the grace of God upon their obedience of the gospel. Wherever these saved persons are, there the church exists. They are commanded to assemble on each Lord's day for worship. They are required to preach the gospel to others, to exhort one another, to live daily in the steps of the Master. They are to love one another, encourage one another, and glorify God "in the church" (Eph. 3:21).

This church is not some human denomination or sect. It is undenominational. Jesus promised to build it when he said: "I will build my church" (Matt. 16:18). It was established by Christ on the day of Pentecost after his resurrection. It has continued to exist in the hearts of every faithful Christian in all the ages until now and will exist until Christ comes again and delivers it up to God the Father. Do not ever speak lightly of the church. Do not underestimate its value. Remember, Christ purchased it with his own precious blood. Be sure that you are added to it by the Lord. If you have been added by him then labor each day to give glory to God "in the church."

"Fatherless And Widows"

Clifton Rogers

"To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction" (James 1:27), is part of "Pure Religion," and members here at Proctor Street rejoice that they are having part in this in a variety of ways. Periodically such needs are met relative to families in Port Arthur, regularly clothing is sent to Korea and other needy fields, and monthly financial assistance is sent to homes for the needy, maintained by the churches of Christ at home and abroad.

The fact that those helped are not always orphans indeed, or widows indeed, does not deter our helping them when they are in need. Even brothers in need are extended assistance, as are entire families (note John 3:17). And the fact that we cannot meet all the needs of all the needy does not keep us from assisting those we can help.

We are happy to send monthly support to homes for the needy, although we understand that this is not the only method of meeting such needs, and that under some conditions may not be the best way. Yet it is one way privileged under the law of expediency. As we are not told "how" to "visit" the fatherless and widows, our good judgment must be exercised—even as is true, relative to studying the Bible in classes, to the size and type of building in which the church is to meet, or to the best methods to be employed in teaching all nations.

Yes, we deem it right and wise to have fellowship with our brethren of other congregations who zealously apply themselves to the maintaining of Christian homes for the needy. When a home is under the oversight of the elders of one congregation, it is not a separate organization from the church. This is the church at work. The fact that others are called in for assistance in planning and one man is given the responsibility of directing the details of the home, does not argue that the elders are not actually overseeing the work, or that it is not only a congregational enterprise. "Oh, but the superintendent runs it" no more proves the plan is wrong than, "Oh, the preacher runs it" proves that a congregation should not employ an evangelist.

ON TO NEGLECTED FIELDS!

There are so many thousands of people living throughout the length and breadth of our own land who have never obeyed the gospel because they have never had the privilege of hearing it, that it presents a distinct challenge not only to every congregation of disciples of the Lord, but to every Christian who is whole-hearted in the Lord's work. It is well enough to be interested in the soundness of the congregations that are already established. It is well enough to be concerned as to their loyalty, and it is of high importance that preachers and elders as well as others engaged in teaching among the churches be vigilant in the conservation of the faith and practice of the people of God.

But all of our time should not be spent in trying to save the saved. All of our time cannot be wisely spent in criticisms just or unjust of what members are doing or not doing. There are many thousands of the best people in the world, honest and earnest but ignorant of the right ways of the Lord — unsaved without God and without hope in the world. Many of them would make better Christians than some already in the church. It is often better to go out and establish some congregation where the people are honest-hearted and rejoice in learning the truth, than it is to spend months and years in a monotonous harangue over a congregation that is doing nothing and wants to do less, and that is making no growth either in numbers or in the essential qualities of the Christian life. When people have been well taught and well and earnestly warned, it is not always the best part of wisdom to stay with them and spend all of one's power, energy, and ability speaking to them or trying to teach them what they already know and will not do. Much of such teaching (and writing as well) is often lost because it is like some fellow whistling against the wind. Paul once said, "Seeing ye put it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles." He turned away from some people who would not heed and who were not being benefitted to some of the many thousands of his day and time who had never heard, and among whom there were vast possibilities for the blessings of the gospel of the Son of God.

Personally, I am calling for young men of faith and zeal and determination—and older ones as well—from our schools and colleges and from congregations that are loyal, faithful and strong and want to do something to save souls—I am calling for the cooperation of such material in the churches of Christ to go out this spring and summer (as well, as at other times) and preach the glorious gospel of the Son of God in destitute fields. I realize that something is being done along this line, but what has been done and is now being done is small in comparison with the almost unbelievable possibilities for the extension of the cause and kingdom of the Master.

One hundred faithful gospel preachers could spend their time well during the next four or six months preaching wholly in the destitute fields in the Rocky Mountain States and in the North and East. That may seem like a large number of preachers, but the work is larger and greater than even that number of gospel preachers can perform. In many congregations men capable of preaching the gospel, and others who are incapable of doing so, are sitting down on the seat of do-nothing or lying on the bed of do-less, speculating on the philosophies of men and some vague interpretations and misinterpretations of the Bible and quarreling among themselves, and undertaking to expose some of their fellow preachers or fellow members. Men of Israel, help! Our Lord does not require us to sit down and beg people to come and get the truth. They will never do this. The Lord requires us to carry the gospel to the people. Every Christian can be doing this today. Send them good literature. This is, perhaps, the cheapest possible method of interesting them in the truth. Send to them the proclaimers of the gospel, and let preachers understand that if churches do not cooperate with them as they should, they must, nevertheless, themselves go. We can afford to make some sacrifices. Paul delighted to preach the gospel where Christ had not been named and he did not wait for some security and certified assurance that his necessities would be provided by some congregation. He went out into waste places and proclaimed the gospel, endured hardness for the cause of Christ, made sacrifices in the Lord's great work, and he had plenty on which to live, so far as the material things of this life were concerned. The Lord went with him—he did not leave nor forsake him. After he went, preached and established churches, these churches and others that were already established sent to his necessities. This is the Lord's way. Let us be up and doing. Read what others have to say.

Let us press the glorious work as never before.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Willis G. Jernigan, 1401 Ash Street, Commerce, Texas, July 7: Three baptisms and one identified here recently. The work progresses in a very fine way. I have preached in recent weeks at St. Petersburg, Florida, and Uvalde, Texas. I am now in a meeting with the brethren at Chandler, Texas.

Harold Thurman, Lindsay, Oklahoma, July 6: We have just closed an excellent song drill with Ira Y. Rice, Sr. He is the best singing teacher we have seen. I will meet the local Missionary Baptist preacher, July 27-30 in the Lindsay Community Building. We are debating the questions of baptism and apostasy.

W. A. Bradfield, Henderson, Tennessee, July 6: The meeting at Northside in Fayetteville, Tennessee, closed last night. Seven were baptized and one was restored. Roland Andrews, who preaches there regularly, was a great help in the meeting. B. F. Davis of McBurn, Tennessee, led the singing in a commendable way.

W. S. Wiley, 503 E. Huisache, Kingsville, Texas, July 10: The vacation period does not seem to be affecting our attendance as adversely as it usually does here. We had an unusually good attendance for our last Wednesday night service. Three have been baptized here this week: one lady Sunday morning and two Wednesday. I have time for a meeting this fall or winter.

Gene Arnold, Gastonia, North Carolina, July 10: Construction of another building for the church of our Lord will begin soon. The grading of the lot has been done and just as soon as the plans have the approval of the State Fire Marshal the building will be started. The church is now meeting in the front part of the house in which we live. The congregation as a whole is working faithfully.

Vestal Chaffin, Box 84, Bruceton, Tennessee, July 6: My work with the Warners Chapel church in Clemmons, North Carolina, came to a close June 14. One was baptized the last week I was there. Our work here is off to a good start. Good attentive audiences have characterized all the services here thus far. One has been restored since my coming. I am to be away two months in meeting work beginning July 13.

S. C. Kinningham, Calgary, Alberta, Canada, July 8: Two have been baptized in the past two weeks and two placed membership with the congregation who moved here from Saskatchewan. Our recent meeting in Lethbridge showed encouraging results and we hope to have a congregation meeting there within a short time. A preacher is needed there badly. Will some congregation assume the responsibility of sending one there?

Haskell T. England, 211 East B Street, Waurika, Oklahoma, July 4: Brother Clarence Harris very ably conducted the song service and I did the preaching in a meeting at Braggs, Oklahoma. Attendance and interest were very good but there were no visible results. The Lord willing I will be with the good people at Braggs again next year. Our new building at Waurika is coming along nicely. Brother Tom Ward of Lawton, Oklahoma, is in charge of construction.

Herbert L. Coffman, 2208 Cleburne, Apt. 2, Houston 4, Texas, July 5: Brother Warren Branner of Boling, Texas, just completed a meeting with us at West 34th Street. The results of the meeting were approximately a hundred families visited the meeting; two people placed membership, three were restored, and five were baptized. If anyone is desirous of securing a good meeting preacher, I would unqualifiedly recommend Brother Branner.

A. J. Hobbs, Jr., 3156 Jane Lane, Fort Worth, Texas, July 8: Just recently I did the preaching in a meeting with the East-side congregation in Waco, Texas. There were eight responses to the invitation—three for baptism. Brother Thomas McDonald is the faithful evangelist for this congregation. They have just recently added some new classrooms. The Warren-Ballard and the Wallace-Hunt debates will be off the press soon. At the present, I am in an interesting meeting at Pottsville.

Louie M. White, San Marcos, Texas, July 9: We have been laboring with the church in San Marcos for about three months and are very enthusiastic about the growth of the Lord's cause here. We have had 21 responses to the invitation including ten who came requesting baptism. Brother James Fowler of College Station, Texas, will be with the church here in a meeting from July 26 through August 2. He will also assist with a vacation Bible school during that week. I am to be with the church in Knappa in a meeting from July 13 to 22.

Jimmy Campbell, 101 N. Lelia, Guymon, Oklahoma, July 6: I have resigned the work here, to become effective sometime in August. This will have seen some 23 months go by since we came here. During that time astounding growth was made. However, many have moved in recent weeks. No one has been selected to follow me here. Interested parties should contact Herman Ralstin, 1210 N. Academy, phone 478 or 293. My plans are not yet definite, but I hope to be able to locate where I can continue in college.

James D. Groves, Detroit 16, Michigan, July 6: A. J. Kerr, who leaves Wyandotte, Michigan, after an outstanding work, August 1, spoke at our 8:30 a.m. service yesterday at Vinewood. One was baptized and one restored. I spoke at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Three were baptized, one identified, and one restored, for a total of seven responses for the day. The Wyandotte church has made signal progress in the almost eight years Brother Kerr has served it, growing from 35 to 175 members, erecting a building valued at $75,000 with an indebtedness of about $16,000 remaining.

E. J. Berry, 1030 Dearborn Avenue, Salem, Oregon, July 9: The cause of the Lord continues to prosper here in the Keizer community of Salem. Three were baptized last night at our mid-week service: one young lady, and two young men. One of them is the husband of a fine young Christian woman. We now have an even 50 active members in this little congregation, which is an increase of 29 since we came here last September. Our attendance continues to increase and we have several neighbors who are very interested in the gospel and we hope to convert some of them soon.

Russell Gleaves, 1 Jordan Avenue, Brunswick, Maine, July 1: Avis C. Wiggins of Lewisburg, Tennessee, did the preaching in a meeting at this place recently; four were baptized. The work here is making steady growth. Members of the church stationed at the Naval Air Station are helping considerably. Notify us of anyone being sent here or to Bath, Maine.

W. Taylor Carter, 1526 Vermont, Lawrence, Kansas: Homer Halley of Tampa, Florida, closed a very fine meeting at Lawrence, Kansas, last Sunday night. His lessons were excellent. Crowds were good throughout the meeting. Though there were no additions during the meeting, the church was strengthened and edified. One was baptized and one placed membership the week following the meeting. Eight were baptized three weeks before the meeting.

Beryl Bodenham, 515 Ann Street, Montgomery, Alabama, July 9: It has been some time since I wrote you about the work in the Mt. Hebron community, near Eclectic, Alabama. Since coming here last September, the work has progressed in every way. Last week, five more obeyed the gospel. Our new meeting house should be completed soon if the Lord wills. When passing this way, stop and worship with us.

Ira Y. Rice, Sr., 1107 W. Eufala St., Norman, Oklahoma, July 6: I have spent the last two weeks with the church at Lindsay, Oklahoma, conducting song drill work. I also preached there on the two Lord's days I was there. Brother Harold Thurman is the efficient and faithful minister for those good people, and he and his wife are held in high esteem by the church. I spent the time in my work most pleasantly with those fine people. They know hospitality. Success to the Firm Foundation.

Arnold Hardin, Lancaster, Texas, July 6: Despite the heat and lack of rain the work seems to be holding up fine this summer. We are still setting new records in parts of our work with the contribution reaching $401.38 yesterday. We are printing a four-page paper twice a month and the boys are placing these in each home. The reaction has been considerable thus far and we believe much good will be done by this method. Fifty-eight responses here thus far this year, with four this past week.

Clarence A. Price, Bryson, Texas, July 4: On Thursday morning of this week I baptized a young mother who came to my home requesting baptism at once. There should be more such action on the part of those who make up their mind to obey at once or "the same hour of the night." A former Baptist lady who obeyed the gospel here recently has been ordered by her parents not to come near their home any more. This means being cut off from her parents in order to be a Christian. May God Bless her and others like her for their stand on the truth.

Homer Putnam Reeves, 2448 W. Jefferson, Dallas, Texas: The Sunset church has just completed an encampment at Thorp Springs, Texas. Approximately one hundred of our people participated. Brother Wyatt Sawyer of Madisonville, Texas, brought very appropriate lessons each evening. Nineteen were baptized; eight were restored. On June 23, six were added by transfer at Sunset. We plan to have services in our new building at the above address on August 2. I am to begin a meeting with James Benson and the Lepanto, Arkansas, church on August 4.

W. Levi Gentry, Box 369, Huntsville, Texas, July 7: We are glad to report two baptisms in Huntsville within the last three weeks. Brother B. Frank Rhodes, Jr., of the Abilene Christian College faculty, will preach for the Huntsville church during August. I expect to be in meetings at Durham, North Carolina; Acton, Tennessee, and Memphis, Tennessee, during that time.

Durward Boggs, 7825 Hillard, Dallas, Texas, July 1: The Lord's work in Pleasant Grove moves forward. During June we had our first vacation Bible school. We had an average attendance of 115. We feel this is a good attendance for this size congregation. Following our vacation Bible school we had a ten-day meeting with Otta Johnson from Denison preaching; one was baptized. Our membership as of today is 202.

Tillit S. Teddlie, Box 336, Ennis, Texas, July 9: The Normal Music School at McLean, Texas, closed July 3. Thirty or forty young men were trained to direct the song service in the churches of Christ. I began a good meeting at Buffalo, Texas, Sunday night. The interest is very high and we expect to baptize a number of men and women before it closes. My next meeting will begin August 31 at Clarendon, Texas. Interest continues to be good in Ennis.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, July 4: The Willow Street Church of Christ in Cookeville is now having two worship services every Sunday morning, 8:45 a.m., and 11:00 a.m., as a remedy for the crowded conditions. The average per Sunday for Bible School in June was 193.5, the very best in the history of Willow Street. The meeting at Green Hills in Nashville, closed with one baptized and one to place membership. Brother James McBroom is a fine co-laborer. will return in 1954.

David Allan, 1020 Austin Avenue, Brownwood, Texas, July 6: Since my last report, two have been baptized, one restored and one placed membership with us, and I must say that the work here moves along in a very fine way. My next meeting will be at Zephyr, Texas, beginning July 31 and continuing through August 9th. One of our deacons, W. L. Ladyman, is doing a fine job, carrying on gospel meetings every Lord's day evening, at Oakland, which is about twenty miles from Brownwood.

Malcom P. Hinckley, 3034 E. Gage, Huntington Park, California, July 7: Since our last report, one has been baptized, four placed membership, and five have been restored. We have just concluded our vacation Bible school. We began with 150 and reached a high of 185. The average daily attendance was 170, a very high proportion of the 190 enrolled. We reached the physical limitations of our classroom space. A building fund to meet that need has been begun. We have also extensively redecorated our auditorium.

Wendell Winkler, Box 133, Rayville, Louisiana, July 7: Since last report, nine have been baptized, four restored and two have placed membership here in Rayville. I just returned from two meetings in the Birmingham, Alabama, area: Mulga and Adamsville. One was baptized at Mulga and seven adults were baptized in Adamsville. W. W. Wade and J. G. Pruett labor with these respective congregations. I also just concluded a meeting at Oak Grove in Walker County, Alabama, where John Nicholas labors. I begin at Oak Grove, Louisiana, July 23, under a tent.

A. H. Bryant, Del Paso Heights, California, July 6: Brother B. U. Baldwin closed a very good meeting with the church here in Del Paso Heights yesterday evening. Brother Baldwin preached the truth in love, yet in a powerful way. Visible results: three confessions of wrongs, and especially neglect and indifference. We are persuaded that many others of us were encouraged and persuaded to continue with more zeal and greater determination. The future of the church here looks brighter, and we are pleased to give our Lord the glory through the gospel ordained to man's salvation.

Clifford S. Owens, 1805 River Drive, Nashville, Tennessee, July 7: We concluded a very successful meeting at the Eighth Avenue congregation on July 1. R. Leonard Owens of Atoka, Oklahoma, did the preaching in a simple and forceful manner. The writer directed the song service. There were eight responses to the invitation: four were baptized, two restored, and two placed membership. One man came from the Presbyterian church and one lady from the Christian church. Two more have placed membership since the meeting. One man was restored previous to the meeting.

Maurice M. Howell, 3425 13th Avenue, N., Birmingham, Alabama, July 5: Thirteen were baptized in the meeting last month with the Foote Street Church of Christ in Corinth, Mississippi. It was as pleasant a meeting as could be expected. It was my privilege to work with this fine congregation from 1942 to 1947. Brother Lindsay Allen is doing a great work there now. Brother Sewel Hall directed the song services during the meeting. A vacation Bible School was carried on during the meeting. The School was a very successful one. I am now in my fifth year with the Central congregation of this city.

James W. Reynolds, 135 Vernon Place, Pueblo, Colorado, June 30: Our Vacation Bible School came to a close Friday, June 26, with the last week's attendance averaging 366 daily with the entire school's daily average attendance being 344. This was the best school in many ways that we have ever conducted as the average attendance and enrollment was very near the same. Our work continues to show an increase in every way. I am beginning a meeting July 6th with the church in Rocky Ford, Colorado, where Milton Simmons preaches. When you are this way, worship with the Broadway & Orman church of Christ in Pueblo, Colorado.

W. S. Willis, 2811 Avenue E, Fort Worth, Texas: Just closed a very good meeting with the brethren at Chico, Texas, where I have been preaching two Lord's days each month for some six months. There were no baptisms in this meeting but every member came forward and acknowledged their sins, wrongs, and mistakes and rededicated their lives to the work of the Lord. It was a very happy day for the church as there had been ill feelings among the members for a long time. The meeting was well attended by many congregations coming from Bridgeport, Paradise, Boyd, Decatur, Springtown, Graford, Sunset, Alvord, and Houston. It was said there were more local people in each service than ever before. The last service, the members of the Christian church came in a body. There were some in every service. It is my prayer that the teaching will bring a better feeling between these people and the church, and that eventually work for the unity of them in the Lord's church. I have been going to Cottdale for a number of months one Lord's day each month. I have been called to preach at Leonard, DeLeon, Spade, and Joshua. I have supplied for a number of the congregations here in the city. I delivered my special lecture on "America's Greatest Curse" at the Poly congregation to a large crowd of children, young people, and adults. I will be glad to deliver this lecture any time I am called. It is on "tobacco and its effects." If any of the brethren would like to have this lecture, I will be glad to hear from them. I will supply for Brother Williams at the Lake Worth congregation the second and third Lord's days of July. If I can be of service in supply or meetings, please call me at La. 3145.

Ted Norton, 2701 Avenue F, Snyder, Texas, July 2: Brother Paul Foutz of Sweetwater, Texas, did the preaching in our meeting, June 19 to 28. Nine were baptized and five restored. Another was baptized last night. Attendance was good through the meeting. Chairs were added to seat the audience most of the evenings. Day attendance was near two hundred. Next Sunday will be another great day for the church in Snyder—a new congregation is to begin work on 37th Street. Brother Warder K. Novak is to serve as evangelist.

R. Elmer Adcock, Mertzon, Texas, July 8: We just recently closed a very good vacation Bible School, June 15-19. The attendance was fine and means much to the church. Brother G. C. Ross of Portales, New Mexico, assisted us in a very fine meeting, June 21-28, with Brother Pat Stephenson of Sonora, Texas, directing the singing. Interest was very good and the church was strengthened a great deal. Brother Ross will return the same date next year for the third meeting here the Lord willing. Three were baptized into Christ on June 14th. Two of these young boys are already active to some extent in singing and leading prayers, the other is in the service of his country and we have much hopes for him in the Master's cause.

Frank L. Cox, Box 104, Mineola, Texas, July 6: I have prepared a series of special lectures on themes of interest to churches of Christ: A Course for Preachers—on the preparation and delivery of sermons; a Teachers Training Course; Great Prayers of the Bible; Parables of Jesus; Eschatology—the Final Things; Letters to the Seven Churches in Asia; the Sermon on the Mount; the Beatitudes of Jesus; etc. Though busy in local work, I am allowed a few weeks off each year for such special meetings. Would you like to have one or two of these lecture courses this fall? or next year? Any two of the courses may be delivered concurrently—one during the mornings, the other during the evenings. Let me hear from you.

Lloyd R. Brents, 1520 Hickory Street, Texarkana, Arkansas, July 9: Last night I closed a meeting at Nash, Texas, with five baptized, five restored, and four identified. Brother Jack Moore preaches for the Nash church, and it is growing. I begin a meeting at the New Liberty church at Cleveland, Arkansas, July 13. We are now entering our second year of work with the Walnut Street congregation in Texarkana. Our first year here saw 43 baptized, 14 restored, and 50 identified. For the first six months of this year Bible school attendance averaged 311 per Sunday, as against 256 in the same period last year. Contributions averaged $543.01, as against $425.25 for the corresponding period last year. When in Texarkana, worship with us.

J. P. Williams, Route 11, Box 198, Fort Worth, Texas, July 9: One was baptized and 17 confessed wrong in a recent meeting at Carolton, Texas, where Brother Price Bankhead is the faithful minister, and your writer did the preaching. Two have been baptized, seven confessed error, and nine identified as Christians here at Lake Worth in Fort Worth since our last report. Several of these were during a recent meeting with Brother Joe Malone as visiting evangelist. This congregation will send me anywhere in the United States for a mission meeting. Anyone interested, may contact us at the above address.

C. W. Scott, 301 N. W. 52nd Street, Miami, Florida, July 10: Meeting with the Brownsville church in Pensacola closed June 18 with one baptism, four requesting prayers of the church, and one placing membership. Lewis Casey was a faithful worker in the meeting and is now in his third year with the congregation. He spoke for us here last Sunday morning with one restoration resulting. Two others have been baptized, one a Lutheran and the other renouncing Christian Science, and two placing membership since my return to begin my fourth year with the Seventh Avenue brethren. Visit with us when in Miami.

Paul M. Tucker, 1244 Plymouth Avenue, Nashville 6, Tennessee, July 1: The first six months of 1953 have been above the corresponding time in any previous year at Jackson Park church in every way. There have been forty additions of which twenty-five were baptisms. Sunday school attendance and contribution are up. Vacation Bible school averaged 246 daily. Granville Tyler, of Birmingham, held our spring meeting. Jackson Park, with others, is supporting Joe Sanders, in Boston, Massachusetts, and is sending six of our best teachers to Boston for Vacation Bible School this summer. I am now in a meeting at Blue Mountain, Mississippi, with T. A. Nicks of Nashville leading the singing.

Voyd N. Ballard, P. O. Box 465, Woodville, California, July 1: I am happy to report that the work of the Lord is in good shape in Woodville. Interest and attendance have been unusually good during the past few weeks. One thing that is especially encouraging to me is that we are having quite a number of people in attendance who are not members of the church. During the month of June there were five baptisms and three confessions of wrongs. Beginning August 16 I am to conduct a meeting in Invercoran, California, and all who can are invited to attend. I could arrange to conduct another meeting in California in September or October. If any congregation is interested, you may write me as above.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, July 6: The work of the Lord in Mission goes along in a very fine way. A marked improvement is noticeable at all the services, for which we are most happy, and give unto the Lord all the glory. We are having a number of visitors for every service, and especially on Sunday evening, most of the denominations have dismissed their Sunday evening service for the summer, and quite a few of them are attending our services, and that too, is novel in the church here. We have just concluded a most successful vacation Bible school, the first attempt at having one here. It was conducted by home forces, and we had a daily average of 75, which for Mission is a fine attendance. The elders worked hard to make the school a success. They never missed a service, and used their pick-up trucks to get the ice and cold drinks out to the park, while their wives used the family car to transport children to the schools. We just know some contacts were made that will be responsible for bringing some of the children to our service. It is something new and refreshing to me to work with elders that elder. They have taken me to visit in the homes of every member of the church since we came here (strange that an elder should know where his sheep live, isn't it?) When coming to the Valley, worship with us at Mission.

Church of Christ, Chico, Texas, July 6: Brother W. S. Willis led us in a gospel meeting which was most profitable and well attended. The church was unified, edified and made stronger by the splendid lessons presented by Brother Willis. Brother Royce Flowers directed the songs in a very commendable way. He is the regular minister for the church at Krum. These brethren came one evening in a body which was much encouragement to the church here at Chico. Many outside people attended the meeting. Many of the congregations were represented in most every service. In the last service the members of the Christian church came in a body. Much good will come from this meeting.

D. D. Woody, 127 Oakwood Drive, July 1: I closed a series of meetings with the church at Tiptonville, Tennessee, last Sunday evening. There were seven responses to the invitation, and many visitors were present for the meetings. Brother Homer Royster, the local preacher, was a great co-laborer. He very ably directed the singing as well as helping in many other ways. I am scheduled to begin at Petersburg, Tennessee, on the night of July 2. During the first half of June Brother Carroll Ellis of Nashville, Tennessee, did the preaching in a meeting for the church in Baton Rouge. His lessons were some of the very best, and several responded to the invitation. Brother Ellis was with the church here for a number of years and is loved by all.

Austin Taylor, Uvalde, Texas, July 7: The Sabinal School, in which hymns and hymn singing is studied, along with Bible, is closed for this year. Seven young men from the classes were baptized. A number of young men attending those classes in the past, have not only learned to sing well but have been encouraged to start preaching the gospel. They are out now baptizing people. It appears that much good is being done. Of course, a good critic could find fault with all that is being done. Our dear Savior was criticised all the time he was on earth. His own disciples were astonished that he spoke kindly to a Samaritan woman at Jacob's Well. The only way to avoid criticism is to sit flat down and do nothing. By the help of so many good people, we hope to have a larger class each year and reach more of the unsaved.

W. B. Cox, Mason, Texas, July 4: We closed a most interesting Vacation Bible School the first week of June. Many young people attended from the denominations around us. June 19-23 Brother Cecil E. Hill of San Antonio conducted a gospel meeting here. His son, Allan Hill of A.C.C., conducted the song service. Allan is an outstanding young man in the song directing field. Any congregation would do well to employ his talents in gospel meetings. Brother Cecil Hill preached the word in all of its purity and the result was four baptisms and two to place membership with this congregation. Two of those baptized were men between 60 and 75 years of age. The congregation here rejoiced at their decision. The work here is the finest we have been privileged to work with. May God continue to bless the faithful. One has been restored since our last report.

C. Ray Miller, 208 S. Witte, Poteau, Oklahoma, July 6: The meeting with the Moten congregation, near Mammoth Spring, Arkansas, closed June 28. Four were baptized. The brethren asked me to be with them again next year. The cooperation of the churches of Christ in Fulton County, Arkansas, is among the best I have ever seen. We had visitors each night from various congregations, which was a source of encouragement to all. During my absence here the elders did the preaching, and one was restored. My next meeting will begin July 27 at Summerfield, Oklahoma. This is said to be the oldest congregation in LeFlore County. I have never held a meeting there before and am looking forward to being with the brethren at that place.

R. E. Griffith, Box 397, Eunice, New Mexico: I am in fine health. Have recently conducted two good meetings. The local work is fair. I am in position for a meeting in October. Who wants the time?

Bill Thompson, Lufkin, Texas, July 6: One man and one Catholic lady were baptized yesterday. Half of the money for the new meeting house for the Union Road congregation has been raised, and construction is well under way.

Logan Buchanan, 2760 Emmett Street, Dallas, Texas, July 9: Brother Woodrow Hughes has just moved to Grand Forks, North Dakota, to establish the church in that city. He is sponsored by the Hereford, Texas, church. Lots have been purchased to build a church building, and a fine preacher's home has been bought at 1112 Cherry Street. On August 3, we shall begin a meeting in Grand Forks, and we are anxious to find as many members of the church in that section, and as many people who are friendly to the church as we can. Many readers of the Firm Foundation will have friends or kinfolks in the Eastern part of North Dakota, or the Western part of Minnesota, who can be reached during this meeting. Please help us by sending the information to Brother Hughes in Grand Forks. The Herald of Truth has just been placed on the Grand Forks radio station, and this should be of great help to the work.

Truman E. Spring, Corpus Christi, Texas, July 8: We enter the last half of the year at Hillcrest with high anticipation of continuing to break all of our previous records. For the first six months of 1953, there have been 127 responses, with well over one-third of these being baptisms. The writer has conducted two meetings thus far this year—at Luling, Texas, with seven responses; and in Corsicana, Texas, with the North Beaton Street church where T. B. Crews is minister, with seven responses. My next meeting will be with the Gardenale congregation located in the suburban part of this city, and following that, I will be with the brethren in Poteet, August 3-12. When visiting the Gulf Coast, you are cordially invited to worship with the Hillcrest congregation in Corpus Christi.

Clyde V. Moore, 546 Western Avenue, Toledo, Ohio: June 27th, I closed a meeting in Adrian, Michigan, resulting in two baptisms. Brother Glen Mellott of Toledo, Ohio, preaches regularly for this congregation. We have had 26 additions here since the first of the year: 13 by baptism, four restored, and nine to transfer membership. Sunday, June 28, I completed 27 months' work with this congregation. Brother Greer Hendon of Rogersville, Alabama, will begin his work with this congregation about July 16. After July 1, my address will be Route 1, Garrett, Indiana. We expect to worship and work mostly with the Garrett congregation where Brother Palmer is local minister. I shall be secularly employed, preaching and teaching as I have opportunity in that area.

Luther G. Roberts, 2110 W. 2nd Avenue, Corsicana, Texas, July 6: Two, a husband and wife, were baptized yesterday here at the West Side church. With a total membership of 187 there were 187 present for Bible classes yesterday morning. Of course, some of those attending were not members of the church, as some of the members are "anti-Bible class," at least, in practice. The West Side church meets at West Second at 24th Street. The church building was air-conditioned with refrigerated air-conditioning the past spring. The summer meeting of the church is to be conducted August 9-16, with Jack Hardecastle of the College Avenue Church in Lubbock, Texas, doing the preaching. I am to preach in meetings at Pursley, Texas, July 26-August 2, and in Loveland, Colorado, where Gorin Rutherford is the regular preacher, August 26-September 6.

C. Edwin Bills, Sr., Box 178, Freer, Texas, July 8: Since moving to work with the church here on January 1, 1953, there have been 15 to respond to the Lord's invitation. The church here is supporting the Herald of Truth, Sunny Glenn Home, and the African work, and plans to support The Way of Truth, over KWBU in Corpus Christi, Texas, when it resumes broadcasting. Brother R. D. Simmons of Corpus Christi, the speaker on the Way of Truth will hold our fall meeting, October 19-28. We have made extensive repairs to the meeting house here. We plan to have a vacation Bible school in August, and are planning a full program of work in this community. The work here is hard, because of the community and the section of the country, however, we are enjoying our work with these good people. The Lord blessed our family with our second child, a son, on Memorial day. I can hold one or two meetings, preferably this fall or next spring. May the Lord bless our labors to the saving of the souls of men.

H. W. McClish, Star, Texas, July 11: The time of this writing finds me at Star in a wonderful meeting. Five baptisms and one restoration thus far in this meeting which comes to a close tomorrow, Sunday, July 12. I have done the preaching in meetings in Hermosa Beach, California; Fairview, Texas, and Hico, Texas, and now this one. I also had the privilege of teaching the adult class in the vacation Bible school for the church in Brady, Texas, this year. I have seen thirty-five precious souls respond to the invitation thus far, and almost all of them for baptism. I believe a spiritual awakening is evidencing itself among our people of today, as I find them more ready to hear, everywhere that I go, than they have been in the past. Let us hope and pray that such is true and that the movement in that direction may ever increase in its rapidity.

Fred W. McClung, Box 84, Fayetteville, Arkansas, July 4: The Mt. Sequoyah Encampment starts July 11th and will continue through the 19th. We intend to make this an annual affair. Come with the entire family. Because so many could not arrange on such short notice to go with us, we have postponed our tour of Europe, Egypt, and the Holy Land until next summer. Several changes are being made in the itinerary so as to make it the best tour available. Transatlantic passage is being booked on the Queen Mary, but most of the travel from country to country will be by plane to save time. Contact me now if you are interested. Watch for exact price and sailing date in a few weeks. I want to report two baptisms, three restorations and three placing membership. Majestic Hymns is one of the greatest hymnals ever offered to the brotherhood.

Herb Swinney, Box 7, Coleman, Texas, June 22: The greatest gospel meeting ever to bless Coleman, Texas, has just come to a close. This twelve night endeavor resulted in 130 responses to the invitation. There were 35 baptized, 92 restored to their first love and three to place membership. Dan Fogarty did the preaching with hundreds of scriptures, forceful ability and timely lessons. Curtis Lindsey, a local member, led the singing. The co-operation between the song leader and the preacher was one of the reasons for our success. Our church bus was used to bring to the services those who did not have a way. A great number of people baptized came from the Baptist church; some were from the Methodist ranks and one man with wife came from the Pentecostal church. The meeting was held out of doors with 1500 rented chairs, a loud speaker and flood lights. Our largest audience was 1050 people and the average attendance was 806. Our Bible class record was shattered with 488 present. The Coleman church gains strength, takes courage and looks forward to greater things.

John McCoy, Box 65, Nocona, Texas, July 7: The last month, four have been baptized and five have placed membership in Nocona. We have begun a special class each week training men to be elders and deacons.

MISSION MEETING AT ROCKPORT, TEXAS

M. Norvel Young

The brethren in Lubbock sent me to preach in a week's meeting at Rockport where Brother Leo Owens is preaching regularly. It was a very enjoyable week preaching to 150 to 200 under a tent in this coast city. The brethren are working together and Brother Owens is well loved. One was baptized and one restored. Two other couples promised to obey the gospel soon. The visiting brethren from that area were a great encouragement.

PREACHERS OF TODAY

Mont Whitson

One of the finest contributions to the brotherhood in recent years is the publication of "Preachers of Today," edited by M. Norvel Young and Batsell Barrett Baxter.

For locating preachers, for visualizing those whom you have heard about but never seen, and for renewing old acquaintances this volume is unsurpassed. Recently, I looked through the entire book and to my amazement I had personally met at least two hundred and fifty-two of the preachers listed. Where else could you meet so many of your friends with as little effort and expense?

A second volume is being contemplated by the editors if the demand is great enough. If you would like to see a companion volume, why don't you write to the editors and encourage them in such a project?

A VALUABLE REVISION
BY L. R. WILSON

James O. Baird

Ten years ago L. R. Wilson delivered a series of twelve sermons on the New Testament church over Radio Station WOAI in San Antonio, Texas. These lessons were printed in the Firm Foundation and then published in a book which exhausted two printings. The original book has been rewritten and six additional chapters have been added in this current edition of The New Testament Church, published in March by the Firm Foundation Publishing House.

I do not know of any book which fills the role of this one. It is concise, yet comprehensive. The eighteen themes dealt with are discussed in such a manner that the novice, through a thoughtful reading, will be led into a clear understanding of the true nature of the church. Those who have read much about the church will from this fresh restatement have their faith deepened and strengthened. Few men possess Brother Wilson's ability for writing so succinctly and effectively. His talent is well used in this book which, like its forerunner, will be valuable to many.

Bert Wells, Box 674, Archer City, Texas, June 25: We are beginning to make some real progress in Archer City. Our gain just in the past few months is certainly noticeable. Though still comparatively few in number, the church is indeed doing a creditable work for the Lord Jesus. Lord's day attendance continues to increase. Our auditorium seats about 100 people and is almost filled at the morning service, with a good gathering for the evening service. Since my last report several weeks ago, we have had three baptisms and two by membership. One of those baptized was a dear old lady past eighty years of age. Our summer revival meeting closed Wednesday night, June 24, in which Brother Jimmy Wood, from the Northside church in Odessa, did the preaching. The meeting was well attended, with visitors from many neighboring churches. Brother Wood preached the gospel of Christ humbly, boldly, and in kindness. We know the church was strengthened and greatly encouraged as the result of his work with us. We are expecting almost immediate results, visibly, from his preaching and the work that was done during our ten-day revival. At the present time we are preparing to build a new auditorium. The plan is to move our present building back on the lot, convert it into classrooms, and build a new auditorium that will seat about 250 people. Members of the church have been very liberal in giving into a special building fund the amount of $1,100. We will need approximately $3,000 in addition to this to erect the auditorium, and are asking other churches who feel that we are worthy, to help us finance this project. We intend to do most of the work ourselves. The Firm Foundation is an excellent church paper and I enjoy every issue very much.

B. F. England, P. O. Box 241, Grandfield, Oklahoma, June 30: I closed a good meeting at Lequire, Oklahoma, May 31. Five were baptized and one restored. Among the baptisms was an elderly couple. The wife was 76, and the man 72. They had been in denominational churches most of their lives. One has been baptized at home and one restored and placed membership since our last report. We have lost two families and one of our girls by moving in the last two or three months. Our meeting begins here July 10. Brother Allen Lawton will do the preaching. We are working for a good meeting. My next meeting will be with the brethren at Greenland, Arkansas, beginning Monday night, July 20, and closing July 29. We are looking forward to this meeting. We begin a meeting at Charlie, Texas, August 2. We anticipate an enjoyable meeting with these brethren.

R. C. Copeland, Jr., Box 863, Clarendon, Texas, June 27: The Lord willing, I am to be in a meeting at Irene, Texas, July 5-14, and at Cee Vee, Texas, July 15-22. I am to be at Anton, Texas, and perform a wedding ceremony for some friends on July 17th. My work will terminate here July 26. I lack about one month working three years with the congregation here. My family and I will miss our friends here. The people of the town and church have been good to us, but we look forward to our new place and work with the good congregation at Tahlequah, Oklahoma. My work with the congregation there is to begin August 1st. All correspondents please note that my address will be Box 146, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, after August 1st. The friendliness of Clarendon will not be soon forgotten by us. The article on dancing in last issue of the Firm Foundation should do much good. It will wake those who want to know that dancing is wrong. You are doing a great work. May God bless you through many more years of fruitful, effective service in the church of Christ. The church of Christ is on the march.

C. L. Maxwell, Gonzales, Texas: The church work in Gonzales is making very satisfactory progress. This congregation has more than doubled the past two years and is still going forward. Two years ago this small congregation was being partially supported by outside help, but now we are self-supporting and doing some outside work. The church here is supporting me in a meeting at Waelder while the local members take care of the Lord's day preaching while I am away. The Waelder meeting is off to a splendid start. Brother W. A. Massey labors with them along with his good wife. This small group of Christians is worthy of help and should be assisted by some congregation in getting the work firmly established there. A little help will do the job. Brother Clarence Miller is one of the faithful members of this congregation. They have a very nice church building paid for, but the preacher should live in the community. Brother Massey is preaching for them now at great inconvenience and a very small support.

A New Printing of the Enlarged Edition
Price: 50 cents; Dozen, $5.50

We have just printed several thousand copies of "Bible Briefs and Sermon Outlines."

Printed on the specially thin, opaque paper with clear, bold type; 216 pages, so thin that it may conveniently be carried in the vest pocket.

Contains Nearly 200 Subject and Sermon Outlines

A comprehensive view of the Bible in its relation to man as set forth in a series of scriptural themes by which the Bible becomes its own interpreter.

"The Bible," "Unity of the Bible," "Composition of the Bible," "Facts About the Bible," "Helps for Bible Reading," "Rules for Bible Study," "The Dispensations of Religion," "Proper Division of the Word of God," etc.

Scriptural references throughout the outlines. A most wonderful book of sermons on the fundamentals and on congregational development. To these extensive outlines is added the famous "Hedge's Rules of Honorable Controversy," set forth by Dr. Levi Hedge, which Rules are generally accepted and used by debaters.

Remember, this is not only the latest but the "Enlarged Edition". Every preacher should have at least one copy for his own personal use.

This book, we believe, has no superior as a book for study in class work. It is very peculiarly adaptable as a text for a class of leaders and prospective preachers. Notwithstanding the high cost of production, the price remains the same, that is 50c per copy postpaid, or $5.50 per dozen. Why not send your order today? If you have never seen this book, you will be amazed at the fullness and enormous volume of its contents.

Max L. Johnson, 921 S. W. 18th Street, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, July 8: The writer began work with the only congregation in this city, July 5. There was one baptism at the morning service. The congregation seems anxious to do things for the Lord in this community.

Robert G. Cook, 615 West Fifth, Hope, Arkansas, June 29: Yesterday was a remarkable day at Fifth and Grady. The largest crowd we have had since I began work with these good people three years ago was present. One was restored to fellowship and three placed membership with us. Saturday night, July 4, I will begin a series of lessons in a meeting at Balls Chapel, near McCaskill, Arkansas, to continue through July 12. I will preach at Hope at the morning service, then have our evening service at 6:00 p.m., that I may go on to the meeting. This will be our last Lord's day with Fifth and Grady, as we will begin a meeting with the Oak Ridge Church of Christ, near Ladonia in Fannin County, Texas, July 17 to continue through the 26th. This is the community in which I was reared. I am looking forward to a wonderful meeting with these fine people. I will then return to Hope for the midweek service and then on August 1 I will begin work with the church at Springhill, Louisiana, where I pray there will be a great door open for me, opened by our Lord for the gospel. Pray for me that I may have faith, courage and purity of purpose to continue in my Master's work until the end. Sister Cook and I have enjoyed living in Hope. It is a fine town in which to love. Many good people here. May your good paper keep busy in spreading good tidings to the brotherhood.

FIRM FOUNDATION PUBLISHING HOUSE
Box 77, Austin 61, Texas

James B. Scott, Harlingen, Texas, July 9: After nearly six pleasant years with the Broadway church in Houston, we resigned that work effective July first to begin our labors with the fine congregation at Harrison and Eighth here in Harlingen. Brother Harrison Matthews, now of San Angelo, and Brother Flavil Colley, now with Vickery in Dallas, preceded me, and seems to have left a fine foundation on which to build. We regretted to leave Broadway. It is one of the coming congregations in the state, and its people are the very finest. We had the privilege while there of seeing it grow from a struggling band of about 75 to a strong, stable work numbering 276 and with a contribution average of well over $500 per Sunday. The challenge here in Harlingen is tremendous, and we most earnestly covet the prayers of good brethren everywhere that we may have the wisdom to meet it. Visitors to the Valley can hardly miss the building, as it is on the main highway through the Valley, and we invite all brethren from up-state to worship with us when here.

W. L. Baze, 417 Welch Street, Denton, Texas, July 6: Since my last report, the Welch Street church has concluded a very successful vacation Bible school. The average attendance was one hundred and seventy-three. Much of the credit for the success of this school belongs to Brother and Sister C. A. Buchanan, who worked very hard and faithfully to insure such success. We were glad to have them both back here where Brother Buchanan had labored in past years. While we have encountered the summer slump, which evidently effects this congregation more than some, we still have enjoyed a good and profitable work with these brethren during the past few weeks. Visible results of our preaching the last three Lord's days consist of one baptism, one member restored, and one to place membership with this congregation. One of our greatest present needs is an enlarged auditorium which will obviate the necessity of having two services on Lord's day mornings. There can be little doubt but that a large, air-conditioned building would contribute largely to future growth. It is our hope that means will be found to bring our plans in this respect to an early fulfillment.

Paul T. Dumm, Charleston, South Carolina, July 6: Two were baptized and three confessed their sins during the month of June. Our building is being filled each Lord's day. Truly we do thank God for his wonderful blessings. When in Charleston, you will find us at Hester at San Souci Streets.

Greer E. Hendon, Rogersville, Alabama. Since my last report, I have conducted singing schools at the following places: Solo Church of Christ, near Covington, Tennessee; St. Joseph, Tennessee; Lawn Cedar, and Antioch Churches of Christ, near Florence, Alabama. The first two weeks in June, I conducted a meeting in Shady Valley, Tennessee, with my son, Greer Chunn, leading the singing. Two were baptized. The last two weeks in June, I conducted a tent meeting at Lacon, Alabama. Harmon Tilery and Greer Chunn Hendon directed the singing. I am now in a meeting with the Springhill church, near Somerville, Tennessee. I am to begin a meeting with the Elm Grove church, near Covington, Tennessee, August 2 with my son leading the singing. June 21, I am to begin regular work with the Western Avenue Church of Christ, Toledo, Ohio. My address will be: 544 Western Avenue, Toledo 9, Ohio.

Palmer Wheeler, Box 974, Memphis, Texas, July 8: The North Texas Music Normal at McLean, Texas, closed last Friday night. It was a success far beyond our fondest expectations. Two hundred and thirty-one were enrolled with five states represented. Students from 35 congregations were present to comprise the greatest array of talent ever to assemble for such work in North Texas. Brothers Tillit S. Teddlie, George Saunders and I were ably assisted in this work by Brother and Sister Harold McCollum, the local preacher. The elders at McLean have asked us to return for the third session next year. It will probably be scheduled for the first weeks in July. Announcement will be made later as to the date. Because of drought conditions, I will be open for schools and meetings all winter. Please contact me at the above address for a song drill this fall. I can go anywhere. Brother George Saunders will be available for school within 100 miles of McLean. His address is Box 188.

R. C. (Bob) Copeland, Jr., Box 863, Clarendon, Texas, July 2: July 26th will terminate my work here. I start working at Tahlequah, Oklahoma, August 1st. No one has been selected to work here. All correspondence should be addressed to J. H. Wood, Elder, Naylor Route, Clarendon, Texas. The church here is in position now to do very fruitful work and it is my prayer that every opportunity will be used, every obstacle met, every problem and decision be handled and made to the growth of the church here. To God be the glory. Brother Tillit S. Teddlie will be here the last Sunday in August for his second meeting. He did a splendid job last year, and no doubt, he will repeat this year. We will miss our friends. I am very glad to see reports of more anti preachers changing. We are on the threshold of carrying out the great commission and I believe that some will live to see the gospel preached to all of the nations. The church of Christ goes marching on. I will be in two meetings and perform one wedding between July 5th and 23rd. My new address will be Box 146, Tahlequah, Oklahoma. All correspondents will please note. Brother Showalter, the article on dancing was just right. We need more. The Firm Foundation continues to do much good.

Our Departed

JOHNSON—Wells Warren Johnson was born March 16, 1905, to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson in Madison County, Texas. He departed this life March 20, 1953, at the age of forty-eight years and four days. He obeyed the gospel of Jesus Christ at the age of seventeen in a mission meeting in Batson, Texas. A. N. Kennedy preached in this meeting, baptizing Wells and three Hobbs sisters, one of whom, Elizabeth C. Hobbs, became Wells' wife October 21, 1923. To this union three children were born, who, with his wife survive him. They are Mrs. Erma Gabor, Garden City, Kansas, James Wells Johnson of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Justin Edward Johnson of Grand Prairie, Texas.

Wells and J. W. Wright were instrumental in establishing the church in Liberty, Texas. The first meeting was conducted in the school house March 20, 1932. For the past several years he has served faithfully as one of the elders of the church.

He was a devoted husband and father, rearing his children to live in obedience to God's word. He was loved and respected by his brethren and the community in which he lived. He was a faithful student of the word and if found alone, was usually reading the Bible.

After preparing for bed, he read an article in the current, "Just A Moment", entitled, "Keep Your Eye on that Star" then retired; a few minutes before 2 a.m., he left his house of clay and made his return to God. His prayer for a peaceful hour in death was granted.

"Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last."

MARTIN—Pearl Lorena Martin, a Christian mother and one who loved the Lord, was called home to rest on May 30th. Death came at St. Louis, Missouri, while she was visiting with her son and was a result of a physical reaction to a blood transfusion being administered at St. Luke's Hospital. Funeral services were held at Texarkana, Texas, on Tuesday by Brother Gussie Lambert of the Portland Avenue Church of Christ, Shreveport, Louisiana, and Brother Eli Westbrook of Texarkana. Mamma was the daughter of an old time gospel preacher, George Crawford Reeks, and was born near Montgomery, Alabama, on August 5, 1880. Mamma had told me many times of her early childhood and grand-dad's work in the restoration movement. She attended her first school at a community known as Owlet Green, near Tyler, Texas, in the year 1887 and subsequently lived at Plain Dealing, Louisiana; Vivian, Louisiana; Mena, Arkansas, and other places where grandpa preached. I had the pleasure of taking her back to the scene of her childhood in the summer of 1950 and while the dirt roads of the one time community pointed the directions where she had once played, there was little else to be recognized at Owlet Green. It was difficult to stand by and see life fade away from my mother's face and yet I was so thankful to have had a mother that had taught me Christian principles and through my nearness to her had heard Christ preached in word and deed. The brothers and sisters in Christ at Spring and Blaine congregation, St. Louis, Missouri, and the minister, Brother Carney, made the burden of sorrow much easier to bear, and for that my wife and I are especially thankful.

The family will ever be grateful to the singers from the Rose Hill church, Texarkana, for the beautiful hymns rendered and to all those who had a part in the service.

For the family,
THERON MARTIN

COURTNEY—I was called to Byars June 7th to speak at the funeral of Sister Courtney. She was born Vernie Oakley, April 23, 1888, and departed this life June 6, 1953, at the age of sixty-five years, one month, and thirteen days. She was married to Albert Courtney in September, 1907. There were four sons and three daughters born to this union. She obeyed the gospel at the age of twenty and she was described as a consecrated Christian, a loving faithful wife and a real Christian mother. I can think of no finer tribute. Burial was at Byars.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

The Mind of Christ

Paul says, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5). He was writing to Christians. All who profess to follow Jesus need to have the mind of their Leader. In the second verse of this chapter, Paul says, "Fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind." There is only one way for Christians to be of one mind, and that is by all of them having the mind of Christ. The religious people of the world can never unite and be one by having the mind of some man—he may be a good man and have much wisdom, but the multitudes will not accept him as their leader.

Jesus prayed that all his disciples might be one. He said, "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their work; that they all may be one, as thou Father art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me" (Jno. 20:20, 21). All who have the mind of Christ will be one in the sense that Jesus prayed for them to be one.

On this same thought these passages of scripture are to the point. "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind, striving together for the faith of the gospel" (Phil. 1:27). "Finally be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous" (1 Peter 3:8). In these passages, Christians are taught to be of one mind, and they are all to strive together for the faith of the gospel.

A Timely Editorial

Brother Showalter's editorials are always good. But the one in the July 21st issue was exceptionally good. Did you read it? If not, get your paper of that date and read, "On To Neglected Fields." Keep the paper and read that article frequently. We are not doing exactly right till we put as much emphasis on missionary work as we do on regular attendance at the worship. We preach that it is the duty of every Christian to assemble with the saints and observe the Lord's Supper on every first day of the week. We should also preach that it is the duty of every Christian to do his best in carrying the message of salvation to the lost. We cannot convert alien sinners by preaching the gospel to those who are already Christians.

Jesus taught that the word of God is the seed of the kingdom. A farmer cannot increase his wheat yield by keeping the seed in the granary. The kingdom of God is sure to grow when men sow the seed of the kingdom. And it is sure not to grow when we neglect the sowing of the seed.

I think the Lord's people are more missionary-minded now than they have ever been, but the tempo can be accelerated. It is indeed refreshing to observe the remarkable success of the gospel in Germany, Italy, Africa, and other places. The churches supporting these missionary enterprises are to be commended for their generosity in supporting gospel preachers in these fields.

There are many waste places here in the homeland where the gospel should be preached. And there are many of the smaller congregations that are not doing anything in the way of carrying the gospel to the lost. These should awaken to their duty in this respect.

An Unbiased Approach

John Allen Hudson

Men and women everywhere should study to make an unbiased approach to every question. We freely descant on the subject to our sectarian neighbors and friends, but how often are we equally fair with the problems that arise in the brotherhood? There has been currently a considerable degree of discussion in one of our journals on the subject of allowing an instrument for a marriage ceremony. This piece does not propose to get into that discussion, but to use it as a basis for this thought. It is true that we are prepared to discuss the subject on its merits, alone, or do we sometimes harken back to our religious training and prejudice in the matter? Just how traditional are we? Can we rightly say that the whole field of prejudice and tradition lies with our religious neighbors? How far are we custom bound?

Recently a brother in a college lectureship made the statement that the young fellows in college often discussed the scripturalness of the church in doctrine and in practice. He said that they finally ceased to discuss the practice feature because practices were so different. Now this speaker was speaking of the variants in custom, and not in the essentials of practice. We are agreed on the articles of worship, but the custom of putting them into practice varies from time to time, and from community to community. And often times a person coming to face a new set of customs will feel that here is something unscriptural. Maybe there is not a thing unscriptural about it, but only the man's previous training and traditional approach. He speaks and begins to criticise before he calmly tries to weigh the whole matter. What flurries have been but tempest in teapots!

Sometimes there is a resentment because of the silent treatment such a person receives, and he must, perchance, stir attention in order to protect and advance his ego! Did humility ever rush in like that?

There is also the clash of personalities, and many little tempests are simply Trojan horses in which egocentric and bristling personalities ride! How much practical Christianity is there among us, anyway?

Amiable men are not always agreeable men, but amiable men are always kind and impersonal in their approach. One does not have to agree in a spirit of defenselessness, but he should disagree without rancor. And his disagreements should be on principle and not on prejudice. He should first of all examine his own heart in reference to the issue, and then to speak. That will guarantee an unbiased approach. Some years ago this scribe took frequent evening walks in Melbourne, Australia, with a Brother Lyle. Brother Lyle could not let the question of instrumental music rest. He never managed to sustain his points, and so he finally said that we should have to agree to disagree. This scribe assented, and so the matter was closed. Each knew the other's mind quite well, and the reasons behind it. Neither had any prejudices against the other because of disagreement. God will judge the final issues. Men cannot be made to do what another thinks.

Dealing With The Prejudices Of Others

It is so easy to stir prejudice! And it is such a blinding thing when it is stirred! Some communities have been embittered against the church almost, because of the antagonistic preaching and teaching done there. Of course truth cannot compromise with error, but one need not needlessly stir up such a prejudice that he cannot get over the barrier to the other person's mind and heart. Some communities yield to the gospel with very little prejudice. In such a case the church has grown into respectability through the lives of good and influential men and women. It is easy to preach in that community. Thoughtful and kind men have preached there.

All prejudice cannot be avoided. The truth will infuriate some people when preached by the kindest of men. There will ever be a line between truth and error. But there is little good sense and very poor salesmanship where one deliberately forestalls the chances for success in the minds of some because he goes out of his way to stir prejudice. Preaching is therefore the finest art in the world, and the preacher should be the greatest diplomat. Yet there may conceivably come a time when flaming prejudice may be turned to the growth and strength of the church. Take Paul's experience at Ephesus. A magnificent sense of timing, a sense of history in the making, causes one to know when to strike, prejudice or no prejudice. But deliberately to stir prejudice on a small scale denotes a little spirit seeking a broader attention, speaking the most charitably. It is not the greatest wisdom.

This scribe confesses, in his earlier day, to having done a little of that sort of thing. He now attributes it to emotional and mental immaturity.

Going As Far As You Can In Agreement

It is quite right for one to agree with another just as far as he can without sacrificing truth. And he should seek for agreements at first, in order to establish a common meeting place of minds. Early contacts should avoid all possible clashes. And to postpone a serious difference in conviction is oftentimes wise. To postpone and then never to come to defend the truth is to be insensible of the claims of duty to truth, and to be woefully remiss in a feeling of responsibility. If the arch-enemy takes caution to ensnare the soul, the winner of souls should be equally wise. Paul was aware of this, and so he said to the young preacher Timothy, "In meekness instructing those who oppose themselves, if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth."

If you can win a man's love and confidence first, you can nearly always win the man. His prejudice should not be stirred; he should be agreed with as far as possible, and all truth everywhere should be admitted, regardless of the teacher, though humble artisan or sapeint sage.

Report From Germany

Fred L. Casmir

I just came back from taking our last visitor back to his home. He lives way back in the Odenwald Mountains, and although he is deaf it's not often that he misses a service. We are having a meeting in Heppenheim, you know. But cold statistics and reports can never tell you about our work, and that's why I decided to sit down right now, in the middle of the night, to tell you a little about the things we are doing over here. Now don't try to find Heppenheim on your map of Germany, for chances are you won't find it. It's a small place, to be exact, a country town of about 15,000 population. Ninety-six percent of these people are Catholics, and the town is considered to be a stronghold for Catholicism. There are people who claim that an "idle mind is the devil's workshop," but I am ready to contest that statement any time. I believe Heppenheim has the sole "privilege" of calling itself the devil's workshop.

A lot of work and sweat went into this meeting. If we have the right to pride ourselves of anything in the Lord's work, I believe it's the fact that we canvassed this town as no other place in Germany. Everyone who lives in this town received a personal invitation to our meeting, and large posters informed everyone that we are here and preaching the word of truth. We started on Sunday, and Sunday was the day when the convention of Catholics of all Southern Hessen was held. Even Chancellor Adenauer came. I don't know if they thought that we had planned it that way, but the truth is that we weren't even aware of what was going on around here. We learned about it only a few days beforehand. Not only did we have the opposition of our Catholic "friends" to face, but even the weather seemed to be against us. Every night now, it has been raining. It seems to hold out till it's just about time for our services, and then a steady downpour tries to discourage even the most faithful among us. Yes, we are having a meeting in Heppenheim, and that means that I have to start making the rounds several hours in advance. That means I have to drive to the small cities and villages around here to pick up the people who could not otherwise come. It means driving over roads which one would not travel with a tank in the States, roads which are actually nothing but slush, mud-holes, and rocks. Fog and rain make it almost impossible to see where you are going, and the streets in the small towns are made of something which we call "cobblestone," and which makes you feel like a piece of soap in a bath tub. There are four places where I have to pick up people, and four places to which I have to take them home again. Some of them live back in the mountains, which reminds you in their primitive wildness of the mountains of Kentucky and the hills of Tennessee. A few minutes before service time I get back, only to run off again to make one more quick drive through the city trying to pick up those whom the rain would force to stay home if we didn't see that they had a way to come. Some of the people can come by train, but they are only the "wealthy" among us and that means two or three people. When you come back to the church building you begin to wonder if it's all worth it. There may be 25 or 30 people there, and they are wet and tired from a day of hard work. But then you see the face of someone who has never been there before, someone who for the first time hears the gospel, the message of Christ, delivered in a city which seems to be living in the Middle Ages—and all of a sudden you know that all the work, all the sweat, all the heartbreak is worth it after all. You learn to see things in their right perspective out here. You find a set of values none can ever take away from you again. Services are over, you hope and pray that the words they just heard will be seeds planted in a fertile soil. But you don't know. There is no invitation offered after services over here, and only time will tell how much good has been done. Once more my little old Opel car slithers and grinds through the mud and takes people home, and coming back alone through the cold, wet countryside I am grateful for that little car which may cost a lot of money to run (much more than in the States) that little can which proves that German engineering skill is not just a story; and I think that this vehicle does perhaps as much or more for the Lord's work as I have ever done. Yes, we are having a meeting in Heppenheim, and that's about all you would usually hear, but what it is really like so few people know in the States. That's why I decided to sit down and write to you. What will happen tomorrow? Well, there is no telling, but there is going to be the same bunch of jeering, ridiculing Catholic neighbors across the street, who are checking up on the ones who are coming to hear another message taken from the word of God; maybe it'll rain again; maybe there'll be only a few who can come, and maybe it'll all look pretty futile, and it certainly will have nothing of the "glamor" of mission work, but one thing is for sure: The Lord will be here, and though it may be little enough we can do, still the truth is being preached in a place which never heard it before. Pray for us and our work, and for the work of our Lord everywhere.

$250,000 ESTATE WILLED TO CHILDREN'S HOME LUBBOCK, TEXAS

M. Norvel Young

The Floyd E. Bakers of Burnet, Texas, signed a will bequeathing their estate to the Children's Home of Lubbock this afternoon in the office of the Broadway Church of Christ. The principle item in the estate consists of 480 acres of irrigated farm land near Petersburg, Texas.

Brother and Sister Baker stated that they had been interested in orphan children for a number of years and had predicted that some time there would be a children's home similar to the proposed home on the South Plains. Sister Baker's father died when she was just about a month old and she expressed her sympathy with those children who have to make their way without one or both parents. Brother Baker, she stated, has always had a "soft spot" in his heart for orphan children. They modestly disclaimed any credit for making this bequest, but stated that they wanted to give God the glory for whatever good may come from this gift in the future.

Brother Baker was born near Batesville, Arkansas, and has lived in El Paso since 1934. Sister Baker was born near Cloudcroft, New Mexico, and has lived in El Paso since 1925. They were married in December, 1944. He has worked for a number of years with the Federal Reserve Bank in El Paso. Now they are building a home near Burnet on Lake Buchanan and plan to reside there most of the year. They are both members of the church of Christ at Burnet and formerly worshipped with the Montana Street Church of Christ in El Paso. They worship with the Petersburg Church of Christ when they visit their farm in that area. For several years they have been generous contributors to orphan homes in Texas and mission work in Mexico. Paul Sherrod, an elder of the Broadway church, and Mont Whitson, instructor in the Bible Chair, were present in the church office for the signing of the will.

The Children's Home of Lubbock is a new home for homeless children to be erected on the 200-acre site donated by Sister Ida S. Collins on the Idalou Highway. At the present time $27,500 is in the bank account of the home, and the first unit to house 18 children requires approximately $43,500. As soon as sufficient funds are available the elders of the church plan to begin construction of the first home. Additional homes on the unit plan will be erected as funds are given. A superintendent for the home is in the process of being selected by the elders. A goal of $150,000 has been set for the completion of the first three units.

Faith Without Works

Quentin A. Dunn

Many sermons have been preached and many articles have been written for the purpose of teaching that man is not saved by faith only. The purpose of such sermons and articles, is to show that a mere accent of mind, without obedience will not save a man. The majority of American citizens believe there is one God, yet a good many people do not believe all of God's word. It is not enough to believe there is but one God; the devils believe, and tremble. Are the devils saved? Surely we know the devils are not saved. "But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead?" Was not Abraham, our father, justified by works when he offered Isaac his son upon the altar? Seest thou how faith wrought with his works and by works was made perfect? And the scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the friend of God. Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith (Jas. 2:20-24). The faith that will save a man is the faith that prompts him to humble obedience to the will of God. The man who argues that God has many non-essential commandments, believes in God to some extent, but he has a dead faith and such faith will not save him. There is the command to be baptized, yet many people say that one can be saved without being baptized. Those who make such statements do not believe what the Bible says about baptism. The New Testament plainly tells us that baptism is a burial (Rom. 6:4). Yet there are millions of people who say that sprinkling water upon a person's head is baptism. This is another manifestation of faith without works. Baptism puts one into Christ and the one body, the church (Gal. 3:37; 1 Cor. 12:13). An alien sinner needs to be taught that the doctrine of saved by faith only, is not a most wholesome doctrine, and there is not one ounce of comfort in it. I do not hesitate to say that it is the doctrine of the devil, and that faith without works is dead. An alien sinner must hear, and believe the gospel, repent of his past sins, confess his faith in Christ, and be buried with his Lord in baptism. By doing these things he is showing his faith by his works.

After we have been raised from the watery grave of baptism, we must walk in newness of life. We must love God and keep his commandments, our faith in Jehovah must be manifested by keeping his commandments. God commands his children to practice pure and undefiled religion, to visit the fatherless, and the widows in their afflictions, and to keep themselves unspotted from the world. When we do these things we show our faith by our works. When we argue that such commandments are non-essential, or fail to do them, our faith is dead, and it will not save us eternally. It is just as important for Christians to know what to do to remain saved, as it is for an alien sinner to know what to do to be saved from his past sins.

God has given us a Book, the Bible, which we can understand, if we will study it diligently, carefully and prayerfully. God commands his children to study (2 Tim. 2:15). When we study as God directs we show our faith by our works. If we say that we believe in studying God's word, and do not study it, we have faith without works, and faith without works is dead. When the question is asked: Do you believe in Bible study on Lord's day morning? Some brethren answer after this manner, "I seldom attend, but it is all right, and I believe in it for the other fellow, those who want to actively participate in it, but I don't care to put forth much effort." The brethren who talk in such manner would not want the church to discontinue Bible study, they would think that the church was falling down on its job. But who is the church? Is it us or them? The church is composed of those who have been baptized into the one body—the church. We are the church, and we ought not to speak of the church as they or them. To properly participate in the Lord's day Bible study, requires diligent study and some effort, but who wants to be a lazy person? To advise the other fellow to participate in the Bible study and not put forth any effort to partake of it ourselves, shows that our faith is weak. The Bible study is good for the other fellow, it is good for you, it is good for me and it is good for everyone. We must know God's will in order to do it, God speaks to us through his word. The Lord's day morning is a good time to increase our knowledge of God's word. Make your plans to attend Bible study each Lord's day. Faith plus works will enable us to be saved eternally. Faith without works is dead.

624 DAILY ATTENDANCE AT MADISON VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The congregation at Madison (Madison is a suburb in greater Nashville, Tennessee) has just concluded its first vacation Bible school in recent years. The attendance ran from 602 to 651, with an average of 624 per day.

A Record

As far as we know this is the largest vacation Bible school ever held in Davidson county by any religious group. We understand Madison Church of Christ averaged 500 more per day than the largest denominational church in the community.

Advertisement

The success of the school must be attributed largely to the foresight of the elders and their willingness to advertise the effort. The writer, who directed the school, had conducted all winter an educational program for children on WSM-TV (middle Tennessee's only television station). The elders took full advantage of the fact that all the children knew the director and they purchased pencils and balloons and had them distributed to every child in the community. When the children blew up the animal balloons they found in large print the advertisement of the vacation Bible school.

Public School Building Rented

Since Madison congregation is in the process of erecting a modern air-conditioned building, the new public school in the community was rented for the vacation Bible school. Approximately 35 teachers taught in the school and among this number four outstanding teachers were brought in to assist in the school—Mrs. A. R. Holton, Mrs. C. J. Garner, Mrs. Reinhart, and Brother Charles Scott.

A Community Effort

The community was concentrated on and thoroughly worked rather than efforts to bring children from other congregations of the church of Christ in this area. The results were not only pleasing, but astonished us. Some thought we might have 200 and few dreamed we would average over 600 per day.

The Results

The school cost some money, much work, planning, and prayer, but it was worth many times the cost. Hundreds of boys and girls were reached whose parents are not members of the church. The school proved a wonderful training course for our teachers, who worked diligently and used the beautiful classrooms to great advantage. The goal at Madison is to have 1000 souls studying the Bible each Sunday morning at Bible study. The Bible class average has been approximately 700 per Sunday for the last few months, however, when the new plant is completed we can easily take care of 1000 students in classes. It is believed that the vacation Bible school has given us a great boost in the direction of reaching more souls for Christ. The writer has directed these schools for several years and has seen the good fruit. Brethren, have a school at your local congregation each year. Spend money in wise advertising, secure a few outstanding teachers, and sound literature. Spend plenty of time planning, praying and working. Generate a lot of enthusiasm. It pays wonderful dividends.

WILLEFORD STARTS ON NETWORK SERIES

James D. Willeford, who recently moved from Madison, Wisconsin, to Abilene, Texas, will begin a six-month series of gospel sermons on the Herald Of Truth radio program, Sunday, July 19, it has been announced by the elders of the 5th and Highland Street church in Abilene who direct the coast-to-coast radio broadcast.

Willeford's sermon topic for Sunday, July 19, is "Infant Sinners." The complete schedule of his series is listed elsewhere in this paper.

Willeford and James W. Nichols are the two principal speakers on the network broadcast. Willeford will be speaking through Sunday, January 17, 1954.

James Willeford has had extensive training and experience in radio broadcasting. For a period of six years he conducted a daily broadcast over Radio Station KAVE in Carlsbad, New Mexico.

In 1947, Willeford went to Madison, Wisconsin, to serve the church there. In three years, attendance rose from thirty to one hundred and thirty and the congregation purchased a brick building which is completely paid for. In addition they are helping to support other churches in the upper Midwest.

Shortly after going to Madison, Willeford began preaching over Radio Station WIBA. Nichols was then being heard over Station WMT (Cedar Rapids, Iowa). They began to coordinate their efforts which grew into the Herald of Truth.

Willeford attended Freed-Hardeman College in Henderson, Tennessee, two years and then went to Penn State one year. He graduated from Abilene Christian College in 1942.

TECH BIBLE CHAIR RECEIVES DONATION

James C. Kerr, Elder

Shown above is Sister E. Gilliland of Lubbock as she presents a check for $4,601.66 to Lawrence Green, an elder of the Broadway Church of Christ. Mont Whitson, instructor of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, Texas Tech, looks on.

The money was left to the Broadway church in the will of Brother Gilliland, one of the pioneer residents of Lubbock, and a faithful member of the Lord's church for many years. It will be used in accordance with the will and the wishes of the family, for a library which will be housed in the Tech Bible Chair. Such a library will be of invaluable service to all of the churches of Christ in Lubbock and the surrounding area. The books will be made available to all members of the church in the South Plains area.

*It is hoped that this example of giving will serve as a stimulus to promote others to give to similar good works.

"OUR NATION"

George Hickey

We utterly reject the principle, however fashionable, that the church and state have no connection. We sincerely believe that the latter needs the aid of the former. We do without doubt engage in prayer on behalf of our lawmakers with full assurance that God will remember our nation and bless us.

Teachers of the church teach and enforce subordination, that fundamental principle necessary in our nation. The church sanctions parental authority and family discipline, without which civil communities cannot flourish. By doing this, men are qualified by the church for public duties. Teachers of the church teach magistrates to be just, ruling in the fear of God. They are reminded of their responsibilities to the King of kings. Every well-taught member of the church knows that it is God's command to lead a peaceable and quiet life; to obey magistrates; to speak well of them; to pray for them. Faithful members of the church view their magistrates as ministers of God. Magistrates ought never to require anything but that which is reasonable; if it be reasonable, nothing ought to divert them from enforcing it. They ought to persist in exacting obedience without changing.

Assuredly he who "moved upon the face of the waters," who "garnished the heavens," who gives life universally, cannot be mistaken himself, or be capable of misleading us in Matthew 7:12. "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

On The Way

Glenn L. Wallace

The church of the Lord has made marvelous strides within the last few years and there are even greater fields to conquer just ahead, but Christians must remember one important truth: One can do the right work in a wrong way. There are some things that brethren may attempt to do that are not within the framework of the New Testament organization.

Mass Meetings

There is a very evident trend toward the loss of congregational autonomy in the mass meetings that convene frequently today. Wide publicity is given to a certain cause and one congregation gives its approval to the calling of a convention of Christians in an area-wide meeting. The general aims of the meeting may be just and scriptural, but a shift toward a high-powered machine is easily seen. Influential men from the realm of business along with well selected orators are given the floor to advocate the cause of the hour. Trained choirs and quartets are presented and the moving music is enough to pull the strings of the tightest pocketbook. There may be some congregations in the community and hundreds of individuals who either by reason of the work already being done by the church or because of a difference of opinion as to the merits of the case presented, who object to the work. In the hysteria of the hour, these voices are not consulted or they are ignored as "moss-backs," "sour grapes" and "deliberate obstructionists." The assembled audience is told that if you wish to give to this work, you may send your contribution to the sponsoring congregation, thus the voice of the local congregation is ignored. There are hundreds of members of the church today who are "members-at-large." Their support and their allegiance is to that which strikes their fancy. The number of such members is growing. Church sponsored mass-meetings is the key to the condition.

It is perfectly within the right of private institutions, such as a college, to call mass meetings of interested friends to carry on their program, but it is not within the plan of the New Testament organization. How can hundreds of Christians meet in a convention to vote, take collections, pass resolutions, and appoint delegates? This is not the right of New Testament Christians apart from individual congregational action.

Washington Lobby

As an individual Christian citizen, I have the American right of appeal to those who represent me in Washington. I should exercise that right. When my brethren or my neighbors are refused the rights guaranteed them by any treaty, either the American Constitution or a peace treaty under which my neighbor works, then I should ask my government to intervene and grant justice. "Washington envoys," "Church of Christ committees," "delegates to Rome," and just plain "Church of Christ lobbyists" in Washington are strictly out of the New Testament way of doing the Master's work.

High-Geared Publicity

Christians should be a humble people. The spirit of the New Testament Christian is not in keeping with paid publicity agents seeking to get the names of churches and men spread in the newspapers. Would New Testament Christians have employed advertising agents from among the unconverted to keep the "Church of Christ name" before the nation? The public likes news and it will get the news, but let us be prayerful and considerate before grasping at incidents just to get our names and pictures in the news.

Let us be on the way to do a greater work for the Master and remember there is a wrong way to do the right work. This latter road is the way to a denominational machine.

SUCCESSFUL VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL HELD

Alan Bryan

The Broadway Church of Christ at Lubbock, Texas, held their annual Vacation Bible School this year, June 8th through June 13th. Over one thousand (1000) were enrolled with ninety-seven (97) men and women helping in the teaching. Average daily attendance totaled 826 per day. From almost every standpoint this proved to be the most successful Vacation Bible School held here. The quality of teaching and efficiency of operation surpassed all former efforts.

At the present time Bible School attendance for the summer months is running almost 1100. This is an increase of over 150 above attendance during the summer months of last year. Plans are now being made for another workshop for Bible School teachers to be held here in August.

GRAYS LEAVE FOR SOUTH AFRICA

Leonard M. Gray

The Leonard Gray family—Brother Leonard Gray, his wife, Marguerite, and two sons, Fred and Randy.

We are leaving the first of the week on our way to New York. We, my wife, Marguerite, and two sons, Fred and Randy, are scheduled to sail for Port Elizabeth, Union of South Africa, Thursday, July 30. We have been planning and working toward this occasion for about eighteen months.

The Lamar Street church is supplying our personal needs while we are in Africa. These brethren have suffered three years' drouth and the prospects of another one. They have lost over one hundred and twenty-five members, mainly due to this condition, within the past two years. Their willingness to undertake this sizeable task, in view of these conditions, is a real expression of faith.

We shall be working with Brother and Sister John Hardin, song leader, who is supported by the Riverside church in Ft. Worth. Brother Hardin went with the original group in 1949 and has moved to Port Elizabeth in anticipation of our arrival there. He is an excellent teacher and I look forward eagerly to the pleasure of working with them in this challenging field.

MAURICE HALL TO RETURN TO PARIS, FRANCE, WORK

Brother and Sister Maurice Hall and their two sons.

Nearly a year ago, the Maurice Hall family returned from Paris, France, where they had been laboring in the ministry of the gospel since 1949. Their plans to return to America were advanced due to the ill health of Sister Hall.

It is with sincere gratitude to God and to the many brethren that remembered them in prayers that the Halls announce their plans to return to France on September 4, on the S. S. United States.

Reservations have been made for their crossing, and one-fourth of the cost has been paid for tickets, and $540 additional is urgently needed to complete their travel fund. Churches and individuals that are willing to assist them are urged to send contributions to the elders, Cleveland Avenue Church of Christ, 130 Cleveland Avenue, Wichita, Kansas, for "Hall travel fund."

France, a nation of 50,000,000 people, has been in spiritual darkness for centuries, and yet no problem is incurred in obtaining visas for preachers to enter this Catholic nation. There are only four evangelists in France. Two of these work in Northern France, and the other two concentrate their efforts at Paris. The Halls will fill a much-neglected place in the work there.

This family is also in need of monthly support for their living expenses. Interested churches or individuals are urged to assist in this need. "How can they preach, except they be sent" (Rom. 10:15). If you would like to hear a first-hand report of the activities in France, and to see a colored movie about the work, please write Brother Maurice Hall in care of J. H. Cline, 209 Pennsylvania, Etowah, Tennessee. He will have the entire month of August available for appointments to preach and speak in the middle and east Tennessee and northern Alabama and Georgia areas.

What Does The Bible Say?

It Really Is More Blessed To Give!

Jesus was never more serious than when he taught his disciples that, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The pagan rule of life goes like this: "Get all you can for yourself; do as little; give as little to others as possible." Are you living by Jesus' rule or by the pagan rule?

It is surprising how many professed followers of Christ think that this rule is idealistic, impractical. On the contrary, it is a profound truth which most people never discover. Believe Jesus and put it into practice every day.

You never give of your time or your talent or your money in the service of Christ or in his name that you don't receive a blessing. As one Christian has put it: "What I give always comes back to me in some blessing—multiplied." Jesus put it this way: "Give and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, shall they give into your bosom" (Luke 6:38).

It works! Look about you. Do you know any selfish, self-centered, stingy person who is very happy? Are not those persons the happiest who are the busiest giving themselves in service to others? The Christian who gives is the one who lives abundantly.

But you have to take the first step by faith. You have to believe in Jesus enough to begin giving before you can experience the blessings he will give you. Try it this week. Remember, that God loves a cheerful giver! Not even a cup of cold water given in Jesus' name will go unrewarded.

If you would be happier than ever before, practice this divine rule. Begin by giving yourself to the Lord in obedience to his gospel (if you are not already a Christian), then try to give as much of yourself, your money, your talent to others in Jesus' name each day. "He that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully . . ." It will work in the home, in the business house, in the school, in the church. Let me challenge you to try it this week!

How To Convert Souls To Christ

George Hickey

Otis Gatewood has written a masterpiece entitled, "You Can Do Personal Work." Homer Hailey's book, "Let's Go Fishing for Men," must be studied if one accepts the full teaching of this article. These books can be ordered from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Austin, Texas.

Some of the essentials on being a soul winner to Christ are, namely:

One must actually be converted himself. The simple and beautiful gospel as is found in Acts the second chapter must have been obeyed by the soul winner himself. Man must find the way before he can point it out to others. To be partially blind as to the full meaning of Acts, the second chapter would certainly hinder anyone trying to win souls to Christ. When man has fully obeyed the gospel as is found in this chapter it can be detected in his conversation. Man's conversation reflects his faith. "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ . . ." (Phil. 1:17). When soldiers came to take Christ, they noted that his conversation was different (John 7:46). In order for man to convert his neighbor his conversation must never be foolish jesting but sober and meaningful. Man's friends know him by his speech and conduct. Before he can have any weight on others they must be able to see his walk and be attracted to it and in a measure desire to become like it. "Walk in wisdom toward them that are without" (Col. 4:5). The wisdom of God is made known to man by the conversation and walk of man (Eph. 3:10). These Scriptures teach that I must enjoy being a Christian. Man can be just religious enough to be miserable. This sort of person is never on time, never ready to go the second mile. If we win souls to Christ, we must be on our toes. We must live in the spirit and be ready, looking, and waiting for an opportunity to help our neighbor. When Phillip saw the Eunuch he "ran" to him. Phillip was "living in the spirit." In order for man to win souls to Christ he must really be converted himself.

Man must have a deep and abiding concern for people. If this is missing he is doomed to fail. Jesus beheld the city and wept over it (Luke 19:41). At Jacob's Well, Jesus was so concerned over the soul of the Samaritan woman that his physical hunger was soothed. We must lose ourselves in glory. In order to do this we must know the value of a soul (Matt. 16:26). Jesus left all glory to come and save souls. Friends will help a neighbor if he is sick. Men will risk their lives to rescue a neighbor from physical death. Our neighbors that have not been baptized into Christ are dead spiritually (1 Tim. 5:6; Col. 2:13; Gal. 3:27). Our neighbors and loved ones will go to an eternal burning hell unless we win their souls to Christ. The fire in hell will be hotter than any furnace and "the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched" (Mark 9:44, 46). One soul is worth more than the whole world.

If we are to be soul winners to Christ we must know the Bible. We must have a "working knowledge" of the Bible. People can see inconsistency. Man must not be consistent to the extent that he will not act upon faith. When man gets so consistent that he will not admit that he does not know and that he makes mistakes then consistency has become the "hob-goblin of a little mind." A soul winner must understand the "Great Commission" given in Mark 16:15, 16. He must "rightly divide"—"handle aright" the word of God (2 Tim. 2:15).

To win souls to Christ, man must have confidence in the word and promise of God. God's word shall not return void (Isa. 55:11). God has all power. Greater is God than all the powers of Satan. Christ came to seek and save the lost (Luke 19:10). Man must forget self with its fears and doubts and humbly cast his bread upon the waters. Confidence can be obtained by continuing in prayer. It is Christ's will that souls be saved. Man can and will save souls if he will continue in prayer according to the will of God.

In order to win souls to Christ, man must begin, not tomorrow or tonight, but now! Write the names of those you desire to win to Christ in a little book. This book can be called a prayer book. Telephone them, go to see them, approach them, give honor to them in all things that are worthy of honor. The man who will sincerely begin will eventually find somebody who is waiting for the word to be said. When you speak God's word and your neighbor believes it and obeys it then you have saved a soul from death and hid a multitude of sins. To begin is Christ's will and to do his will is to have him with you always even to the end of the world.

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

THE ENCAMPMENT AT FAYETTEVILLE, ARK.

This great meeting was under way from July 11th to July 18th. The Fayetteville congregation, in the lead of the program, did their part wonderfully well. The advertising in many ways all over Arkansas and other states was efficiently and enthusiastically performed and everything was ready for the various classes and teachers, as well as the details of preaching, when the work began. Four preachers preached twenty minutes each on each day for six days, beginning promptly at 2:30 and closing at 4:30. Some twenty-six or twenty-seven preachers preached sermons during the week. The Firm Foundation editor spoke for the Fayetteville congregation in their new building on Center Street Lord's day at eleven o'clock, July 19th. The auditorium which seats 750 people was practically filled. These brethren have done a great work during recent years. Fred McClung is their preacher and he is an untiring worker. The elders are: Chas. Johnson, O. L. Daily, Frank Gibson, O. Salyer, Walter Miller, and the deacons are: C. S. Fritts, Geo. Smythe, Jones Sizemore, John Mahaffy and D. Woods. These brethren represent a fine element of citizenship, influence and Christian character in the community, and are responsible for the good influence and growth in that locality. It was nearly twenty years ago when I was in attendance and spoke for them in a lectureship during the days in which Brother E. M. Borden was serving as their minister.

Brother R. N. Hogan, Negro evangelist, from Los Angeles, California, preached every night during the encampment. The attendance began at something over one thousand and increased, according to reports of those in charge, each night till the last meeting on Sunday night, at which above two thousand people heard the word. Brother Hogan was full of energy and his voice in fine condition till the close of the meeting. The colored people were pretty well represented, but they have no congregation in Fayetteville at the present time. There were eighteen baptisms during the meeting, also four restorations.

The properties for the encampment on Mount Sequoyah belong to the Methodists and it is seldom that they are used for any other purpose than for their own conventions and their own meetings. It is said that by far the best attended meetings in the history of Sequoyah were those just closed by the churches of Christ. It was estimated that some fifty and possibly more congregations in Arkansas and adjacent states were represented in this great meeting.

Arrangements have already been made and contract executed for a similar encampment in July of 1954.

THE CHURCH IN FRANKFURT — TEACHING SEVEN DAYS A WEEK!

Georgia Carver

As I see it, the age-old adage of the Roman Catholics of, "Give me a child until he is seven years . . ." is profitable for teaching truth as well as error. Early established teachings are lasting if they cannot be proven false, so let us be the first to install God's truths in the minds of children as we are given opportunity. This we have at our fingertips here in Germany. Why not teach children these seven days instead of just one day per week?

When children enter the German schools they are taught daily either Evangelisch or Roman Catholic doctrine which encourages them to go to their respective churches. On Monday each child is asked whether or not he attended church yesterday and if the answer is negative he is given a demerit. If we can begin with them before school age and have them established here, they are not so bound to attend the state churches; however, they must still take religion in school.

The parents of these children have a fair education. They were in the fifteen- to thirty-year-olds during Hitler's regime. Many rejected all religion, while others, in a passive way, adhered to the religion of their families. Since peace is restored in Germany and prosperity looms, everyone is busy rebuilding their damaged city and homes, which some estimate to be as much as 80 per cent. In many cases the mothers are widowed or both parties are working, thus they have little time for spiritual training or even atheism. As a whole, these families are small—possibly for economic reasons—but the largest family on our list has three children. The parents desire physical and educational advantages but depend on the school and church to teach religion. Responses such as, "Oh well, I guess they won't learn anything that is not good for them," or "That is such a nice place and so convenient for us," are indications of indifference to spiritual teaching.

Spiritual training in our daily training classes consist of giving thanks for our food twice daily, singing songs and playing games that teach Bible truths, telling and reading Bible stories. The regular 11 o'clock story hour is very impressive as visual aids such as the flannelboard, etc., hold their undivided interest and they are able to recall much of their past lessons. In coloring we use pictures of nature and Bible characters which we discuss to bring out spiritual lessons.

There are now 25 children between the ages of two and five years enrolled in pre-school training class, and six school-age children who receive Bible teaching here in the afternoon in our University church building.

So we can see that if we have an average of 20 children daily to receive Bible teaching we will be giving 120 lessons during one week; whereas, with no program of this type, probably none of these children would be here on Sunday. As it is many of these children come for Sunday morning Bible classes with their parents who attend preaching service at the same hour. German parents are not accustomed to taking their children to church. Most parents think that their two- or three-year-olds are too young to learn Bible teachings.

To establish the truth of God's word in the hearts of these youngsters before they are taught error will do more to firmly establish the church than erasing error and establishing truth in our young and older adults.

Remember us in your prayers. We would be glad to hear from you. Address: Church of Christ, 17 Senkenberg - Anlage, Frankfurt, Germany.

I am now assigned to Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, and shall remain there a year. My wife is in the hospital, but it is too early to tell if treatments will help her. It is kind of the Air Force to station me nearby in her illness. Pray for us.

James W. Huggins, Box 72, Gunter, Texas, July 12: Robert D. Bankes is doing excellent preaching in a meeting at the College Hill church in Gunter. Five have obeyed the gospel so far. We expect more. Our work with Broadway has been pleasant and we will be leaving many good friends here. Sunday, July 12, five were identified and one was baptized here at Broadway. Broadway now has six elders and nine deacons all working together for the upbuilding of the cause of Christ.

Winstead O. Cooper, Nocona, Texas: The work at Saint Jo continues about as usual. We have had several members to move from Saint Jo and some to move in. Brother V. E. Howard was the evangelist in our recent meeting, and certainly did a good job. We had some restored to the church and some baptized during the meeting, and some since the meeting. Last Sunday a man who had been out of duty eighteen years was restored, making the entire family Christians. I always look forward to receiving the Firm Foundation which is one of our best papers for its purpose that I know of.

Bill Burton, Box 431, Stonewall, Oklahoma, July 16: I closed a meeting at Rattan, Oklahoma, July 15. Interest and attendance were good throughout the meeting. Six were baptized. One lady, who had been a Baptist forty years, gave up that error and became a Christian.

Tillit S. Teddlie, Box 336, Ennis, Texas, July 16: Two were baptized at Buffalo, Texas. One was formerly a Baptist. Brother Milo Sullivan preaches for the church at Buffalo, and is loved and respected by the entire community. My next meeting will begin at Clarendon, Texas, August 31.

Paul Southern, 1642 College Drive, Abilene, Texas, July 16: Three were baptized, one was restored from the Christian church, and one placed membership during the meeting at Holliday. Following a meeting with the Stephenville brethren, which closes July 26, I shall go to Trinidad, Colorado, for the first half of August.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, July 13: On July 5 the Willow Street church of Christ broke all records in attendance and contribution. At 8:45 a.m. worship service, 242 were present; at 11:00 a.m. service, 198 were present; total, 440. 202 were present at Sunday Bible School. Our contribution was $300.55. Rejoice with us.

Choice L. Bryant, 165 South 15th Street, Salem, Oregon, July 14: There were two baptisms during the two weeks I served the Southwest church in Phoenix, Arizona, as visiting evangelist June 21 through July 1. There was one baptism in the Central church in Salem, Oregon, while I was home the first two Sundays in July. We began last night a protracted meeting in Baker, Oregon, to continue through July 19. I expect to be in Vancouver, B. C., July 21-31.

William K. Cunningham, 801 Reine, Mena, Arkansas, July 15: After over two years of fruitful work with the church at Paducah, Texas, we moved recently to Mena, Arkansas, to work with the church on 12th St. & Maple Avenue. We have a beautiful new building in which to meet, and hope and pray for continued progress in the work of the Lord. Granville Jones of Stinnett, Texas, preached in our recent meeting. One was baptized.

Walter W. Leamons, Junction, Texas, July 15: The church at London, Texas, is having a good meeting this week with baptisms almost daily. Brother Marshall Davis, minister at Fairgrounds Road church in San Angelo is doing the preaching. It is his fourth meeting there in three years. Lewis Jetton, Jimmie Simmons, and Walter Leamons, Jr., members here at Tenth Street, are alternating in leading the singing in the meeting.

L. Reese McDouglas, Prescott, Arkansas, July 15: Our meeting with G. K. Wallace of Florida Christian College, Tampa, Florida, closed Wednesday evening, June 17, with a soul-stirring, thought-provoking message, "The Great Judgment Day." The meeting was a success in that the word of God was preached with power. We who were privileged to "sit at the feet" of Brother G. K. Wallace eleven days will not soon forget the great lessons of faith he taught. It was a great meeting because four precious souls answered the gospel call. There were those left unsaved that should have yielded themselves to the Master's will but this should not be charged to Brother Wallace. He was mighty in the scriptures; he was convincing. Yet, possessed with that meek and quiet spirit, he was gentle; he was tender as he opened unto us the scriptures. Brother Jimmy Allen, Searcy, Arkansas, has been engaged to work with the church here full time beginning November 1.

Dwain Jones, Box 14, Cordell, Oklahoma, July 13: One baptism at Lone Wolf, Oklahoma, yesterday. C. Rhodes, evangelist and O. Church, singer, will hold our meeting July 24th to August 2nd.

St. Clair Slatton, Wilburton, Oklahoma, July 9: I began work with the church here July 5th. We are small in number but we have some very fine material. The brethren here have a nice building, well located on East Main Street and a minister's home contracted for. If I am equal to the task before me I see no reason why the church should not grow in numbers and in favor with the city of Wilburton. When coming our way stop and worship with us. We solicit the prayers of the faithful.

Cecil E. Allen, Box 50, Plains, Texas, July 15: Our work is still going well. We never received any help from any of our sister congregations concerning our building, but we believe, with God's help, we can accomplish it. If we don't we will go down fighting. The prospects are looking better all along. No baptisms since last report but believe there will be soon. I wish to announce a meeting at Covington, Texas, from July 31 through August 9 at 8 p.m. each evening. I will do the preaching the Lord willing. Everyone within driving distance is cordially invited to attend.

J. C. Choate, David Lipscomb College, Box 755, Nashville, Tennessee, July 16: I have just closed a short meeting at Gladeville, Tennessee, with one restoration. We are also having a wonderful Vacation Bible School at the same congregation. I go next to a meeting at Red Hill, Mississippi, on July 19-26, a tent meeting at Thrasher, Mississippi, July 27-August 1, a meeting at Kewanee, Missouri, August 2-12, a meeting with the church at Sheridan, Wyoming, August 16-23, and then to a meeting at Sykes, Tennessee, August 30-September 6. I look forward to these meetings in preaching the gospel that souls might be saved.

J. Willard Morrow, 2203 Azle Avenue, N. Fort Worth, Texas, July 16: Since a year ago last February, it has been my pleasure to be in gospel meetings each week. These have been well attended and the results encouraging. Will give a report of some of these recent meetings soon. The meeting at Montague this week is enjoyable with numbers of gospel preachers and other faithful Christians and numbers of friends who are not Christians in attendance. Next week's meeting is at Blum—July 20-26. I am now in position to give the Lord's days in meetings. I will be glad to hear from congregations about holding meetings.

Louie M. White, San Marcos, Texas, June 26: I have just returned home from some work in the "harvest field" where I assisted in two meetings and two vacation Bible schools. At Leakey, Texas, we enjoyed a very fine association with Brother O. M. Reynolds who labors with the church there. During the mornings we worked with their first vacation Bible school and had preaching each evening. Six were baptized and one man was restored. Brother Reynolds led the singing and did a splendid work in this department. At Big Foot, Texas, we had a delightful association with Brother Ivan Wilson, minister, and the church in that vicinity. Although no visible results were seen in additions to the church, we feel that much and lasting good was accomplished. At Devine, we assisted with a vacation Bible school. This church had its beginning some ten months ago and is growing rapidly. A great deal of interest was manifested and a daily attendance of over 100 was registered. We were fortunate in being able to baptize one lady as a result of the Bible school.

Timothy B. Crews, 105 Hardy Avenue, Corsicana, Texas, July 4: From June 22 to July 1, Brother Truman S. Spring did the preaching in one of the best meetings ever conducted at the North Beaton Street church. More non-members attended this outdoor effort than we have ever been able to get to come. Four were baptized, one restored and two placed membership. Others were stirred as never before and people who had never been to one of our services came several times and asked questions. We should bear fruit for days to come from this effort. The meeting served as a revival as well as a gospel effort. I will begin at Bazzette Sunday for eight days and at Cayuga July 16 for ten days.

U. R. Forrest, Akron, Michigan, July 13: The work with this fine congregation is going well. We have recently finished an annex to our building (to take care of our growing Bible Classes) and conducted a very successful Vacation Bible School. We have just about twice as many in our "Sunday School" as we have members, and as many perhaps a few more even on Wednesday nights than we have members. Our weekly contributions average more than $3.00 per member. Four placed membership with us yesterday. In all we are very happy in the work here. We print about 2000 copies of an eight page bulletin twice each month for free distribution, if you would like to receive this, drop us a line, requesting it.

Curtis J. Torno, Pasadena, Texas, July 6: I would like to report again on the activity of the church of Christ at Devine, Texas. Our first Vacation Bible class continued for two weeks, closing on June 19, 1953. Attendance averaged well over 100 per day and the total registration was over 125. Our gospel meeting with Brother H. R. Little of LaPorte, Texas, ran for ten days, and closed July 1, 1953. The interest of the membership was high, and many heard the message and plea of the church of Christ who had not heard it before. One was baptized, and all were edified. New records in contributions and attendance are being broken almost as soon as they are set, and this despite the drouth and short crops. The cause of Christ is growing.

J. Emmett Wainwright, 547 East Walnut Avenue, El Segundo, California, July 13: Four placed membership with the new congregation, 406 East Grand, El Segundo. Attendance doubles membership; and quite a number of fine people are studying with us—gradually coming out of various forms of religious error. The offering averages about four dollars per member. I am to be with the congregation in Prescott, Arizona (120 North Mt. Vernon Avenue) during September. The church building is well located in the "Mile High" city which boasts anti-asthmatic atmosphere! The most interesting section of the great southwest; and we are expecting many visitors from many sections—as well as a grand experience with the people of that interesting city.

Tom Walker, 1135 Hollywood, Dallas, Texas, July 13: I closed an interesting meeting at Middleton in Leon County last night.

Clarence C. Gobbel, 1157 E. Mabel, Tucson, Arizona, July 13: Another good day in our work here yesterday, with one being baptized at the morning service.

Ralph R. Giveus, 555—12th St., Yuma, Arizona, July 13: Within the past two weeks five have been baptized and two restored. This makes 22 baptisms this year. All adults except four.

L. L. Swinney, 118 Depot St., La Grande, Oregon, July 10: We have just closed a 12 day gospel meeting here with Brother J. Hale Miller of Boise, Idaho, doing the preaching. Two obeyed the gospel and one was restored to the church. Brother Miller is a fine young gospel preacher. This town has about 9,000 people. We now have nine members here. We believe there is a good opportunity here. We need a regular preacher here but our means of support is very limited. We have a nice building here and it is clear of debt. If possible we would like to get help in supporting a good man to work with us here. We don't have any elders here. The men members of the congregation besides myself are Brother Glenn Henry and Brother Davis.

T. Reginald Boley, 2825 Avenue E, Fort Worth 5, Texas, July 13: The Rio Vista, Texas, congregation began a gospel meeting July 10 with Wayne Smith of Dallas doing the preaching. The meeting began in a wonderful way. And he measures up to every need of the people. Brother Marvin Rowland is directing the singing in his typically good way too. I have been visiting these people for a few weeks, and I find them to possess excellent qualities as Christian workers. The church has problems, but they will meet them. The word of God will have its effect even against hardened hearts. I anticipate fruit from the sowing of the seed. I shall continue with these brethren for a while after the meeting.

Floyd Embree, 1203 Merchant, Artesia, New Mexico, July 15: June 7-14 I was in a meeting with the church in Medford, Oregon. This congregation is about two years old but has progressed much. They have a building which is very nice and will seat about 350. Their attendance is about 200. Brother Maurice Tisdal is the evangelist there and is doing a wonderful work in his personal evangelism campaign of Cottage meetings. Two were baptized during the meeting. Brother David Allen of Brownwood, Texas, preached here during my absence. There were two baptized and several restored and identified during that time. Two were baptized July 5. We continue with a three day a week broadcast on the local station.

Sam Medford, Route 1, Box 456, Creswell, Oregon; Grover W. Hollon, from the Pine Ridge church, near Ft. Cobb, Oklahoma, is the regular minister at the London church, since June 28. The church is well pleased with his work. With the exception of about six months he is the only full time preacher the London church has had. The church has been organized about 65 years said to be the oldest congregation in the state of Oregon. I was guest speaker at the Kleser church at Salem, Oregon, where Brother Richard Berry is the regular minister now. Brother Berry has been there less than a year and the attendance and membership has a little more than doubled. I was also guest speaker at Roseburg lately which is a fast growing congregation. They are temporarily out of a full time preacher. Henry A. Lynch of Gainesville, Texas, just recently preached in a gospel meeting at Cottage Grove with one baptism, where Richard Morrison is the regular preacher.

John G. Reese, Box 1037, Clovis, New Mexico, July 14: The work here is doing well. There were three baptized and three to place membership this last week.

Ira B. Sandusky, South Park Church, Beaumont, Texas, July 15: I have not reported for several months but our work goes along in usual shape and while we have had some summer slump yet it has not completely upset our work. We began second year here July 1st with renewed hope for the future. In past year 88 responded to the invitation. Of this number twelve were baptized. The remainder of the number were transfers and restorations. Best attendance and offerings in history of the church the past year, the treasurer reports. Bud Irvine held a meeting here in April in which three were baptized, several transferred. He is to return next year. I held a meeting at Jasper the first of April in which three were baptized, and then in June at Bandera. The church sent me there to help them and one was baptized in that effort. When passing this way, worship with us here at South Park church of Christ. It was good to be with Brother and Sister Swinney again after many years.

COLLEY-KETCHERSIDE DEBATE

Flavil L. Colley

The following propositions are to be discussed in Dallas, the first week in December.

Proposition I

The securing of a preacher as a minister of a congregation having elders, as generally practiced among churches of Christ in Dallas, is scriptural. Affirmed by Flavil L. Colley. Denied by W. Carl Ketcherside.

Proposition II

The securing of a preacher as a minister of a congregation having elders, as generally practiced among the churches of Christ in Dallas is contrary to the teaching of the scriptures. Affirmed by W. Carl Ketcherside. Denied by Flavil L. Colley.

NEW PAMPHLET ON "THE CROSS OF CHRIST"

M. Norvel Young

This is to announce the publication of a new pamphlet of 34 pages on the theme "The Cross of Christ." John Banister is serving as co-editor of it. The following articles should prove valuable to Christians and to sinners in learning the way of salvation. We hope that it will be used widely by churches in winning souls for Christ. "The Cross in Old Testament Prophecy" by James D. Bales; "The Necessity of the Cross" by K. C. Moser; "Christ's Attitude Toward His Cross" by J. D. Thomas; "Christ on the Cross" by James Willeford; "Preaching the Cross" by Carl Spain; "The Relation of the Conditions of Salvation to the Cross"; "The Paradox of the Cross" by John Banister; "The Offense of the Cross" by Frank Pack; "Glorifying in the Cross" by Jack Bates; "Remembering the Cross in the Lord's Supper" by Melvin Wise; "What the Cross Means to Me" by Batsell Barrett Baxter; "Bearing the Cross" by J. P. Sanders.

Copies of this pamphlet may be obtained through the Firm Foundation Publishing House. Cost: 10 cents each.

Lucian M. Farrar, Conway, Arkansas, July 11: Two were baptized here during a recent meeting in which Brother Robert F. Turner of Prescott, Arizona, did the preaching.

Cleon Lyles, Little Rock, Arkansas, July 13: Fourteen have been baptized, sixteen placed membership and three were restored the past two months at Sixth and Izard. Homer Halley preached in our spring meeting. He did his usual outstanding work.

M. R. Phillips, 3909 N. Retama St., Victoria, Texas, July 15: I have just closed a fine meeting at the new congregation in Victoria, Texas, known as the Crestwood Avenue congregation. I did the preaching and Brother O. V. Plinson who is associated with me in the work here directed the singing. I go next to Lake Victor, Texas, to be with Brother H. W. McClish and the good church there in a meeting beginning July 17th. This will be my second effort with these good brethren. From there I go to Crystal City for a meeting with my good friend and brother, Edgar Furr, and the brethren there. I am looking forward to these meetings with a great deal of anticipation. Pray for us and visit us in Victoria, Texas.

Wilburn Whittington, Mt. Pleasant, Texas, July 15: Since my last report I have conducted meetings at Lufkin and Blossom, both in Texas, with four baptisms. Ten have been added to our working forces here at home in the last month, and in the last two weeks more than $700 have been contributed to mission efforts, besides our regular contributions of approximately $100 per month to work outside of Mt. Pleasant. The Lord is blessing us and we are growing in love and unity at the North Jefferson congregation. Our membership now numbers about 210 and our Bible class attendance is averaging more than 200. I begin a meeting at Winfield July 20, and on August 10 I will begin with Jesse Brookshire and the church in Morton, Texas. Brother Brookshire will be with us in a meeting in October.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Two and one-half years ago, about eight brethren met here in Rock Island and established the cause. We rented an old store building in which to meet. At present we have fifty-two members. Attendance runs as high as ninety-eight on Sunday morning.

Our attendance has grown until this building is much too small. The cheapest building we could rent that is large enough is an old theatre building and they want fifty dollars per week for it.

We have bought a lot, size fifty-four and one-half by one hundred and seventy-eight, and have it paid for. We plan to build on this lot.

Our preacher, Brother Deen, is working five days a week to support his family, hopes to build here as soon as possible.

We wonder if some good brother or congregation would make us a loan of seven thousand ($7,000). If so, we could pay the balance for a building, which will be thirty by eighty in size with three class rooms.

We have no hobbies, no isms, and invite anyone to come or send and investigate.

Murray Marshall, 321 South 15th Street, Frederick, Oklahoma, July 9: At this time I am in a good meeting at Fieldton, Texas, near Littlefield. July 4, Mrs. Lee, widow of Dr. Lee of Tipton, Oklahoma, was baptized into Christ at Frederick. The Lees are a prominent family in Southwestern Oklahoma. Two sons are car dealers in Frederick and Wichita Falls, Texas. Mrs. Lee is a former Methodist and is now happy in the truth. Friends of hers at Tipton and other places will rejoice that her years of study have led her to obey the gospel. The colored brethren in Frederick are in a revival through July 17 with Brother A. Bowdre of Dallas, preaching and Brother Jesse Davis of Vernon, Texas, leading the singing. Brother Davis has been preaching on Sunday afternoons regularly at Frederick the past few months. He is the regular preacher at Vernon for the colored brethren. Our summer revival in the City Park at Frederick is July 26 through August 3 with Foster L. Ramsey of Tipton. I held a 5-day revival at Ambrose, near Denison May 25-29. I go to Foster, Oklahoma, August 10-18 for a meeting. Let us uphold Christ and his church to a world confused spiritually.

Hood Wilkins, 3210 Howard, Fort Worth, Texas, July 16: One of the best meetings in the history of the Oaklawn church closed last night. Brother Joe Malone, evangelist for the West Berry church of this city, did the preaching and the writer led the singing. Brother Malone began his part of the meeting on the 6th. Counting those on Lord's day, the 5th, there were 18 responses to the invitation. Seven were baptized, five placed membership, five were restored, and one was restored and placed membership. Brother Malone did excellent work in proclaiming the truth, fearlessly yet kindly. In connection with our meeting we conducted our first Vacation Bible School. It was a great success from every standpoint. We enrolled a total of 291, and our attendance grew from 219 the first day to 283 the fifth and last day. The remarkable thing about this is that at the beginning of the school the Oaklawn church had a membership of 272, and our record attendance in Sunday morning Bible study was 240. Thus, we not only had more in attendance at the Vacation Bible School than we have ever had on Sunday morning, but we also had more than the total membership of the congregation. Such a successful effort is the result of careful planning and preparation, hard work and prayer on the part of the entire church, and the gracious blessing of our heavenly Father. To him be all the praise. Sister Wilkins and I will leave after the evening service of July 26th for a mission meeting in Camas, Washington. The Oaklawn church is sending us for this meeting. We are grateful for this opportunity, and we request your prayers to God for us in this work.

Houston P. Hollis, Metropolis, Illinois, July 15: Two placed membership with us here last Sunday. Two others have been baptized since my last report. The church continues to grow in every phase of our work. During the month of June our average for midweek Bible study was over one hundred, for the all time high record. The work continues to be very pleasant and fruitful. The church here is commanding more respect from the people outside, which is as it should be every place. I am now in a meeting with the Tip Top church, near Dover, Tennessee. My next meeting will be with the Dexter, Kentucky, church beginning September 6. On September 27, I will begin a meeting in Wetaug, Illinois, which is near Dongola.

Cato Sheerer, Kerens, Texas, July 2: Since our last report there have been two restorations and one baptism and several to be identified with this congregation. We have made several much needed improvements, also have built and purchased twenty-three ten-foot benches to be used in outdoor meetings. We have had two good meetings, a fine vacation Bible school, and plan two more meetings in the communities near Kerens. The elders have asked me to preach in these two meetings. In August I plan to be with the congregation at Placid, Texas. We enjoyed being with these brethren last year. Later we have been asked to preach for the congregation at Bellville. Brother Clifton Crisp of Victoria, Texas, preaches for them. The elders also have plans for a colored meeting at Kerens about July 20. We will be assisting the colored brethren in Corsicana in this effort since there is no colored congregation here. We are happy in the work here and our prayer is that our efforts are acceptable unto God. Brethren, pray for us.

C. R. Turnbow, Carlsbad, New Mexico, July 13: There have been one hundred and five additions to the Hillcrest congregation in Carlsbad, New Mexico in one year. I would like to personally commend Brother Murphy D. Phillips for the work done the past year with us here at Hillcrest. It has been my good pleasure to work with him and to help him when the work was too heavy for him to do also to carry on the work when he was away in meetings, etc. A year ago today, he came to work with us from Louisiana, where he is returning to work. I was young in the work also, having recently come from the Anti-class group. It has been a source of encouragement to work and talk with Brother Phillips. Our thoughts and our experiences are very much alike, and we have had the sweetest of Christian fellowship in the Lord's work. The church as a whole in Carlsbad has enjoyed a spiritual growth and development. He and his family have been an encouragement to all the congregation. We consider Brother Phillips one of the strongest preachers of the gospel and defenders of the faith in the Lord's family. Through his knowledge of the scriptures, his forceable preaching and kindness to all, he has led many precious souls to the Lamb of God. During his work with us one hundred and five have been added to our number and many others have made confession of faults. We give God the praise and honor.

Earl E. McCord, Corning, Arkansas, July 16: We closed the meeting here at my home congregation (old Palatka) the night of the 14th. Six mature people were baptized. It was a good meeting in every way. Marshall Corner of Bono, Arkansas, did the preaching in an excellent way. We had the best singing I have ever had charge of here. It was my fourth meeting in the last five years. We had good help, and then we had one of the best song books in the brotherhood, the Firm Foundation book, "Ideal Hymns." I go to Dorena, Missouri, to begin the 20th, then to East Prairie, Missouri, then to Muncie, Indiana. I have some time in September and October.

R. V. Hamilton, Box 107, Hamilton, Texas, June 16: On last Wednesday, June 10, it was my sad duty to conduct the funeral for our beloved brother, Dr. Robert Fowler. He was 85 years old but remarkably well preserved for his age. He was one of the most remarkable and lovable characters I have ever been permitted to know. Dr. Fowler was a keen conversationalist. His whole life was dedicated to making people happy—he lived to serve, and as long as he was physically able he practiced medicine. But he was more than just a doctor; he tried to be a friend to all his patients. The undertaker, a middle-aged man who was delivered into this world by Dr. Fowler, and a lifelong friend of his, said to me before the funeral, "Preacher, this is one time you can say anything you want to about this man; I don't think it is possible to exaggerate about him." Dr. Fowler came from Arkansas and settled in this part of Texas more than fifty years ago. He lived in Thorp Spring and in Hamilton County nearly all of his adult life. Much of the strength of the church here is due to his efforts.

Boyd Gilliland, Box 2551, Waterloo, Iowa, June 30: After moving here from Ames, Iowa, I am now settled and working with the faithful church which has only sixteen members. Current assembly is held at the YMCA building, 151 W. Fourth. Morning worship is at 11:00 each Sunday. A meeting house is urgently needed but outside financial help will have to come for this goal to be reached within the next year. There are only four men wage earners in the congregation. Including children the average Lord's day attendance for the morning worship during the month of June was twenty-six; contributions averaged $25.67. Few visitors investigate a church that meets at the YMCA. The nearest church of Christ is at Oelwein, forty miles east, where Robert Parker now serves as evangelist. I am supported in this mission work by churches in Tennessee (Murfreesboro, Rutherford County, Shelbyville). Through arrangement with A. R. Kepple of Kansas City, Missouri, the Waverly Street church there and some Iowa churches also assist. Jack McElroy of Nashville, Tennessee begins a ten day meeting here July 5. Following our ad in the local paper, twenty-three responses within two days have come to our new series of free Bible Correspondence Courses. Pray that the church may grow at Waterloo, Iowa.

V. E. Howard, 1128 Commerce Highway, Greenville, Texas, July 11: Recent meetings in which I have done the preaching include the Burleson Street church in Marshall, Texas, where Melvin L. Vaughn is the regular minister. We had good interest, good crowds and seven baptized; at Idabel, Oklahoma, where Roy Henderson is the local evangelist there were five additions. (This was the first meeting in the new, beautiful building for the Idabel church); at Plain Dealing, Louisiana, where Aubrey Miller is the regular preacher, four baptized, and interest and attendance were good. I am now in a good meeting in Bowie, Texas, where Paul Gray is the regular minister. Next, I shall be in Mt. View, Oklahoma, July 24 through August 2. We sincerely appreciate the encouragement of our efforts in presenting the Gospel Hour broadcast, originating over XEG, 1050 kc, in Monterrey, Mexico, each Sunday night, 9:30 to 10:00 (C.S.T.) Hundreds of letters from listeners in the greater part of North America are being received.

Elders, Church of Christ, Furman & Staples Streets, Corpus Christi, Texas, by R. D. Simmons, July 15: This is to advise the brotherhood that "The Way of Truth" radio program over KWBU, the 50,000 watt station from Corpus Christi, has been discontinued for the present. The radio station has always cooperated with us in every way, giving us full freedom of speech on all subjects of our choosing, exposing the errors of denominationalism and Catholicism. We are pleased to announce to the brotherhood our plans of beginning again this early morning program at 6:30 a.m., not later than October 1st. We received mail from a total of thirty-one different states in the union, plus Old Mexico and Estevan, Sask., Canada. Our average mail came from twenty-four states a month. About forty percent of the responses to the program were from those who were not members of the Lord's church. Our main reason for discontinuing the program at the present was a financial one. The program costs $28.00 for each fifteen-minute period. The following churches have contributed in times past to the support of this program: Sabinal, Argenta, Raymondville, Woodsboro, Portland, Edna, Bishop, Ingleside, Sinton, Dilley, Refugio, and Furman Avenue, Flour Bluff, Hillcrest, Gardendale, and Alameda Park in Corpus Christi. Since going off the air, two other congregations have agreed to support us when we return to the air; Freer and Texas City. A number of individuals have also supported us, and we want everyone everywhere to know we have appreciated the interest in us and the program. In the near future we will advise our brethren about our plans for returning to the air.

S. W. Baker, 2207 Racine Avenue, Burlington, Iowa, July 6: I am glad to report once more after some years. I had a wonderful meeting with the brethren at Hoskinston, Kentucky, recently, with two baptisms. This place is better known as "Stinnett Settlement School." My father and brother live there. Father will be 96 if he lives to see March 1, 1954. He is in perfect health. My wife and I were invited to spend next school year with them there. She would supervise the "hot lunch" provided for the students and of course, I would do the visiting in the community, and also the preaching. We did not accept the offer because my wife thinks she cannot afford to leave her comfortable home to go to the mountains of Kentucky for a year. Probably a younger couple should go. The attendance during the meeting was the largest in ten years. No finer people live anywhere than those in the Cumberland Mountains of Leslie County, Kentucky. Some preacher who may be interested in working there should contact Hobart Hoskins, Stinnett, Kentucky. The meeting at Hoskinston brought back memories of 1926, when, near the same place I baptized forty-four men and women during an eight-day meeting held in a little school house in the afternoons. West Avenue church in our home town, has just begun to take on a bit of new life. A lack of interest on the part of some has been a great hindrance in the past. We are looking for a preacher now. I sincerely wish we might contact the right man for the church in Burlington, Iowa. We need outside financial support for a while. Who will help us? We have a good building with no debts. When in our city, worship with us at West Avenue Church, between Leebrick and Garfield Sts.

Basil C. Doran, P. O. Box 186, Ferris, Texas, July 15: June 29th through July 12th it was my happy privilege to do the preaching in two meetings. The first was with the North Side church in Mayfield, Kentucky, my 'ole home town. This congregation has just completed a beautiful building which is truly a credit to the cause of our Lord. Brother Robert Willis has done and is now doing a wonderful work with this congregation as its preacher. Brother W. L. Harris led the songs in his own fine way. Two were baptized. The second meeting was with the Macedonia congregation a few miles west of Mayfield. This is one of the oldest congregations in Graves County, and seems to be doing a good work. Brother Willard Alls is in his third year as the preacher for this church. W. T. Winn did a great work in leading the songs for this meeting. One was baptized. Great crowds attended each of these meetings. Our meeting here begins Sunday, July 19, with Emerson J. Estes of Memphis, Tennessee, as preacher. Visit us when passing this way.

Leonard Mullens, 2426 Alco Avenue, Dallas, Texas, July 3: It has been my privilege to assist the Broadway church in Lubbock this year in a teachers' training course, as well as to speak to the combined group of teachers on the importance of the Bible School in teaching God's word at the Skillman Avenue church here in Dallas. Next year, this splendid school will be conducted here at the Edgfield church. In addition to this, I was in a meeting with the Midway City church in Oklahoma City, where Ross Dye preaches, with 29 responses to the invitation. I was also with the East Side church in New York City in a meeting in May, and with the Sixteenth Street church in Washington, D. C., that same month. The first of June was spent in a meeting with the church at Lohn, Texas. Here at home, I preached a week for the Overton Road church with good interest. Eleven responded. Our work here at Edgfield continues to move along. Another house and lot that is close to our present property here on the block has been purchased and is being used for Bible School work. Plans for an addition to our present auditorium are in the making. This week, eleven responded to the invitation with five baptized, and six restored. Our meeting begins July 26 to run eight days, with Brother Athens C. Pullias of Nashville, Tennessee, doing the preaching. Brother Sam Durrance of the Avalon Heights church in Washington, D. C., will direct the singing. The congregation is now engaged in the selection of some more elders to serve with the present group. A few new deacons will also be chosen. At the present time, this congregation supports four men, and two of them entirely, giving the majority of the support to the other two. In addition to this, we also help in other places as the need comes before us. Yet, we need to make much improvement in our support of gospel preachers and preaching in other places. We still have not caught the great vision that the Master has placed before us. Here in Dallas, the church makes good progress. New congregations begin right along, and new buildings are being erected for older and better established churches. There is a good spirit of fellowship among the churches.

J. F. Smith, 2505 Avenue J, Hondo, Texas, July 12: The work at Hondo is getting along nicely at this time. During this year we have added three more classrooms, have installed tile floors, and new seating throughout. So far this year we have conducted a teachers training course, and a vacation Bible school which was well attended. Brother Harry M. Melton, an elder from the Grove Avenue congregation in San Antonio, has been preaching for us over a year, during which time we have had one restoration, six placed membership and seven were baptized.

Due to my loneliness, after my wife passed away, I would like to get enough meetings to keep me busy for a year or more. I want nothing for my labour, just my travel expense from one place to another, and my keeps while there. I will go anywhere, to white or colored congregations. I can give references. If some congregations can help me out in this way, I will appreciate it beyond words to express.—O. E. CORRELL, Kimmunity, Ill.

The church in Boling, Texas, has about 150 opera style veneer seats that some church in need of seats may have if they will come and get them. Some of them are in very good condition, most are average, and some few unusable. These seats came from a theater in Newgulf and they did not cost anything except their removal from the building. Any one interested in them should contact the undersigned.—W. E. BRANNER, Minister, Church of Christ, Box 524-A, Boling, Texas.

URGENT APPEAL FROM HEBBRONVILLE

Raymond Cook, Minister

A few weeks ago, I wrote an article to the Firm Foundation that was published under the heading, "From the Harvest Field" in which I requested various tracts and pamphlets be sent me by various and sundry congregations.

To date I have received one response! That is certainly not encouraging to an ex-Catholic who is trying to convert the Catholics here in this community.

A kind sister in Joshua, Texas, was the only person who responded to my appeal to send tracts, and she could send only about a dozen.

The church here is very small both in numbers and financially, therefore I had no choice but to ask the aid of all able congregations to help me in the efforts to convert some of the hundreds of Catholics here.

We could use help in many directions; such as Sunday School books, and I greatly need a good set of commentaries, which I cannot afford to buy on the small support I receive here.

I have been a Christian since December 11, 1952, coming out of Catholicism in which I trained for the priesthood.

My greatest desire is to attend some Christian college, but that is a financial impossibility.

I might add that I shall gladly go anywhere to lecture on Roman Catholicism. I can speak with authority on the Catholic "faith" due to having lived it many years.

We need your help here in Hebronville. Please don't let us down! Prove that you are interested in winning souls to Christ.

Wyatt Sawyer, Madisonville, Texas, July 16: Eight were baptized and two restored in our ten day meeting which closed last night with Frank J. Dunn doing the preaching. Brother Dunn did an excellent work with us. Brother Gene Sutphen, minister of the gospel at the North Zulch congregation, 12 miles from here, has baptized two in our baptism recently. That work goes well. After September 6th our address will be: 4018 Sue Ellen, Houston, Texas. No one has been selected to succeed me here yet.

REPORT FROM AFRICA

H. E. Pierce

The lateness of this report indicates to some extent the great pressure under which I am working. With every passing month the load becomes greater. Great opportunities show up so that it looks like I just can't neglect them and have a clear conscience before God. The need for getting work started among the adult whites of this community before some other religious workers come here to interfere weighs heavier and heavier on me all the time, but to find time for it has been impossible so far. If somebody doesn't come here soon to help us, there must of course come a breaking point or stopping place for me. Our financial situation is such that I must produce as much food at home as possible as food is our greatest expense. My correspondence is so sadly neglected that it has hurt our support badly. I now have three African congregations to work with and the Sunday School for white children. My Sunday starts at 5:00 A.M. I have four meetings from 7:00 as fast as I can get from one to another taking out time only for lunch. I now have 12 meetings each week.

Our work in June was highlighted by the starting of our third African congregation. It is a little rail siding five and one-half miles from here around the road. The Northern Rhodesia Police are building a new training depot there. There is at least 100 African houses and ten whites besides farmers. The building program is to continue for two more years. We are the first religious workers on the ground and if we had help we could quickly build up the church before others come. Three of our members moved there from here to work in the building program. We went there to see about starting services for them and found four members of the police band who are former Namianga and Sinda Mission boys. They and their wives are all members. This made eleven members to start with. Two of our bricklaying members who went from here have taught and converted one of their fellow bricklayers. He was baptized on the 28th making our first addition to this new work. This congregation is called "The Lilayi Church of Christ."

The cement works at Chilanga is called "The Mine" by the Africans so we are calling that congregation "The Mine Church of Christ." One was baptized there in June. The African settlement of the Game and Tse-tse Control Department is situated in the midst of seven artificial lakes, so we are calling that congregation, "The Lakes Church of Christ." Three were baptized there in June making five for the month—49 for six months.

We wish to express our very sincere thanks for the space being allowed for these reports. Please let us have a place in your prayer for our work in this wonderful new field.

John W. Medders, P. O. Box 31, Carrollton, Georgia, July 13: I have tendered my resignation with the church here effective at any time that I find a good congregation with which to locate in full time work. I have done located work for several years. Also I have done mission work for many years. I am forty-three years of age, and have a godly wife, and a little son nearly five years old. I have had much experience in radio preaching. A good and reliable recommendation can be furnished by the brethren here and many other places. My telephone number is 1990. I desire to make a change in the near future.

William M. Deuell, Newport, Ohio, July 11: We are happy to report that three more persons have been added to the fold by baptism this past Wednesday evening midweek service. We had 69 present for this service which is a peak thus far. Over 75 were present for Bible study last Sunday morning. The brethren here have a will to work and are doing a fine work in the name of our Lord.

Fred E. Dennis, Circleville, Ohio, I am in the closing days of the first gospel meeting ever held in Circleville, Ohio, and in Pickaway County. There was no church in the county until September, 1952, when Brother Charles Cochran moved here and got a few together. There are eleven meetings now. The meeting is being held in a tent. A few outsiders have attended, and brethren have been present from twenty or more congregations. Circleville is located 26 miles south of Columbus and about 20 miles north of Chillicothe. Circleville is in the midst of a rich agricultural country. The population is about nine thousand and about thirty thousand in the county. Hocking County, adjoining, has about twenty thousand population and no church. Here is an area of nine or ten counties, with a population of multiplied thousands and a few struggling congregations. A new Dupont plant is under construction here which will bring additional people into this section. Brother Cochran is the right man in the right place. He is humble and sincere. He is not ashamed of the gospel. His life is above reproach. He has a faithful Christian companion. They have one baby. He is being supported by his home congregation, New Martinsville, West Virginia. A few other congregations and individuals pay his rent. Every dollar above his barest support goes into the work of the Lord. The faithful few here are meeting in an undesirable place. They are in the process of buying two fine lots, well located. For these they will be in debt to the extent of about twelve hundred dollars. There are four men in the congregation. Brethren of other congregations are willing to donate labor and help the brethren to get a modest place in which to meet. They are not wanting a building that will cost $190,000! No, they are not wanting fifty thousand. If individuals and congregations would help them to the extent of eight or ten thousand dollars they would pitch in and do most of the work themselves, and within a few months they would have a place in which to worship God and invite the unsaved to hear the gospel preached. If you were here on the ground you would give to the utmost to this worthy cause. Every dollar will be spent right. This will be read by many who could give five or ten dollars and never miss it. It will be read by others who could give a hundred, and by a few who could give a thousand. Will we do it? I believe we will. Ask any questions you care to ask. Go over and view the field and its possibilities. Please do not lay this appeal aside. Sit down right now and mail the biggest contribution possible to Charles Cochran, 232½ N. Sycote St., Circleville, Ohio.

Sister P. N. R., New Braunfels, Texas, June 20: Brother A. N. Patterson, San Antonio, Texas, and Brother Zennie L. Booker of Austin, Texas, conducted a meeting at New Braunfels, Texas, from June 1st to the 19th. Brother Ed Cannon acted as song leader. The meeting was a grand success with 33 precious souls baptized. When Brother Booker invaded this area for the purpose of conducting a meeting, the church of Christ was unheard of among the colored people. It was indeed gratifying to note the interest that was manifested in this section. The attendance was good and the group seemed to be eager to learn the truth about the church that Christ authorized. Brother Booker is to be commended for his untiring efforts to make this meeting a grand success, and too much praise cannot be given Brother Bill McCown, white minister, of the church of Christ and his members for their hearty cooperation and financial support. They have volunteered the use of their church building to the new congregation to hold their weekly meeting at 3 o'clock every Lord's day until a suitable place can be obtained for a permanent church home. Brother McCown will also teach the mid-week Bible class for the new disciples in the same building, all for which we give God the praise. Brother A. N. Patterson of San Antonio, assisted by Brother Zennie L. Booker, of Austin, will be the temporary minister at New Braunfels, for the time being. Brother Patterson's church group from San Antonio were there in large numbers every night to aid and assist in whatever way they could to make the meeting a glorious success, as well as some from Austin.

Linwood E. Bishop, 1029 Broadwater Avenue, Billings, Montana, July 9: We began our labors here the first week in June. The brethren received us royally and have assisted us in every possible way to get settled in our new home and environment. Our work has had a very pleasant and encouraging beginning. During the five weeks we have been here interest and attendance have increased noticeably at all services, and the contributions have increased $25 to $50 per week. We are now averaging between 90 and 100 in our Sunday morning worship services, and the contributions averaged $140.00 during the five weeks. My personal support is being supplied by the Dimmitt, Texas, church, Broadway church in Lubbock, Texas, and the Logan Street church in Denver, Colorado. We are still short about $50 per month. Any church of Christ or Christian wishing to have fellowship with us in this great mission field may contact any of the above mentioned churches, or you may contact the church here in Billings, 7th Avenue North & 24th Street, or me, Linwood E. Bishop, 1029 Broadwater, Billings, Montana. We have plans and specifications drawn for our new building which will be located at 10th and Alderson Streets. We have our lots paid for ($5,500.00) and will be able to raise between $15,000 and $20,000 toward the building by the time we get it to the point where we can occupy it. We are seeking a loan to supplement what we have. A new building is our primary need at this time. With God's help we shall have it. One baptism to date.

O. C. Lambert, 1309—9th Avenue, S. E., Decatur, Alabama, July 9: Recently during a meeting at Port Arthur (Groves) Texas, Brethren James Fife, 2927—34th Street, Port Arthur, and Preston Nelson, 2949—13th St., Port Arthur, led the singing in an exceptionally fine way. Congregations in need of a song leader will certainly make no mistake to secure the services of either of them. Besides being fine singers, they are both wonderfully fine Christian young men. Beginning August 10, I am to deliver 16 lectures on Catholicism for the church in Santa Rosa, California, and one week of lectures at Haynesville, Louisiana, beginning August 31.

MAJESTIC HYMNAL -- Well Received

GREATLY PLEASED, but not surprised we are noting the reaction of those who have received copies of our first edition of "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL." Sample copies called for have been sent, and examined, and already orders, large and small have reached our office. Some were so certain that the book would please them that they placed orders for their full requirements in advance, to be shipped as soon as the books were from the bindery and these orders have already been filled. We appreciate this confidence, and are glad of course, when we receive a message that "we are more than pleased" with the book.

You will note that "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL" is different. It is not just like the common run of song books. You are entirely correct in this; and we are glad that you take notice of it. And we want to add that this is not at all unintentional on our part. For example you will find quite a number of songs that are designed and intended to be used for special occasions, a line of composition for which we have frequent calls, and which are very much in demand among our singers, specially among the younger groups in many of the larger congregations, and are of the very first importance in musical training and song drills, which are greatly needed to revive the proper interest in singing in most of the churches.

Boost the song service; practice singing frequently and also have a real Singing School at frequent intervals. Nothing will build up interest in the congregation more than really good, enthusiastic singing; and excellent singing will do more than any other one element in leading souls to obey the gospel. No matter what song book you are now using, you will make no mistake if you order a supply of "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL" just for a real period of teaching, and drill, and developing an interest in new and old songs. We can use an old book too long; also it is a good thing sometimes to get a new book for some special drills and for use in the church even if we store the old ones for future use or for supplying weaker, smaller, or mission groups. Prices: Full cloth, $1.00; Leatherette, 80 cents.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Finding Fault With God's Ways

When Solomon's temple was built in Jerusalem, it was the will of God that the children of Israel should go there to worship. But when the kingdom was divided, and Jeroboam ruled over the revolting tribes, he said, "If this people go up to do sacrifice in the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, then shall the heart of this people turn again unto their Lord, even unto Rehoboam, king of Judah, and they shall kill me, and go again to Rehoboam king of Judah. Whereupon the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold, and said unto them, It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem: behold thy gods which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and he set the one in Bethel, and the other put he in Dan" (1 Kings 12:28).

Jeroboam knew he was violating the law of God, but to carry out his ambitions, it was necessary for him to do this. God's way was for them to go to Jerusalem. But Jeroboam said, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem." The modern version of this is, "It is too much to go to the place of worship every Lord's day." The habitual fault finder does not hesitate to find fault with the ways of the Lord. When one says that yesterday was too warm, and the day before it was too cold; today it is too wet, but tomorrow it will be too dry, he is finding fault with the Lord's ways. He usually becomes a habitual grumbler, finding fault with everything. When he goes to church, he finds fault with the way the brethren carry on the services.

Some of these people lived in the days of Ezekiel. The prophet said to them, "Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. Hear now, O house of Israel; is not my way equal? Are not your ways unequal?" (Ezek. 18:25). These critical characters charged God with their own foolishness.

Naaman found fault with God's way when he was told to go and wash seven times in the river Jordan. He thought the river of Damascus would be much better than the Jordan. His servant persuaded him to proceed in the Lord's way, wherein he found healing for his leprosy.

Some people who are very zealous in religion find fault with the way of the Lord. There is so much confusion about the plan of salvation, that it has been decided in denominational circles, that the way of every man is right, if he follows it honestly. But when the Bible says that baptism is a burial, with what consistency can anyone say it is something else? And when the Bible says it is for the remission of sins, why should anyone say it is for something else?

Hearing and Doing

James says, "But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only. For if any man be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass: for he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was" (Jas. 1:22-24). This requirement does not find its fulfilment in faith only. James was just as clear and emphatic in his teaching on faith only as he was in his teaching on hearing only. He said, "Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only" (Jas. 2:41). So salvation is not by hearing only, and it is not by faith only; but it is by hearing, believing and obeying. Every man must hear the right thing, believe the right thing and obey the right thing, if he would be saved.

James says the right thing is the word. Peter says, "And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you" (1 Peter 1:25). The word of man is powerless to save, but the word of God is able to save the soul (Jas. 1:21).

Try Expository Preaching (No. 3)

A. H. Kenamer

This is an age in which most every alien sinner hears far more preaching before being converted than any time since the beginning of the Restoration Movement. Habits of church-going are more pronounced now than they were several years ago. Perhaps one of the greatest causes for this is the regularity of preaching services, the great increase in the number of available preachers and churches that are following a planned schedule of edification. The much teaching that has been done relative to the importance of using every possible opportunity to study and learn is also a vital factor. Not only does the alien sinner hear more gospel than formerly, the saint also receives an abundance of instruction in Christian living.

Nevertheless, with all the "church-going" that may characterize this age, there is still a pronounced ignorance of the Bible. That there should be planned meetings in which every type of instruction in Christian living and in the work of the church should be given is readily accepted. And, except for a few, that regular classes of various kinds, each imparting instruction in God's word along the line of their endeavor should be had is also accepted. With all this systematized teaching, effective as it is, there is one great field that remains unworked unless this instruction is carried over into the personal consecration of the student.

It now is recognized that a teacher is really effective only when he has made the lesson to live in the life of the student. Why is it not the same with preaching? To move someone with oratory, to draw an acclaim for its uniqueness is not the purpose of a sermon. Perhaps the usual and almost trite expression, "I enjoyed the sermon" is a universal term covering all the various effects of the sermon. But, would we not like a more definite and accurate expression as to what kind of action it moved the hearer to take; some statement of future purpose, some decision!

In our periodic call "back to the Bible" let us never forget what it really means as we reflect on the Dark Ages when the Bible was bound with a Catholic chain. Ignorance, superstition, and religious slavery are fostered by a chained Bible. Let us also remember with renewed appreciation the sacrifices of Wycliffe and Tyndale in breaking that chain that we all may have the exalted privilege to read our own Bibles. Expository preaching substantiates that call as few methods can. Even Christian education has not removed the appalling ignorance that pervades each congregation. A method in which the reading of the congregation and the preaching of the evangelist is coordinated promotes this call, concretely.

Let me emphasize that reading is not a virtue in itself, but it is a habit out of which virtue grows. Bible reading is character building, devotion promoting, and faith producing. If pursued with regularity it would revolutionize the church even. The Bible is God's very own word. Reading it, therefore, is not just a good habit, optional with Christians to be imposed if they choose. It is an absolute essential part of the Christian's life, to be valued above his necessary food. It is neglected only at great spiritual loss. Most every Christian knows he should be engaged in this regular nurture, and he doesn't intend to be neglectful, but he is "so busy" that he just does not "get around to it." Again, a coordinated program of reading and preaching would serve as a big inducement to many to accomplish the worthy objective they have neglected so long.

For many years devotional books have been coming from the press. They have had short scripture readings and brief inspirational messages from their authors, all of which was supposed to furnish the well-balanced meal for the soul for that day. Their popular acceptance has reflected a desire for such a devotion. Yet, a pulpit guided program would lead church-goers into much more truth and the preacher's sermon would clinch many of those truths so that they become living messages. The devotional books usually cover a few verses that especially appeal to the book's author. The Bible is never covered, and often the verse considered is not considered contextually, so that part of its message is lost.

Expository preaching gives the congregation a number of advantages. It does not remain in total ignorance of the sermon until the preacher announces his subject. They know something about it already because they have read the Scriptures covered. When he states the theme it strikes a responsive chord in their hearts and revives impressions that were made as they read it. A prepared audience is more receptive. Their faith has a real foundation. They are made to see for themselves that it "comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of Christ."

To guide people into a knowledge of the truth, directly from the Bible must leave an unforgettable impression in their minds. How different it must be to witnessing a preacher use his discipline as he administers the church ordinances! It is hardly conceivable that the famous motto coined by Thomas Campbell, "Where the Bible speaks we speak, and where the Bible is silent, we are silent" could better be adhered to than through the expository procedure in reading and studying.

One worthy by-product of the expository procedure is the unity in family worship that it can create. Doubtless all families find it difficult to follow an assigned schedule of devotion. If each is reading the portion of scripture that will be the basis for the sermons the following Lord's day, their program of reading is already cut out for them for that week, and if they really try, they will find a time in which all can engage in the reading of it together. Not only can the church as such profit but the truths contained in any book treated expositively can also be applied to the family units in their daily devotions.

This writer is a firm believer that much good can be done by this method of preaching, even though it is not followed to the exclusion of the topical method. Give it a genuine trial.

Sunday "The Lord's Day"

D. N. Barnett

A. D. Wilkinson, in Firm Foundation of January 6, 1953, is bold, positive, and sure that his article is the truth. He affirms, "That the Lord's day does not refer to the first day of the week, but to the dispensation of Christ." Please get the Firm Foundation and read with my article. If the Lord's day is not the first day of the week, then the judgment day is not his day in any specific way or manner; for the dispensation refers to the entire age of Christ. Then we can follow all sects and partake of the emblems any day of the week, month, or day of the year. Just imitate the Catholics. The dispensation of Christ has two distinct and specific days—the first to his resurrection—the second to the judgment day.

Paul, with his collaborators, waited at Troas seven days to break bread with the disciples. If the Lord's day is not the first day of the week for Christians to partake of his supper, then any day and every day to entertain each other would be scriptural.

In Revelations 1:10, John was in the Spirit "then" not during a dispensation of days, but on the Lord's day—a specific, certain day.

John turned when he heard Christ and saw the picture which he was to write to correct the work and worship of the seven churches. We have the testimony of the prophets testifying to the importance of the Lord's day—about the resurrection which purchased redemption. Sad would have been the day had his resurrection failed or it referred to his dispensation. It would have taken the entire age for him to conquer death and bring forth immortality to light through the gospel. Daniel called Christ Michael, a great prince standing for God's people, and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one found written in the book; written when they believed, repented, confessed, and were buried by baptism into Christ.

Daniel further said, "And there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt." Daniel did not say all, but many. Matthew saw Christ raised upon the first day of the week, and saw the graves opened; and many bodies of the saints which slept arise and go into the city. Not all, but many. The reason he did not see the wicked, they went to Tartarus.

to await for the judgment to be punished. The trouble, Christ was tried, condemned and crucified; the sun turned to darkness and the moon to blood (Matt. 27:52, 53).

Daniel, with Matthew, saw the great trouble fulfilled, then the resurrection of Christ on the first day of the week to begin the Christian age—the day of redemption. This makes it the greatest day of all days of his dispensation for the living; therefore the Lord's day. Joel saw this great trouble fulfilled—the moon turn to blood and darkness cover the earth. Next, he saw Christ rise from the dead, and the "Great and terrible day of the Lord come, also, that all who would call upon the name of the Lord shall be delivered" (Joel 2:28-32).

Thus, we have Daniel and Joel testifying, that on the Lord's day shall be delivered. Who? All that call upon the name of the Lord shall be delivered. Where and when delivered? For in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance. This was fulfilled on the first Pentecost, Sunday, the first day of the week—the Lord's day.

Isa. 62:1-3 testifies that God's righteousness would go forth in its brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth. Acts 2 fulfills the picture to the letter, which fulfills the testimony of the prophets; that this was the great, crowning day of the Lord—a notable day—a single, distinct, specific day from any other dispensation day of the Lord. On this day Christ was laid as the chief cornerstone and three thousand living stones added to the building—the church—by obeying God's righteousness, which went forth day by day from Jerusalem.

And this is the day the Lord hath made (Ps. 118:22-24). It was made for all Christians to rejoice and be glad, from the first day until the last day of his dispensation. A happy day, when three thousand souls' sins were washed away. A day when all true Christians will assemble for worship and observe the Lord's supper, which man has no God-given authority to partake of any other day—the Lord's day—Sunday—the first day of the week. In memory of him who loved and desired to be remembered. David foresaw Christ raised to sit upon his throne which was established for all generations in heaven (Ps. 89). This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses. Therefore being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear (Acts 2:30-33). See what? The apostles were given power to speak as the Spirit gave them utterance creating an understanding by speaking in tongues that all could understand, so all could obey and be saved. They saw this take place on the Lord's day.

This is the day that Abraham saw, the day which Christ called "My Day" (John 8:56-58). Certainly Abraham was glad and rejoiced to see his seed—Christ—burst the bars of death and fulfill the promise that God made to him. By faith he saw Christ through Isaac. Isaac was God's only begotten son by a miracle performed on Sarah and him when they were past age. Christ was God's only begotten Son by creation—his only begotten Son by a fleshly birth of a virgin—his first begotten Son raised from the dead to die no more. In this he saw Isaac as the type and Christ the antitype offered for sin.

Abraham believed the promise made through Isaac, the type was to be fulfilled through Christ, the antitype. But God said, "Abraham take thy son, thine only son, Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him for a burnt offering." Abraham could have said, "Father, if I offer my son, I destroy my seed and the promise to bless my seed, through Christ"; instead when he raised the knife to take the life blood of his son, God stayed his hand, furnished the offering, which blood rolled sins forward to the sacrifice of Christ whose blood would blot out sin.

Then Abraham saw the offering of Isaac as the type of the offering of Christ, the antitype raised from the dead on Pentecost, the first day of the week, the Lord's day proved by his resurrection.

A certain specific day, that day which God fulfilled his promise to bless all who were and are baptized into Christ. On this day Peter preached the death, burial and resurrection of Christ, and told the Jews they had killed Christ; believing this, they cried for mercy. Peter said, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise (of the gift) is unto you Jews, and to your children, and to all (Gentiles) that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call (Acts 2:38, 39). This is the identical promise made to Abraham.

Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to seeds as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed Christ (Gal. 3:16). All the promises of God are in Christ (2 Cor. 1:20). All spiritual blessings are in Christ (Eph. 1:3). The blessings are the fulfillment of the promises. Then the fulfillment of the promises bestowed the blessings. Then, when Paul said, "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: For ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise (Gal. 3:26-29). This proves that the seed of Abraham, when baptized into Christ, the promise was fulfilled, and they became heirs of all blessings which are in Christ: Therefore, when the three thousand were baptized on Pentecost, they received and inherited the kingdom, Christ as king, saviour, high priest, mediator, redeemer, the door into the fold, the salvation in the fold, the head of the church, the gospel as the seed of the kingdom, entrance into the kingdom, church, the one body, they were new creatures in Christ, raised to walk a new life. They received the worship, which consisted of teaching, preaching, singing, praying; also laying by in store as prospered, and breaking bread in memory of our Saviour's death, burial and resurrection, and show forth his death until he comes to receive his bride, cleansed and purified to presented unto the Father; as the great shepherd, that knows and cares and watches over his sheep. All these wonderful blessings received when baptized into Christ, on the first Pentecost after the resurrection of Christ, on the first day of the week—the great and notable day of the Lord. If our brother's position were true, "That the Lord's day refers to the dispensation days" we could break bread any day of the week, month, or any day of the year, or partake of it each day of the year. In order to forsake the assembling together on the Lord's day, one would have to forsake each day of his dispensation days.

Again, all the promises of God were in Christ (2 Cor. 1). All promises were administered by the Spirit, through the apostles, or as Paul says, "by us." "But God establishes and anoints us with you in Christ." When? When he seals us and gives the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts (2 Cor. 1:21, 22). When do we receive the inheritance—the blessings promised through Abraham? After they believed the word of truth, the gospel of their salvation: In whom they trusted after they believed, they were sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise. What was the promise? "Which is the earnest of our inheritance—until the redemption of the purchased possession—unto the praise of his glory." The promise fulfilled—healed with all blessings promised Abraham through Christ when baptized into Christ, we put on Christ and become the spiritual seed of Abraham according to the promise (Eph. 1:3, 4).

The earnest of the Spirit is the down payment, which are all blessings in Christ; until the redemption of the purchased possessions. Christ purchased the church with his own blood; from the time of the purchase until he gathers out all that offend and do iniquity; then he will present his bride unto the Father. That means all blessings in this life and eternal life in the next world. Therefore grieve not the Holy Spirit of God, whereby we are sealed unto the day of redemption (Eph. 4:30).

On Pentecost, the first day of the week, the Lord's day, the spiritual building was fitly framed together to grow into a holy temple in the Lord for a habitation of God through the Spirit (Eph. 2:14-22). God called the seventh day sabbath, "My holy day; and the sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord" (Isa. 58:13). He did not mean the Jewish dispensation days. The Lord's supper was his supper—a distinct supper from all other suppers. I will build "my church"—not sectarian churches. Then, what did Abraham see when Christ said, "Abraham saw my day and rejoiced?" He saw the Lord's day, the first day of the week, the day he sanctified and set apart as a day of worship. Five times we find expressions as "When the Lord's day come." We know each expression refers to the judgment, and not to his dispensation days; but the Lord's day does not refer to the first day of the week, but to his dispensation or Christian age, says our brother. These expressions are parallel in use; specifying a specific day, on the judgment, the other, the Lord's day, Sunday, the first day of the week.—Ft. Worth, Texas.

Encampment Great Success

Fred W. McClung

Between seventeen and eighteen hundred people thrilled to the sermon on instrumental music in worship preached by R. N. Hogan of Los Angeles, California, Sunday night, July 19th, the last service of the Mt. Sequoyah Church of Christ

Fred McClung

Encampment, at Fayetteville, Arkansas. One of his first sermons was, "You had better get married for no unmarried person can go to heaven." The attendance grew with each service. I am sure Brother Hogan did the best preaching of his life during this encampment. The old-timers in this section say that never in the history of the church have we taught and preached to so many people at any one time. As director of the encampment. I'd like to say its success was due not only to the wonderful preaching and teaching of E. R. Harper and R. N. Hogan, but to the fine work of the local elders and deacons, the untiring efforts of O. L. Dailey as Camp Manager, the cooperation and support of several other congregations in this area, the wonderful contributions of many other preachers, great teachers and councilors. Two services each day were broadcast over the local radio station. It seems that most everyone either attended the services or listened to the radio sermons. The people of this section have been stirred by the gospel and made church of Christ conscious more than ever before.

Twenty-seven different preachers delivered forty-eight gospel sermons during this encampment. Brother E. R. Harper did even better preaching than last summer when we had sixty baptized and restored.

G. H. P. Showalter, Editor of the Firm Foundation, declared that this was the most complete training program and best equipped camp that he had ever seen in the brotherhood. Twenty-six different classes in Bible, church music, and leadership training were offered each day of the encampment. About 225 people registered to stay in the camp this first year. The others stayed at home and attended the camp.

Eighteen were baptized and three restored. We believe that all the churches in this section will be reaping from the seed sown during this encampment for several years.

We have been told by the owners of the camp that we can make this an annual affair and expect to use the dates July 10 through the 18th, 1954. Arrange your vacation and make plans to come with the entire family for the 1954 encampment.

Scripture: "In all things showing thyself an ensample of good works; in thy doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of us" (Titus 2:7, 8).

Criticism: The ability to understand and render righteous judgment is a commendable trait of character. The worthy critic is a capable judge, and respects the sacred principle of impartiality. The apostle knew by experience, when the inspired admonition was recorded, that the saints would be criticised anyway without making detours with unholy invitations. The spirit of Potiphar's wife did not cease when she perished. The carnal desire of the ambitious to "use or abuse" has smeared honorable persons in every generation; and the ugly varmint often rears its whispering head among the saints nowadays. The experience is a severe test for the impartial who pity the victims of self-righteousness—those seeking to please minority groups while insulting God (Gal. 1:10).

Peacemakers: The coming "Prince of Peace" was the outstanding theme of the ancient prophet, and the angelic host proclaimed "peace among those in whom the Lord is well pleased" when the babe was born (Luke 2:14). Did the master Teacher unify all the partisan groups among the religious Jews? Who was at fault because of the failure? The Christ or the hyper-critics? Paul closely imitated the Lord when he rebuked the partisan groups which threatened the peace and prosperity of the saints in Corinth. The group which preferred Paul must have felt severely rebuked when he directed the admonition at them: "Was Paul crucified for you? Were you baptized in the name of Paul?" The other partisan groups could make the application! The second Corinthian letter is filled with pathos: Many responded and exercised discipline; but some rebelled (2 Cor. 2:5-11). Why did Paul fail to unify the saints? Was it due to his impartiality or the partisan spirit of some?

Gratitude: Amid the trials and tribulations of life, we fall short of the glory of God and often use poor judgment, but the fiery experiences will destroy the dross and purify the gold—if we permit! At the end of fifteen months with the Central church in Long Beach, where it was necessary to deal firmly with demi-digression and semi-sectarianism, the elders handed me a letter of commendation for being a "good minister" who enjoyed the "love and confidence of the congregation." One elder was away, but sent a personal letter which is quoted in part: "I want you to know how much I appreciate your efforts in the work you have earnestly and consistently tried to do for the church . . . at times it was heart-rending for you to carry on . . . dealing with ambitious persons . . . nevertheless you proved to be a better man and a more conscientious Christian in your endeavor to serve the Lord than many who only pretended." The Lord add his blessings!

Second Kings 6:1-7

George Hickey

Elisha was teaching president of a college. One of his students got into unique trouble. Elisha's college had become too small. The president put on an expansion program. The individual plan was put into practice. Each boy was assigned the task of going down to the Jordan to bring back some planks. Elisha went along to help. At the Jordan is where the student got into trouble. All Jewish boys were taught a trade. One boy had to borrow an ax. He was able to borrow the ax but not the skill required to use it. The head of the ax flew off and sank to the bottom of the Jordan. The student was in serious trouble because the ax was borrowed. To borrow placed the Jew under great obligation. Elisha was a man of God. He cast in a stick and the iron ax head did swim. Common reason will not allow you to believe this history. God made the law of gravity. He made the law change in this miracle. God made the laws of sex. He made these laws change when the virgin Mary conceived the Christ child. God made sounds. He made Balaam's ass talk. The infidel modernist does not believe these miracles literally happened. Believers, "walk by faith, not by sight" (2 Cor. 5:7).

Iron Flies

Picture this young man as the head of the ax flies off. He is left standing holding to the handle. No doubt the ultimatum of every American artist is to describe America as she is today. If I would paint a picture of America it would be iron flying. Man is holding onto the handle. It seems that the important thing is to fly. After a visit to America, a British student was asked for his impression of the American student. He said, "It seems that he has more interest in the coke machine and leisure than in the library." In Luke 14, guests were invited to the feast. They began to make excuses. Every one of these was holding onto the handle. In Mark 10:17 the rich young ruler held onto the handle. In Luke 12 the rich fool made greater barns. He held tightly to only the handle. We can't divorce ourselves from business, but we must realize that earthly business is not eternal. Man may love his work and never look at the clock, but he can't escape the calendar. Death and judgment are only a step in the future. If you are not putting the kingdom of God first you are holding onto the handle.

Iron Sinks

Iron sinks right on down in the mud of its own accord. Man can live and refuse to do good works, but he can't keep from sinking. If a farmer does nothing, the weeds will take his farm. The fig tree must produce fruit (Luke 13:6-9). Every man must use his talent or sink into the mud (Matt. 25:25, 26). If you want to fail in business you don't have to curse or rave at your co-workers, just neglect it. Neglect your home life and it will sink right to the bottom. You don't have to send your children to infidel teachers in order to ruin them, just pour the acid of neglect into their eyes. The sure road to hell is to do nothing, never start a good work, never begin doing good.

Iron Swims

Elisha put a stick on the water. God made the iron swim. The iron was on the bottom but God made it rise. This beauty belongs only to God. He raised the murderers of Christ from out of the mud on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:37-47). John was known as the Son of Thunder. God made him into the apostle of love. Peter was unstable as water. God made him a rock. Saul was the persecuter. God made him rise to unspeakable glories. What makes the difference in men? God's power makes men different. The blood of Christ makes men free from sin. "Arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16). Yes, my beloved neighbor, iron did swim. One day your fleshly body must sink. Is this the final? God resurrected Jesus from the grave. A Christian sinks in the grave in dishonor but God will raise him in glory. My beloved brethren, to die in the Lord is only the sunset for a glorious sunrise. My God made iron swim.

CUP OF JOY

W. W. Otey

Every one who loves the truth and the church in its simplicity will rejoice when news of the gospel is being preached and the church established any place on earth. And news on the lack of success or the abandonment of questionable work and methods gives much joy to lovers of the Lord's work and method.

Many of our readers have read the book, Living Issues, that came from the Firm Foundation press last December. I quoted in that book six full pages from the pamphlet written by E. W. McMillan, and signed and sent forth by the Union Avenue elders of the church in Memphis, Tennessee. The program proposed to establish in four cities various kinds of schools such as sewing, nursing, community centers, cafeterias, athletic fields, and similar social enterprises. I gave the program in one chapter of Living Issues. I stated repeatedly in the book that I knew nothing about the whole setup and program except what I read in the literature from Union Avenue elders. To say that it caused a sensation is to state it mildly. I could make a book as large as it from the strongest commendations that could be written.

Just a few days ago I received a letter from Brother Richard Baggett, and sent it at once to the Gospel Guardian, in order to present the work actually being done in the true light. Today I received a letter almost like that one from Brother Joe Bryant, who had also just read Living Issues. Those two letters filled my cup of joy till there issued from my eyes a flow of tears. Few things in life have ever so deeply moved me as those letters. I now give a part of Brother Bryant's letter.

Dear Brother Otey:

Yesterday I had the opportunity to read your book, Living Issues. I would like to say amen to most of what you say. Personally I appreciate the warnings that we younger men receive from you who have been preaching the gospel for so long. Actually Union Avenue has to do with only a portion of the work being done in Japan, and it is not the most important work either. We have work going on in Shizuoka-ken, 120 miles southwest of Tokyo, in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, and here in Ibaraki-ken which are not connected with Union Avenue in any way whatsoever: I came over as an evangelist or preacher, and not as a school teacher in any sense. I do teach Bible one day a week to the young Japanese preachers. But my work is preaching the gospel and establishing strong true churches. Union Avenue had nothing to do with my coming. The same is true of most of the other missionaries now in Japan. Actually I had to choose myself, and then beg to be sent. I feel that the church should choose and send out missionaries, but this is not being done. After a fellow decides that he should go into the world and preach the gospel he has to beg the church to send him. If a fellow is bashful about asking he finds it very difficult to be sent. I don't know how I missed it, but I had never seen the pamphlet sent out by Union Avenue, and quoted by you in the book. I can assure that none of the fellows would agree with such a program unless it would be Brother Bixler, and he has no fellowship with the rest of us. All of us would be opposed to such a program as proposed in that pamphlet. My information is that those connected with the school are not in favor of giving to the school from their treasury. I have heard some of them express this fact. I think they have written Union Avenue to this effect. There are around fifty churches in the various areas where we are working. These churches are the major work in Japan. Not the school. We are striving to lead these people to a knowledge of the simple Bible truth, and establish faithful New Testament churches here in Japan. It is a difficult task, but as you say, it can be done only by preaching and teaching the scriptures day after day until it sticks in the minds and hearts of these people. Neither do we believe in luring these people with worldly pleasures and material things. We strive to preach in such a way as to convict these people of sin and baptize the penitents into Christ. We have many problems, but we seek for the solution in the word of God, not in the wisdom of men. This I have always preached. This I shall always preach." (Signed) JOE BRYANT.

A great number of brethren will be sincerely glad to hear that no part of the socialized projects proposed by Brother McMillan, and advertised so widely by the Union Avenue church in Memphis, is to be done, except the college. To this writer it is one of the most gratifying in a long time. And the statement of Brother Johnson is of the highest character. It sounds like the words of an experienced student and writer on New Testament matters. Let the church everywhere contribute liberally to the work of preaching the word of the Lord in Japan, send more preachers and support them. Let the school be supported by individual contributions. Peace and unity will follow, and greater success in the work. Keep forever preaching the gospel, caring for the needy as the work of the church. Let schools and all human institutions be under the direction and support of individuals. In all ages when the church is joined to human institutions apostasy results.

SERIOUS THOUGHTS

J. C. Choate

Some of the most serious thoughts that can enter a mind are the thoughts of eternity. Just where will you spend eternity? Each individual must ponder over this question. Every time the Bible is studied this thought is under consideration. The sermons that are preached are to lost souls and to those who want to live better. The listener must decide to accept Christ or to reject Christ (Matt. 11:28-30; Matt. 6:24).

This life is short and such a fact should be recognized (Jas. 4:13, 14). People are dying every day. Some are young and others are old. We know not when death may come calling (Heb. 9:27). Yet, people live on in a worldly fashion. Sin is everywhere. Ungodliness walks in the lives of many bringing shame and disgrace. Eternity and salvation of the soul has been forgotten, and the Bible has been rejected by the world as a whole. Hence, the truth as ever is the world's greatest need (John 8:32). The gospel needs to be accepted that souls may be saved from the pits of sin (Rom. 1:16, 17). Eternity should dwell on the minds of everyone (Matt. 25:46). Serious thoughts will help to cause people to awaken from a nightmare of sinful living.

Consider a person that is near death. What thoughts come into such a mind? The answer is plain and simple, the thought of eternity. The poor soul doesn't have time to think about going out and enjoying the pleasures of this world. Neither does the individual want to go out and drink, curse or gamble, etc. Well, why? Because life is too short and eternity is near at hand. The trouble with the majority of the people, eternity is not thought of soon enough. These things should be made in such a way that eternity could be a joyous thought.

Sinners should consider heaven and hell. By so doing, it is believed that more people would obey God. Who wants to die and go to hell? No one in his right mind. Who wants to live in heaven? Everyone. Thus, sinners should do more serious thinking and prepare for the hereafter.

Every Christian should consider eternity every day. If each Christian would do this, there would be less falling away, and greater service to God.

Judgment is sure and all will be there (Acts 17:31; Rom. 14:10-12; John 5:28, 29). The righteous shall be saved but the sinner lost (Heb. 9:27; Matt. 25:46). The wages of sin is death (Rom. 6:23). Dear friend, think seriously, where will you spend eternity?

What Does The Bible Say?

Resigning Ourselves to God's Will

Do you find it hard to resign yourself to God's will when trials come upon you? Continuing our study of Acts we find Paul intent on going to Jerusalem, but the Christians at Caesarea tried to persuade him not to go. They were fearful he would be imprisoned and killed. Actually he was made a prisoner and finally died in Rome, but through this experience he had an opportunity to preach the gospel to kings and many others. He told his friends that he was ready "not only to be bound, but also to die" for the name of the Lord Jesus. When they saw his faith they said: "The will of the Lord be done" (Acts 21:14).

This should be the spirit of each Christian as he bravely faces the unknown future. We believe in God. We believe in Jesus Christ. We have surrendered our lives to him. Our task is not to worry about the future, not to fret if circumstances beyond our control bring disappointment and seeming defeat. Our task is to walk daily by faith doing God's will to the best of our ability. Then we know that all things will work together for good (Rom. 8:28). Then we can say no matter what happens, "The will of the Lord be done."

The devil tempts us to think more highly of ourselves than we ought to think. He tries to get us to tell God just how the world ought to be run, and particularly just what should happen in our lives. But we do not know what is best for us. Health, prosperity, power, or popularity which we may desire may be stumblingblocks to us. God knows best. Let us pray daily as Jesus prayed in the garden of Gethsemane: "Not what I will, but what thou wilt."

In the coming years our task is to yield ourselves to Christ's way of life. "If we walk in the light, as we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 John 1:7). When we do this there is no need to worry about wars or depressions or health or even death itself. Our task is to obey God in Christ, and "with God be the rest!"

Do you wish this kind of faith? Do you desire this peace of mind? Then deny yourself and take up your cross and follow Jesus today. Believe on him as the Son of God, confess your faith, repent of your sins, and humbly submit to being buried with him in the likeness of his death and raised in the likeness of his resurrection. Then walk in his light every day. Then no matter what happens to you from the outside you can say, "The will of the Lord be done."

Bornheim Congregation Rejoices

In November and again in January our "Germany for Christ" report showed pictures of the building under construction in Bornheim, a Frankfurt suburb. The building was needed so much that the English speaking congregation made up of service personnel and the missionaries contributed $1,000 to enclose the auditorium only. On May 10 the first service was held. Brother Fritsche, our young German evangelist, preached the first sermon, using Psalm 137 as his text, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it: except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh in vain."

In the large assembly room there is no ceiling, wooden rafters are showing, electric light wires are visible, the floor is rough cement. At the front, Brethren Bieneck and Wendt have whitewashed the wall, two plants occupy the corners behind the pulpit. The room is cozy and comfortable, although not finished and there is a good spirit among us. We are so happy to have our little church building. Work with the young people has begun and the spirit is first rate. We meet each Saturday afternoon and night. At our first meeting 20 were present and we had a mighty fine time. We sang some good old hymns and prayed and asked the Lord to direct us in our work with the church and to bless our efforts with the young people. We discussed plans for our work. We believe that singing for those who are bedridden, taking the Lord's Supper to them and others who are sick, visiting and helping the needy are the things which we should do. Our motto is "Helping Others."

Perhaps the words of Brother and Sister Meidinger express all of our thoughts as they said, "Tell our dear brethren in America that we thank them from the bottom of our hearts for their help which made this building possible. We promise that we shall pray to God to give us the strength to work with his blessing for the upbuilding of his cause in this community. We are so thankful that we have our own building in which to worship, to sing praises to God and to pray for his guidance. We recognize that without God's blessing we would not have this building. We hope that he will bless us in our endeavor to serve him."

A Great Difference

M. Norvel Young

An English writer has said: "The early Christians did not go around saying, 'Look what the world is coming to.' Rather they went out with great joy and said to all men, 'Look what has come to the world!'" There is a great difference between these two attitudes. Yes, the world is in bad shape, but read the second chapter of Romans and you will find that the world was in an awful condition in Paul's time. Nearly all thoughtful men agree that man is in a terrible predicament, but the unique gospel of Jesus Christ offers the solution to man's problems. Look! See what has come into the world, God's revelation of himself in all his power, wisdom, and love through Jesus Christ, his only begotten Son. This is indeed glorious news! This is a message which we can't keep to ourselves, but we must tell everybody about it. No wonder Christians are radiant with joy. They have found the treasure all men are seeking. They have seen what has come into the world in the advent of Jesus Christ and they are working for the advancement of his kingdom until he comes again!

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

"TO THE HIGHWAYS AND HEDGES"

I have received from interested brethren in different localities many letters commending the editorial in our issue of July 21: "On To Neglected Fields." After reading several of these, I turned to read again my own article. And it was fresh and needful as I re-read it. When all is said on many subjects perhaps there is no more seriously needful theme than a consideration of the great need of sending the gospel to those who are without God and without hope. I am sure that few of our readers realize how many thousand people there are who have never heard the precious story of Christ's redeeming love. In Lk. 14 the writer declares there was once a man who made a great banquet and "invited many." But those invited thought too much of other things to accept the invitation. One had bought a piece of land, another a yoke of oxen, another had married a wife; the Lord does not enlarge upon his illustration to tell what miserable excuses the others of the "many" invited guests, advanced. But he did say that the man withdrew the invitation—"None of those men who were bidden shall taste of my supper." Then he sent the servants to the streets and lanes of the city, and finally to highways and hedges that his house might be full and that so his provided bounty might be enjoyed. I am giving to our readers two of the letters mentioned above. One of these comes from the far Northeast, the other from the Middle West.

There are many good brethren who are laid on the shelf, who are yet capable of doing much good in preaching the gospel. Some of these are willing and even anxious to preach. I know of many churches that are able to support them in the neglected fields. They are not what they once were physically; but as for preaching the gospel in homes and in small audiences they can do as well as they ever could. Why not give them the small support they would require and send them to some of the many neglected fields?

EL DORADO SPRINGS, MISSOURI
900 South Grand

Dear Brother Showalter:

I read and re-read your article in the July 21st Firm Foundation, and must say amen to every line.

I have spent near unto 46 years preaching the gospel and most of my life has been spent in the field where there were no churches, and the gospel not preached. This was done without anyone supporting me, yet my wife and I have reared a family of five children, all Christians. We have not laid up for a rainy day on earth, but the Lord has stayed by our side, and will give us a home eternal when we are through with this life. Our health is good and we are still working in weak places, and are willing to keep up the fight. Remember the call, "Men of Israel, help" has touched our hearts and here we are, ready to help the rest of our life. We will never beg people to come and get the truth—we are ready to take it to them. We can't raise corn by putting it in the crib, but by putting it in the field. May the Lord bless you in your good work. Yours in the Lord.—W. T. HINES.

DANFORTH CHURCH OF CHRIST
Danforth, Maine

Dear Brother Showalter:

This is to commend wholeheartedly your editorial in the July 21st number of the Firm Foundation. To men in the neglected fields this comes as an odor of a sweet smell for daily we experience the feeling of a tremendous and untouched opportunity for God's people that is lying at our very doorstep. Laborers are few indeed! The one hundred preachers you mentioned could be used in New England alone, each in virgin territory and none overlapping in such new areas. If evenly divided, each would be charged with over 100,000 souls; yet this is only the far corner of the great Northeast with its few scattered congregations of the faithful and its fewer gospel preachers. "Men of Israel, help!" Amen!

Your mention of preachers going into these places even without "security and certified assurance that his necessities would be provided" strikes close to home with us. We did that when we came to Danforth, and now we are doing the same as we move to Caribou, ninety miles north in the northeast corner of this northeasternmost state in our union. So far as we can determine, the gospel has never until now been proclaimed in this whole area. Even the "Herald of Truth" program doesn't reach there and few people have ever heard of the church of Christ or its teaching. We go believing that the needed things will be added unto us, even as before we did not know from where they would come. Meanwhile, I am "making tents" until the support is sufficient. (Already it has started to come from surprising places).

These few details are mentioned neither to brag, beg, nor to seek sympathy. The reason is simply this: I challenge every preacher in the body of Christ today who has never done so to read Mark 16:15 or other such passages and do just what it says in the sincere belief that Christ "will be with you, even to the end of the world." Yes, as you said, "Paul delighted to preach the gospel where Christ had not been named." Why don't we have more preachers who find genuine delight in such today, rather than trying to be a "big" preacher, going to places only for a "bigger" salary, which place has just lost a "great" man, yet at the same time presents a "great" or the "greatest challenge" (according to their reports) that man ever faced. "Men of Israel, help!" May God bless you.—E. R. DAVIS, JR.

History Of The Church In Munich

James C. Moore, Jr.

My earliest recollection of the church in Munich is a conversation with Lt. Harry Walker of Memphis, Tennessee, who came to Frankfurt to persuade one of us who were preaching there to go to Munich to work with the new congregation which he and M-Sgt. Carl McDaniel had established. For several weeks one of the brethren drove 325 miles and back to worship with this little group until Brother Jack Nadeau could move there permanently. That was a simple beginning and attracted little attention. The church is still small and weak in Munich, as compared with many of our old congregations in this country, but there are now more than 125 adult persons enthusiastically serving the Lord in a manner they did not understand five short years ago.

Brethren Norvel Young, Batsell Barrett Baxter and I visited the office of the Oberburgermeister (Lord Mayor) of Munich with Brother Nadeau in July, 1949, and made arrangements for a place to work in distributing clothes to the needy and in teaching the people. The Mayor gave us, without any charge, three rooms in a large old folks home in downtown Munich, which was to be the center of our work for three years. The people of Munich were grateful for the physical help we brought, clothing for thousands and food for many hundreds, all gifts from our brethren in the United States.

Our office rooms were not large enough to accommodate the congregation for worship, but we could use them for children's classes. Sunday morning found us in a large room in the Baptist's building about five blocks from where our children were studying. At night we used a larger room, which the owners used earlier for their worship. In those days we had from 200 to 250 in attendance. A number of those who came in those early days form the nucleus of our two congregations in Munich now. Of course some who did not understand, or who came for the food and clothing which they hoped to receive, have fallen away.

Back in '49 and '50 classes were held in eight different localities in school buildings and refugee camps. Our brethren had large, attentive audiences. No one else seemed to care what happened to many of these people. They were running from tyranny in the East, huddled together as a result of a ruinous war which left them with only one hope, that which the gospel holds out to those who have nothing of a material nature left to rely upon.

In '51 the American personnel in the army arranged for us to have a nice large room in the Art Gallery known as "Haus der Kunst," for the English services. Since it is the center of activity for American personnel, it has been easier to reach our brethren there. They meet twice on Sunday and the attendance has averaged about 40 for three years now. This fine little group helps the German brethren and are contributing regularly for the construction of the new building.

Three gospel preachers have been developed by the Munich congregations. Brother Otto Miller works with Brother Bob Hare in the Munich-Laim (pronounced Lime) congregation and Brother Hopfl is now preaching for the downtown group in the absence of Brother Jack Nadeau, who is in the States on leave and working in behalf of the Munich church under the guidance of the elders of Skillman Avenue of Dallas. Gottfried Reichel will return from Harding College in September to resume preaching in Laim.

In May of '51 land was purchased at the corner of Mozart and Herzog Heinrich Strasse in downtown Munich. It required much effort over a period of 18 months to obtain the permit from the city to erect our building. It was started in October and the foundation was complete before winter set in. Now the building is rising and can be completed this fall if sufficient money is given. It was our original intention when Brother Gatewood visited this country in 1950 to erect a smaller building, but since it was possible to get a lot in a prominent location downtown and since Munich is such a great city, it was decided to build large enough to seat 350 people and provide five classrooms, using all the space on the lot.

In the spring of '52 the Marietta, Ohio congregation sent $2,000 to buy their lot at the corner of Gotthard Jorg Strasse in Laim, a suburb of Munich. As you read this, the foundation will be in the process of being built, the Lord willing. Enough money has been given to complete the framework and before that is finished, the brethren in Marietta hope that additional contributions will be made to make possible the completion. Brother Gottfried Reichel, who graduated from Harding College in June, will visit many congregations on behalf of this work.

It has been a thrilling experience to have had a small part in the growth and development of the kingdom of the Lord in Germany. Due to many difficulties, our Munich congregation is now meeting in a temporary barracks. We hope to have a permanent house of worship in two locations in Munich before the close of this year. Contribute to this work as you can. Mail checks to: Elders, Skillman Avenue, Dallas, or Sixteenth Street, Marietta, Ohio.

Our meeting at Loving, Texas, closed with seven baptisms and one placing membership. I am presently in a meeting at Willow Springs, Texas.

George Tipps, 211 West Grand, Jackson, Tennessee, July 18: One was baptized and one was restored and identified at Highland last Sunday. Recently two others were restored and identified. Last month the contributions averaged more than $650 per Sunday. My next meeting is with the church in Auburn, Kentucky, August 3-12.

B. E. Bawcom, 926 North C Street, Arkansas City, Kansas, July 27: A man 86 years old, his wife, 72, were baptized last week. One was baptized the week before. Our Sunday morning radio program helped to lead the elderly couple to Christ. Our Vacation Bible School begins August 24. We are expecting a great school. Considerable preparation has been made.

James W. Huggins, Box 72, Gunter, Texas, July 20: Robert Bankes closed a meeting here on the 15th. Ten were baptized and one confessed wrongs and placed membership. The church was greatly edified by the sound and forceful preaching. John Elmore, of Sherman, led the singing in a highly capable manner. Brother Bankes is minister of the Houston and Broadway congregation in Kilgore.

Tillman B. Pope, Alma, Arkansas, Box 217, July 20: Since last report, two were baptized at Healdton, Oklahoma. Joe Laird is moving to Healdton this week to take up local work. The Healdton congregation is one of our stronger congregations. I am now near El Dorado, Arkansas, in a fine meeting. Bill Copeland is leading the singing.

Raymond F. Cook, Church of Christ, Hebronville, Texas: Any good books you may be able to send my way would be deeply appreciated, as I have been preaching only since last December and need to study a great deal. (If any reader is in position to help this young brother in his Bible study with good books or tracts, communicate with him direct.—Ed.)

L. Hugh Ousley, Box 175, Springtown, Texas, July 25: After almost three years of labor with the church of Christ in Dexter, New Mexico, I moved to Springtown, Texas, July 1st to work with the church here. So far it is a very pleasant work and I know I am going to enjoy working again in Texas after an absence from the state for almost eleven years.

D. H. Perkins, 2005 South Lincoln Street, Denver, Colorado, July 15: Last Lord's day was another good day for the church at this address. A young married woman and mother was baptized into Christ, and a new all time record attendance for regular worship service was present. Bible school attendance was the highest in some months. On last Wednesday night there was another addition to the local church by transfer.

Sterl A. Watson, West End Church, St. Louis 14, Missouri, July 17: We had our record attendance last Sunday. One was baptized. Contributions exceed our weekly budget of $420.00. Peace, harmony, and co-operation prevail here. I shall be with the Highland Heights church, Lebanon, Tennessee, beginning August 2. G. K. Wallace and W. Carl Ketcherside will conduct a debate here beginning October 26th. There will be five nights of it.

Troy M. Cummings, 1090 Allen Avenue, Prineville, Oregon, July 15: Three were baptized and one was restored in the gospel meeting in Shallowater, Texas, from June 12-21. During the past eleven months in Prineville there have been twenty-two baptisms, two from the Christian church, and one restoration. Membership has grown from 23 to 63. I have time for a gospel meet next summer in Texas if some church desires my services.

T. A. Scholes, Tioga, Texas, July 23: Brother J. W. Webb of Moore, Oklahoma, closed a ten-day series of meetings last night at the Tioga church of Christ with five baptized into Christ. Brother Webb is a sound gospel preacher who preaches the truth in love, yet does not compromise. He exposed with power the errors of denominationalism. He has consented to return later for another meeting. Brother J. J. Kays led the singing. We give God the glory and press on to greater things in the kingdom.

Fred Custis, Haskell, Texas, June 20: Brother Hulen Jackson did the preaching in our summer meeting which closed last Wednesday night. There was one baptism and one reclaimed from the Christian church and several others to confess wrongs. I am to be with the church at Megargel, Texas, in a meeting July 27th through August 5th.

L. F. Mills, 156 E. Baker St., Batesville, Arkansas, July 20: My meetings so far have brought the following results: Hardy, Arkansas, two confessions of sin; Ash Flat, Arkansas, three baptized and one restored. I am now conducting a mission meeting at Sunnyland, Arkansas. Next I go to Mt. Zion, near Newark, then to Williford, Arkansas, and Gilt Edge, Tennessee.

J. P. Williams, Route 11, Box 198, Fort Worth, Texas, July 20: I concluded a fine meeting at Cottondale, north of Springtown, Texas, last evening. One was baptized and eleven confessed error. Brother Foy Low of Springtown led the song service in a very fine way. The work here at Lake Worth continues to be encouraging. Our prayers are for the brethren everywhere, and that the church of our Lord shall continue to grow in a bountiful way.

Cecil N. Wright, Box 4046, South Denver Branch, Denver 9, Colorado, July 20: Last evening the Sherman Street church closed an excellent eight-day meeting, with Brother Carl Spain of Houston, Texas, doing the preaching and Brother Marvin Crowe of the local congregation directing the singing. Both did their work superbly. Thirteen made public response—five being baptized, four placing membership (two of whom were also restored), and four others confessing sins.

Hershel L. Dyer, 847 S. 14th, Lincoln, Nebraska, July 22: It was my pleasure to be associated with the church in Durant, Oklahoma, July 12-19. Seven persons were baptized during this special effort. Our work with the church in Lincoln continues to move forward. Several have been baptized lately. We are striving to become entirely self-supporting some time next year. The Broadway church in Lubbock, Texas, continues to help with my support. When in the Nebraska capitol, worship with us on the corner of 14th & F.

R. L. Roberts, Box 247, Decatur, Texas, July 23: One has been baptized and two restored since I began work with the church here. Just before I came they had a great meeting with more than seventy responses. Nineteen of them were baptisms. Brother Isbell of Lawton, Oklahoma, did the preaching. Brother Guy N. Wood, Memphis, Tennessee, will be with us for a meeting in December. We do not expect to double the membership, attendance, or contribution over night, but we do hope for a steady growth.

S. A. Ribble, Wellman, Texas, July 24: Our meeting, July 12-19, has passed. There was one response to the invitations. The preaching was done by Brother E. E. West of Brownfield and it was well done. Attendance was fine. Brethren, from round about aided and encouraged by their presence and singing. Mrs. Ribble's recent illness and hospitalization is now history, and she is seemingly as well as in years. Thanks for the many words of comfort and the prayers that were offered for her recovery. The Lord has graciously spared her to me and my work. The good doctors did their share in a fine way.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, July 23: Brother Robert Oz of Ypsilanti, Michigan, has just closed a gospel meeting with the Willow Street church in Cookeville. There were eleven baptisms. He is a very fine gospel preacher, sound, forceful, kind, circumspect, and he knows his Bible. On the last Sunday of the meeting 226 attended Bible School, 265 attended the 8:45 early morning worship service, 213 the 11 o'clock service for a total of 483 at both services. These are all time records at Willow Street.

Murrey W. Wilson, Mountain View, Oklahoma, July 18: Brother Palmer Wheeler, Memphis, Texas, just closed a fine singing school here. After September 4, Brother Wheeler will be available for other singing schools. Regular work with some local congregation as singer and assistant minister or as local minister. Write him if interested. He is a diligent worker in the Master's vineyard. The work here progresses nicely. I begin work with the church in Bentonville, Arkansas, the middle of August.

Luther Savage, 809 Merritt Drive, Fort Worth, Texas, July 18: I had an enjoyable work with the church in Magnolia, Arkansas. The folks there in the church are fine people. The church in Magnolia put over thirty thousand dollars into the building fund while I was working with them. They are now in process of building a new church building that will be a real advancement to the cause of Christ in Arkansas. W. R. Craig will take my place in the work with this good church. I am now preaching in Fort Worth with the Rosen Heights church.

Tlee Elkins, 1523 Cuba Avenue, Alamogordo, New Mexico, July 21: This is to inform everybody that wife and I are at home again in Alamogordo, and that I am regaining my health in a very fine way. After six months of enforced idleness, I am happy beyond words to say that I shall be ready to answer calls or invitations to hold meetings anywhere I am wanted, after September 1st. If any place failed to have a meeting this season, and still desires to hold a meeting, I am certain that I can do the work for you, and will consider it a blessing from heaven if you will give me the opportunity.

Robert D. Banks, 810 Houston St., Kilgore, Texas, July 20: I closed a meeting with the College Hill church in Gunter, Texas, last week. There were eleven responses. Ten were baptized and one confessed wrongs. This was my second meeting with this congregation. I will return in 1954. Brother James Huggins is doing a good work as local minister and was an excellent co-worker during the meeting. It was a great privilege too, to visit in the Home for Aged and with Brother John Pigg who superintends this fine work. I am now in a meeting with the church at Tom Bean, Texas. The work here at Houston and Broadway continues to progress.

Donald W. Hinds, Manteca, California, July 25: From June 22nd through July 3rd, we were engaged in a fine series of gospel meetings under a large tent here in Manteca. Brother A. J. Hendrix did an excellent job of presenting the gospel each night. Large crowds were in attendance as people came from many of the surrounding cities. Two ladies were baptized during the meeting: one from Manteca, and one from Tracy. One wayward child returned from the error of her way. As a direct result of this meeting, the husband of one of those baptized during the meeting, was baptized the Lord's day following the meeting. Much interest was created which will go a long way in making our September meeting a success. Brother Don Rudd of Walnut Creek will do the preaching then. The Channel and Stanislaus Streets church of Stockton furnished the tent for this meeting and also the loud speaking system. This fine church cooperated wonderfully in the meeting. The La Loma Avenue church in Modesto helped greatly by supplying us with tracts to distribute during the meeting. This fine congregation is directly responsible in getting the work started here in Manteca, and is currently supporting the preacher who labors here. The church is now meeting in the American Legion Hall, 242 E. Yosemite. Manteca is located at the crossroads of the San Joaquin Valley, where the highways 120 and 88 cross. Attend our services when passing through.

J. Porter Wilhite, 6717 Lyons Avenue, Houston 20, Texas, July 23: The Lyons and Majestic congregation has always been missionary-minded and have done much in mission work, but we are now prepared to do even more in that the elders have secured the services of Buster Dobbs, who will help me in the work here. He is one of our best young preachers. He has helped in two meetings, and proved himself thoroughly. Alone, I have been doing the preaching in mission meetings for this church, and have another one beginning August 6th at Sand Flat, near Grand Saline, where I began preaching. I just closed at Pittsburg, Texas, where a good Methodist lady was baptized and a Baptist lady was hindered by her prejudiced husband. Dobbs comes from Cleveland, Texas, and begins here August 2.

Jack Hardcastle, 2436—27th St., Lubbock, Texas, July 20: On June 30, the South Parkway church in Memphis, Tennessee, closed a ten day gospel meeting in which I did the preaching and Kenneth Jowell led the singing. Five were baptized and one was restored. L. H. Newell is the preacher and J. C. Neal and J. M. Bizzell are the efficient elders of the South Parkway church. They have the respect and co-operation of a faithful and working membership. At College Avenue, we have just closed the second Lubbock Singing Normal, in which 450 were enrolled from forty-eight states, including some from both Florida and California. Thirty-eight different towns and cities in Texas were represented. Those who taught in the school were Wilkin Bacon, Paul Epps, Leon Sanderson, Texas Stevens, and the director, L. O. Sanderson. We are highly pleased with the results.

Greer E. Hendon, 544 Western Avenue, Toledo 9, Ohio: Last Lord's day marked the beginning of our work with the Western Avenue congregation in Toledo, Ohio. There are numbers of people who have moved here from small communities who are members of the church. Many of them are not attending worship. If you will send us their addresses, we will do all we can to assist them in finding the place of meeting and insist on their attending. During the month of May I conducted a meeting with the church here on Western Avenue in which two were baptized into the body of Christ. There were three restorations in the meeting with the Spring Hill congregation near Somerville, Tennessee. Monday night, August 3, I am to begin a meeting with the Elm Grove congregation near Cuyington, Tennessee. My son will lead the singing.

O. C. Hartsell, Springhill, Louisiana, July 24: I am concluding my work as local evangelist with the Springhill church on August 1. I have been with these brethren for more than three years. They have been cooperative and the work has been fruitful. Brethren C. D. Crouch, Lee Starnes, Tildon McFerrin and perhaps, others, preceded me as helpers in this local effort. The congregation is young. With the help of God and a mind to work on our part, I see no reason why we cannot have a strong and very effective congregation in this fast and rapidly growing little city. We feel that we are very fortunate in securing Brother Robert C. Cook who has been laboring with the church in Hope, Arkansas, for the past four years. He will join us on or about August 1st. We are looking forward to his coming. Sister Hartsell and I have our home here in Springhill. Should you want to write to me about work, you will address me Box 753, Springhill, La. I shall be available for meetings or local work providing you have a furnished home or apartment in which to live. We love Jesus; we love the souls of men; we love the church for which he died, and we want to be busy in his name.

Bill McCown, 176 Ohio, New Braunfels, Texas, July 21: The meeting at Gonzales closed last Sunday evening with two baptisms as visible results. C. L. Maxwell, the local minister, at Gonzales, proved to be a very pleasant co-laborer. Our work at Faust and Castell continues to show progress and the work of the West End congregation (colored) is moving forward. They hope to be in their building by August 1. Inasmuch as of June 1 this year there was not a member of the church among the colored people of this city, we rejoice in the 34 who are now faithfully serving God. We hope to be able soon to broadcast our regular morning services over our local station, KGNB.

URGENT APPEAL MADE FOR NAMES OF CHRISTIANS IN NEWPORT, R. I.

Bill Morgan

In September, 1952, a small group of Christian servicemen and their families assembled together in the name of Christ at the U. S. Naval Station in Newport, R. I. Through their zeal and devotion in the absence of a local congregation with which to worship was the inspiration which has developed into a growing congregation. With the help of several congregations and individuals, Bill Morgan was secured for full time work on May 10th.

The work in Newport is growing. You can help by sending the names and addresses of friends or relatives who may or may not be Christians. Many are hearing the pure gospel of Christ because they do not like the way the denominations in the northeast conduct their services. These denominations are also cold and unfriendly. Write to the Church of Christ, Box 445, Newport, R. I.

The average attendance has grown steadily from March through June. The work here is new and there are many sincere Christians who came to Newport without even looking for us, just because someone had told them there was not a church of Christ in Newport.

A. H. Bryant, 1445 Nogales, Del Paso Heights, California, July 16: It was our good pleasure to baptize six fine young people into their Lord on yesterday evening at our regular midweek Bible study. Five girls and one boy, all of tender age, decided to obey their Lord and be baptized for the remission of sins. Others are expected to follow soon. We feel we have occasion to rejoice. We are so thankful, and grateful for the power of the word of God to convict and to convert the souls of men. Work on the West coast has been hindered, and retarded some because of a lack of understanding among the leaders, but considerable growth is being made at this time and brethren are happy.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, July 20: Yesterday was a one day revival in the midst of summer at the First Street Church of Christ. One mother was baptized and a mother and daughter identified with two others transferring to us from Houston. Large crowds are sustained during the summer. The Wednesday night service is over two hundred despite many away on vacation. Dr. Jack Franks, our regular song leader, is helping Brother Silas Howell at Kempner. Dr. Franks is helping in song leading in driving distance of Lampasas. We commend him to the congregations in this area. The congregation here is determined to teach and preach undenominational Christianity to sects—insisting that all Christians are united just as Jesus prayed in John 17. And drop the human creed and name and obey the gospel. Some are doing it.

J. B. Priddy, Route 1, Box 190, Newellton, Louisiana: The church here closed a good meeting Sunday night, July 19th, in which I did the preaching. One lady was baptized into Christ. More people from the denominations attended the meeting than we expected. The seed was sown and we feel much good was done among them. This is a mission field. The church here needs good tracts to place in the homes, especially on the church and baptism. Our attendance has more than tripled in the four months I have been with the church. Pray for us that the Lord's cause may grow in this almost forgotten field.

F. B. Shepherd, 1732 Keeaumoku, Honolulu, T. H., July 23: We had the largest audience in many months last Lord's day. A number of newcomers formally identified themselves with the congregation and one young mother was baptized into Christ, thus uniting the family in the church. Visitors and those being transferred for service in the islands will have no trouble finding the place of worship. From Downtown, take the Punahou-University bus and get off at Wilder and Keeaumoku. We are one and one-half blocks Mauka of Wilder. Hours of worship the same as on the Mainland. Seven o'clock on Lord's day evenings. Our brethren passing through to and from work in foreign lands should call us. Phones 6-7952, or 999099, or 486102.

Chester Estes, Sheffield, Alabama, July 16: I will do the preaching in a meeting at Zion's Rest, near Booneville, Mississippi, beginning July 26th. Charles Estes will direct the singing. I will be with the Theo church, near Corinth, Mississippi, beginning August 9th. Charles Estes will preach in a meeting beginning August 2nd and continuing through the 9th with the Pleasant Site church, near Cherokee, Alabama. Charles and Edward, our twins, will be in David Lipscomb College this fall. The work at Highland Park progresses. The contribution was exactly $700 July 5th. Highland Park is in the famous Muscle Shoals City, and is the only church in the Tri-Cities area located on the new super highway now under construction, from Nashville to Mobile.

Seth E. Rehkop, 235 Okanogan Avenue, Wenatchee, Washington, July 21: The work here continues to grow in interest and attendance. Our Lord's day morning worship attendance averaged 362 for the month of June. Our Vacation Bible School attendance average for the two weeks in June was 218—a new record. Two more baptisms last Lord's day making a total of 73 additions since the first of the year. Our Bible School attendance is averaging about 200. We thank God and take courage. The outlook for a definite increase in the Lord's work is much brighter with new evangelists locating in the Columbia Basin. Brother Roy Hooper at Othello, Washington, Brother Dwyatt Gant at Ephrata, Washington; Brother G. O. Golphene at Quincy, Washington; and Brother Ed Uland of Wyoming coming to Moses Lake, Washington, in August.

Connie Wyatt, 4115 Coplin, Detroit 15, Michigan, July 22: The work is moving along well at East Side Central. We had a very fine meeting in June with James W. Nichols of Abilene, Texas, doing the preaching. The visible results were 84 responses, 27 baptisms and 57 restorations. That brought the total for the first six months of this year to 50 baptisms and 81 restorations. When visiting in Detroit worship with the East Side Central congregation located at 1511 Van Dyke at St. Paul.

J. Eddie Weems, 1903 North 7th Street, Temple, Texas: I preached in a meeting at Salado from July 5 to July 12. Bob Kraner, of Lampasas, a senior at A.C.C., and a member of the A Capella Chorus, led the singing very efficiently. I preached at Palmer July 13-19. Kenneth Free, song leader at Ennis, capably directed the singing. Wayne Sullivan, whom I met at Pepperdine College, is the popular, hard-working preacher at Palmer. I baptized two at Salado and restored one at Palmer. After three more meetings, the Lord willing I shall resume my work at Smithville.

C. L. Maxwell, Gonzales, Texas: The Gonzales congregation has just closed a very good meeting with Brother Bill McCown of New Braunfels doing the preaching. Two were added by baptism and the prospects are excellent for more to be added as a result of the seed being sown by the visiting minister. Brother McCown is a strong, forceful gospel preacher. Attendance was very good throughout the meeting. 7:00 A.M. services were attended in a surprising way. Recently I closed a good meeting at Waelder. This congregation is small but worthy. If some congregation could give these brethren some help very likely a good congregation could be firmly established and souls saved. They need a preacher since Brother W. A. Massey has given up the work there.

Arley E. Moore, 1208 Grant Street, Oregon City, Oregon, July 15: We made a strenuous effort to stay on the Astoria field and build the church. But sickness and hospital bills, with little financial support from the outside, no income from the church locally and being unable to sufficiently supplement income by secular work, it became necessary to discontinue that work. We accepted the second invitation from the church here to work with it. We began this work June 1. There are some fine Christians here and we look forward to a pleasant and profitable work. One was baptized a week ago Sunday. If you plan to move to the Northwest, why not make Oregon City your choice? If you know of the presence of members of the church in this area, please send me their names and addresses.

T. W. Croom, Box 957, Lordsburg, New Mexico, July 22: On July 2nd Brother Mack Kercheville closed a two weeks meeting here that is the best that we have had since I came to Lordsburg. He was ably assisted by Brother Walter Daugherty, who directed the singing. Both preaching and singing was in Spanish. The church attended well even though they could not understand Spanish. They soon learned that they could sing Spanish and some found they could understand much of the sermons. There were two baptized and five restored to the fellowship of the church. Since none of those restored had ever been affiliated with this congregation, there was a gain of seven in the meeting. This represented a gain in membership of about 30%. One of those baptized was from the Catholics and one was from the Baptists. Three of those restored were from the so called "Church of Christ" (Christian) located on the corner of this block here in Lordsburg. The whole church, though somewhat apathetic at the beginning, was enthused as I have never seen them before. We are continuing the work with the Spanish-speaking people by having Brother Lujan preach for us each Sunday night. Brother Lujan is the minister for the Spanish-speaking church in Las Cruces. Brother Chas. Garner of San Benito preached for us last Sunday. He preached in English at eleven and in Spanish at the evening service. His sermons were well received by the church. While I am encouraged by the fact that we have baptized five this year against only four in the two years previous, yet I have not changed my plans as announced at the first of the year to give up this work at the beginning of 1954.

Jimmy Jividen, Sheffield, Texas, July 21: The Pecos River Encampment closed Sunday. More people attended this year than ever before, with 786 registering. Of this number 357 were able to stay on the ground. Reuben Stanley of San Angelo, Texas, did the preaching and Holland Booring, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, directed the singing. Ten Bible classes and three singing classes were taught each day for every age. It was certainly a joy to see the influence that God's word has on people when it is taught and lived. Twenty-one were baptized into Christ and twenty-one confessed faults desiring the prayers of the church. The influence that this meeting had on both old and young can only be measured in eternity. Several families who attended plan to interest their home congregations in starting similar meetings.

Thomas J. Wagner, 213 Thomas Terrace, Lebanon, Tennessee, July 22: Last Lord's day ended my labors with the College Street Church here in Lebanon. There were eight baptisms and one restoration. We have spent five years and seven months very pleasantly with this good church and we regret to leave our many friends. We have had a daily radio program on the Lebanon station for almost four years. Our own building has been enlarged and another congregation of about 250 members has developed in Lebanon and they have a splendid building that will seat about 500. After preaching in three meetings in Wilson and Warren Counties in Tennessee we commence regular labor with Russell Street church in Nashville September 1. Brother James Kenney of Oklahoma City has been chosen to succeed me in the work of the ministry here.

Harris J. Dark, July 21: On July 14th I concluded a ten day meeting with the congregation at 601 Cameron Avenue, Colonial Heights, Petersburg, Virginia. This congregation was started about six years ago by a handful of servicemen stationed nearby and a few local people who had been driving to a neighboring town to worship. Mark N. Hicks from western Texas is the local preacher supported mainly by congregations in his native state. Three other men with their families, seeking first the kingdom of God, have moved from west Texas to Petersburg to help build up the church at that place. One is a building contractor, one an automobile salesman and one is an electrician. This has proven to be a practical and effective way to preach the gospel in new territory. The little group has recently completed a very nice and well located building. It attracts favorable attention from the neighbors. During the meeting the attendance, especially from members of congregations in neighboring towns, was good. One soul was saved. We are expecting to hear of a rapid growth in this congregation. Four were baptized during the June meeting at Boone, North Carolina, where Ernest Shoaf is doing a very effective work. He writes me that two more have been baptized since the meeting.

H. R. Little, 116 S. 4th St., La Porte, Texas, July 20: Recently I assisted the brethren in Devine, Texas, in a gospel meeting. We had very good attendance and interest with one baptism. Brother Curtis Torno, a medical officer at Lackland Air Force Base, is the regular minister. The church here has had seven additions in the last two Lord's days. Two by baptism and five by restoration.

Weldon B. Bennett, Hamburg 23, Germany, Hagenau 77, July 20: On Saturday evening, July 18, we baptized the first convert in Hamburg, a 57-year-old woman. We are now in our second tent meeting and the fourth meeting (two were in buildings) within three months. We have made several contacts and we believe others will obey the gospel in the near future. Two months ago we leased four large rooms at Klosterstern 8, a well known location in the heart of the city and easily reached by street car, subway and elevated railway. The church of our Lord has begun in this city of 1,600,000 souls. Working with us are Dieter and Margaret Goebel, and Don and Martha Fink. On August 28, Edith, the children and I will sail from Le Havre, France for a four month visit to the states. We have been in Europe since January, 1949. Our mailing address from September 1 until January 1 will be 1716—22nd St., Lubbock, Texas.

PREACHER NEEDED

The Normangee Church of Christ is looking for a preacher to work with them and the Edge community. The church owns a nice cottage and will be able to pay at least $200 a month in addition to the house. This work is only about one hour's drive from Texas A&M College. The church may be interested in a person who wants to go to college and preach at the same time. If interested, write to Mr. Vaughn McDonald, Normangee, Texas. For further reference you may contact James F. Fowler, Church of Christ, College Station, Texas.

The church in Boling, Texas, has about 150 opera style veneer seats that some church in need of seats may have if they will come and get them. Some of them are in very good condition, most are average, and some few unusable. These seats came from a theater in Newgulf and they did not cost anything except their removal from the building. Any one interested in them should contact the undersigned.—W. E. BRANNER, Minister, Church of Christ, Box 524-A, Boling, Texas.

THE PERFECT HEART

George Hickey

"For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him" (2 Chron. 16:9). It is a man's duty to keep his heart with all diligence. David said, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright. . ." (Psalms 37:37). Christ said, "Be ye therefore perfect" (Matt. 5:48). "If thou wilt be perfect . . ." (Matt. 19:21). "Howbeit, we speak wisdom among them that are perfect" (1 Cor. 2:6). The Scriptures are given, "That the man of God may be perfect" (2 Tim. 3:17). If man fails to develop a perfect heart it's because he is a rebel or a slacker.

A Perfect Heart Implies

A heart perfect in its loyalty to God. The perfect heart is on God's side regardless of the consequences. Honor or fame will never seduce a perfect heart from being true to God. The perfect heart is perfect in its obedience. The least of God's commands are obeyed with fear and trembling. The perfect heart is perfect in its loyalty. The perfect heart is perfect in its trust. It's an unspeakable joy for me to be acquainted with so many brethren whom I believe to have a perfect heart. Let us all prayerfully keep our hearts with all diligence so that they might be perfect in God's sight.

Examples of Perfect Hearts

Asa, king of Judah, possessed a perfect heart. Read carefully his attitude toward God in 2 Chronicles 14:2-11. David's heart was perfect toward God. David wanted foremost to build God a house before he built one for himself. Daniel's heart was perfect. He proved this by his obedience. Abraham had a perfect heart. He trusted almost to the blood of Isaac. These men had perfect hearts, yet they were wayward and earthward and at times had erroneous views. Asa and David stumbled and sinned; Abraham told half-truths; but, as a whole, how beautiful are their lives?

Sinless Perfection

A perfect heart does not imply sinless perfection. No man can be literally perfect as Christ is perfect, for no guile or evil ever touched his heart. Every man is a sinner at present and has sinned in the past (1 John 1:8-10). It is sinful for a man to even think himself equal with Christ. "All our righteousnesses are as filthy rags" (Isa. 64:6). "When ye shall have done all those things which are commanded of you, say, We are unprofitable servants. . ." (Luke 17:10). Man must seek God and ever strive with all sincerity and thoroughness to follow in the steps of the Savior. Christ not only had a perfect heart, but also lived a sinless perfect life. Man can wholeheartedly love Christ and render out and out service to him. It's my prayer that everyone will apply all diligence to develop a perfect heart and by God's grace live eternally in the new Jerusalem.

STEVENS-BEEVERS DEBATE

G. S. Westbrook

"The New Testament and Roman Catholicism" was the subject of a public discussion conducted at Stillwater, Oklahoma, May 13-16, 1952. Brother Eldred Stevens had preached a series of sermons exposing the errors of the Catholic Church. He was challenged by Dr. Eric Beevers, Pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church of Stillwater, to a public discussion. With the arrival of the date set for the debate came audiences of from 4000 to 6000 from some twenty states! So much interest developed that reports from major newspapers, radio networks, and Television covered the meeting.

The discussions were very orderly. Both speakers were courteous, fair, and friendly in their attitudes. The audiences were orderly. Well demonstrated was the fact that debates could be conducted and error exposed thoroughly, without resorting to malice, personalities, and unkindnesses. The first two nights were conducted in the meeting house of the church of Christ. Then for two nights the discussions were in the Catholic Church building. One unusual feature of the debate was that both disputants requested Brother O. C. Lambert to serve as Moderator. His excellent work added much to the debate.

The propositions discussed were: "Resolved, The New Testament is the Supreme Authority in the Christian Religion", and "Resolved, The Roman Catholic Church is the Original Apostolic Church of Christ." Two nights were given to each proposition.

Brother Eldred Stevens prepared himself well for this discussion. He arose to the demands of the occasion in a masterful way. Not being an experienced debater, he made no efforts to "dodge" nor "hedge" nor to use sophistry, but fairly met the issue. He spoke with deep sincerity, and boldness. There seemed to be no desire on his part to "just skin the other fellow", but rather that truth should prevail and error stand exposed. This he thoroughly did!

This debate was published by Brother Eldred Stevens, with the approval of Dr. Eric Beevers. It is a very nice, cloth bound book. The type is large and conducive to easy reading. It contains many charts used by Brother Stevens on both the sufficiency of the Scriptures and the errors of Catholicism. For those who really want to know what the Catholics teach and how to meet it, no more practical book could be found. The book has two hundred thirty-one pages. It sells for two dollars and fifty cents.

You may order it from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Austin, Texas.

THE FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK—
THE LORD'S DAY

Wilson Baird

Blest day of God most calm, most bright
The first and best of days
The Christian's day of great delight
The day of prayer and praise.

Our Saviour's love made thee to shine
His rising did thee raise
And made thee heavenly and divine
Beyond all other days.

No other day in all the week
Should give us greater thought
As we for error pardon seek
From Christ, as Christians ought.

The first fruits off' a blessing prove
To all the fruits behind
And they who do the Lord's day love
A joyous week will find.

This is the day the first ripe sheaf
Before the Lord was waved (Lev. 23:11)
And Christ first fruits of them that slept
Was from the dead received (1 Cor. 15:20)

He rose for them for whom He died
That like to Him they may Rise, when he comes in glory great
That ne'er shall fade away.

This is the day the Spirit came
With us on earth to stay—
A comforter, to fill our hearts
With joys that ne'er decay (Acts 2:1, 2)

His comforts are the earnest sure
Of that same heavenly rest
Which Jesus entered on, when He
Was made forever blest. (2 Cor. 1:22)

This day the church of Christ began
Formed by His wondrous grace
This day the saints in concord meet
To join in prayer and praise (Acts 20:7)

This day I must to God appear
For, Lord, this day is thine
Help me to spend it in thy fear
And thus to make it mine.
Edmond, Okla.

Our Departed

HODGES—Francis Marion Hodges, 83, an old cattle trail driver, died at the home of a son in Junction on June 4, 1953. A native of Pipe Creek, Texas, he came to Junction 47 years ago. Two sons, one daughter, eight grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren survive him. Funeral services were held at the Smith Funeral Home on June 5, the writer officiating.

WALTER W. LEAMONS
Junction, Texas

COPELAND—Fred M. Copeland was born January 16, 1888, in Alabama. When a boy about twelve years of age he came to Texas and settled in the Pursley Community about fifteen miles southwest of Corsicana, Texas. He married and reared a family in this community and was one of the active workers in the church, serving as an elder of the church for some time prior to his death on May 27, 1953. Survivors of Brother Copeland include his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Miller Norwood of Corsicana, and Jane, of Pursley; one son, Charles, of Pursley. All of these are faithful members of the church. Two grandchildren also survive. Brother Copeland served his community as county commissioner for eleven years, having been elected six straight terms. He was active in community life and his good and respected life was evidenced by the more than 800 people who attended the funeral service Friday morning, May 29, at the church of Christ at Pursley. He was active in the work of the church until some ten days before his death when he suffered a heart attack. He was still interested in the church to the end of his earthly career. The writer, assisted by Brother Jesse Jenkins, conducted the funeral service. Burial was in the Pursley cemetery.

LUTHER G. ROBERTS
Corsicana, Texas.

McCOWN—Georgia Annie McCown passed from this life July 22, 1953. She came into this world March 16, 1873, being born in Travis County, Texas, and attending Sandy Creek school, near Round Mountain. Of all the great ones whose vital aim it was to serve God, giving glory to his Son through the name she wore, the life that she lived, and the doctrine she kept, Sister McCown was one of the supreme.

Throughout all her life she had to sustain many troubles and tribulations, but she overcame these. As a young girl she would walk each Lord's day five miles to worship God and hear a portion of his word read. As a young mother, she always could be seen walking five miles each Lord's day to Teck, near Mansfield Dam, with her children in her arms. She not only would be there, but she would bring her lunch and stay all day. As an elderly lady, each Sunday found her in God's house. Many times she would not be there because she was in good health, but because of her devotion to Christ and his church.

The supreme jest of her devotion can be seen in that she was taken to her bed while in preparation to go serve God. She left this life three days later.

Surviving are two sons, Chester and Joseph; one daughter, Lillian; one sister, twenty-three grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren.

EARL K. ANTHONY
Austin, Texas

SMITH—George Franklin Smith, 83, Kimble County resident for 60 years, died at his home in Junction on June 9, 1953, leaving his wife, two sons, four daughters, eight grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted the following day by B. W. Mantooth and the writer.

WALTER W. LEAMONS
Junction, Texas

BENNETT—Brother James T. Bennett, of 1016 N. W. 90th St., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, died in his home of cancer, June 1, 1953. Brother Bennett had been a pioneer in the work of the New Testament church in Garvin and Stephens County, Oklahoma. He had helped to plant and nurture both congregations in these counties for about fifty years. In Elmore City, he helped to erect the church building which was used by the church from its beginning more than thirty years ago, until it began building a new meeting house in May of this year. Brother Bennett moved to Oklahoma City nine years ago and was always encouraging to the congregation meeting at 9501 N. Military, of which he was a member at the time of his death.

The writer and Joe Laird conducted the memorial service at the North Military church of Christ building June 1, assisted by Brother Ennis Sellers (who formerly worked with Brother Bennett in aforementioned churches), and the choral group from the local church. Favorite hymns of Brother Bennett were used, "As the Life of A Flower," "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Where We'll Never Grow Old."

Friends of Brother Bennett packed the church building, and the floral offering was the largest in any service held here in many months.

Survivors include Sister Bennett; two sons, Roy and W. R., four daughters, Mrs. Bill Bradley, Mrs. Flois Elliott, Mrs. Lois Mullins, and Mrs. Evelyn Ivers; fifteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

V. J. CULLUM

W. Elliott Bell, Jr., South Hill, Virginia: Our meeting closed here June 24th, with Irvin Himmel preaching. Robert B. Scruggs conducted the song services in a fine way. The average attendance was thirty-two. Approximately fifty local non-members heard the gospel during this effort. There were two baptisms. There are now seven permanent and faithful members of the church here. Several young people in nearby Camp Pickett are working and worshipping with us regularly. We can certainly recommend Irvin Himmel to any congregation wanting a good meeting.

MAJESTIC HYMNAL -- Well Received

GREATLY PLEASED, but not surprised we are noting the reaction of those who have received copies of our first edition of "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL." Sample copies called for have been sent, and examined, and already orders, large and small have reached our office. Some were so certain that the book would please them that they placed orders for their full requirements in advance, to be shipped as soon as the books were from the bindery and these orders have already been filled. We appreciate this confidence, and are glad of course, when we receive a message that "we are more than pleased" with the book.

You will note that "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL" is different. It is not just like the common run of song books. You are entirely correct in this; and we are glad that you take notice of it. And we want to add that this is not at all unintentional on our part. For example you will find quite a number of songs that are designed and intended to be used for special occasions, a line of composition for which we have frequent calls, and which are very much in demand among our singers, specially among the younger groups in many of the larger congregations, and are of the very first importance in musical training and song drills, which are greatly needed to revive the proper interest in singing in most of the churches.

Boost the song service; practice singing frequently and also have a real Singing School at frequent intervals. Nothing will build up interest in the congregation more than really good, enthusiastic singing; and excellent singing will do more than any other one element in leading souls to obey the gospel. No matter what song book you are now using, you will make no mistake if you order a supply of "THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL" just for a real period of teaching, and drill, and developing an interest in new and old songs. We can use an old book too long; also it is a good thing sometimes to get a new book for some special drills and for use in the church even if we store the old ones for future use or for supplying weaker, smaller, or mission groups. Prices: Full cloth, $1.00; Leatherette, 80 cents.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Consider One Another

This caption is a frequent admonition of the word of God. In its practical aspect, Christianity is a religion of mutual helpfulness. There is no room for selfishness in Christ's plan of life. Selfishness is condemned in strong and definite terms in the teaching of Christ. Some disciples make their fellowship one sided. They want others to observe the golden rule while they neglect it. They want to criticise others freely, without any recrimination.

The writer of the Hebrew letter said, "And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and good works" (Heb. 10:24). Not many brethren do this. Sometimes it happens that when one brother meets another brother, each one thinks of the other's faults. Instead of provoking one another to love and good works, they provoke each other to criticism and strife.

Then Paul said, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ" (Gal. 6:2). Hardly any one escapes some kind of a burden in life, and as a usual thing each one thinks his burden is heavier than his neighbor's. What a difference it does make when two men—each with a heavy burden—try to help each other along life's way.

Again Paul said, "And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Eph. 4:32). Do we sometimes want another man to forgive our trespass, without any consideration of our forgiving his trespass? Remember that Jesus taught that, if we forgive not men their trespasses, neither will the heavenly Father forgive us.

Finally Jesus said, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one for another" (Jno. 13:34, 35). If we have bitter strife among ourselves instead of love, then men know that we are not Christ's disciples.

Christ In Us

More emphasis is put on our being in Christ, than there is on Christ's being in us. For us to be in Christ without Christ being in us is of little or no value. In the parable of the vine and the branches, Jesus said, "Abide in me and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me" (Jno. 15:4). In every orchard you will see fruit trees that have both live and dead limbs. Anyone can recognize a dead limb at a glance—it has no leaves and bears no fruit. The dead limb is in the tree, but the tree is not in it. It is a hindrance to the tree, and should be cut off. Too many dead limbs are apt to destroy the tree.

It is unfortunate that a condition similar to this exists in the church. Some members are alive and some are dead. When anything is inactive it is dead. Inactive church members are dead. They are in Christ, but Christ is not in them. You never see an apple on a dead limb.

Paul says, "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life that I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me" (Gal. 2:20). Christ living in Paul had very definite effects. It made him devoted and zealous. The Laodicean church thought it was very much alive, when in fact it was dead. When the majority of the members are dead, the church cannot be very much alive.

Ready For Jesus' Return

Hoyt Bailey

From Matthew 26:14, we read this exhortation: "Watch and pray that ye enter not into temptation." And from Matthew, 25th chapter, we have the record of the wise and foolish virgins, the wise virgins being prepared for the coming of the bridegroom, but the foolish virgins were unprepared. The scripture describes them as follows: "Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom. And five of them were wise, and five were foolish. They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them: But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps. While the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and slept. And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh: go ye out to meet him. Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lamps. And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are gone out. But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves. And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh."

Have you thought of the tragedy of being unprepared to meet the Lord upon his return? Do you know that the Lord will come again when most people are not expecting his coming? Do you know that the majority of people will be unprepared to meet Christ when he does return to claim his own? What preparation are you making now to meet the Lord Jesus Christ upon his return?

From the first part of the 24th chapter of Matthew, Jesus predicts the destruction of Jerusalem. While on the Mount of Olives, the disciples asked Jesus privately concerning these things, also, of his second coming, and of the end of the world. "And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you. For many shall come in my name saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many. And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places." And going on with his explanation, Jesus warns of the destruction of Jerusalem and the preaching of his gospel to all the world before the end comes.

In respect to the destruction of Jerusalem, Jesus said: "Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken: And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heavens: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other. Now learn a parable of the fig tree; When his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh: So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors. Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled. Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." Our Lord gives us warning of his coming and who can give more accurate warning than he gave during his personal ministry?

Men have tried to set dates for the second coming of Christ. However, Jesus says: "But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only. But as the days of Noah were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, And knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. Then shall two be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left. Two women shall be grinding at the mill; the one shall be taken, and the other left."

After all of this explanation concerning his second coming, Jesus warns: "Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come. But know this, that if the good man of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up. Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh. Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler, over his household, to give them meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord, when he cometh shall find so doing. Verily I say unto you, That he shall make him ruler over all his goods. But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; And shall begin to smite his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken; The lord of that servant shall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of. And shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

Throughout this 24th chapter of Matthew, Jesus reminds his followers to be always watchful for his second coming. And by watchfulness, Jesus meant that his followers are to be in readiness for the Lord's return. It should be kept in mind that Christians should be always engaged in the things which would please Christ. This means that Christians will not want to do things which they would not want to be doing, when Jesus comes. The way to keep from saying the things which one would not want to be saying when Jesus comes is to keep busy saying the things which will promote the cause of Christ. Of course, the way to keep from being found in places which will be displeasing to Christ is always to be found in those places that God approves. The child of God is to exercise carefulness as to what he does, what he says, and to where he goes.

Since the end will be sudden, the separation final; then every one of God's children should be always prepared for Christ's return. Few exhortations are more frequently and impressively given than this of the duty and necessity of watchfulness. Of course, the Christian has to watch against many things—his own heart's desires, temptation, the world, but most of all he must watch and be always looking for the coming of Christ; for whether Christ be regarded as a Redeemer, Deliverer, or Judge, he will come as a thief in the night. Regarding the solemn warning given, it should be recognized as being applicable to spiritual things. This warning is of personal obligation, and may be used by each individual Christian for his own benefit; for there is a sense in which the day of death is the coming of Christ, and as death leaves us, so, as far as we know, judgment will find us.

Who is the faithful and wise servant? It is the one whom his Lord when he cometh shall find performing the duties ordained by the Lord. The Lord has promised a blessing to such individuals. "He shall make him ruler over all his goods." This is the promised reward for watchful waiting. However, the unfaithful are those who cease to watch and such claim that the Lord delays his coming. And as soon as he conceives the idea of the delay in his lord's arrival, he changes his conduct, plays the master, and uses his power for oppression and injustice. He who thinks of the Lord's delay begins "to smite his fellow-servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken." He indulges in luxury and intemperance, choosing as his companions men of bad habits. But the Lord will come either by his appearance, or by calling the guilty soul to judgment. This will happen to many just as they put away all thought of the sudden advent of the Lord.

The Lord urges the need of watchfulness upon us strongly. He repeats it again and again. The warning is for all people and for the remainder of time: "What I say unto you I say unto all, Watch." The apostles re-echo the Savior's words: "Let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober." The duty of watchfulness is of paramount obligation; for the night is far spent, the day is at hand. The Christian must not slumber, pleasing himself with the shadowy dreams of earthly glories; he must keep vigil, watching always; for the day is at hand, the sunshine of the true life.

"Therefore watch," saith the Lord: "For ye knoweth not what hour your Lord doth come." The thief comes in the dead of the night, when men are least expecting danger. "The day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night"; "In such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh." "Therefore be ye also ready." The Lord's earnest admonitions should bring home to our hearts the momentous importance of watching for his coming. Blessed are those who know him now as a most loving Friend, a gracious Savior; but, alas, how intense must be the misery of those who neglect his solemn warnings, living without watchfulness, without prayer; who must, unless they repent, know him for the first time as an awful Judge, when he comes suddenly upon the careless slumberers, as the thief comes in the night.

The faithful and wise servant is the one who watches for the return of his Lord. The "wise" servant, is he who has repented of his sins and has accepted the Savior of men. Christians are "of the day," and are watching for "that day" in which the Lord Jesus will appear in his glory. Therefore, to his followers, the coming of the Lord will be no surprise. To be ready we must not only look for the coming of Christ, but so to look as to be prepared for his coming. To be ready is to have such an assurance of faith in Christ that whensoever he comes he will be welcomed. But the service of God is not limited to trust and worship, because obedience to God's will is demanded. When the Master comes, the servant must be found "doing." Doing the will of Christ is watching for him in readiness. Activities of the church are under the elders or overseers who direct the work of Christ. They are to give to their subjects the bread of life. For this they must not substitute the "stone" of profitless doctrine or the "serpent" of poisonous error. The "bread" must be sound and wholesome. It must also be given in fitting "portion" and in "due season." The fact that the servant is to be "found so doing" implies constancy and perseverance. "It is expected of the steward that he be found faithful," so faithful that the Lord's return will not come upon him as a thief.

In the 24th and 25th chapters of Matthew, several parables are given with reference to the second coming of Christ. In nearly all of these parables, if not all of them, a contrast is given of the ones who are faithful to duty, those who do what they are supposed to do at the time they are to do those things. On the other hand, we find those rejected because of their carelessness, their neglect of duty. We can see in the lesson respecting the wise and foolish virgins that the wise did more in preparation at the proper time for the coming of the bridegroom. All are virgins in the parable, all virgins have lamps, all virgins start out to meet the bridegroom. However, it is called to our attention that the wise took oil with their lamps. They made additional preparation, the wise did more to make ready than did the foolish. Of course, when the bridegroom came, the wise had made sufficient preparation to meet him, but the foolish virgins had brought no extra oil, had not made sufficient preparation to meet the bridegroom. While the foolish were gone to buy oil, the bridegroom came, and those who were ready entered in and the door was shut. The foolish virgins made preparation too late, therefore, they failed to enter in. What will be your fate?

Are You Anti-Board And Anti-Missionary?

Carl A. Gardner

The above question was asked the writer many years ago by a fine sister who had been for a number of years associated with congregations that had adopted the new idea, to them, concerning missionary and benevolent "board methods" for preaching the gospel and caring for the orphans. It's an interesting story.

It was in about the year 1912. The writer had just completed work for a degree in the University of Texas, and had begun work in Abilene Christian College as teacher and dean. He was still in his twenties. He did not know a lot about the Bible, except the first principles. At that time, Brother George Mickey preached in and around Clovis, New Mexico. He was greatly loved by the brethren over New Mexico and some parts of west Texas. He wrote me to learn if I would work the next summer among the scattered brethren in the destitute fields of New Mexico, if proper arrangements could be worked out. He told me of the areas in New Mexico where the brethren were trying to carry on, and how hungry they were for the gospel. He believed enough support could be assured to meet the necessities of life for wife and me. Brother Mickey was assured that he could count on me. Accordingly he worked out the plans with congregations and brethren in New Mexico. Because of the high standing Brother George had with the few congregations and a number of individuals over New Mexico, they looked to him to collect the contributions. He was a messenger for the churches. He learned about how much the brethren scattered over the destitute parts of the state would be able to assist in this work. Accordingly he gave me the word to begin work among these brethren—the places and the dates, all of which he had arranged. This was a happy experience—knowing that the truth was to be taught among some brethren not able to support the work alone.

At one of these mission points the writer met the sister referred to above. She attended the meetings. Brethren came from within a radius of 75 miles or more—in their Model T's. Joy and spiritual life pervaded all they did. These brethren were happy in their associations and fellowship in God's work. This sister had moved into New Mexico only a few years before from Iowa, where she had lived for years under the shadow of Drake University—a school operated by the Christian church. She had come to think of these brethren as "missionary and board" brethren. She was a good soul, well educated and cultured. One day she had me eat lunch in her home, which she served in that rare Iowa style! In the midst of our conversation about the gospel and the church, she asked me directly: "Are you anti-board and anti-missionary"? I asked her what she meant, because I was not as well conversant on these matters as one who is sent to teach the gospel should be. She explained that over in Iowa, when the congregations provided central organizations for their missionary and benevolent works, they set up "boards" through which the good work was done, because it was thought the only sensible thing to do in the light of the larger programs of work. She related how that some of the brethren would not co-operate in this new "method." She simply could not understand why brethren would oppose a mere "method," when it had been proved better than the old way without "boards." Said she: "In Iowa those that would not go along with our 'boards' were called the 'antis'." "Don't you believe in mission work?" she inquired. My reply was that my work in her midst was mission work. However, said I, if there are any "boards" connected with it, I know nothing about such. Then I related to her how the work was launched through the initiative of Brother George Mickey. "How could you get support without an organization managed it"? she asked. Because the writer knew very well how Brother George went about to carry the gospel to those brethren, he could tell her that a few congregations and individuals in New Mexico, upon having the need for the work brought to their attention by Brother Mickey, responded with joy and liberally to have fellowship in it. Since there was no "board" in the picture—only the church and Christians—it was more economical, since none of the moneys went to help pay the cost of maintaining a "board." It was beyond her to understand how such mission work could be very extensive, whereas the "board" saw that the gospel was preached over a wide territory. My thought was that by the same process it was being taught in her midst—congregations here and there over wide areas—as the only institution in the picture—could, if they loved Christ enough, carry the gospel to the remote corners of the globe. These New Mexico brethren felt a personal interest in and touch with, the work they supported. Soon some of their men who had learned to teach volunteered to keep the good work going. And, because the harvest was so great and the laborers so few, many fine brethren who attended these meetings grew into fine gospel teachers. “Necessity is the mother of invention.” Like the Jerusalem Christians, they went everywhere in that area heralding the glad tidings.

One thing that impressed me was that a great soul like George Mickey, seeing the great need for that work, set about to see that it was done. True, the congregations could have sent their fellowship offerings directly to me, but Brother George, serving as a messenger for the churches, collected the moneys and sent them direct to me. Every cent was accounted for, and just how it was used. The brethren in New Mexico in these destitute areas knew all about how much money was given for the work. Since there were no organized congregations in those destitute parts, Brother George did not send the money through congregations at the terminal points.

Another thing that impressed me was that the new “board” plan was considered by its advocates as just another “method”—that no one should object to a mere method. Did they overlook the fact that the New Testament examples as to method were just as binding in the work of the Lord today as if the inspired apostles had commanded it? Did they see that in the New Testament programs of work, the church was the only institution in the picture? Did they know that it was a divine and not a human institution with the divine ways for carrying on? Is it not divine as distinguished from human because it was instituted from heaven, and not from man?

Recalling this experience in New Mexico led me to thinking about benevolent and missionary “boards.” If there be any board in the picture save the elders of the local congregation, is this not a sure mark that the “board” institutions are human and not divine? Shall we believe Jesus when he declared that every plant that my heavenly Father has not planted shall be rooted up? Was he not talking about human institutions set up on their man-made plans? If not, just what was he talking about? “To him be glory in the church,” seems to say that the church is the only institution God has authorized through which Christians may glorify God. Surely the Iowa sister was wrong in contending that the “methods” of doing God’s work made no difference, just so they got the work done.

Many fine brethren were crowded out of the meeting houses in Iowa and other states simply because they could not with clear conscience adopt the “methods” of the “board” brethren. They had to start all over again. They were dubbed “antis”—“anti-missionary and anti-board”, just over a “method”. Which group of these brethren do we believe were right?

As much as congregations need to be aroused continuously to the great work of preaching the gospel and caring for the needy by the methods God instituted in the New Testament congregations, let’s hope that they will not try to defend boards with their human institutions, just because it is purely a matter of “method.” For one, I have confidence in the pure motives of the brethren. They are the greatest people in the earth—simply because they want to speak as the oracles of God, and to walk by the same rule and mind the same things. Let’s hope that the day will never come when brethren who love the ways of the Lord will be given such epithets as “antis”—“anti-board” or “anti-missionary and benevolent.” Let us therefore give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip.”

A Call For Bibles

Kathryn Patton

Have you ever thought what it would be like not to have a Bible in your home? Perhaps it would be difficult for us who have always had access to the “Good Book” to realize what it would mean not to have it or be able to borrow it to read. Very few people in Germany today have Bibles. Why? Some of the reasons are these: Nazism discouraged the study of the Scriptures. Bombings during the war destroyed homes and everything therein. Many thousands of refugees had to flee for their lives with only the clothes on their backs. The Roman Catholic church has always discouraged the study of the Bible, and the Evangelical Lutheran church does not encourage special study of the Book. These two churches are the state churches of Germany. In the schools it is compulsory for the children to take “religion” till they are fourteen years of age; the Catholics teaching the catechism, and in a separate class the Lutherans teaching Bible stories and history and teachings of the Lutheran church. Following confirmation at the age of fourteen, no more efforts are made to give special study in the Bible.

Because of the lack of knowledge of the Scriptures, there is naturally very little, if any, interest in the study of the Bible; so we are trying through our many Bible classes in Germany to acquaint the people with the richness and wisdom of its pages, thereby stirring up interest. By doing this we have learned of the dearth of Bibles. We have received many requests for the Book and all available have been given away—even those needed for our classes. There are many here still unable to buy their own, such as the jobless, widows, crippled, aged, and people who receive pensions who hardly have enough money for rent and food. Recently we received a call for Bibles from Brother Hare in Munich. He is in a 90 per cent Catholic area which would indicate a great need. Each congregation in Germany can use more copies. The following stories will give you an insight into the lives of people who have become interested in the Bible in their adult years: “My dear Mrs. Martine: For my birthday I received a Bible which certainly came from heaven. It is very seldom that people give a Bible for one’s birthday. Yes, dear Mrs. Martine, now I have again my own Bible. It lays upon my night table and I read it a little every evening. I am very happy and my children also. And you know also that in life I could never afford a Bible. But now, how shall I thank you for it. Dear Mrs. Martine, God give you health that you may give happiness to many depressed people as I through a Bible. . . I thank you again for the Bible.—Frau U. P.” Sister Martine met this lady while on a rest-cure (expenses paid by the state). This lady’s husband is a communist and cares nothing for the Bible. This belief of his and their difficult financial situation were often times too much to bear, which perhaps was the cause of her poor physical condition. Sister Martine showed her her work on the Bible correspondence course and told her she would have a communion service in her room on Sunday. This lady became very interested and wanted to meet with her. She borrowed Sister Martine’s Bible to read during her stay there. The above letter shows her joy upon receipt of this wonderful gift.

A German refugee (then Catholic) shortly before having to return to Germany from Czechoslovakia after the war bought a Bible on the black market for fear of the priest, and when crossing the border to come into Germany, smuggled the Bible over. She was afraid it would be taken away from her. Whether she would have had trouble with the priest had she been caught buying or smuggling the Bible, will never be known; however, fear had been instilled into her because she knew the priest where she lived did not approve of the people reading the Bible. It is so seldom that we find Catholics here who know very much about the Scriptures, but Sister Richter had read her Bible regularly and recognized the truth when she heard it preached and after studying with us for several months became a follower of Christ. However, it was a struggle for her before she was finally converted as her daughter was still Catholic and her grandson was in a Catholic kindergarten. She had fear that the 'sister' would neglect or harm the boy if she became a member of the church. She finally through faith overcame this fear and was baptized. When she took the little boy daily to the kindergarten the 'sister' wouldn't speak to her. Today her daughter has obeyed the gospel and the little boy goes to another kindergarten. Who knows, but if she had not had the desire to have a Bible which had to be bought in secret and smuggled across the border and to study it, that she would have recognized the truth when she heard it and obeyed it? One day I noticed candle tallow on the self-made cover of her Bible. She said that each night she read her Bible by candlelight—she couldn't afford electricity in her room. Not long ago a certain dressmaker was recommended to me. The first few visits to her told me she was a Catholic and she seemed not to have any interest in talking about the church or religion in general. I was discouraged and was about to give up even interesting her in my work, much less the study of God's word. On a religious holiday I was asked to come on business. Because it was a holiday (Catholic, though made national) she and her mother (refugees from the East Zone of Germany) were not working so much and actually took some time to talk with me, asking about my work. I was overjoyed! I learned that they (like so many) do not believe that oral confession is scriptural. They were surprised to hear me question the scripturalness of infant baptism and other Catholic practices not to be found in the Bible. I asked if they had a Bible and they said, "No, we had to leave everything behind when we escaped from the Russians." I promised to bring them one and show them the Scriptures to which I had referred in our conversation. They were happy at the offer. The next week when I made my visit, I brought the Bible with me with two or three tracts on some of the points we had discussed with the request that they compare the Scriptures in the tracts with the Bible. I wish that you at home could have seen the glow on Maria's face as she accepted the Book. She was so happy! (The American girl who was with me as I handed Maria the Bible said amazed after we left the room, "Why she seemed so thankful to get it!") My next visit I talked with the mother and she happily showed me where she kept the Bible and said that she had already read some of it. We were interrupted and I could not discuss more, but I look forward to the opportunity to help them further in discovering what truly lies between its covers.

Recently Brother Finto gave a father of 12 children a Bible. He said that he had never had one in his hand. Yes, that is possible in a nation that claims to be Christian and sends missionaries to other lands. (Upon looking at statistics the world would say that Germany and other nations with like religions were Christians. Ninety-five percent of the people of Germany were given a religion at birth. However, further statistics show that only five per cent of these attend religious services regularly, quoting an Evangelical minister).

Please help us to put Bibles into more homes. Bibles are cheaper here than to purchase them through the American Bible Society. Help us to bring happiness into the lives of more Marias, and cast out the fear that is instilled into others. You may send us a cashier's check or personal check made out to "Church of Christ" specified for purchase of Bibles and send to the church or to one of the workers here in Germany, Senckenberg Anlage 17, Frankfurt-Main 1, Germany, or to the Elders, Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock, Texas. If the money is for another city, we shall be glad to forward it. We will never know how many souls will thank God for this light that will destroy the darkness in which so many are struggling for a peace within.

The "Direct" And "Indirect" Method Of Supporting Missionaries

G. C. Brewer

"June 24, 1953

"Dear Brother Brewer:

"We have been in Canada a little over one month now, and have been quite busy visiting and reporting to churches about the work in Japan. We are grateful for the encouragement that you gave to us when we were in Memphis. It was made possible for us to address the students at Lipscomb, and I hope that much good was done.

"I know that you are a very busy man, and I do not wish to burden you with my problems; but I hope that you will spare a few moments for the following matter.

"Our support for the Japanese work comes from churches in Canada, none of which can give much money, but all co-operating make possible the work. From the beginning of our work, I thought it scriptural and right for the churches to use two methods in supporting the work. These, of course, being what is called the 'direct,' and 'indirect' methods. I believe also, that churches should be free to send their contributions in the way that they deem best. I have been following the controversy about these methods, and since returning home have been giving serious consideration to the conditions under which I should return to Japan. I have been running into various objections to the way our work is being done from various quarters. God knows that I want to do work in Japan on the basis that is pleasing to him, and in trying to justify the use of the indirect method I find my reasonings falling flat for lack of scripture. Now, I know that any good work is going to receive opposition, and of this I am not afraid, but I have been reared in the gospel to believe that a book, chapter, and verse should be given to just-

The following letter from Joe Cannon affords us opportunity to discuss a point that is giving trouble to some of our missionaries, both in Japan and Germany, and that is being used as a charge of unscriptural practice on the part of some preachers and writers. The reply to Brother Cannon was not meant merely as a letter to him, but as a discussion of the points for all those who may be concerned, either as contributors or as missionaries. A much briefer reply probably would have been satisfactory for Brother Cannon, but we have given a more lengthy discussion for the benefit of those who may be less well-informed and who may be perplexed by the arguments made by factionists. All who hold this position may not be factionists, but our experience with those who raised the issue and started the controversy justifies us in the conclusion that they are factionists. If anyone who is perplexed in this matter does not want to be thought of as a factionist, we can think of him as a dissenter or as a doubter or as an inquirer. Whatever may be the attitude of heart of those who read this, we have, at least, presented what we believe to be the fallacy in this discussion and what we think to be the truth in this whole matter. The treatment of this subject is long because it is intended that this not only shall be published in the papers, but that it shall be distributed in tract form. With this introduction we give our readers Brother Cannon's letter and our reply:

ify any practice of the church as concerns its work and worship, and when this cannot be done the practice should be abandoned. Now, it is quite clear that Phil. 4:14-18 and 2 Cor. 11:8-10 show how Paul was supported, down to the very method used. Now, if my reasoning is correct, when a method is not prescribed, we are free to use that which is most expedient and wise, but if God specifies the method, then that method should be used. God teaches us in three ways: 1. command; 2. example; 3. necessary inference. To use the direct method of support is to stand on the safe and scriptural ground of example and necessary inference, but to use the indirect method is to stand without either.

"That churches can cooperate is plain (Acts 11:29, 30), and the basis of their cooperation is plain (2 Cor. 8, 9), and the purpose of their cooperation is plain (Rom. 15:26). But, nowhere here do we find an example, or inference, of churches sending money to another church to be sent through it to a preacher or preachers in another area. It just is not there. I have been pressed very hard to find it, or to find even a scriptural principle, and I have failed to do so. Now, this failure may be because of faulty reasoning, or some ignorance on my part, that is why I want to seek the counsel of my brethren before making any important decisions. To the above statements, I would like to add the following questions:

"1. Do elders of one church have the right to oversee in any way the work of another church? Please give a scripture reference.

"2. Can the elders of one church appoint a committee to handle the funds of other churches? a. In a local work? b. In a non-local work?

"I have my own ideas as to how the question should be answered, but I would like to see what you think. If you would like to answer these problems publicly for the good of others who may be troubled about these matters, feel free to do so, but I would like a personal reply also. The Lord be with you.

Toronto 3, Ontario, Canada

Dear Brother Cannon:

Your letter of June 24, submitting some questions and also presenting a problem you are facing and asking for my help on these points, has been received. You state that my answer should be sent to you personally, but that it also may be published if the interest in these questions is urgent to let others see what answers we can give on these points. I am, therefore, writing this letter to you, but I may also publish it because others may be facing the same problem and looking for answers to the same questions.

This controversy has caused trouble at some places, and even has disturbed the minds of some of our missionaries, and yet to some of us the controversy is useless. The issue is not one that I consider worthy of the trouble it has caused some of us. But I have seen similar issues cause similar trouble all my life, and neither the spirit nor the method that has characterized this controversy is new, and this I shall point out by way of illustration after I have first answered your questions. I am writing as though you were contending for the "direct" idea, whereas, I know you asked me only to help you answer those who do make an issue of this.

I believe you to be both intelligent and sincere, and I know that you have sacrificed many conveniences in doing the work you have done in Japan. I would like to discuss the point with you, not as meeting arguments made by factionists, but as helping to relieve the mind of a conscientious inquirer.

1. The fight is over a figment of a factionist's imagination. The first thing that I wish to present in answer to your problems is that your fallacy is in giving a distorted picture of the practices of some brethren and then calling for a scriptural reference to justify your own creation. You claim that it is right for churches to cooperate, and yet you assume that what churches are doing today is something different from cooperation, whereas, we say that our work is simply cooperation—nothing more. You assume that the method of cooperation is completely described and circumscribed in the New Testament, all of which is a fallacy. There may be some mistakes made and perhaps some careless or indifferent efforts to do the work that we are now doing on a larger scale than has ever been practiced before by simple New Testament churches, but mistakes in doing a work cannot be used as a condemnation of the work itself. Neither can mistakes in applying a principle be used to condemn the principle. But that men create a condition in their own minds and then advertise this condition as actually existing is demonstrated by this point:

In 1943, when I, as a preacher for and an elder in the Broadway church at Lubbock, Texas, wrote some articles for the papers, urging churches everywhere to begin to make plans and to lay aside funds for post-war missionary work and stating that the Broadway church wanted to pioneer in this work and to set an example of zeal and sacrifice that we hoped others would follow, immediately this was attacked by some preachers and writers, and the church at Lubbock and I were excoriated and denounced by these men. They published that we at Lubbock were receiving funds and holding funds that came from all over the United States to be used by us in missionary fields after the war. We emphatically denied in the public prints that we were receiving funds from anybody or that we wanted to receive funds from anybody; despite this, one brother sent a check to the church at Lubbock in the hope that he'd have proof that we were doing the things that were charged against us. I, personally, returned this man's check and wrote him a letter, stating that we were not receiving funds and did not expect to receive funds from any source; that no work was now being done but that we believed opportunities for work would come in greater numbers and with greater urgency than ever in history after the war should come to an end. Now, despite the fact that I returned the brother's check and wrote him a letter saying that we were not receiving and would not receive money, he, nevertheless, over his own signature, wrote in the papers that we were receiving money and that he had the proof because he had sent us a check.

Perhaps from this you will see why I tell you that this issue is a false issue and that it originated in the minds of men who were more interested in attacking somebody and leading a faction than they are in saving the souls in Japan or Germany, and this lacks a lot of being all the proof I have of this charge.

Now, with the understanding that there is in your mind a false conception of the things that are being done and the creation of an issue, which does not really exist, I am going to answer your questions directly and then give you some further reasoning on these points.

1. Questions answered. (1) It is not right for the elders of one church to oversee the work of another congregation in any way that interferes with the autonomy of either congregation or that displaces the elders of the congregation whose work is being directed by foreign elders. That any such thing is being done anywhere, I doubt. If it is being done, I have no information on the point.

What Does The Bible Say?

Is Sincerity Alone Sufficient?

Many people have the idea that it doesn't make any difference what a man believes providing he is sincere. Of course, no one who is not first of all sincere can be pleasing to God. But sincerity alone is not sufficient to please God. Paul is a good example of this.

Today we find him in Jerusalem. A mob seeks to kill him, but he is given a chance to defend himself. He begins his defense by telling them that he once persecuted Christians "unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women" (Acts 22:4). He thought he was doing God's will to kill innocent men and women just because they followed Christ. He later said: "I have lived before God in all good conscience until this day." Certainly no man could be more sincere than Paul as he persecuted the early church of Christ. But he was sincerely wrong. He later said that he was the "chief of sinners." One can be most sincere and be absolutely wrong in religion just as he can in economics, politics, or scientific theory. Sincerity is absolutely necessary to be well-pleasing to God, but sincerity alone is not sufficient.

That is one reason why we constantly urge you to read and study the Bible, the word of God. It is our yardstick. It is our standard to let us know when we are right and when we are wrong. We should constantly be learning more of God's will and improving.

Of course it takes a big person to admit his error when he is convinced. It hurts to learn that you have been wrong, but we cannot grow without such growing pains. Paul was mortified when he learned on the road to Damascus that he had been terribly wrong. When Jesus said to him: "Why persecutest thou me?" he answered, "Who art thou, Lord?" Then Jesus said, "I am Jesus of Nazareth whom thou persecutest." Then Paul said: "What shall I do, Lord?"

Even though Paul had seen Jesus in this vision he still had to go to Damascus to learn what he should do. Jesus said: "Arise, and go into Damascus; and there it shall be told thee of all things which are appointed for thee to do."

Paul remained three days blind and without food or drink. He must have endured great remorse in those days. He believed now in the Lord Jesus Christ. He was penitent for his sins against the church, the body of Christ. Paul realized how wrong he had been even though he had been sincere all the time. Then Ananias came to him and told him this to do: "And now why tarriest thou, arise and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on his name" (Acts 22:16). Paul obeyed and began preaching the Christ whom he had formerly been persecuting.

Are you certain that you are doing God's will? Are you depending upon sincerity alone or are you daily searching the Scriptures to see if what you believe is what the Bible says on every point?

I Attended Blue Ridge Camp Meeting

J. M. Powell

From July 20-24, I attended the Blue Ridge Camp Meeting at Blue Ridge, North Carolina.

The encampment was held at the spacious and attractive facilities, owned and operated by the Y.M.C.A., of the South. The hotel accommodations were adequate and very reasonable in price. Each guest paid his bill directly to the Y.M.C.A. management. The grounds, dining room, and auditorium were at the disposal of the brethren without cost. Various religious and civic groups make use of these facilities throughout the summer months. Blue Ridge is within three miles of Montreat and Ridgecrest. Junaluska is less than forty miles away.

Brother A. R. Holton and Brother J. W. Brents who have long been interested in the Lord's work in the Carolinas, conceived the idea of the encampment. These men have no selfish motives; they do not profit financially from the enterprise. They, instead, contribute both time and money in the interest of others.

What are the objectives of the encampment? For one thing it provides pleasant surroundings for all who attend. The beauty of the Blue Ridge Mountains is simply breathtaking. As you sit on the broad veranda of Robert E. Lee Hall you have a view of the mountains that is not surpassed by anything in the United States. Forty miles away is Mt. Mitchell, the highest point east of the Mississippi River. There is a beautiful drive to the summit of this mountain. Twenty-five miles away is a famous rock formation known as Chimney Rock. In Asheville, fifteen miles distance, is the famous George Vanderbilt estate which cost more than thirty million dollars before the turn of the century. The mansion, furniture and the grounds of this estate are indescribable.

For another thing the encampment provides a spiritual atmosphere that is second to none. This year there were visitors from seventeen states and the Dominion of Canada. The mornings were spent in study. Brother Holton served as master of ceremonies. Brother J. W. Brents was present at all times to lend whatever assistance necessary to make things run smoothly. On two mornings, Brother Holton gave lessons on leadership. Brother James E. Laird also gave lessons on teacher training. Brother L. E. Cranford directed the young people's work. Brother Bill Davis gave lessons on song leading and song appreciation. Mrs. Oscar Foy and Mrs. Beulah Sparks had classes for women who teach young children in Sunday school. Each day, the writer taught from the book of Ephesians. The afternoons were free for rest, recreation and sight-seeing. Each night there was a sermon. Brethren Laird, Cranford and the writer delivered the sermons this year.

Another objective of the camp meeting is to acquaint the visitors with the spiritual destitution of the Atlantic Seaboard and especially the Carolinas. Day after day Brother Brents gave a report of the needs and opportunities in the Carolinas for mission work. The people who attend the camp meeting are fired with a zeal to do more for the Lord than they have ever done before. Brother W. R. Smith of Abilene, Texas, who was on the teaching staff for last year's meeting went home and encouraged his home congregation to give full support to a preacher in North Carolina.

A final objective is to give encouragement to the faithful brethren in the Carolinas. There are only eighty congregations in both North and South Carolina. Many of these brethren attend and are impressed with the fact that somebody cares.

The meeting is to be held next year from August 21 through August 29. Won't you make your plans to attend?

LET ALEXANDER CAMPBELL SPEAK FOR HIMSELF

In some quarters of the country among the advocates of error in connection with a coming, material reign of Christ on earth and a setting of the "thousand years," in Revelation 20, some have cited Alexander Campbell as though he wrote and taught something somewhere in harmony with these late speculations on unfulfilled prophecy. In reading an old volume of the Millennial Harbinger a few days ago, I happened on the following which enables Campbell to speak for himself. It is probable that there is no teaching of error that was more stoutly opposed by Alexander Campbell than was the idea of a coming earthly kingdom such as was being taught by some in Campbell's day and which received a greater development under Charles T. Russell and later a number of extremists among the churches of Christ.

As a plain matter of fact, Alexander Campbell taught that the reign of Christ on earth beginning at Pentecost and existing at the present time would extend its influence and power over sin and the devil, and grow into what is called "the millennium," on account of its great influence over false doctrine and rebellion against God. In other words his teaching was that the time would come when Christianity would have a much firmer hold over people and a much more general acceptance than at the present time; that the world was growing better at that time and would continue on in that way. He may or may not have had the proper interpretation of the "thousand years" reign of Christ, but he certainly was as strong as any speaker or writer has been against the idea of a future, material, temporal reign of Christ in an earthly kingdom beginning at the time of his second coming.

But let us hear Mr. Campbell himself: Millennial Harbinger, 1852, Vol. 2, No. 2, Fourth series, pages 62-64, with footnote.

"I will receive it as a favor from any person, to be informed of any people or preacher, on this continent or in the European world, that clearly or definitely stated or announced, in unequivocal affirmation, that the Christian church did not commence, and, consequently, was never organized, till the first Pentecost after the crucifixion, death, burial, resurrection, ascension, and glorification of the Lord Jesus Christ; that, then, placed upon the throne of David, and upon the throne of God, he commenced his reign personally in heaven and spiritually upon earth, by the mission of the Holy Spirit to his apostles, and through them to his church, which is now his natural and earthly body—the fulness, or manhood development of him who fills all things, in all places, with life, and beauty, and happiness. Here I shall pause with my interrogations for the present.

"To prevent misconception of this allusion to the throne of David, I simply remark for the present, to be developed, probably, more fully again, that the throne of David was, in fact, the earthly throne of God, in the midst of ancient Israel. David was his viceroy—that is, the Lord's anointed—a fact not well understood by the church, and still less by some untaught and unteachable dogmatists of the present day. It was necessary to the plans of Jehovah, which are all sublimely grand and wonderful, that he should have two thrones—one on earth and one in heaven—for a time occupied one above, by himself, and one below, by his vicegerent, called and constituted by him; and there, his solemn oath or covenant with David, that he would raise out of his person, in fullness of time, one that would occupy both thrones. Hence said the inspired bard of Israel, 'Jehovah said to my Jehovah, sit thou on my right hand till I make thy foes thy footstool.' It is beautifully in accordance with this fact, that Mary the Virgin was the last bud on the tree of David which could blossom and fructify, and bring forth a representative of David. So that if Jesus be not the heir of David's throne there never can be one born, and God's covenant has failed. This is a death blow to Jewish infidelity, if their eyes were not closed and their ears sealed. But Jesus was the son of David, and born to a king, as he told Caesar's representative. On the throne of David as King of kings, he now sits, and also on the throne of God; for he has all crowns upon his head, and affirms that all authority in heaven and on earth is given to him.

"Anyone who wishes to peruse the most conceited, consequential, and dogmatical treatise, based upon a hallucination, and a parody of the words Elpis Israel, will, if he have a dollar to throw away, have a demonstration of a disease called in Kentucky "the big head," probably unequalled in this century; making the hope of Israel—indeed the hope of the gospel in full development, to consist in raising up again a Throne of David, in Palestine of Jerusalem; as if that throne had been vacant now for 1800 years, or as if Jesus Christ would remove his throne out of the Heavenly Jerusalem, to rebuild and locate it in Old Jerusalem, and there to aggrandize the empire of the universe! But this only in passing, as one of the specimens of the power of the love of notoriety or of the marvelous, in wrecking and bewildering the human mind. We regard this development of the passion for notoriety as one of the most admonitory dispensations in our immediate circle of observation. It has made a man, that might have been useful, worthless to himself, worthless to his friends, and worse than worthless to the world."—ff-v57-14b.

The building is located just north of Highway 71 on Jefferson Street in Anderson.

Silas Howell, Llano, Texas, July 31: Since last report I have assisted with meetings at Brady, Pontotoc, Kempner and Lometa. Interest was good in all of them; attendance was better than my meetings in these places last year. Some visible results in all. As local minister at Brady Brother Jay Channel made the meeting a success there. Likewise, Brother Robert Bolton made it a success at Lometa. In responses, the Lometa meeting which closed Wednesday evening was one of the best I have been in in some time. Thirteen were baptized. You can hear Brother Bolton Monday through Friday at one o'clock over the Lampasas radio station, 1450 on your dial. I go next to Richland Springs for a like effort.

From 401 N. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma, July 28: The Berclair meeting in Memphis, Tenn., resulted in four baptisms. Brother J. B. Cox directed the singing and also directed the vacation Bible school during the day. It was a good meeting and school. Brother J. A. McNutt, the local preacher is doing a good work at Berclair. I closed a meeting July 22 at McLoud, Okla. Wonderful interest but no visible results. I am at present in an open-air meeting at Little, Okla., with large crowds. I begin August 10 at Stroud, Okla. These meetings are within driving distance of Seminole. I speak here on Sunday and conduct these meetings during the week. Eight responded to the invitation here the past two Lord's days. Five were baptized and three restored. I begin September 20 at Riverdale church in Dayton, Ohio.

Vernon J. Gahagan, 11404 Barnes Avenue, Dallas, Texas, August 3: Since last report there have been five to place membership and one to be baptized at Scotland Drive in Dallas. She was formerly a Methodist. This makes a total of 41 additions since the first of the year. During July we had the highest average attendance in Bible school and highest contribution in the history of this congregation which is only eight years old. We are selling $25,000 worth of Sunnyvale Church of Christ bonds which mature in from one to ten years so that we may build a new building on our lots on the corner of Sunnyvale and 52nd St., just across the street from the new Elisha Pease Elementary School. These bonds bear five percent interest payable semi-annually and are in $100 denominations. We plan to erect the building as we go. When we sell the first $2500 worth, we lay the foundation. If you should like to make an investment in the cause of Christ in this Lisbon area of Dallas and buy some of these well secured bonds, make all inquiries and checks to Sunnyvale Church of Christ, 2507 Scotland Drive, Dallas, Texas.

Quentin A. Dunn, Box 273, Eldorado, Texas, July 27: I have time for meetings after the first of August. I would especially like to have some meetings in Oklahoma or Kansas. I am willing to go anywhere. If you need a meeting, contact me at above address, or call me at 23901, Eldorado, Texas.

Arthur W. Francis, Jr., P. O. Box 924, Sioux City, Iowa, July 31: Our summer meetings, conducted by Roy H. Lanier and John McCoy came to a close last night. One was restored and placed membership. Both men also were speakers on our local daily radio program. We were fortunate to have such able men and their wives with us. The wives also helped us with our Vacation Bible school which was conducted the first week of the meetings. Our high attendance for the six days was 90 and the average 78. For this mission point of near thirty members we feel this was very good. It was about three times greater than last year. Our younger son, Charles, was hospitalized for polio this week and is still in danger but progressing nicely, the doctor reports. Pray for us.

Geo. A. McWhorter, Sr., 419 W. 34th St., Norfolk, Virginia: The Lord's kingdom has been established in a suburban section of this city. On September 28, 1952, we had our first assembled worship in a rented hall with 34 present. With the help of Christians throughout the south and southwest, we have purchased a lot for $2,500, and have erected a very nice, adequate meeting house. We have an approximate investment of $5,000, although the building is far from being completed. We have done most of the work ourselves, having paid out about $800 for labor (outside) thus far. The first meeting in our new building was July 5, 1953, with 98 people present. We have had six baptisms so far. We have a young but zealous group of Christians in this area. Pray for the work to prosper in this area. Our building, when completed, will seat about 250 people. We have six nice class rooms, a furnace room, storage room, and a study. The outlook is wonderful and we need the prayers of all.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, July 20: The Lord's work moves along in a very pleasant manner here in Mission. Mission is a town of about 11,000, however, seventy-five percent of them are Latin-Americans, and of course, Catholics, but there is a thickly populated rural area which are white. We are looking forward to the opening of the Moore Flying Field, which will be a permanent Jet Flying Field, which will bring about five thousand officers and men to this section. Of course, there will be many of them that will move their families here. We are hoping that many of them will be members of the church. Our new County Hospital will be in operation early in the fall. This will be the first hospital for Mission. They have been using the one at McAllen seven miles away. We are expecting all this to materially increase our attendance and also increase our work. If you have a relative who will move here please let me have have their names in advance and we will see them on arrival. The churches of the valley have a daily radio program with different preachers each week. Worship with us when visiting the valley.

W. R. Swinney, Bandera, Texas, July 27: We closed thirteen months work at Bandera yesterday with a baptism. We have accepted the invitation to return to Natalia, Texas, where we labored for more than five years. I preached for them last Wednesday night and though we have been away two years and eight months I found the work very promising. Some of the brethren from San Antonio have been supplying until they could secure someone to live among them. Please notice the change in my address from Bandera to Natalia.

John B. Bills, 4133 Middlesex Drive, San Diego 16, California, July 20: The last two weeks have been very profitable for the Linda Vista congregation. Eleven responded to heaven's invitation. Four were baptized, seven confessed wrongs and placed membership. One of those baptized was a Catholic, one a Baptist, and one a member of the Church of God. We give God all the glory for the results we have at Linda Vista. We are hoping to have our new building ready before the last of this year. We need it very, very much. Pray for us!

B. B. Harding, Vinita, Oklahoma, July 27: Good rural meeting near Mena, Ark., with increase in attendance each service till rains hurt the last two. None were baptized, but the meeting should have run another week. An elderly non-member broke a hip and arm in the Mena church house to run a bill near $500. So it would be a Christian service to help them have better influence if some gracious souls would send contributions to the church in care of Jack Meadors, Mena, Ark., to help pay the bill. The suffering is enough for the lady.

John W. Hedge, Jacksonville, Texas, July 20: The meeting with the church at Sterling, Oklahoma, which embraced the first and second Lord's days of July, was very fine indeed. The attendance and interest grew from the start and three very fine people were baptized. I did some of my first preaching as a boy preacher at this point many years ago and I did enjoy this return engagement. I am now in a fine meeting at Strawberry, Arkansas, with five baptized and one restored so far. I begin with the church at Sacul, Texas, July 31.

Leon Savage, McKinney, Texas, July 21: Brother Delmar Owens of Tulsa, Oklahoma, concluded a very fine meeting here July 15th. Three were baptized and one restored. Brother Owens did some of the very finest preaching. It was a joy to be associated with him again, as he is the one responsible for my being a minister of the gospel. The work continues to grow with the Davis St. congregation. Our radio program continues to grow in interest and results. Seven have responded due to the radio work. I begin a gospel meeting at my home congregation, Calera, Oklahoma, July 31st.

John Bullock, Box 484, Lewisville, Texas, July 30: One of the best meetings in the history of the church here, which dates back sixty-five years, closed last night. Brother John Banister, evangelist for the Skillman Avenue church in Dallas, Texas, did the preaching, with the writer leading the singing and preaching on Lord's day. Nine responded to the invitation during this series of services; five on Lord's day, and four others throughout the meeting. Of this number, four were baptized, and five restored. Brother Banister is an outstanding preach of God's word. He can present the gospel in a forceful, powerful and convincing way, reasoning with men of righteousness, temperance, and of judgment to come. Our meeting was a great meeting in many ways because souls were saved, the church was edified, record-breaking crowds attended, and people heard the truth for the first time. The work continues to grow here. The attendance is gradually increasing, and our contributions average a little over $200.00 each Sunday, which is something new for this congregation. However, we are not unmindful to give the Lord all the praise. I am to preach in a meeting in Governador, New Mexico, August 5-19. Pray for me that I might not fail to please God in preaching the gospel to an indifferent and confused world.

C. A. Buchanan, Waxahachie, Texas, July 30: We are preparing for a ten day meeting here at South Side to begin August 9th, with G. S. Westbrook as preacher. Services at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily. We baptized a Baptist man last week. The church here will be in the market for a new preacher in about a month. After three years with this congregation I can leave the work in good condition, with three good elders and everything in harmony.

Hartsell Johnson, Hutchinson, Kansas: The work here moves along in a way for which we are thankful. The spirit of these brothers and sisters in the Lord is one we enjoy being around. Last month the Lord blessed us with eleven additions to our working forces here. We are engaged in a Teachers Training Class at the present time and much interest is being manifested. My wife is giving special instruction to the women on how to teach smaller children more effectively. When passing in this vicinity while on your vacation plan to stop and worship with us. You will find a hearty welcome.

Gordon L. Downing, Floydada, Texas, July 27: The work is continuing to come along in fine shape at Floydada with interest growing daily. Since our last report, the Lord has blessed the work with nine responses. Three of these were baptisms last Lord's day and one restoration; four to place membership the week before and another restored several weeks ago. Two of the ladies baptized were formerly of the Baptist church. It was also my pleasure on a visit back to Elliasville to baptize into Christ a man in his sixties whom I had hoped to see obey the gospel before we moved.

Russell M. Ingalls, Amarillo, Texas, July 29: Brother Guy N. Woods closed an eight day meeting with us on July 12th. There were eleven responses: five baptisms, four restorations and two placed membership. A vacation Bible school was conducted along with the meeting. The school averaged 272 with a high of 290 in attendance. Brother Woods instructed the adult class from 1 John. There have been thirteen responses since the meeting making a total of seventy-eight so far this year. Of this number, twenty-five were baptisms. When in Amarillo, worship with us at 713 North Johnson Street.

Walter Daugherty, Jr., 3815 Idalia, El Paso, Texas: In the past thirty days it has been my privilege to direct the singing for two gospel meetings. In the latter part of June, I was with Brother Mack Kercheville, El Paso, in a bi-lingual meeting at Lordsburg, New Mexico. Services were conducted in Spanish and English—two persons were baptized and five restored. Brother T. W. Croom preaches regularly there. During the middle of July, I was with Brother O.

L. Winborn of Anthony, New Mexico, at the 8625 Robert Drive congregation (Sunrise Acres) in El Paso. No baptisms to be reported, but a great deal of interest was apparent on the part of three middle aged persons; undoubtedly the seed has been sown, and these people will render obedience to the Lord some time in the near future. Brother A. O. Wright preaches regularly here, while he "makes tents" with Sears store. After August 15, I will be available for meetings during the fall and winter, to direct singing or conduct music classes in either English or Spanish.

Jack Southern, Drumright, Oklahoma, July 27: The work of the Lord continues in peace and harmony here. Four have been baptized recently. After more than four years with the church here, I am moving to Shidler, Oklahoma, August 16 to begin work with the church there. Some of the best people in the world live in Drumright, Okla., and it is with reluctance that I leave. Brother J. L. Calvert will begin with them the first Sunday of September.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Ky Avenue, Paducah, Kentucky, August 28: Work at Clements Street continues well. I closed a fine meeting at Barlow, Ky., last week. Though without visible results, much good was done. I begin at Antioch, Tenn., August 9th, and Walter Hill, Tenn., August 16th. Our Radio program over WPAD at 11:15 A.M., Monday through Friday is the most universally heard program I have ever had in 25 years of broadcasting.

Gorin Rutherford, 1619 Jackson Avenue, Loveland, Colorado, July 27: The church in Loveland, Colo., concluded a ten-day vacation Bible school July 24th. The enrollment was 83 and the average daily attendance was 64. August 28 through September 6 will be the date of a meeting in which Luther G. Robbers of Corsicana, Texas, will do the preaching. Three have been baptized recently in Loveland. Two became interested as a result of hearing the Herald of Truth. If you have friends that should be contacted concerning the church in Loveland, please contact us. The church meets at 730 Grant.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, July 27: The work of the Lord moves along in a very fine way in Mission. Our Sunday evening blackboard lessons are bringing several visitors who are not members of the church, and gives us an opportunity to do some good teaching. We are happy to note an upward trend in all phases of the work, attendance and contributions. If you are coming to the valley for the white wing dove season, and they are going to be plentiful, worship with us. I will have time for two meetings next spring or summer. If I can serve you, please address me as above. Success to the good old Firm Foundation.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, July 29: A family of six transferred to us. The membership of the congregation reaching 360. The Wednesday night hour of prayer and training has continued above 200 all summer, the largest we have had for summer time. 229 in Bible classes last Lord's day, around 400 for morning worship and 300 at night. Sustained interest and attendance is good. Some from among the denominations attend the Sunday night services during the summer while a series of sermons on "Contrasts Between the Church of Christ and Denominationalism" is delivered. We have about doubled the attendance of the "Union Night Services" held at the Christian Church open air pavilion.

Scriptural references throughout the outlines. A most wonderful book of sermons on the fundamentals and on congregational development. To these extensive outlines is added the famous "Hedge's Rules of Honorable Controversy," set forth by Dr. Levi Hedge, which Rules are generally accepted and used by debaters.

Remember, this is not only the latest but the "Enlarged Edition". Every preacher should have at least one copy for his own personal use.

This book, we believe, has no superior as a book for study in class work. It is very peculiarly adaptable as a text for a class of leaders and prospective preachers. Notwithstanding the high cost of production, the price remains the same, that is 50c per copy postpaid, or $5.50 per dozen. Why not send your order today? If you have never seen this book, you will be amazed at the fullness and enormous volume of its contents.

Melvin J. Wise, 4216 Stanhope Avenue, Dallas, Texas, July 20: On July 1st I began my second year with the Preston Road church. During the past twelve months 116 persons have been added to our membership; thirty-three by primary obedience; twenty by restoration; and sixty-three by transfer of membership. We now have 503 members. Our total contributions amounted to $72,873.32. Our Bible school attendance during the past six months has averaged over 400 per Lord's day. Brother Bill Patterson works full-time in our Bible school, and his work is bearing fruit. We look to the future with great hope. The Lord willing, I shall do the preaching in a meeting with the church at Grapevine, Texas, beginning August 9th.

Ed Grantham, Marshall, Texas, July 24: July 12th, a married couple and a mother of three children were baptized into Christ at this place. This brought the total number of baptisms at South Washington in Marshall to thirteen since April 26th. There has been a total of seventeen responses during this period of time. From July 13th through July 18th, the elders of the South Washington church sent their regular evangelist, Ed Grantham, to Karnack to do the preaching in a mission meeting. This meeting was conducted in the football field with good crowds each night. The results were that two were baptized and one was restored the last night of the meeting. And, beginning Sunday, July 26th, a new congregation of the Lord's people will begin meeting in Karnack.

The brethren at Karnack have already raised over $500.00 for the purchase of a lot to erect a building on. The South Washington church along with the elders are doing all that is possible to see that this project goes over. They are sending me to help them out with the preaching and using local men at home.

Cecil B. Douthitt, P. O. Box 67, Brownwood, Texas, July 27: One was added by transfer of membership here at South Side yesterday, making a total of twenty-seven responses since we began meeting in our new auditorium. I have been away in meetings much of the time this summer, and the preaching has been done by the elders and others in the congregation. My next meeting will be at Hamilton, Texas, beginning Friday night of this week.

A. E. Findley, P. O. Box 403, Refugio, Texas, July 29: Our meeting with H. Arden Lawrence doing the preaching came to a close July 26. The attendance was fair considering the hot weather and vacation time. Three souls were baptized into Christ and the church was made stronger. I will begin a meeting in Premont, Texas, August 16 to continue through the 26th. A vacation Bible school will be taught in connection with the meeting. Pray for us.

U. R. Forrest, Akron, Michigan, July 27: The month of July has been a good month with the church here. Eight were added to our growing family of disciples here; four placed membership and four were baptized yesterday. Three of those baptized came from families of denominations. Our regular attendance has just about doubled during the last three months. The young people outnumber the adults. We are trying to build up a library for them. If you have a good book or books that you would like to give to a good cause, send them to the Church of Christ, Akron, Michigan. They will be taken care of and used where they will do the most good.

J. W. Roberts, Station A, Box 173, Abilene, Texas, July 25: After being away on a leave of absence for two years, I am moving back to Abilene Christian College next week. I have been promoted to Associate Professor of Bible and Greek beginning with the Fall term. My wife also will work for the college as secretary to Brother Don H. Morris. During the time I have been away going to the University of Texas, I have also preached for the church at Taylor, Texas. We have enjoyed a pleasant association. Brother Ed G. Sewell of Searcy, Ark., will succeed me in the work at Taylor. I am now in a meeting at Holland, Texas, and will be with the church at Florence, Texas, July 31 to August 7.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman Avenue, Dallas, Texas, July 30: During July here at Skillman Avenue church there were eleven responses. One was baptized, two restored and eight were identified. Bible school averaged 623 and contributions averaged $2,564.43 per Sunday. Jack Nadeau, whom we support in Munich, Germany, is here for the summer and greatly assists in the work. He will be glad to speak on the German work to any church which desires it. I assisted the church in Lewisville, Texas, in a ten day meeting which closed last night. Good crowds with four baptisms and four restorations. John H. Bullock is the evangelist there and he ably led the singing. I hold a meeting at Olney, Texas, August 3-12.

Book Review

P. D. Wilmeth

"Things To Consider." By W. M. Davis. Firm Foundation Publishing House, Austin, Texas. pp. 161. 1952. $3.50.

Here is a long awaited volume from the facile pen of Brother W. M. Davis, for years the front page editor of the Firm Foundation. His circle of friends is large indeed, and this volume will come as a long cherished dream—now you can have the cream of his writings over this great span of years.

The volume is divided into eleven chapters, and each of these broken down into sub-topics. No one will read this book of essays without profit and edification to his or her soul. The chapter headings are: Sound Doctrine, Obedience and Disobedience, The Sin of Denominationalism, God's Wisdom and Man's Foolishness, God's Ways and Man's Way, The Sin of Presumption and Substitution, Faith and Grace, Christian Living, Worldliness, Spiritual Growth, and Good Works. For the speaker who wants something on his shelf for ready reference, this is the volume you have been waiting for, and for the beginner in the Lord's work, this book affords real spiritual food that will prove its worth in the years ahead.

No reader of the Firm Foundation will want to do without this volume, and we can heartily commend it in its soundness, and clarity of presentation.

"God's Woman—Her Sphere." By C. R. Nichol. The Nichol Publishing Co., Clifton, Texas. 1953. 186 pages. $2.00.

This volume was first published back in 1938, and another edition went forth this year. It is a presentation of the place of women in the social and religious life as revealed in the Bible. There is no volume in print precisely like this one. Brother Nichol has rendered the brotherhood a favor in bringing these studies to our attention. It is at once recognized that not all will agree with every conclusion drawn by the author, and especially on such passages as the one in 1 Cor. 11, and the one chapter dealing with "Custom". The chapter on "Deaconesses" will provoke study and thoughtful consideration. Those teaching ladies classes will find a fruitful field of study here. Preachers, elders, teachers and all Bible students will welcome this book to our growing field of literature.

"Sound Doctrine", Vol. V. C. R. Nichol. The Nichol Publishing Co., Clifton, Texas. 1953. pp. 167. $1.50.

Those who have used Brother Nichol's first four volumes of Sound Doctrine, will need no introduction to this fifth volume. It has no doubt been eagerly waited for since the last volume came from the press. It is what the title implies, sound doctrine. This volume begins where the last one quit off—at Sinai. The first lesson in this book is on The Wilderness Journey. Then follow some general topics such as: Names and Titles of Christ, two lessons, The Great Salvation, What Must I Do to Be Saved? Infant Baptism. Two cases of conversion are given, and two lessons on the Second Coming of Christ, closing with one on Eternal Life. Any one of these lessons is worth the price of the book. This, and the first four volumes ought to be in the home of every member of the church. If you haven't ordered your copy, do so today.

"A Discussion Between a Preacher and a Priest." By Leroy Brownlow. Leroy Brownlow Publications. 3716 Ave. L, Ft. Worth, Texas. pp. 226. 1953. $2.50.

This volume contains thirty questions pertaining to Roman Catholicism as asked by Leroy Brownlow, the preacher for the Polytechnic Church of Christ, Fort Worth, Texas. Lawrence M. DeFalco, priest of Saint Patrick's Roman Catholic Church in Fort Worth, answers twenty-nine of the questions. The thirtieth question is answered by the Blessed Sacrament Roman Catholic Church in Dallas, Texas. Brother Brownlow replies to each answer. This is one of the finest handbooks on the average questions which come up for discussion that this scribe knows about. It is a very singular and unique presentation of the issues, and is a "must" book for all who want to be informed. Here we have both sides of the question. Both cannot be right. We believe the side espoused by Brother Brownlow is the correct one. The reader can draw his own conclusions. We would like to see this book on the shelf of every member of the church, not only so, but read and digested.

Any of the above books should be ordered from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

ALEXANDER J. CLAASEN PLANS TO RETURN TO SOUTH AFRICA IN THE AUTUMN

W. B. West, Jr.

Alex Claasen, a native of Southern Rhodesia, South Africa, plans to return to his home in November after having spent approximately five years in the United States. During his residence here he has been preparing himself for mission work in his own country. He has spent about four years in Abilene Christian College and one year at Harding College in this preparation, graduating from the former with a B. A. degree and the latter with an M.A. degree with a major in Bible. Brother Claasen has preached regularly while at Harding College which has also been helpful in training him for his work in Southern Rhodesia.

Brother Claasen will be working with an active, loyal church in Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia where his father and Foy Short, Henry Ewing and others are working. He, with them, will be doing evangelistic work. Brother Claasen will need financial support. The writer knows him to be sound in the faith, clean in life, and zealous for the work of the Lord. He commends him for the noble task to which he has set his heart—preaching the gospel in Southern Rhodesia. He is deserving of our prayers, financial support and encouragement. His present address is Harding College, Searcy, Ark. After August 14, his address will be Station A, Abilene, Texas.

James B. Scott, Harlingen, Texas, August 1: A fine young woman and a high school girl have been baptized here at Harrison and Eighth during July, and a young man stationed at the HAFB, was restored to duty. Three have placed membership with us during that time. The work gives every indication of developing into one of the very finest. The brethren are "of a mind to work," and we confidently expect great things from them for the Lord in the months ahead. Pray for us.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Negligence

This word does not sound like sin. On its face it has an innocent appearance. If one inadvertently takes the life of another person, he may be charged with criminal negligence. A woman was sentenced to the penitentiary for letting her child starve to death. A man was sentenced to prison for driving his truck over an old lady and killing her. Neither of these intended to take life. They neglected to do what they could to save life.

Any one who knows his duty to God, but neglects to do it is a sinner. James says, "Therefore to him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin" (Jas. 4:17). He may intend to do the neglected good sometime, but that good purpose does not save him if he dies while neglecting his duty. Having a knowledge of duty makes one responsible for failing to do it. A man may know that he must eat wholesome food to have good health, but if he neglects to take the food, he will get sick. His intention to take food some time does not keep him well.

It is probably true that the majority of alien sinners who die without obedience really intended to obey the gospel some time, but that good intention does not save them. The writer of the Hebrew letter says, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" Christians who know their duty, but fail to do it, cannot be saved. There is no substitute for doing the will of God. We may do everything else, but that does not justify us. A man may think that because he does not have bad habits the Lord will save him. But the worst bad habit of all is the habit of not doing the will of God. Every day that one does not do the Lord's will is a day of sin.

The people who lived in the days of Noah were lost because they neglected to enter the ark. People who wish to be saved must be saved in God's way, and in the place where God wants them to be saved. People can no more be saved outside the church than they could be saved outside the ark. Sinners must seek salvation in the Lord's way.

The Great Teacher

Right thinking people regard Jesus as the world's greatest teacher. Some who have not regarded him as the Son of God have declared that he has no equal as a teacher. This esteem has been bestowed upon Jesus in all ages of the world. He was despised by some in his own day on earth, but even his enemies were astonished at his wonderful works and the great lessons that he taught.

Nicodemus, who was a ruler of the Jews, paid a high tribute to Christ when he said, "Rabbi, we know that thou art a Teacher come from God; for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him." Here was an honest man—one who was not biased by his preconceived notions, but was honest, weighing well all the evidence in a case. His conviction of Christ's divinity was irresistible. In his mind the evidence was so overwhelming that he said, "We know that thou art a teacher come from God." He did not express an opinion, but declared the only conclusion that sensible people could reach by the evidence in hand.

Protecting Church Property

By R. O. Kenley

For several years I have been preparing deeds and charters for congregations, with the sole purpose of protecting those who desire to worship and serve God in the New Testament way, in the use, possession, enjoyment and ownership of their church property. This precaution is necessary, due wholly to "weak," "affected pious," "truth in love," "compromising" preachers and elders. If the truth was taught and practiced by preachers and elders, all "fence breaks," "innovators," "pre-millennialists," and "ism carriers" would find themselves so lonesome in a faithful congregation, that they would either learn the slogan, "Where the Bible speaks, we speak; where the truth or cast their lot with those of their belief.

Lack of respect for the silence of God's word, in most cases, is responsible for defections and divisions in the family of God.

The Campbells, more than a century ago from a very careful and diligent study of the New Testament, gave birth to Bible is silent, we are silent" (1 Pet. 4:11). This slogan was recognized by all members of the New Testament church for something like 25 or 30 years as the correct rule by which to interpret the New Testament. Many very able and prominent men, including James A. Garfield, who afterwards became president of the United States, accepted the plain Bible teaching as interpreted by the Campbells, Stone, Smith and others; however, these newly added men and women, many of whom were leaders in worldly affairs, were not taught, "Who-soever goeth onward and abideth not in the teaching of Christ, hath not God" (2 John 9). They were not taught to completely substitute God's "righteousness" for the "righteousness" they had known before accepting the truth. God's "righteousness" in many congregations is now being badly choked by the "righteousness" of the world or by the "righteousness" of the Roman Catholic Church. As the result of lack of New Testament teaching the ultra worldly wise, the untaught, and many women and children some seventy-five years back, under and by force of the majority rule, took charge of most congregations throughout the United States, and adopted themselves a slogan, which is the antithesis of the slogan promulgated by the Campbells, and which likewise contravenes New Testament teaching, and which is, "Where the Bible speaks, we are silent; where the Bible is silent, we speak." This defection is now the Christian Church in the United States. The doctrine of this religious body is so broad that it will permit the doing of most anything as acts of worship. This defection placed mechanical musical instruments in the worship, adopted and approved missionary societies and other organizations as adjuncts of the church, in fact have done everything and gone to every extreme to which sectarian religious bodies have gone. Some of its congregations even receive as members unbaptized persons. Another principle practiced by this body for many years after it gained numerical supremacy (which principle all now condemn in Hitler) was that "might makes right;" actuated by this principle, those who held to the slogan of the Campbells (being in the minority), were "kicked out," and deprived of the use and possession of their church property. The result being that David Lipscomb, Tolbert Fanning, E. G. Sewell, the Srygleys, A. McGary, J. W. Denton, J. W. Chism, A. J. McCarty, G. H. P. Showalter, Chas. R. Nichol and others had to revive anew the restoration movement theretofore set in motion by the Campbells, and fight from the "grass roots" up; this they did without pay, fear or favor; the numerous congregations now throughout the United States are due directly and indirectly to the faith, zeal, courage, and sacrifice of these pioneers for the truth; they are examples of "truth in love" (love for the word of truth). The so-called Christian Church is a living monument to soft, compromising preachers and elders in the church seventy-five years ago. The necessity for restrictions in deeds and charters of congregations in this age is a monument to the fact that we now have preachers and elders who will not preach and who will not permit and, or, demand to be preached the truth as to religious error and "isms."

Restrictions against "termites" could be placed in a deed, but the restrictions alone would prove futile, unless when termites show up they are promptly attacked and eradicated. Just so with "innovations" and "isms" in the church. If you go to collaborating and playing with them, before you realize, they have aligned the doctrinally weak members with themselves and are in such numerical number as to cause trouble or destroy a congregation.

My observation is that when a member of the church loses respect for the "silence" of the Bible, he will soon lose respect for the express and affirmative teaching of the word, and when once he "jumps the fence" he will go all the way to "Sodom" before stopping.

By the adoption of the 18th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, National Prohibition against the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating liquors became a part of the fundamental law of this nation. The dries, prohibitionists, temperance unions, preachers and church members, upon the adoption of this amendment blasted out an "Amen," that was heard throughout the civilized world; then went to sleep, depending upon the Constitutional Amendment and the laws enacted to carry it out to make sober citizens. After it was too late we discovered that the legal provisions made were not self operative, and that instead of making total abstainers of our children, it had made drunkards of many of them. There is no substitute for affirmative and strong teaching against doctrinal or moral error. Restrictive clauses in deeds and charters to the property of congregations will not dispense with strong teaching and the making of strong fights against "innovations" and "isms." Lovers of the truth should not be afraid of insulting any one by "contending for the faith."

In the sheep raising areas of Texas many ranchers in the past few years, in order to prevent depredations to their flocks from wolves, have enclosed their ranches with "wolf proof" woven wire fences; however, now and then a wolf gets on the inside. When he is discovered the owner gives the alarm, and all neighbors with their dogs come and join in the hunt and chase until the wolf is captured and destroyed. Elders, preachers and Christians should keep a close look-out for doctrinal "wolves," and when one is found in the congregation, do not begin "petting" and trying to "appease" him by giving him a class, calling upon him to lead in prayer, lead the songs, and, or, wait upon the Lord's table, but on the contrary he should be handled in such way that he would do no harm to others. The preacher and elders should at once commence definite teaching so as to enlighten him, if he will permit, if not, then the truth will drive him to other parts. In most cases he will go to the Christian Church or to some sectarian church.

"If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine (doctrine of Christ), receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed: For he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds" (2 John 10-11).

"That Where I Am There Ye May Be Also" OR Where Are Christ and His Apostles Now?

S. H. Hall

(An address delivered over K.F.V.D., Los Angeles, California, August 9, 1953).

"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (John 14:1-3).

These are the words of our Lord to his apostles the night of his betrayal. We want to study these words with the idea of seeing whether there is not "A famine of hearing the words of the Lord on this scripture." In Amos 9:11 such a famine is prophesied of, and this famine was on among the Jews—the very best that could be found—when Christ came unto them. Note it is a famine of hearing and not a famine of the word—they had all of the word. It is easy to see how this famine was brought about. The Old Testament was given unto the Jews to bring them unto Christ, but they had failed to study it and their ignorance and being wedded to the traditions of men, had blinded their eyes and they could not hear. They were commanded to "Seek ye out of the book of the Lord and read" with the assurance that those who did this would not fail. See Isaiah 34:16. But this they failed to do and their lack of knowledge of the book in their hands, that they had been commanded to read, caused God to reject them. See Hosea 4:7. "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge, because you have rejected knowledge, I will reject you." Christ, in his teaching and conduct, kept himself one hundred percent in harmony with all that had before been prophesied of him, and these Jews being steeped in the tradition of the elders and the doctrines of men, were unable to see in Christ their promised Messiah and judged him to be an imposter. Or as Peter puts it in Acts 13:27, "They knew him not, nor yet the voices of the prophets which 'were read every sabbath day.'" In John 5:45-47 our Lord teaches that the Jews could come to see and understand him only through what was before written of him. This throws light on this great famine of "hearing" that cursed Israel when Christ appeared among them. It is safe to say that only those Jews who came to look at Christ through the eyes of the Old Testament teaching in the Law of Moses and in the Psalms and in the prophets ever received him. This is the whole secret of our Lord's difficulty in teaching the very best from among the Jews whom he selected to be apostles.

It seems to me that Christ spoke too plainly to be misunderstood about his kingdom, the kingdom that he was to establish, that it was not of this world. But in spite of his plain-as-day speech the apostles themselves did not hear him. They had the traditions of men, perverted ideas as to the kind of kingdom he was to establish, to such a degree that, in spite of three and a half years teaching from the greatest teacher that ever walked on earth, they did not come to understand the nature of the kingdom until after his resurrection. Their misconception of the nature of his kingdom caused them to be contentious, and to resort to various schemes to get from our Lord the promise of being seated on the right and left when his kingdom was established. You know the story of James and John's mother joining them in their efforts to obtain from Christ the promise to be so seated when the kingdom was established—see Matt. 20:20, 21, 24, and the other disciples becoming indignant against the two brothers for this effort. What was the trouble? "A famine of hearing the words of our Lord was on," and it was the false ideas about the kind of kingdom that Christ was to establish that brought the famine on. Just as the false ideas about the kingdom today, as to its present condition and what it will be in the future, causes good men, men of brains, to be as blind and as deaf as a fence post to the teaching of our Lord about the kingdom now and in the future. Tell me not that this is not so! How exceedingly ridiculous the thought that Christ came to re-establish David's throne, to re-establish National Israel, and the Jews would not receive him and he had to defer this until his second coming! The Jews would certainly have received Christ in such a program. So it is claimed Christ must come again and do the very thing they wanted him to do, and rejected him for not doing. Some doctrines make not even nonsense, and this is one of them. Yet many are wedded to it today, and all because of a famine of hearing the words of Jehovah.

The mistake that Peter made was based on the hope that Christ was to re-establish David's throne and National Israel, and free them from the Roman yoke. He meant every word he said when he declared that all may "forsake thee," but I will not, "I'll die before I forsake thee." And when he unsheathed his sword and began to use it, he meant to die there in his tracks, if necessary, to defend his Lord. Our Lord's rebuke, then letting himself be bound as a culprit and led away for trial, disconcerted him, and he, with John, "followed afar off" as Christ was led to trial. It was this that caused him to deny with cursing, that he knew Christ.

The stupendous miracles Christ had performed during his ministry established in Peter's heart that he was the Christ, and to confess Christ as such. Can you not see how hurtful a famine of hearing is? No greater curse exists today than this famine of hearing the plain-as-day words of our Lord about the church, how to become members of it, what to do to get rid of our past sins, and how to live and go home to glory after death.

But that there is a famine of hearing now what Christ said in John 14:1-3 cannot be doubted. Every commentator I have ever read and every sermon I have ever heard on this scripture carries me away beyond earth time to the second coming of Christ, when this promise to the apostles was soon to be fulfilled. So we ask the question: Where are Christ and his Apostles now?

1. I think no one will question the correctness of this answer. Christ is now on the throne of the kingdom, set up in the days of the kings of the Roman empire that Daniel declared would never be destroyed. See Dan. 2:44. But if you want to quibble about this kingdom, meet me on this statement—he is at the head of his church, his spiritual body, he is the door to that church, the High Priest in that church; and he is in its foundation as the chief corner stone. See Ep. 1:22, 23; John 10:9; Eph. 2:20. But also he is in Zion, as the tried stone, the precious corner stone, the sure foundation. See Isaiah 28:16. There can be no doubt about it. Read Acts 13:32-37 in connection with 2nd Psalm verses 6 and 7.

But when our Lord was talking to his apostles in John 14, he occupied no such positions except in Jehovah's intentions. He was placed in the foundation of Zion, the everlasting kingdom, the church of the living God, after he was perfected, and this took place on the "third day," the day of his resurrection. See Luke 13:31, 32; Heb. 5:9. This was the day that God could say, in truth, "this day I have begotten thee." This was the day of his resurrection. Paul says in Col. 1:18 that he is "The firstborn from the dead." In 1 Cor. 15:20 Paul declares, "But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept." And Rom. 1:4 it says, "And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead." Yes, and this forces me to read Psalm 118:22-24: "The stone which the builders refused is become the head stone of the corner." This is the Lord's doing, it is marvelous in our eyes." "This is the day which the Lord hath made;" the day on which the greatest event in the history of the world took place, namely the resurrection of Christ. And to place everything beyond a doubt, read Acts 4:8-12 and there we find Peter quoting this very prophecy and applying it to Christ at his resurrection. Yes, I am sure we know where Christ now is—he is in his church, from its foundation to its top stone.

2. But where are his apostles? These are the men to whom he uttered the words in John 14:1-3. In Eph. 2:19-22 we find these words—"Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens of the saints, and the household of God (Church of God); And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief cornerstone; In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord; In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit."

Yes, not only are the apostles in the foundation of the church with our Lord, but here is where he "raised us up together, and makes us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus." See Eph. 2:6. Here is the first heaven, if you please, and I am in it. How could it be possible for the church today, in which the apostles sit with Christ, founded not only upon the apostles but the prophets also, if the Old Testament prophets were talking about Christ re-establishing David's literal throne in Jerusalem and re-establishing national Israel?

Did Christ fulfill his promise to his apostles? Or is this promise to be fulfilled to these men after the heaven and the earth are no more and the new heavens and the new earth are set up? Read all of the chapter. He stated that he would send them another Comforter, that the Comforter dwelt with them then but would be in them later, that "At that day ye shall know that I am in the Father, and ye in me and I in you." He also told them that the works they had seen him do they would do also, and greater works they would do because he was going unto the Father.

The church was not then established. It is called the "house of God" (1 Tim. 3:15), "the household of God" (Eph. 2:19-22) "God's habitation" and in it Christ is found as the chief corner stone with the apostles in there with him.

Have we answered the question—Where are Christ and his apostles now? And there is no man living that can scripturally extract these three verses from the context and fly away to heaven and prove Christ had his mind that far removed from what was just before him. We say much about the rule by which to interpret the scriptures, viz. (1) Note who is speaking, (2) To whom the speaker is addressing himself, (3) What he is talking about, (4) Under what dispensation he is speaking. Beginning at chapter 13 of John's gospel and reading on through the 16th chapter, Christ is the speaker and the apostles are the ones addressed. Of course, there are statements made that include us, but when it is done the statement is distributed and you can see it goes out beyond the apostles and includes others. Read thoughtfully John 17, the prayer with which our Lord ended this lengthy address he gave his apostles the night of his betrayal, and you will see there the apostles are first prayed for, then he reaches out and gets you and me, provided we have been made believers through the words of these apostles unto whom Christ committed the "ministry" and the "word of reconciliation."

Yes, I am in the same place the apostles now are with their Lord; it is the first heaven, and here we are made to "sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus" (Eph. 2:6). Yes, here we are in that family that exist in heaven and on earth and where we are blessed exceedingly abundantly above all we think or ask.

No, the church is not the vestibule of the kingdom, it is the kingdom itself. Note in Eph. 3:20 it says, "Unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end." Never will there be anything established that excels in glory the church of our Lord, and we never get out of it unless we turn our backs on Christ and cause him to blot our names from the book of life. How we need to heed the admonition—"Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the children of God," that our names should be enrolled in heaven, that we should be in his church or body, living in vital contact with our Lord as the head of this body, and where all the angels are our ministering spirits, sent forth to minister to us because we are heirs of salvation. See Heb. 1:13-14).

Here, let me say that some get no more joy, strength and peace out of being in "the Father's House, the church of the Living God," than others get out of being members of the Masonic order or that of the Odd Fellows.

Let us read thoughtfully 1 Cor. 2:9, 10.

Old Testament saints looked forward to what we have as we now look to the highest heaven. Hear it—"But as it is written"—written in the Old Testament—"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us (the apostles) by his spirit." And again 1 Pet. 1:8-12, "Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now you see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory; Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls. Of which salvation the prophets have enquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you: Searching what or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the suffering of Christ, and the glory that should follow."

Can't you see we now have what eye had never seen before nor what ear had never heard, and what never before had entered into the heart of man? How I wish I could find words to express it.

And listen again to what is said of us who are in this first heaven—"For we are not come unto the mount that might be touched"—Mt. Sinai from which the law was given—"But ye are come unto Mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God" (the place Christ was to prepare for his apostles as well as us), "The heavenly Jerusalem". Yes this place again Christ was going to prepare—"and to an innumerable company of angels"—our ministering spirits sent forth to minister to us in the church. See Heb. 1:13-14. "To the general assembly, and the church of the firstborn which are written in heaven." In it not wonderful to have your name written there? "And to God the Judge of all, to the spirits of just men made perfect"—a thing they could not have under the Old Law. Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the sainted dead before Christ came are with us here, because they had the promise but could not obtain and enjoy it until Christ made the atonement and established his church. Read in Heb. 11:39, 40—"And to Jesus the Mediator of the new covenant, and the blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things than that of Abel." Did not Jesus say he would go and prepare a place for these apostles and come and receive them unto himself, that where he is they should be also? Did he do it? Or, is God who spoke the world into existence, in a moment's time, still working on it? Are they not with him in this house of God which is the church of the living God? Are they not with him in the foundation of this church? Are we not built upon them, as children of God, with absolute remission, our names enrolled in heaven, and have we not received that kingdom that cannot be moved? Read it in Heb. 12:18-24, 28.

And this is not all. Hear the Spirit again in Eph. 3:14-21:

"For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God. Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, Unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen."

Now, did you get it? But note it says we have to be rooted and grounded in love, to be able to comprehend this. Someone says, "I cannot comprehend it." Well, John tells us why, "But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and walketh in darkness and knoweth not whither he goeth" (John 2:10, 11). Yes, you deceive yourself into the thought that you love God when you hate him, and that you love your brother when you never loved anyone except those who did exactly to suit you.

Yes, there is such a thing as an immediate and a remote application of scripture. I will not argue with you who have used John 14:1-3 for funeral sermons so long that you know not how to conduct a funeral without it. That there is a remote application of this scripture I deny not, but that there is an immediate application and it applies to the apostles is a certainty, and to every soul who is indeed a child of God through obedience to the gospel of Christ. I sometimes think we have too many star gazers. A man sitting and gazing at the stars and starving to death with food right under his nose, and he will not drop his eyes down a bit and see it. Yes, when quoting this scripture early in life, my heart was carried away, above and beyond the immediate application which I thank God I now possess. I am conscious of the fact that I am in the house of God, the church of our Lord, and have angels attending me all the way, and I am afraid of nothing but sin, which we should strive to abhor and shun even its appearance.

There is a joy that is unspeakable and a peace that passeth all understanding, so the Book declares in Philippians 4:4-7 and 1 Pet. 1:8. It seems to me that when we are blessed with the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, and are in the church where Christ does for us "exceeding abundantly above all we think or ask," where every experience we have brings a blessing (Rom. 8:28), that joy unspeakable and a peace that goes beyond all understanding is a matter of course. The true church is made of those who hold fast their confidence and rejoicing in hope steadfast unto the end. Read it in Heb. 3:6. Too bad when the sinner out there sees that the joy and peace you claim to have is not worth having, is no more than what he himself finds in the pursuit of carnal pleasures.

The "Direct" and "Indirect" Method Of Supporting Missionaries

(2) The fallacy of your question here lies in the word, "handle." In "handling" the funds of any church or individual, there are certain limitations, of course; but there is such a thing as "handling" funds that does not violate any principle or assume any authority other than that which convenience makes necessary. If a church sends funds by means of a cashier's check, then the bank "handles" the funds, but to assume that the bank displaces the church and acts for the church in a sense of robbing the church of its position and function and glory is too absurd to be considered. However, it is not any more absurd than the argument of quibblers on these very points about which you are inquiring.

Your "A" and "B" divisions are answered by the answer to the question itself. The matter is not scriptural if it is done in the way your question implies and assumes that it is being done, but again I am ready to deny that any such thing is being done and to state again that if it is, I have no information of such action.

3. The book, chapter, and verse principle. You state that you have been taught always to look for book, chapter, and verse for our teaching and practices in the Lord's work. So have I always been taught this, and I have myself stood on the platform and preached and debated, both orally and in writing, for fifty years. Yet I have never seen any principle that has been worse abused, perverted, and misused than this principle. In matters of faith this law holds good, and for this I contend with all my soul. The authority of God must be back of all that we do in his service, but when the thing that we are doing is unquestionably authorized by the Scriptures, then the method of doing the thing, if not described and commanded, must be left to our own choice. This, you admit, and yet you say that the method of cooperation is clearly described, which is not correct.

To illustrate how this principle has been abused: For many years some of our own brethren contended that the method of getting our money together on the Lord's day was described. They said that we were taught to go up and lay it on the table; that this, being the divinely described method, excluded and precluded any other method! I have been challenged, defied, and dared to cite an example of a New Testament church's "passing the hat!" If you had been born a little earlier, you'd probably be calling on me to help you meet this challenge and tell these brethren where to find the scripture that cites the method. The fallacy lay in the fact that the method of taking the collection is not described, but I never convinced those who challenged me to present an example, and I had to wait for time to change the thinking of the brethren and for death to remove some of them from the earth. Still some can be found who hold this view.

Take another example: Recently a brother submitted a question to me, which is very similar to the questions that you have sent in. It was not only a question, but a challenge, and that was to cite a scripture example where a church or the leaders of a church gave thanks for the contribution on the Lord's day. The brother told me in his question that he could not find any such example, and he implied, if he did not state, that I could not find it, either! Yet he called upon me to cite it! (This sounds a little like your letter, does it not?) Of course, my first admission was that I could not cite any such example. Do you think it is wrong, therefore, to thank God for the contribution? I do not think so, and yet I do not insist that such a thing be practiced. In fact, we do not do this at the Jackson Avenue church where I preach and where I am an elder. I submitted a question in answering this man worded like this: "Should we feel thankful to God for the degree of prosperity with which he has blessed us? Then should we feel thankful for the amount that has been placed in the hands of the congregation to be used for the glory of the Lord? If we should feel thankful for this, would it do any harm to tell the Lord that we are thankful, or should we just feel it and say nothing about it? However, this is only used to illustrate a point.

As another illustration, let me tell you that I know a brother who calls upon me and all other preachers to cite an example where any inspired preacher or teacher ever told a congregation to sing an invitation hymn. He will not attend services because the brethren have the habit of singing an invitation hymn at the close of a sermon. Of course, if you should ask this brother to give an example of where any apostles ever gave an invitation, he might have trouble in finding the example, and, nevertheless, you and I both know that he could easily find the principle. But these are some of the points over which brethren quibble.

4. Is the method of cooperation revealed here? As to the churches' cooperating, you state that the method is described. I have said that this is incorrect. On this, let us notice the following points:

(1) The church at Antioch sent a contribution to Judæa, or to the saints who were in distress there (Acts 11:29, 30).

(2) There were a number of churches in Judæa (Gal. 1:22). How many, we have no way of knowing.

(3) Yet the money that Paul was collecting is expressly said to be for Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:5; Rom. 15:31; Acts 24:11; 21:18, 19).

In the reference cited in Number 1, it is said that Barnabas and Saul delivered the contribution to the elders. Now whether this means to the elders of the one church in Jerusalem or whether it means that these men traveled through Judæa and delivered the contribution to the elders of the several churches, we do not know. Yet you assume that the method is clearly revealed and described. The implication is much more in favor of the fact that they delivered the money to the one church in Jerusalem. This is what Paul did in Acts 21:18, 19, and the other references that state he was taking it to Jerusalem. So the inference here is that the money was delivered to one group of elders and these elders distributed it to the saints, for it was for the saints that the money was collected. Some brother may think he knows how this was done, but we know that he does not know, and if he states either as a definite conclusion, he is assuming something that the Bible does not clearly specify.

5. Do we have "centralized control" here? Another illustration of knowing what was said in the scripture and assuming that we know just how the matter was performed is found in this reference. Paul tells us in 2 Cor. 11:8 that he robbed other churches in order that he might preach to the brethren at Corinth without charge. Note the fact here that he says "churches." Then remember that in Phil. 4:15 Paul tells that church that when he departed out of Macedonia in the beginning of the gospel no church had fellowship with him in the matter of giving and receiving except this one church at Philippi. Now when he left Macedonia, he went first to Athens, but remained there only for a brief period and established no congregation there, but went on to Corinth. He remained there eighteen months and established a church. So this is the time that the Philippian church was the only church that was contributing to him, and yet he says "churches" were supporting him. Either Phil. 4:15 contradicts 2 Cor. 11:8 or else one church represents a plurality of churches! Now, let us see the possible explanation. If we will read the ninth and tenth verses of 2 Cor. 11, we have Paul saying that when he was in want at Corinth, the brethren who came down from Macedonia supplied his wants. There were three churches in Macedonia that we know about, namely, Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea, so probably the brethren who came down from Macedonia brought contributions from these three churches, but how would you harmonize that with the statement that no church, except the one at Philippi, contributed to him? Now then if you will go back to the eighteenth chapter of Acts, where we have the story of Paul at Corinth, you will find that the brethren who came down from Macedonia were Silas and Timothy. Now, where had these brethren been in Macedonia? Probably they visited the three churches, but, seemingly, they made Philippi their headquarters, and, according to Luke's own use of the pronoun, Luke himself remained at Philippi for a number of years (Acts 16:10-15; 20:5). Now could it be possible that all the churches of Macedonia contributed to Paul while he was at Corinth but these funds were "handled" by Silas and Timothy? They, having come from Philippi, the whole matter could draw some support from the fact that the church at Philippi sent Paul while he was at Thessalonica. Possibly, therefore, the church at Philippi continued to feel responsibility for the other congregations and, at least, to cooperate and have fellowship with them in sending the gospel on into other regions. These points are brought to your attention just to remind you that you can be too "cocksure" in saying you know exactly the method used, the persons or the agent who "handled" the funds, the amount given, the date on which it was given, and everything down to the minutest technicality of a rigidly drawn blueprint of action. This is the basis on which the whole controversy rests, and it is almost too foolish to be called a fallacy.

6. A committee handling money. Another illustration of methods and committees, etc., may be found in the fact that Paul was acting as a collecting agent for churches in Galatia, Macedonia, Achaia, and possibly other places in getting money for the saints in Judea. One man was the appointed agent of the churches—not of one church, but of many churches; therefore, an employed servant of a plurality of churches to travel with Paul in reference to the collection and disbursement of these funds. Moreover, Paul told the brethren at Corinth that they would have the privilege of selecting some of their own members of Paul's company or "committee" to "handle" these funds and get them up to Jerusalem, where they would be applied to the purpose for which they were given, and if the brethren felt that this committee was not properly empowered or worthy to be trusted, Paul said he would, himself, go with them to Jerusalem. Why, in the name of all the quibblers that breathe today, did not all these churches send their money direct to Jerusalem instead of turning these funds over to a "committee" with an employed servant and the apostle Paul? Too bad some of our brethren were not living then to start a paper and disfellowship Paul and his committee!

7. When money is contributed FOR a known missionary, is it contributed TO a church? The next fallacy which we must point out is the assumption that money contributed to the support of a missionary is sent to a church, when it is only sent through the church. The contribution is not made to the church—it is made to the missionary, and the church that "handles" all the funds that go to that missionary does so upon exactly the same principle that the bank handles the funds in the illustrations used above. To assume that one church exercises authority over another church or that one church represents a combination of churches, organized into a unit larger than an independent church, is an assumption that is baseless, and, as said above, is a charge of a practice about which I have no information.

8. Others contribute to the missionaries through us. Let me illustrate the point of a church's sending to the missionary instead of to a church. Weldon Bennett, a missionary in Germany, is sponsored by the Jackson Avenue church, and we guarantee his support. Before he went to Germany, he lived at Compton, Calif., and preached for a church in that city. When he wanted to go to Germany, his home congregation was willing to release him and also to contribute to his support, but the church was not financially able to assume his support and to guarantee the amount that he would need, but Jackson Avenue sponsored him, which means that we stand responsible for him to any brethren anywhere who might want to help him in this foreign work. Also, we underwrite his salary; we guarantee that he shall have a stated amount and that he will not be allowed to suffer for the necessary things for his family. The church at Compton, California, immediately promised $50 a month, or $600 a year, for his support. For five years that church has been sending to us a check for $50 each month. This check is never reckoned as our money; it is immediately placed on the books to the credit of Compton, California, and for Weldon Bennett. That church is definitely sending to Weldon Bennett. They know the man; they know his family; they love them all; they want them to have support, and they rejoice that a stronger church has guaranteed that support. Since we, as the sponsoring church, should know how much he is receiving so that we will know how much we will have to supply, it is a matter of courtesy that those who want to send to Brother Bennett either send it through us or send us a statement of the amount sent to him. With us, it would not matter at all if they sent the money directly to Weldon Bennett and then sent us a statement of the amount they were supplying to him. It is only a matter of convenience and courtesy and on the same principle of a bank's handling funds.

This same principle holds good with reference to Richard Baggett in Japan. We also sponsor him, but we are receiving funds from three other congregations, located here in Memphis—Richard's parents are in one of them—that desire to have fellowship with Brother Baggett and the work in Japan. We have told them and also have told Brother Baggett, that if they preferred, there could be direct communication and their checks could go directly to the man on the ground, and all we needed to have is an accounting as a matter of bookkeeping of what they are doing. This is the attitude and the practice of the Broadway church in Lubbock and of the Union Avenue church in Memphis, we believe. We have Paul's example for wanting to provide things honorable in the sight of all men. Most men agree that money should be handled honestly and honorably, and it is a pity that they could not apply the same principle to controversy, but they do not. They handle reports and facts and even rumors in a way that could never be squared with the principles of honesty. They also handle the Scriptures deceitfully.

What Does the Bible Say?

After Baptism, What?

Once in awhile I meet someone who has not been faithful to the Lord for years and I ask him this question: "Are you a Christian?" "Oh yes," he replies, "I was baptized into Christ forty years ago at such and such a place." He makes this reply as though any one should understand that he is truly following Christ simply because he once put him on in baptism (Gal. 3:27). Surely everyone should be baptized and enlist in the service of Christ, but beginning is not finishing. Being born of the water and the Spirit is only the beginning of the Christian life. As a newborn babe we must partake of the spiritual milk of the word of God. We must exercise ourselves in godly living. We must worship around the Lord's table each Lord's day. We must serve as faithful Christians in the home, and in the church, and in the community. Too many people have the idea that the command to be baptized is the only important command of Christ. It is most important, but it is just the beginning of a life of obedience.

Last week we left Paul after he had obeyed the command of the Lord which Ananias brought him: "Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16). Paul obeyed this command because of his faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. This was the beginning of his life of trust in the Lord. He spent some time in Arabia and then returned to Damascus and to Jerusalem preaching Christ "that he is the Son of God." Thus he began the thrilling life of such service, sacrifice, and soul-winning that he could say at the end: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all of them also that love his appearing" (2 Tim. 4).

Did you once confess Christ before men as the Son of God, repent of your sins and put the Lord on in a burial in water in the likeness of his death? Are you now faithful to the Lord you confessed? Are you walking daily in his steps? Or are you content to face God in judgment and tell him you started the Christian life, but fell by the wayside. Let me appeal to you if you are a "backslider," a lukewarm Christian, an indifferent child of God, to come back to your first love, repent of your sins and confess your faults to your fellow Christians, and pray for forgiveness (James 5:16). God will forgive you for Christ's sake and you can start on the road to heaven again. Do it today!

Generous Gift Made by a Christian At Lubbock

M. Norvel Young

Brother Sam Hardwick, a member of the Broadway Church of Christ since 1924, left the majority of his estate to help train children and young people in the Bible. He passed away Sunday, July 19th and his funeral was conducted here at the church Tuesday morning, July 21st. Burial was near Dumas,

Sam Hardwick

Texas. Brother John T. Smith and Brother J. V. Davis assisted in the funeral. He left land valued at $125,000.00 to Abilene Christian College to help train boys and girls in the Bible and related subjects, and to help them to live the Christian life. He left other properties and money valued at around $200,000.00 to be divided equally between Boles Home, Tipton Orphan Home and Sunny Glenn Orphan Home. He wanted homeless children to have a home and to be taught the Bible. He had expressed a desire to include the new Children's Home here for an equal share, but illness overtook him before he could carry out his intentions.

We here at Broadway will miss Brother Sam for he was very faithful in his attendance at all of the services and had an interest in every phase of the work. He was born in 1875 and at the age of 21 he left his home at Little Elm, Texas, in Denton County to seek his fortune in West Texas. His father gave him the best team and wagon that he had and told him to make a go of it. He had practically no money. He went to Goodnight, Texas in the Panhandle and spent the first winter there and then homesteaded a section of land north of the Canadian River near Dumas, Texas. Later his sister and her husband came to live there and they worked hard to make a living. He used to tell the story that one winter they would have starved to death if a number of cattle hadn't drifted down to Texas from Kansas. They froze to death on the drift fence on his land and he skinned the cattle and sold the hides and got enough money to buy groceries.

In 1902 he married Fannie Clark. To this union one child was born in 1911. The child only lived five days. He had no other children. His wife died in 1922. He worked extremely hard. He ran a freight wagon from Hartley to Dumas. In the winter time he used a sled to carry the freight. It is said that he is one of the few men who could make a round trip from Hartley to Dumas with a mule team in one day. He used eight mules for the sled and four mules for the wagon. In 1918 he moved to Lockney, keeping his property in the Panhandle and in 1924 he moved to Lubbock. He obeyed the gospel at the Broadway Church of Christ in 1925.

He was always interested in the care of homeless children and contributed to the three homes mentioned in his will while he was living, regularly through the church here and also individually. He was interested in training young men to go out and preach the gospel and it is thrilling to consider the fact that "he being dead yet speaketh." Through the energy that he stored up in the money that he has left, homeless children yet unborn will be cared for, for many years to come. The gospel may be preached to thousands through those who will be trained by the money which he has given. We here all rejoice in his generosity. May the Lord bless these gifts that they may ever be used in harmony with his will and do the most possible good.

May we take this opportunity to suggest to Christians who read this that you consider making your will so as to include the church or some Christian school or orphan home. So many people could include such work in their wills if they only thought of it and arranged for it. Perhaps you would only be able to leave ten percent of your estate for such a work, but if several thousand did that consider what it would accomplish in the next fifty years. Perhaps you know of someone who would like to do something like this in his will. Why not speak to him or her about it and encourage him to remember the Lord in the final disposition of his property.

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

THE CHRIST AND HIS TEACHING IS THE SOLUTION OF ALL EARTH'S PROBLEMS

The world today needs Christ. In an old hymn, we used to sing: "Earth hath not sorrow that heaven cannot heal." The benevolence and philanthropy of heaven as revealed through the teaching and exemplified in the life of our Lord provides relief from all the troubles that distress sin-sick souls and brings to the human race the only reliable assurance of life, hope and happiness. Hence those who are now preaching to the lost the unsearchable riches of Christ, are the heavenly appointed evangelists of life, and love, and hope, and happiness. To carry out the will of God, let us continue every possible effort in preaching, or in helping others in preaching the gospel publicly and privately, not only to the utmost extent of our own fair land, but throughout the length and breadth of all lands in all the foreign fields of the remotest parts of the earth. We are thankful to our heavenly Father that the churches of Christ at the present time are going forth in this mighty work with a conviction that says: "We are well able to overcome the forces of evil and erect over the demolished ramparts of Satan, the banner of the cross. Thousands abroad are rejoicingly accepting the gospel of the Christ, in its simplicity and power, and saying as they become obedient to the faith: "We never heard it before."

Note: This article appeared on the front page of the Norwalk, Connecticut daily newspaper and over 50,000 requests for extra copies came in. It is another sign of the revival of concern in spiritual things.

IN THE BALANCE—THE CHRISTIAN WORLD

James Powell-Tuck

The situation of our world today is so grave that every American must be ready to face facts and be willing to seriously ask himself—"What can I do about it?"

We think the situation boils down to asking yourself this simple question—

Just how important is it TO ME to be living in what is generally called "a Christian World?"

Reply to this question honestly and you will have the answer to where this nation and the world as we know it are headed.

All signs point to another great tragedy in history. Read the history of the rise and fall of the Greek, Roman and French empires and you will recognize so clearly that those same signs are present in our nation today.

The tragedy is that in the short space of time since our forefathers founded our nation we see these signs of decay that brought about the collapse of those modern world empires.

With the firm belief that hard work and real faith in God would bring forth their reward, the Pilgrims laid the foundation from which has grown the richest and most powerful nation in the world today.

This priceless heritage of ours is in danger!

The great advances made in science and technology have brought to us richness and an easier way of living. But man's need today seems to be primarily for the material things of life—such things as a television set, a refrigerator, an automobile. Dozens of other labor-saving devices for our homes are terribly important.

A Bible and a seat in church seem to have lost their importance.

God definitely has been forsaken!

What then is happening? No one can deny that there is a serious decline in moral concepts. Too many of us are willing to say that we are Christians, but when it comes to living a Christian life we do so on our own terms.

Sometimes the truth hurts and it makes us ready to deny it, or go into a shell, or try to justify ourselves. Sometimes, thank God, though the truth hurts it brings an awakening and a willingness to do something to set things right. That time is now—it must be now if you, like other men and women, want to safeguard your heritage so that your children will have a better chance to live in peace, happiness and security in a truly Christian world.

We urge each American—you and your friends and neighbors—to give a little more of yourselves to God's purpose when he gave you your life.

Is all this possible? It should be simple.

Man has inherited from God the power to do great things. If this inheritance and this latent power that is in every man are harnessed, if the minds and hearts of all men will be moved, the world we want for our children and grandchildren is possible of attainment.

We need not fear a tragedy that can be avoided.

Remembering the past let us all, with courage and high faith in the promise of God, accept this challenge and start today to repair the damage to man's soul. Norwalk, Conn.

COMMENDATION

Dear Brother Showalter:

Your editorial of July 21, "On To Neglected Fields," is an article of a generation. Not often do such things appear with such fine urgency. We are convinced that we should turn from an unbelieving person, or community, after due efforts have been made to get them to hear. Then why should we not, as you suggest, wash our hands of the unconvertable "church member"? Instead we continue coddling him while he rubs his feet on the church year after year.

Some weeks ago, I selected a fine sectarian community in this section and asked some brethren to provide the needed comforts for an audience—I'll do the preaching "and risk gasoline money." The Baptists have a large tabernacle there, but I much prefer to be independent enough that no one can put me out, for it is likely that I would say some things Baptists would not endorse!

Yes, your editorial is an unusual one, if we take the average. We are playing at the task laid upon our shoulders. "Pour it on!"—F. L. PAISLEY, Temple, Texas.

C. B. Glasgow, Blum, Texas, July 27: My wife and I attended and enjoyed a pleasant and profitable meeting that closed at Blum, Texas, last night with one of the leading women of the town being baptized. Beryl Rodenham, 515 Ann St., Montgomery, Alabama, August 6: I just finished a two weeks gospel meeting in a tent at Oak Valley, Ala. There was a good crowd at all of the services and Brother Dennis Hines did a wonderful job of leading the song service. We had ten precious souls to obey the gospel call and be baptized into Christ.

Neal Marshall, Ft. Worth, Texas, August 8: Next Lord's day will mark the beginning of our fourth year with the church here at Diamond Hill. During that time, we have seen a wonderful advance in the cause of Christ. On the same date that we began our fourth year of work, the congregation will also begin their third year in their new building with plans and bids in hand to enlarge. I have been unable to preach for the last five Lord's days due to a throat disorder, which also forced me to cancel two meetings. I am much improved at this writing and have begun my regular duties again. Visit with us when possible.

C. E. McGaughey, 2407 W. Lincoln, Springfield, Missouri, August 7: I spoke four nights of the first week of the Yosemite Encampment. Eight were restored and two baptized. Wonderful fellowship. The cause is growing in California. I closed at North Side in Midland, Texas, last Sunday with twenty baptisms and eighty-five confessions of wrong. I am speaking six nights this week at Spraberry, new congregation in the oil field south of Midland. So far four have been baptized, one restored, and one placed membership. My next meetings will be at 14th and Main, Big Spring, Clinton, Okla., August 21-30, and Tuckerman, Ark., August 31-September 8.

Basil C. Doran, Ferris, Texas, August 5: Brother Emerson J. Estes, of Memphis, Tenn., preached in our meeting July 19-26. This, truly, we are glad to report, was the best meeting in many ways ever conducted by this congregation. The people of Ferris came again and again. We know the word was truly sown, and will bring forth fruit in due time. Brother Estes did the best preaching I have ever heard him do. Four were baptized during the meeting and another last Sunday. We shall be looking forward to a return engagement from Brother Estes in the near future. My next meeting will be with the Eastside church in New York City, beginning the last Sunday in August. Our radio broadcast, "The Gospel in Song," over Station KGKO, 1480 kcs., each Sunday morning at 8:00 o'clock, is being well received in this community.

Reeder Oldham, Box 26, Gainesboro, Tennessee, August 4: In our vacation Bible school 245 enrolled, 166 average attendance. Seven were baptized and seven restored here and in meetings at White's Bend, McCoinsville, and Big Branch.

M. D. Manning, Jr., Winters, Texas: The Winters congregation is supporting Brother Bill Wiley in a mission work at Monmouth, Ill. He has been there since August, 1952. The church here is sending me there to give them a meeting which will begin Wednesday night, August 12, extending through Sunday, August 23.

Flavil R. Yeakley, Sr., 508 S. Oklahoma St., Weslaco, Texas, August 3: The work of the church in Weslaco moves forward in a satisfactory way. Progress is slow, but the work is encouraging. Since my last report there have been four additions here: 1 baptism, 2 restorations, and 1 by transfer of membership. We are encouraged by the possibilities here.

Esten Macon, Box 101, Richard City, Tennessee, August 8: June 14-21 I was in a well attended meeting in Anderson, S. C. There was an average attendance of fifty-two persons each night. An average of twenty-three children were in the nightly Bible class. The brethren were pleased with the meeting. Anderson, S. C., is a town of 30,000 people, yet the faithful brethren are carrying on the good work. I was with the Carigar church near Athens, Ala., July 26 through August 2. Good interest prevailed and one was restored.

W. R. Craig, Quitman, Texas, August 2: During July I preached in two good meetings, one at Alba and the other at Salem, both in Texas. Here in Quitman last week three were baptized, three placed membership, and one was restored from the Christian church. Today brought to a close my work with the Quitman church. Tomorrow we move to Magnolia, Arkansas, to work with the church there. Albert F. Brown will follow me here. My new address is P. O. Box 697, Magnolia, Arkansas.

E. Paul Matthews, 4823 E. 60th Place, Maywood, California, July 27: Brother Foy L. Smith of Cleburne, Texas, has been with us for the past ten days in one of the most successful meetings in the history of this congregation. Large audiences attended each service, seven persons responding to the invitation—four baptisms, three reclaimed—and much good was accomplished otherwise. The Maywood church continues to show steady growth. I will be with the Central church in Reno, Nevada, August 16-28, and at Burney, California, August 30 through September 12.

W. J. Shackelford, Jefferson Street Church of Christ, Neosho, Missouri: Rue Porter preached in a truly great meeting at Anderson, Mo., July 23-August 2. Three were baptized. This congregation, while less than a year old, has made remarkable progress. Unusually large audiences from the entire four state area attended every service. No living man has preached more gospel sermons in the Ozarks than Rue Porter. Certainly no man today preaches with more genuine pathos and power. During the past forty-three years, Brother Porter has given more than 14,000 sermons resulting in more than 6,500 baptisms. No man is more universally loved and respected. Brother Porter will preach in a fall meeting with his home congregation in Neosho, October 11-18.

Luther Savage, 809 Merritt Drive, Fort Worth, Texas, August 5: August 17th I begin a ten day gospel meeting at Odessa, Texas, at the new church on Eisenhower Street. All those living driving distance are invited to attend.

M. E. Waldrum, Box 446, Santa Rosa, New Mexico, August 5: Our gospel meeting and Bible school will be held August 23-30. Gilbert Copeland, Wichita Falls, Texas, is to do the preaching. K. A. Stone, Hayden, Colorado, is to conduct the Bible school and Leland Burch, Espanola, New Mexico, is to conduct the young people's program at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. D. R. Byrum, Anton, Texas, August 4: I would like to have a woman about sixty-five years of age to live with me and help me. She must be a Christian and kind and considerate. I don't have much work to do—just the house work. I live alone. I have all the conveniences and a modern home. My house is four miles from town and a good church. I am able to wait on myself and go to church but I am so lonely. I will pay a reasonable salary and give free board. If anyone is interested, please write me.

Joseph Sherman, 614 South 6th Avenue, Yakima, Washington, August 3: After a very pleasant season of labor at Kinsley, Kansas, I moved from my native state of Kansas to my wife's native state of Washington. My new address is given above. The Yakima brethren purchased a preacher's home this year, and sponsor a five-day a week radio program. 245 people attended yesterday morning. The Yakima church, which meets at 607 West Lenox Avenue, is one of the largest congregations in the Pacific Northwest. James Potts preceded me here. I baptized one in Kansas last month, and one in Yakima. When coming this way, stop and worship with us.

Robert D. Bankes, 810 Houston St., Kilgore, Texas, August 3: The meeting at Tom Bean, Texas, in which I did the preaching closed last week with seven responses. Three were baptized and four were restored. This was my third meeting with this congregation. I will return in 1955. Sam Marmino is the local minister and was a fine co-worker in the meeting. Brother Earnest Gann directed the singing. I begin a meeting and Vacation Bible School with the church in Troup, Texas, August 9-16. The work here at Houston and Broadway continues to progress. Brother V. E. Howard will be with us in a meeting August 21-30.

Robert P. Stewart, P. O. Box 459, Grass Valley, July 27: Since our last report we have had a meeting with Brother Andrew F. House doing the preaching while I was privileged to do most of the song directing. Although there were no visible results during the meeting we have had two baptisms and a confession of neglect since. I feel certain that the congregation was benefited by the meeting. It was my privilege to supply for Brother House at Oak Park (in Sacramento) during the meeting. This was a source of much opportunity for me as it gave me a chance to speak over the radio once again and to preach for a greater number of people than I have been allowed to reach in recent months. I was privileged to baptize one and see another restored during the morning service. This is a fine congregation and is looking toward the establishment of a new congregation on a sound basis possibly within the coming year.

THE PEBBLE DRIVE CHURCH OF CHRIST
ERIE 4, PA.

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith.” Gal. 6:10.

IT'S NOT TRUE!

The old adage, “Opportunity knocks but once,” is not true as to preaching the gospel of Christ in the New England States and in New York and Pennsylvania. A giant opportunity stands at the door of all congregations and all faithful members of the true church knocking day by day, week by week, month by month, and year by year asking to be used; Opportunity’s knock FIXES RESPONSIBILITY. That responsibility will remain until these states along with others of the North are evangelized.

IT'S ABSOLUTELY TRUE!

In one of the largest cities (Erie, pop. 150,000), of Pennsylvania, a small group of “the household of faith” sits with feet on wet concrete (or in water) for worship nearly every Lord’s day. And that is not an exaggeration.

OUR REAL NEED

Help to finish our superstructure seems imperative. Our walls are well begun, BUT WE ARE STALLED! Will you help us, at least just a little? If all into whose presence this ad comes will do that, our back-breaking, unbearable load will be lifted, at least enough so that we can ourselves give, borrow, and get by for a while. Please give at least one-half of one Lord’s day contribution! ACT NOW, for our need is IMMEDIATE! Cold weather is just a few weeks off. Do more than that if you can wisely do so.

SPECIFIC!

Our lowest bid by contractor so far is $4,900.00. And that is only to get walls finished, roof on, and the windows glazed. Oh, yes, and a baptistry constructed. No finishing of the interior included. But the moisture and winter’s cold will be conquered.

Investigate our preacher; he invites it. References: A. E. Tennant, minister, 96 Cheltenham Drive, Buffalo, N. Y. Wm. C. Stillinger (minister), 418 West 38th Street, Ashtabula, Ohio. H. A. Joseph W. Baker, Imperial Beach, California, August 4: Again we are happy to announce that the Imperial Beach church is progressing favorably. The last time we wrote to you we had had eleven baptisms. Since then we have had twenty more, making thirty-one baptisms in a little over two months. Sunday we had four to place membership, two from Coronado, and two from Imperial Beach. In addition we have had twelve restorations. Our little church is packed on Sunday morning and our evening attendance is almost as good. We are now making plans for building and hope within the near future to have something to announce relative to this important undertaking. God has indeed blessed us and to him we give all the praise and glory.

Howard D. Parker, 1501 Patterson Ave., S. W., Roanoke, Virginia, August 5: After September 1 my address will be 7910 Rugby Ave., Birmingham, Ala. I will begin work with the 77th Street congregation then. I have recently preached in meetings at Warner's Chapel near Winston Salem, N. C., where George Hickey preaches with three baptisms and one restoration; at Highland Avenue in Columbia, Tenn., where Paul Matthem preaches with twenty responses including thirteen baptisms; and at Town Creek, Ala., where Charles Burns preaches with no responses to the invitation. The nature of my new work will allow me to have more meetings than I have been able to hold while in Roanoke. This work goes forward slowly but surely. The footing for a new building has been poured and the brethren have hopes of being in the building by the end of the year.

Emerson J. Estes, 4872 Park Avenue, Memphis, Tennessee, July 29: I have just closed a great meeting with the church in Ferris, Texas. Four were baptized out of denominationalism. Basil C. Doran is the minister. He directed the singing and it was the very best. I have never seen a preacher loved and appreciated more by all the people of the town than Doran. Because of his influence among the people, the officials of the town, the denominational preachers and their members attended the meeting through the last night. One of the Baptist preachers took issue with me on Acts 16:31. Brother Doran and I went to his home and Doran discussed this and other things with him. I have never seen a Baptist preacher taken care of in such a fine, genteel manner. Doran and the Baptist preacher still remain friends. Doran is to be with us in a meeting at Getwell and Dunn Streets next April.

W. A. Record, 1401 Cherry, Lamar, Missouri, August 5: The church here closed its first protracted meeting last Wednesday evening. William F. Walker, evangelist for the church at National and High, Springfield, Missouri, did the preaching, and John Wilson, son of Fred M. Wilson, an elder in the church, directed the singing. Each did his part in a fine way. There were no baptisms, but many heard the gospel plan of salvation for their first time and seemed to be favorably impressed. Thanks to the good church at National and High for sending these good men our way, and supplying much of the equipment used in the meeting. The small group here is the only church of Christ in this entire county. We will appreciate information of any members who live in or near Lamar, or members who may be interested in moving into a needy field of the Lord's vineyard where his laborers are few; and really are needed. Write us at the above address and visit us when you can.

B. F. England, P. O. Box 241, Grandfield, Oklahoma, August 8: Our meeting here closed Sunday night, July 19. Brother Allen B. Harper of Lawton did the preaching in a very commendable manner and Brother Bob Antwine directed the singing. There were no additions during the meeting, but much and lasting good was done by the excellent lessons that were brought. Attendance from those out of the church was the best we have had in a long time. We hope to reap the harvest later. I began a meeting with the church at Greenland, Arkansas, July 20. Brother Salyers is the local preacher. The singing was conducted by Brethren Westbrook and Parrish, and it was very good. Many of our old friends in that section and as far away as Ft. Smith, Ark., visited the meeting. Many of my preaching brethren visited the meeting. Among the preachers were Brother Fred McClung, Brethren Ramey, Broyles, Brown, Salyers, father of the local preacher, and some others I fail to remember. One middle aged lady was baptized.

Robert A. Bolton, Box 245, Lometa, Texas, August 1: Our first year of work with the Lometa church came to a close with Silas Howell of Llano conducting a ten day meeting in which thirteen obeyed the gospel. During this year there have been four meetings and one lectureship held here, and I have been privileged to do the preaching in meetings in Goldthwaite, Brady, and Elm Grove, Texas, as well as Tallhina, Oklahoma, and Sterling, Colorado. The Colorado meeting was a mission meeting supported by the Lometa church. Clemon M. Muse, supported by the Kress, Texas, congregation, is doing an excellent job in Sterling. Last night I began in Bend, Texas, to assist the church in its meeting there until Wallace Layton of Houston arrives Monday night. Our summer schedule of work away from home comes to a close with meetings at Bowser, Texas, beginning August 10 and Melvin, Texas, beginning August 24. The daily radio program over KCYL in Lampasas, 1450 on the dial, at 1:00 p.m. continues to bear fruit by reaching thousands with the gospel of Christ for the first time. We rejoice but lest we grow weary in well doing we press on. When in Central Texas, visit and worship with the Lometa church, for you will find it one of the best little congregations in the brotherhood.

A. Brogden, 494 N. Highland Avenue, N. E., Atlanta 6, Georgia, August 4: My last report was sent in more than two years ago while I was working with the church at Marietta, Georgia. During my period of service there which extended over a period of three years and three months and which was terminated on September 23, 1951, I baptized thirty-one persons and feel sure that the cause of Christ was otherwise strengthened in that community. Since leaving Marietta, I have been doing secular work and preaching mostly where full support for a minister is not available, such as Adairsville and Cartersville, Ga. Both of these places need outside help to support a full time worker whose efforts might be divided between the two as they are just eighteen miles apart. Cartersville also needs a place of worship but it will take the small group there a long time, and they may never be able to erect a building during their lifetime; however, they do have a well located lot paid for and a few hundred dollars in their building fund. If you care to investigate further as to their need you may write to F. C. Puryear, Route 4, Cartersville, Ga. I feel that these brethren are worthy of any help you may be able to give them. This applies to both Adairsville and Cartersville. I am again living in Atlanta and preaching when and where invited in the various congregations of the city. I have preached several times recently at Moreland Avenue and Glenwood Hills congregations. One confession of error and unfaithfulness at Glenwood Hills on July 12 and one on August 2nd. Call me for Lord's day appointments or a series of meetings. I want to be busy in the Lord's vineyard.

Cpl Zane Kerr, US54059558, USAREUR CMRA, APO 227, % P. M., N. Y., N.Y. July 29: I would like to give a brief report of the work here in Kaiserslautern, Germany. It is now approximately nine months old having begun the last Sunday in October, 1952. At that time four members began meeting for worship. At present there are twenty-six members at this place. There have been three conversions. Two of these have been German ladies. The attendance in the English service varies between twenty-five and thirty-five persons, and the attendance for the German service now averages nine. Beginning October 1, Brother and Sister Hans Nowack will move here from Stuttgart to assume full time duties. They are sponsored by the Central Church of Christ in Nashville, Tennessee. We believe the work will then show more progress. Anyone having friends or relatives in the service in this section (Southwestern Germany), please let us know and we shall be glad to try to reach them. In addition it might be added that three Germans were recently baptized at Pirmasens which is about twenty miles from here. The work began there approximately the same time last year that it did here.

A New Printing of the Enlarged Edition
Price: 50 cents; Dozen, $5.50

We have just printed several thousand copies of "Bible Briefs and Sermon Outlines."

Printed on the specially thin, opaque paper with clear, bold type; 216 pages, so thin that it may conveniently be carried in the vest pocket.

Contains Nearly 200 Subject and Sermon Outlines

A comprehensive view of the Bible in its relation to man as set forth in a series of scriptural themes by which the Bible becomes its own interpreter.

"The Bible," "Unity of the Bible," "Composition of the Bible," "Facts About the Bible," "Helps for Bible Reading," "Rules for Bible Study," "The Dispensations of Religion," "Proper Division of the Word of God," etc.

Scriptural references throughout the outlines. A most wonderful book of sermons on the fundamentals and on congregational development. To these extensive outlines is added the famous "Hedge's Rules of Honorable Controversy," set forth by Dr. Levi Hedge, which Rules are generally accepted and used by debaters.

Remember, this is not only the latest but the "Enlarged Edition". Every preacher should have at least one copy for his own personal use.

This book, we believe, has no superior as a book for study in class work. It is very peculiarly adaptable as a text for a class of leaders and prospective preachers. Notwithstanding the high cost of production, the price remains the same, that is 50c per copy postpaid, or $5.50 per dozen. Why not send your order today? If you have never seen this book, you will be amazed at the fullness and enormous volume of its contents.

SUPPORT FOR SPANISH PREACHER IN LAS VEGAS, NEW MEXICO, HAS BEEN STOPPED FOR LACK OF FUNDS

Mack Kerecheville

I have just received a letter dated July 15, 1953, from the elders of the Anglo church in Las Vegas, New Mexico, stating that they had been forced to terminate their support of Brother Joe Gomez, the Spanish preacher there. For some time now the Anglo church has received contributions from various churches for the preaching of the gospel in both Spanish and English in and around Las Vegas. But, now because of needs of the English speaking field, and because of a lack of funds, they have had to drop their help for the Spanish speaking work.

Brother Gomez is asking the assistance of brethren in this matter. Not only the church at Las Vegas, but other small Spanish speaking churches in that area are in need of help. I visited these brethren personally last fall and feel that they are worthy of your cooperation. One or two congregations are already helping by sending contributions direct to the Spanish brethren. The Spanish church in Las Vegas has elders and deacons, and the brethren there are perfectly capable, in my opinion of receiving funds for their own work and reporting to the contributors. I recommend that brethren everywhere, especially those who have contributed so generously to the Las Vegas field in the past because of their interest in the Spanish work, give this need special consideration. For more information get in touch with Brother Joe Gomez, 1427—8th St., Las Vegas, New Mexico. It would also be fine to contact the Anglo church there (8th St. Church of Christ) for their recommendation in the matter. Please don't send any money to me for this work. Send it direct to the brethren in Las Vegas. 59 Luna St., El Paso, Texas.

WARNING

Gussie Lambert

There is a Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Austin travelling over the country using the name of the church and giving bad checks. They used my name for a reference in Monette, Arkansas, and gave a check for $20.00. They did the same thing in Ridgely, Tennessee, and gave a check for $25.00. They claim to be members of the church and tell a hard luck story, then persuade the preacher or someone to endorse their check. They carry an account at the bank, and so far a Shreveport bank, with a balance of a few cents just enough to have the checks returned marked "insufficient funds." They have also offered checks that were hot from banks in New Mexico towns. They are circus performers. The last address they gave was 4900 Jewella Road, Shreveport, La. But they have not established residence and their story may originate from anywhere. Brethren, be warned!

Shreveport, La.

Charles E. Wilson, 111 S. Keystone, Stafford, Kansas, July 30: The work here is moving along in good shape. Since coming here the latter part of May, two have been restored. The church here is in dire need of a meeting house with adequate classroom space. This is somewhat of a hindrance to the cause here. The brethren realize this and have started a building fund. They are limited financially and it would be several years before the money would be forthcoming if they had to depend solely on local resources. The need is now. The church here has a preacher's home, debt free, on which they could borrow $5,000 and they have $1,200 in the building fund now. The estimated cost of rebuilding, using donated labor is $15,000. This leaves $9,000 which they need to raise from other sources. We wonder if some other churches or individuals want to help us in our much needed work. I am sure that we can count on you brethren to assist us in this much needed effort that is white unto harvest. Send all donations to Roy Ardrey, Stafford, Kans., marked "Building Fund." Our fall meeting is scheduled for October 7-15 with Brother Dale Church of Sentinel, Oklahoma, doing the preaching.

Claude A. Brown, Box 5, Throckmorton, Texas, July 31: On July 29, I concluded a very interesting meeting with the church in Bokchito, Okla. There were four responses during the effort. Two were baptisms, one confessed faults, and one placed membership. Members from the various denominations attended almost every night despite the fact that there were other meetings in progress. The Lord willing I shall be with the brethren again next year. I would like to assist in a ten day meeting some time in October or November with some congregation needing a meeting. For a reference to the type of work that I do you may contact Brother Taylor of Bokchito, Okla.

John W. Hedge, Jacksonville, Texas, August 4: The meeting at Strawberry, Arkansas, July 17-26, resulted in five baptisms and five restorations. Extra large crowds attended all the services. I am preaching this week in a meeting at Sacul, near home. I will be in a meeting with the Cross Roads church, near Senatobia, Miss., the last two Lord's days of this month, and with the church at Canute, Okla., the first two Lord's days of September. I have signed propositions for an eight night debate with Dr. Albert Garner to be held in October, provided the Baptist church votes in favor of it. You will be notified later of the exact date and place if the vote is favorable.

G. S. Westbrook, Box 486, Lubbock, July 30: Recently I had a good meeting at Cad-do, Okla., where Loyd Bryant is doing a good work. Seven were baptized, one a former Baptist. Closed a meeting last night at Meadow, Texas, with two baptized, one a Baptist from a strong Baptist family. Good interest and co-operation from Meadow and surrounding communities. Bobby Hoover directed the singing in an excellent way. Milton Brewster is the local evangelist at Meadow and is doing much good. I begin my second meeting tomorrow night at my old home town, Dunn. Then I go to South Side at Waxahachie, August 10-19. Vacation Bible school and singing school at Pioneer Park, Lubbock, assisted by Damon Smith August 24-28. I begin regular work with the north side church in Bonham, Texas, September 1, following the successful ministry of Jack King. Pray for us that we may glorify God in word and deed.

V. C. Turner, 209 S. W. 3rd, Bethany, Oklahoma, August 10: Good interest and attendance characterize our work here. Three were baptized the past week. During the past month four more confessed error and two placed membership. Peace and harmony along with fine cooperation exist here. Our Vacation Bible School will be August 17-21. At the opening of this school term we will begin "Religious Education" classes in the Bethany Public Schools. This year we will conduct Bible classes for the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades. The Supreme court of Oklahoma has handed down a ruling providing that school time shall be granted pupils for the study of the Bible. School personnel cannot teach the courses, neither can they be conducted on the school property. The Nazarene Church has asked us to use a room in their Educational building which is located near the campus. Brother Charles Moore and the Putnam City congregation is cooperating with us in this work. Brother V. J. Cullum, Brittain, Okla., will do the preaching in our fall meeting, October 4-11. I have some time available for meeting work in 1954.

Will W. Slater, Box 7178, Sylvania Station, Fort Worth, 11, Texas, August 1: The Encampment at Fayetteville, Arkansas, was a wonderful success, far beyond my expectation. It will likely be better next year. I went from there to Lowell, Arkansas, and taught a singing school. This leaves me in a school at Antioch church, near Pea Ridge, Ark. I am glad the church is manifesting more interest in singing, and are interested in their children learning to sing. I go from here to Hydro, Okla., to sing in a meeting with Brother George B. Curtis doing the preaching.

Claude McClung, 1614 West 2nd St., Arlington, Texas, August 8: We have just closed a fine meeting at Mansfield with Brother J. O. Jones of Little Rock, Arkansas, doing the preaching. The church was strengthened by the good preaching done. All were made happy and he was asked to come back in 1955. The Mansfield church is now doing the best it has done in several years, and it is a pleasure to work with them. I am nearing the close of my third year with them, and this year is the best of all. I am to be with the Friendship congregation, near Sudan, Texas, the last two Sundays of this month, and look forward to a fine meeting with them. Arlington is the fastest growing town of Texas, they claim, and I am sure it is true. It is a great section, with Dallas and Fort Worth on either side, and we are about midway between. The cause is growing very fast in all this north Texas region. I have watched it for forty-three years, and it is wonderful what has been done.

Gordon J. Pennoek, 216 Hill St., Bismarck, North Dakota: I recently concluded a meeting with the church at Wadena, Minn. The average attendance was the highest of any meeting held there since the beginning of the congregation. The average for all services was 43. Much interest was shown and we did our best to sow the seed of the kingdom. One was baptized and one placed membership. There were good prospects that others will obey the gospel shortly. Much progress could be observed since I was there in a meeting a year earlier. The congregation now numbers twenty-six. They have a small building which is adequate for their present needs but indications are such that they will need more room shortly. Brother E. L. Dabbs, the preacher, has done a good work. He has resigned and plans to leave this fall. Therefore the church is in need of a preacher. Interested parties may contact Brother Ben Stark, Verndale, Minn., or the elders of the church at Big Spring, Texas. The church at Big Spring is supporting the evangelist. I heartily commend this work to any preacher who desires to labor in a field which is comparatively new and which offers great possibilities for progress.

R. C. (Bob) Copeland, Jr., Box 146, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, July 31: July has been a very busy time for me. July 5-12 I was in a meeting with the church at Irene, Texas. They invited me back next year. July 15-22 I was in a meeting with the church at Cee Vee, Texas. Brother Yeaman of Hillsboro directed the singing in the Irene meeting. He did the job well. Brother

Robert Carter of Childress, Texas, directed the singing in the Cee Vee meeting. Also, Brother Carter preached the night of July 17th because I was previously engaged to officiate at the wedding of Miss Erlene Horne and Charlie Couch in the Lawrence Street Church of Christ building at Anton, Texas. Both are good Christians and our best wishes go with them. Singers from Broadway Church of Lubbock furnished the vocal music. I wish all who prefer mechanical instruments of music could have heard the beautiful singing. I believe it was as good as possible. At least it was some of the best that I have ever heard. It was good to see our friends at Anton, Texas, again. We moved here July 30. This is my first time to live in this part of the country, but we are sure that this is the place for us. Brother Max L. Johnson preceded me. He did a great work with this congregation. He is well liked by the members and held in high esteem among the business men of Tahlequah. May his work at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., be pleasant and fruitful is my prayer for him. No one has been selected to work with the congregation at Clarendon, Texas. All correspondents should write to J. H. Wood, Naylor Route, Clarendon, Texas. I lacked one month working at Clarendon three years. We shall miss our friends of that friendly town. Personal evangelism is most needed in the church of Christ today. As the truth goes marching on, may every member learn to evangelize. A brother who had been out of duty for some time was restored at Clarendon last Sunday.

J. B. Harrington, Box 341, Elkhart, Kansas, August 1: Yesterday closed five months work with the congregation here. A new building was officially opened with a meeting the first of February, and we have continued to grow from that time. June 28 saw new records set in attendance and contribution. We closed an eight day meeting on July 6, with local talent taking the lead, and your correspondent as the speaker. There were two who obeyed the Lord in baptism, making a total of four responses in July. Pray for us in this difficult field.

W. R. Swinney, Natalia, Texas, August 2: I began regular work with the Natalia church yesterday. The attendance was very gratifying. The drought has handicapped their work but they seemed to take on renewed zeal and we look for a real spiritual revival. The monthly interchurch singing was held at 3 o'clock and many visitors were present. We feel the future of the church is secure when we see the young people of the church taking such active parts.

Annual Field Day Judging Contests

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT

This department was organized in 1944. It has grown in size, quality, and popularity from its beginning. It now has an enrollment of some 300 students with twenty-three different courses being offered. One may major in general agriculture, animal husbandry or range management. About 100 students have graduated from A. C. C. with Ag. as a major or minor. Many of these are engaged in farming and ranching. Several have continued in technical agriculture and are teaching or serving as county agents. Others have entered the business field and are dealing in agricultural products, such as farm machinery, feeds, seeds, pest control, fertilizers, etc.

The latest source of employment now open to A. C. C. Ag. majors is with the Soil Conservation Service. Immediate employment is open to these graduates as agriculture technicians with Civil Service appointments. Within the past year at least six ACCians have accepted employment in this type of work. The records show that their educational background for this sort of service ranks with the best from other places.

The College farm serves as the laboratory for the teaching program. It comprises some 600 acres used mainly for pastures and feed crops. It is stocked with a herd of fifty registered Jersey cows, some Holsteins, twenty head of registered Herefords, some registered Rambouillet sheep and several high quality brood sows.

In addition to its class room activities, the department publishes The Farm Visitor which goes to 10,000 farmers and ranchers. Each week a fifteen minute radio chat to farmers and ranches is broadcast by seventeen radio stations. The annual Field Day of contest judging by Future Farmers and 4-H club members now attracts over 1000 enthusiasts.

Detailed information on this and other departments may be had by writing for a catalog.

The Fall semester for both graduate and under graduate divisions begins September 14, 1953.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Spiritual Sickness

Doctors find very few people with perfect health. Probably not more than one person in a hundred is free from disease. Abnormalities unrecognized exist in the human body. The wide range of diseases makes it difficult to escape all of them. Approximately five hundred different diseases have been diagnosed and tabulated.

According to the Scriptures, sin is a disease that affects the soul directly and the body indirectly. Isaiah says, "The whole head is sick, and the whole heart is faint. From the sole of the foot even unto the head there is no soundness in it; but wounds and bruises, and putrifying sores. They have not been closed, neither bound up, neither mollified with ointment" (Isa. 1:5, 6). The prophet was writing concerning the spiritual condition of the children of Israel. None of them were doing the Lord's will. They had all gone out of the way. But they were not totally depraved. They were not incompetent to do the Lord's will, for Isaiah said to them, "Wash ye, make ye clean. Put away the evil of your doings from before my eyes; cease to do evil, learn to do well."

Isaiah did not say that the children of Israel were so dead that they could not do anything—they were only sick. Of the whole human family Paul said, "There is none righteous, no, not one. There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good, no, not one" (Rom. 3:10-12). In the same chapter he declares, "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." So sin is a universal disease, afflicting men everywhere.

The Great Physician

Jesus told the Pharisees, "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick" (Matt. 9:12). Proper diagnosis is necessary to the right treatment. I knew a man who consulted three doctors—one of them said he had stomach ulcers, another said he had cancer, and the third said there was nothing the matter with him. They could not all be right—they could all be wrong.

If scientists could find a remedy that could remove the cause of all diseases, it would truly be a wonder drug. Then accurate diagnosis could be dispensed with. The remedy would cure the disease regardless of what it is. Our Great Physician has given us a remedy that is a universal cure. John says, "If we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jno. 1:7).

The blood of Christ cleanseth from all sin. This is the universal remedy for sin. And there is no other remedy for sin.

Human remedies are failures. But no remedy cures when the patient fails to take it. And so the blood of Christ does not save men who fail to use it as the Lord has directed. The blood of Christ is in his body, which is the church. This being true, it requires no argument to prove that people cannot be saved out of the body of Christ. Sinners "must come where the blood can heal." Why then are faith, repentance, and baptism necessary to salvation? Because they are the only steps that lead to the blood of Christ. Paul declares that those who are baptized into Christ are baptized into his death (Rom. 6:3). Here is where men reach the blood of Christ.

Jesus Teaches Humility and Forgiveness

By Hoyt Bailey

The lesson of humility and forgiveness was difficult for Christ to get his followers to learn, and it is a difficult lesson for professing Christians to learn in the present generation. The apostles had disputed among themselves on the way to Capernaum as to who should be the greatest. At Capernaum they asked Christ: "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" Though there are rivalries and animosities in earthly states, there should be no such in the kingdom where the lowliest are the highest. The estimate of greatness as given by Christ differed wholly from that current among men. Matt. 18:1-4 says: "At the same time the disciples came unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them. And said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven."

Jesus called a little child unto him, and the little one came willingly to Jesus. Those who are to please Christ and our Father in heaven must be willing to come to Christ, come on the conditions given by Christ. Our Lord set the example for each of us respecting our attitude toward God's will. The night Jesus was betrayed into the hands of sinful men, he prayed in the garden that if it be possible that the cup pass from him. Note the exact words of Christ: "Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done" (Luke 22:42). Jesus Christ was willing to submit to the will of our Father in heaven. The little child is willing to submit to the will of its parents. So must individuals submit to the will of Jesus Christ without question.

or quibble if they expect to be saved. For Christ asked: "And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" (Luke 6:46). As the little child is humble enough to obey so must every one be willing to hear and obey all that Christ commanded.

Mr. Mason said: "The casting down of our spirits in true humility is but like throwing a ball to the ground, which makes it rebound the higher toward heaven." Everyone should learn that the road which leads upward must first lead to humility. Jesus said: "And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted unto heaven, shall be brought down to hell: for if the mighty works, which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day" (Matt. 11:23). Christ said of the scribes and Pharisees: "But all their works they do to be seen of men: They make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge the borders of their garments, And love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues, And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi. But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. And call no man father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven. Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ. But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted" (Matt. 23:5-12).

The one coming to God cannot exalt himself, for he knows that he has nothing of himself. The humble mind is thus at the root of all other graces and virtues. Self-exaltation spoils everything. Can there be real love without humility? Paul said: "Love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up" (1 Cor. 13:4). Augustine said, humility is first, second and third in Christianity. Jesus describes those who follow him as "meek and lowly in heart" (Matt. 11:29). You can note that the first of the Beatitudes was to "the poor in spirit" (Matt. 5), and "the meek are to inherit the earth." Humility is the road to true greatness. The one who "humbles himself as this little child the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven." The scripture also warns that "Whosoever shall exalt himself shall be humbled; and whosoever shall humble himself shall be exalted" (Matt. 23:12).

The apostle Paul admonished Christians to have the mind of Christ: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name" (Phil. 2:5-9). It is the humble mind which receives the truth of God. For Jesus said: "I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. Even so, Father: for so it seemed good in thy sight" (Matt. 11:25-26). Paul says: "For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world? . . . For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called: But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; And base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: That no flesh should glory in his presence" (1 Cor. 1:19-29).

It is imperative that men turn unto God and Christ. Men must turn away from earthly ambition, from rivalries and jealousies, turn away from the world, and turn away from self to Christ. Men must turn to God, turn their thoughts, desires, motives, hopes to the things which point to heaven and heavenly things. However, there can be no turning to God or Christ without conversion. But there can be no conversion without childlike humility. The one whose thoughts are filled with self cannot turn to Christ. Pride so involves the soul with self and so occupies the soul with self that such cannot see the beauty of the Lord, nor can such a soul turn to the Lord. Those who would follow Christ must become as little children, they must be like the little ones in their trustfulness, obedience, truthfulness, and their humility. The little child shows its true nature; it has no hypocrisy, no desire to seem other than it is; it is humble and modest; it does not aim at display and show; but it is full of affectionate trustfulness in those whom it loves.

Men must be humble enough to admit or confess their sins, to turn from themselves to God. Men must be childlike in their forgiveness of their fellowmen. The little child forgives its playmate and continues the play without an effort to get even, or to remember the little things done which brought injury. Jesus said: "Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word shall be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church. But if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican" (Matt. 18:15-18). Church members should study the teaching of Christ and learn the lesson of going to one's fellowman when an injury is felt. Such church members should go alone as Jesus teaches and seek to bring about the reconciliation between each other. The one who feels the injury should go seeking reconciliation with the proper motive. He should go in the spirit of a little child, that is he should be willing to forgive as well as mention the injury done unto him, or the injury he supposed was done unto him. It is to be regretted that some are not really injured when they suppose they are. Some take offense when no offense was intended. Some go so far as to tell others about their supposed injury before telling the one they suspect as Christ teaches should be done. The whole of Christianity requires that man forgive his fellowman of sins which are repented of. Paul said: "And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Eph. 4:32). God and Christ do not forgive sins which are not repented of. It is Christ who says: "Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother sin, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him" (Luke 17:3).

The Bible teaches that as it is repent or perish so it is forgive or perish. When God does a thing he does it completely. When he forgives he forgets or removes the past guilt. He said: "This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them; And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more" (Heb. 10:16-17). Since God forgives the sin and remembers it no more, why don't brethren who claim to forgive each other really forgive? Why do some remember things of the past? If a sin is forgiven, why is it not forgotten? One who has been trespassed against and goes to his brother and tells him of his trespass between the two of them alone certainly is to forgive his brother, if the brother repents, and forgiving means forgetting. Jesus says: "For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses" (Matt. 6:14-15). Every person who expects to go to heaven must obtain forgiveness, but he cannot be forgiven unless he in turn will forgive those who have repented and who ask forgiveness.

If the offending person will not hear the one offended and ask for his forgiveness, then the offended is to take with him to the offender one or more "that at the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established." All such persons going in the right spirit to the offending person should be able to help promote reconciliation. If the second effort fails, then the offender is to be brought before the church, but if he will not hear the church, he is to be considered as a heathen and publican.

This is the Lord's method of helping to promote the proper relationship among his followers. Those failing to follow him, failing to repent and forgive, are to be dealt with according to scripture, and such ones as will not submit to scriptural teaching are to be considered as heathen and publicans. They are to be disregarded as church members, or disfellowshipped. Of course, we are to try to restore all in-active members to active duty in the Lord's service, but if they will not be restored according to scriptural requirement, Are we not obligated to disfellowship? Jesus said: "Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother sin, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him. And if he sin against thee seven times in the day, and seven times turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him" (Luke 17:3-4). Emphasis is placed upon the brother who sins repenting and turning. If the offender will not repent, an offending church member, are the others scripturally obligated to fellowship him in his continued rebellion? Jesus points out that whatever is bound on earth is bound in heaven, and whatever is loosed on earth is loosed in heaven.

Let all learn humility, learn to be as submissive as the little child. Let all learn to turn from sin, be converted to Christ, and learn to forgive sins and errors as well as expect to be forgiven.

The "Direct" and "Indirect" Method Of Supporting Missionaries

G. C. Brewer

(Concluded from last week)

9. Elders can oversee foreign work as an appeal board only. As to overseeing the work done in the mission field, of course, this cannot be done by those of us who are not on the ground. We have to send men whose judgment we are willing to trust. Then we shall be happy to have them advise with us on any point where we might be able to help them, but, after all, the work where they are has to be done by them according to their best judgment in meeting the situation and solving the problems that arise there. None of us imagine that we can oversee and supervise a work that is not under our immediate observation and close enough to us to be a part of our scriptural duties.

10. The church is not an organized entity—not an ecclesiasticism. At the risk of writing too long a letter and with the prospect of having this lengthy epistle divided into two articles in the paper, I wish to call your attention to another fallacy that I believe to be the cause of much of our trouble in this controversy. It is the creation of the church into a mechanical or denominational entity and of ascribing to it definite and legal functions which could only be performed by such a concrete organized entity. I wish all of our brethren could join battle with the Catholics for a while in reference to the church. They would probably get their eyes opened and either abandon some of their ideas or else join the Catholics. Some of them definitely belong with the Catholics, for they not only postulate an infallible church, but they assume pontifical powers themselves. Of course, it is not necessary to tell you that the church is not an organized entity; it is not an institution or an ecclesiasticism in the common acceptation of these terms. The only term applied to the Lord's rule that is, in any sense political, is the word "kingdom," and yet our brethren seem to have no trouble in seeing that the kingdom is spiritual (Luke 17:20, 21), that it is not of this world (John 18:35), that it is not meat and drink (Rom. 14:17), that it is entered by a spiritual birth (John 3:3-5), etc., but when we begin to talk about the church—look out! It is a legally constituted entity—material, mechanical, denominational, and demagogic!

The church is a spiritual body, composed of twice-born men and women. We are all priests, and each one has a privilege of offering up spiritual sacrifices to God through Christ. We are members one of another, and this is not limited to those who belong to a local group, but it includes all the children of God, the sons and daughters of the Lord Almighty. The spiritual relationship that exists between the members is intended to prevent schism in the body of Christ. To create a congregation into such a separate entity is to forbid and preclude members of one congregation—of being members one of another—is to create an unscriptural thing and is to make void the teaching of the Lord. This is being done, and I know whereof I speak! The congregation is a local body, independent in its work and worship of any other group, but this independent group is not organized in a legal and a mechanical sense, or even in a denominational sense. The organization is simply functional; that is, the work is systematized with certain duties and responsibilities placed upon certain men. These men are not a hierarchy; they are not lords over God's heritage. They do not hold "official" positions that are legally described and circumscribed so that a brother in Christ could not admonish, exhort, or rebuke any wrong in those who belong under the jurisdiction of a group of "officials" without first receiving credentials from these "officials." A criminal running out of the United States into Canada could even be arrested by Canadian officials and turned over to the officers of the United States or even to the officers of the state in which the crime was committed, but according to the ideas argued by some men and implied in the questions which you submitted, brethren in Christ would not even have that much responsibility and could not exercise any such cooperation. This is what I mean by saying that brethren are creating a legalistic, rigidly described and circumscribed thing that they call a church. They are creating officials called elders, whose powers and privileges are unlimited within their congregation, but must not, upon peril of excommunication, be poached upon by the hierarchy of another group. If you understand my diagnosis, here is my remedy. It is given in one word: Christianity. We need to turn our brethren into Christians and forget about "Church of Christ" members, "Church of Christ" preachers, "Church of Christ" missionaries, "Church of Christ" methods, "Church of Christ" creed, etc.

If I have not made myself clear on any point, do not fail to write to me again, because I am not at all averse to presenting what I believe to be the truth of God or of telling any man what I believe to be his error.

With all good wishes, I am faithfully yours, G. C. BREWER.

The Man And The Home

Homer Putnam Reeves

Administration Building and Dormitory
Brother Pigg (inset)

Brother John Pigg needs no introduction to the brotherhood. But it seems wise to mention a few things regarding his connection with Home for the Aged at Gunter, Texas.

Mother nature was in a lavish mood when John Pigg was born. His native equipment together with his training qualify him well for the capacity in which he now serves.

Outstanding among the many facets of his excellent character is the adorning trait of loving-kindness. His gentleness is exceeded by his compassion; his compassion is exceeded only by his patience and piety. He possesses a tenderness and serene devotion which fast approaches mother's love. He is ideally equipped to care for aged and infirm people. Home for the Aged is most fortunate in having Brother Pigg as Superintendent. Too, our esteemed brother is greatly favored in having a companion who is possessed of great industry and resourcefulness. Sister Pigg has been a tremendous influence in her husband's successful career.

Home for the Aged was first conceived by Brother and Sister Pigg. It seems most fitting that those who originally promoted the work should now be charged with its perpetuation. The brotherhood can be assured that the administration of the Home is in safe hands. John Pigg's heart is in this great work! He, more than any other, is responsible for the existence of the Home.

Brother Pigg became Superintendent on November 15, 1952. His predecessors, in order, are Ralph Godfrey, Leon Ramsey and L. L. Jameson. Each of these men did an excellent work. Each made a very definite contribution toward the upgrading of the Home.

Home for the Aged had its beginning in mid-December, 1947. From the beginning it has been strictly a work of faith. If ever a work was launched on a "shoe-string," this is it. The only tangible assets were a few acres of land and the badly dilapidated Administration Building of Gunter Bible College.

Today, in addition to the reconditioned Administration Building (see picture) there are two dormitories and six cottages. Additional land has been secured, enlarging the campus to about 75 acres.

One of the dormitories has just been completed. This structure was erected at a cost of nearly $18,000.00. Indebtedness on the building is approximately $3,500.00. Incidentally, this is the only indebtedness against the Home. The new building contains twenty rooms. The rooms can be completely furnished for $124.00 each. Surely there are twenty churches or twenty individuals who will gladly furnish the rooms.

When Brother Pigg took over his duties on last November, there were fifty-four precious old people in the Home. Since that time, nine have fallen to sleep from which there is no waking. Today, there are fifty-five members in this wonderful family. Sixteen are bedfast. Needless to mention, there is always a large waiting list. There are more than fifty applications on hand at present. The new dormitory will accommodate twenty now, bringing the capacity to seventy-five.

One of the highlights of every day is the evening devotional services conducted by 86-year youngster Fred Husted. Many report that this is a most delightful and profitable service and that it is conducted most admirably.

Brother Pigg announces that "open house" will be held beginning at 10 o'clock on the morning of August 13th. If you haven't inspected this remarkable work at Gunter, why not plan now and attend this meeting? A visit to the Home is always a thrilling experience. (Announcement was sent to us too late to appear last week—Editor.)

Report On Work In Ponca City, Oklahoma

W. Dale Pearson

August 1st will mark the end of our first six months with the congregation here. We feel that our work could be no more enjoyable. The congregation is engaged in an active program of work, with plans for a greater work. There have been 31 responses to the Lord's invitation, with ten of these being baptisms. Recently the elders agreed to take the oversight in sending Brother David Lavender to Italy—$100 per month being given to his monthly support. In addition, we are assisting the congregations in Tonkawa and Newkirk, Oklahoma, and the colored congregation in this city. Between 40 and 50 percent of our contributions are planned for mission work. We consider the elders of this congregation some of the best in the brotherhood.

Brother David Lavender and Family

The colored congregation, where Brother Matthew Moore preaches, has just completed a fine gospel meeting. There were six baptisms and three restorations; eight of them grown people. One young man was preparing to be a Baptist preacher. Brother Jessie Cook of Wichita, Kansas, did the preaching.

The congregations throughout this part of Oklahoma are going forward in a fine way in the Lord's work. We enjoy the Firm Foundation.

An Elder's Recollection

This is a statement by Brother Raleigh Martin (shown above with Sister Martin), an elder of the Broadway Church of Christ at Lubbock, Texas, since 1914.

"I moved to Lubbock with my family, wife Laura and our three children, two girls and a boy, in the fall of 1909. We moved from Midlothian, Ellis County, where we had lived for years and helped organize the church of Christ and build the building. I had served as a deacon until we moved to Lubbock.

"I was appointed as elder here by A. J. Clark, (Uncle Jimmie) as everyone was pleased to call him, and Brother Liff Sanders who was an elder and preacher. Brother Sanders served the church for a long time and really laid the foundation for a large and working church. Then there was Brother John T. Smith who did a grand work with the church for many years, and of course there were several others, one of whom was Brother G. C. Brewer. It is needless to say that Brother Brewer faithfully added gospel guidance to the brethren here and elsewhere. He was followed by the beloved Brother, M. Norvel Young, who is with us now and who is doing a good work.

"At present we have 11 elders, and they are the finest group of elders that I have ever known. I have helped in appointing all of them. We also have a fine group of deacons, 21 in number, who work under the direction of the elders with perfect unity.

We also have more than 100 in attendance at ladies Bible class on Wednesday morning. These ladies are willing workers and do a lot of visiting of members, of those who are prospects for membership, of those who are out of duty, of those who have recently moved to town, and of the sick and bereaved.

"As to my children, my two daughters are married and live here in Lubbock and are both Christians. My son, Dr. Edwin D. Martin, lives in Houston and is an elder of the Central Church of Christ and is assistant superintendent of the Houston Independent Schools. My people, as far back as I know, were faithful members of the church of Christ, and there were many preachers among them. My brother, the late Sam Martin, was an elder of the Midlothian church from its first existence until he passed away a few years ago. I had one half-brother, J. Claud Martin, of Nashville, Tennessee, who served as elder with the beloved David Lipscomb in the early days of the church there.

"My wife was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Davis who have long since gone to their reward. They were both members of the church and my wife's grandfather, Jacob Boydston, was a pioneer in the church in Dallas County."

Perplexing Problems

By L. R. Wilson

Without question, the plea made by our people is the most beautiful in all the world. "We speak where the Scriptures speak, and we are silent where the Scriptures are silent" is a profound and beautiful statement. Yet it is sometimes difficult to put into practice. If this were not so, then there would be no divisions or troubles among us. Someone may answer, "The trouble is not in our plea but in our practice."

Maybe so, but our practice depends upon our understanding of our plea. We cannot say that all who differ from us are either ignorant or dishonest. Many good brethren—honest and studious brethren—have been unable to agree on many matters. Our trouble is in our lack of understanding. We do not make the same application of our rule of interpretation.

When we say, "We speak where the Scriptures speak, and we are silent where the Scriptures are silent," we must understand that this principle has certain limitations. For example, when the New Testament specifically enjoins a certain action upon us, then we are duty bound to perform that action if we expect to please God. In all the ages when God has commanded man to do anything his only choice has been to perform the act with God's approval or refuse to do so with God's disapproval. When our Lord tells us to believe or be damned, our only choice is to believe with his approval, or disbelieve with his disapproval. When he tells us to repent or perish, our only choice is to repent with his approval, or refuse to do so with his disapproval. When he tells us to confess him before men if we would be confessed before his Father in heaven, or deny him before men and thus be denied before his Father in heaven, then our only choice is to do what he says or take the consequences. When he says, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God," then our only choice is to be born of water and of the Spirit, or stay out of the kingdom of God. These are specific commands; they cannot be altered or changed, without the disapproval of Almighty God.

Many of the principles taught by our Lord are relative in nature. To illustrate: The Lord has very definitely told us to love one another. Nobody questions this command. Many think it primarily signifies a very pleasant attitude, a kindly smile on the face, and a sweet disposition. There are others who seem to think that love manifests itself through helpful deeds only. Still others have the idea that love is primarily concerned with combating error and making an all out "for the truth." In between these different conceptions there is every conceivable shade of difference in views. Hardly any two of us have identical conceptions. We can hardly say that only one class is honest while all others are dishonest. Furthermore, it would be difficult to determine from the Word of the Lord how many debts of charity must be performed to show our love for one another, just how much we should smile and talk about love, or just how much we should talk about contending for the truth while combating error.

In like manner, the principles of mercy, goodness, justice, righteousness, and meekness, must be regarded in the same light that we regard the principles of love. Every individual who claims to be a Christian recognizes the value of these principles. Ask anyone if their observance is absolutely necessary in order to be acceptable in the sight of God, and we get an affirmative answer. But the practice of these principles varies with each and every individual, as he understands them.

The same may be said of many opposite terms. For example, all of us agree that worldliness, contentiousness, reveling, quarrelsomeness, covetousness, and laziness are all sinful before God. But here again our conception of those terms differs with each individual. We could devoutly wish that all of us had a little clearer conception of the exact meaning of such terms, so that we could be more closely united in our thinking and in our practice. Some may wonder why the all-wise God did not make all such terms clear.

If God had given us a book big enough to have defined every command and every principle of living so clearly that there could be no misconception, the whole world would not have contained it. In the light of our knowledge of love, mercy, goodness, kindness, etc., we must settle each and every case which arises to the best of our ability, in the light of our knowledge of God's word. It would have been as impossible for the framers of our constitution to have set forth laws which could have settled every case in advance of a court decision as it would have for God to have given us laws so clear and explicit that each individual could make an immediate and correct decision of every individual case arising.

When I start out in my car on a day's drive, I usually encounter several individuals trying to flag me down for a ride. No doubt many of these are worthy, and it would be an act of kindness for me to help them. On the other hand, many are professional "bums" or criminals. Picking up "hitchhikers" is now considered both foolish and dangerous. When Jesus said, if a man would force you to go with him a mile, "go with him two," he gave a general principle which should be practiced. Yet trying to put it into practice by hauling "hitchhikers" today may be a far cry from the actual meaning that Jesus had in mind. Certainly there is room for a great deal of disagreement here. So it goes in the practice of other principles set forth in the word of the Lord.

But we must not confuse specific acts for general principles. Baptism is a specific act, for which there is no substitute, while love is a general principle. No man can go to heaven without loving God and his fellow man, but the practice of the principle of love varies in each individual case.

God did not tell us how to baptize. He did tell us to baptize, and baptism means a dipping. But whether we dip a man face forward, backward or sideways is not set forth in the word of the Lord. The manner in which this is done is not stated. This is true regarding any and all other acts which Jesus commanded. He told us to sing, to pray, to teach, to eat of the bread and drink of the fruit of the vine, and to give of our means in our worship. But he did not go into detail on the how. Playing on mechanical instruments of music as an act of worship is to add to our worship. This is forbidden by the word of the Lord. But anyone who attempts to make a law on how our teaching should be done is going beyond what is written. He is not remaining silent where the Scriptures are silent. Here is where a great many of our brethren have missed the meaning of our rule of interpretation.

The Lord has told us to teach; he has told us what to teach; but he never told us how. Neither has he told us the when or where. In New Testament times we find the apostles teaching not only every time they had an opportunity to do so, but in every place they had an opportunity of doing so. From this we infer that we should do likewise. This is why we teach from the pulpit, in the classroom, on the radio, on the street corner, in homes, or in a school building.

To show how complicated the application of God's law is in some respects let me cite a very homely example. A certain preacher had argued for many years that any person who had been divorced and remarried, "except for fornication," could not become a Christian or live a Christian life while married to someone else. One day a colored woman who was working for the preacher in his home, and who had been divorced, told him she was fixing to marry again. He lectured her at length on the sin she was about to commit. He told her in no uncertain terms that she would be forever lost if she did so.

The colored woman finally asked, "Ever' woman's got a right to one husban', ain't she?"

The preacher replied, "Yes, but you've already had one."

The colored woman then answered, "Yassuh, but dat man was already marr'ed and divorced when I marr'ed him; and accordin' to you, I wasn't marr'ed to him in de fust place. So I figers I got a right to marry my man now."

This homely example shows the difficulty in attempting to make the rule originally set forth by Thomas Campbell apply in every act of life. When Campbell announced the rule that "We speak where the Scriptures speak, and we are silent where the Scriptures are silent," he had no thought of trying to make it apply to each and every Christian act. He was thinking solely in terms of the fundamental acts of obedience, necessary in becoming a child of God, and in the acts of Christian worship. In fact, this rule grew out of a contention over whether or not members of the different groups of the Presbyterians should all be admitted to the Lord's supper. When Thomas Campbell came to this country he found the Presbyterians so divided, and so hostile to one another that they did not admit those who differed from them to their fellowship, or to participation in the communion. Actually Mr. Campbell was trying to find a basis on which they could all agree, and which would admit them all into one body and communion. However, the rule he announced had a more far reaching effect. It was immediately applied to the terms of admittance into the church, as well as the acts of public worship. In the process of time many have attempted to apply this principle to each and every Christian act or deed. Here is where we have run into so much trouble. We should never accept any less acts of primary obedience to the gospel than the Lord has set forth, nor should we add any which he has not given. Furthermore, we should neither add to nor subtract from the items of public worship. But we should be careful in the practice of everyday Christianity that we do not become so unreasonable in our application of our fundamental rule of interpretation that we create an intolerable division in the body of Christ.—Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Failing To Study The Bible

J. C. Choate

One of our greatest freedoms is that of being allowed to study the Bible. We may learn of the many blessings of God through the word of the Lord (Eph. 1:3). Through a study of the Scriptures we are made free (John 8:32). Only the truth can show us the way to heaven and above all, only the truth and obedience to it can take us there (John 14:6; 17:17). We have a wonderful privilege of studying the Bible and we are instructed to do so (2 Tim. 2:15).

At the same time, people fail to study the Bible. There are always many who make the old excuse, "I just don't have time to study the Bible." Those who make such remarks are not really interested in their soul's salvation. After all, when people fail to hear the word of the Lord, there is a neglect of salvation (Heb. 2:3). God will not accept man's excuses in any form or fashion (Luke 14).

No wonder so many people don't know of God and his Son Jesus. It is no wonder that there are so many people in sin and confusion. All of this comes about through ignorance. Ignorance will destroy and tear down that which is right. This should cause us to recognize even more the great importance of a knowledge of the word of God.

Why are there so many religious people in division and error? The answer comes quick. A lack of knowledge of the Bible. When people understand the truth, there is no division in obeying that truth (John 17).

We should study the Bible every day of our life. We ought to take every advantage possible in knowing more about the truth. By doing this very thing, we may better teach the principles of the gospel (Rom. 1:16; Mark 16:15, 16). Please consider these things and take the gospel to poor lost souls. Let us take an advantage of this wonderful freedom of studying the Bible.

What Does The Bible Say?

They Also Sin Who Stand By

Millions of citizens who professed to believe in the God of the Bible stood by without protesting while Hitler and his fanatical followers killed 6,000,000 Jews. This dramatically illustrates the principle of "guilt by consent." There is a cosmic struggle going on between good and evil, God and Satan. If we merely "stand by" while others do wrong we share in their guilt.

Today in our study of Acts we find Paul confessing his own sin of "consent to wrong" before he was converted to Christ. "And when the blood of thy martyr Stephen was shed, I also was standing by, and kept the raiment of them that slew him" (Acts 22:20). Paul did not throw a stone, but he was guilty of "approving, and keeping the garments of those who killed him." By failing to speak out in defense of Stephen, by standing by in a time when positive action was demanded, he shared in the guilt of those who killed the first Christian martyr.

Millions in America are guilty in the same manner today. They profess to believe in God, in Christ, in the Bible, in the church of the New Testament. Yet, they refuse to obey the gospel, to become active Christians, to support the "faith once for all delivered to the saints" (Jude 3). Oh, they would not think of throwing a stone through the window of the house of worship. They would not vote to close the doors of the church house, or to imprison gospel preachers. Yet, in the mighty conflict between Christ and Satan, between truth and error, between faith and godlessness, they "stand by." Jesus said that "he that is not with me is against me." By their refusal to confess their faith in Christ, to ardently support the cause of Christ, they give aid and comfort to the enemy.

You don't have to break all the ten commandments, become an aggressive atheist, and join the Communist party in order to oppose Christ and his church. All you have to do is to "stand by" and refuse to defend the faith by your influence. To do nothing in this life and death struggle is to "approve" those who are putting forth every effort to destroy Christianity, to lure our young people into every form of sin.

Which side are you on? Are you standing by giving consent to wrong and error? May I appeal to your better self. Trust in God and obey the gospel of Christ and dedicate your life to the advancement of the kingdom of God on earth. You can be just a Christian with no creed but Christ, no rule of faith but the Bible.

Houses in Which To Eat

Jack Meyer

In last week's editorial, information was given of the very liberal and unanimous agreement of our elders and deacons, in the monthly business meeting of February 5th, to make one of the large rooms in the basement of our Bible school building into an efficient kitchen, greatly improving the serving arrangements we have had for many years. Among the four elders and seven deacons present, not one objection was made to having kitchen and serving facilities, this was having been a part of the fellowship program of Tenth & Francis for many, many years. In some parts of the country our people are opposed to "a kitchen in a church building." Where they are sincere in this (and we believe that most of them are sincere), we must respect their convictions as we seek to show them that they are mistaken. We have no agitation against such affairs in Tenth & Francis, and our people for years, including elders and deacons, have felt that our "eating in the church building" was within the scriptural permission for fellowship. Although we have no trouble over that issue in Tenth & Francis, on the other hand there are often good people within even this congregation who raise the question as to the propriety of such procedure, especially when they often come from congregations objecting to lunches in church buildings. In view of the report in last week's issue of "Gospel Visitor" regarding our new kitchen plans, now is an appropriate time to give notice to these matters.

About the only passage of scripture used to oppose eating in church buildings is 1 Cor. 11:22: "What? Have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? Or despise ye the church of God, and shame them that have not? . . ." Also, vs. 34: "And if any man hunger, let him eat at home; that ye come not together unto condemnation . . ." Many good people quote these passages and think they have proved their opposition to all eating in church buildings.

Instead of proving their point, they have really lifted a scripture out of its context and applied it to something not even remotely within the range of said scripture. I do not mean that they have done this deliberately. The error is usually a sincere one, but it is a grievous error, just the same. The scripture in 1 Cor. 11 was condemning the Corinthian church for mixing the Lord's supper with a meal. By beginning with vs. 20, the reader can establish that as the rest of the chapter is read. Paul was not even discussing the question of having any sort of a common meal in the church building. He was discussing having a common meal in the church assembly, and mixing the Lord's supper with it. The expression of vs. 20, "this is not to eat the Lord's supper," in the King James Version is rightly explained as "It is not possible to eat the Lord's supper," in the American Standard Version. And the scholarship of the world will support that view of the original language of the New Testament. They intended to eat the Lord's supper, "but by unworthy behavior neutralized their purpose." (Expositor's Greek New Testament). The comment of the apostle Paul as to their having houses to eat and drink in certainly sets forth the ordinary place for such eating, but even that comment is to be applied to the thing he was condemning: the assembling for worship and eating a common meal at that time. We can also say that our houses are to eat and to drink in, and that the common meal of the house should not be mixed with the Lord's supper and the assembly worship. But can't we worship in a house where we have a common meal, even IF the common meal is in a church building where we worship, if that common meal is no part of a worship service? Even though they are honest in their contention, this is one of the most glaring exhibitions of the wrong application of scripture on record—applying what Paul said to a common meal in worship with the Lord's supper to any meal in a church building when it is not a part of worship.

Good people often get confused on this because they have an idea that a church building is a sacred place—and that idea is NOT in the New Testament. That error is at the bottom of objections to social gatherings in general in a church building. Along with this is the idea that "it is sectarian," just because the sects do it. It is wrong when it violates either the letter or the spirit of the New Testament, whereas social gatherings and meals in church buildings promote Christian fellowship.

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

Here is another illustration of what may be done if only our people would rise to the opportunities that are constantly before our eyes. There does not appear in any area greater possibilities for the extension of the cause of Christ in the hearts and lives of men than in the Rocky Mountain Region of the western portion of our own great country. From the western part of Texas to the Pacific and from Canada to Mexico there is presented a vast empire of yet undeveloped natural resources. A rapidly expanding population in the United States must be supplied with food and all the necessities of life. New fields must be entered and explored. And many thousands of engineers are already entered into this great area in building dams, irrigation systems, mining, agriculture, minerals and vastly potential petroleum areas. We are delighted to hear from Brother Bishop, one of many who are interested in this fruitful field for the cause of the Savior of men.

The Cause of Christ Is Growing In Billings, Montana

By Linwood E. Bishop

Brother Clinton Brazil, minister of the gospel in Bozeman, speaking of the possibilities for the work here in Billings, said in substance, "These brethren are perhaps afforded the greatest opportunity in the state. May they fully realize their opportunity and the responsibility it imposes, and may they use it to the honor and glory of God." Even though I have had no opportunity to visit the other communities in Montana, judging from what I have read and been told with reference to them, and from my observation of the possibilities here I would say that Brother Brazil was probably right.

Billings is a thriving city of more than 50,000 population, located in the beautiful Yellowstone Valley, in the south-central part of the "Treasure State." It is the commercial and industrial "hub" of a vast area of the great northwest. It is served by three Air-lines, three Railroads and numerous highways. It has three radio stations and has been granted permits for two television stations. It is one of the fastest growing communities in the northwest. Just yesterday on a news broadcast I heard the commentator say that building permits granted the first six months in this year were more than eleven per cent above those granted for the first six months in last year. A new district of some 3,500 was taken into the city last week. Other districts will soon be included. Business opportunities in almost any field are practically unlimited. Many of the old established firms are doubling their facilities. Practically every denomination in the city either has recently built, or is now in a building program, or is getting ready to build in the near future.

Being located in a valley, and surrounded on three sides by mountains, and protected on the north by a 300 foot "rim-rock" which borders the city, Billings does not suffer from the severe Montana winters as do some of the other communities in the state. It seldom gets colder than 20 degrees below zero here in Billings, whereas in many other communities it gets 40, 50 and even 60 below.

The church in Billings was started by the D. A. Sommer group in about 1907, according to the best information I have; although the present congregation dates back to about 1932. The cause had been greatly handicapped most of the time from its beginning because of a lack of competent leadership, lack of adequate facilities, and lack of finance. During the depression days a small building was purchased for the sum of $1,000, and it has served as a place of worship until this time. It had a bad reputation when our brethren obtained it, and I am afraid it has not improved greatly since. It has a seating capacity of a little over 100 in the auditorium, and room for five small classes in the basement.

During the past three or four years, since the beginning of the development of oil and other industries in this area, many families from states where the church is relatively strong have moved here to make their homes, and of course, among that number have come some loyal and faithful Christians. These Christians have brought with them new courage, faith, hope, zeal, yea new life for the cause of our Lord in Billings.

I do not say of course, that there were no faithful Christians here before; for I believe the opposite to be true, and that there have been a few Christians here all along. But, they were few in number, inexperienced, most of them relatively untaught, and financially poor. I am sure that some of them did the best they could under the circumstances, and at the time.

What I am saying is this, these "newcomers" have greatly strengthened the cause of Christ and increased its potential greatly. They have caught the vision of the opportunities and the need, and they propose to do something about it. They realized that very little could be accomplished under present conditions, and as long as we remain in the present building and location. So they set about to provide a better place. A building site 142 x 170 ft. in one of the better sections of the city was purchased at a cost of $5,500. (It has increased in value since it was purchased). We now have approximately $5,000 cash and perhaps another $1,000 in pledges in our building fund. We have been offered $6,000 for the present property. We have building plans and blueprints paid for, and our contribution is averaging between $125, and $150 per week at the present time. We have been relentlessly seeking a loan, but as yet have been unable to secure one. We believe that with a $25,000 loan, by the time we could complete the building we could match it with another $25,000 (including what we have), and with a great deal of donated labor we can build a $100,000 building for $50,000. The contract bids we have had run between $90,000 and $110,000. We know this is beyond our reach, so our only hope is to build it ourselves.

All of us who are acquainted with the conditions here realize that we have little room for growth, and that little can be accomplished as long as we remain in our present building. Therefore our greatest immediate need is a new building. About the only thing at present standing in the way of that new building is a small matter of a $25,000 loan, which we intend to secure if there is any possible way. We believe we can repay the loan at the rate of $400 per month.

I am being supported by the Broadway church in Lubbock, Texas, the Dimmitt, Texas church, and the Logan Street church in Denver, Colorado, in order to enable the church here to build. The elders of the above mentioned churches, the brethren here and I believe that with a new building and under present community conditions we can in two or three years build a good strong fully self-supporting congregation here in Billings. After that a second congregation could be established, then a third and fourth and so on. Jesus said, "All things are possible to him that believeth." "Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief."

NOTE: Those who know Brother Bishop will agree that he is capable of accomplishing a great work in Billings. We would like to encourage Christians in various walks of life to consider Billings as a place to earn their living and serve in the church.—M. Norvel Young.

Our building, recently constructed, is on the corner of Sullivan Street and Forest Avenue.

C. B. Thomas, Corpus Christi, Texas, August 10: The greatest vacation Bible school ever conducted by the Ayers and Lawnview Street Church of Christ has just closed. Brother Miller, our new educational director, is proving his worth to us in the teaching program of the church.

Sam Medford, Creswell, Oregon, Route 1, Box 456: The London church has just closed a gospel meeting with Grover W. Hollon doing the preaching. Brother Hollon is the regular minister here now. He is a young man well versed in the scripture and he preaches just plain gospel sermons that any one can understand. Paul Randall and Foy Martin, members of this church did the song leading well. When in Oregon, come to London, twelve miles south of Cottage Grove, that friendly church where you are a stranger but once.

I go next to South San Church of Christ, San Antonio, for a meeting when they open their new building. Then to Burnet, Texas, October 19-25. When in San Antonio, worship with us at Government Hill Church of Christ, corner Mason and N. New Braunfels Avenue.

O. K. Alexander, 2612 Mission Street, Fort Worth 9, Texas, August 11: Three confessed wrongs in a ten days gospel meeting at Doole, Texas, which closed Sunday night. We began a seven nights meeting at Hext, Texas, last night. Danny Warden of Irving, Texas, is leading the songs in a fine way in these meetings. I would like to book some more meetings for this fall and next year.

F. S. Harper, Box 194, Woodbury, Tennessee, August 12: I began work with the church at Woodbury on June 14th. We have started off in a good way. The attendance and interest are good. One has been baptized and one restored. Our vacation Bible school was well attended with one hundred and forty-five average attendance. Athens Clay Pullias will preach in a meeting here beginning August 23rd.

James B. Scott, 722 E. Van Buren, Harlingen, Texas, August 13: A fine man, a highway patrolman, was baptized at the morning service here last Sunday, and two placed membership with us. A class for servicemen has been begun at the Harlingen Air Force Base on Tuesday evenings of each week. If you know of servicemen stationed at this base, we shall appreciate having their names, so that we may contact them.

Murrey W. Wilson, Mt. View, Oklahoma, August 8: Brother V. E. Howard closed a meeting here August 2. He was more dynamic and forceful in the presentation of the truth than ever before. His stand for the truth cannot be surpassed. Two were baptized and five were restored. I have accepted work with the church in Bentonville, Arkansas. My new address after August 10 will be 204 F. St., S. W., Bentonville, Ark.

E. Lacy Porter, Huntingdon, Tennessee, August 11: Brother Geo. W. DeHoff was with us during our meeting. Two were restored and one baptized. We had a good meeting at Shaddy, near Grove Spring, Mo., without any visible results. I also conducted a Bible school during this meeting. I am now at Gardner, Tenn. Two were baptized Sunday afternoon. Beginning August 20 I have promised to be in a meeting at Mammoth, Mo.

Murray Marshall, 309 South 15th, Frederick, Oklahoma, August 10: The South Side church here concluded a great revival in the City Park August 5 with Foster Ramsey of Tipton preaching. Alvin Bryan of Nashville, Tenn., led the singing. Six were baptized and two restored. Then Sunday, August 9, one more was baptized, one restored, and one placed membership. These good results are the outcome of plain gospel preaching, personal work, and the zeal of some working members. I am at Foster, Oklahoma, August 10-18 in a gospel meeting.

Roy Burgess, Maysville, Alabama, August 12: The meeting in Maysville closed last evening with sixteen responses: six baptized and ten reclaimed. Brother Lindsay Allen did the preaching in a wonderful way. Our effort with the McMahan congregation, near Morrison, Tennessee, also closed with much interest and nineteen responses: 14 baptized and five restored. To God be all praise! My new address after September will be Zellwood, Florida.

Wayne Hargrove, 5317 South Park Blvd., Houston, Texas, August 13: Last Sunday, the hottest day of the year locally, the MacGregor Park congregation set new all-time attendance records of 307 in Bible School, 203 in evening service, and 437 in the two morning services. Four men and women confessed faults and placed membership, one of them having been out of duty for the past twenty years. Three men and one lady have been baptized in the past four weeks, and several have placed membership. We plan to move into our added classrooms September 13.

Stanley Lockhart, P. O. Box 391, Friona, Texas, August 4: Our work with the Friona, Texas, church will be terminated in the next few weeks and, the Lord willing, we shall begin work with the Austin Avenue congregation in Levelland, Texas. The past three years in Friona have been very pleasant. The congregation has enjoyed a fine increase in attendance and the program for this year calls for an average of $235.35 per week. There is harmony in the congregation and any one selected for the work will find a fine congregation. If interested, write me. Send recommendations.

M. Lloyd Smith, 608 Peardale Lane, Longview, Washington August 3: The Bailey-Scherling debate conducted at Vancouver, Washington, July 20-24 on the "Supremacy of Conscience," was a great success for the truth. This was the third time, these men had met in public debate on this subject, therefore, both speakers were well versed on the subject. Near the conclusion of the debate Mr. Scherling said, "I'll shed all the Scriptures given with new arguments." The audience laughed. So, Mr. Scherling was forced to deny the Bible before the debate closed. This debate is to be printed. It is being prepared now.

Arthur W. Francis, Jr., Box 324, Sioux City, Iowa, August 14: This is to inform all of our many friends among the readers of the good old Firm Foundation that our son, Charles, seems to be making slow but sure progress back from the long road of Polio and its crippling effects. He has begun to sit up for a few moments now and is regaining some use of his left arm. His back and right leg are still making improvements also. We appreciate your prayers and many expressions of friendship and love. Please continue to pray with us for his complete recovery. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.

Thomas Allen Robertson, 2454 Belle St., San Bernardino, California, July 28: On July 19, 1953, I brought to a close two years of labor with the church in Ontario, Calif. I am now working with the church in San Bernardino, Calif. The church in Ontario, is as a whole, one of the best churches in southern California, or we may say, anywhere. Our labors there were as nearly completely enjoyable as is possible in this life. The church there will support the truth to the fullest extent. While we were with the church in Ontario we saw it grow and develop in almost every way. During our stay there, there were one hundred and seven additions, twenty-seven baptisms, forty-seven restorations, and thirty-eight placing membership. We are looking forward to a pleasant and profitable work with the church here. This church seems to be in splendid shape to go forward. Brother Wright Randolph has done a splendid work here for the past ten years. As a sound gospel preacher, Brother Randolph has few equals and even fewer peers. In the services here last Sunday, there were two restorations and two placed membership. All of my correspondents will please note my change of address.

Paul S. Gray, Box 573, Bowie, Texas, August 15: The meeting at Bonita came to a close without any additions. The attendance was good, attention of the best, and co-operation from surrounding congregations very good and much appreciated. Attendance and contributions have been somewhat off here for the past few weeks. September 16 to 27, I will be in a meeting with the new congregation in Ashland, Kentucky, which meets in a new basement meeting house at 30th Street and Carter Avenue. This will be their first meeting. October 4-14, I shall be in a meeting at Shaw Avenue in Cleveland, Ohio.

Bill Morgan, Box 445, Newport, Rhode Island, August 1: The College Street church of Christ in Waxahachie, Texas, will send their evangelist, W. E. Kirk, to preach in a meeting with the congregation in Newport, R.I., August 16-23. It is our prayer that this meeting will be a means of getting the pure gospel to many for the first time. We also hope to restore members of the military services who have not been faithful to the Lord's work. Average attendance here in a work less than a year old has grown steadily from thirty-one in March to eighty in July. Our contributions also have increased from thirty-six dollars to ninety dollars over the same period of time.

B. G. Dobson, Box 529, Vivian, Louisiana, August 10: Brother J. R. Colvin of Ringgold, Louisiana, was with us in a series of gospel meetings July 20-27. There were many visible results, although no additions to the church. Brother Colvin shows evidence of loving the Lord. The first Lord's day in this month we had the largest attendance since moving into our new building with the exception of the opening date. Our contribution was $315. Yesterday a middle-aged couple were baptized into Christ. The man had been a member of a denominational church. When passing this way, worship with us. The building is located in the north part of town on highway 8.

G. W. Weatherford, Collinsville, Texas: We just closed a ten day meeting and Vacation Bible School with T. A. Shaver of Garland doing the preaching. Results of the effort were two baptisms and four restorations. Brother Shaver is one of our young men in the Lord's work who shuns not to declare the whole counsel of God. If you need someone to make clear the way, you need not fear to call him. This was our third meeting with him and each year we could tell he had grown in the work of preaching the gospel. That is as it should be, no matter what age we are, or how lowly our calling. God expects growth as long as we live. We are nearing the end of our fifth year with this congregation and have seen quite a growth and a determined effort on the part of the members to develop into maturity in the Lord's work. We have never labored where the cooperation of the church has been better.

Max T. Neel, 2700 Pine Avenue, Waco, Texas, August 10: We preached our last sermon at Herring yesterday morning in a wonderful service. Four were restored at the morning service and two at the evening service. The Sunday before, five were baptized and three restored. We closed a meeting at Aquilla last night with six being baptized and two restored. The Lord willing, we begin our labors with the Lawndale church in Houston next Sunday, August 16. Our work at Herring Avenue has been the most wonderful work we could have asked for. We are deeply grateful. Our new address in Houston will be 5651 McCormick. Correspondents please note.

Leonard C. Waggoner, Olney, Texas, August 13: Brother John H. Banister just concluded a ten day meeting here last night. Large crowds and good interest prevailed throughout the meeting. Five were restored during the meeting. The church was greatly edified as the result of his forceful and effective preaching. It was a great pleasure to be associated with this great man of God. He endeared himself to the church in Olney. I begin a ten day meeting at Newcastle next Monday night, August 17-26 with services at 8 o'clock each evening. Brother Roy Holland, Jr., preaches for the church in Newcastle. Our work in Olney continues to grow and be blessed. Pray for us.

Malcom P. Hinkley, 3034 E. Gage Avenue, Huntington Park, California, August 12: In the past three weeks, two have been restored. A new record has been achieved in contributions. I have just returned from accompanying Brother John Wolfe on a trip to Ojocaliente, Mexico, where we at Huntington Park are helping and where Brother Wolfe conducted a gospel meeting. Before I left, four had already made the confession, with the likelihood that others will also become Christians and that an entire Christian church will take its stand with unadulterated New Testament teaching. Brother Wolfe is to be commended for his fine work with the Mexican people. The church is growing in Mexico.

Doyle Banta, Box 205, West Helena, Arkansas, August 9: Two baptized and eight restored at Shiloh near here in my meeting that closed last night. We are having our best summer with house full each Sunday. We begin full support of Brother Ju Kup Dong at Ulsan, Korea, September 1. One of the elders, with his family, moved to Tilton, N. H., on August 10. He and his family are well grounded in the truth. They have lived here several years. If you know of any members around there, then write him: Charles Davis, Route 1, Box 174, Tilton, N. H. There are seven in his family. Five are members and the others will be when they are old enough. They will begin worship immediately in Tilton.

H. McDonald, Box 457, Rising Star, Texas, August 12: It has been some time since I sent in a report. I do enjoy reading the Firm Foundation, and all the reports of the brethren everywhere. Since the first of the year there have been 23 to respond to the call. We have had two very fine meetings, one in the spring by Brother E. R. Harper. Some very fine preaching was done in this meeting. The church was helped in many ways, as well as two being baptized into Christ. Our latest meeting in July with Brother Mack Kercheville doing the preaching was a very fine meeting; seven were baptized. All were grown people and all came out of denominations. We feel that we couldn't have done better in our selection of Brother E. R. Harper and Brother Mack Kercheville for our meetings this year. The church here continues to go forward. Peace prevails in the congregation. The eldership we appreciate for their working together, and weighing of matters carefully to keep the church well grounded and settled and moving forward. I was in a meeting in Silsbee, Texas, July 20-29. There were two baptisms. Good interest was manifested throughout the meeting. The church there seems to be doing good under the elders and the preaching by Brother Murphy McNell. I am in a good meeting now at Cottonwood, Texas. Brother L. Q. Robinson labors there. I will be in a meeting with the brethren in Monahans, Texas, in October, this year. When coming our way, worship with us. Pray for us.

Tice Elkins, 1523 Cuba Avenue, Alamogordo, New Mexico, August 11: This is to inform those who began to believe me in saying I could soon go out to work, and have invited me to visit them, that a check up yesterday with my physician put an end to my hopes for some time yet. Next time I feel like going, I will go and say nothing about it until I get there. I am sorry to have raised false hopes in so many. But it is so hard to sit here idle, and try to keep something to live on, pay expenses, without working. That keeps me ill longer than if I never had any hope of working again. If I knew I never could, I might resign myself to such an awful fate. Remember us in your prayers always. Blessings upon every one.

George T. Elkins, Jr., Jefferson City, Missouri, August 14: Brother David Coffman of Novice, Texas, has just closed a ten-night tent meeting here. There were no additions or subtractions but interest from the denominational groups was excellent and many good prospects were contacted. The church here is now supporting a preacher full time and conducting a local radio program weekly. The attendance has been on the increase and the future looks promising. Brother Coffman came to Missouri free of any charge to hold this meeting but the church paid his expenses as well as furnishing meals and lodging for him and his family. My wife and I have just recently moved to this city to work with the church. I was formerly with the Herald of Truth in Abilene.

Bill Cofer, Hobart, Oklahoma, August 4: I have just closed a meeting at Binger, Okla., with excellent attendance each evening. There were six baptisms and one restoration. Charlie Beck is the regular preacher here and is doing an outstanding work. Services were held on the lawn, and many outsiders attended each night. I am in a meeting now at Burns Flat, Okla., and we are having good attendance at each service. Brother Albert Trent of Sentinel, Okla., conducts our meeting August 9-19. We know that he will do us a lot of good, and look forward to each lesson. The work is growing at Hobart, and plans are in the making for a new $50,000 building. When you are in this vicinity, come by and worship with us.

William M. Nelson, 969 Ash Avenue, Tempe, Arizona, August 12: I just concluded a well-attended meeting with the Cottonwood Church of Christ, Cottonwood, Arizona. The little group averages about 20 in Lord's day morning attendance but is working and worshipping in unity and striving hard together in this difficult field. Brother Oliver Kipling from Flagstaff is working as regular evangelist. He is a zealous man, faithful to the word, and is doing a commendable work. Baptized when young as a Lutheran, he later preached in the Pentecostal movement in Washington. There he learned the truth and has since been preaching the gospel of Christ. The church there can only pay Brother Kipling's transportation and yet, this with other up-keep expenses, is more than the average contribution. Here is a wonderful opportunity for a stronger congregation to send support and preach the message of Christ in a needy place. Brother Kipling is a man of early middle-age and has a fine family. Any correspondence may be sent to: Church of Christ, Box 25, Clarkdale, Arizona.

E. J. Berry, 930 Juedes Avenue, Salem, Oregon, July 30: This is the second time this month in which we can report to you that the cause of the Lord continues to increase in the Kelzer Community here in Salem. Last night, four more were baptized into our Lord—two husbands and their wives obeyed the Lord. One couple is about seventy years old and the other is a young couple whom we have been able to teach the way of the Lord before they had been led into error. Seven men and women have been baptized here this month and the prospects are excellent that others will soon become obedient, as we have a number of neighbors who attend our services and Bible study regularly each week, showing sincere interest in the truth.

Nelson Stark, Box 94, Anton, Texas: Jimmy Wood of Odessa, Texas, was with the Lawrence Street Church of Christ in a gospel meeting August 2-9 in which ten people responded to the invitation. Needless to say, Brother Wood conducted his part of the meeting in a fine way. This is the first time I have sent in a report to the Firm Foundation since I moved to Anton, Texas, just one year ago. We have had thirty responses during the year and are enjoying a good work here. This fine little congregation with only ninety members has contributed about sixty thousand dollars in the past three years. Our building was paid for last fall with a contribution of $5,028 on the first Lord's day in December. We have our budget filled for the year. When passing this way, visit with us.

Hoyt Bailey, Box 684, Quanah, Texas, August 5: It was my privilege to preach in a meeting the first of March in Andalusia, Ala., and to speak twice on the Alabama Christian College Lectureship at Montgomery, Ala. I did the preaching here in a meeting the first part of July. The church here is now broadcasting the gospel daily except Saturdays. Our Sunday program is at 9 a.m.; Herald of Truth at 12:45 p.m., and week days at 9:05 a.m. KOLJ is located at 1150 on the dial, and it is the strongest station between Wichita Falls and Lubbock. This station covers the area surrounded by Wichita Falls, Abilene, Lubbock, and Amarillo, Texas, and Anadarko and Lawton, Okla. We shall be happy for those living in this area to listen in and to write in. My next meeting is in Heavener, Okla., August 17-26.

COMMUNION BREAD FOR SALE

We keep on hand regularly a supply of fresh, pure, unleavened bread for communion purposes. Eleven wafers to the small package and three of the packages to the large carton—all carefully sealed so it will keep indefinitely. Every congregation should have on hand a good supply at all times. R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, August 3: We were made happy by an increase in attendance for both services yesterday, and with a number of visitors who were not members of the church. Our Sunday evening chart lessons are attracting quite a few. We are looking forward to the completion of our hospital, and the coming of several thousand Air Force personnel to this permanent Jet Base. We are hoping that some among that number will be Christians. If you know of any Air Force men who will be coming to Moore Field, I should like to have their names. I still contend that it would save the church a lot of trouble and embarrassment if, before they hire a preacher they would check upon him a little closer and find out his reputation from places he has formerly preached, and how he took care of his obligations. When you come to the Valley, worship with us.

J. Ed Uland, Box 828, Moses Lake, Washington, August 3: Two very fine young gospel preachers from Joshua, Texas, have just completed a week's meeting here in Cody, and we all feel that much good has been done. The big need now is for a man to locate here and continue the work started a year and a half ago. The Cody church can raise $100 per month toward the support of a man, and if some group of congregations can raise $300 more per month, a man can live in this community. Brethren, let's awake to the needs right at our own doorstep, so to speak, and put a man in this mission field. What will your congregation do toward this effort? Come up and investigate. Write to any of the preachers or elders in the surrounding area, and then let your conscience be your guide. We have enjoyed the fellowship of many tourists this summer, and they have seen the necessity and value of a congregation in this western outpost. Address all correspondence and assistance to Brother Charles D'Spain, Box 817, Cody, Wyoming. My family and I will begin working with the congregation in Moses Lake, Washington, about August 23. We are looking forward to a fine field of labor, and wonderful opportunities in the Columbia River Basin mission field. Brother Reuel Lemmons has just completed a gospel meeting there, and did much good. Come out in the west and help us build the kingdom of our Lord, as the opportunities are great and work of all kinds is plentiful. If you know of anyone who is moving into the Moses Lake area, send us their name and address and we will contact them. We will have a weekly program over the local station there, and hope to reach many souls. Write us. Remember the work in the Northwest in your prayers, pocket books, and come out.

Granville Jones, Box 364, Stinnett, Texas, August 3: During the one year's labor just completed with this congregation, the Lord has blessed us with 31 baptisms, 21 restorations and 39 to indicate their desire to worship and labor with us, making a total of 91 precious souls added in this community. This congregation also sent me for two mission meetings during the year, as well as making substantial contributions to the needy in our community and in other places. Truly this congregation has a mind to work. We are grateful to God for the opportunity and the ability to share our blessings with others. My next meeting is to be in October with the brethren in Goodwell, Okla., where Brother John Maples preaches. When you are coming through the high plains, worship with us.

Otta Johnson, 720 W. Hull, Denison, Texas, August 15: Last Sunday was a great day for the Lord here in the Armstrong Avenue congregation. There were three baptisms. All of the three had been members of the Baptist church. One was baptized on the Sunday before last. Besides these four, six others have been baptized since my last report. Five of these were baptized in our meeting which was held by Jim Swafford, Melrose, New Mexico. I have held three meetings lately: at Colbert, Oklahoma, with two baptisms; at Pleasant Grove, in Dallas, with one baptism and one confession of faults; and at Oakwood, Texas, with three baptisms. It was a wonderful privilege to work with Brother Durward Boggs in the Dallas meeting and Brother Monroe Redding in the Oakwood meeting. Both of these men are fine gospel preachers. Any congregation that needs a preacher for a gospel meeting, would do well to use either of them. Brother Redding plans to hold more meetings in 1954. Write him if you need him.

Bob Gowen, Westwood, California, July 14: The first of May I began work with this little congregation which is located in northern California in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Since moving here we have had a meeting in which Brother Charles Swan did the preaching. It was a very fine meeting in which four young souls came forward dedicating their lives to Christ. This was the second meeting that Brother Swan has held here since the congregation was established one year ago. The harvest here is plentiful as there are five towns around us here in which the Lord's church is yet to be established. I pray that the Lord will send workers or at least some congregation will see that the workers in this area can devote their full time to the gospel. Two weeks ago a group of Christians started meeting for the first time in Quincy, Calif. This is a county seat and I believe there are four families of Christians meeting there. Brother Jack Freeman concluded a meeting there July 13th with good attendance. Brother Freeman would like to move up to help this congregation, but he also needs support. Brethren, this is truly a mission field. Pray for us for sure—help us financially if possible. If you can't send a dollar send a dime to help these young congregations. Contact Foy Simpson for the Quincy work or Denver Guess for the Westwood work. I have just returned from a meeting at Walnut Springs, Ark. (near DeQueen). Many old friends and neighbors attended the meeting. This is the congregation where I was baptized 11 years ago. Three men were added to the Lord's body. It is wonderful when any soul obeys the gospel, but especially so when members of your own family obey. One of the happiest moments of my life was when I baptized my 70 year old grandfather into Christ. The Lord's word will not return unto him void. To him be praise and glory forever. Brother James I. McFie of Grants Pass, Ore., will preach in a meeting here beginning August 3.

W. F. Showers, Box 104, Pleasanton, Texas, July 30: I closed a meeting last night in Karnes City, Texas, that resulted in one restoration. This is truly a work that is deserving of more outside help. The church here sends $50 per month to the work there and supported the meeting just concluded. Brother D. C. Jennings is the full time minister there and has been for four months—just long enough to see that the prospects are great if he can stay on the ground. The treasury is virtually depleted with just $40 left. With an average contribution of twenty-two dollars per Sunday and the $50 per month from Pleasanton, any one can see that they need help and need it now. The church in Runge, Texas, has $1000 laid aside for them in a Building Fund when they outgrow the meeting place they now have. The membership numbers about one dozen in a town of 2500 people. Consider this work seriously and write Brother D. C. Jennings, Karnes City, Texas, and tell him how much you can send regularly per week or month.

O. R. Perkins, 302 W. Calif. Street, Ruston, Louisiana, August 6: The meeting at Bernice, La., closes Saturday night of this week. I am doing the preaching in this effort. Two have been restored to their first love, and five have been baptized into Christ. We give God the glory and pray that the church will be strengthened everywhere. On Monday night, August 10, we began a gospel meeting at Step Rock, Ark. Tifen on August 21 we shall be with the church at Clinton, Ark., in a Vacation Bible School and gospel meeting. It is our prayer that much and lasting good will be done in this work. The Lord willing we are planning to return here the first of September and then the first of October go to Homer, La., to work with Brother Pete Staggs, the local minister and the church there in a gospel meeting. The work in Ruston is growing and the brethren see into have a mind to work. We expect great things of our efforts here. My brother, E. G. Perkins, from Putnam, Texas, is doing the preaching here while I am away in meetings. May all saints remember us in prayers. We give thanks to God always for you.

Oscar O. Cooner, Spartanburg, South Carolina, August 17: Since I came here March 1, and began work with the Central congregation, two have been restored to their first love. Everything seems to be going nicely with much room for growth. Remember the work in the Carolinas in your prayers.

Maurice A. Meredith, Box 1222, Richland, Washington, August 4: Brother G. Willard Collins, vice president of David Lipscomb College, closed a fine gospel meeting here, last Wednesday evening. The day services exceeded all expectations and broke all records. The attendance for the night services also set all-time highs. A number made acknowledgment of wrongs, and six were baptized. The congregation is in much better condition for Brother Collins' having come. I plan to leave the last of this week to attend the Flathead Lake Encampment, in Montana, where I will teach some classes and be the evening speaker. My tract, "Dead to The Law," is in the process of being reprinted. Anyone wishing a free copy, may have the same by addressing their request to me as per the above address.

Leon Sharp, Box 325, Bronte, Texas, July 17: We moved to Bronte 32 months ago to work for the Lord with these good brethren. We are still enjoying our work with them very much. Bronte is a small farming and ranching community, with a little oil activity still. A few years ago the oil industry boomed, but now the industry has leveled off to production only and the boom is over. During that time we had several families to come and go, and their help was great, and we feel the loss greater. In 32 months we have baptized twenty; four have made confessions of fault. Our spring meeting was quite successful with Brother E. M. Steph of Ozona preaching. The vacation Bible school was also successful with a total enrollment of 105. Beginning August 2, Brother Kenneth J. Arrington of Wichita Falls, Texas, will preach for ten days and nights for us. We are looking forward to this meeting with much anticipation.

Don McMillen, Beaumont, California, August 13: A belated but strong and heartfelt amen to your editorial, "On To Neglected Fields." I recently moved to Beaumont to take the work as their first regular minister. In turn this is my first assignment as a full-time minister. I was sent here and have been supported for the most part by the Hawthorne, California, congregation. It is regrettable that more strong congregations do not support such a program. The brethren here had been meeting in an old building about a mile out of town. They have just completed a nice building in a very fine location in town with a seating capacity of around 200. I moved here on July 1. On July 13 the Hawthorne congregation sent Brother George W. McCollum, their regular minister, to hold us a meeting. Since July 1 we have had seven additions. May God receive all of the honor and glory! Brethren, how will we answer the question of the lost of Beaumont, California, in that great day, "Where was the gospel prior to July 1, 1953, in Beaumont?" Amen, Brother Showalter, ON TO NEGLECTED FIELDS!

LeRoy Davis, Box 287, Jay, Oklahoma, August 12: I just closed a meeting at Timber Hill, Oklahoma, August 5. Interest was very good, and attendance was beyond that expected. Four were baptized during the meeting, and two more the following Sunday as a result of it. I was privileged to baptize a lady 83 years of age here Sunday night. After nearly three years of fruitful work with the good congregation here, we are moving September 1 to Lawrence, Kansas, to begin work with the church at 1501 New Hampshire. Brother W. Taylor Carter, who has been preaching for the church there for several years, and who has done a wonderful work at Lawrence, is moving to Bartlesville, Oklahoma, where he will be affiliated with Central Christian College as a member of the faculty. We leave the congregation here at Jay much stronger, both numerically and spiritually. From a little, faithful band of twenty members three years ago, the church has grown to a membership of sixty, twenty-five being added by baptism, eight by restoration, and the rest by transfer of membership. We are thankful to God for his many blessings and pray that the work of the Lord may continue to prosper here as well as the new work in which we are about to engage. We are now in a meeting with Brother Jim L. Calvert of Alpine, Texas, doing the preaching. We anticipate a great meeting having begun with a large number in attendance both nights so far.

George True Baker, Eastside Church of Christ, Kermit, Texas, August 4: The Eastside church in Kermit held a singing school with Brother Holland L. Boring, Sr., teaching during the first part of June. This was followed in two weeks by a Vacation Bible School which had an average attendance of 153, the largest in our history. In July, the church sent me to Houlton, Maine, for a week's meeting. Brother Marvin R. Martin preaches for the Houlton congregation which is three years old. The church in Kermit has supported Brother Martin from the beginning of the work in Houlton. A Vacation Bible School was in progress with the Houlton church during the meeting. Assisting in the school were Brother Shirley Morgan of Unity, Maine, with two of the young ladies from the church there, and Brother Harold Thomas of Bangor with his daughter. Brother Morgan also directed the song service for the meeting. One young man was baptized during the meeting. A large number of outside people attended the services which was a tribute to the respect which Brother and Sister Martin enjoy in the community. Brother and Sister Curtis Allen of the Kermit congregation also accompanied me to Maine and provided the transportation. In my absence Brother T. J. Powell did the preaching. One was baptized here last Lord's day. I go to Celeste, Texas, to begin a meeting on Friday night before the third Sunday in this month. Vacation time has brought the usual summer slump in our work here, but there are signs that we are coming back to normal. We had a capacity audience last Lord's day. For its size the Eastside church carries a heavy load of mission and benevolent work.

The above record indicates the popularity and value of this instructive book. The truthfulness and meaning of the title is apparent to all faithful people who have studied their Bible.

Says the author: "Why should businessmen be more zealous in carrying on their business than we are in spreading the kingdom of God? Why should they manifest more wisdom in their business relationships than we do in winning souls for Christ?" Also, Christ said: "The children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light."

We might safely say that thousands of people have been led to Christ through the activities of those who have read this book.

SMITH-MORROW DEBATE

L. Reese McDougald

A four nights discussion of subjects involving the destiny of souls was held at Hickory Grove Church of Christ near Prescott, Ark., May 26-29, and was heard by people who otherwise would never have known the way of life and salvation.

The disputants, Oscar Smith, Jr., of Dudley Avenue Church of Christ, Texarkana, and R. H. Morrow, of Missionary Grove Baptist Church, Prescott, Ark., conducted themselves as gentlemen, but that doesn't mean that they "pulled punches". The lines were clearly drawn and the differences between the two churches were heatedly discussed.

Mr. W. E. Sherrill, a veteran Baptist debater, moderated for Mr. Morrow. Brother Stacks of Texarkana, moderated for Brother Smith. The atmosphere of friendliness, neighborliness, attentiveness, and tolerance that prevailed throughout the entire discussion was impressive. This good behavior and the keen interest of the public will lead me to believe that other discussions will follow in this area in the years to come.

The subjects discussed were baptism and apostasy. This debate was a decisive victory for the truth. Brother Smith pressed

Mr. Morrow from the very first night. He continually reminded Mr. Morrow that his loyalty to his "Calvinistic theology" had gotten him into the "dilemma" he was in, and suggested that a return to the plain, simple teachings of the Bible would cause his "troubles" to vanish like a "bubble." The church at Hickory Grove feels that it has been strengthened and encouraged to work more diligently for the cause.

An interesting sidelight was the appearance of Brother C. R. Nichol, that veteran defender of the truth, the last two nights of the debate.

People were heard introducing themselves this way: "I heard you defeat Ben Bogard at Shover Springs 40 years ago. . . . Drove from Bluff City in a wagon, a distance of about 40 miles."

Another: "Brother Nichol, I heard you hush Boyce Taylor at Benton, Ky., in the twenties."

Another: "Remember meeting Bogard at Crank's School House near Hope, Ark., 26 years ago."

And still another: "Brother Nichol, remember how you stopped Sherrill from calling you a 'Campbellite' at Pisgah, near Delight, Ark., 18 years ago?"

Reminded of those battles for truth of years gone by, Brother Nichol smiled. And then, saddened in all probability by the thought that some of the participants in those affrays have crossed the great divide not having obeyed the truth, he turned the conversations to other things.

SIXTH ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT CLOSES AT CAMP TANDA ON BIG BEAR LAKE, CALIFORNIA

Jack Bates

Some forty evangelists and elders from churches in the Southern California and lower San Joaquin Valley took part in the Tanda Encampment which closed Sunday, July 6th. Brother S. H. Hall of Arcadia preached at both services the first Lord's day while E. W. McMillan of Whittier served as principal speaker most of the first week. Other brethren speaking at evening services were: Nyal Royse (Los Angeles), Jean Valentine (Pasadena), Jay Durbin (Buena Park), Wayland James (Long Beach), Malcolm Hinkle (Huntingtin Park), Hugh M. Tiner (Los Angeles), and John Allen Hudson (El Monte). We are grateful to these able brethren for their willingness to leave their local work to share these fine lessons with us.

Each week-day morning began with a devotional program under the pine trees, followed by Bible classes and a discussion program. The topic of spirituality was the theme of the discussion groups both weeks of the Encampment. Brother and Sister Ralph Chase taught the adult mens' and ladies' classes respectively. There was one baptism, that of a fine young woman, aged 20 years, who is a graduate of Occidental College in Los Angeles.

Large numbers of young people were present during the Encampment since the first week a Boys' program was planned and the second week a Girls' program was conducted under skilled counsellors. These youngsters attended classes and evangelistic services and we are grateful for their presence. This is the sixth summer the Broadway & Walnut congregation has arranged the program for the Tanda Encampment on Big Bear Lake and we are encouraged by reason of the attendance, the interest shown, and the fine contributions made by brethren taking part in the Encampment. Ross McGinnis, P. O. Box 534, Taft, California, July 30: The work of the Lord continues to go forward here in Taft. The wife and I will have been with the church here one year August 17. During this time there have been a number of additions and the attendance has doubled. The church has a ten nights debate scheduled with the Missionary Baptist people which is to begin September 7 and continue through the 18 in which I am to represent the church of Christ, and E. E. Crawford of McFarland to represent the Baptists. Proposition No. 1 is, "The Missionary Baptist Church of which I, E. E. Crawford, am a member, is in fact the church of the New Testament and is in harmony with the New Testament in origin, faith, doctrine, practice, and name." Proposition No. 2 is the same as the above, except, the clause, "The Missionary Baptist Church" it is "The Church of Christ of which I, Ross McGinnis, am a member, is the Church of the New Testament." Five nights of two hours each night will be given to each of the above propositions. Also, the church has two mission meetings scheduled for the latter part of September and the first of October, one at Maricopa, seven miles east of Taft, and one at Fellows, seven miles west of Taft. If it is the Lord's will I shall do the preaching in both of the above meetings. All victories won give God the glory.

NEWSWEEK MAGAZINE WRITES ABOUT CHURCH OF CHRIST NEAR JACKSONVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

M. Norvel Young

Members of the church were gratified to notice the favorable publicity given the church in the July 27th issue of Newsweek on page 46. Of course, there were some terms used by the writers which showed that they didn't understand the undenominational nature of the church, but on the whole the article was very complimentary and it will cause a lot of people to think about the church and perhaps to visit some church of Christ near them. It tells about how in the spring of 1952 a few Marines near Camp Lejeune decided to begin meeting and in June of that year they called Brother Joe S. Hyde of Jacksonville, Alabama, to come and work with them. Then they all decided to get together and build a building. They gave $1,000 of their own and with the help of other congregations they were able to get together about $3000. They did their own work. The article includes a picture of one of the Marines and Brother Hyde. Certainly this is a commendable project and the editors of Newsweek are to be commended in their fair coverage of the story.

NEWS FROM LUSAKA, NORTHERN RHODESIA

H. E. Pierce

July has been the slowest month in our work here since December. The weather has been windy and cold for outdoor meeting. Then the boycott worked up against us by the Watchtower people and the Catholics has been quite effective. They have told all kinds of lies to keep people away from us. Whenever new people come to the compound they immediately poison them again us. We are turning more attention to personal work to try to overcome some of this evil influence. We had no additions for the month at Chilanga or Lilayi.

From the 13th to the 18th of July we took a few days to get a little change from the incessant grind of day in and day out work obligations. We went about 200 miles to the northwest of Lusaka to the north end of the Kafue National Park. We hoped to have a little rest and to see some of the game we had not been able to see. We camped on the bank of the Kafue River 62 miles from the nearest little town. You can believe me that it is wild country. There were not even any native villages within miles of us. We were in the open without any protection whatever. Some of the family may have rested but I didn't. The daytime was peaceful enough but the night was something else. I stayed up for three nights to keep a big fire burning to give what protection it would afford. The first night hippo came out of the river near our camp and gave several snorts at the sight of our lights. We weren't much bothered by them. The second night was scarcely disturbed. From midnight to daylight of the third night two lions roared with very very little rest. The next morning we moved our camp 80 miles nearer to civilization to a very nice artificial lake built and controlled by the Game and Tse-tse Department. I really enjoyed the rest of the time our with canoeing, fishing and restful quiet.

I hate to keep writing about financial difficulties but if we are to do the work for which we are here we must have more help. My appeal for a building for Chilenje received very poor response bringing less than $150 of the $3000 needed. We are still owing Frederick $1000 on our station wagon and we have not received enough monthly support to be able to pay anything on it recently. We also badly need a home of our own here because rent is costing us $56 a month which we can hardly pay and carry on our work. Any help toward the building should be sent direct to me by check. Any help toward the station wagon debt or monthly support should be sent to L. E. Mitchell, Box 833, Frederick, Okla.

Thanks very much for the space allowed us for these reports. May God continue to bless you and the Firm Foundation in the great work done.

LATIN-AMERICAN WORK AT

Burl B. Brockman

The latter part of March we moved here to preach to the Spanish-speaking people in this locality. Attendance to the services has been as high as 45 per service. During this time there have been no baptisms but there is still good interest and we look forward to the time when we will be able to baptize several who will have a conviction and grow spiritually.

On the night of July 25, 1953, Brother Jose V. Dias of San Antonio debated Mr. Pedro Salinas (Pentecostal) of Oakville, Texas. The debate was held in the Anglo church building and attendance was well over 200 Latin-American people in the building with many staying on the outside. Mr. Salinas affirmed, "The Pentecostal church is a New Testament church." Brother Dias denied. Salinas, being ignorant of how to debate, spent his first affirmative speech (30 minutes) reading to the crowd the creed of the Pentecostal church. Brother Dias used most of his time teaching the crowd of some basic Bible truths. He answered well any arguments presented by Mr. Salinas. Order throughout the discussion was excellent and we appreciate the fact that there are to be two more sessions at later dates.

Elders, preachers, members of the body of Christ, what have you done in your community toward reaching the Latin-Americans? Do you knock only doors of the white skinned, using the excuse that "I don't speak Spanish"? Brethren, they are taught secular subjects in school. They can if someone will be taught the gospel in the English language. Read what Peter said in Acts 10:34 and ask yourself, "What excuse do I have for at least not trying to convert the persons who speak Spanish but can also be taught Christ in English?"

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

We are still striving to serve the Lord in an acceptable manner at Gordon Church of Christ, Post, Texas. The work is growing spiritually, but will state just here that Brother Jesse Eubanks of Lueders, Texas, closed his work with us June 28. Brother Eubanks has been with us about three and one-half years. We are glad to say that his work has been a pleasure with all concerned. We surely regret his leaving. We have grown both in spirit and number. Brother Eubanks left the Gordon Church of Christ with no ill will in any way. His reason for closing his work is due to the fact that he had to drive from Lueders, some 150 miles each Lord's day, and back after services at night which, of course, were long and tiresome hours, therefore he thought it best to take a rest. Now we would be glad to recommend Brother Eubanks to any congregation who wants the faith taught as it is in Christ Jesus. We esteem him highly in the doctrine he espouses, and the life he lives. We now have with us Brother Morris McFarlin, from Lubbock, Texas. We hope to continue to march forward in the army of Christ.

W. A. Harrison, Box 46, Burns Flat, Oklahoma, August 4: It has been some time since I have reported concerning the work here through the Firm Foundation. Nevertheless we have been doing our best in advancing the cause of Christ in this community. I am a constant reader of the Firm Foundation and think it is worth its weight in the good it is doing. The Burns Flat school system is in need of a teacher that has a math major, and also able to teach history, and serve as the principal. We desire to see a faithful member of the church apply for this position. That would be an asset to the Lord's work here. The superintendent here is a member of the church. There are also one or two others in the school system who are members. If you are interested, contact Asa Marshall, Superintendent, Burns Flat School, Burns Flat, Okla. The church work here goes well. At the present time we are in the midst of a very promising gospel meeting with Brother Bill Cofer of Hobart, Okla., doing the preaching. We feel that from all indications several will respond to the gospel call as well as the church being strengthened by the timely and ably delivered lessons from God's holy word. May the prayers of faithful saints everywhere ascend to the God in heaven daily for the advancement of the Lord's work.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Are You Ready?

Paul was ready for anything that was at hand, whether it was propitious or adverse. He was ready to preach the gospel anywhere there was an open door. "So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are in Rome also" (Rom. 1:15). Rome has always been a hard place to preach the gospel. This was true when Paul said he was ready to go there. One who has the gospel committed to him should be ready any time to preach the gospel any place.

Paul was not only ready to live and preach, but he was ready to die. When this solemn time came to him, he wrote to Timothy, saying, "For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand" (2 Tim. 4:6). The only thing that makes one ready to die is preparedness. I can't think of anything more disquieting in the hour of death than a deep sense of guilt in the sight of God. Much of the anguish of the dying hour is attributable to unpreparedness to meet God.

Who is ready to die? How many are prepared to meet God? The number is very limited. The majority of people are conscious of inadequate preparation. There is always something else they want to do before they die—some error of life they want to correct. Events that settle man's eternal destiny are very serious. Life is one, and we do not take it as seriously as we should. Death is another event that concerns man's eternal destiny. It means the end of all opportunities to improve our lives. And then the judgment is the last event that settles our destiny.

Life, death and the judgment day are the three events that concern the ultimate destiny of every person. These are things that no one can escape. We cannot hire a substitute to live, die, and be judged for us. These events we must meet for ourselves. Are you ready?

Who Is On The Lord's Side?

When Moses saw the great sin of Israel in worshipping the golden calf, he said, "Who is on the Lord's side? Let him come unto me" (Exod. 32:26). It is easy for men, by a course of false reasoning, to put themselves in rebellion against God. It seems exceedingly strange that Aaron, Moses' own brother, could make up his mind that there was nothing wrong in making a golden calf to satisfy the people.

By false reasoning it may be that Aaron decided that there was no harm in it—just an instrument by which to worship the true God. But human devices are transformed into substitutes for God. This was true of the golden calf. It is true of all idols. They cause men to lose sight of the true God.

Aaron and Israel had left the Lord's side, and were over on the devil's side. They were so fascinated with their idolatry and revelry that they did not recognize the sin they had committed. Perhaps they thought they were serving the Lord in a big way. A spectacular regime always lures men away from the true path. The Lord's people will do well to review their own religious practices to see how many golden calves they are harboring.

Why I Do Not Smoke

L. R. Wilson

1. I do not smoke because it wastes my money. One who smokes one package of cigarettes a day or less is regarded as a moderate smoker. One who smokes two or more packages a day is an excessive smoker. One who smokes between one and two packages a day is an average smoker. This means that the average smoker will spend from 35 to 40 cents a day for cigarettes. Assuming that he spends 36 cents a day, this would equal $2.52 per week. Let's make this a round figure and say Mr. Average Smoker spends $2.50 per week for cigarettes. This is equivalent to $130 per year. Let us assume that he spends this amount over a period of forty years, beginning at the age of twenty and continuing until the age of sixty. This is equal to $5,200. This amount in a savings bank, drawing straight three per cent interest would amount to $2,240 over a forty year period. This added to the original sum would be equivalent to $7,440. If interest be compounded semi-annually, which it would be in a savings bank, it would more than double the amount of interest. In round numbers we can easily assume that the total amount over a forty year period would be not less than $10,000. This same amount of money would buy a very nice home, even in these modern times. If the average young man started saving this much at the age of twenty, he could easily make his down payment before he was thirty years of age, and then pay out his home with the amount of money he spent for cigarettes thereafter. Or, assuming he had only two children he could easily send both of them through four years of college on this amount. Hence, from the standpoint of dollars and cents, no young man can afford to smoke.

2. I do not smoke because it saps my energy. Many tests have been made and many claims have been put forth for different brands of cigarettes, most of which are very extravagant. But one thing stands out in all such claims: no company has ever yet claimed that cigarettes improve one's health, give one more energy, or extend one's life. The best that any company can claim for its cigarettes is that they are LESS IRRITATING to the throat and respiratory organs—this is an admission that they are all irritating. No doctor ever recommended smoking for one's nerves, for one's health, or for one's physical benefit. On the other hand, many have been told by their doctors that they would have to quit. There are many reasons to think that smoking is not only injurious to one's whole system, but may even precipitate cancer of the lungs, they may poison the bloodstream and do permanent injury to the heart. And who does not recognize that familiar cigarette cough? Let one take the least bit of cold and he sets up a "whoop." No insurance company ever considered smoking to be helpful to one's health, but often injurious. No football coach ever recommended to his players the habit of smoking. On the other hand, the best coaches forbid their players to smoke. In short, there are scores of reasons to think that smoking not only saps one's energy, but shortens one's life expectancy; while there is no reason whatever for thinking smoking ever helps one's health in any way.

3. I do not smoke because it wastes my time. Thousands upon thousands of hours are lost every day by men stopping to light a cigarette, by using one hand to hold a cigarette, which might otherwise be used either at the steering wheel of a car, on the handle of a shovel, or on papers on one's desk. Without doubt, the total man hours wasted every year from smoking alone costs our whole nation hundreds of millions of dollars. It certainly costs the big companies large sums, and actually costs the individual in many ways. If a man smokes thirty cigarettes a day and wastes only one minute of time in lighting, handling and disposing of a cigarette, then he wastes thirty minutes a day. This must be deducted from the total number of hours which he works.

4. Smoking is very destructive to property. This nation loses billions of dollars worth of property every year from fires. The actual figures show that approximately one-third of all destructive fires are caused by smoking. Hotels have been burned, factories have been blown up, millions of acres of forests have been seared, ships have been destroyed, and untold other destruction has been caused by fires starting from cigarettes. Many men have burned holes in their suits, women have burned their nice dresses, upholstery and furniture have been burned, and many other minor incidents have been caused by smoking. Our fire insurance rates could be cut approximately one-third if no one smoked.

5. I do not smoke because it is dangerous. If a third of all fires are caused by smoking, then a third of the lives lost by fires can be traced to smoking. According to the figures that I have been given, about 10,000 lives are lost yearly from fires. Then we may actually figure that more than 3,000 of these are caused by smoking. Every man considers himself a "safe smoker." He never intends to burn anything. Yet every year it continues to happen. If we reply that accidents cannot be prevented, this is to beg the question. We may never prevent all accidents, but we certainly can prevent some of them. And we could prevent all accidents caused by smoking if none of us smoked.

6. I do not smoke because of its offensive odor. The habitual cigarette smoker does not realize how offensive it is to those who do not smoke. He thinks it smells no worse to others than it does to him. It is a good deal like a billy goat who has become so accustomed to his own odors that he does not realize how bad he stinks. Cigarette smoke, especially in a crowded place, is positively sickening to the non-smoker. It seems so foolish for a concern to spend large sums of money to air-condition a coach on a train, or a nice dining hall, or some other public building, only to be "stunk" up with cigarette smoke. It is a travesty on justice for those who do not smoke who might enjoy the comfort of cool, fresh air to have to sit in a place where the smoke is so thick and sickening that it can scarcely be endured. It is not uncommon to go into an eating place and sit down at the counter and order something to eat, then about the time your order is given, someone sits down next to you and lights a cigarette and starts puffing the smoke into your face, and holding his cigarette under your very nose (because he cannot stand it himself) and let the smoke curl right up in your own eyes and nostrils. And the tragedy is that if you say anything to him about it he will insult you. Since he has thoroughly saturated his own system with such repulsive odors he assumes that everyone else should feel the same way he does. The average smoker has less regard for the rights and tastes of others than any other class of people on earth.

7. I do not smoke because it litters up my house. Hardly anything can be "messier" than cigarette ashes, struck matches and tobacco crumbs scattered around over the carpet, in the chairs, on the tables and pretty well all over the house. Cleaning up such a litter requires considerable time each day in many homes—not to mention the dirty looks of the house a big part of the time. Why cigarette smokers cannot see such things is a mystery.

8. I do not smoke because I do not want to set a bad example. I know that smoking is not a good example. Not many churches would want to see its preacher walking up to the church building on Sunday morning with a cigarette in his mouth, which he tosses out as he walks up the steps after taking his last big draw which he puffs right into the meeting house. The church would hate to see its preacher get up before an audience with a pack of cigarettes sticking out of his coat pocket or, worse still, get up before an audience in his shirt sleeves with a pack of cigarettes in his shirt pocket which could be clearly seen from all over the house. Speaking of an example: a few years ago I was introduced to a lady right near the meeting house where I was preaching. She did not say, "I am glad to meet you"; instead when told that I was the minister of the church near by, she replied, "Well, I'd be ashamed to admit it." When I asked her why, she remarked that every Sunday morning she passed in front of the church house there on her way home from her own church. She went on to state that nearly every man there was seen standing on the steps or out in front with a cigarette in his mouth. "In less than thirty minutes after church breaks up," she went on, "every kid around here is picking up cigarette stubs and smoking them." She then reminded me we were making cigarette smokers out of every kid in the community. This I could not deny.

9. I do not smoke because it weakens my will-power. Many times I have heard habitual cigarette smokers sigh, "I wish I had never started this habit," or "I wish I could quit." Every cigarette one sticks in his mouth makes it that much harder for him to quit. Nearly all smokers know this; but most of them will go on "sucking" on them until they die, even though it does shorten their lives. They simply do not have the will-power to quit. Not only does the smoking of cigarettes weaken one's will-power with respect to his smoking, but in all other respects. A man who accepts one defeat finds it much easier to accept other defeats. Cigarette smoking enslaves the will and robs a man of his power of resistance. I do not want to be a slave to any habit, and I certainly do not propose to let a stinking little old cigarette—about as big around as a pencil and half as long—enslave my will-power and sap my manhood.

10. I do not smoke because I do not want to support the tobacco barons and big advertisers. In the late 30's, when business was at a low ebb, the tobacco tycoons got their heads together and decided to put on a huge advertising campaign to make smokers out of our women, so as to increase their business. They figured it would take some ten to twenty years. To their amazement, they succeeded in five years. It did not matter to them about the health of our women, the dignity of motherhood, or anything else. All that mattered to them was an increase in their income. They succeeded so well at this job that immediately after the war they decided to launch another campaign to make cigarette smokers out of all of our high school and junior high school children. What difference did it make to them what happened to our children? All they were concerned with was a further increase in their profits. Now that they have fairly well succeeded in making smokers out of our high school and junior high school children, we cannot keep from wondering what their next step will be. They may be substituting cigarettes for baby nipples next. I have been a "sap" in a lot of things, but I do not intend for the tobacco vermin to make a sucker out of me.

"Located Evangelist"

W. W. Otey

How long may a preacher be scripturally "located" with one congregation has been a matter of much controversy for many years. During recent years the controversy seems to have become more intense than in any past period.

A good many years ago I gave the question as careful thought as I could, even in view of its importance. I arrived at the following conclusion: It is not a question of how long or how short a time a preacher may scripturally remain with one congregation. It is a question of the work he does while there. He may visit a congregation once in a lifetime and do either a scriptural or unscriptural work while there. And it is my mature judgment that he may work with one congregation for an indefinite period of time.

Let us analyze the practice of preachers and writers on both sides of the question. In so doing we can narrow it down to actual differences in practice.

All agree in theory and in practice that a preacher may visit a congregation and preach for a day, a week, or a number of weeks. Every preacher, I assume, divides his preaching so as to lead sinners to obey the gospel and to edify the church. How much time is devoted to sinners and how much time to saints, must be a matter of judgment. I think there is entire agreement in theory and practice on these statements by all parties to the controversy. If the above described practice is scriptural, and it is the practice of both groups, then there remains but one point of difference. What is the exact limit of time the preacher may continue to perform such work with one congregation. The length of time is the pivot on which the whole issue turns. If the practice of preaching the gospel to both saint and sinner is scriptural for a period of one or several weeks, at what period does it become unscriptural? Again, the length of time a preacher may render such service to one congregation is the vital point of the whole matter.

It is affirmed that many "located evangelists" are given "charge" of the church, or take "charge" and so become "pastors" in the denominational sense. Many of the best informed brethren are convinced that in many congregations this innovation exists. There is evidence that some congregations have virtually become democracies, even deciding much of their procedure by majority vote, the working instrument of democratic institutions.

It has long been my judgment that a congregation may scripturally support and direct the labors of a preacher for an indefinite period of time. At the same time it is my judgment that it is the easiest privilege to abuse and let get out of the bounds of scriptural liberty. But I can't think that is a valid argument against the liberty. Elders sometimes become ambitious and "lord it over God's heritage." But it would be unwise to refuse to appoint qualified men to serve as elders because some use the office of an elder unscripturally. No one I think, would so argue.

The words "located," "minister" and "evangelist" have been much overworked. I would not reflect on the intelligence of the mass of our brethren. I believe they rank high in old-fashioned common sense. But I doubt that many have been greatly edified by much that has been said on such matters. At least the writer has not been much enlightened by much assumed learning on some things that are written. Why not just try for a while to use the word "preacher" that most have a fair understanding of its meaning. Why not just say, "preacher"? A gospel preacher is a scriptural "evangelist," a "minister" in spiritual things, and a "teacher" of saints.

Just what is meant by "located evangelist" or "minister"? What gave rise to the expression "located evangelist"? The preacher who preaches in a meeting of ten days is as definitely "located" with a church during that time as he who remains a year or longer. The only difference is the length of time. Why not call the ten-day man the "located evangelist"? He is as definitely "located" and performs the same work as the one who remains a year. For many years no one, perhaps, was called an evangelist except those who devoted their time to preaching in short meetings. Many thought of an "evangelist" only as a traveling preacher of the gospel. But often most of his time was devoted to teaching the church that had a plurality of elders. Was he an unscriptural "pastor" for that period?

Much hairsplitting has been done trying to draw a distinct line of difference between preaching and teaching. The idea seems to be that when the sinner is led to obey the gospel that the work of the "evangelist" ends. From that point the elders or overseers alone become the teachers—that the evangelist must not enter the field of teaching the Christian. No one, I assume, will state in plain language that this is his position. But the arguments of some clearly imply that this position is held.

The sinner cannot be converted to Christ without teaching. The sinner must first be taught the facts of the gospel before he can even believe on Christ. He must be taught what sin and its penalties are before he can repent. And he must be taught what to do in order to obey Christ. Finally he must be exhorted or persuaded to yield himself in full surrender to Christ. Here is a lot of teaching that must be done before the sinner is saved. Must the preacher stop here? Is there an impassable line separating between the work of teaching the sinner and teaching the saint that cannot be crossed? Are there bounds set here forbidding the preacher from teaching the saved how to live? Again no one seems willing to state in plain words that which his reasoning clearly implies. Will someone come forward and state definitely the point beyond which the "evangelist" must not go in teaching the Christian? If there is no scriptural limit in time or place where the "evangelist" must end his work, then it must be a matter of judgment; that is, the word of the Lord does not specify the time his work must end.

Jesus commanded the apostles to "go ye there, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you" (Matt. 28:19). The first work of the apostles and of "evangelists" now is to "make disciples." Disciples can be made only by first teaching the sinner. These in turn must be "taught" to observe all things that Christ had commanded, by those who first made them disciples by teaching them. Paul wrote to Timothy to "preach the word—reprove, rebuke, exhort—do the work of an evangelist—make full proof of thy ministry"

(2 Tim. 4:2-5). The faithful gospel preacher now must preach, reprove, rebuke, exhort, and make "full proof of his ministry." There is no distinction here between saint and sinner in regard to the work of the preacher. Timothy was an evangelist, a preacher and a minister in spiritual matters. He performed every phase of work necessary in order to convert the sinner and edify the saint. While not equal to Timothy in ability, the gospel preacher can and does perform every phase of work performed by Timothy.

Brethren who oppose the "located evangelist" are themselves "located evangelists" for a week or for several weeks. They devote part of their time to the work of converting sinners, and part of their time to teaching the church. The practice of the two groups is exactly the same, and the kind of work is the same. The only difference is the length of time each is "located." The whole controversy boils down to this question: How long a time can the evangelist-preacher scripturally remain with one congregation? Who can name the number of days, weeks, months or years?

The foregoing does not affirm or imply that the liberty is not often misused. There is much evidence that unqualified elders either turn over the church guidance to the preacher, or he takes charge. And such information is sometimes permitted to appear in some of our papers. And there are well authenticated instances when ambitious men have usurped the authority, too often by resort to the majority vote, the chief instrument of democracy. That there are well defined "trends" toward the development of an unscriptural pastor system is feared by many close observers. Even N. B. Hardeman has said: "I have just fears that we are turning on the various congregations professional pastors." He made this statement publicly several years before he gave up the presidency of Freed-Hardeman College. Who is better qualified to speak on this matter than N. B. Hardeman? His statement deserves the most careful consideration. Elders, preachers and all other members have a great responsibility to watch. Let elders exercise the oversight of preachers as well as all other members.

Ambitious men whose greatest desire is aggrandizement and pre-eminence, are a detriment to the cause of Christ. The influence of such men tends toward worldliness in the church and toward apostasy from the New Testament order. Pious, godly, humble preachers and elders are the greatest human asset to the purity, peace and holiness of the church of the Lord.

Reasons For Being A Gospel Preacher

J. C. Choate

There are many false conceptions about a preacher of the gospel. Many people believe that a preacher is a fake, and only preaches for money. Others consider preaching as being just another occupation. Of course, some preachers fall into this category. Especially this is true in the denominational realm of preaching. However, preachers should not be frowned upon because of a few.

Declaring God's word is a most important thing. Christ said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15). People must hear the gospel in order to obey the same (Rom. 10:17; Mark 16:16).

The question is often asked, "Why be a preacher of the gospel?" Well, there are many reasons for being such. Please note a few of the more important reasons.

"Go"

There are too many so-called Christians that are selfish with the gospel. The attitude of self-justification is wrong. Yet, the conception is, "I have obeyed the gospel and I'll be saved no matter what happens." Such poor souls are deceived and don't know it (James 1:22). If we have obeyed the gospel, we should want others to obey the truth. Now, the way to see others obey the commandments is to take the Lord's word to them.

Hence, we are to go into all the world and preach the glorious gospel of Christ the Son of God.

The Greatest Privilege In The World

We are to speak boldly the word of the Lord. We are not to be ashamed of the name "Christian" (1 Peter 4:16). Neither are we to be ashamed of the gospel of Christ (Rom. 1:16). Certainly it is a great privilege to speak for the Lord. Yes, to speak for the Lord with all sincerity and purity.

The Greatest Work In The World

You may find many wonderful things to do in this life. At the same time, you may enjoy your work, but, the greatest work of all is that of proclaiming the message of Christ. The work is for God and consists of seeing souls saved by the gospel (Rom. 1:16).

That Souls Might Be Saved

Only obedience to the gospel of Christ can save lost sinners. There is but one way to heaven with all of its glory (John 14:6). Hence, the pure gospel must be preached that souls may follow that one way (Gal. 1:7-9). There could never be a greater reason for preaching the gospel. One soul is worth more than the world itself (Matt. 16:26).

A Wonderful Blessing

A preacher is associated with the best people: members of the body of Christ. At the same time, the preacher speaks and preaches to the sinner about obeying the truth. It is a wonderful thing to see men and women turn to the Lord and his righteousness.

To Obtain A Reward

Only the faithful shall obtain a reward from the Lord (Rev. 2:10; 22:14). The main reason for preaching the gospel of Christ is to see souls saved, and to be found faithful in service. Everyone desires to go home to heaven. Who could ask for more after this life, than to have an eternal home in glory?

The preacher has a most serious duty to perform. The word of God must be taught in all of its purity and simplicity. If this is done, souls will be saved and a reward given.

Dear friend, if you would be a preacher of the gospel, remember, study your Bible, live in accordance with it, and preach it with all of your soul and being.

A preacher is blessed by the Lord, but frowned upon by the world in many instances. Yet, there is nothing greater than being a preacher of God's word.

PARIS, TEXAS, CHURCH ASSUMES SPONSORSHIP

I am happy to report that the Lamar Avenue congregation in Paris, Texas, has assumed the sponsorship of my work in Paris, France.

Claxton E.
Wilson

The following congregations are supporting my work also: Mt. Pleasant, Olney, 14th and Vine in Abilene, and Palm Heights in San Antonio. There are some individuals in Woodson, Texas, and in Longview who are also supporting my work, on a monthly basis.

Numerous contributions from congregations I have visited during the summer have been made toward my travel fund.

At this time I am still in need of approximately $100 per month support. I feel certain that this will be met before September 4th, which is our sailing date, by faithful members of the Lord's body who are willing to send someone to preach the gospel in France. Anyone wishing to have a part in this work may contact the elders of the Lamar Avenue congregation, 637 Lamar Avenue, Paris, Texas.

May the Lord bless each of you who has a part in sending us to France, is our prayer. The Lord willing, we shall meet the Maurice Hall family in Decatur, Illinois, on August 25th, and from there we shall travel to New York, and on to France, where we shall work together.—Claxton E. Wilson.

Points From Proverbs

Clarence C. Gobbel

In Proverbs 9:1-6, we find an interesting statement concerning wisdom, personified as one who "hath builded her house, she hath hewn out her seven pillars." Wisdom is here pictured as being one who has prepared all that is essential for a life of true wisdom and understanding. She invites all to partake of what she has prepared. The seven pillars seem to be given in these verses. In God's dealing with the human race, he has ever made it possible through his wisdom and mercy for man to build a life in keeping with these "seven pillars."

1. "She hath killed her beasts; she hath mingled her wine." That is, it is a wise thing indeed, that a sacrifice be made for the benefit of others. So, it seems that the first "pillar" is that of SACRIFICE. From the beginning of God's dealing with man, he has required a sacrifice to be offered in praise and worship, and as a gift of gratitude to him. He has ever required that man sacrifice a portion of that with which he is blessed, and by so doing, prove his faith and love for his God.

In the fullness of time God sent his only begotten Son as a sacrifice through which man can be saved. The blood of animals could not atone for sin, but only serve for a certain time, typical of the blood of Christ, which could take away sins. This sacrifice was necessary that the welfare of man be provided for here, and his eternal salvation be assured.

2. "She hath also furnished her table." Wisdom has furnished her table, thus taking care of the needs of man, making it possible for him to commune with his maker. Since sacrifice was made, some memorial of that sacrifice is necessary. So we have COMMUNION as a "pillar" on which wisdom house is builded. The Lord instituted a memorial of the sacrifice he made, when he asked his disciples to partake of the unleavened bread, and the fruit of the vine, saying, "This do in remembrance of me" (Luke 22:19). We have the table of the Lord, in the house of the Lord, and his disciples have the privilege, yea, the obligation of keeping this memorial supper, "Until he comes again" (1 Cor. 11:26).

3. "She hath sent forth her maidens," seem to indicate the PURITY that must remain in evidence for one to be benefitted by the provision of wisdom. The sacrifice made, the communion engaged in, would be aids to a life of purity and consecration to the Lord, and his cause. We call to mind that the inspired writer wrote to a young son "in the faith," Timothy, and exhorted that he "keep thyself pure." Also the apostle John made this fine assertion: "And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure" (1 Jno. 3:3).

4. "She crieth upon the highest places of the city." That is, wisdom announces, and proclaims in no uncertain terms, her desire that those who need enlightenment, come where it can be obtained. So it seems that we can place PREACHING as a pillar in wisdom's house. We know that the apostle Paul wrote to the Corinthians: "For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe" (1 Cor. 1:21). We know that it is impossible to please God without faith, and that faith comes by hearing the word of God (Heb. 11:6; Rom. 10:17).

5. "As for him that wanteth understanding." Knowledge, or understanding is needed by those who are in darkness and error. Such will be appropriated by those who are open-minded, and anxious to receive it to their own eternal good. Isaiah prophesied that "by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many, for he shall bear their iniquities" (Isa. 53:11b). Under the New Covenant, as had been predicted by Jeremiah, "They shall all know me from the least to the greatest" (Heb. 8:11). That is, in order for one to become a Christian, a disciple under the New Covenant, they would need to be taught, and must know him. Remember that Jesus said, when he prayed to the Father: "And this is eternal life, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3).

6. "Come, eat of my bread," etc. Wisdom extends an invitation to all to partake of the blessings she has in store. So, it is in the providence of God, and according to his wisdom, the invitation has been given to all nations, and race and color. Jesus Christ said to those whom he knew needed rest and comfort: "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matt. 11:20). Those who have tasted of his gracious forgiveness in Christ, those who compose his bride, the church, are all busy instructing and inviting: "And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely" (Rev. 22:17).

7. "Forsake the way of the foolish, and live." Her invitation is that the foolish ways of the world be forsaken, and that real life be embraced. Thus we have LIFE as a great pillar in wisdom's house. Eternal life is promised through Christ Jesus our Lord. We gain a foretaste of it here as we live in Christ in this present life, and remain in him according to the dictates of the wisdom of God, looking for that eternal life in the absolute, in the great beyond.

In these pillars on which wisdom is pictured as building her house, we have cardinal principles which must be incorporated in the life of every Christian, and his work. One who fails to live and work according to these attributes remains foolish indeed, and is not drinking from the fountain of true wisdom that comes from above. "But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy" (James 3:17).

NEW PRESIDENT OF SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, TERRELL, TEXAS

Otto Foster

The Board of Trustees of Southwestern Christian College is happy to announce the selection of Dr. H. L. Barber to serve as president. Dr. Barber comes to us with long and varied experience in school administration, and in addition is qualified academically to such an extent that his presence on our campus as president will greatly enhance our academic rating. He has just recently received his degree of Doctor of Education from the University of Texas, and previously attended Texas Christian University and East Texas State Teachers College, as well as being a student for five years at Harding College and its high school department.

Dr. Barber has been active in public school administration for twenty years, serving as principal for elementary, junior, and senior high schools. In addition he was superintendent of schools at Weatherford, Texas, for five years and at Mission, Texas, for six years. For three years he was President of the Valley Vocational Schools, and the past year Dr. Barber was the Chief of Equipment and Components Branch of the Division of Civilian Educational Requirements in the U. S. Office of Education at Washington, D. C.

He received his degree of Doctor of Education from the University of Texas in May of this year with a major in Educational Administration. He has had wide executive experience in Educational and Civic organizations wherever he has lived.

Brother Barber, as well as Sister Barber, comes from a Christian family and has been a member of the Lord's church for many years. They have been identified with the church where they have lived. We are glad to acquire these two workers, and we recommend them wholeheartedly to you.

R. C. CANNON JOINS HARDING FACULTY

W. B. West, JR.

We are glad to announce that R. C. Cannon will become a member of the Bible and Religion faculty of Harding College beginning in September of this year. He will come to Harding with excellent preparation for his work having had splendid training in Christian Colleges and almost twenty years' experience as a gospel preacher and teacher. We are fortunate to secure his services for the much needed fields of study he will teach.

Brother Cannon was born in 1915 at McNab, Arkansas. He was baptized into Christ at the age of eleven and soon became active in the church. He preached his first sermon when he was twenty years old and two years later preached in his first gospel meeting.

In 1939, Brother Cannon was married to Nona Hanes who, as a Christian companion, has been of great help to him through the years. Sister Cannon is well trained in the fields of Home Economics and Family Life and will come with her husband to the Harding College faculty in the Department of Home Economics with her Doctorate from Teacher's College, Columbia University.

Brother Cannon has had successful experience as a preacher and teacher of the gospel, a missionary and an administrator. He has done local work for the church in Graton, Berkeley, and Torrance, California, and the Manhattan Church in New York. As a teacher, he taught in the Pacific Christian Academy in Graton, California, one year in George Pepperdine College and three years in Ibaraki Christian College in Japan. He served as a missionary to Japan from 1948-51 where he baptized more than one hundred and twenty-five persons and started four congregations. As an administrator, he was principal of the Pacific Christian Academy for three years and vice-president of Ibaraki Christian College in Japan for two years.

In addition to his successful and fruitful experience, Brother Cannon is exceptionally well trained for his work at Harding College. He studied four years at Harding, from which he received his B.A. degree. He holds an M.A. degree in Religion from George Pepperdine College and also from New York University. He has taken special work at the University of California and Union Theological Seminary in New York. This fall, he will come to us with a Doctorate from New York University in the field of Religious Education and Missions.

But, the best thing that can be said about Brother Cannon is his consecrated Christian life. He and his wife have given themselves in the service of the church, both at home and abroad. They are coming to Harding to give themselves to the cause of Christian education and through Christian young people to continue their service to the cause of Christ.

Brother Cannon will teach principally in the fields of religious education and missions in the Graduate Department of Bible and Religion. We will be offering a major in Religious Education, giving opportunity for advanced and special training in the field and special study in preparation for missionary work at home and abroad. There is great need for loyal, consecrated, and trained teachers of the Bible, directors of religious education, and missionaries. Harding College is offering this and other training in the Department of Bible and Religion.

SOME UNSOLICITED COMMENTS ON A NEW BOOK

The new book, "Preachers of Today," contains 1360 sketches of gospel preachers. It cost over $12,000 to produce. You will be interested in these excerpts from letters by some of the brethren who have a copy: "I have examined carefully, my copy of the book, 'Preachers of Today,' and think it is one of the finest services ever rendered, for those who cherish the deeds, labors and memories of gospel preachers."—Austin Siburt, Jackson, Mississippi. "How I would have treasured such a book when I was a lad! I want my three children to have one of these books."—Pryde E. Hinton, Dora, Alabama. "I must express to you my great appreciation for the splendid contribution you have made in editing and publishing 'Preachers of Today.' It is a joy and inspiration to read it. It will be very helpful to elders, preachers, and others. I treasure very much my copy."—W. B. West, Jr., Searcy, Arkansas. "No one can read this book without having a greater interest in the work which faithful gospel preachers are doing."—Leslie G. Thomas, Knoxville, Tennessee. "It is a superb job, well done—more interesting than the 'funnies' of the Sunday papers, and more revealing than the files of the F.B.I."—A. J. Bradshaw, Weatherford, Oklahoma.

"This is to congratulate you on the splendid job which you did in publishing 'Preachers of Today.' It is a first-class job. The more I look through it, the greater becomes my appreciation of it."—John D. Cox, Florence, Alabama. "It is a book that will be very valuable to the church, and one that every preacher can well be proud of."—Jimmy Wood, Odessa, Texas. "I am delighted to be the possessor of one of these books. I am using others for gifts. I think every elder should have one."—John E. Edwards, Burns, Tennessee. "The new book, 'Preachers of Today,' goes beyond expectation. It is the greatest book of 1952. It should be in every home. We can now know many preachers we have never seen. You have done a great work in putting this book out. The book can be used often."—A. E. Wickham, Roscoe, Ohio.

You can order your copy of this book for $3.50 through the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Austin, Texas.

What Does The Bible Say?

Be Of Good Cheer

Are you ever discouraged? Do you get blue? Of course you do. Everyone does at times. Even the apostle Paul needed encouragement when he was cast into prison in Jerusalem!

An angel of the Lord appeared unto him and said, "Be of good cheer, Paul, for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome" (Acts 23:11). Paul had been betrayed by his own brethren in the flesh and his life had been threatened for preaching the gospel. God knew that he needed reassurance. He sent an angel to bring this message of encouragement to him. What a wonderful God we Christians worship!

Today the Lord does not see fit to send angels in this miraculous fashion to visit us in our hour of discouragement, but he has provided ways of helping us as Christians. Here are some of the specific means by which God encourages Christians today.

1. By his promises. When you are inclined to be low in spirits think on such promises as these, "Be of good cheer for I have overcome the world." "He that spared not his own Son but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things" (Rom. 8:32). "We are more than conquerors through him that loved us." "Ye believe in God, also ye believe in me. In my father's house are many mansions" (John 14).

2. By a good conscience. When we keep the commandments that Jesus Christ has given to us and obey his will day by day, we are encouraged by the appeal of a good conscience toward God. (1 Pet. 3:21).

3. By Christian friends. God knew that we needed brethren in the Lord to encourage us when we became down-hearted. We are taught as Christians to bear one another's burdens and to love one another. This friendship and fellowship is needed in living the Christian life. Many have begun the Christian life and failed because they did not accept this source of encouragement.

4. By His providence. God has promised that if we love him and keep his commandments, he will providentially overrule our lives for good. "All things work together for good to them that love the Lord" (Rom. 8:26). Even when we cannot understand why some burdens are placed upon us we can be encouraged by the assurance that it will all work together for our good if we love and obey the Lord.

5. By communion with Christ. God has provided for our encouragement in the communion we have with him through prayer in Jesus' name and through other acts of worship such as singing songs and hymns and spiritual hymns, partaking of the spiritual body and blood of the Lord in the Lord's supper each Sunday and reading from the word of God and sacrificing of our means for the cause of Christ. The participation by Christians in regular periods of worship is a great source of encouragement.

Noble Examples

Johnny Ramsey

It is never right to flatter a fellow Christian, but it is always in order to commend those who inspire us by their noble examples of service in the Master's vineyard.

For the past year we have been in the North. During this time we have been challenged by the great lives of others. I would like to pass these thoughts along to others so that all might benefit from them.

Possibly the one family that has done the most for the cause of Christ in Wisconsin and Minnesota is the Leslie Diestelkamp family who now live in Minneapolis. Brother Diestelkamp is a fearless proclaimer of the truth. He opposes worldliness as strong as he upholds godliness. For ten years he and his faithful family have worked diligently in some very difficult places. They have been willing to go where the "sledding was rough" and as a result some of us young men can cross the chasm on the bridge they built. The work Leslie Diestelkamp has done will only be fully known around the great white throne. May God grant us more men of his caliber in needy fields like this.

James Willeford spent six of his best years in Madison, Wisconsin. As we all know, he is a man of unusual ability. Even so, he was willing to leave a large congregation in New Mexico and come to work for the Lord in a field that needed his efforts more. All of us appreciate deeply the fine work he accomplished while in this area.

Just here I'd like to say that these men should present a challenge to some of the older brethren in larger congregations in the South. These Northern fields are crying for experienced gospel preachers. We need men with experience, vision, and wisdom. Young "whipper-snappers" like me make lots of blunders, and we sorely need seasoned advice many times. If men like Brethren Willeford and Diestelkamp, Childress and Mickey (Harvey Childress of St. Paul and Wayne Mickey of Rochester, Minnesota) can spare six to ten years in the prime of their lives—can you? These noble examples, if followed, could mean much to the advancement of the Lord's church in fields where the gospel has not been spread as it should.

Howard Justiss and family would be an inspiration to anyone. They were stalwart members of the Lord's body in Madison. Howard is originally from East Texas, but after being married to a Wisconsinite, he attended the University of Wisconsin. While in Madison he meant much to the growth and stability of the work there. His patience, judgment and knowledge of God's word made the Justiss family almost indispensable. Brethren we need men just like Brother Justiss all over the North. Who can spend five years in a better way?

W. C. Hollander and wife moved to Neenah, Wisconsin, from Crane, Texas, just last May. W. C. is a fine song leader and will soon develop into a good preacher of the gospel. He moved up here, got a job in one of the factories, and intends to support himself as he renders great assistance to New Testament Christianity. We need young couples just like the Hollanders who "put the kingdom first" in fields where they are needed so badly. May their example cause others to do the same.

In the good old summer time some professed Christians take a vacation from the Lord. Not so with the Harry Daggetts of Fort Worth, Texas. They took a vacation for the Lord—that is, to work for him. Harry and Margaret spent their two-week vacation in Wisconsin doing personal work, visiting, teaching, etc. This is certainly a contrast with some who head for the beach or some fancy resort. The Daggetts made such an impression on the brethren here that we will never forget their love for the church that Jesus purchased with his own blood.

These noble examples have deeply impressed us. If they can be used as a challenge for you, we will be forever thankful that we submitted this article.

Brethren, dearly beloved, we have a world before us that must be conquered for Christ the Lord. Let us go forth in "the unity of the Spirit and the bond of peace" as we fulfil the highest calling on earth.

THE PERFECTION OF CHRIST

Many passages of scripture, usually regarded as difficult, are not so difficult after all, if we give them a more careful study. When we think of the "perfection of Christ," it is easily accepted as in harmony with the revelation that was made of him in the word of the Lord. However, when we think of his "becoming perfect," or being "made perfect," while he was on earth or during the time of his incarnation and work as a teacher in Palestine, it is regarded as a little more difficult. We are asked the question of how Christ became perfect, or "how it was that he became perfect" since he was, indeed, the divine Son of God and a partaker of the infinite divine attributes. So far as Christ's character is concerned, he is not represented by the inspired biographers as having made any improvement whatever. He is not represented as having been made better in point of character during his sojourn among men.

But with all this before us, it remains that the apostle in the Hebrew letter says that Christ was "made perfect," and "being made perfect," he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him. Also, "It became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings." The word "perfect" signifies completion. It comes from a word that means going on to the end, that is, completing or perfecting a work or a journey. Christ completed the work for which he came from heaven to earth. It was only after he had completed his work that he was prepared to offer salvation unto the world. And hence the apostle says that he was made perfect; that is, he had brought to a completion his work through sufferings. When he died on the cross, he brought to a consummation or completion the work that he came to perform. When this work was completed, and only when it was completed, could he offer salvation to the world. Hence the Great Commission was given, after, and not before the passion of Calvary. "The eternal salvation" was properly arranged and provided for man.

In the intercessory prayer just before his death on the cross, the Savior in prospecting his death, to his Father said, "I come to thee," "I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." He said, "I am no more in the world." All these statements, of course, refer to the completion of his work and his return to his Father. On the cross he said, "It is finished." It was when Christ had "finished his work" that the scheme of human redemption was completed. It was only in the finishing of his work on earth that the fullness of the gospel could be proclaimed in the world. He then sent his apostles into all the world, offering salvation to all men, because, in that way, he had become the author of eternal salvation to all the obedient.

We are told to be "perfect." Paul exhorts us to go on to perfection, and our Lord to his disciples said: "Be ye perfect as your Father, who is in heaven, is perfect." All of this means that we should go on to the completion of the work that we have begun as the children of God. It means the same as being faithful until death, that we may receive a crown of life. The greatest difficulty with men is that they many times fail to finish a good work. Many of them return to the weak and beggarly ways of the world. God and Christ always completed all the works that they undertook. In the creation of the world, it is stated that God finished his work. He has finished every work that he ever undertook to perform. Christ finished what he undertook to perform. The trouble with men is that they often do not complete a good work or a good character or life which they undertake to perform or to live. We are perfect as our Father in heaven is perfect when we propose to do, and undertake to do, and complete the doing of a good work.

We can probably understand the use of the terms "perfect, perfection, complete, completion, completeness" only when we properly understand the significance of finishing a work or a way that we have begun. God and Christ are right; they have undertaken the right thing in all their labors in the creation of the world, and for the good of man, and they have completed or are completing their work. As the willing followers of Christ, we must adopt the right course of life and then bring it to a successful consummation by continuing in this way of life, till we are called away into the great eternity beyond the grave. This is perfection.

Italy Grants Visas

C. R. Paden, Rome, Italy

The Italian government in an unprecedented display of leniency has granted two-year visas to four families desiring to enter Italy for the purpose of preaching the gospel. Late last week (July 31), the government announced that visas had been granted to the Gerald Paden, John Butts and L. V. Pfeifer families and yesterday added the name of the Wyndal Hudson family to the growing list. (The Hudsons have already landed in Europe but have not entered Italy yet). The Embassy in Rome has told us that the applications of the Dayl Pittmans, Bernard Howells and David Lavender families are "under active consideration." The Embassy feels confident that these visas will be forthcoming.

The government is required (law of September 28, 29, 1948) to act upon applications for visas within two months from the time it is received in the ministry of Interior offices in Rome. Some six weeks are required for applications to arrive in Rome after they are made in the various Italian consulates in the United States.

The granting of these visas for such a length of time gives rise to hopes that visas of workers now in Italy will be given long term extensions. In the past the government has blocked the visas of members of the church and considered them as a unit. Present visas for workers now in Italy expire August 31.

Officials of the Embassy in making the announcement of the government's decision to give these new visas were careful to insist that for the time being no new applications be filed. They seemed to think that perhaps the government is adopting a new policy toward us and that we should not make a nuisance of ourselves by flooding their offices with requests for new visas.

Each worker must go by his respective Italian consulate to have the visa stamped in his passport. This, the Embassy pointed out, will prevent any future difficulty.

The arrival of these new workers will more than double the American force in Italy and naturally will hasten the day when the church of our Lord is firmly re-established on Italian soil. To the beleaguered forces on the field this is heartening news indeed!

The Church In Granbury, Texas

Robert B. Farrar

The population of Granbury is listed as 1647 and the church membership is 220. The building pictured below is valued at $60,000. It is of solid masonry construction, having light-colored brick on the outside. The interior also has a natural finish. From the floor up to four feet is sand blasted pine paneling, and from there to the ceiling a beautiful light gray cellotex with a still lighter gray design. The ceiling is an off-white cellotex. The seats are padded opera style. The auditorium itself will seat 366 with an addition separated by gray accordin doors seating ninety-seven, giving a total seating capacity of 463. The auditorium is heated by floor furnaces and is air-conditioned.

The church was begun in Granbury some time during the 1880's primarily through the efforts of "Red" Smith. However, in the year 1892 the instrument was brought into the church. The following year Dr. T. H. Dabney moved to Granbury and worked diligently to get the organ removed. (Dr. Dabney is one of the finest Christian men I have ever met. Though he is now ninety-three years old he is still quite active in the church). Finding it impossible to do so, he, Brother and Sister Skipper and their daughter, Brother and Sister Stalcup, and Brother A. J. Pearce withdrew from what became the Christian church and began meeting from house to house, leaving the progressives with the church property.

The church grew very slowly. They would have a meeting every year with the church paying what it could and Dr. Dabney paying the balance. In 1895 they rented a small house in which to worship and later purchased this house. Finally it blew down and a small stucco building was erected. This had to be enlarged several times as the church grew. When it was seen that this could no longer satisfactorily contain the crowds the present building was constructed. It is interesting to note that the Christian church, in spite of its strong beginning, now has only a few members and meets only once a month.

The first preacher for the church here was H. B. Cash. He was followed by Christian Lyles, Brother Pummel, J. W. Adams, Silas Triplett, E. S. Fitzgerald, J. P. Williams, Wayne Smith, and the present evangelist is Robert B. Farrar.

Church Of Christ, Trinidad, Colorado

James W. Reynolds

The church of Christ in Trinidad, Colorado, which now worships at 1000 Nevada, is to be greatly commended for its faith in God and labor of love that this new building could be a reality.

On August 2nd they had a special service in the afternoon which was attended by a full house of over 250 brethren and friends from Southern Colorado, Northern New Mexico, Kansas, and Texas, and at which time F. L. Lemley, the much loved local evangelist, emphasized the new building was a result of the saints in Trinidad dedicating their lives to save the souls of the lost in that and other communities. The building being only a tool to be used to facilitate the teachings of Christ in Trinidad.

CHURCH OF CHRIST, TRINIDAD, COLORADO

What has been done in Trinidad by about twenty-five to thirty-five men, women, and children should be a great inspiration to others. This building, which provides the needed classrooms, nursery, preacher's study, and an auditorium which will seat not less than 250, is the result of a great sacrifice on the part of many of these members. They have truly labored for almost two years for this building. The building is valued at not less than $30,000.00. The present debt on it is around $10,000.00. Only a small amount of outside help was received.

Brother F. L. Lemley has been the greater leader in securing this building. He has asked the brethren to do only what he was willing to do himself both in labor and in giving his money.

Brother Lemley's and the congregation's example in securing this new building will greatly influence and encourage other congregations in this section. A report will be made soon of another new building in Southern Colorado.

INDIA BRETHREN TO HAVE THEIR BUILDING

The first $1,000 for the building in Assam, India, was raised recently and another $1,000 was secured by some zealous members of the church in Austin through loans. It was deemed essential to forward the $2,000 needed for this work immediately. The price of the land and building had already been raised one time, from $1,750 to $2,000.

The interested brethren in Austin secured these loans believing that the interest in this work would justify this speedy action as well as save further raises in the price. They had the faith that the other $1,000 would be given in time. The Madisonville congregation has recently made its gift of about $220. This combined with a few other gifts has lowered the amount still needed to $750.

Others interested in supporting this excellent work should contact the College congregation in Abilene or Brother Eugene Elliott, Madisonville, Texas.

Clarence C. Gobbel, 1157 E. Mabel, Tucson, Arizona, August 17: Work here continues to show improvement, with additions all along. My desire is to hold a few meetings next summer. If you haven't arranged for your summer meeting, maybe I could serve you as preacher or singer. I would appreciate hearing from churches who may need either.

Thomas L. Campbell, 4528 Harwen Ter., Fort Worth, Texas, August 18: I closed a meeting with the home congregation with four baptisms, two placing membership, and one restoration. The Rosemont congregation also recently purchased a new home for the preacher at 4528 Harwen Terrace. The work moves along in a very pleasant way.

R. L. Yancey, Alledo, Texas, August 17: Brother Edward M. Steph closed a meeting here on August 12. All agree that it was about the best, if not the best meeting ever conducted here. Brother Steph preached the gospel kindly but without compromise. Five were baptized, two confessed faults and five placed membership. We have been here almost three months and enjoy the work very much.

W. T. Hines, 900 So. Grand, El Dorado Springs, Missouri, August 17: The work here is moving along in a very good way. We are having a few to place membership, and one from the Christian church last Sunday. Because of the dry weather a few are moving to Kansas City, Mo. M. R. Phillips, 3909 N. Retama St., Victoria, Texas, August 19: I have just returned from Crystal City and a good meeting with Brother Edgar Furr and the good brethren there. We had unusually good attendance and attention. There were four baptisms, all adults, and there were a great many in attendance who seemed almost persuaded to obey the gospel. The work here goes along in a fine way. Visit us when passing this way.

Robert C. Copeland, Jr., Box 146, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, August 16: One restoration here last Sunday. I have preached two funerals the last five days. I am enjoying the new work here. Will pass out the sample copies of the Firm Foundation and see if I can get some subscribers. Hope you have many more years to serve our Lord. Your paper continues to do much good, and I look forward to the good articles and reports from our brethren.

Charles R. Estes, 301 Grand Avenue, Sheffield, Alabama, August 19: I led the singing in a meeting at Zion Rest, Miss., with my father, Chester R. Estes, doing the preaching. Seven were baptized. There was one baptized at Pleasant Site, Ala., August 2-9. I will also be at Spring Valley, Ala., near Tusculum, Ala., the fourth Sunday in August; Haleyville, Ala., the fifth Sunday in August. September 20, I will be at Lexington, Ala. I start to Lipscomb this fall.

Robert P. Stewart, P. O. Box 459, Grass Valley, California, August 17: The work here continues to show progress. One more family has come here to work with us. Contributions are beginning to show some improvement. I am to preach for the brethren in Chico, Calif., Tuesday evening and will exchange pulpits with Brother Blackburn of Carmichael, Calif., this coming Sunday. I believe that I can arrange time for one meeting in either September or October.

John G. Bills, 4133 Middlesex Dr., San Diego 16, California, August 17: I closed a very good meeting at Farmington, Tenn., yesterday with the largest attendance for the meeting. I believe there were six baptisms. Farmington is one of the very best of rural congregations to be found anywhere. I begin at Dell, Arkansas, Thursday, the 20th through the 30th. Then I go to Oklahoma, then home. Brother Middleton is preaching at Linda Vista while I am gone.

Victor W. Kelley, Urbana, Illinois: Pat Hardeman, minister of the S. Lincoln Avenue church of Christ, Urbana, Illinois, will debate F. P. Wortman of Albany, Georgia, representative of the United Secularists of America, during their convention in St. Louis, Mo., in the Roosevelt Hotel, Sunday afternoon, August 30 at 2 p.m., D.S.T. Brother Hardeman will affirm that the Bible is the word of God. The session is open to the public.

David M. Owens, Phyllis, Kentucky, August 21: During the month of June I did the preaching at St. Helens, Arvel, Heidelberg, and Delvint. In July I preached at Browns Fork, Farler, Daley, Joe Eversole Hoyard, Little Willard, Clemons, Busy, Turkey Creek, Big Laurel, Grassy Branch, Toulouse, Fred's Creek; in August I preached at Phyllis and Grapevine. Brother Roy Hall deserves the credit for getting the churches of Christ started in Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia.

Ralph Russell, Carrizo Springs, Texas, August 18: The work in the cause of our Lord and Saviour continues to progress in Carrizo Springs. Lord's day, August 16, one young man confessed wrongs, thus uniting one complete family in Christ. Unto a gracious heavenly Father be all the praise and glory. Remember the saints in this place; pray for us. Visit with us when in this area. The Firm Foundation continues to place before each one who reads it the eternal cause of Christ. This is a good and noble work. May you continue to prosper in this splendid endeavor.

Silus Deen, Rock Island, Texas, August 14: Sunday, August 9th was a very profitable day for the church here. Three (3) made the good confession and were buried in baptism. Our attendance was ninety-four which was a house full and very encouraging. We also received five dollars contribution from Sister Anthony of Belen, New Mexico, and fifty dollars from Brother Cline of Springtown, Texas, towards the building fund. We appreciate this very much. If five hundred individuals or congregations would send five dollars each, we would be able to complete our building with what we could raise ourselves.

W. R. Swinney, Natalia, Texas, August 17: Yesterday was a glorious day in the service of the Lord in Natalia. We had 55 for Bible study; 83 for preaching; 43 for the evening service. The contributions have almost doubled in three Lord's days. I will reorganize our educational program in September. We also have fine prospects for a good young people's work in September. I also plan a Medina Valley Ladies Bible Class; ladies from both Lytle and Devine have asked for it. And a number of the sectarian ladies are making inquiry. I see the greatest opportunity that Natalia has ever had.

Damon Smith, Childress, Texas, August 17: I closed a singing school at Liberty Hill, Texas, on August 6th. The school was the best I had taught with this very fine cooperation. The church there has fine peace and harmony among them, the best I have ever seen, and is on the move for Christ. A fine work there. I go to Lubbock at Pioneer Park August 24-28 for a song drill in connection with vacation Bible school. Brother G. S. Westbrook is the minister there. I will go to Oklahoma City August 31 for a ten-day singing school at S. W. and 36th Street where Brother Sweet preaches.

Elders Paul N. Jackson, Phone Number 7-4131; Marvin Harris; and Luther Rogers, all of Ft. Cobb, Oklahoma, August 17: The church of Christ here is in need of a full time preacher. We would prefer a young, married man as our preacher's home is small. Please contact us by letter or phone.

Paul Southern, 1642 College Drive, Abilene, Texas, August 17: Two were restored and two placed membership during the meeting in Stephenville, Texas. The meeting in Trinidad, Colo., resulted in one baptism and one restoration. I was supported in this meeting by my home congregation, 14th and Vine, in Abilene. My son, Paul Jr., directed the singing. He was supported by the congregations in Wharton and Rosenberg, Texas, and the church in Winston-Salem, N. C. Mrs. Southern, our daughter, Sylvia Ann, and Jane Oliver of Dallas, Texas, taught in the Trinidad Bible School.

Jimmy Campbell, 910 Barnes, Alva, Oklahoma: Beginning August 9th I began work with the church in Alva, Okla. At that time I completed twenty-two months' work with the brethren at Guymon, Okla. I anticipate a great work at Alva. The church is just over one year old and presents an intriguing challenge. During our stay at Guymon there were eighty additions, twenty-nine of them being baptisms. Drouth and moving hurt badly during the recent summer, however. I will be enrolled at Northwest Teachers College this fall, the Lord willing. All correspondents will please note my change of address.

Elwyn W. Snow, Sudan, Texas, August 17: I began at Friendship Church of Christ August 2. The future looks bright and we are indeed glad to be associated with these fine people. We had an unusual audience yesterday at eleven o'clock, several Mexicans and Negroes, who are transit workers attended. Two fine young men were baptized at the evening service. When coming our way, visit with us. Our meeting begins the 23rd with Brother Claude McClung of Grand Prairie, doing the preaching. Pray for us that many may be brought to the Saviour. Correspondents please notice the change of address.

W. A. Harrison, Burns Flat, Oklahoma, August 21: A gospel meeting was conducted here August 2-11 with Brother Bill Cofer of Hobart, Oklahoma, doing the preaching. It is among the best that this congregation has ever experienced. There were three baptisms during the meeting, and we feel that others will respond later as a result of the seed being sown during this protracted effort. The work as a whole here is moving along slowly but is steadily growing. I have some time open for meetings in 1954. If I can serve you, please contact me at the above address. I am to assist in a gospel meeting at Thomas, Okla., September 7-17.

E. W. Stovall, Glasgow, Kentucky, August 15: Our vacation Bible school was a success. We enrolled 421. It was the best ever conducted here. I recently closed a meeting at Fairview, near Milan, Tenn., in which there were six baptisms and three restorations. I am to return in 1956. I closed at Mt. Vernon, near here, Wednesday night. There were three baptisms. I am now at Poplar Log near here. Our meeting here begins September 6, with John T. Smithson and B. E. Jones doing the preaching and directing the singing. We look for a great meeting. When passing this way, stop and worship with the good congregation here.

Otis L. Rowe, Box 291, Cotton Valley, Louisiana: July 12 marked the beginning of my third year's labor with the church here. The work has been pleasant and profitable. We are completing a much needed addition to our building in the form of classrooms and nursery. I can arrange for more meetings in 1954. If I can assist you, call me.

Claude Robertson, Haskell, Oklahoma, August 1: "Six have responded to the invitation since last report. Three of these were baptized. Brother Herbert Broadus, Topeka, Kansas, did the preaching in our meeting July 13-22. The church was strengthened by the fine lessons given. One was baptized during the meeting, but we are looking forward to more visible results.

The mission work inside the Sanatorium is interesting and challenging and offers one of the greatest opportunities to lead people to Christ that I have ever known. Carlsbad is in need of a preacher now. I closed my work there on the second Sunday in August. They are able to pay $75.00 per week, and do have a nice preacher's home. It is small but comfortable. The elders are H. C. Moreland, Carlsbad, Texas; and Emmete Clark, Route 1, San Angelo, Texas. The membership is small, only about 38 members including women and children. The local contributions exceeded expectations and is above the average for that number. Outside help from other congregations makes it possible for the brethren to maintain a minister for mission work inside the Sanatorium. I make this appeal to the brethren of great, rich, west Texas, that you do not neglect the work at Sanatorium. People come there for treatment from all over west Texas, from Fort Worth to El Paso, from Amarillo to San Antonio. Most of them return home, and while they are there we have a wonderful opportunity to teach them the truth. If we fail others will take over. It is not good to leave the work, right at our door, open to the Catholics while trying to convert them in Mexico and Italy. Keep Carlsbad going.

C. A. Buchanan, Box 325, Glen Rose, Texas, August 20: The meeting at South Side in Waxahachie, Texas, closed last night. We had seven baptisms and three restorations. Brother G. S. Westbrook did some of the best and plainest gospel preaching. Large crowds attended. We moved to Glen Rose today to work with the church. Wife and I were well provided for during our three years at Waxahachie, and we leave many dear friends there. We find some old friends here at Glen Rose whom we knew when I worked as county evangelist several years ago under direction of the Central church in Cleburne. We are anticipating a pleasant and profitable work.

J. A. Woolley, 326 W. Whitney, Sheridan, Wyoming, August 9: It has become necessary for me to leave the work at Sheridan because of a lack of support. At the present time I have made no definite plans as to where I shall go. If additional support for the work here could be obtained, I would be glad to stay. If any congregation is interested in obtaining an evangelist, I would be happy to hear from them. I would like to remain in the Northwestern part of the country to do the Lord's work if it is possible. This is a field where much needs to be done for the cause of Christ. Both workers and support are much needed for the large amount of work to be done in this field.

Charles E. Gentry, Box 375, Lamar, Colorado, August 11: Since my last report there have been two baptisms and one restoration here. I have preached in the following meetings: A tent meeting near Cookeville, Tenn., three restored; at Davidson's Chapel in Jackson County, Tenn., two restored; at Liberty in Jackson County, Tenn., no visible results. I am now in a meeting at Eads, Colo., and Brother Benny Lucas is a very fine co-laborer in this meeting. During the past year at Lamar there have been fourteen baptisms and six restorations. The brethren are in the process of selecting men for elders, who will strengthen the work here greatly. I am to begin work with the Whitson Road congregation in Cookeville, Tenn., near the end of the month. My new address will be 323 Short St., Cookeville, Tenn.

John Ramsey, Box 109, Neenah, Wisconsin. The Lord's work is growing in Wisconsin. Two new congregations will begin begin next Sunday. The congregations in Neenah and Green Bay have been doing nicely this summer. The attendance, spiritual strength and contributions have progressed instead of the usual slump most brethren expect in the summer. Two have been baptized in the past week: one in Neenah, and one in Green Bay. We rejoice and thank God for the power of the pure gospel. Even though there are only thirty members in Neenah, the contribution has averaged $100 per Sunday for the past two months. Also, a record attendance of 66 assembled August 2. The outlook in Green Bay is bright. Willard Boor and Oskar Bakkom are as fine Christians as we have ever met. Their faith and zeal would encourage any gospel preacher. The work in Green Bay is a challenge. Who will come to help us? We need Christian families to move to this area and settle down as we need permanent, stable workers. This field is white unto harvest. In eleven months, seven have been baptized and three restored in Neenah and Green Bay. More should respond to the Lord's invitation soon. Pray for us. It is a real pleasure to be associated with the five evangelists in this state. Bob Lawrence of Madison, Billy Boyd of Racine, Monroe Hawley of Milwaukee, Harry Lowry of Stevens Point, Paul Butterfield of La Crosse, and Henry Pipkin of Nelson are indeed the finest co-workers an evangelist could desire. May God bless them for the strengthening influence they have been.

Charles M. Adams, Box 285, Cleveland, Oklahoma, August 22: We just closed a good meeting at Putnam, Texas. The singing was conducted in a very able manner by Brother Bill Kendall of Cisco, Texas. We rejoiced to have the opportunity to revisit and meet our friends in this part of the country. Beginning September 29 and continuing through October 2, at the church of Christ building in Cleveland, Oklahoma, where we live and labor, Brother W. Curtis Porter of Monette, Ark., will meet Mr. A. J. Wall, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Turley, Okla., in a four night discussion. The first proposition to be discussed is: One is saved at the point of faith without baptism. Mr. Wall will affirm. Brother Porter will deny. The last two nights Brother Porter will affirm that baptism is for the remission of sins. Mr. Wall will deny. The church in Cleveland, which is the only one in Pawnee County, Okla., is growing in every good way. We extend a sincere welcome to all who come our way. We enjoy the Firm Foundation very much.

Elvis E. Bozarth, T-Sgt., U.S.M.C., Hq. Bn., Special Services, 1st Marine Division, F.M.F., c/o F.P.O., San Francisco, California, August 12: Worship for members of the church is held each Sunday at 4:00 p.m. at the Division Chapel. Please send me names and addresses of members of the Armed Forces stationed near Munsan, Freedom Village, and in this Division. I have already contacted all whose names were sent to me previously. On the way to Korea, two young Marines were baptized at the Baptist Mission in Kobe, Japan. These two will become gospel preachers. When we reached Sasebo, Japan, a Navy corpsman serving with the Marines was baptized in the Army swimming pool. He intends to be a doctor. All three will enter Freed-Hardeman College when discharged. A few of us had services aboard ship the last Sunday at sea. Our singing was directed by a capable young Marine from the Stroudsville church near Clarksville, Tenn. Our offering of six dollars will go to the brethren in Pusan, Korea.

Hugh Boydston, 1209 South Texas Avenue, Odessa, Texas, August 18: I moved to Odessa last week to work with the South Side church here. I am following Brother Eddie Myers who apparently has done an outstanding work here. Brother A. F. Waller will shortly move from Cisco to Breckenridge. Sunday, our first one here, there were 201 in classes and $320.00 in collection. One confessed sins at the morning service and one placed membership at the evening service.

L. D. Webb, 9011 East Burnside, Portland Oregon, August 10: The new congregation here at 90th and Glisan in Portland, is making splendid progress. We have had fort responses, nine of these baptisms, since the congregation was started on June 7, 1953. Claude A. Guild, minister for the Riverside church in Fort Worth, Texas, preached for us last Sunday. He brought two splendid lessons to a record crowd who attended both services. One Catholic lady was baptized, and another lady was restored. Brother Guild is among our ablest gospel preachers. We enjoyed his visit very much.

Bill Cofer, Hobart, Oklahoma, August 18: Albert Trent is holding a very wonderful meeting here and giving sermons that we all need. As of this date, one has rendered obedience to the Lord, and the lessons are doing the church here a great deal of good. I recently finished a meeting with the church at Burns Flat, with three additions. Last night caught us without lights and preaching was by lamp light, but the building was full, and muddy roads, and threatening stormy weather affected the faithfulness of the brethren but little. I begin a meeting tonight at Taylor, Oklahoma. It will continue through August 26. Remember us in your prayers.

Earl E. McCord, Corning, Arkansas, August 18: Brother Denton M. Neal and I closed the meeting in East Prairie, Mo., August 16 without visible results. However, there was some of the best singing and preaching that I have had the privilege of enjoying there. I have been there twice before. I have never enjoyed my part of the work with any group of folks anywhere as I did there. I am now at home, leading the singing in a meeting at Reyno, Ark., that began August 14. Brother Marshall Conner is doing the preaching. I will be with these brethren through the 22nd. On the 23rd I begin at Dorena, Mo. I have some time after I get through at Dorena, Mo. Won't you please contact me and let's make arrangements for some work together?

George Bennett, Box 216, Lexington, Oklahoma, August 22: One of the best meetings and vacation Bible Schools of all time closed yesterday at Lexington. Brother Jack Nadeau, of Munich was the evangelist and Brother Dale T. Lemon who preaches for the church at Purcell, Oklahoma, led the singing. Both accomplished their part of the meeting in a wonderful manner. The meeting resulted in six baptisms, and the church was edified and built up. Crowds exceeded our fondest hopes at every service. Our vacation Bible school averaged 94 with a record attendance of 113 and an enrollment of 145. The future looks brighter for the church here than it has ever been. To God be all the praise. We solicit the prayers of the saints.

Albert Holland, 151 South Marne Street, Memphis, Tennessee, August 10: During June and July I received a number of cards and letters asking about my recovery from the three months stay in Kennedy, V. V. hospital here. I am very thankful that I have been able to hold the meetings that had been arranged though I have had to work under handicaps. July 5-12, I preached in a meeting for the church at Eva, Ala. Brother Green Hendon of Rodgersville, Ala., directed the singing in this meeting in a capable way. There were five baptized in this meeting. July 19-26 I was in a most pleasant meeting with the Bulah church on Highway 31, north of Cullman, Ala. Five were baptized in this meeting. Brother Herman Tillery was the director of the singing. I closed a very pleasant meeting that was well attended, with the church at Jones Chapel last night. There were two baptized at this meeting. Brother Herman Tillery of the Bulah church directed the singing in this meeting. This was the fourth meeting Brother Tillery has assisted in in Alabama. He is a faithful co-worker. I go next to Oak Ridge church, near Hornbeak, Tenn. F. J. Rodgers and J. W. "Billy" Lipsey have preached for the Highway 61 South church here in my absence. This is a new work and is going in a fine way. Visit with us when passing through Memphis at 5165 Highway 61 South.

Leo H. Thurston, Lutesville, Missouri, August 18: We would like to make this appeal to all Christians everywhere, not because we want to, but because the work of the Lord in this community demands it. We have but little of this world's goods but the Lutesville church has made an upward struggle since its beginning, numbering now about thirty members, and all are very happy. We have been paying $35 per month for a store building which is not large enough for the work that we are doing so we must do something in the very near future. We have purchased a fine lot on which to build, well located in the twin cities of Marble Hill and Lutesville. We had hoped to have a new building ready by cold weather, but contributions have come in slowly, so that without speedy help this cannot be done. Will you, my brother and sister in Christ, send your offering to this work immediately for the sake of those who need the Christ most in this community. We have the setup to take care of the job here. The elders and deacons are ready to go forward with the building which will cost about $7,000. If we can get as much as $2,000 we can go through with the job immediately. Men like Harbert Hooker, Freeny Saunders, Billie Moore, Jim Arnold and others have preached for us. May we hear from you soon so that the church of our Lord may take care of its full responsibility here. Send all contributions to the treasurer, C. E. Lincoln, Marble Hill, Mo.

BROTHER A. C. HUFF'S TRACT COMMENDED

Plainview, Texas
A. C. Huff, 901 W. 7th

Dear Brother Huff:

I wish to commend you for the excellent work you have done in your booklet, "The Great Salvation." You have clearly and scripturally set forth the work of the Holy Spirit in the conviction and conversion of sinners and his work in the confirmation of the word spoken by the apostles, and in the development of the church in the first century. You have written with kindness, firmness, and clarity.

I am persuaded that the honest truth seeker will learn accurately the way of salvation from this book. And I feel that it can be an invaluable aid to the Christians in preparing themselves to teach sinners the truth on these vital themes. I wish for your book a wide circulation and heartily commend it to the churches for their use in teaching the gospel.—Max Crumley.

both Bible and business subjects. Our oldest daughter, Betty, will be a freshman in the school and our younger daughter, Patricia, will be a junior in Bartlesville High School. I have labored with the Southside church in Lawrence, Kansas the past eight and a half years and in many ways the Lord has blessed this congregation with growth. The attendance on Lord's day morning has increased from about 35 to near 200; the contribution has increased from approximately $30 per week to yearly average of $235.00 per week. The congregation has also constructed a new building at a cost of approximately $40,000.00. As this building is almost paid for, the congregation is now making plans to launch a constructive mission program. Brother Leroy Davis of Jay, Oklahoma, will begin full time work with the congregation August 31st. I look forward to entering a new field of labor in or near Bartlesville. You may address me in care of Central Christian College, Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Tice Elkins, Alamogordo, New Mexico 1523 Cuba Avenue, August 17: My last hope of travel to preach is gone for this fall. Also, since the church here is supporting a good man who took my place when I broke down last winter, there is not much I can do here at home. The church dropped all but two broadcasts per week on the air, for lack of funds. I am trying to interest Christians everywhere to help me start another program of teaching on the air. One dollar per person each month from 100 people will carry the gospel to 50,000 souls in this county alone. I can go to the station four days per week and sit at a table and quietly talk to thousands who never heard and never will hear the gospel any other way. In this way I can be content to let others drive cars and ride trains, and I can stay at home and do more than any of them are doing, and for a fourth of the cost per month. If you want to help preach the gospel in this manner, send your aid soon, so that I can start the broadcast October first. Every cent will be reported in the gospel papers, and acknowledged by letter or card. Either send it direct to me, or to Radio Station KALG, Alamogordo, or to Mrs. Ad. Painter, church treasurer, but be certain to mark your donation "For Radio Broadcast by Tice Elkins" for church of Christ evangelism. "Can the Lord (can I) depend on you?" May he touch a hundred or a thousand hearts to carry the story of his sacrifice to others.

The Church of Christ, Sheridan, Wyoming, August 9: We are in need of help. At the present time, Brother J. A. Woolley has announced that he must leave the work here because of a lack of support. He will be leaving some time during the months of September or October. An evangelist is needed to take up the work of the Lord here. The congregation is at peace, and has an adequate building at the present time. In the past year the attendance has advanced from a group of 12 or 15 to 30 or 40 on each Lord's day morning. Several improvements have been made on the building. The situation is such that some small part of the support could be supplied by the congregation, but the major part must be supplied from elsewhere. We ask for your prayers and your help. Address all correspondence to L. M. Seid, 526 E. Works, Sheridan, Wyoming.

F. B. Shepherd, 1732 Keeaumoku, Honolulu, T. H.: If this catches the eye of anyone who knows the present address of Brothers Harry C. Moore, or Milton B. Judge, or Ernest C. Moore, original Trustees of the property here, please send me the data immediately. It is imperative we have this information now. Send an Air Mail Postcard if possible. We continue to go forward with the plans for replacing the old building. Attendance keeps up and contributions increase. One young father was immersed into the Christ last week. This is twelve immersions to date since I came out here. Visitors to the island to Service personnel coming for duty will note there is only one congregation on Oahu. From Downtown take the Punahou-University Bus to Keeaumoku. Walkiki residents will do better to use Taxi. Services at the usual hours as on Mainland. Lord's day evening at 7 p.m. instead of 7:30.

A. H. Bryant, 1445 Nogales Street, Del Paso Heights, California, August 18: During the past three weeks the church in Del Paso Heights has increased its membership by three young souls being baptized. Four placed membership and one confessed his wrongs and asked fellowship with the church here. Work on our new auditorium and class rooms is well under way. Attendance has held up remarkably well during the vacation season, and the contribution has held its own, or even increased. We are encouraged and determined to press onward to greater things for him. The colored church, recently established, has made some progress. They now have about twelve members. Plans are for them to take the building now being used by white brethren when our building is completed. They could use some financial assistance on the lots they plan to buy and move the building to. We especially need the prayers of Christians in this promising yet rather difficult field.

ON RECOGNIZING DANGERS

Frank Reeder

In the July 7 issue of Firm Foundation there is an article by Brother Weldon Bennett. Brother Bennett missed the point on the dangers of cooperation. He said that there are dangers in other things. What some brethren object to is the using of a method that is admitted to be dangerous and for which we have no scriptural example instead of one which we do have an example for. To substitute God's method for man's method which we know is dangerous is sinful. To use water, for which we have no example, instead of fruit of the vine, for which we do have an example, in partaking of the Lord's Supper is sinful. See the point?

A LETTER FROM WEST AFRICA

W. A. Bradfield

The following excerpts from a letter received from Brother Howard Horton in Nigeria, West Africa, are self-explanatory:

"Your heart would rejoice if you could see the fervor with which these people scramble for the tracts you have sent. The hunger for reading matter is almost impossible to fill."

"I first give a copy of each tract to the pupils and then go over the material with them to assure their understanding. I encourage them to use the material for sermons and lessons. They are learning well."

"I want you to know how much we appreciate your fellowship and encouragement. The tracts are making a very definite contribution to the cause of Christ in this country."

"The students are fond of all the tracts, and I find them especially anxious to give "Which Church Did Christ Build" to their associates. As you find churches who will help furnish tracts we can use many, many of them."

"There is no nation which offers more possibilities and more impediments than Nigeria. The country is awakening; youth craves education; all covet money and possessions. I pray that in the great awakening the Light of God can outshine the glitter of worldly pride and ambition. Pray for us."

Brethren, what are we going to do about this challenge? I have been personally helping in this work but the demand is too great for me to meet alone. The postage is nearly $3.00 per thousand tracts.

How much will you or your congregation give to this great work? Send any amount, to me at once and the tracts will be on the way immediately. We have published more than 2,000,000 copies of eight small tracts.

Let me hear from you as quickly as possible. Let's pour the tracts into Africa.

Don Gardner and Martell Petty in South Africa are also calling for tracts. Henderson, Tenn.

"RIVERSIDE ELDER PUBLISHES REVELATION NOTES FOR STUDY"

Claude A. Guild

Brother R. H. Banowsky, an elder at the church of Christ in Riverside, Fort Worth, Texas, has been making a special study of the book of Revelation for the past forty years. Last winter, he taught two classes in Revelation and was encouraged by the other elders and members to publish his notes. They are now off the press, and the book is entitled, "Revelation Notes For Study." It contains 80 pages.

In my opinion, these notes are the best, and make Revelation more readable and understandable than any commentary or work I have seen on this Book. I believe it is complimentary to the office of the eldership that the church has a man in the office able to do this very wonderful work.

This volume sells for 50c a copy, or 35c in lots of 50 or more. Order from Riverside Book and Bible Supply Company, 341 Emma Street, Fort Worth 11, Texas.

Jess Hall, 3205 Denton Road, Ft. Worth, Texas: Our new address in Fort Worth will be as above and we look forward to our new work with the Birdville congregation in Fort Worth. During our last week of work in Paducah with the Broadway congregation seven were baptized and three were restored. Our work during a little more than three years in Paducah, Ky., has been pleasant in every respect and we regret to leave our many good friends there. The Broadway congregation is one among the best to be found anywhere.

Reginald Beaver, Box 184, Delta, Colorado, August 20: The work here is progressing nicely. We have had our largest crowds and contributions lately. This is still a mission field. We hope to get the work started in Montrose, Colo., but we are still in need of some $3000.00 in order to purchase and remodel property to serve as a meeting house and living quarters for Brother K. A. Stone who is ready to move there. Will you help us spread the kingdom of the Lord in this area? I will be glad to accept your donations and acknowledge the same.

THE NEW CHAIN-REFERENCE BIBLE

Truly a Bible PLUS a Biblical Library in ONE Volume

EDITED BY REV. F. C. THOMPSON, D.D., PH. D.

READ WHAT OTHERS SAY:

Evangelist Horace W. Busby says: "Of the many Bibles with special helps (I have at least six), which I have used and thoroughly examined, the Third Improved Edition of Thompson's New Chain Reference Bible is without doubt the most helpful. Because of its Numerical-Chain Reference System it really stimulates Bible study, and its helps are more exhaustive than those in other Bibles." J. N. Armstrong, M. A., LL. D., President Emeritus, Harding College, says: "It is a great time-saver and it is an inspiration to deep spiritual knowledge of the Word of God." Don H. Morris, M. A., Abilene Christian College, says: "I have been using the New Chain Reference Bible for several months, and I find it one of the most convenient and time-saving aids to the study of God's Word that I have ever found. I would not want to be without a copy of this edition of the Bible at all." James F. Cox, M. A., Abilene Christian College, says: "The New Chain Reference Bible is a time-saver and a veritable mine of information. It makes Bible study much more interesting and successful." C. R. Nichol, LL. D., Minister, Church of Christ, Seminole, Oklahoma, says: "I have examined the latest edition of the Chain Reference Bible carefully and unhesitatingly pronounce it the most conveniently arranged reference Bible I have ever seen. The helps and general arrangement of this Bible are such that in my opinion it deserves a place in every home throughout the land." Evangelist W. A. Bentley says: "I consider the New Chain Reference Bible the best, most complete, useable, and practical Bible on the market today. It is a library of Bible information, a gold mine of spiritual truth. It inspires study and is a great time-saver. It makes the Bible easy and delightful to both young and old. As a Bible student you cannot afford to be without a copy of this wonderful book at any price."

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

God's Works

"The heavens declare the glory of God; the firmament showeth his handiwork" (Ps. 19:1). This Psalm is a poetical expression of great truths on a variety of subjects. The writer declares that the firmament is the work of the divine hand. And no sensible person can doubt this. The perfection of the solar system is a mark of infinite wisdom. We can give no reasonable explanation of the existence of the sun, moon and stars, except as a special creation of God. Their various functions that meet definite human needs and their movements without collision or accident tell us that they are the work of God's hands. We know of no other power that could make them, and give them the perfection and precision of action they manifest.

The writer of the book of Hebrews says, "For every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God." Has any one ever seen a house that was not built by human hands? No one doubts the apostle's statement when he says, "Every house is builded by some man." Why doubt the next statement, "He that built all things is God"? It would be just as reasonable to say that a certain house was not made by any man, as to say that this universe was made without God. If a man with a reputation for truth and honesty would point out a house, and tell you that nobody built it, you would not believe him. Evolution does not produce houses. A house of one room never evolves into a house of six rooms.

Houses do not accidentally come into existence. Some men who profess great wisdom try to make us believe that this world and the human family are just accidents in the course of nature. Just as well say that a house is just an accident in the course of nature.

The Law of God

Again in the nineteenth psalm David says, "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart; the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

All of this is said concerning the word of God—it converts the soul, makes wise the simple, rejoices the heart, and enlightens the eyes. Men are not converted by science or philosophy. Men do not reform their lives by studying astronomy, biology, geography, or arithmetic. The Bible is the only book that converts the soul.

Like the works of God, the word of God is perfect. There are no substitutes for the works of God. What could take the place of the sun? Men cannot make a light equal to the sun. They cannot make a source of heat that will equal it. If the sun were blotted out, all life on earth would become extinct. The light and heat of the sun promote growth of all things in the vegetable kingdom.

Of the law—the testimony, statutes and commandments, David further says, "Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward." There are many dangers and hazards along the way of life—many of them lurk in dark places and are invisible. Sometimes men do not know that these dangers exist till they are overtaken in them. The word of God warns them, but they do not heed it. Men are very childish in some things. The child does not know that fire burns and causes pain, till it puts its hands in the fire. And some adults do not know that they are in error till they suffer for it.

Witnesses Of His Glory

Hoyt Bailey

This lesson is founded upon the seventeenth chapter of Matthew. In the beginning of this chapter, we have the record of the transfiguration. "And after six days, Jesus taketh Peter, James, and John, his brother, and bringeth them up into an high mountain apart, and was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light. And, behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elias talking with him. Then answered Peter, and said unto Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him" (Matt. 17:1-5).

Some become concerned about the place of the transfiguration, and they overlook the importance of the event. The fact that it took place is the important thing to employ our attention. Some concern themselves with the date of Christ's birth and overlook the importance of the birth. Others seem to be concerned with the date or day of the week that Christ was crucified rather than think upon the significance of Christ's crucifixion. The fact that Christ was transfigured before some of his apostles is the thing which should challenge our immediate attention. We should try to gain some benefit from this consideration which will help each of us to appreciate more fully the purpose of the transfiguration. The apostles present on that occasion could see that Jesus was more than a mere man.

For Christ "was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light." Not only could they see that this was true concerning Christ, but while this was taking place, Moses and Elias came to them talking with them. These men came back from the unseen world, yet they could be recognized by the apostles on that very occasion. Moses gave the law from Mount Sinai, and Elias had helped to restore the law. The apostle Peter would give equal honor to Moses, Elias, and Christ. For scripture says: "Then answered Peter, and said unto Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias" (Matt. 17:4). Though Moses had been the one through whom God gave the law to Israel, and Elias had helped to restore the law to Israel, the time for the Mosiac Dispensation was now drawing to a close. For, "While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him" (Matt. 17:5). All who study the Bible should be able to see that God wants his Son to be heard. The prophets had foretold the coming of Christ. After Jesus Christ was baptized, the Spirit of God descended upon him from heaven as a dove, and God said, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased" (Matt. 3:17). The apostle Peter said after the church was established: "For Moses truly said unto the fathers, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me; him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you. And it shall come to pass, that every soul, which will not hear that prophet shall be destroyed from among the people" (Acts 3:22, 23). The Hebrew writer says: "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son" (Heb. 1:1, 2). These and many other similar passages point out that we are to hear Jesus Christ.

The fact that David introduced mechanical instruments of music into the praise service of Old Testament worship in no way gives one the right or authority to introduce mechanical instruments into Christian worship. For the Christian is not under the law of Moses, not under the teaching of the Old Covenant, but he is under the New Covenant, because he is under Jesus Christ. Everyone who reads the Old Testament can read about the New Covenant or New Testament which was to be given (Jer. 31:30-32). Those who read the New Testament can read about the Old Testament, or Old Covenant being fulfilled and taken out of the way.

We are informed in the New Testament that the Old Testament or Covenant "is done away" (2 Cor. 3:11); "vanished away" (Heb. 8:13); "taken out of the way" (Col. 2:14); "disannulled" (Heb. 7:18); "slain and abolished" (Eph. 2:15, 16); "broken down" (Eph. 2:14); "nailed to the cross and blotted out" (Col. 2:14). Should these passages of scripture be insufficient to convince you that Christians are not subjects of the Old Testament, let us note the following passages which show that Christians are "dead to the law" (Rom. 7:4); "not under the law" (Rom. 6:14); "redeemed from the law" (Gal. 3:13; 4:4, 5); "not children of the law" (Rom. 7:6); and "ye are severed from Christ, ye who would be justified by the law; ye are fallen away from grace" (Gal. 5:4).

The lesson that God has spoken to us through his Son is a difficult lesson to get across to religious people. So many well-meaning people are of the disposition to want to accept anything that is anywhere in the Bible as being in effect during the Christian dispensation. Some have the idea that if Adam, Noah, Abraham, Moses, or some other godly man under the Old Covenant did a thing, observed some ordinance, worshipped God, or engaged in some other act under their religious dispensations that such should be acceptable to God under Christ. To think and act in this manner is to ignore the voice which came through the cloud, which said, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him."

Everyone who studies the Bible should learn that individuals are not now required to return to Jerusalem every year as did the Jews, that we do not offer animal sacrifices as those did who lived under the Old Covenant, that Christians are not commanded to engage in the Tabernacle worship as was practiced during the days of Moses, neither has the Christian ever been commanded to keep the sabbath, or seventh day of the week holy as the Jews were commanded to do. The sabbath law applied to a certain nation. Note that Exod. 31:16, 17 says: "Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the sabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant. It is a sign between me and the children of Israel forever." As a wedding ring is a sign between a certain man and woman, so "the sabbath is a sign between Jehovah and the children of Israel." "And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Speak thou also unto the children of Israel, saying, Verily ye shall keep my sabbaths: for it is a sign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am Jehovah who sanctifieth you. Ye shall keep the sabbath therefore; for it is holy unto you: every one that profaneth it shall surely be put to death; for whosoever doeth any work therein, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. Six days shall work be done; but on the seventh day is a sabbath of solemn rest, holy to Jehovah; whosoever doeth any work on the sabbath day he shall surely be put to death" (Exod. 31:12-15). While the sabbath law was in force or in effect the penalty of death was enforced to all violators. For during the days of Moses, the man found gathering sticks on the sabbath day was put to death. "And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and stoned him to death with stones; as Jehovah commanded Moses" (Num. 15:32-36).

It should always be borne in mind that the sabbath law was given from Mount Sinai, it was a sign between Jehovah and the children of Israel throughout their generation, it was given to and applied to those who had been delivered from Egyptian bondage, while its law was in effect—its penalty of death was enforced to violators; Israel's law, the Jewish law including the sabbath has been fulfilled and abolished by Christ, nailed to his cross (Col. 2:14). It is clear to Bible students that the sabbath law was never given to Gentile nations. Since the sabbath law was not then given to the Gentile nations, it is not now given to Gentile nations, or the penalty of death would be enforced to violators.

The apostles on the mount of transfiguration hearing the voice from heaven, "fell on their faces, and were sore afraid. And Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid. And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only" (Matt. 17:6-8). This should have impressed the apostles with the fact that Jesus is the one to be heard in religious matters. For "when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only." God had just said unto them: "This is the one who has all authority in heaven and earth. He is King of kings, and Lord of lords, Christ is the one Prophet who was to be raised up, he is the head of the church, he is our Great High Priest who has passed into the heavens, and Christ is the one Mediator between God and man. God speaks to mankind through Jesus Christ, and we should follow the teaching given to us by God's Son.

From the ninth through the eighteenth verses of Matthew the seventeenth chapter, we have the record of Jesus performing a miracle, of his casting out a demon. Many have the impression that Jesus performed miracles for the mere purpose of healing some disease, but Jesus performed miracles that individuals might believe that Jesus Christ is God's Son. John wrote: "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples which are written in this book: but these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing, ye might have life through his name" (Jno. 20:30, 31). Christ did those miracles at the proper time to convince people that God was with him before the New Testament was written. People should observe the way the apostles wrote the Bible, and how others helped to write it. It should be noted that John does not say: "Many signs are being performed now by Christ." John does not say: "Many signs are to be shown by Christ." John says: "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples which are not written in this book." Christ did some miracles and signs. He did those signs prior to the writing of the New Testament. And John goes on to say: "But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name." Not only has Christ spoken that men through him may believe, but Christ performed miracles, and the written record of those miracles is to convince people that Christ is God's Son. Christ is not speaking outside of his revelation to man as recorded or written in the New Testament.

Keep in mind that God is not going to speak, nor that God is not continuing to speak; neither will God speak something in addition to what is written, because God, "hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son" (Heb. 1:1, 2). Paul informed the Corinthian Christians "that they should not go beyond the things which are written" (Cor. 4:6). The same apostle said to the churches in Galatia: "But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed" (Gal. 1:8, 9). John says: "Whosoever goeth onward and abideth not in the teaching of Christ, hath not God: he that abideth in the teaching, the same hath both the Father and the Son" (2 Jno. 9).

May this lesson remind everyone that he must come to Jesus Christ, come to the teaching of the last will and testament of Christ, the New Covenant. Forgiveness of sin was never promised under the law of Moses, therefore, look not to Moses or Elias, but hear and follow the words of Jesus Christ.

Baptist Preacher Converted

C. R. Paden

Sunday night, June 21, Vincenzo Ruggiero started a new phase of his very interesting life by being baptized for the remission of sins. That morning he had closed another phase by preaching his last sermon for the Lungaretta Baptist church here in Rome. He had been a Baptist for five years and was serving as a "pastor" of one of the three Baptist churches in Rome. He had also served as assistant and secretary for the vice-president of the World Baptist Alliance while here in Rome.

While Brother Ruggiero was a student of medicine at the University of Naples someone gave him a tract on some of the more pronounced errors of Catholicism. There were several scriptural quotations in the tract. He procured a Bible and in company with a friend began studying the Scriptures, however, since he was unacquainted with such study he became confused and his interest died. His friend continued to read and months afterward called on him to help find the meaning of an obscure verse. In searching for the meaning of this verse he soon regained the interest that he had lost.

Desiring to share what knowledge he had gained from his short study of the word, he called his friends to assemble in his house for further investigation. Soon 65 or 70 people were in regular attendance and with their own contributions they rented a hall. This success called their activities to the attention of the local clerics who organized feeling against them. Catholic mobs stormed their meeting place one night and several of the group were injured in the melee that followed.

With conditions intolerable and the safety of his followers in doubt he went to Naples and appealed to the local Baptist preacher for help. He was told that they could help only if he would let his group come into the Baptist convention. This would grant them the same rights that other Baptist churches had, to function without interference of this type. Later he enrolled at the Baptist seminary at Rivoli.

When he had completed one year of study there he was called into the army. When he had completed his tour of army duty he was called to Rome where he became the "pastor" of one of their churches. He has carried on his studies in the Waldensian seminary while here in Rome.

An appointment was made some six weeks before his conversion with Brother Ruggiero through a former Baptist friend. His reaction was immediate. We met almost daily after his first appointment. His ideas were those peculiar to this denomination and he defended them as long as he could.

About this time, Brother Roy Cogdill's book, "The New Testament Church" which we have translated came off the press. Brother Ruggiero asked for a short leave from his church and spent this time at his home with this book and the Bible before him. He examined every scripture and upon his return to us he asked to be baptized.

Since his conversion he is continuing his studies with us daily in preparation for the time when he will be sent out to preach only the truth. He knows Greek almost perfectly, as well as Italian and French. He reads German and English.

We are hoping to find a congregation to support this fine young man. (He is 28 years of age). We need his ability and his desire to be of service in reaching the lost of Italy. Can you help him? Write Crescent Hill Church of Christ, Brownfield, Texas, or the writer at Via Achille Papa 25. Rome, Italy.

A PATTERN TO FOLLOW

Glen L. Wallace

A pattern for centralized control can be found in the following article taken from the "Christian-Evangelist" and written by S. S. Lappin.

"To my mind any expedient is scriptural which gets a scriptural job well done. Or, to say it in different words, we are justified in devising and making use of such means as may be needful to carry out the apostolic programs.

"So believing, I have long held that the presbyterial system is more effective, and therefore, more scriptural, than our methodless procedure . . .

"The grouping of congregations in a given and contiguous area in associations of mutual good will and helpfulness is our next great obligation. It may be in counties, as in Southwest Missouri under guidance of a "county pastor," or it may be, as in a few instances I have noted, merely a loosely formed committee of "friendly counsellors" under oversight of the county-seat church or the otherwise most influential congregation in the group.

"The rule of 'church boards' must be broken; but something better must be put in its place. Our 'church officers' must learn there are servants with a job, not bosses with authority.

"True, we are a Bible people, but where the Bible does not speak, we are entitled to do so."

The Menace of Misinformation

Basil D. Shilling

1. He who accepts the Bible as the inspired word of God and reads it carefully and sincerely will be impressed with the fact that two points stand out on its pages with great prominence and clarity. Those two points are: (1) Man's need of the truth of God, to guide and direct him into the life that is happy, useful and profitable to himself and pleasing unto God; and (2) The ill and disastrous consequences of his acceptance of misinformation or error as the rule and guide of his life.

2. But despite these truths, men today and, I suppose, of every generation, continue to accept misinformation and to live thereby. Today because of misinformation—misinformation about the Bible, about Christ, about the church, about the divine scheme of redemption—many have been hindered in becoming Christians and becoming members of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ.

3. In this article, I desire to call attention to some Bible examples of individuals who, by reason of acting on misinformation, have experienced sorrow, suffering and the disfavor of God.

The Case of Adam and Eve

1. I call attention first to the example of Adam and Eve. The account given of them on the pages of the Bible leads us to believe that as long as they were obedient unto, governed and guided by the truth of God they were happy, successful and enjoyed the favor of God. How long this period was, we do not know. But the Bible shows that the day came when they accepted and acted upon misinformation—upon error which was spoken to them by the devil—and that tragedy and trouble, sorrow and suffering, destruction and death were the results thereof. The record says: "And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die" (Gen. 2:16, 17). Just as long as Adam and Eve were obedient to this divine truth, all was well with them. But the day came, we know not how long from their creation, when the devil appeared on the scene planting in their heart—at least the heart of the woman—misinformation. When in reply to his question, Eve told him that concerning the tree of knowledge of good and evil God had said, "Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die" the devil boldly declared: "Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil" (Gen. 3:1-5). Eve accepted and acted upon the misinformation the devil gave her. She ate of the forbidden tree and gave to her husband and he did eat also. Now what were the consequences? The consequences were tragedy and trouble, sorrow and suffering, destruction and death. It is summed up in these words of Jehovah on the occasion: "Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee. And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and thou shalt eat the herb of the field; in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return" (Gen. 3:16-19).

2. Can one read this inspired record of Adam and Eve and fail to understand that they, and all humanity ever thereafter, become heirs of all manner of trouble, tragedy, sorrow, suffering, destruction and death? Can we doubt that their story has been written for our instruction and learning? Can we doubt that to reject the truth of God and act upon misinformation—upon error—will bring ill consequences?

The Case of Israel

1. Consider next the case of the nation of Israel in a single particular. God delivered the whole people from the servitude and bondage of Egypt and promised to lead them into, and give them, the land of Canaan for their own everlasting possession. At the border of the land, twelve men were chosen and sent to look the land over and give a report. All of them agreed that it was a wonderful land. But ten of them declared, in view of the numerous and strong people who lived there: "We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we" (Num. 13:31). The whole congregation accepted this report of ten of the spies, and decided that it would mean only certain destruction if they undertook to enter and possess the land of Canaan. They proposed appointing them a new leader and returning to the land of Egypt. Now what were the consequences? Plainly, they rejected the truth of God and acted upon misinformation. God had promised to drive out the nations which then possessed the land, and give it to them. But they accepted the misinformation of the ten spies and refused to act upon the truth of God. The result was, God detained them in the wilderness until the last one above twenty years of age had died, save Joshua and Caleb. God declared: "Your carcasses shall fall in this wilderness; and all that were numbered of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, which have murmured against me, doubtless ye shall not come into the land concerning which I swear to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun. But your little ones, which ye said would be a prey, them will I bring in, and they shall know the land which you have despised. But as for you, your carcasses, they shall fall in this wilderness. And your children shall wander in the wilderness forty years, and bear your whoredoms, until your carcasses be wasted in the wilderness" (Num. 14:29-33).

2. The Bible abounds with other examples which likewise show that sorrow and suffering, tragedy and trouble, destruction and death have been the consequence of men's rejecting the truth of God and accepting misinformation of some sort. Space does not permit the narration of more. Suffice it to say that a rejecting of the truth of God and acceptance of misinformation caused the nation of the Jews to reject, hate and hound, despise and abuse, curse and crucify the Son of God and Savior of the world. The apostle Peter later told them, "I know that in ignorance ye did it, as did also your rulers" (Acts 3:17). Misinformation caused Saul of Tarsus to hate and persecute the church and seek to annihilate it from the face of the earth. Later he said: "I did it ignorantly in unbelief" (1 Tim. 1:13). Terrible and tragic have been the fruits of men's rejection of the truth of God and acting according to misinformation!

What Does A Preacher Do With His Time?

L. Daniel Harless

Some time ago people were singing a popular song entitled, "My Time Is Your Time." I'm quite sure the sentiment of that ditty had nothing to do with preaching or preachers; however, every preacher, whether he likes it or not, must admit that his time is not his own.

The preacher's activities are such as to require the physical stamina of an athlete, the finesse of a diplomat, the rigorous mental application of a scholar, the "wisdom of a serpent," "the harmlessness of a dove," and an unfailing sense of humor.

Since, then, a preacher's time is not his own and his schedule is quite heavy it is well to ask, "What does a preacher do with his time?"

First of all, let it be said that he is judged by that which takes, relatively, the least amount of this precious commodity. I refer, of course, to the delivery of his sermons. All are familiar with the standard remarks about this phase of his work. By now we are well aware that a preacher "has a snap—one hour of work a week—it takes six men to carry the money to him, etc." Some one has said a preacher "is responsible to God and dependent upon the grace of the congregation which he serves. His time is everybody's so he is always on the job. He is busy teaching, visiting the sick, the crying and the dying. He is often a physician without pills, a lawyer, a social worker, a taxi driver, an entertainer, a bone of contention and a handy piece of decoration for public functions. Between times he manages to keep his own children orderly (?), spend a little time with his wife, prepare several Bible class lessons per week, read news to keep abreast of current events and several religious journals to keep up with the brotherhood . . ."

In the face of such formidable requirements the preacher would do well to remember that his sermons are of first consideration. And—sufficient preparation requires considerable time.

A recent publication on sermon preparations is entitled, "Here is My Method." In this interesting book a number of preachers reveal their methods regarding this extremely important phase of the preacher's work. Here are excerpts from one famous preacher's method. His sermons are broadcast on a nationwide hookup every Sunday. Would that he were a member of the church purchased by the blood of our Lord:

"For my own pulpit, I write out in long hand the sermon which I intend to give, then a transcription is made on a wire recorder of what I actually do give. Putting these two manuscripts together, I prepare for the radio which I think I should give. It takes me several hours to work over a sermon for radio use, because I have to think of the listening congregation from coast to coast. After finishing the radio sermon and perhaps speaking incidentally at my mid-week service, I devote the last three days of the week to my sermon for Sunday morning. I should estimate that I put about eighteen hours of study on a morning sermon." (Here is My Method, page 182).

In spite of such herculean efforts we hear such stories as that of the Scotsman who was asked the reason for his regular attendance at church. The dialogue went something like this:

"Is it that you enjoy the worship?"

"Na, it's no' that."

"Perhaps you enjoy my sermons or the singing?"

"Na, it's no' that."

"Then what brings you here every week?"

"Weel, it's like this. I work hard a' week, and it's no' often I get sic a comfirtable sate wi sae little tae think aboot."

The value of personal work has come to the foreground in recent years. One book on the subject says, "You can do it." But most people feel the pronoun in this title refers to the other people in the congregation or, inevitably, to the preacher. Then, too there is a misconception as to the purpose of the preacher's visiting. He never ceases to be amazed, amused, or irked by that perfectly healthy individual who, directly or indirectly would have the preacher know that regular social calls are expected. This misses the boat entirely. Surely the preacher should be privileged to make a social call on occasion but this is beyond his duties as a preacher. The person or family that doesn't have the preacher pounding the door incessantly should feel flattered that he has confidence in them, that he doesn't feel it necessary to give them a push. Social calling upon Christians who are old in the faith is not to be confused with "preaching the word from house to house."

Then there is the matter of stirring up enthusiasm about needed projects which, more often than not, meet with staunch resistance. Recently, in a certain church, the elders recommended, in the interest of a building campaign, a system of purpose or pledge cards. The final tabulation of signed cards represented only 17 per cent of the congregation. This is old stuff to preachers everywhere. I mention the incident merely to show what the preacher does with his time. In this case it will take considerable time consuming "personal work" to get the system moving.

Then there is the matter of a church bulletin. In order that the worship might move along smoothly and a minimum of time be taken up with announcements most congregations have a bulletin. This little paper is usually prepared by or under the direction of the preacher. A church bulletin is an interesting and informative paper from which the congregation derives much good. But it requires time and thought if it is to be sufficiently interesting and informative to be read from week to week. If it isn't read, the purpose is defeated.

Here's another: Preachers are called upon to preach and lecture at various times and places. Recently this preacher was requested, for example, to preach the baccalaureate sermon at a high school in a near-by town. The hour was set for 11:00 o'clock on Sunday morning. Like the laws of the Medes and Persians it seems that the time could not be changed. The principal assured me that it was customary and traditional. The townspeople would be at the school instead of in church. And he couldn't understand why I refused the invitation! Then there are lectureships, so popular these days, and special assignments which require considerable digging.

The preacher is continually calling upon the church to read and study the Bible. In addition to his sermons, Bible classes, protracted meetings, lectures, and special assignments, all of which require study, he must, if he loves the word, be a daily Bible reader, a constant student not merely of certain lessons but of all the Bible.

Then there are weddings—big ones that require a rehearsal and little ones that require only the time it takes to investigate the couple to see if one may officiate in all good conscience.

A funeral service requires all the preacher possesses in the way of skill, sympathy, love, and a knowledge of the many comforting passages from God's Book. The message should be at once comforting and helpful, yet uncompromising. That's a big order for anybody. The preacher's mission doesn't end with the last amen at the graveside. It is afterward, in the terrible emptiness of the home of the bereaved, that he is most needed. And, of course, all this takes time.

But lest we become enamoured with our own importance let it be said that it is highly possible for the preacher to become lazy, to fail the church and to fail his God in the momentous work he has undertaken. It is not the purpose of worship to sit as a critic on Sunday and, as someone expressed the matter recently, "see if the preacher puts on a good show." He is not in show business. Yet it is quite true that the congregation observes unfailingly when the preacher falls short in his preaching. And not only does his failure show up in his preaching; it shows up in his life.

Some time ago I wrote of the apparent acceptance on the part of Christians everywhere of the notion that preachers spend the greater part of their time sleeping. To this end I composed the following doggerel which appeared in that sterling journal, the Christian Leader.:

Preacher's Lament

Of all sad words which are written or said
That your preacher's asked each day of the year, Dinned o'er and o'er in longsuffering ear,
"Tis, "Preacher, did I get you out of bed?"
At dewy morning hour or sunny noon,
At vesper time or deep, black night,
How oft from jangling phone this query bright—
"Oh, Preacher, did I get you out of bed?"
Five tussling children; O, my aching head,
And writing and visiting plus sermons to be got
Before the deadline closer slips in tightening knot —
"Tell me, Preacher, did I get you out of bed?"
It's Saturday at eleven, how time has fled,
The wedding's at twelve, the funeral at four;
The telephone rings and that question once more —
"Oh, Preacher, did I get you out of bed?"
"That was a fine sermon Preacher; my mind was well fed;
'Twas soul-stirring, inspiring—and by the way —
Did you think of those splendid things to say
As you lay blissfully dreaming upon your restful bed?"
Preachers have more things to take up their time than anybody—provided they are truly dedicated to the great task of saving souls. Since they are engaged in the world's greatest work, let them not complain. It is said that the three great temptations of the preacher are "shining, whining, and reclining." He, above all persons, should know that:
"To live with the saints in heaven
Is bliss and glory;
To live with the saints on earth
Is—often another story."
To be sure, the jingle works both ways. Preacher saints are like all other saints with which we have to do.
Oh yes, I nearly forgot—in addition to the foregoing, a preacher's time is occasionally taken up with the writing of books and articles—on such timely topics, for example, as "What Does A Preacher Do With His Time?"

CALLING NAMES

Glenn L. Wallace

Moses E. Lard, in September, 1863, wrote of a discussion he had been reading between Errett and Franklin and gave his endorsement to the pointed discussion that had been carried on. He says:

"It cannot be denied that at times the discussion has become a little piquant; and I have thought that now and then I could even taste in it some slight traces of acetic acid and salt. Perhaps this was all imaginary. But suppose it was not, what then? I love to read a thing when it becomes a little racy, and can stand it well when it becomes even a little rare, to use a favorite term of the Epicurean, when ordering his steak. I do not mean that I like to see a discussion look bloody; but with me let it look almost any way rather than cadaverous. Away with that sickly sentimentalism which screams out at every strong epithet of an earnest man! I love epithets; and if they detonate like percussion caps or flash like meteors, all the better. Only let them be not unbecoming the gravity of religious discussion and the fraternity of Christians. As for the condiments just named, they are excellent things, as is well known even to children. Salt is a capital disinfectant, keeping out bad odors, and both salt and acetic acid have fine conservative properties. Even religious discussions cannot do well without them."

Buchanan-Brown Debate

Worley Ferguson

It was my privilege to moderate in a religious discussion held at the Northeast Church of Christ in Ardmore, Oklahoma, from July 27-30, between Brother Logan Buchanan and Mr. L. H. Brown, Missionary Baptist of the Bethel Baptist Church in Ardmore.

The first two nights of the discussion Mr. Brown affirmed that, "The Scriptures teach that the child of God is saved at the point of faith, without any additional acts of obedience." Mr. Brown made the regular arguments made by Baptists. One of the outstanding things of this proposition was that Brother Buchanan showed that according to Mr. Brown's argument that the individual was totally depraved and that God worked a direct miracle upon the individual giving him saving faith, therefore, at no time in the individual's life was he responsible to God. Throughout the debate Brother Buchanan asked Mr. Brown to come to the board and write at what time the individual was responsible to God. The discussion ended without Brown making any attempt to show at what time in life the individual was responsible. Total depravity caused Mr. Brown trouble every night of the discussion. Another question asked by Brother Buchanan was, "Why does God condemn a live baby and save a dead one if all are born depraved?"

The last two nights of the discussion Brother Buchanan affirmed that it was possible for a child of God to so sin as to be finally and eternally lost in hell. He opened his affirmative speech showing that he did not make his arguments upon the grounds that God did not love his children, or that God did not will the salvation of his children, etc. This approach took away much of Mr. Brown's arguments. Brown labored hard to show that only the "outer man" sinned and that the "inner man" could not sin. He stated that he baptized only the "outer man" and not the "inner man." Mr. Brown stated that the "outer man" would not be redeemed until the morning of the resurrection. Brother Buchanan showed that all that Brown had in the Baptist church was the unregenerated child of the devil. From this blow, Mr. Brown never recovered.

The debate was conducted on a very high plane. Mr. Brown proved to be a gentleman throughout the discussion. I have never seen a more sincere debater among the Baptist people. I would class him a little above the average debaters among his brethren. He is clean in his debates and tries hard to drive his points. Not one time in the discussion did he attempt to slur his opponent by calling him a "Campbellite."

Those who know Logan Buchanan know his ability as a debater and that in his hands the cause will not suffer. He and Curtis Porter have much in common as to composure while in debate. Not one time did he get ruffled or frustrated, or provoked by his opponent. As calm as the peaceful bay he meets his opponent with a smile that impressed not only the brethren but all that were present. The greatest objection, I think, that Mr. Brown would have to Brother Buchanan is that he read from Pendleton's Manual a little too much for his comfort. The debate was well attended with preachers coming from several states. It was estimated that between 2,000 and 2,500 were present each night. If you need a defender of the truth, I would heartily recommend Brother Buchanan.

What Does The Bible Say?

Paul Accused of Being A "Sectarian"

It is extremely difficult today to convince one's friends that it is possible to be just a Christian, nothing more and nothing less. In the churches of Christ we are pleading for undemoninational Christianity. We do not ask people to join a religious sect or party or denomination. We simply ask them to follow Christ "according to the way," as Paul expressed it before Felix (Acts 24:14).

Yet even Paul was accused by the Jews of being a "ring-leader of the sect of the Nazarenes." He refused to accept this description of his faith. He did not look upon Christianity as a matter of allegiance to a sect or party, but as a way of life under God. In the first chapter of the Corinthian letter, Paul strongly condemned the sectarian spirit which caused some to claim Apollos, some Peter, some Paul as their favorite leader (1 Cor. 1:12).

New Testament Christianity was not sectarian or denominational. The earliest denominations or sects originated several generations this side of the first century. We believe it is possible to sow the seed of the kingdom ("The seed is the word of God" Luke 8:11) in the hearts of sincere men and women today and reap simple Christians just as was done in New Testament times. Wherever the pure seed is planted it will bear this pure fruit.

These simple Christians will accept no creed but Christ, no rule of faith but the Bible. They will not be bound by an ecclesiastical organization with headquarters here on earth. They will be free men under Christ. They will need no intermediary except Jesus Christ their high priest, for all Christians are priests (1 Peter 2:9). They will voluntarily associate themselves in local congregations or churches which will be independent under God, as were the churches of God in Corinth, Ephesus, or Jerusalem. Their religion will be a "way" of life.

Four years ago we saw some of the wheat seed in the Cairo Museum which was preserved in the tombs of the Pharaohs for thousands of years. We read that some of this seed was planted and brought forth fruit of the same kind they had in Joseph's day. The life had been preserved in the seed.

So today the life of Christianity is carried in the seed. Thank God that more millions of this seed, the Word of God, are being distributed and read than ever before in history. There is no telling how many thousands are being "born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible seed by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever" (1 Peter 1:23). We hear of them in Nigeria, Russia, India, and around the world.

May we plead with you to "receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls" (James 1:21). Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ as God's Son, repent of your sins today, and confess your faith to others, and be buried with him in baptism to rise in newness of life. Whoever you are, and wherever you are, when you read this you can become just a Christian by obeying the word of God!

WHAT IS WRONG WITH SWEARING?

"Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying that it may minister grace unto the hearers" (Eph. 4:29).

"And whoso shall swear by heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon" (Matt. 23:22).

"But now ye also put of all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth" (Col. 3:2).

"Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words, thou shalt be condemned" (Matt. 12:36).

"But I say unto you, swear not at all" (Matt. 5:34).

Swearing is a violation of God's law. The third commandment states, "Thou shalt not take the name of Jehovah thy God in vain" (Exodus 20:7). This use of God's name in an irreverent or unholy manner is included in Webster's definition of swearing. "Swearing: to use the name of God or sacred things profanely; to curse." From the scriptures above it is evident that God's denunciation of this sin did not end in the Old Testament, but that today we are admonished to "swear not at all."

Though it may be heard in what is thought polite society, in the business office, in the store or shop, or even in otherwise respectable homes swearing is still a sin. It is definitely prohibited in the scriptures. "The Lord will not hold him guiltless who taketh his name in vain." James indicts any man's religion who is not able to bridle his tongue. The fundamental reason for this is that "out of the abundance of the heart" the tongue speaks, to use Jesus' words. Modern psychology has borne additional evidence to prove that men do not speak without meaning, even when they claim that they do not mean what they say.

Shakespeare has his half-wit Caliban say to his master, "You taught me language; and my profit on it is, I know how to curse." Of how many educated men and women could that be said today? But often people who swear excuse themselves by saying that it is merely a habit and that they don't really mean any disrespect to God or Christ or sacred things. Ah, there is the very point. The first time they used holy names in a profane, impure, irreverent, unconsecrated manner it means something! You can't conceive of an intelligent man using his bride's name or the name of his children or his best friends in his cursing. A name stands for the personality or thing signified. God knows that men will not continue to love him if they lose respect for his name, for respect is a prerequisite of love. The fact that one no longer stops to consider the profane language he or she uses is simply evidence of a hardened conscience. A man could conceivably become so accustomed to killing men that he would do it without really thinking about it seriously.

"How can I stop?" someone frequently asks. First, pray God to forgive you if you are a Christian. He will do so and he will give you spiritual strength to overcome this useless and loathsome habit. Watch the speech of those who do not swear and use the dictionary to find the right words to express yourself without swearing. Swearing is frequently a sign of ignorance of the English language. No doubt you will occasionally stumble, but God will forgive you if you ask him, and with his help you will grow more like Jesus every day. Finally, learn to think more reverently of God and Jesus Christ and of all the persons or sacred things you used to use profanely. This should accompany the whole process of change. Consider your fellow men with more respect. Each one is an immortal being made in the image of God and beloved by God. Always keep in mind that you can break the habit of swearing with God's help!

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

G. H. P. SHOWALTER

It seems to me that I have known Brother Showalter all my life and I'm seemingly at a loss without some criticism of him, but frankly, I have none. In all the years I have known him and read his editorials in the Firm Foundation, I have observed no political tendencies, no seeking for power, no stress of one scripture or the neglect of another. So far as I know he has been more in the middle of the road on more issues than any other man among us—fearless, declaring the truth as he saw it without fear or favor. I have observed his tenderness toward opposition and his tolerance toward those who make issues over matters of opinion.

Brother Showalter is one of our great men spiritually speaking (which is what counts) but is not a strong leader. He has built a big publishing business which has made him independent. It would mean much to the church were he 25 years younger.—Jimmy Lovell, in California Christian.

Brother Jimmy Lovell has an active mind and is a rapid thinker and is reputed to make many mistakes. However, he is a good young man, a Bible student, a wide ranged and voracious reader, and a prolific writer. He says many good things that are worthy of the consideration of readers of religious literature. In his paper, the California Christian, he proceeds to make an appraisal of what he regards as prominent men from Alexander Campbell on down to the present time. He says a lot of things that are good and a lot of them "un-good," as the little boy said about his egg for breakfast. He is caustic in his criticisms of many of the brethren who are prominently known in the brotherhood in active public service in the church. In the above, he is kind enough to say a number of good things about the Editor of the Firm Foundation.

So far as leading is considered, it has been my observation that nearly all leaders are hobbyists. They get up a hobby and campaign for followers. Frank Norris was a leader among the Baptists. So far as leadership in the church of Christ is concerned, we have but one leader, and that is our Lord Jesus Christ. Every Christian should follow Christ alone as our leader. New idealisms, hobbyisms, notions and opinions, and leaders of all of these, should have no place in the kingdom of God. The love of God, and of Christ, and of the church, and of the Bible, should control the lives of all the brethren, whether preachers, editors, or what not. Self-appointed leaders have done the church far more harm than good. Those who, in their lives, exemplify the life, character and service of our Savior and direct men to him, as their own Leader, are the ones who are best serving in the church of the living God.

Paul was a follower, not a "leader." He followed Christ and insisted that the brethren follow him in doing the same thing. Brother Jimmy Lovell has done, and is doing much good in many ways, and merits help, sympathy, and encouragement. Of course he finds fault with most of the brethren, and who couldn't? I don't think he has started or wants to start any religious societies and organizations other than the church. However, if he does I think he would make about the best we can find to be the founder and captain of The American Faultfinding Association. We need more faultfinders, come to think of it. There are entirely too many faults now hidden, concealed, and lost that should be brought to light.

NEW CONGREGATION IN LUFKIN, TEXAS

Bill Thompson

Construction is now under way on our meeting house on the Union Road. The Fourth and Groesbeck Church is responsible for the establishment of this new work, and it is in the unity of the Spirit this step has been taken. There will be two faithful churches of the Lord working together in fellowship when this new work is begun. Our facilities at Fourth and Groesbeck have been crowded for over a year, and to a degree it has handicapped our progress.

The church has enjoyed a remarkable, almost phenomenal growth in the past two years. The church is carrying on a full program of activity and souls are being added to the Lord regularly. The late W. S. Moody laid the foundation for this good work. His ministry of fifteen years speaks for itself in the city of Lufkin and surrounding territory. Brother Cled E. Wallace labored with this congregation for three years, and contributed much in a grave crisis which confronted the church. We are simply reaping much that they have sown.

Brother C. R. Nichol recently assisted us in the best Vacation Bible School we have ever had, and it nearly doubled our record enrollment and attendance for 1952. Four hundred forty-three were enrolled, and three hundred thirty-seven was the average daily attendance. W. R. Freeman, Austin, Texas, did a commendable work in leading the singing, also teaching.

For nearly fifteen years, Brethren F. B. Thompson and M. S. Bills have been elders of this church. Brother R. L. Staland has been an elder for over eight years, and these three men are still elders of the Fourth and Groesbeck congregation, and only interested in promoting the work of the church. Brethren A. A. Beck, J. O. Stubblefield, and Grady Johnson have served as deacons for a number of years. Alton Thompson is our song leader and very capable. These men are serving on the building committee for the new meeting house: Roy Brown, J. D. Pearson, and J. O. Stubblefield. They are men of ability and integrity, and highly esteemed by the church and people of the community.

I have been with the congregation for nearly five years, and it has been for the most part a pleasant work. The church is in better condition spiritually and numerically than it has been to my knowledge. Unity prevails, and we are looking forward to even greater things for the church and the Lord as we continue to labor with them.

A Review

Homer Putnam Reeves

This is a continuation of an article which appeared in the issue of May 12, under the caption, "Dr. Wood Complains."

Dr. E. V. Wood has been and is a leading exponent of premillennialism on the Dallas scene. Many will recall that he sought to give aid and comfort to the enemy by presenting personally to Frank Norris a copy of the Neal-Wallace debate back in 1934. The loyal saints will not soon forget the Norris-Wallace debate. It certainly pointed up the sympathies of our premillennial brethren. They demonstrated very definitely that they were for premillennial, funny-metal, J. Frank Norris and against F. E. Wallace. Yet, in the face of this ugly scene they howl today because loyal saints do not fellowship them. Indeed!

In his six-page typewritten article, Dr. Wood says, "That the church is the kingdom and that when one becomes a Christian he is translated into the kingdom of God's dear Son (Col. 1:13), no one denies. But Jesus in Matthew 13 refers to the church as the 'mystery of the kingdom . . .' This is typical of the loose thinking and wishful thinking of my visionary brethren. Jesus nowhere refers to the church as the mystery of the kingdom. He told the disciples that they were permitted to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven. But by no stretch of the imagination can we detect the church as being the mystery of the kingdom."

Dr. Wood asks, "Where it says, 'His kingdom ruleth over all,' is that the church?" Evidently not. This probably refers to the complete domain of Jehovah. He wonders whether the kingdom in Rev. 11:15 is the church. Probably so. He asks whether reference is made to the church in Matt. 8 where it is stated that many shall come from the east and the west and shall sit down with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. Yes, the redeemed church. Jesus said, "When ye see these things coming to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh" (Luke 21:31). Dr. Wood asks, "Is that the church?" Yes, that is the church. It couldn't be your imaginary future kingdom, Dr. Wood, for it "came nigh" about 20 centuries ago. "This generation shall not pass away till all things be accomplished" (verse 32). My brother continues: "When to members of the church, the apostle says that through much tribulation they must enter into the kingdom of God, did he mean that the church today is the kingdom of God?" He meant that Christians should remain faithful in order to inherit heaven—the redeemed church.

One thing characterizes all of my erring, premillennial brethren. They will not face up to the consequences of their theories. The logical consequences of their untenable position they will not bear. This is typical of all false teachers. Here is an example: They deny that the kingdom exists; they deny that Christ reigns today, in fact. Yet, when confronted with evidence that people have been translated into the kingdom (Col. 1:13, et al), they skirt about and declare that the kingdom does exist in a sense. It does and it doesn't. Yes.

Another example of my brother's hedging is seen in his view of Eph. 3:10, 11. He contends that he and his premillennial brethren believe that the church has "always been in God's mind." They stoutly deny that the church is an accident. Yet, I submit, if their position be true, the church is an accident. Did John not preach, "The kingdom of heaven is at hand"? (Matt. 3:2). Did Jesus not state, "Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand"? Is it not true that the kingdom was to have been set up during the lifetime of some of the disciples who lived when Jesus lived? (Mark 9:1). Is it not true that Christ said, "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand . . ."? Now, if after viewing the great volume of prophetic teaching, designating with great clarity the time, manner and place for the establishment of the kingdom and if after hearing Christ announce that the time is fulfilled for it, we see God reverse his plans, postpone the establishment of the kingdom indefinitely, and set up the church instead, does that not strike you as being a chance circumstance?

This brother admits that God's plans never miscarry. But if he planned to set up his kingdom during the lifetime of Christ's contemporary disciples, and was frustrated in his effort by infidel Jews, forcing a postponement, a postponement which must yet be projected into the future as of 1953 A.D., his plans did miscarry.

The doctor says that God adapts his plans and action to "conditions and the choice of man." This is a very broad statement and a very dangerous one. Ordinarily, it is not true. There are instances where God has changed his mind, but they are rare indeed. Here is my critic's argument: "God's pre-announced plan to lead the people whom he had brought out of Egypt into the land of Canaan was revised, and his purpose to bring the nation in was deferred for forty years. Was it not because they refused and rejected? And but for Moses' intercession, the whole plan would have been held up for 400 years more." There you have it. God pre-announced that he would bring Israel immediately into Canaan. Who said so? Dr. Wood. There is no parallel here. Moses asked, "Have I conceived all this people . . . that thou shouldst say unto me, Carry them in thy bosom, as a nursing-father carrieth the suckling child, unto the land which thou swarest unto their fathers?" (Num. 11:12).

My erring brother asserts that one thing may be consequent upon another and therefore no accident. Correct. He then asserts, "The cross of Christ was consequent upon man's sin. If man had not sinned, Christ would not have needed to die. Was the cross therefore an accident?" Of course, the cross was no accident. It has always been in God's plan. God, knowing the end from the beginning, knew that man would sin and from eternity decreed that Christ should be offered as a lamb without spot (cf 1 Peter 1:19). If Christ had been spared, that would have been an accident. If he, together with a dozen others, had fallen before a firing squad in Jericho, that would have been an accident. If he had been forced to drink the hemlock in Nazareth, that would have been an accident. What Dr. Wood needs to find is a passage which states that the establishment of the kingdom was to have been consequent upon acceptance of Christ by the Jews.

He pursues this argument: "If Israel had not transgressed against Jehovah (and they did not have to), the Gentile dominion would never have come in." Thus we have more of the misguided Brother's bold assertion. Saying it, Dr. Wood, doesn't make it so. He asks, "If the Jews had accepted Christ, would there have been a church?" Indeed, there would have been a church! Some means would have been available for the Gentiles; the church had to come into existence.

Regarding the kingdom being spiritual, "not of this world," my critic asks, "Is the church an assembly of ghosts?" Well, some churches are sort of ghostlike. The church (in part) is in the world but not of the world. The spiritual nature of the kingdom of God as set forth in the New Testament is a far cry from the crass materialism of premillennial wishers who would place Christ upon an earthly throne to inhabit an earthly temple, and maintain an earthly government—a government characterized by all the mundane elements of Jewish theocracy.

Finally, Dr. Wood is greatly vexed because brethren who "believe the same Bible, worship the same God, believe in the same Christ, in the same way of salvation, in the same church, and in the same simple worship," are branded as heretics and disfellowshipped. Heretics they are and disfellowshipped they should be everywhere.

Where is J. Frank Norris anyway?

W. S. Wiley, 503 E. Huisache, Kingsville, Texas, August 24: One fine young lady was baptized at the close of services yesterday morning.

Homer Putnam Reeves, 2442 W. Jefferson, Dallas, Texas, August 25: Two were baptized; four restored and three added to Sunset forces by transfer on August 23.

George Tipps, 211 W. Grand, Jackson, Tennessee, August 24: No responses in the Roellen (Tenn.) meeting. Highland will support me in a meeting at Harlan, Ky., September 7-16, my second with them. Earl West will preach here in September during my absence.

Murrey W. Wilson, 204 F. St., S.W., Bentonville, Arkansas, August 24: I began work with this congregation August 16, following Brother Worly Ferguson, who has moved to Ardmore, Oklahoma. Brother Ferguson did a good work here and is loved by all of the congregation. One lady has placed membership. I would like to arrange for some meetings in this section for 1954. If interested, write me.

Wm. M. Deuell, Newport, Ohio, August 19: Another has been baptized in the Lord and another has been restored this past week. The work on the new baptistry continues and we hope to have it completed within a month. A class for the kindergarten age was started a week ago and over fifteen attended this evening during prayer meeting. We are now planning for our coming fall meeting October 6.

A. Chester Grimes, Heights Church of Christ, Houston, Texas: Three placed membership with us last Sunday and one of them were restored. The week before three were baptized, one of whom was a Catholic. I preached in a meeting in Angleton, Texas, last week from Monday through Saturday. They had just opened their new building and it is a nice one, completely air conditioned. Brother J. A. Bristow preaches for them.

John W. Hedge, 636 Kickapoo St., Jacksonville, Texas, August 25: I closed an excellent meeting with the church at Looxahoma, Miss., last Lord's day evening with three fine young people being baptized and much good accomplished otherwise. The building was filled each evening with attentive listeners, and it was not a small building! Many visitors came from Senatobia, Sardis, Antioch, Grenada, Memphis, Hernando, and other points. I shall, the Lord willing, begin a meeting with the church at Canute, Okla., September 4 to continue over the second Lord's day.

Luther Norman, Barksdale, Texas, August 25: We had three baptisms here last week and several others are almost ready. The churches at Barksdale and Camp Wood are in a very healthy condition, though the terrible drouth, now well along in its fourth year, is making it very hard for them to keep a preacher. Unless there are some very favorable changes soon, I may have to find other work about November 1. I wonder, if such should be the case, if some small church within 150 miles, or so, from Austin would want me. If so, please address me as above.

Wyatt Sawyer, Madisonville, Texas, August 24: One was baptized here last Wednesday night. My new address is 4018 Sue Ellen St., Houston, Texas.

Hershel Dyer, 847 S. 14th, Lincoln 8, Nebraska, August 25: Two adults were baptized here this past Lord's day. We are more than meeting an increased budget which was set for the latter part of '53. When in the Nebraska State capital worship with us at the corner of 14th & F.

Willis G. Jernigan, 1401 Ash Street, Commerce, Texas, August 25: Three baptisms and two to be identified here during past two Lord's days. I am now in a meeting at Cross Roads near Grand Saline. Our fall meeting is scheduled to begin October 11 with Brother B. C. Goodpasture of Nashville, Tenn., doing the preaching.

R. H. Banks, Jr., 1331 East 11th, Shawnee, Oklahoma, August 27: The gospel meeting at Willow Springs, Texas, closed with eight responses. Six were baptized and two restored. I spoke in the annual meeting at Old Dover, Ohio, on August 9. Twenty-seven congregations were represented. One was restored at Shadyside, Ohio, August 16. Local brethren spoke here in my absence. We are blessed with several brethren in the congregation who can preach the gospel.

J. K. Bentley, 300 N. Riverside Dr., Fort Worth, Texas, August 27: I closed at Twitty, Texas, August 23 with one baptism. My address will be Fort Worth for the next 30 days. I am making plans to help in some mission fields in northwest Colorado, where there are only two small congregations totaling about fifty members. Truly the harvest is white and laborers are few in that area, three county seats with total population of 10,000 and no New Testament church!

Edward J. Craddock, 1714 Cass Street, Nashville, Tennessee, August 24: The meeting in Peoria, Illinois, where James Burrow is engaged in an outstanding work as local preacher, closed with nine baptisms and 23 restorations and public confessions. I begin with William Kuhns in Caruthersville, Missouri, August 30, and with M. F. Cottrell and the church at Terre Haute, Indiana, Indiana, on September 30.

A. E. Wickham, Coshocton, Ohio, August 22: Recently I closed a good meeting in Pennsville. We had very large crowds. Five persons were baptized and two persons placed membership. This is an old congregation that has known me for a long time. Last fall as I was with them ten came into the church on the first Lord's day after the meeting closed. Large crowds at the East Main Street church in Coshocton.

C. N. Scott, 301 N. W., 52nd St., Miami, Florida, August 24: Four confessions of sin, one baptized and one placed membership at 7th Avenue church the past two Lord's days. Several nice lots at 143rd St., N.W., and Miami Avenue, have recently been purchased by the church and another congregation will be established there some time in the future. The property is in a very nice residential area and adjoining newly developing housing areas. A definite amount weekly is being set aside toward the proposed new work.

Chester Estes, Sheffield, Alabama, August 25: I closed a good meeting with the Theo congregation, near Corinth, Miss., August 17 with two baptisms. One was baptized at Highland Park August 23.

Bertram C. Shearer, Monticello, Kentucky, August 25: Beginning September 1 will be employed in the high school at Clark, South Dakota, as music teacher.

James B. Scott, 722 E. Van Buren, Harlingen, Texas, August 24: A fine young man from the Air Force Base was baptized here last evening. At the morning hour two were restored and four placed membership. In addition, six were baptized at the Latin-American congregation so far this month. For all this we thank God and take courage.

Stanley E. Neely, Mayfield, Oklahoma: The work continues to show progress at the Bulo church. One was restored to her first love at our morning service. We look for several more soon. We began a meeting August 24 with Brother Noah Sparks, Jr., doing the preaching. If I can assist the church in a fall meeting anywhere, write me at the above address.

TELEGRAM: Great Bend, Kansas: I am available for local work and would like to get located by the time school begins if possible. Brethren needing a preacher may contact me at 1200 Jefferson Street, Great Bend, Kansas. My phone number is 5317. From August 21 through August 30 you may contact me in care of Church of Christ, Thalia, Texas, where I will be in a meeting.—C. Howard Casada.

James O. Wilburn, Box 11, Gruver, Texas, August 24: The Gruver meeting with John Maples preaching and Paul Harlan directing the singing resulted in one immersion and one restoration. Sustained daily attendance reached a new level of interest with day service ranging from forty-five to seventy-eight. Dow Wilson will be with us in our next meeting.

Sister U. G. Wilkinson, Box 192, Comanche, Oklahoma, August 25: We read with great interest your writing on "Neglect." The word can mean so much. Where the leaders neglect their duties to visit sick, especially the elders, that church will have empty seats, small interest, when such is the case. Brother David Underwood of Searcy, Ark., will be here the first Lord's day in September to preach and help carry on the Lord's work. We are praying for much good.

Fred L. Yeats, Wilson, Texas, August 24: It has been some time since I sent in a report from New Home, but we haven't been idle. Last night marked the close of our meeting with Brother W. R. Jones of Lubbock doing the preaching. He did his part well and fourteen responded to the invitation. 3 baptisms, 3 by membership, 2 restorations and six confessions of wrongs. This made a total of 41 responses since we came to labor with these good brethren. Pray for us that our work may continue as God would have it. Two weeks ago I closed a good meeting at Causey, New Mexico, with Brother Elmo Burkett the faithful minister. One 62-year-old man who had been a member of the Baptist church for forty-one years, was baptized. I am to be with the church at Arch, N. M., September 6-15. After that, I have but one more meeting this year. I could find time for another or two. I am also booking meetings for 1954. If you need me, write me.

Wyatt Sawyer, Madisonville, Texas, August 17: Two have been baptized and one restored here in the past few days.

Chas. Lemons, Louisville, Kentucky, August 24: After September the first my address will be 5602 Sherwood Drive, Chattanooga, Tennessee. I am to begin work with the East Ridge congregation of that city.

Sister U. G. Wilkinson, Comanche, Oklahoma, August 17: I am some better. I need to find a lone woman to share my home with me, or a girl in need of a home. I know there are many of this kind if we could find the one. Surely enjoy the Firm Foundation. Wish it could be in every home.

Clem Wesley Hoover, Cherokee, Texas, August 13: I am now living at the above address. I preached for the brethren in Johnson City, Texas, August 2 in two services, and was called to San Antonio last Lord's day to be with the Grove Avenue Church of Christ for two services. We certainly enjoyed our visit with these two congregations.

Earl E. McCord, Corning, Arkansas, August 24: My part of the meeting at Reyno, Arkansas, closed Saturday night, the 22nd. Brother Marshall Connor was the preacher. I am now at Dorena, Mo., with Brother Don Kester of Fulton, Ky., and will be here until September 3rd, after which time I could be with you. Please write me at my home address.

James F. Fowler, 403 Church St., College Station, Texas, August 24: One was baptized and two placed membership at last evening's service. One was identified with the church on the Sunday before while I was on vacation. While visiting in Nashville I preached at all three services at the Belmont church. One young lady who is a student at Peabody was baptized.

John H. Gerrard, 529 Clark St., Aurora, Illinois, August 10: The work of the church here continues favorably. One was restored at Joliet yesterday afternoon in the service there. The new work there is making splendid progress. If you know of members in the Joliet area, send their names and addresses to L. D. Brown, 313 Madison Avenue, Lockport, Ill. They will be contacted and encouraged to attend the services.

Jess Hall, P. O. Box 401, Paducah, Kentucky, August 10: During the meeting at Blanco, Texas, four were baptized. Jess Hall, Jr. led in the song service at Blanco. At Brownwood, Texas, with the Early High congregation, six were baptized into Christ. Wayne Chamberlain led in the song service at Brownwood. My next meeting will begin September 7 at Rosiclare, Illinois, and will continue for two weeks. On Monday night, September 21, I will begin a meeting with the brethren at Milburn, Kentucky.

Haskell T. England, 211 East B Street, Waurika, Oklahoma, August 19: Brother Wilkin Bacon of Arlington, Texas, conducted a singing school for the church here August 4-14. Brother Bacon did his work well and the church was greatly benefitted in many ways by his having come our way. Thanks to you, Brother Bacon, for your fine work. The masonry work on our new building will be completed next week. Our attendance and contributions have been better than usual for the summer months. One has been baptized and one has placed membership in the past three weeks.

Dwain Jones, Box 14, Cordell, Oklahoma, August 17: A Methodist lady was baptized yesterday at Lone Wolf, Oklahoma.

Ernest McCoy, Gainesville, Texas, August 27: One was baptized, one restored and three placed membership at the Commerce Street congregation during the week. Four have been baptized from the Callisburg community in a meeting in which Brother Paul is doing the preaching.

Irvin B. McFadin, Box 1164, Taylor, Texas, August 14: It has been a long time since I have made a report. Our work at Bartlett continues well. Our June meeting was fine; nine were baptized. Maurice McFarland of Lubbock was the preacher and Russel Lewis of Taylor was song leader.

Norman Cooper, Portales, New Mexico, August 28: Sunday, August 23, marked the beginning of a new congregation of the Church of Christ, in Portales, New Mexico. 98 met for Bible study and the Lord's day contribution was near $350.00. The brethren are seeking lots for a building site and plan to build at an early date. I preached at both services.

B. C. Hogan, P. O. Box 275, Bogart, Georgia, August 24: The work here is doing nicely. Recently Brother Charles E. King of Lenoir City, Tenn., conducted a good gospel meeting here. Brother King is to take up the work in Athens, Ga., between now and the first of the year. I have dates open for two gospel meetings during the year of 1954.

Cornelius C. Abbott, 401 N. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma, August 26: We have had nine added here since last report. Six were baptized and three restored. The work is moving forward in a very fine way. I have conducted meetings this summer at Beard-en, Stroud, McLoud, and Little, all in Oklahoma. I conducted a meeting at Berclair in Memphis, Tenn. I begin September 20 at Riverdale church in Dayton, Ohio, then to Dell City, Okla.

George E. Darling, 1503 W. 1st, Coffeyville, Kansas, August 13: The meeting in Benkleman, Nebr., resulted in five baptisms (one a former Catholic) and three restorations (one a former anti-class preacher). Our 90-day continuous meeting is under way in Coffeyville! We are having good attendance. Every service finds many local non-members in the audience. The work here is progressing and should soon be self-supporting—perhaps by 1954.

Jack Southern, Shidler, Oklahoma, August 21: Seven were baptized in Drumright our last Sunday there. Three were identified here last night. There are only forty members here but we believe they have a mind to work. They have built and paid for a three-bedroom home for the preacher and now are planning to do some work on the church building. Contribution averages one hundred dollars weekly. Attendance is about fifty at all services.

L. W. Hayhurst, Beeville, Texas: The church here continues to grow. We had one restoration yesterday. I just closed a vacation Bible school with 160 average daily attendance. The brethren built a preacher home this year and we are now badly in need of more class rooms. Our summer meeting will begin August 24, and will run through September 2, with Roy M. Stevens of Orange as speaker. We have a fine group of youngsters growing into church workers.

H. L. Matheny, Goldsmith, Texas, August 24: In our meeting, Audy Moore, who works with the church at Claude, Texas, did the preaching. Ten responded to the invitation, four being baptisms, and six restorations. Plans to enlarge the building here are to start soon.

Irvin B. McFadin, Box 1164, Taylor, Texas, August 18: Brother J. W. Roberts recently closed two years of fine work here. He has moved back to A.C.C. Brother Ed Sewell of Searcy, Arkansas, moves here this month in a like capacity.

Silas Deen, 1020—22nd Street, Rock Island, Illinois, August 10: The work in Rock Island is progressing nicely. All have a mind to work. The cause is growing. We had ninety-four in attendance Sunday, August 9, which is very encouraging, but our present building will seat only ninety-eight. We hope to have our new building ready to move into by cold weather. We need the prayers of all the saints.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, August 17: Three were baptized at Catoma Street yesterday. Among those baptized was my Methodist son-in-law, the husband of my only child. This boy of mine is a promising young businessman, an officer in one of our local banks. I predict for him a very happy and useful life in his new church relationship. Our work here is splendid despite the usual summer slump.

Leon Sharp, Box 325, Bronte, Texas, August 24: The meeting with Brother Kenneth J. Arrington doing the preaching was a very successful endeavor. There were two who obeyed the gospel of Christ and were added to the church. All rejoice at the work of the church over the world. We are looking forward to our meeting next spring with Brother Ronnie Pope doing the preaching.

Clarence A. Price, Lakeview Church of Christ, Waco, Texas: I began work with this church August 9. Everything seems to be of fto a good start. I have just finished a Vacation Bible School with a total enrollment of one hundred sixty-one. The smallest attendance was 125 and the largest 141 for any given day. Last Lord's day evening a lady came from the "anti" group and took her stand with us.

Ward Hogland, 1900 Jenny Lind, Ft. Smith, Arkansas, August 17: This summer I have assisted in meetings at Paris, Ark., Stigler and Panama, Okla. In October my meetings carry me to Muskogee, Okla., then to Albuquerque, New Mexico next spring. About 30 have responded to the invitation the past five months. Since moving into the new air conditioned plant our services have been improving. I will begin my sixth year with this good church next month.

Charles Hendershot, Woodsfield, Ohio, August 18: We completed one year with the church here August 1. The year has been a pleasant experience for us, and we hope profitable for the church. During the year, fourteen were baptized and two restored. I have conducted meetings at the following places: Hartshorn Ridge, Beallsville, Bush, Chandlersville, Bethesda, Ozark, South Point, Mechanicsburg, and am now at Gilmore. Construction of a new meeting house got under way here yesterday.

William Hale, Local Evangelist, Cheyenne, Wyoming: Since last report several good things have happened here. One fine young man was baptized. Two people moved here from Lubbock, Texas, and placed membership. We have augmented our official force by moving two deacons to the eldership and filling their places with two more deacons. The Bel Canto Chorus from the Boles Home sang here August 21 and Oscar Smith Jr. of Texarkana, Arkansas, began a series of meetings here August 30.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman Avenue, Dallas, Texas, August 21: Two have been baptized; two restored; and five identified the last three weeks here at Skillman Avenue church. Attendance all summer has been excellent in all services. Largest prayer meeting attendance in history of the congregation has been maintained this summer. I recently assisted the church in Olney, Texas, in a gospel meeting which resulted in five restorations. Leonard Waggoner preaches there and is certainly well liked and appreciated for his good work.

Cecil Allen, Box 50, Plains, Texas, August 11: The meeting at Covington, Texas, closed August 9 on a very high scale with the house filled. I don't believe I have ever enjoyed a meeting more. Brother Leon Frederick and his good family were excellent co-workers. There were six baptisms and several others were almost persuaded. While I was away from Plains, Brother Fred McGinty of Tahoka and Brother Lee of Lovington, New Mexico, did the preaching. One was restored and placed membership. Our work continues in a fine way.

G. S. Westbrook, Box 486, Lubbock, Texas, August 20: Ten were added in a meeting at Southside in Waxahachie. Seven were baptized and three restored. We had wonderful co-operation from College Street and other congregations. The house was packed. We used extra chairs every night. C. A. Buchanan has done a wonderful work there for three years. He and Lloyd Curby did fine work leading the singing. After September 1, my address will be Main Street Church of Christ, Bonham, Texas.

W. S. Willis, 2811 Avenue E, Fort Worth, Texas, August 13: August 9th closed a good meeting with the brethren at Willow Point, Texas. Every member reaffirmed their faith and rededicated their lives to the work of the Lord. There were four baptisms. I have accepted a call to labor with the brethren at Gustine, Texas. I will begin with them August 23 and will preach the first two sermons in the beginning of a gospel meeting which will be continued by Brother Cecil Hill of the Calmont Church of Christ of Fort Worth.

J. Willard Morrow, 2203 Azle Avenue, N. Fort Worth, Texas, August 14: One was baptized at Blum and one baptism in the Eulogy meeting. I am in a good meeting at Bailey Heights in Dallas this week. One was baptized there last Lord's day. I am to begin next Monday night at Fairfield. I expect a good meeting there also. I will be glad to confer with congregations wanting gospel meetings. I am devoting all my time to general evangelistic work. Write me if I can help you. The day of life will close so soon!

Sermon: Sept. 13, "Christ on David's Throne."

J. M. Wilson, Box 3, Pettit, Texas, August 10: I have just returned from Florey, Texas, where I preached in a mission meeting for a few days. We had good crowds considering everything. Four were baptized into Christ. The church at Seminole, Texas, furnished Brother Woods to direct the singing. He brought the young folks from Seminole and they did some fine singing. I promised to return next month for another effort with them. I am now open for appointments, or meetings or local work. I can furnish references and will go anywhere.

John M. Burnett, Box 973, Ajo, Arizona, August 14: Another good day Sunday: one baptized at the morning service and one confessed wrongs. The work of the church looks better here all the time. My wife and I spent three weeks in Missouri on a vacation trip. I preached at Liberty church near Belle, Missouri, one Friday night while on our vacation. We conducted a vacation Bible school here in Ajo, July 27-August 7 with good interest. When on vacation in this part of Arizona, worship with us. Success to the good old Firm Foundation.

M. Cecil Perryman, 714 Terrace Avenue, Montgomery, Alabama, August 17: In the meeting with the church at Matador, Texas, one was restored and one was baptized. J. Britton is the faithful and loved preacher for this congregation. I would not know where to try to find a better coworker. Back at home yesterday one was baptized and one confessed wrongs. I go next to Hattiesburg, Miss. The polio situation seems greatly improved here, and we look forward to resuming full scale activities and to greater accomplishments. Worship with us at Cloverdale when you come this way.

Albert Gower, Evangelist, 5308 Grover St., Austin, Texas, August 22: I am available for local work as regular evangelist or preacher. I would be glad to work for some good congregation of loyal disciples in north or northwest Texas or Oklahoma. You can contact me by phoning 53-0142 or at 5308 Grover Street, Austin, Texas, if you write. I would also consider preaching at places on Sundays where there is no regular minister, within reasonable distance of Austin. I would also like to hold your meetings. Could book about four meetings in September or October of this year. If interested, call or write me.

Roy H. Lanier, 1106 S. Dewey St., Bartlesville, Oklahoma, August 25: Last week I attended the Ohio Valley Annual Lectureship, held this year at Charleston, West Virginia. It was my privilege to speak four times on the general theme: "The Church at Work." It was my good fortune to meet many of the preachers and elders of that section for the first time. All of them impressed me as being mighty fine men, sincere, zealous, willing to spend and be spent for the growth of the church. A fine spirit of co-operation was manifested in numerous ways, not the least of which are two daily programs financed by co-operating churches in the area. Various preachers are preaching positive distinctive sermons every day that are bound to result in good. I was most cordially received and as evidence of the same I have several invitations for meetings in the area next year. This leaves me in a meeting with a small group which meets in the Legion Hut in St. Joe, Ark. I go next for two meetings in Tennessee, Hendersonville, and Chapel Avenue, Nashville.

C. B. Thomas, Corpus Christi, Texas, August 26: We are beginning our fourteenth year of unbroken service with this wonderful church (Ayers Street, for many years known as Central). Almost two years at another time was spent here. So in reality we are beginning our sixteenth year. God has wonderfully blessed our labors together. Brother Charles Horton and three of our local brethren preached while I was away on vacation recently. One was baptized and several placed membership. We extend a cordial invitation to all brethren coming to Corpus Christi to visit with us.

J. C. Choate, Route 3, Corinth, Mississippi, August 25: During the summer I have had the privilege of preaching for several congregations aside from my meetings. On July 26 and August 2 I preached for the church at Ripley, Miss., in the absence of Brother Clyde M. Miller. On August 16 I preached for the church at Wiggins, Miss. On the same day I preached at the night service for the church at Gulfport, Miss. Brother Howard McTee is the regular minister there at the present time. On August 23 I visited and preached for three congregations, Hickory Grove, Rienzi, and Berea, all in Miss. I go next to a meeting at Sykes, Tenn.

G. L. Mann, Fayette, Alabama, August 18: Maurice Howell of Birmingham, Ala., was with the church here the latter part of May. There were four baptisms. The work is making splendid progress. Contributions and attendance have held up better than usual this summer. The final phase of our building improvement and expansion program is now underway with the construction of four additional class rooms and a preacher's study. I have recently conducted meetings at Vardaman and Jacinto, Miss., and Pleasant Ridge, near Haleyville, Ala. There was one baptism and one restoration in the Pleasant Ridge meeting. I am now in a meeting with the Piney Grove church near Boston, Ala.

M. B. Hartley, Alturas, California, August 19: The very finest cooperation exists between the preachers in this great mission field. Three of us, Don Mansur of Lakeview, Oregon, Forest Moyer of Alturas, Cal., and myself continue in our efforts in this locality. We have recently buried one of the oldest members of this congregation. Our number is small but happy. The radio work continues under the direction of Brother Moyer and myself. Soon I will begin my sixth year with the church here. In this time we have purchased our own church building which is now modern and is located in downtown Alturas. The new church in Lakeview, Oregon, has purchased lots for a new building. The new congregation there has been and still is a part of our work.

John H. Gerrard, 529 Clark St., Aurora, Illinois, August 24: Yesterday was another good day here. Good attendance at all services. One lady was baptized at the morning service. She had been a Baptist. The afternoon service at Joliet, Ill., was made up of the greatest number present in the history of that work. Prospects are unusually good for a splendid church in that city. The church is meeting in the American Legion Hall on Ottawa Street each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. We begin a meeting at Elgin, Ill., next Sunday evening. This meeting will be conducted in a hall at 263 DuPage St. Send us names of members living in this area.

Truman E. Spring, 2901 Lawnview, Corpus Christi, Texas, August 28: Since reporting in July, I have held two more meetings—one with the Gardendale church in Corpus Christi with five baptisms and three restorations, and one in Poteet, Texas, where we had eight baptisms. The work in Poteet is definitely on the upgrade, and Troy Richardson, who is working part-time as preacher there, is doing a fine job. This meeting was the best-attended ever conducted in Poteet and the outside interest was wonderful. The work at Hillcrest continues to go well, with responses every Sunday.

J. D. Rothwell, 1004 El Sereno Drive, Bakersville, California, August 25: Our work starts off in a fine way with Central, this city. Eight responses to the invitation so far this month: one baptism, two restorations, and five were identified. Some 300 members make up the congregation. Three bishops direct the work assisted by six deacons. Joe Smith is a fine co-worker as associate minister. We are looking forward to a meeting with 16th and Florida church in Chickasha, Okla., September 3-13, after which we will return to the work here. Correspondents please note change of address.

F. L. Lemley, Trinidad, Colorado, August 10: The meeting here and the Vacation Bible School, in which Brother Paul Southern preached and his whole family worked daily was a success in every way. The meeting and V.B.S. was held in connection with the opening of our new building and consequently got quite a lot of good publicity. In the V.B.S., 114 were enrolled, an average of 86 attended daily, and our highest daily attendance was 97. The church at Raton co-operated for the school and meeting and furnished about 40 of those enrolled. The meeting resulted in one baptism, one request for public prayer, many new contacts, so that time only can tell the total good accomplished. We now have 34 members. The church here has gained a most favorable position in the community as a result of our building and we hope to take advantage of this for the good of the Master's cause.

Robert L. (Bob) Craig, 317 S. Blanco, Lockhart, Texas, August 28: After twenty months work with the church in Bay City I will move to the above address September 1. Anyone desiring my services in meeting work for next year may contact me there.

R. B. Sweet, 715 East 43rd, Austin, Texas, September 1: I closed a meeting last Sunday night at the Highland Park church in Dallas. Had four baptisms and one transfer of membership. Brother Adair Chapman is their capable preacher.

A. E. Wickham, Pennsville, Ohio, August 9: Tonight we closed a great meeting in this town. I never saw better interest and the attendance was large from the beginning. We closed with a very large audience. Five persons were baptized and two persons placed membership. I never heard better singing. That good efficient song leader of McConnellsville, Brother Bankes, was the song leader through the entire meeting. Other congregations helped in the meeting. Brother Ray Jones is a real elder who looks after the flock. I made my home with Brother and Sister Jones and Brother and Sister Fred Williams. The Pennsville congregation is a splendid congregation. I have been there several times. October 12th I'll begin a meeting at Wolf Creek near Pennsville.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Ky. Ave., Paducah, Kentucky, August 24: I closed two good meetings in Rutherford County, Tenn., yesterday, Antioch and Walter Hill respectively, with eight baptized. Clayton Briley directed the singing at Antioch and Bomer Phillips at Walter Hill. Both men are excellent song leaders. I promised to return to both places in 1956. Roy E. Cogdill begins our meeting at Clements Street September 3-13. I begin at Center, Ky., the night of September 13. Clements St. work prospers. Bobby Collier was here during August meetings.

Arthur C. Blackwell, 2205 Wantland Ave., Klamath Falls, Oregon: It has been some time since I have made a report of the work here at Klamath Falls, Oregon. Peace and harmony prevail here in the congregation with new ones being added to the body of Christ. There were seven baptized last Lord's day, August 10th. Five new ones have moved here recently from Arkansas. There is to be a gospel meeting to start September 11, and last through the 20th, with Brother Pierce Adams from Harrison, Ark., doing the preaching. We are looking forward to a successful meeting with Brother Adams. The congregation is planning a building fund and a five day a week radio program. We are hoping to have the program on the air within the next few weeks as this is a large field and much needs to be done in spreading the gospel of Christ, the closest congregation is seventy-three miles. May all means be used in a way that will be acceptable and pleasing to our Lord Jesus Christ. Any time you happen to be coming through Klamath Falls, come and worship with us. There will be a hearty welcome awaiting you.

Choice L. Bryant, 165 South Fifteenth St., Salem, Oregon, August 15: July 21-31, I was with the church in Vancouver, B.C., in a very interesting and enjoyable protracted meeting. There are but two small congregations of the church with combined membership of no more than 100, in that vast Vancouver area of slightly less than a half million people. What a challenge! The congregation on Lulu Island has a preacher (David Johnson) working with them full-time. He is the only full-time preacher in all of British Columbia, I understand. The congregation I served was the 12th & Carolina church in Vancouver. Those brethren desire to have a preacher working with them full-time. They feel unable to properly support him financially; but they are very aware that they need the assistance of a good preacher. There is a great work there for the proper man. If you desire to do mission work, let me suggest you write to the Church of Christ, 604 12th Avenue, East, Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

Rudy Wyatt, Gatesville, Texas, August 17: This month thus far we have had eleven responses to the invitation of our Lord. Five have been baptized and six restored. This makes a total of nine baptisms and seven restorations this year. We have begun the work of providing preaching every third Sunday of the month for the deaf mutes of this and surrounding communities. For the initial service in June, there were eleven present. In July, fifteen were present and this month twenty-four were present. Brother Lloyd Williams, a young deaf mute from Austin, Texas, now a student in Abilene Christian College has been doing an excellent job of preaching in this service. Last month I was again with the Lockhart congregation in El Dorado, Ark., in a ten day mission meeting. We had attendance averaging about one hundred and twenty. Often as many as fifty per cent were not members of the church. During the meeting there was one restoration. I enjoyed receiving your paper while I was in Abilene Christian College and am enjoying the fine articles in it now and am sure they will help me now that I am out of school and preaching full time.

Roy Tidwell, Box 396, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada: Brother Sidney Roper and I are laboring together in this Provincial capital city of 183,000 to establish a congregation after the New Testament order. Until our coming the church of Christ was unknown in Edmonton (though there are four religious groups who are meeting under the name of "Church of Christ"). From the very first meeting, which was held May 17, the work has made progress. Four have been baptized to date, with one being restored and placing membership. Present membership is eleven. Brother Roper and his family arrived May 11, and we followed on July 7. May attendance averaged 13 with $10.06 contribution; June attendance averaged 28 per service with $34 contribution per Lord's day, and July attendance was 34 with an average contribution of $44.65. My work here is supported by Brother L. P. Bennett of Hale Center, Texas, and the Littlefield Drive congregation, Littlefield, Texas, where I labored for almost two years. The presence of a co-laborer in the person of Brother Sidney Roper is an enjoyable experience; he is a fine gospel preacher and Christian brother of the highest type. We need tracts. If you have, or know a congregation who has an abundant supply of good tracts not being put to use, please urge them to send them, or ask them to contact us, Box 396, Edmonton, Alberta.

GRAY—Sister W. P. Gray, widow of the late Brother W. P. Gray, died at her home here in Compton, California, Monday morning, July 6th. Funeral services were conducted here in Compton with interment in Inglewood Park. Brother James Scott, who was baptized by Brother Gray many years ago, spoke. Sister Gray was an active member of the Northside Church until a few months before her death when her activities were limited by her illness. Up until a few days before her death Sister Gray was actively interested in the church, and her passing leaves many to mourn a great and devoted member of the church.

TIMMONS—Nadine Francis (Persons) Timmons was born at Santa Anna, Texas, March 13, 1901, and passed from this life February 16, 1953. She was married to Sidney O. (John) Timmons, September 18, 1920, at Mt. Calm, Texas. In October 1937 she moved to Illinois, from Van, Texas. She was baptized into Christ June 1938 by Brother Gayle Oler, in Flora, Illinois, and remained faithful until death. She died at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., February 16, 1953, after an illness of two months. The writer conducted funeral services at Gholson Funeral Home, McLeansboro, Illinois, Feb. 18, 1953. She was buried at Haven Hill Cemetery, Olney, Ill. She is survived by her husband and two children: Sidney O. (John) Timmons, Palestine, Texas, and Patricia Lou Timmons, St. Louis, Mo.

HUGGINS—Brother R. C. Huggins departed this life after a long illness in Snyder, Texas, on July 11, 1953. R. C. Huggins was born June 15, 1872, at Gravel Hill, McNairy County, Tennessee. He was baptized into Christ more than sixty years ago. He was a faithful Christian all those years. He was a diligent student of the word and quickly grew "in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord." He served as deacon for a number of years. Then he served the church as bishop (elder) for many years. He could correct the erring and reprove the wayward with the kindest spirit and a fatherly manner. All who knew him loved him. He and Sister Huggins have read the Firm Foundation since 1890. On December 25, 1898, R. C. Huggins was married to Miss Ella Blackard in Brownwood, Texas. Later they moved to Scurry County where they have lived for the last thirty-seven years. Surviving Brother Huggins are his widow who lives in Snyder, two sons: N. R. Huggins of San Angelo, Texas, and L. E. Huggins of Morton, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Kelly of Rotan, Texas, and Mrs. Leora Upshaw of Odessa, Texas; four grandchildren, Mrs. Marcel Patterson of San Francisco, Calif., Kenneth Kelly of Rotan, Texas, Judy Huggins of San Angelo, Texas, and Cathy Huggins, of Morton, Texas; and three great grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted in the church building on 25th Street, Snyder, Texas, on Sunday afternoon, July 12. LeMoine Lewis, former evangelist for the 25th Street church, and Ted Norton, present evangelist, spoke words of comfort to the family and the large audience assembled. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord . . . that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

JOHNSON—Guy T. Johnson, son of Isabel Daugherty and William Jasper Johnson, was born February 6, 1871, at Wauke, Iowa, and departed this life July 5, 1953. He was 82 years, 4 months, 29 days of age.

At the age of nineteen he moved to Anthony, Kansas, where he worked for a time on the Goss Ranch. When the Cherokee Strip was opened for settlement he and his father, riding mules, made the run and staked adjoining claims south of the old Highland School. On December 25, 1899, he was united in marriage to Ada E. Medaris and they settled on the homestead. To this union were born two children, James William Kelso, of Ponca City, Oklahoma, and Kathryn Walker, of Helena. In March, 1904, having traded homesteads with Ellis Green, he moved his family to the home two and one-half miles south of Helena. There they resided until 1948, at which time they moved to the home in Helena where they were living at the time of his death.

He became a member of the Good Hope Church of Christ in 1902, and he lived a faithful Christian life until death. He was well known in this community and regarded highly by all, and his influence will continue on. He will be most sorely missed.

BOEHNKE—Herman Boehnke was born in Asher, Okla., March 25, 1906, the son of Herman and Mary Boehnke. On November 1, 1936 he was married to Ina D. Harris at Holdenville, Okla., by Brother C. B. Thomas. In March 1951 he obeyed the gospel and was baptized by Brother Mardell Lynch, and Brother Lynch said at the time baptism was all Herman needed for he was such a good man. The church of our Lord was first in his life until the end, which came peacefully on Sunday morning, July 12, 1953. The church was overflowing, to pay the last respect and Brother Harvey Scott, minister of the church at Wewoka preached one of the most beautiful services possible, assisted by Harold O'Neal, from Wilson, Okla. He was laid to rest in Wewoka cemetery. Survivors are his wife, Ina, his stepfather, W. T. Bramblett, of Wewoka, two sisters, Mrs. A. B. Fent, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Evelyn of Wewoka, two brothers, Simon of Wewoka, Troy of Corpus Christi, Texas, and four nephews, Arthur, Herman, Donald, and Jerry Fent of Oklahoma City and Mike Bramblett of Corpus Christi, Texas. We miss our beloved so very much, but our loss is heaven's gain. His devoted wife, BEAVER—Rollie E. Beaver was born in Hico, Texas, March 7, 1893. After sixty years and one month his earthly life ended April 9, 1953, in Dallas, Texas, as the result of a heart attack. He moved to Girard, Texas, in 1912 and resided there until his death. Here he married Donie Edwards in 1914 in the church of Christ building. He obeyed the gospel when a young man and was very faithful throughout his life. He had attended church in Girard for over forty years. He was the song leader, and a leader in anything pertaining to the work of the church. He had led singing for gospel meetings throughout all his neighboring congregations. He was never paid for such services, but loved to be doing what he could to help spread the gospel in song. He never let an opportunity pass to do what he could. He was a rural mail carrier in Girard for thirty-six years and was closely associated with all his friends and neighbors, whom he dearly loved. The funeral services were held at the school auditorium in Girard. The church did not have sufficient seating space. Even the auditorium did not begin to seat the hundreds of mourners who came to pay their tribute to their friend. Interment was in Girard cemetery. Brother Derral Shaw, minister of the church of Christ in Girard conducted the services, assisted by Brother C. V. Allen of Spur and Brother George McCollum of Hawthorne, Calif. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Nancy Jo Beaver of the WAC Training Center, Fort Lee, Va., and Mrs. Al Niemczak of Kermit, Texas; his mother, Mrs. M. E. Beaver, and three brothers, Hub of Lubbock, Clay of Abilene, Charley of Fort Worth; five sisters, Mrs. J. T. Stephens of Lubbock, Mrs. Jess Craig of Tyler, Mrs. Don Jones of Pilot Point, Mrs. John Smith of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Mrs. Joe Ratliff of Fort Sumner, New Mexico, also six grandchildren. One daughter preceded him in death. He will be greatly missed by all, not only his family, but his many friends. His life was a great light to all who had the pleasure of knowing him. May the good Lord help us who remain to press on faithfully to the goal he has reached that we may build up the church and spread the gospel that he loved so much.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The chief aim in this department is good health and safety through training and development. Included in the broad program of this department is varsity athletics. During the past year the teams won top honors in the Texas Athletic Conference in football, basketball and track. The badminton team won the state collegiate championship last year. In one tournament this team won fifteen of seventeen trophies offered. The intramural division is administered by the students and is designed for the entire student body. Those who are not qualified or interested in varsity activities can have fun and recreation in this program. A student may participate in one or more of ten different sports and find each one wholesome and enjoyable. This extensive program includes such games as touch football, basketball, tennis, badminton, table tennis, washers, horseshoes, volleyball, archery and golf.

The intramural part of the P. E. Department has achieved excellent results in raising the scholastic standing of the participants. It has improved their physique, contributed to health and developed social competence. From these activities many boys graduate into intercollegiate competition. The "Women's Recreation Association" promotes sports activities for the coeds.

Safety Education is the newest course added to the department. Its chief purposes are safe automobile driving, car maintenance and qualifying teachers for Drivers' Education, in the public schools.

Some of the other practical courses offered by the department are: First Aid; Arts and Crafts; Personal Hygiene; Athletic Injuries, Intramural Sports; Coaching Methods; Community Recreation; Camping and Counseling; Anatomy and Physiology; Folk Games; Swimming; etc. Christian teachers and coaches direct the P. E. Department.

The Fall semester for both graduate and under-graduate divisions begins September 14, 1953. Member, Southern Association of High Schools and Colleges.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Letters of Recommendation

"Do we begin again to commend ourselves? Or need we, as some others, epistles of commendation to you, or letters of commendation from you? Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men: forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart" (2 Cor. 3:1-3).

I have a letter of recommendation that was given to me by the elders of the church when I was nineteen years of age. I appreciate this letter very much, but I have never had special need for it. No congregation has ever asked me for a letter of recommendation. Paul's words seem to indicate that he needed no recommendation to the Corinthians, nor did he need a recommendation from them. Why should an inspired apostle need a recommendation from men? If God could use Paul, why could not the Corinthians? Paul could work miracles—speak in tongues, heal the sick, and do other miracles; but some of the Corinthians doubted his apostleship, and maybe they doubted his Christianity. They were weak in ability to weigh evidence.

Paul told the Corinthians they were his epistles—his letter of recommendation. He declares this style of writing is known of all men. A letter written in English might not be understood by a Chinaman or an Indian. But Christian living can be understood by all men, whether or not they know our language.

Christians should be watchful of their conduct at all times. The world watches with a critical eye. The unconverted are not so much concerned about our teaching as they are about our practice. They are more impressed by the way we live than they are by the truth we preach. Men will come to appreciate sound doctrine by observing its effects on the lives of men. It is a great misfortune for one who advocates nothing but the truth to be found guilty of ungodly conduct.

Holy Living

To the Romans, Paul wrote, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God" (Rom. 12:1, 2).

Sacrifice has been a part of true service to God in all dispensations. Cain and Abel offered sacrifices under the patriarchal dispensation. The children of Israel offered sacrifices under the Jewish dispensation. All these sacrifices were first slain, then offered. In the gospel age Paul says present your bodies a living sacrifice. The Lord is not pleased with lifeless sacrifices. Christians must be active in service to God. Anything that is living is active.

This sacrifice must be holy before it is acceptable to God. Living and holy are the conditions of acceptable sacrifice to God. Christians cannot perform this service when they are conformed to the world. Instead of this we are commanded to be transformed by the renewing of our minds. Unfortunately some try to live a new life with their old minds. They make a failure, of course. The living sacrifice and holy life are not so difficult after the mind has been renewed.

Possessions And The Kingdom

Hoyt Bailey

Everyone who professes to be a child of God should consider carefully the material things with which he is blessed and how such is being used to help advance God's kingdom. The memory verse suggested for this lesson says: "Take heed, and beware of all covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (Luke 12:15).

A portion of the lesson passage states: "And behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? There is none good but one, that is God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments. He saith unto him, Which? Jesus said, Thou shalt do no murder, thou shalt not commit adultery, thou shalt not steal, thou shalt not bear false witness, honor thy father and thy mother: and, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. The young man saith unto him, All these things have I kept from my youth up: what lack I yet? Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions" (Matt. 19:16-22).

It should be observed here that the young man looked upon obtaining eternal life by means of doing certain things. He said: "What good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?" This one was not sure that he had done enough to obtain the reward, and he wished to know particularly what further good work would secure for him eternal life. Some taught that the commandments were not equally important and that what they deemed the lesser might be violated while the others were observed. Some made the gift of perfection depend on the daily recitation of certain prayers or psalms, others on giving due honor to the aged. Amid these perplexing rules, this one came to Jesus asking what he might do to obtain eternal life.

Jesus took the ruler to task by saying: "Why callest thou me good?" Doubtless the one who came to Jesus did not recognize his divinity. He thought of Jesus as a great Teacher, and Jesus replies to what is in the mind of the querist. Jesus turns the questioner's thoughts to the source of all good. He did not permit himself to be regarded simply and pre-eminently a good man, but as the Son of God, one with the Father. Other gospel writers inform us that this man was a young ruler, a ruler of the synagogue, a man of large possessions and blameless life. The Lord had forbidden the apostles to tell men that he was the Christ because the Jews looked for a human Messiah, an earthly king. It is thought that in the same spirit, Jesus would not accept the title "good" from this ruler who regarded him simply as a wise teacher, a great rabbi. The young man did not know the deep significance of the word "good." He used language conventionally. There is a great danger for those who are brought up among religious associations that they will employ the greatest words without entering into their true meaning.

Christ suggested the first elements of morality for the ruler. No individual can go on unto perfection until he has mastered in some measure these elements of morality. It is impossible to be a thief in the world and a saint in the church. This ruler was no hollow sentimentalist. His virtue was solid. Yet it was not enough. It is vain to seek goodness apart from God. God is good, therefore, we should transfer to God all praise which is given to us.

The law of God is the rule of goodness. This is expressed in the instruction of Christ. Jesus said to the ruler: "If thou wouldest enter into life, keep the commandments." This is not irony, but sober truth. To keep the commandments from a principle of loving faith is undoubtedly the way to eternal life. Those who are justified by faith must keep the commandments of the New Testament before they can have life here or the hope of eternal life hereafter. One of the commands of Moses is that we are to hear the great Prophet who was raised up like unto Moses. The law given through Moses could never take away sins, but Moses pointed to a greater one than himself. Though Christ lived under the law, submitted to the law while engaged in his personal ministry, he died on the cross and took the law of Moses out of the way.

The young ruler who came to Jesus had great wealth, he had engaged in acceptable morality, but he saw and felt some deficiency in his conduct. He felt a sense of want, and all that he had done had not brought nor given him peace of mind. Having kept some of the moral requirements, he said: "What lack I yet?" Jesus said unto him, "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions" (Matt. 19:21, 22).

The apostle Paul said to Timothy: "But they that are minded to be rich fall into temptation and a snare and many foolish and hurtful lusts, such as drown men in destruction and perdition (1 Tim. 6:9). That young ruler must have had the desire to continue rich, because he did not choose to follow Christ. He went away from Christ: "For he had great possessions." Jesus "spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully: and he reasoned within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have not where to bestow my fruits? And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all of my grain and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, be merry. But God said unto him, Thou foolish one, this night is thy soul required of thee; and the things which thou hast prepared, whose shall they be? So is he that lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God" (Luke 12:16-21).

Jesus Christ places the kingdom of God first. He says: "Seek ye first his kingdom and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33). The possessions, or riches of earth cause many to forsake the Lord and turn back into the world. However, James reminds us that, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights" (Jas. 1:17). Our Lord admonishes us to: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust consume, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also" (Matt. 6:19-21).

Jesus goes against man's philosophy of life. All the planning and energies of most people are directed toward the gaining of material things. Something to eat and drink, and something to wear, are matters of continued anxiety with most of the people. We must have these things, but why be anxious about them? The life is more than food and the body than raiment. The birds are not given to worry about laying up food, yet not many living things are busier than are birds. Anxiety may shorten one's life, but anxiety cannot bring the things which sustain life. Christ said: "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin." How does the lily grow? The lily grows in perfect harmony with the laws governing it; it tries no new schemes; it has no anxiety; and yet it grows and blooms into such a thing of beauty "that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." Suppose a Christian lived as perfectly in harmony with the laws of his growth and development as does the lily, the Christian character would be a most beautiful thing to behold.

Christians must make the kingdom of God and his righteousness the first and main object of all their endeavors. Not only must individuals enter the kingdom of God, but they must make themselves useful and faithful citizens. As Christians, we must seek God's righteousness. This is the righteousness to which we attain by obedience to the gospel. The one who obeys the gospel receives the forgiveness of sins, and for the time being he is as free from sin and its guilt as if he never had sinned. Such an obedient one is righteous. The righteousness of God must be sought in God's own appointed way. The Lord shows that entrance into his kingdom and obtaining his righteousness are conditional; we must seek such. This must be first and uppermost in everything we do.

The young man went away from Jesus because he could not serve two masters at the same time. He shows by his departure from Jesus that he did not intend to give up his great possessions. "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, Verily I say unto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven. And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. When his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?"

But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:23-26).

Christ promised eternal life to the young man on the condition of his complying with God's will. In the school of Christ one learns the doctrine of justification by an obedient faith. His teaching shows us the connection between faith and obedience to the fulfilling of the law of Christ. Christ exacts absolute submission. "Sell all" was literally required of the ruler. Christ did not lighten his cross, because "he loved him." All who follow Christ must be willing to part with everything that hinders their salvation, must be willing to "sell all." The ruler missed a great opportunity because he was unwilling to part with his possessions. He had the offer of becoming one of Christ's more intimate disciples, of being trained by Christ in the knowledge of spiritual things, and to preach his gospel. That ruler possibly felt himself well provided for in this life, and he seemed to be in the frame of mind to want something from the next life. He would inherit life; he would have it as something coming to him; he wanted as much right to eternal life as he had to his worldly possessions. A man's wealth is his character; that is true of this life and of the life to come.

Our Lord teaches that the rich man may enter the kingdom, but he will surely find that his riches will stand in his way and make it very hard work for him, as they made it hard work for this rich ruler. What is it in worldly possessions that makes them such hindering things? Riches tend to put men in classes; those having the riches claiming to be a superior class, and demanding special consideration and treatment. This tends to induce the idea that the way of salvation for rich people ought to be a special provision. The rich man does not care to be saved as the poor man is saved. If the rich man cannot have a way of his own, he will have no way. It is difficult for the rich man to realize that God takes no account of riches; and whoever would come to him must come in at the one strait gate. Riches not only have a separating influence on men, but riches have a satisfying influence on men. Riches bring with them a sense of security. The rich man thinks that he can have all he wants, and he thinks that there will be no future in which he will have needs which cannot be met by riches. The rich have no basis for religion. It is their misery that body, mind, and soul never have any wants. As they seem to view it—having riches, what more can they want? Riches have a hardening influence on men. This is strange and sad, but can be illustrated in cases of self-sacrificing generosity while persons were poor, which changed at once into selfish meanness when wealth came to them. It is such hardening as this which makes it so difficult for a rich man to enter the kingdom.

To make the kingdom of God and his righteousness the object of all our activities is to lay up treasures in heaven, and the treasures we lay up in heaven will be ours forever and ever.

Contend For The Faith

R. O. Kenley

"Jude, a servant of Jesus Christ, to them that are sanctified by God the Father and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called," said:

"Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints."

The faith referred to above is the system of faith (gospel) "that is the power of God unto salvation."

Jude saw that it was not sufficient just to preach and teach of the common salvation, but it was necessary to be diligent in the protection of truth, therefore, he said:

"Ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints."

Recently in the city of Houston, one of the largest Southern Baptist conventions was held for several days, and following it, a great world-wide Lutheran convention was held. The best educated men of both denominations participated. The daily newspapers gave each denomination a full and fair report of their proceedings.

Both John Calvin and Martin Luther, in their attempts to extricate themselves from the Pope of Rome, and his church, fell into great serious error, which had influenced and affected the thinking and doctrine of most every sectarian religious body in the world.

This doctrine being:

(a) That every child is born with original sin, which can be removed only by the direct operation of the Holy Spirit.

(b) That the original or moving impulse to a human being to become a Christian, is made by God, the Father, through the independent action of the Holy Spirit.

(c) Therefore, men are helpless until God sees fit to send them an operation of the Holy Spirit.

In addition to the errors taught and scattered by the two conventions above, Billy Graham runs a syndicated article in one of our daily newspapers which is everything that could be contrary to "the faith." He says that he does not discuss "baptism," because it is controversial, and that he makes it a rule to refrain from discussing controversial questions. The commandments of Jesus Christ are all controversial to Satan.

James Keller writes another syndicated article each day in the same daily paper, in which he never "contends for the faith." Recently in one of his articles, he said, "The apostle John in all of his writings never mentioned baptism, therefore, he must not have considered it very important."

God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, under a long period of years, made ample provisions for the redemption of man. This redemption is addressed to his understanding, and was consummated in the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ; the terms and conditions of which are recorded in the commands, precepts and examples given in the New Testament, which may be understood by anyone who desires to do so.

Vaughn D. Shofner recently stated in one of his articles:

"There has never been a time when God expected his people to be led by any plan but an intellectual one."

Billy Graham, in the June 26, 1953, issue of the Houston Post, in answer to a crippled man's question, who admitted he was not a Christian, and who wanted to become a Christian, replied:

"There is not one thing that we can do ourselves to assure us of our eternal security except to accept personally this suffering of Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior."

About as clear as mud.

I am an attorney, have been practicing law continuously for more than fifty years. I have been thrown with people of all faiths, including a great many members of various and sundry congregations of the church of Christ. Among them, especially of the converts since about 1940, there is but little conception of the fundamentals of the kingdom of Christ. The lack of such understanding fifty or sixty years ago produced the Christian church, which now admits itself to be only another denomination. I also observe that many preachers and teachers in congregations of the church of Christ are timid about "contending for the faith."

The love of money on the part of many high-salaried preachers may prevent them from contending for the faith as they should. Many good paying members or some members of their families may not be living in the faith as they should, and the fear of offending them has no doubt caused many preachers to fail to contend for the faith.

I can well remember after World War I, many members of the church, after listening to a sermon by J. W. Chism, Early Arceneaux or Foy E. Wallace, Jr., would approach the elders and complain that the preachers were preaching a doctrine that would send some of the best men and women in the country to hell, and that if the elders engaged them to hold another meeting, they would not attend. Today, the church is filled with members who will not stand for the truth. Only a few Sundays back in Bible class, I criticized the preaching of Billy Graham, and when the class was over I was approached by two ladies and one man and was reminded that Billy Graham was probably doing one thousand times as much good as I was. This did not disturb me as I have been the recipient of such rebukes many, many times in my life. I consider every Christian a miniature congregation with the duty imposed upon him to declare, defend, and teach the truth upon all occasions. I have tried to carry out this idea all my Christian life.

I am a firm believer in the statement made by Isaiah 55:11:

"So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it."

I have tried to defend the faith against the preachers who encourage divorce and remarriage. Much of my time is devoted in attempts to aid people, both in and out of the church, in their marital and family troubles. I am proud to say that 100 percent of the more than fifty preachers in the churches of Christ now in the city of Houston are in accord with my views. I do not stop with my teaching to the members, but I extend it as opportunity presents itself to all young people with whom I come in contact. Recently after a young lady told me that she was going to get married to a divorced man, I tried to explain to her the teaching of Jesus Christ upon the subject and gave her two or three quotations on a piece of paper and told her to take it to her mother and father and study it with them, and then take it to the minister of her church, a Baptist church. In a few days she returned to me a note from her preacher reading:

"Tell that old 'Campbellite' that you are a member of a church where one is saved eternally and that it does not matter what the body does, it would not cause you to lose your soul in hell."

There are more than one hundred Missionary Baptist churches in the city of Houston, teaching all kinds of doctrine, but the one article of faith that holds them together as a unit is the doctrine of "eternal salvation, and the impossibility of apostasy." This is the secret weapon of every religious body using the name "Baptist." Fifty years ago when a man of the calibre of Billy Graham entered into a community, some preacher of the type of J. W. Chism or A. J. McCarty challenged him for a public discussion, and whether or not he accepted, such preachers proceeded to expose the doctrine of such preacher from every available pulpit in the community.

Do we not have a great missionary field at home, as well as in foreign lands? "The harvest is ripe, where are the workers?"

The Last Day

George Hicks

On a certain hour of the last day all that have ever died will be resurrected (John 6:44; 5:28, 29). Believers and non-believers will be resurrected during the same hour of the same last day. This last day is the judgment day (John 12:48). Every eye will see Jesus on that last day and this world will be burned up. The world here includes the heavens and the earth (Rev. 1:7; 2 Peter 3:7-11). When the last day comes "all nations" will stand before Jesus and be judged (Matt. 25:31-34). Sodom and Gomorrah flourished about 2000 B.C. but the people of those cities will be judged on the last day (Matt. 10:15). The people of Nineveh repented at the preaching of Jonah about 850 B.C. They will be resurrected on the last day (Matt. 12:41). The Queen of Sheba ruled about 1000 B.C. but on the last day she will be judged (Matt. 12:42). Tyre and Sidon were wicked in God's sight 330 years B.C. and they will be judged on the last day (Matt. 11:21, 22). Chorazin and Bethsaida were compared with Tyre and Sidon by Christ in 30 A.D. The people of those cities shall be judged on the last day.

The righteous will be taken home to heaven on the last day (1 Thess. 4:13-17). There will be no more division of time. Eternity cannot be measured by minutes, hours, days, years, or millenniums. On the last day the wicked will go away into "eternal" punishment and the righteous into life "eternal" (Matt. 25:46).

What does the 1000 years (365,000 days) in Rev. 20 mean? The writer does not know. Does the bottomless pit have a bottom? Man does not have to fully understand a statement from God in order to know that the statement does not mean certain things. Revelation 20 is given in symbolic language. Only a false teacher will interpret clear and simple language in view of what he thinks the symbolic teaches. An honest, God-fearing teacher will interpret the symbolic language in view of what he knows the simple language teaches. Every word of God must be taken literally if it can be taken literally. Revelation 20 cannot be taken as many have interpreted it. God cannot lie. God is not the author of confusion. All must stand before God in the same hour of the last day. Then eternity begins. "When we've been there ten thousand years, bright shining as the sun, we've no less days to sing God's praise than when we've first begun."

Come Over And Help Us

Reginald Beaver

Those of you who have traveled through the western part of Colorado know that the church is not very well known here. Traveling on Highway 50, one comes through Pueblo and Canon City where there are churches of Christ to be found; but upon leaving Canon City one has to travel about 175 miles in order to find a church with which to worship, that being at Delta where I preach. We on the Western Slope are trying to relieve this situation but we are in need of some financial help. Brother K. A. Stone has moved to Montrose, 22 miles south of Delta, in order to establish the church there. He is supported by the Cleburne, Texas, and 5th Avenue congregation in Corsicana, Texas. Property at 446 S. 4th has been purchased, which shall serve as a meeting place and also living quarters for the Stones. A down payment of $1,000 has been made and a balance of $2,750 remains to be paid. If this amount is paid by December 1, 1953, there will be no interest charged. Cleburne and Corsicana supplied the down payment. If we are unable to pay the amount by December 1 then we will pay monthly payments of $50 plus 6 percent interest on the unpaid balance. It will take around $1,500 to remodel and repair this three-story house to make it suitable for its desired purpose. This is a wonderful opportunity that we cannot afford to let pass. Will you as an individual help us by sending a contribution and speaking to the elders of your congregation and seeing if they are in a position to help in this worthy work. I am being supported by the church in Tipton, Oklahoma, in the work here. Either send your contributions to me at Box 184, Delta, or to K. A. Stone, 446 S. 4th, Montrose.

"Clergy Draws Poorest Pay Of Professions"

"NEW YORK, Sept. 5, AP—The clergy is 'one of the poorest paid professions in the world's richest nation,' the National Council of Churches said today.

"Ministers' salaries have been falling slowly behind the rising cost of living, the council said, while pay of other professions has been moving ahead of living costs.

"Reporting the results of a survey, the council said the purchasing power of Protestant clergymen has dropped 12.8 per cent in 12 years.

"On the other hand, purchasing power of factory workers has gone up 42 per cent, of service trades employees 33 per cent, and government employees 24.9 per cent, in the same period.

"The plight of the clergyman today is painfully obvious when his salary is compared with others,' said Dr. Benson Y. Landis, associate director of the council's research and survey department."

The above statement taken from the Associated Press speaks for itself. Since I am not now looking to a congregation for my support, maybe I can speak for gospel preachers without bias. Certainly preachers should not think of their work as a "profession." It does not fall in the same class with that of the "other professions." Preachers of the gospel should feel as did Paul: "Woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel of Christ." Preaching should be one's life's work. Preachers of this kind will preach with all their hearts and soul whether they are properly remunerated or not. In fact, they are duty bound to do so. Such men conscientiously feel that they would be lost in eternity if they did not.

On the other hand, it is not fair to those who are dedicating their lives and their all to the preaching of the gospel to penalize them just because they will take it. For the purchasing power of gospel preachers to fall twelve and one-half per cent while the purchasing power of all who are in the "professional" class rises is quite inconsiderate. Real Christians should take account of this fact and not demand such sacrifices from those who break to them the bread of life.

Joe Cooke Van Dyke Joins Faculty At Freed-Hardeman

H. A. Dixon

Brother Joe Cooke Van Dyke will become a member of Freed-Hardeman College faculty, effective September 14, taking the place of his brother, Frank, who is on leave to attend Abilene Christian College through the coming year. (Brother Frank has enrolled at Abilene to complete his work toward the master's degree with a major in Bible. He will return to Freed-Hardeman in September, 1954).

Brother Joe Cooke will teach some of the courses that have been offered by his brother in Bible and religious education. He will also assist in the field of education. Brother John Brinn will assume heavier responsibilities in the field of Bible so that the Bible Department will continue to receive the best possible attention, even in the absence of Brother Frank Van Dyke. Brother Joe Cooke Van Dyke will continue to serve as local minister for the church in Lexington, Tennessee.

Our fall term begins September 14. At present the outlook indicates one of the largest enrollments in history. More than 40 boys have registered, who will secure rooms in the city of Henderson. It has also become necessary for us to arrange a second dormitory for girls. A large two-story residence has been secured for this purpose only two doors from our campus. We believe that Freed-Hardeman will continue to go forward.

BURBANK GARDENS-NEW CHURCH AT GRAND PRAIRIE, TEXAS

New Church Building at Grand Prairie, Texas

HOLLAND BORING
Grand Prairie, Texas

The Burbank Gardens Church of Christ in Grand Prairie, Texas, had its beginning October, 1951. The Fourth and Church Street congregation where Brother Norman Gipson preaches built the preacher's home and secured the services of Holland L. Boring, Sr., who was at that time on the faculty of Abilene Christian College teaching Bible in the Demonstration school. Brother Boring was to build the congregation that was to construct a building.

After considerable personal work and a gospel meeting the church was begun with thirty-three people, twelve of whom were adults. This congregation met in homes and in the UAW-CIO Hall until the Education building was ready. They met in the Education building while they constructed the auditorium which holds 432 in pews. Most of the work was done by the members. They now have some 250 meeting.

The congregation at 4th and Church has grown considerably while backing this work. We feel that this should be an incentive for other congregations to build new ones.

The new church building pictured above is valued at $65,000. Our $45,000 was raised by the Burbank Garden Church of Christ within the two years it has been in existence.

A Macedonian Call From Texas

Jimmy Wood

It was my privilege to be with the church of Christ in Archer City, Texas, in a gospel meeting, June 15-24. This meeting was supported by the Northside congregation here in Odessa. The brethren at Archer City seemed very encouraged about the meeting, stating that it was the best attended of any meeting ever held there.

The church in Archer City is very small, and might well be regarded as a mission point. They only have about 40 members with only eight or nine heads of families in it. Yet despite this fact their contribution is averaging about $60 per week. With the help of three of the congregations around Archer City they are able to keep a regular preacher, and to do considerable work there. Brother Bert Wells is their preacher and he is doing an excellent work with the congregation, having baptized several in the last year, and led some out of the error of the Christian church.

They greatly need at present additional building space. Their little building has two small classrooms and an auditorium that will seat only about 75 people. It is filled at most of their services now and they do not have enough classroom space. They are planning to build an auditorium that will seat about 150, and convert their present building into classrooms. Doing all the work themselves, the building will cost them only about $4,000. To show that they are willing to help themselves they have raised $1,100. Also they plan to borrow $1,500 more if they are to build this year. We are wondering if there are not enough Christians who will read this article to supply this $1,500? Perhaps the congregation where you worship can help them some too.

We would like to urge you who read this article to send a contribution to the work in Archer City in the near future. You may send it to Brother Jess Godwin, Archer City, Texas, and it will be used to build a building there. We feel that if they can build this year, by the close of 1954 the congregation there will be self supporting. If you desire additional information about this work, you may write the elders of the church of Christ at Holliday, Texas, about it. Also the brethren at Archer City will be happy to supply you with any information.

Why We Exist

Homer Putnam Reeves

The church of Christ exists today for the same reason that it existed nineteen centuries ago. Her function is two-fold: She is to perform an educational work (evangelistic) on one hand, and a philanthropic work on the other. She is to preach the gospel and render aid to the needy. In short, she is to practice pure and undefiled religion (cf James 1:27).

The church of Christ is truly a distinctive institution. Unless she has something distinctive to offer, she has no right to exist. There is no place for the church of Christ unless she is different. But we are not different just for the sake of being different. There is a valid reason.

In beautiful Centennial Park in Nashville, Tennessee, there stands a most imposing structure. It is called the Parthenon. It is supposed to be an exact replica of the Parthenon which stood in the city of Athens, Greece, in the long ago. The original Parthenon was built during the age of Pericles; was a temple to Athena; was a massive Doric temple which took form under the skillful supervision of Phidias. Unfortunately it was destroyed by a Venetian bomb in 1687. The good people of Nashville were at great pains, and went to very considerable expense to erect a duplicate of the ancient building. We are told that it is very nearly a perfect facsimile of the original.

We of the church of Christ are engaged in a similar work—a work of reconstruction. Jesus said, "Upon this rock I will build my church" (Matt. 16:18). The holy institution was established about nineteen centuries ago. The gospel covered the entire civilized world during the first century of the Christian era (Rom. 10:18; Col. 1:23). Then came the declension and ultimate apostasy (2 Thes. 2:1-4). The Dark Ages (1200 years) followed. Then came the Protestant Reformation of the 16th century. In the wake of said reformation, additional state-churchism together with an array of Protestant sects were born. This accounts for the vast labyrinth of religion which confronts may today. People have actually arrived at the point where they are unable to conceive of Christianity except in a sectarian sense. But sectarianism did not exist in the Christian community when it was first created. By no stretch of the imagination can we associate sectarianism with the Apostolic Church.

Today, we are what we are because of a well-founded desire to become and remain an exact replica of the church which Jesus built. It is our earnest hope that we may be able to know the true character of the Primitive church. We seek to know in every detail the height, length, breadth and depth of the original church. Knowing such, it is our avowed intention to duplicate that in Dallas and every place on earth.

How important that we have the original pattern! When a carpenter cuts rafters for a house he is wise to make rafters by the original pattern! If one uses the original to cut only the first, then uses the first to cut the second, and the second becomes a pattern for the third, and thus in succession each new rafter becomes a pattern for the next one, he may expect to be far afield in short order.

The church of Christ is not interested in copying anything of the 19th century, or of the 12th century. Rather, we are determined to go back to Jerusalem, in the year 33 A.D., and take our seat at the feet of Christ and his holy apostles. There we find the original pattern and thereby we can restore the original church.

We have no illusions. We are not perfect. The church is not perfect. But our pattern is perfect! Our position is salutary.

ANOTHER COUPLE TO LEAVE FOR GERMANY

Brother R. J. Smith and Family.

Brother and Sister R. J. Smith of Crandell, Texas, are making plans to leave for Germany in the near future. Brother Smith studied the German language while a student at A.C.C. in preparation for his work among the German people. He has had considerable experience in radio work and is also an excellent song director as well as preacher.

A congregation is needed who will assume responsibility for supporting Brother and Sister Smith while in Germany. Also financial assistance for their travel fund is needed. Any congregation may contact Brother Smith in care of the church in Terrell, Texas, where his father-in-law, Brother McGinty, is one of the elders.

What Does The Bible Say?

A JUDGE TREMBLES BEFORE A GOSPEL PREACHER

Frequently we find prisoners trembling before the words of the judge on the bench. But today in our study of Acts 24 we find the judge, Felix, trembling before his prisoner, the Apostle Paul.

What is the cause of this surprising situation? History records that Felix was living in adultery with Drusilla, a Jewess, whom he had stolen from Azizus, the king of Emesa. Paul chose to speak to him on his three-fold theme: Righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come. "What a moving sermon that must have been to bring the hardened judge to such alarm that he 'trembled!'"

"Righteousness" no doubt included not only a statement of the moral laws of God, but of the obedience which God expected to the gospel of Jesus Christ. We cannot imagine Paul preaching to a sinner like Felix without telling him to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, to repent of his sins, and to be baptized into Christ in order to receive forgiveness of his sins (Acts 2:38). The "word of righteousness" is used by the Hebrew writer to include all the commands of God (Hebrews 5:13).

"Temperance" or self-control hit Felix's sinful life dead-center. To be a Christian, Paul undoubtedly explained, meant that a man must "deny himself and take up his cross" and follow Jesus. We must crucify the flesh "with its affections and lusts" (Galatians 5).

"Judgment" to come must have included a vivid portrayal of the day of judgment. "So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God," Paul told the Romans. The world will not be saved by mere lectures on how to be well adjusted to our environment. We need more preachers with the simple gospel of Christ who "knowing the terror of the Lord" persuade men to obey God. Paul prophesied that the Lord Jesus is coming again "in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power. . ." (2 Thess. 1).

No wonder the judge trembled before such earnest preaching. Paul was "casting" for his soul, trying to catch him for Christ. But Felix resolved his problem by procrastination rather than by making a definite decision. He said: "Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee."

As far as we know that "convenient season" never came, although Felix sent for Paul and talked with him often during his two year term as governor.

May I appeal to you who are out of Christ, who have not obeyed the gospel, to repent and turn to him while you have opportunity! Don't let Satan tempt you into thinking that any time will be an easy, or convenient time to obey God. "Today is the day of salvation." Obey the gospel of Christ now!

LEARNING FROM L. P. BENNETT

One of the most remarkable characters that I know is a retired ranchman who lives with his son on a cattle ranch near Denver City, Texas. His name is L. P. Bennett. His parents died when he was seven years of age and he grew up without the advantage of one day's formal schooling in his life and yet he has educated himself and given more than a million dollars to the church and to Christian education. Scarcely any major project that has been conducted by Christians in Texas in his lifetime has not received some help from him and his wife. Here is a part of their inspiring story as he told it to me in his home recently.

He was born in Knox County, Texas, in 1889 and met his future wife, Ruth, at the age of 11. They married when she was 18 and he was 24. Knox County at that time was very thinly populated and there were just about enough men in the county to impanel a jury of 12 men. They moved to West Texas, to Yoakum County, in 1915 and bought eight sections of land. At that time, as he put it, they knew only isolation, privation, and sometimes, almost starvation. There were no schools, no churches, no telephones, no banks in the county. Every once in a while a cowboy would come by the place.

However, he had a book that his mother and father had left them. Its leaves were yellow with age. Out of it he learned to read. It was a book of sermons by the restoration preacher, Ashley S. Johnson. Through these sermons he learned the will of the Lord. As he put it, "I was rocked in a Methodist cradle and nursed at a Baptist breast." His wife and her father were members of the Baptist church. But through his study of the plan for a restoration of simple New Testament Christianity he led the way for them to obey the simple gospel. Price Billingsley baptized his wife in 1902. He and his wife raised a good Christian family and have helped many a boy and girl through Abilene Christian College in their fifty years together. She went to her reward June 5, 1948. Her grave is covered with a simple bronze plaque on which is engraved the following scriptures in full: Rom. 1:16, Heb. 11:6, Rom. 10:17, Luke 13:3, Matt. 10:32, Mark 16:16, James 2:26, Matt. 2:7. Truly she being dead yet speaketh to all who visit her grave.

His advice to young people is that they invest their lives in Christian living. He says that the greatest happiness that he has had has come from his contributions to the church and to such institutions as Abilene Christian College and the various orphan homes. He rejoices to see young men whom he has supported in school go out to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. He loves to hear from the young ladies who have been helped by him as they engage in their useful occupations and raise their families under Christian influence. "Then you can begin to realize the value of your investments. It affords happiness beyond expression, to meet with a congregation of ex-students that you have helped to train. Ruth and I have bought land and cattle, stocks and bonds, and other securities down through the years, but the biggest bargain that we ever bought was when we invested in institutions that are devoted to the cause of Christ. It has and will continue to pay off in invaluable souls. What if a man gain the whole world and lose his own soul. If one soul is worth the whole world, look what it is worth to save many souls. Show me your faith without your works and I will show you my faith by my works. Friends, we just don't get those things that are worthwhile by wishful thinking. We have to do something about it. Our generosity is measured by the way we exercise it and for what purpose. If there had never been an effort to bring about the Christian institution that exists today, what condition would the world be on all of us doing our reasonable duty. I have been a ranchman in? We should not criticize so much but encourage and insist up all of my life. I am not a gospel preacher, but I can tell whether a man is a true one or not. My mission has always been to do all the good I can and just as little harm as possible. The greatest monument that anyone can leave to memory is the one that he builds himself while here on earth. That is the only one that we will have to give account for. I firmly believe the more we give to God, the more he makes us able to give. I believe in divine providence. My advice to young Christians is to live the Christian life regardless of the consequences. Treat every man as you would like to be treated. Respect the rights of others and God will bless you."

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

BIBLE STUDY AND WORSHIP

Brother Showalter:

We have a brother and sister here who do not believe in Sunday school or Bible study on Sunday morning. When we come together and separate classes he says we separate the body of Christ. Also they do not believe in asking women questions and their answering them. He wants a Bible answer on these questions. No one seems to satisfy him on this. They are fine people. He is not against Bible study at any other time but on Sunday morning. When he says the body comes together to worship he believes it is wrong. He would like for someone to see if they can help on this matter. They seem to want to worship with us, but believe we are doing wrong. He said to me the other day we had to have elders. I asked him could he qualify for an elder, and he said he could not. I told him none of the others can do so here. He said if we would worship right, elders would come. We worship just like all churches of Christ worship that I have ever attended their services. We sing, pray, study the Bible and have the communion. Will appreciate hearing from you on this.

The above is from a good brother out in the far west. Undoubtedly the brother and sister whom he mentions are conscientious and have good intentions. It is often the case that something comes along that appears inconsistent in the conduct of the affairs of the church, or in the behavior of some of the brethren. We have heard of one man who went all the way to Palestine to be baptized in the river Jordan because he read in the Bible that our Savior was baptized in the river Jordan and he wanted to be baptized exactly as was our Savior. Well it is true that our Savior was baptized in the river Jordan and he was baptized by John the baptizer. None of us were baptized of John and certainly extremely few in the river Jordan. In these two particulars we have not followed the example of our Savior. Is that necessary? Is it exacted of us? Who would so contend?

Several years ago one of our preachers, and one generally regarded by those of us who knew him as a most excellent man and a capable preacher discovered what he thought of very great importance, in connection with the "good confession." He read carefully the account of Phillip and the eunuch as given in Acts, 8th chapter. He noticed that when Phillip told the eunuch that if he believed with all his heart he could be baptized, the eunuch replied: "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God." Then he decided that all candidates for baptism should be required to use those very words in making the good confession and that otherwise they were not making the "good confession" at all. He prepared several nice sermons on it, held some debates and divided some churches with this new idea. I was at that time editor of the Firm Foundation, as I am now, and wrote some articles on the new position introduced into the churches on the good confession taught in the Bible. Well these are the words of the eunuch as given in the King James translation into the English language. But I called attention of the brother that when one uses those words in making the good confession he really has used not one word used by the eunuch. The eunuch most probably used the Aramaic language which was currently spoken in that part of the world, possibly the Hebrew, but most certainly did not use the English language which had its development many centuries later. The French, Italian, German or Spanish could and do make the good confession intelligibly in their own language, but not in the English language. When we make the good confession in our mother tongue we do not use one word of the confession as spoken by the eunuch, but we confess Christ as taught in the Bible. The hobby soon died, and the dear brother has been sleeping in the dust for quite a long number of years. I believe he was a good man, but I am certain he was wrong on this particular contention.

The Savior has authorized and commanded us to teach people the truth. He sent his apostles into all the world and instructed them to "teach", to make disciples of all nations. The only way Christians are made is through the teaching of the word of God. The Savior declared: "They shall all be taught of God." Moses said the people must hear the prophet that was to come; that is, Christ. Those who were scattered abroad from Jerusalem went everywhere telling the glad news (Acts 4:4). Paul said to Timothy: "The things which thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men who shall be able to teach others also" (2 Tim. 2:2). People are agreed that we ought to teach; it is also conceded by all, so far as I know, that it is scriptural to teach the people publicly and privately. Paul told the elders of Ephesus: "I have taught you publicly and from house to house." Most of us would most assuredly regard this as a good example for us to follow. Also we teach people in their homes and in such meetings, men and women, boys and girls are accorded the privilege of asking and answering questions. As for the worship of the church on the Lord's day in which both men and women engage I have not known women to ask or try to answer questions. They worship quietly in the congregation and men lead in prayers, thanksgiving, exhortation and serving at the Lord's table. Only members participate in the worship. The Bible study preceding the worship is for non-members as well as members, and all whether men or women may take part in such Bible study. And if not, why not? Who am I that I should make a law where God has made none, and forbid somebody, or anybody from being taught the right way of the Lord, and being saved from sin? Possibly your friend has not taken notice of the real conditions that obtain in a Bible class. It is simply a group of people studying the Bible, which may be composed of Christians or of outsiders, or as is more often the case of some who are Christians and some who are not Christians. Paul was speaking of groups of Christians in the worship and the man who applies his language to a group of people studying the Bible, when the church is not engaged in the worship is running dangerously near the point of a distortion of the word of the Lord, and a perversion of the truth. I am sure your friend is a good and sincere man and I am also of the persuasion that he will come to the proper scriptural position on this point. I know a number of good people, several of them preachers, who once held to the brother's attitude but who having examined the Bible teaching more carefully have turned away from it.

M. Norvel Young To Hold Meeting At Broadway

Alan M. Bryan

The elders of the Broadway Church of Christ of Lubbock have asked Brother M. Norvel Young, regular minister of the congregation, to preach in the annual fall gospel meeting, September 20-27. One of the most extensive campaigns put on by this congregation is now going on in preparation for a great harvest of souls. An intensive personal work effort is now in progress and over 50 cottage prayer meetings will be held the week preceding the meeting. I have never seen people work harder for the salvation of souls.

Remember this effort in your prayers and attend

M. Norvel Young
each evening service at 7:30 if within driving distance.

John B. White Selected For Superintendent Of Children's Home

James C. Kerr

Brother John B. White has been selected to serve as the superintendent of the Children's Home in Lubbock. The elders met with him on two different occasions and believe that he is qualified to do a very fine job in this capacity. It is our hope that the first unit of the home can begin some time this fall. Brother White will be available for speaking engagements or to see individuals who are interested in contributing to the home.

Brother White was born in Comanche County, Texas, in 1905, and grew to young manhood on a farm near Rising Star in Eastland County. He finished high school there in 1924 and immediately entered John Tarleton College. After one year there he began teaching and taught almost continuously from 1926 until 1942. He served in various schools as teacher, coach, principal and superintendent. He worked with the school systems in Carbon, Rising Star, and Wichita Falls, Texas. He graduated from Abilene Christian College in 1934 and worked toward his master's degree in graduate work at North Texas State College in Denton.

Brother White obeyed the gospel in 1926 and four weeks later began preaching at the Oaklawn congregation in Fort Worth. From that time he has served the church in many different capacities. He has preached for many small congregations until they were able to support a local preacher full time. He has given up his vacations to work with mission points and preaching for congregations while the regular preachers were away. He has assisted in starting several new congregations, the most recent of which is the Brentwood congregation in Austin.

Many readers will be acquainted with Brother White through his publication of the 32-page booklet, "The Churches of Christ Salute You." This is one of the best tracts available introducing the New Testament Church and its plea to those who are not acquainted with it. Since 1946 Brother White has served as one of the elders of the University Avenue Church in Austin.

Since 1942 he has worked in the Texas Employment Commission in the field of personnel administration and guidance. In 1929 he married Vera Covey and to this union were born three children, John Weldon, age 21, now in Korea, Cherie Jan, age 7, and Linda Sue, age 5. Sister White has had experience in teaching the intermediate grade level in several schools.

We will gladly hear from those who are interested in helping with this work of caring for orphan children. We invite your suggestions and your prayers. If you are interested, we would like to send you a little pamphlet entitled, "A Dream Comes True." Write to the Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock, Texas.

SPECIAL NUMBER

Dear Brethren:

In the mission fields outside the United States, Brother Showalter and I have been planning for some time to have a special issue of the Firm Foundation which will attempt to bring up to date the Harvest Field, the book that was published several years ago giving reports from the various fields where the church is preaching the gospel outside the United States.

We realize it will be difficult for this to be compressed into a single issue of the paper. However, we will do our best. If for some reason we cannot get it all in, you will understand.

We would like for you to prepare an article, double-spaced, about three pages long, giving a view to the readers of this paper of what has been accomplished and a little bit of the prospects for spreading the kingdom in the field where you are working. We don't want it to be just a catalogue of facts but would like to have a little bit of the zeal and enthusiasm of the mission spirit in it. We believe this is another way in which we can help stir the brethren up to preach the gospel to every creature.

Thank you for your cooperation in this regard. We would like to have the article sent to us here, Broadway and T, Lubbock, Texas, not later than the fifteenth of October. It will come out some time around the first of November. We hope that a number of extra copies will be used by the churches to bring the members up to date on what is being done in the mission field.

While we are writing to you, let us tell you that we are interested in each one of you and pray God's richest blessing upon you. The church is growing at home, and we believe the Lord is blessing our efforts abroad. We know that many of you are working under severe difficulties, but we rejoice in your courage and faith.

M. NORVEL YOUNG

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

B. B. Harding, 437 S. Thompson, Vinita, Oklahoma, September 2: Three were baptized here August 23.

Lucian M. Farrar, Conway, Arkansas, September 1: I closed a meeting at Mill Creek, Ark., with four baptisms. I also baptized two here yesterday.

W. Herman Neill, P. O. Box 905, Seminole, Texas, September 1: Paul L. Wallace of Gladewater, Texas, recently closed a seven day meeting with the church here. He did his work well. Six were baptized and two were reclaimed. The Lord's work here moves along very well.

C. E. McGaughey, 2407 W. Lincoln, Springfield, Missouri, August 28: I closed at Big Spring, Texas, with eleven baptisms, twenty-four restorations and fifteen placing membership. I am now in a good meeting at Clinton, Okla. I go next to Tuckerman, Ark., where my son, Don, preaches; then to McKinley, Mo., Lebanon, Tenn., and Mayfield, Ky.

Max D. Wheeler: Any congregation in need of a song leader please notice. A song director who has worked the last four months with one of the larger congregations in Ft. Worth will be studying in Abilene this next year. If congregation is within 100 miles of Abilene arrangements could be made for Sunday work. Reference: William Pearson, elder of the church 1941 8th Ave., Ft. Worth, Texas.

A. Chester Grimes, 1548 Heights Boulevard, Houston, Texas: James W. Nichols of Abilene, Texas, will be with us in a meeting October 4-11. One was baptized last Sunday, two placed membership on Wednesday night and one the Sunday before along with one restoration and one baptism. Due to a cancellation I will have time for one more meeting this fall or early winter. If I can serve you please let me know.

C. B. Glasgow, Box 906, San Felipe, Texas, August 30: Last Sunday I preached at Grub Hill and Brother Chaney preached at Blum. There were five confessions and baptisms. I promised to go back to Grub Hill soon to preach and baptize a man and his wife. Brother George Johnson is teaching the Bible and leading the songs. We attended the services at Brookshire this morning where we heard and enjoyed an extra good sermon delivered by the local minister, Brother Charlie Metcalf. Brother Metcalf and I have been preaching in Texas over forty years. Pray for us.

T. Reginald Boley, 2825 Avenue E, Fort Worth 5, Texas, August 31: It was our good pleasure to meet with the Central church of Christ in Colorado Springs and Glenwood Springs, Colo., on our visits in New Mexico and Colorado. The West Berry church assists the Glenwood Springs church. Many friends from Texas were there for the formal opening of the new building in Glenwood Springs. We are at home now for the opening of school in Fort Worth. In the meantime I am visiting Rio Vista where the work is improving. All seem to be concerned about Christian development and spiritual environment. Brother J. C. Cash was at Rio Vista one Sunday of my absence.

Jack Meyer, Jr., Box 21, Cyril, Oklahoma, September 2: One was baptized here recently during a week of daily Bible classes.

Wyatt Sawyer, 4018 Sue Ellen St., Houston, Texas, September 1: We had one to be baptized and one to return to her first love our last Sunday in Madisonville.

Richard Donley, Box 1508, Pueblo, Colorado, August 28: I did the preaching in a meeting at Raton, New Mexico, that closed August 25th. Good interest and good attendance. One baptized and one restored. I have time open for meetings after the first of the year.

J. O. Jones, 1014 Beech St., Little Rock, Arkansas, September 1: Twenty-one were restored at Bono, Ark. This was one of the best meetings I have ever had a part in. The cause in that section is surely growing. Brother Marshall Carner is doing a fine work in Bono and in that part of Arkansas. When in Little Rock, you are cordially invited to visit us.

O. O. O. Newton, Rochester, Texas, September 2: I was with the Oak Grove congregation in Rains County, Texas, the first two Sundays in August, where two were baptized into Christ. Brother W. W. Willis of Laverne, Ala., did the preaching and Wilson Bean led the singing in the meeting here at home August 12-23. Eleven were baptized and five restored to their first love. To the Lord be all the praise.

Merle King, Baird, Texas, September 5: Brother LeMoine G. Lewis of Abilene Christian College conducted our summer meeting August 14-23. The services were inspiring. Three adults were added to the church as the result of the meeting and a number of contacts made that we feel we can reach. We have been in Baird nearly two years and appreciate the people in the church for the efforts they are putting forth.

W. Harland Dilbeck, 1014 Ludwig Avenue, Santa Rosa, California, August 26: The new congregation at Sonoma Avenue and Church Street in Santa Rosa was opened August 9th with record attendance. Beginning August 10, Brother O. C. Lambert of Decatur, Alabama, delivered a series of lectures, which came to a close last evening. Brother Lambert is compiling a book which will include a great many quotations from Catholic writers. Such a book will prove valuable to members of the body of Christ, and may be had upon completion by writing to Brother Lambert.

C. R. Franks, Jr., P. O. Box 735, Princeton, West Virginia, August 28: After six years' work in Greensboro, North Carolina, seeing much growth and advancement in many ways, some conditions existing a long while and some coming to light in the last few months within the eldership there compelled my leaving after telling them I was "withdrawing from it to be free, as we are not in fellowship." Even so, many of God's most sterling people are there and I am sure right will yet prevail. After being with the fine group in Rockingham, North Carolina, temporarily this summer I begin in Princeton, West Virginia, September 1, where there is much evidence of real zeal and love.

J. P. Williams, Rt. 11, Box 198, Ft. Worth, Texas, August 31: We are happy to report another fine month for the Lord's church here at Lake Worth, in Ft. Worth, Texas. Three were baptized, three came by membership, two came by restoration and membership, and five confessed error. For all these we are happy and give God all the glory.

Ross W. Dye, 408 N. Marshall, Oklahoma City 10, Oklahoma, August 27: One was baptized here last night. Horace Busby begins our meeting September 20th.

J. T. Marlin, Sweetwater, Texas: Six have responded this week. One was baptized during August. Five were baptized in our meeting with Joe Malone preaching. I recently preached in a meeting at Mead's Chapel in Nashville, Tennessee.

S. W. Driver, Nocona, Texas, September 1: The church at Sunset, Texas, has just closed a very good meeting with John McCoy of Nocona, preacher, and John Stiles of Sunset as song leader. Good attendance with many visitors. One was baptized. An automatic water system, rest rooms and baptistry have been recently installed in our building. Our attendance and contribution are higher than usual.

Wm. J. Whaley, Box 228, Bedford, Indiana, August 28: Since last report, two have been added. Many visitors attend each Lord's day service, and our Bible study attendance has been splendid for Vacation Season. The special evangelistic meetings in progress near Bedford have resulted in several additions to the various congregations. We are much encouraged with the Lord's work in Bedford.

W. Wallace Layton, Box 10086, Houston 18, Texas, August 29: Meetings at Bend and Big Spring, Texas, resulted in 19 responses to the invitation. Nine of these were baptized, eight restored, and two placed membership. I have completed one year's work here with the Garden Oaks congregation. During this year we have built a new auditorium with a seating capacity of 500 and have had 79 additions. The church is unified and at work for the Lord.

John W. Pigg, Gunter, Texas, August 31: Tom Walker preached yesterday to the Gunter church with whom were assembled ex-students of Gunter Bible College. He vividly sketched the amazing progress of the church during the last fifty years in which time he has been preaching the unsearchable riches of the gospel of Christ. Eugene Milholland directed the singing. The prayer was led by Paul Sherrod. Many others spoke and sang after basket dinner on the campus. Memories, realities and further aspirations swelled the soul with the ardor of life.

W. E. (Bud) Irvine, 5th & Atlantic, Long Beach, California, September 1: The gospel meeting in which I assisted in Shafter and Wasco, California, resulted in twenty-four responses to the invitation. There were five baptisms and nineteen restorations. My next meeting is in Delano, California, and begins in October. The work at Fifth and Atlantic in Long Beach appears to be improving. Since beginning the work here on the first of June, there have been about twenty restorations and transfers of membership. We are centrally located about five blocks north of the ocean and five blocks east of the main street of town. Come and worship with us when visiting in our area.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, September 3: One was identified and two baptized; 259 in Bible school and 248 at prayer Wednesday night.

M. Lloyd Smith, 608 Peardale Lane, Longview, Washington, September 1: Brother Hood Wilking of Fort Worth just closed a meeting with us in which one was baptized and the church edified. Two were baptized before the meeting and two since.

Timothy B. Crews, 105 Hardy Avenue, Corsicana, Texas, September 2: Three were restored at Cayuga and one baptized at Groesbeck in meetings in which I did the preaching. After some losses in membership which hurt us at N. Beaton, we prayerfully look ahead with hope of making gains. The losses were due to people moving from our midst.

Texas H. Stevens, Dallas 8, Texas, September 4: The Lord has blessed the work here with several additions, some being baptized into Christ, and rapid progress on our new building during July and August. Meetings in Midlothian and Kemp, Texas, in which I was privileged to preach, resulted in nine baptisms. Brother Ira Douthitt is to hold the first meeting in our new building January 10-17. Be sure to visit with us when you are in Dallas.

M. T. Bishop, 2302 W. 41st, Tulsa, Oklahoma, August 29: Brother G. K. Wallace did the preaching in one of the finest meetings conducted here. Every lesson was a masterful presentation of God's Word. An audience of nearly 400 heard Brother Wallace discuss "Things Which Divide Us." A good representative number from the Christian churches and from the "Anti" congregations here heard the lesson. We are certain that great good will result from the meeting. Since the last report there have been four to place membership and two baptisms. Visit us when in Tulsa.

J. Emmett Wainwright, 547 East Walnut Avenue, El Segundo, California, September 2: Seven placed membership with the congregation at 405 East Grand Avenue, the past three weeks. We are prepared to transact business in the state; and choice lots are being secured upon which to erect a building well equipped for every good work. Long range plans for the new group demand faith, hope, and love which counteract doubt, despair and fear. I am spending the month of September with the church at 120 North Mt. Vernon in Prescott, Ariz.

Claude McClung, 1614 West 2nd St., Arlington, Texas, September 2: I have just closed a very fine and enjoyable meeting with the Friendship congregation, near Sudan, Texas. We had six baptisms and about the same number of restorations. This is a rural congregation, but it is composed of some very fine people, and they maintain a regular preacher, with a nice home built for him. Brother E. W. Snow is there and he is a fine fellow worker, and is doing a splendid job. I am glad to be back with the work at Mansfield, where I am soon to conclude three years of pleasant and profitable work. The church of Mansfield is composed of some very fine farmers and professional people, and they are very agreeable to be with. The cause is growing throughout this section, and is so much better than when I first knew it, thirty-three years ago. It is almost unbelievable. The pure gospel is now being preached as never before in this section, and it is bearing wonderful fruit.

O. L. Winborn, Box 145, Anthony, New Mexico, September 4: We plan an enlarged program of work for 1954. Two ladies were baptized here August 30.

Paul Southern, 1642 College Drive, Abilene, Texas, September 3: Four were baptized and two placed membership during the Putnam City, Okla., meeting. Following a meeting in Baytown, Texas, I shall return to my regular work in Abilene.

W. H. Neill, P. O. Box 905, Seminole, Texas, September 1: Recently elders and deacons were appointed to serve the church here. The elders are W. M. Crismon, W. A. Wauson, L. G. Daugherty. The deacons are Walter Woods, Horace I. Jones, Allison Gainey and Arch Howell. Three have placed membership here and one has been reclaimed since our meeting closed August 2nd.

J. V. Davis, 101 Cedar Avenue, Dumas, Texas, September 1: After four and a half years with the church in Levelland I am now living in Dumas, Texas. We moved here July 17. Thus far there have been thirty additions to the congregation. A new building was completed here in July and it is adequately serving our purpose in the Lord's work. When you are in the tri-state area, we invite you to attend our services. The church building in Dumas is located at the corner of 6th and Meredith.

Rufus R. Clifford, Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, September 1: The meeting with the Preston Highway church of Louisville, Ky., August 16-26, was a pleasant experience. The crowds were the best to date for a meeting for this growing church. One was immersed and two placed membership. Laland Jarret led the singing in an efficient manner. Joseph H. Cox, the preacher, is doing a splendid work. Our work here is setting all-time records in class attendance. I am in a meeting this week at West Point, Tenn.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, August 29: Tennessee Polytechnic Institute of Cookeville, Tennessee, a member college of the University of Tennessee System has invited me to speak to the students on the opening day of school, September 24, at 10 A.M. Dean Sharp said: "This is in recognition of the work you have done and are doing with the students on the campus of Tennessee Tech." Every week I conduct a Church of Christ Student Group Meeting, and last spring there were 72 enrolled.

Bill McCown, 176 Ohio Street, New Braunfels, Texas, August 24: After three and one-half years of pleasant co-labor with the saints in New Braunfels, I have resigned the work here and will begin work with the church at Liberty, Texas, as soon as details of the move can be worked out. The work in New Braunfels has been gratifying in most every way and we commend this church for the sacrifices that have been made and the growth that has been attained. Our leaving here will be filled with sorrow but we are anticipating a pleasant and happy labor with the brethren in Liberty. After September, my address will be Post Office Box 201, Liberty, Texas. Thus far no one has been selected to follow me in the work here. It was my pleasure on a recent vacation trip to preach for the Convention Street church in Baton Rouge, La. We labored there ten years ago. I also preached at Liberty, Texas, and at Pierce and Baldwin in Houston. It is gratifying to see the church at work in every place.

A. E. Wickham, Coshocton, Ohio, August 31: Two splendid services at the East Main Street church yesterday. Yesterday afternoon I attended the service of the all day meeting in Tiverton and heard Brother W. W. Adamson preach a good sound sermon.

Paul T. Dumm, Charleston, South Carolina, September 4: One has responded to the invitation and has been buried with her Lord in baptism since our last report. We will attempt to contact all whose names we receive who are in this locality.

Harold Littrell, Pocahontas, Arkansas, August 30: Eleven were baptized in the meeting which closed today at Brakebill, Ark. Wonderful interest was shown by non-members. There is much work to be done yet. I think your paper is the best in the brotherhood.

David Fultz, 802 N. Dellrose, Wichita 6, Kansas: There were two baptisms on our last day in Winfield, August 9th, and two baptisms in the mission meeting at North Platte, Nebraska, which followed. We enjoyed our first Lord's day with the congregation here yesterday, and invite all to come and worship with us when in this city. Our Sunday morning sermon is being broadcast over KWBB for those who cannot attend the morning services. We encourage all of this area to listen.

Clifford S. Owens, 1805 River Drive, Nashville, Tennessee, August 31: On August 19, my brother, R. Leonard Owens, and I concluded a ten-day meeting in Lula, Okla. This was one of the most interesting meetings that I ever had the opportunity to work in. We alternated each night with the preaching and song direction. Twelve responded to the invitation. Seven were baptized and five restored. One was restored at the Eighth Avenue congregation during my absence. James E. Bates did the preaching.

901 Broadway N. W., Grand Rapids 2, Michigan

G. B. Womack, Chatham, Louisiana, August 29: We just closed a wonderful meeting here with Brother D. A. Arrington from Hempstead, Texas, doing the preaching. His lessons were so plain that anyone could see it, even a little child. He used the best wisdom we have ever seen presenting his lessons, and they are so badly needed at this mission point. There were three baptized and one restored during the meeting. One was restored the Sunday before the meeting started, and one was baptized the next day after the meeting closed. We are so grateful for Brother Arrington and our brethren there for sending him to us. The work here looks encouraging. We have some outside interest at every service. We pray that the church here will accomplish greater things in the future. Pray for the work here.

G. S. Westbrook, Box 420, Bonham, Texas, September 5: I closed three years of work at Pioneer Park in Lubbock, last Lord's day. I baptized a fine young married man from a Baptist family my last Wednesday night there. Then I baptized two more, restored three and two placed membership the last Sunday I was there. The work at Pioneer Park was very congenial and pleasant. We had started a 90x47 ft. Education building, which we will move into soon. It is a two story brick which will give them about twenty more rooms. We had a very successful Vacation Bible School and singing school the last week I was there. Attendance increased every day. Damon Smith of Childress instructed in singing. He is one of the very best. Mack Greenway will preach for a few months at Pioneer Park and then W. R. Jones of East Side will move over there.

CLIFTON ROGERS TO SPEAK IN BIBLE SCHOOL CAMPAIGN

Alan Bryan

Clifton Rogers

Clifton Rogers, minister of the well-known Proctor Street congregation of Port Arthur, Texas, will speak September 13 at all services of the Broadway Church of Christ of Lubbock, Texas. This will be a part of a campaign by the Broadway congregation to increase enrollment and attendance at Bible study. Attendance has been averaging between 1000 and 1100 throughout the summer months and a goal of 1400 has been set for Sunday, September 13.

J. David Taylor, Gould, Oklahoma, August 31: Brother Bill Carmack of Lawton, Oklahoma, closed a wonderful series of meetings here last Sunday night, a week ago, the 23rd. Three fine adult people were baptized and one fine man with great influence came back to duty. We have never had so great crowds here the brethren say of our own religious neighbors. Bill Carmack has been serving Florida State University as assistant Speech teacher the last two years, I believe, and he has had six years of debating in school work. He is truly a wonderful preacher and a tender hearted Christian. We give God the praise and glory for this wonderful meeting.

Harvey Childress, 1520 E. Minnehaha Pkwy., Minneapolis 17, Minnesota: This summer I have held meetings in Ogden, Utah, and Juneau, Alaska. We believe both meetings accomplished some good. In Ogden two identified themselves with the church, and in Juneau five were baptized and two asked for the prayers of the church. Brother Boyd Field has been in Juneau eight years. There were no members of the church when he went there, and today they have a very nice building, paid for, and a self-supporting work. He is one of the best qualified men I know of for such work, and if he goes to a new place to begin the work in the future brethren should rally quickly to his support.

A. W. Chism, 415 Highland Park, Lebanon, Tennessee, August 30: The Highland Church of Lebanon enjoyed a fine gospel meeting August 2-12 with Brother Sterl Watson of St. Louis preaching and Brother Harold Jones directing the singing. These men are both outstanding in their labors and their work here shall never be forgotten. Five were baptized and one reclaimed in this effort which was preceded by a ten day vacation school. We regret that Brother Watson was ill during this meeting, however, his powerful preaching was not affected in the least. We pray for him a speedy recovery and a future visit to Lebanon if the Lord wills it.

J. Willard Morrow, 2203 Azle Avenue, N. Ft. Worth, Texas, August 18: Five responded the last night of the good meeting at Bailey Heights in Dallas. Two were for membership, two were restored and one was baptized. Brother Marvin Walker, the faithful and efficient minister, helped much in these services. Fine number of preachers and others visited in the meeting. We are in a good meeting this week at Fairfield southeast of Corsicana. Prospects are good for a successful meeting here. Brother Richardson is leading the splendid song services. More later about this and other meetings.

L. Arnold Watson, 7350 Chase, Dearborn, Michigan, September 4: Six were baptized and one restored in my meeting at Lone Oak, Paducah, Kentucky. Kenneth Edwards is the local preacher and did a splendid job in preparation and work during the meeting. I am to return in 1955. These brethren anticipate a new building within the coming year, which they need badly. John D. Cox will conduct our fall meeting next month, October 11-21, and I shall be with the Fountain Square church, Indianapolis, October 26-November 4. Our building expansion is making rapid progress and we hope to have the use of it by November 1.

Everett Huffard, Box 155, Idalou, Texas, September 2: We have just closed a good meeting at Bula, Texas, with seven responses, five of which were baptisms. Brother Bill Blackstone did a wonderful job directing the singing. Brother Norman Warren is their efficient preacher. Our meeting at Lorenzo closed August 16th and resulted in two baptisms and two restorations. Brother Lewis Hale is doing a splendid job as preacher there. Our meeting here with Brother Dean Brookshire doing the preaching resulted in three baptisms. Previous to that we conducted a meeting at Becton, Texas, with one baptism as visible result.

Curtis J. Torno, M.D., Devine, Texas, September 3: The work of the church at Devine is progressing. Our Bible school attendance record was set recently at 98, and should increase with school reopening. The breaking of the drouth should help the further growth of this young work here too. For the past eight weeks the contribution has averaged over $100 weekly. Everyone is encouraged. We will have a gospel meeting beginning September 20 and running through September 30, with Brother W. E. Coffman of Sinton, Texas, doing the preaching. The church at Sinton is helping with the meeting as a mission effort. All are invited.

William H. Hale, Cheyenne, Wyoming, September 1: Since last report I have conducted a fine meeting in Longmont, Colorado, where Brother Wayne Kee is the minister. Brother Kee is certainly doing a fine work there. He is just about the hardest working preacher I nearly ever saw. He drives for miles out in the country and picks up people and brings them to the services, and is doing something to advance the cause all the time such as painting and putting up signs, and visiting delinquent members, and many other things for which he deserves a lot of credit. The church there has great possibilities for a successful future. The church here in Cheyenne, Wyoming, is now in a good meeting with Brother Oscar Smith, of Texarkana, Arkansas. Anyone passing through Cheyenne stop and worship with us.

Ben Futrell, 2210 N. Dayton, Phoenix, Arizona: Two years ago I was forced to give up the work with the Southwest church of Christ here in Phoenix due to ill health. Six months ago I began to improve and have been preaching extra here in the Valley of the Sun. The kingdom seems to be spreading in this vicinity. I preached for the church at Glendale, Arizona, the fifth Lord's day in August with five additions; one baptized, two restored and two by transfer of membership. All of which we give God the glory through Christ. I am looking forward to a pleasant meeting with the Northside church in Mayfield, Kentucky, (my home town) beginning October 18-31. I have decided that I will only preach extra and hold meetings, and am now booking meetings for 1954. Any congregation, large or small, desiring my services may write me at the above address or call me at AL 42762 Phoenix. All letters and calls will be promptly answered giving references and time that I have available.

Robert D. Bankes, 810 Houston St., Kilgore, Texas, September 3: Last Lord's day brought to a close one of the best meetings ever conducted by the Houston and Broadway church. There were twenty-two responses. Fourteen were baptized, five placed membership and three confessed wrongs. Brother V. E. Howard did the preaching in his capable and forceful way. Brother Foy Baird, our regular song director led the congregational singing. We are helping to support the "Gospel Hour" heard over XEG, 1050 on your dial, at 9:30-10:00 each Sunday night. I will be with the church in Vidor, Texas, in a meeting September 14-23.

A. C. Williams, Box 757, Sand Springs, Oklahoma, August 31: One baptism, one restoration, and two placed membership yesterday at Fifth and Garfield. Our open air meeting at Prattville was attended well. We think the people over this area are becoming more and more aware of the possibilities of such endeavors. Brother Roy Lanier begins a meeting with us October 18. Our recent daily school was encouraging in every way. Of the children who attended, many came from homes of non-members. Let us have names and addresses of your friends or relatives who may live in or near Sand Springs.

Claude C. McQuiddy, 219 North Grand, Sherman, Texas, August 29: Wednesday night, August 26, I closed a profitable meeting here with the Grand Avenue church of Christ, with George H. Stephenson of Memphis, Tenn., doing the preaching. Visible results were nine baptized, two restored and two identified with this congregation. The church here was edified and inspired by the forceful and plain way that Brother Stephenson presented the truth. It was a pleasure for us to work with Brother Stephenson in this series of gospel meetings. Since last reporting, I have been in meetings in Van Alstyne, Jaytown, and Howe, Texas. Visible results were five baptisms and five restorations. We solicit the prayers of God's people everywhere.

B. E. Bawcom, 926 N. C St., Arkansas City, Kansas, September 4: We are enjoying splendid growth here with eight having been baptized and two placing membership within the last month. Our Vacation Bible school is well under way with fine attendance. Our fall meeting starts November 8 with Harmon Black of Detroit, Michigan, preaching.

E. G. Kessler, Blackwater, Missouri, August 31: Our meeting here with Brother Wilson Wallace of Dallas, Texas, doing the preaching and Brother Gary Moore, Columbia, Missouri, directing the song service, will begin September 27 and continue eleven or twelve days. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Today completes three and one-half years with the church here. We expect to be making a change in the near future. Anyone desiring my services may write me at the above address.

J. H. McBroom, Nashville, Tennessee, September 1: In the past six weeks four good people have placed membership with the Green Hills church of Christ, Hillsboro Road and Castleman Drive, Nashville, Tennessee, and two men have been baptized. After four delightful years of work with this congregation, I am locating with the South Miami church of Christ in Florida. Brother Dorris Billingsley will succeed me as minister of this new and growing church. My new address from this date will be 6236 S. W. 69th Avenue, South Miami, Florida.

Arthur L. Golden, P. O. Box 365, Perryton, Texas: Our meeting closed with a full house. Lee E. Rawlings of Burbank, California, did the preaching and it was of the best. Excellent interest was manifested both locally and regionally. At least 23 congregations were represented during the series of preaching the gospel. Brother Rawlings worked with this congregation for four years and is loved by the Christian people and respected by all. The Perryton congregation is a fine little church to work with and we look forward to a good work in the future.

B. C. McCarley, Holland at Third, Galena Park, Texas, September 3: On the 16th of August I closed two and one-half year's work with the Santa Rita church of Christ in San Angelo, Texas. On that day there were three additions. During the time I was with them we had two hundred and twenty-three additions to the congregation and raised the contribution to almost four hundred dollars per week. On the 23rd I closed a meeting with the Forsan church with good attendance, but no additions. On the 24th of August I began work with the Galena Park church, and on Sunday the 30th there was one baptized. We will begin a meeting on September 13th in which I will do the preaching. We would be glad to have you worship with us when you are in this area in our new auditorium located on Holland at Third Street.

Jesse C. Eubanks, Lueders, Texas, August 31: I preached for the church at Tahoka, yesterday in the absence of their minister, Doyle Kelcy. I once lived at Tahoka, before moving to Lueders, and still have many friends there. We had good crowds at both services, and the interest in the Lord's work seems to be high and the church is growing in spite of the prevailing drouth. It was a pleasure indeed to meet again with old friends of past years, and with brethren in the Lord who are so interested in carrying on the Lord's work.

Cecil E. Hill, 1111 West Mulberry, San Antonio, Texas, August 28: Last Sunday I began my eighth year as the preacher for the Beacon Hill congregation of this city. During the past seven years the congregation has made definite and substantial progress. The material progress is very easy to describe but it is believed that the spiritual progress is even more important. During the past two years we have selected elders, built a modern and spacious auditorium, purchased the land and provided a large parking lot and installed a forty-ton unit air conditioner. The congregation has a very good Bible school program and it is our plan to give more and more attention to this phase of our work. One of the most interesting and pleasant phases of our work here is the large number of young people who participate in the activities of the church. We have a rather large number of the military personnel to work and worship with us. Our progress is due to the aggressive leadership and the cooperation of the congregation. Visit with us when you visit in San Antonio.

O. M. Reynolds, Box 242, Leakey, Texas, August 30: The work of the Lord here is moving along in a most excellent manner. One fine man was restored last Lord's day. The Lord willing, I begin a two Sunday meeting with Brother Russell and the Carrizo Springs church September 20. Brother Russell will preach here while I am there. Sunday, October 4, we begin a two weeks meeting here with home forces in charge. Plan to visit us when near. This section about Leakey has had fine rains lately, the first to amount to much in about four years.

Dale Sexson, Box 474, Andrews, Texas: I just returned home from a meeting with the Northside church in Colorado City, Texas. Fourteen were baptized, two were restored and much interest was created. Of the sixteen, twelve were men, three of whom were formerly Baptists, one being the son of a Baptist preacher. One of the ladies was a Baptist. Here at Andrews one hundred and one have been added since January 1 of this year. We are having two services on Lord's day mornings to accommodate the crowds. The attendance has increased all summer. A new auditorium will get under construction soon. It will be one hundred feet by fifty-two. Our present auditorium will be converted into much needed classrooms.

John Richard Paek, Town House, Madisonville, Kentucky, August 29: I am teaching in the Hopkins County Schools during 1953-54 school term. I attend the services at the congregation where Brother O. B. Perkins preaches. Brother Perkins has done a fine job here. He has a daily broadcast over WFMW, 9:25 A.M. He has also held several mission meetings in this community. Much good has been done and continues. This is a true-to-the-book church. I have two Lord's days open each month and can visit any small group within 150 miles of Madisonville. I can furnish references. The church here is at peace and growing. I am a member of the local congregation here.

William F. Lemons, 906 West 10th Street, North Platte, Nebraska, August 29: The church here just concluded a meeting and Vacation Bible School. David Fultz of Wichita, Kansas, was the speaker. He was sent by the church in Winfield, Kansas, where he just concluded a period of labor. Two were baptized during the meeting and interest was good. Attendance at Vacation Bible School was between forty and fifty. We hope to begin our building soon if our building fund continues to grow as it has in the past few months. Christian families are encouraged to move to North Platte and assist in the work of the Lord. Write if you are interested in secular employment here.

R. C. Ledbetter, Calera, Oklahoma, August 30: Leon Savage, the man who did the preaching in our August meeting sent in a report to the Firm Foundation, but I want to add these few lines. My wife was in the hospital at Mineral Wells, Texas, at the time, and just about the time the meeting closed, Mrs. Durwood Owens, our only daughter entered the hospital in Abilene, Texas, where she underwent a serious operation. As to the meeting I will say that it was a success. The preaching was far beyond the average. Leon Savage is among our outstanding young preachers. I think I have never enjoyed preaching more. No church will make a mistake in using Leon Savage. I am always thinking of G. H. P. Showalter who has always been thoughtful and considerate of the young preachers.

Walter W. Leamons, Junction, Texas, September 1: Attendance in the meeting at Millersview, Texas, increased from night to night. Brother T. B. McNeely, of Doole, Texas, was the song leader and it was our third meeting together at Millersview. Brother A. J. Woodress is the veteran, faithful leader of the church there. Here at Tenth Street church on the one Sunday that I was away they had all-day meeting. Brother W. O. Dickerson, of Roosevelt, Texas, spoke at the morning service, and Brother A. A. Bannowsky, of Cleo, Texas, at night. The afternoon singing was conducted by Brother Lewis Jetton. Brother Chesley Dunning, of Grand Prairie, Texas, who was reared here, rendered encouraging assistance in the services last Sunday.

CHURCH OF CHRIST AT RUNGE, TEXAS WANTS PREACHER

Runge Church of Christ is in need of a preacher as of November 1st. We prefer a married man between the ages of thirty and fifty years. We have a two-bedroom home, unfurnished, rent free, size of congregation approximately 65. Size or population of town a little over one thousand. Arrangements can be made for a trial sermon by writing or calling D. E. Lyons or A. P. Myhand. No one need to investigate unless you are contemplating a move from where you are.

J. Lee Hines, 217 S. First Avenue, Paden City, West Virginia, September 5: The Moundsville, West Virginia, meeting, being interrupted on account of the passing of my wife and of my own hospitalization, resulted in two being baptized and two being restored. After one week's rest, I began a tent meeting at Shiloh, West Virginia, August 17th, continuing about two weeks, which resulted in one being baptized, one from the United Brethren and three placing membership. A church was established which began its work Sunday, August 30th. Paden City church furnished the preacher, the song director and much of the audience, but is not "sponsoring" the work. Many of the brethren from Paden City assist this young church. September 7th I am to begin with the Mt. Zion church, near Woodsfield, Ohio. October 6th I am to be in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, then November 2nd I am to be at Wick, West Virginia. Paden City church is starting a radio program September 6th to be each Lord's day at 9 a.m. to 9:30. Question and answers, under title: "Clear and Cloudy." Station METZ (1330 kl.) New Martinsville, West Virginia. Brother Chas. Wells is to be my co-worker on this program. The Paden City church is very scriptural, has wonderful singing and much talent. The West Virginia hills are echoing with the gospel story at the present time.

MAJESTIC HYMNAL

"And I said, Oh that I had wings of a dove! Then would I fly away, and be at rest" (Ps. 55:6).

After reading these precious words, turn to Song No. 1 in the "Majestic Hymnal."

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Running In Vain

Paul admonished the Philippians in these words, "Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither labored in vain." When a man or a horse loses a race, he has run in vain. To run in vain means to fail in what we attempt to do. The man who makes the race for governor of his state, but is defeated, has run in vain. In his writings, Paul frequently contemplated life as a race that is run. His chief yearning and aspiration was to complete his earthly pilgrimage with joy.

Concerning this matter Paul said, "I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air: but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway" (1 Cor. 9:26, 27). It is unfortunate that so many in our time are satisfied with running uncertainly. Paul carefully followed the course marked out for him by the Lord. Of the obstacles that beset his way he said, "But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy" (Acts 20:24). And at the end of the way he said, "For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith" (2 Tim. 4:6, 7). Paul died in the full assurance of faith, and had no doubt of his personal acceptance with the Lord. In a few instances Paul had doubts as to the safety of his converts. He said to the Galatians, "I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labor in vain" (Gal. 4:11).

Men run in vain when their chief object is to make a show of their religion. They may give liberally, they may help the poor, and do many wonderful works, but if it is for the praise of men instead of the glory of God, they run in vain. And if good works are done in an unscriptural way, those who do them run in vain.

The Church and Denominations

Many who know little or nothing about the Bible think of the church of Christ as a denomination. In the New Testament we learn what the true church is. We cannot learn this from any other source. I heard a denominational preacher say one time that the true church in a community is not always the same church. He declared that the church that advances the best interests of a community is the true church in that place—sometimes it is one church and in other places it is a different church. That is not really good "sanctified common sense." The church that wears the scriptural name, that makes converts according to the pattern given in the Acts of Apostles, that is organized only in a scriptural way, and that conducts the worship the way it was conducted in the days of the apostles, is the true church in any community. One that does not do this is not the true church in any community. One cannot say that he is a member of the true church when the one he belongs to is not even mentioned in the Bible. All churches governed by human creeds instead of the Bible are denominations. They cannot be true churches. It is unreasonable to think of the church of Christ being subject to a human creed. 5842 Monticello, Dallas, Texas.

Christian Unity

Elbridge B. Linn

Is the unity of professed followers of Christ desirable and possible? I am not the first, nor shall I be the last, to charge that the shame of so-called "Christendom" is its conflicting doctrines, differing practices, unscriptural behavior, and sectarian spirit. Can it be that the people who profess to trust in the same Savior, obey the same God, and believe the same Bible are yet holding tenaciously to different man-made creeds, and organizations and party-names? Leaders in religious denominations throughout the country have admitted the shameful truth. From time to time outstanding men, representing all religious views, have spoken and written against the evils of denominationalism. To overcome this weakness among professed Christians various schemes have been presented, and tried toward "Christian union," but without any fruitful results. It is an undeniable fact that little more has been accomplished than a spirit of indifferent tolerance. But most tragic of all is the development of an attitude rather general throughout the country and most frequently recognized by this statement: "Oh, it doesn't make any difference what people believe just so they are conscientious!" This seems to be a very popular statement, but it does not solve the problem. In fact, it makes a contribution to the problem, for it avoids the embarrassment and keen responsibility of facing the issue presented by religious division among people who call themselves Christians.

The questions therefore arise, "Does religious division 'make any difference to God'?" "Is God pleased with sectarianism?"

Unity of the followers of Christ is the will of God rather than division, because divisions do violence to the Biblical truth of the unity of the Godhead. God, Christ (who as the word became flesh and dwelt among men, Jno. 1:14), and the Holy Spirit were perfectly united in their plans and purposes in the creation of the world and of man. They are agreed in the great work of redeeming sinful man. They are perfectly in accord as to the conditions of salvation, and as to doctrine, worship, government, and work of the church of Christ. All the way from the beginning of time to the consummation of the ages, there is perfect unity in the will of the Godhead. And yet, to support divisions among those trying to follow the Lord, men have set one passage of scripture over against another, as if to array Christ against his Father, or the Spirit of God against both the Father and the Son! Here one man says, "Well, I know that Christ spoke of baptism when he gave the Great Commission; however, I read other verses of scripture where salvation is mentioned and baptism is not." Of course, this person is interested in ignoring baptism as a condition of salvation and even if it means ignoring Christ, or God, or the Holy Spirit in some other passages, IGNORE he must! Does it not occur to you, friend, that teaching concerning faith, repentance, obedience, prayer, etc., cannot be found in every verse in the Bible. We conclude, then, that one must take all that the Bible teaches upon a given subject. To do otherwise is to do violence to God's truth. It is to wrest the Scriptures unto our own destruction. But, divisions among professed Christians can be supported only by taking parts of the Bible and rejecting the rest. This does violence to the unity of God, Christ, and the Holy Spirit, and must be displeasing to the divine will!

Divisions among professed Christians veil the appeal of the gospel of Christ to the lost. Think how wonderful the truth of God must seem to that man or woman who has been lost in the darkness of ignorance and superstition, befuddled by pagan philosophies, enslaved by sin! Then comes the light of truth to banish the darkness and point the way to God. Then comes Christ into the believer's life to free one from the bondage of sin. Such was the experience of the Galatians. The apostle Paul held up the crucified Christ before them, and they gladly received him and his gospel. Then, judaizing teachers disturbed them from the peace and simplicity found in Christ. Paul had to write the epistle to the Galatians to win some of these new converts back to Christ. They had been led away by false and conflicting teachings. This very thing is happening now on the "foreign mission field"! I preached the gospel in Japan before World War II. I saw the fruits of denominationalism. Many of the Japanese people concluded that Christianity was "just another religion." They saw sectarianism just as they were acquainted with the various sects among Buddhists and Shintoists. But they could not see Christ for the churches! Denominationalism veiled the inherent appeal of the gospel of Christ. And, in our own country, where the influence of Christ should be the greatest, many people have been turned away from Christ because of sectarianism. Others have referred to leaders in some groups as "religious racketeers." Now, this is not the fault of God's plan for his church! This is one of the fruits of denominationalism. The urgent appeal of the Gospel to the lost is drowned by the loud cries of the conflicting doctrines of sectarian churches. SURELY, THIS CANNOT BE THE LORD'S WAY!

Divisions among professed followers of Christ obstruct an honest search for truth. What must that person think, who does not know the teaching of the New Testament? He is made to decide that it is a VERY difficult matter to understand the Bible. Since the leaders of the many different denominations cannot be united in doctrine and in practice, HOW then can their followers? The ultimate result of it all is then expressed in these familiar words: "Well, we just cannot agree; it is impossible for everyone to see the Bible alike. We are all going to the same place after all; each man will have to choose his own road to get there!" Such an attitude is a death-knell to all unprejudiced truthseeking. People become satisfied with whatever satisfies them. The idea never occurs to them that they ought to find out what satisfies God, and then do that. God is left out. Who will affirm that the Lord can be pleased with either this attitude, or its cause?

Divisions violate plain Bible teaching! This is a serious charge, but it will be proved. At your first opportunity, you should read again 1 Corinthians 1. Here one learns that the church in Corinth was suffering from divided sentiment which had resulted in open contentions. Actually, the church was on the verge of splitting into four groups. Three of these groups were exalting men, and without divine correction, might have split into three denominations. Now, some people today, who do not mind denominations which exalt and follow men, might not have been concerned over the state of affairs at Corinth. However, heaven was concerned! The Holy Spirit inspired Paul to write: "Now I beseech you, brethren, through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (1 Cor. 1:10). Friend, do you appreciate the significance of this passage of Scripture? Christians are exhorted in the name of him who died for us, and into whose name we were baptized, to do the following:

- (1) speak the same thing (a teaching denied by sectarianism)
- (2) have no divisions among us (a deathblow to denominations)
- (3) but be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment (a thing declared by men to be impossible, yet required by God.)

The inspired apostle Paul taught the church in Rome to "mark them that are causing the divisions and occasions of stumbling, contrary to the doctrine which ye learned: and turn away from them" (Rom. 16:17). Our Lord Jesus Christ prayed, "Neither for these (apostles) only do I pray, but for them also that believe on me through their word; that they also may be one; even as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be in us: that the world may believe that thou didst send me" (John 17:20, 21). Men have forgotten this prayer for unity, have built up conflicting denominations, and part of the price which must be paid for this sin is an unbelieving world! Of the early church Luke wrote: "And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and soul" (Acts 4:32). Paul wrote to the Ephesians, "Keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph. 4:3). In the face of all these Scriptures, and our Lord's prayer for unity that man who thanks God "for the many churches, for the many ways to heaven" is miserably ignorant of Bible teaching, or is wretchedly presumptuous! GOD IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR RELIGIOUS DIVISION. HE IS NOT PLEASED BY IT!

Friend, have you ever prayed the prayer which Jesus taught his disciples? (It is found in Matthew 6:9-13). In this prayer Jesus taught his disciples to pray: "Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth." Many people say this prayer, not so many pray it, and fewer still are those who practice it. I suggest you try this. The next time you are talking with some neighbor, or friend, ask if anyone believes that in heaven we shall still be divided, that there will be differing denominations, creeds and names. He will probably reply, "Why, of course not! We shall all be one over there." Now, if we admit that in heaven there will not be any of these human divisions—that this is God's will—consistency demands that either men cease to pray what they will not practice, or that they do the will of God on earth by pleading that men will lay aside creeds and be united on God's word!

This unity of believers in Christ is not only desirable, not only REQUIRED BY GOD, but its basis is set forth in God's word. In Ephesians 4:1-6, the inspired apostle Paul urged believers in Christ to "keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," and declared the possibility and NECESSITY of Christian unity upon this basis: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as also ye were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all, and through all, and in all" (Eph. 4:4-6). Christian unity is made possible upon this foundation, and upon none other.

Divisions among those who follow Christ are unscriptural, displeasing to God, and those who practice such will be condemned, for, divisions violate the unity of the Godhead, divisions veil the appeal of the Gospel and obstruct an honest search for truth, divisions are contrary to plain Bible teaching, divisions nullify the prayer of Jesus for unity of believers in him, and divisions among believers make their prayer: "Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth" nothing more than hypocrisy and mockery before God!

God sending his only Son

That we might all be one."

Report From The Church Of Christ For The Deaf

C. J. Harcrow

A church of Christ for Deaf was established in Austin in September of 1952. It began with a membership of some thirty including both hearing and deaf. To date fifteen more members have been added by baptism and twelve have placed membership.

The church for the Deaf began meeting in the auditorium of Fulmore public school where services were held until an auditorium was erected at the corner of Newton and Elizabeth St., adjacent to the Texas School for the Deaf. Services were held in the new auditorium the third week in February. Due to difficulties in conducting Bible classes to the best advantages, the members of the congregation decided to add a number of class rooms at the back of the auditorium. This work was begun in July, 1953, and is practically completed at the time of this writing. Efforts have been made to complete the work by the beginning of the school year when we expect to have better and more extensive programs of work in order to take care of boys and girls who will attend from the Texas School for the Deaf.

Financing the Work

In the October 14, 1952 issue of the Firm Foundation, Bro. Ben Holland presented the purposes, program, and objectives of this congregation to the brotherhood and appealed for funds with which to erect the church building. At that time the cost of the building was estimated at $20,000.00. Part of this cost was covered by a group of Christians who salvaged materials from an old church building donated by members of the church at Young's Prairie, South of Elgin, Texas. The appeal to the brotherhood brought in a limited amount, which was supplemented by congregations visited by members of the church for the Deaf. Additional funds were contributed by individuals who have visited the services of this congregation.

Below is a list of the churches and individuals who have contributed to this work:

Bro. Arthur Stewart	$50.00
Sis. J. W. Acuff, Georgetown, Texas	$550.00
Bro. Vance Fox, Austin, Texas	$50.00
Sis. Jennie Petty, Ballinger, Texas	$20.00
Bro. R. Conn	$10.00
Bro. Clarence North, Austin, Texas	$300.00
Individual members of the Northside church of Christ in Austin, Texas	$25.00
Individual members of San Marcos St. church of Christ in Austin, Texas	$50.00
Bro. C. J. Harrison	$25.00
Bro. J. D. Covington, Fort Worth, Texas	$100.00
Bro. J. C. Beddo, Ballinger, Texas	$50.00
College church of Christ of Abilene, Texas	$100.00
Church of Christ, Lampasas, Texas	$51.60
Church of Christ, Aransas Pass, Texas	$25.00
Church of Christ, Uvalde, Texas	$15.00
University church of Christ, Austin, Texas	$175.81
Church of Christ, Florence, Texas	$45.00 ($5.00 monthly)
Church of Christ, Blanco, Texas	$50.00
Sis. Myers of Indianapolis, Indiana	$75.00
Bro. T. H. Etheridge, Alpine, Texas	$50.00
Sis. Ollie Schoolfield, Austin, Texas	$15.00
TOTAL	$1,282.41

The Northside Church of Christ in Austin also gave two floor furnaces.

The actual cost of the building and seating to the date of this writing is $8,100.00. Additional cost to complete the classrooms is estimated at $500.00. The members of this congregation borrowed $4,000.00 from the bank which is the total indebtedness at present. Thus the cost of the building is being borne principally by the congregation itself. The total estimated value of the property as it now stands is approximately $22,000.00.

Obviously the building has actually cost much less than was anticipated due to a number of factors. In the first place, all the materials have been furnished at wholesale prices. Bro. Wilhoite of the Austin Lumber Co. furnished all of the lumber at cost. Bro. Loyd Myers of Myers' Plumbers furnished plumbing materials at cost. Bro. Clarence North of North's Glass Co. furnished all casement windows at cost. Seating materials were furnished at cost by Dobbins Lumber Co. Construction has been under the direction of Bro. Ray Damron and Roy Frazier.

In addition to this type of reduction in cost, individual members of the churches of Christ in Austin have contributed a great deal of labor. This contribution has probably been the chief reason for the inexpensive construction. The members of the church of Christ for the Deaf sincerely express their appreciation for every contribution to this work whether in money or by labor.

Program of the Congregation

The program of this congregation has included regular worship services and Bible teaching each Lord's day morning, Bible Training Class conducted in the sign language for the deaf and hearing each Lord's day evening at 6:30 P.M., evening worship at 7:30 P.M., and mid-week services each Thursday evening at 7:30 P.M. A revival meeting was held in May, 1953, with Bro. H. I. Taylor of Austin doing the preaching. Services are conducted in both oral and sign language. Sermons and songs are interpreted in the sign language. On occasions, prayers are led orally and in the sign language simultaneously. At the mid-week services, talks are made by both hearing and deaf men and boys. Special efforts are being made to provide opportunities for every individual male to participate actively in the services. Considerable attention is being given to the training of interpreters and to preparing young men for public services. All hearing members are putting forth much effort to learn the sign language so that they can help with the tremendous task of spreading the gospel to the deaf. From September through May of each year special efforts are made to provide spiritual training for students who attend the Texas School for the Deaf.

Plans are being made to conduct special services on the second Sunday in September for the deaf people. Bro. Loyd Williams will preach at this service at 3:00 P.M. Bro. Williams is now a student in Abilene Christian College preparing for the ministry in the field of the deaf as he, himself is deaf. He is already preaching once a month at Lubbock, Amarillo, Gainesville, and Abilene, Texas. He is a very promising young man and he is being greatly helped and encouraged by his wife, Barbara. They are both working to defray expenses while Bro. Williams attends college.

The minister for this congregation is Bro. Ben F. Holland. The leaders include: Bros. O. D. Alexander, Ray Damron, Roy Frazier, Roy Griggs, C. J. Harcrow, Odie Howery, Clifton Mears, and Logan Wilson. Bro. R. R. Massey is treasurer. His address is 400 Congress Ave. Those interested in this work may send contributions to Bro. Massey.

Training Preachers

Roy V. Palmer

"The things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also" (2 Tim. 2:2).

As the church of God, the salvation of the souls of men is our chief aim. In God's plan the Gospel is the power to save, and only where that Gospel is taught and preached by faithful men, can others be won to Christ and built up in him. One of the most important tasks of the church, therefore, is to prepare men "who shall be able" to preach and teach the word of God effectively. Of course, the responsibility to prepare oneself for larger service in the church rests in a great measure with each individual. Moreover, every Christian has a responsibility wherever he is, in the home, in a Christian college, or elsewhere, to do all he can to help fellow Christians develop into more effective servants of God.

But the church in her program of work should not overlook the fact that she has a responsibility in this regard. We have sometimes assumed, I think, the attitude that if we tell people what the Bible says, we have fulfilled our obligation. When our desire goes no further than to fulfill what we hold to be our "obligation," then of course, this attitude is natural. But Christ expects us to do all that we can, and not as little as possible, in carrying out the Gospel to the world. Jesus did not send the apostles out merely to tell, but to teach, to make disciples, i.e., learners of all nations. Teaching can only occur where learning is in process. Therefore it is necessary for one who would teach or preach to concern himself not only with the message, which of course is of primary importance, but also with means and methods of teaching as well as with human nature and human circumstances. This idea has been often stated in simple language. To teach, one must know what to teach, how to teach, and those whom he would teach. This is just as true of preaching.

The responsibility of the church is affected by these facts. A systematic program of training for young men and young women to prepare them as Bible teachers or as preachers of the word lies, therefore, within the scope of scriptural activity of the church.

Any discussion of training young men to preach, of "training preachers" evokes inevitably the fear of a developing "professional clergy." The term "professional clergy" is often used loosely to designate a variety of evils, which are real indeed. It should not be used to stigmatize that which is a part of the plan of God for his church. It is quite clear from the New Testament Scriptures and the example of the Apostles that God intended for the church to support men that they might "give themselves wholly" to the Lord's work. The danger of "professionalism" is real, but the real factor involved is not training, but insincerity. That a man who has had opportunity for systematic study is more likely to be insincere than another who has not had such an opportunity has never been proved. I heard a much older preacher than I once say that in his observation "professionalism" was a much greater danger among "untrained" preachers than among those who had had more formal education. It should be remembered just here, that formal education is by no means the deciding factor whether a man is "trained" or educated or not. Many have prepared themselves far better than others have been prepared through much formal education.

The fear of a developing "clergy" is actually the fear that preachers will dominate the churches. This is a real danger, but here again, it is not a matter of training, but a question of recognition of the plan of God for the organization of the church. To eliminate men of great ability from preaching or to limit the amount of preparation and study and breadth a preacher might acquire would not solve this problem. Only devotion to God and the principles of his word can overcome this danger.

No faithful gospel preacher wants to see a "pastor system" or "professionalism" grow in the church of our Lord. But to plan a course of study for young men to help them acquire the tools for doing the Lord's work is certainly our privilege and our obligation as the church of God.

It has been recognized for a long time that in the mission fields especially, the future of the church and the spread of the gospel depends upon our ability to win to Christ and help develop "faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also." In the beginning of the work in Germany, therefore, we began making plans for a program to fill this need. We were thrown into a unique situation here, which offered a great opportunity. The economy had collapsed. Many young men were seeking some possibility to continue their study beyond high school, but opportunities were scarce. We were able to contact many of these young men with an offer to attend a three-months Bible training program. These boys were made no promises except the possibility to study the Bible for three months. During the winter of 1948 and '49 we had our first year of this Bible training school. Some of the boys were converted through their study in this program, and those who showed promise were invited to stay and study longer. A three-year program of study was outlined with the intention of helping the young men who proved worthy to lay a thorough foundation for future service in the church.

Our program of study has been conceived from the beginning as a work of the church itself. Although it became increasingly difficult to find young men of character willing to spend three months or longer studying, we have had between 15 and 20 studying each year. Most of these boys and girls stay 4½ to 9 months and then return to the congregation from which they came to help in teaching Bible classes, etc., and will take up their jobs which they left, or get new ones. About ten young men have studied three years and are now preaching the gospel to their own people in various cities in Germany. The first group of seven young men to complete three years of study finished shortly after I returned to America in 1951. It has been a wonderful inspiration to return to Germany after two years and to observe the great progress which they, along with some of the boys who studied in America, are making. We have about 12 young German preachers who are capable and zealous and well prepared to preach the gospel.

One of our young preachers has just completed a tent meeting here in Frankfurt. I have heard many preachers in many meetings, but I have heard only a few I think did any better in preaching the truth. This was a real thrill to experience.

In our Bible training program we have tried to give the students an opportunity to study those things which would serve as tools in doing the work of the church. The Bible, naturally, has been our main study. In addition we have studied church history, Greek and Hebrew which are the original languages of the Scripture, Bible Geography, singing, sermon preparation and delivery, personal work, etc., world religions, apologetics, and English. In the church work here English is a very valuable tool since our brethren have no body of literature in German, and with this tool the German leaders can have a bridge to the restoration movement, its history and literature. We conceived this work as a work of the church, and we have offered courses in only those things which would contribute directly to preparation for the work of the church.

The church in Germany has made great progress in six years. There are sixteen German congregations spread out in many cities. There are eight assemblies of American brethren for worship in English. Our ability to continue the spread of the Gospel and to hold the advantages gained will depend largely upon our ability to "commit to faithful men" the message of life and to help them make preparation for carrying it to modern men in a modern world.

If Feeling Is Evidence

C. A. Buchanan

If feeling right is evidence that we are right with God then everybody who feels right is right. The idol worshipper is right. He feels right because he has been taught that this is right. If feeling is a safe guide then we may reject the Bible when it contradicts our feelings.

If feeling right makes us right, then all who feel right are right, no matter how much their doctrinal beliefs may differ. Any thinking person can see how absurd this would be, for it would make every false doctrine right and all contradictory theories right.

Not only is this popular and fatal theory grossly absurd and misleading to many honest souls, it also contradicts the plain teaching of God's word. "There is a way that seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Prov. 14:12). "The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that is wise hearkeneth unto counsel" (Prov. 12:15). The apostle Paul wrote, "I know nothing against myself, but I am not hereby justified" (1 Cor. 4:4). Paul had learned by his own experience, as well as by divine inspiration, that having a good conscience is possible to one who is grossly wrong. Concerning his past life he wrote, "I verily thought I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus, which things I also did" (Acts 26:9, 10). Paul's feelings led him wrong, and made him "chief of sinners," even while he was living "in all good conscience toward God" (See 1 Tim. 1:15; Acts 23:1).

A man can know by his own feeling what he believes in his own heart, whether he is honest or not. He knows if his conscience approves or condemns, but this does not settle the question of how he stands with God. "If our heart condemn us not we have boldness toward God" (1 John 3:21). There are thousands of deluded souls today who have great "boldness toward God," while steeped in the grossest of error. They have been taught that it matters little what your creed is if you are honest in your belief, and live a good, honest, clean life. God's word gives no support to this belief.

"The way of man is not in himself; it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jer. 10:23). "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my pathway. . . The opening of thy word giveth light, it giveth understanding to the simple" (Psa. 119:105, 130). "From a babe thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation" (2 Tim. 3:15). "The law of the Lord is perfect converting the soul" (Psa. 19:7). And the holy Scriptures furnish the man of God unto every good work (2 Tim. 3:16, 17). "According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue" (2 Peter 1:3).

The word of God is the only accurate regulator of man's conscience. Man can know he is right with God only to the extent that he knows he is living in harmony with the revealed will of God.

The Sixty-Sixth Annual Meeting

F. L. Paisley

The first nine days of August were those of the sixty-sixth annual camp meeting at Nolanville, Texas, on the church's own camp grounds. For two-thirds of a century throngs have gathered there, and some of the most widely-known gospel preachers have proclaimed the word during those years.

Each day's activities began with a "devotional service" at 6:30, lasting about twenty minutes. That's a fine hour to sing, "Early In The Morning Our Songs Shall Rise To Thee." That's a mighty fine time to mean it! Then there were classes at 9:00. Brother T. J. Ruble, preacher at Belton, taught a class of high school students a well prepared series of lessons. Sisters Lucas of Nolanville and Seals of Belton did excellent work with younger children. At 10:00, Brother R. C. Bell of Abilene, lectured on the Philippian letter to adults. His experience, age, and richness of spiritual thought were appreciated duly. He has specialized in the Epistles of Paul. He knows Paul and the Christ Paul served.

At 4:00 each afternoon there was a panel discussion of the strongest objections usually urged against the church and the gospel plan of salvation. This writer played the role of the objector, stating as it for himself the hardest objections he has heard. Sometimes the objections were given in somewhat cutting language, then any who desired were given time to remove the criticisms and place the truth in opposition to the unfounded objections. This proved to be a profitable class, even if some did not understand at first why the director was so opposed to the church!

At night the preaching was done by Max R. Crumley, then of Temple. He was at his best and height in clarity and eloquence. The truth was proclaimed in power and simplicity. Christ was exalted, preached as once a divine human on earth, crucified and buried, and now risen King of kings and Lord of lords. The terms of pardon that Christ announced were clearly set forth with the convictions characteristic of Max R. Crumley. I have not heard better preaching of the gospel of the Lord. The immediate results were far less than the merits of the preaching deserved. Brother Crumley returns next year for similar work.

Yes, throughout the day there were song drills for the children by Palmer Wheeler of Waco. He has been there several years and is an expert with children. He is a hard worker—an excellent director of songs and hymns.

Brother Joe Sprot, most elderly man in the Nolanville congregation, is due special mention. He was about the most prominent man on the grounds, though the least conspicuous. Seventy years ago he had confessed his Lord under that same tabernacle. After many years of faithful proclamation of the gospel of Christ, his steps are slower now, his form slightly bowed; but his heart and spirit are high—his courage unabated. He is a tower of strength in the community—his aged companion right by his side—two saints just waiting for the call to come up higher.

Sacred memories cluster around the old tabernacle at Nolanville.

NEW TESTAMENT LESSONS, VOL. 2, THE EPISTLES

Romans Through 2 Thessalonians in 30 Lessons

Introduction

New Testament Lessons by Granville W. Tyler, covering the entire New Testament in 92 lessons, three volumes (LIFE OF CHRIST AND ACTS, Vol. I, 32 lessons; THE EPISTLES—Rom. through 2 Thess., Vol. II, 30 lessons; EPISTLES AND REVELATION—1 Tim. through Rev., Vol. III, 30 lessons), are designed to teach, not something about the Bible, but the Bible itself. These lessons have been used by the author in mimeograph form with gratifying results.

Questions are asked that may be answered from the New Testament. Adequate space follows each question for a clear-cut answer. Answers to all questions may be found in the scripture references given at the beginning of each lesson. These lessons should (1) help to familiarize one with his New Testament, as he turns back and forth to find answers to the questions, (2) give one an over-all view, and a fair working knowledge of the New Testament.

How To Use These Lessons

1. Most effective method: Lessons should be carefully filled out by students between class periods, and answers kept clearly in mind for class recitation. Lesson sheets are removed from books (notice perforating), taken up by the teacher at the beginning of the class. The teacher should cover the lesson in class asking each question, giving each student an opportunity to explain his answer. Due credit should be given for every proper answer—even if it is not worded just as the teacher's answer. Lessons should be accurately graded by the instructor, marking each question missed, and placing the percentage made in the designated place. The graded lesson sheets should be returned promptly to the class at each successive meeting. Such a method proves challenging, interesting and profitable.

2. If the teacher sees fit: These lessons may be used as a workbook. Each lesson should be filled out carefully before class time. Lessons may be graded by the class, under the direction of the teacher, during the class discussion. By this method the books may be kept intact without removing the lessons.

Report On Encampment

Fifth annual Payette Lakes encampment closed July 31 after breaking attendance records including the largest youth participation in the history of the northwest event conducted by Christians in this region. Attendance was strong from Oregon and Washington as well as representatives from Utah and California.

Two hundred and four persons under 21 years of age registered during the seven days of the encampment, and more than 400 persons attended part of it.

Dr. Frank Pack, of Abilene, Texas, was principal speaker for evening lectures on Program and Planning, while he and Mrs. Pack taught classes in the morning study periods on teacher training and personal work. Fourteen young persons were baptized at sundown following evening meetings in the magnificent setting on the big Payette Lake. Hubert Derrick of George Pepperdine College taught young peoples courses.

Paul Shira of Nampa was general camp manager with a teaching and operating staff of 25 assistants. At a business meeting late in the week it was decided to set up complete plans for next year's camp at the same time, last week in July. Dallas Harris of Boise was chosen camp manager for 1954 with Gerald Bristol of Nampa as educational director.

Improvements in the camp facilities were promised for next year with an addition of modern plumbing, more bunk houses and dormitories, by the Quaker organization, owners. Discussion of building a camp owned by the church members participating consumed two business sessions, but no decisions were made except to continue renting the Quaker Hill (Payette Lakes) camp which is financially a bargain. Costs to individuals which have been kept at $1.00 per person registering and $1.00 per day for food and whatever cabins, tents or other facilities are available were favored to remain the same so long as possible. Some predicted lower operating costs in the future, since food contributions were harder to obtain this year with late growing seasons in the region. Food contributions have made possible the exceptional low costs for the large and well balanced meals served by volunteers among those attending. Operation by volunteers has been the order since the beginning of this encampment. The owners furnish one caretaker and a head cook included in the rental for the camp. An available site was reported on for a permanent camp in Wallowa National Forest (Oregon), but no decisions were reached.

It was the decision to continue to emphasize elements of church growth and Christian living in the main lessons and lectures, with a plan to obtain one or more leading elders from churches with a large and effective program of work to lead the studies in 1954.

GRAND JUNCTION, TENNESSEE

A small group of Christians started meeting in a private home in Grand Junction, Tennessee, in April, 1950. Later they moved to the City Hall where they are still meeting at 3:00 p.m. each Sunday. Marvin Rainey of Middleton preaches twice per month and George Marshall of Somerville the other two Sundays.

I preached in a meeting there for seven days beginning August 24. They had eight faithful members before the meeting. From 150 to 200 people attended each night. Four were baptized, one restored, and one member was found not far away. One of those baptized was a Methodist and another was a Baptist. The meeting was conducted under a tent and George Marshall led the singing in a fine way.

These brethren need help on their building. They have a good lot on the main highway and want to build as soon as possible.

What Does The Bible Say?

A KING ALMOST PERSUADED TO ACCEPT CHRIST?

The coronation of Queen Elizabeth has drawn the world's attention to royalty. The coronation ceremony emphasized the fact that even kings and queens must acknowledge Jesus Christ as Lord of Lords and King of Kings. Paul stood before King Agrippa in Acts 26 and preached the gospel of Christ to him. The king answered with these words: "Almost, thou persuadest me to be a Christian."

Whether King Agrippa said this in all sincerity or with a touch of irony we do not know, but we prefer to think that he was actually moved by Paul's plea to consider seriously this step. Paul answered by saying: "I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds."

Paul was not ashamed of the gospel for it is the power of God unto salvation to kings and princes as well as to slaves. God is no respecter of persons. No amount of wealth, no position of honor among men, exempts us from our obligation to obey Christ. Yet, the very simplicity of the gospel of the cross is a stumbling block to many. Paul puts it thus: "For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called . . ." (1 Corinthians 1:26). We are called to Christ by the gospel, but it is hard for those who are exalted in this world to humble themselves in obedience to Christ.

May I make a special appeal today to those who are in high places to "deny themselves and take up their cross" and follow Christ! Do not let your pride in achievement or position prevent your inheriting eternal life. Governors and kings, millionaires and presidents must all stand before God's judgment bar!

So far as we know Agrippa never confessed faith in Christ, never repented of his sins, never was buried with Christ in baptism, never started in the "Way." Perhaps he was nearer to the kingdom the day Paul preached than ever again.

Are you almost persuaded to become a Christian? Then why not altogether before the devil tempts you to procrastinate? "Almost is not enough." Surrender completely to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords today.

An Admission

John Allen Hudson

George A. Campbell, a noted Disciples of Christ preacher, writing from Los Angeles for the Christian-Evangelist under date of March 31st makes the following statement:

"Mr. George Pepperdine, the owner of the Western Automobile Supply Company, has founded a college here. He is of the church of Christ, the group that does not have an organ. I have heard only good words of Mr. Pepperdine, but how happy if Chapman and Pepperdine Colleges could join forces. It takes a mint of money to keep a church college going these days, and quite a few of them are not going to survive.

"Isn't it strange that we are having such rich fellowship with the churches of Christ in Great Britain and Ireland, and little or none with those of our own land? And isn't it equally strange that those of the Mother Country do not have touch with those of America, for they are very similar?"

In the foregoing Dr. Campbell has made admission that they do have fellowship with the British churches of Christ, and he also admits that they are not alike. Of course, they are not alike. The Disciples of Christ practice many, many things that the British brethren would not have, such as open church membership, candles on the Lord's table, vested choirs, junior churches, ridiculous schemes for raising money, women preachers, week-day observance of the Lord's Supper, etc. But the disciples cover these things when they go to England. They go over there as deceivers, trying to corrupt the British brethren. Their fellowship, of which he brags, is mostly one-sided. It has been forced on the British brethren so long until some of them have come to like it. Yet there is some sixty-five percent of the brethren in Great Britain as yet uncorrupted by such influences. Thank God! May they stand firmly for the truth.

It is also observed by Dr. Campbell that it is strange that there is practically no fellowship between churches of Christ of America and the churches of Christ of Great Britain, since they are so similar. Now it is strange. Why have we been asleep all these years, while the disciples have sought to get in their corrupting work? It is hard, if not impossible to explain. But now that I went over last year and gave to many thousands in England the understanding of the position and standing of the church of Christ in America, I am persuaded that there will be others to go, and thus we shall come into our own in that fellowship which is our just due. There are several good men who are now planning to go. Again, thank God! I know that the British brethren now need us to help them to fight this monster of digression, which we are whipping in our own land.

Another thing: Dr. Campbell says it is strange that the disciples, while having fellowship with the British, have been having none with us, the church of Christ, here in America. Well, it has been deliberate on the disciples' part. They have consistently ignored us for a goodly number of years as being of no consequence when, lo, we suddenly loom upon the horizon as a great and powerful people, able to build and to maintain colleges, five of them, orphanages, nine of them, and otherwise to show ourselves a vital and militant people. The worm has turned. Now many of the disciples members are turning to us, and even many preachers. The disciples are finding that they cannot ignore us farther. And so for the past two years from coast-to-coast the disciples have been approaching us on the subject of unity. The great body of the church of Christ will have nothing to do with the disciples unless they consent to lay down their innovations and return to simple New Testament lines of organization and work.

The corrupting influence of the disciples on the British churches is very insidious, and yet it has had far less influence in the British Isles than in New Zealand and Australia.

It was a great pleasure for me to be allowed to bring these matters before the brethren in the British Isles, from John O'Groat's to Land's End. I preached in London, in Kent, in Warwickshire, in Yorkshire, in Sussex, at many places in Scotland, about Edinburgh and Glasgow and in Ireland.

During the next ten years, if we help them, we shall be able to save much to the cause in England. Let us to the battle!

THE MINISTRY OF WOMEN

The first dispensation was patriarchal, not matriarchal. The government, the rule, was through patriarchs, not matriarchs. Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Job, Noah, and all the other primitive rulers of people were men. Sarah, the wife of Abraham, was undoubtedly one of the greatest and best characters of her time, yet she "obeyed Abraham, calling him Lord." Abraham was ruler of his household, and such was the office and duty of all the leaders in the appropriately designated "patriarchal dispensation" of the world's history. The priority of the creation of man is used by Paul to infer his superiority in a certain realm. "For Adam was first formed, then Eve." This is given as a reason for Paul's previous statement, "Let a woman learn in quietness with all subjection, but I permit not a woman to teach, nor to have dominion over a man, but to be in quietness" (See 1 Tim. 2:11-13). Also it will be recalled that when the Lord chose a leader to direct the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, he selected a man for this work. Joshua succeeded Moses as the leader of Israel. All the great prophets were men, though it is true that many women prophesied. Their position was subordinate. When Christ desired to select twelve as his special representatives to the world, he selected men. All the apostles were men; no women among them. The bishops and deacons in the primitive churches were men. The word "presbyteroi" (elders) is always in the masculine gender when the reference is to the bishops of the churches. Though the term is used with reference to women, the "elder" women were never, in New Testament time, designated as "elders" in the sense of bishops of the churches.

From the foregoing it is clear that God designed to commit the leading of the affairs of the people to men. This does not mean nor imply that women are not to assist in the Lord's work. It supplies us with premises from which we may reason legitimately, logically, scripturally, in regard to women's place in society and in the church, for while God has placed certain restraints upon woman in regard to her field of activity, it is undoubtedly true that she has a scope of work that either cannot be done, or cannot best be performed by men. Some women accomplish more than many men in the church, some accomplish very little, but it is not because of any undue restraints that are placed upon them so far as their work in the church is concerned. I do not think there is as much danger as many suppose in women's pushing themselves forward into positions in the church that they are forbidden to assume in the Holy Scriptures. There may be some danger along this line. I think there is infinitely more danger in women's neglecting to be actively engaged in what the Lord requires of them, and what they are capacitated efficiently to perform. In the range of educational affairs, especially as it relates to training for this life, women figure extensively. There are more women teaching in the public and private schools of the country than men. They are doing this work acceptably to the state, to society and to religious people. This brings to our attention one of the principal ways in which women may do efficient work. Someone raises the objection: Did not Paul say, "I suffer not a woman to teach?" True, Paul said that. He also insists "that . . . women . . . be teachers" (Titus 2:3). Are we to conclude that Paul contradicted himself? It is just as important for us to urge that women teach as stipulated by Paul, as it is for us to urge that they do not teach, as stipulated by the same high authority. They should teach except where divine limitations are imposed.

Fruits Of The Network Broadcast

James D. Willeford

The question is often asked, "What are the visible results of the network broadcast?" On the basis of the evidence at hand we estimate the number of baptisms to be five thousand. Doubtless there have been many more baptisms of which we have not heard since no effort is made to get congregations to report them. The responsibility of the Highland elders extends only to the point of preparing and presenting the program. The work of further teaching the prospects and of reaping the harvest is left entirely to local congregations over the land.

But the fruits borne by the radio program extend far beyond the number of baptisms. The program is helping scattered members to locate addresses of congregations and many negligent members are being reclaimed by the teaching of the Gospel. We receive many letters worded in the same vein as the following: "I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for sending us the names of those who request material from you. The most recent of these was an old friend of mine from my home congregation, and he has promised that he will begin working with the group here although he has not been attending anywhere recently."

The teaching done through the network is helping to build faith in the Bible and it is letting the "man on the street" know that churches of Christ are true to the Book of God. We receive countless letters like this one from Mrs. Effie V. Crowder of Elkridge, Maryland: "I want to tell you I had been wanting for quite awhile to help support a program that really preaches the 'truth' but never found what I wanted until I found the 'Herald of Truth' about a year ago. Also through it I found the church I have been looking for, for a long time."

The program is helping to break down prejudice toward the church and to prepare the field for sowing the seed in virgin soil. The statement of an outstanding gospel preacher, who was sent to North Dakota, for a mission meeting, is typical of letters we receive. He said, "I wanted to write you, because we believe that the Herald of Truth broadcast in Grand Forks is largely responsible for the kindly reception we had. Never have we preached to people more unprejudiced. Never have we seen the people listen so attentively, or with such evidences of delight in learning the truth."

The network effort is helping to build attendance in thousands of congregations. A recent letter from Arizona illustrates the point we are making. The correspondent said, "We have enjoyed hearing the Herald of Truth and believe it has done good here. Perhaps that is one of the reasons our old building became too small to seat all the people attending services."

Since the program began we have sent to congregations the names and addresses of 62,250 people who requested sermons, or asked questions. The extent of the harvest will be determined largely by what you do to further teach these people.

The Great Northwest

Dear Brethren:—

The great Northwest is somewhat a virgin field, and is in need of more workers in the cause of the Lord. The great Columbia Basin is a very promising field, and is growing in church activity. Congregations are now established in Moses Lake, Ephrata, Othello, and now at Quincy, the youngest in the Basin.

The church in Wenatchee assisted the Moses Lake congregation until they were able to carry on their own work, and now they are able together with the church here, to assist the Othello brethren.

Our latest responsibility is to assist the brethren at Quincy, Wash., and to sponsor Bro. J. O. Golphnee, evangelist, in his labors there. Quincy is about 30 miles from Wenatchee, and is a thriving agricultural community. There are about 15 members at present, with a desire to enlarge the borders of Zion.

Bro. Golphnee is a man of God with many years of experience in the pioneering field. He began labors in 1915 in the State of Montana, and did a great work in that state. The past several years he has labored in the state of Washington, laboring with the church at Yakima, and the Cascade congregation in Wenatchee.

Accepting the work at Quincy on faith, with a very small income promised from the brethren there, they have asked the Elders and the church here to assist them, which we are most happy to do. We unhesitatingly endorse Bro. Golphnee and make this special appeal to you. Will you also help in this good work?

Send your contributions c/o Elders, Church of Christ, Okanogan Ave. and Kittitas St., Wenatchee, Wash., or send direct to Evang. J. O. Golphnee, c/o Henry Carr, P. O. Box 824, Quincy, Wash.

Elders: Henry Otto, Homer McKee, Jesse Faris; Minister, Seth E. Rehkop.

"Herald Of Truth"

The "Herald of Truth" radio broadcast will originate in the Neosho City Auditorium, Neosho, Missouri, on October 11 at 2:45 P.M. James D. Willeford, of Abilene, will be the speaker. The Harding College Chorus of Searcy, Arkansas, will be present to help with the singing.

The Jefferson Street church in Neosho extends an invitation to everyone in the four-state area of Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma to plan to be present for this occasion, and to attend a gospel meeting, October 11-18, with Rue Porter serving as evangelist.—W. J. SHACKELFORD.

Ground Breaking For Children's Home, Oct. 11

Paul Sherrod

Arrangements have been made with Claude Martin and Son, contractors, to build the first residence of the new Children's Home of Lubbock. They are donating their services as contractors and will erect the building for the actual cost. Some donations of both labor and material have already been made, and perhaps more will be made as construction progresses.

Ground breaking ceremonies are to be held at 3:00, Sunday afternoon, October 11. Everyone is invited to be present for this occasion. This will be a historical event for the church in this section of the state and all who can be urged to be present. We will be most happy to furnish overnight accommodations to all who need such, if advance notice is given.

Brother John B. White formerly of Austin, moved to Lubbock on September 18 to assume his duties as superintendent of the Brother and Sister John B. White and their daughters, Cherie Jan, age 7; and Linda Sue, age 5.

Home. His first duties will be to contact churches to secure more funds so additional residences may be constructed as soon as the first one is completed. But do not wait for him to come to your town. Write now and state what can be expected from your congregation, or send donations to Children's Home of Lubbock, Texas.

BRETHREN, BE STEDFAST

In Psalms 16:8 we read, "I have set Jehovah always before me: because he is at my right hand I shall not be moved." Many times have we sung that wonderful old hymn, "I Shall Not Be Moved," and while singing in the spirit and with the understanding, we resolved to be ever so steadfast in the way of the Lord. Both the scripture and the song have helped Christians to take loyal stands in times of trial and opposition. Today, as never before, we need Christians with this strong determination and fiery zeal couched in sound judgment to carry the banner of the Lord.

We need God-fearing men and women who will respond to the words of Isaiah, "Lift ye up a banner upon the high mountain, exalt the voice unto them." "Thou hast given a banner to them that fear thee, that it may be displayed because of truth" (Ps. 60:4). Digressions from truth and right are rampant in America today; we need to heed the admonition of Deut. 19:4, "Remove not the ancient landmarks, which thy fathers have set." We must return to the old paths of truth and righteousness, and remain steadfast therein.

The modernist would deceive the world with heavy verbiage to the effect that we need to streamline the Bible, the church, moral standards, etc., but be assured, the Bible does not need to be re-written, but re-read. It does not need to be re-interpreted, but we believed and obeyed.—GENE MARTIN.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Wallace Gooch, Waco, Texas, September 9: The work here is doing very well indeed. We are very happy and very thankful for the rich blessings which are ours.

T. D. Boston, Sr., Box 487, Gilmer, Texas, September 8: On Sunday, August 30, four were baptized into Christ, and one made confession of faults in matters of worship and influence.

Clarence C. Gobbel, 1157 E. Mabel, Tucson, Arizona, September 9: Five have been added to our local forces by membership in the past two weeks. We look forward to our fall meeting October 4-14, with J. D. Rothwell doing the preaching.

J. O. Jones, 1014 Beech St., Little Rock, Arkansas, September 8: Last Lord's day was a wonderful day for the congregation here. A good man and his wife were baptized into Christ. Our radio program, 8:30 until 9:00 A.M. each Sunday, is being well received. Our quartet and the "Query Time" part of the program helps much. The station is KVLC, 1050 on your dial. When coming this way visit us.

Wendell Winkler, Box 133, Rayville, La., September 5: I recently closed meetings at Rayville, La., with nine baptisms and thirteen restorations and at West Chapel, Aberdeen, Mississippi, with ten baptisms and eleven restorations. Brethren Waymon Swain and Arch Justice, Jr., led the singing in these respective meetings. There have been seven responses in Rayville recently. There were three hundred and five enrolled in our Vacation Bible School this year.

Clarence A. Price, Waco, Texas, September 11: Last Lord's day two placed membership here at the Lakeview Church of Christ. We had a record attendance of 125 in Bible study last Lord's day. I wish to join with others in warning against a man who goes by the name, Sidney Austin. He beat me out of twenty dollars. The method he uses appeared in the papers a few weeks ago. I wish to warn my brethren concerning him.

Jack Bates, 1410 So. Towner St., Santa Ana, California, September 9: During the month of August the Broadway and Walnut congregation in Santa Ana contributed over $1300 above our budgetary commitments to preaching the gospel overseas and in support of our work with the boys and girls at the Children's Home in Ontario. Orange County is experiencing a tremendous population growth at present and the elders here would appreciate being advised of members who move into this area in order that we may contact them at once.

P. D. Wilmet, 308 Hamvasy Lane, Tyler, Texas, September 8: Two were baptized Sunday. Our fall meeting is scheduled with Elbridge Linn for October 18-25. Prospects for the fall look excellent. We have a constant steady work, making progress each week. Brother Sumerlin paid us a visit from Long Island last week. The church made a commitment to his work. Wyndal Hudson is under the direction of the elders of this church and is now in Italy. Reports of his work will be forthcoming as soon as he is on the ground in Leghorn with location, etc. When in our city, worship with us.

Hugh Boydston, 1209 South Texas Avenue, Odessa, Texas, September 8: Three were restored and one was baptized here last week.

J. T. Hodgen, 1905 Nicholasville Road, Lexington, Kentucky, September 6: I closed a meeting on July 31 with the Kendall Springs church, Bath County, Kentucky. Three were baptized.

G. W. Allison, Velma, Oklahoma, September 9: During the past two months I have held meetings at Eoton, Wash., Maynard and Clover Bend, Ark., and Keego Harbor, Mich. Last Lord's day I began the work here in Velma, Okla. We are looking forward to a good work with brethren here.

T. A. Phillips, 420 Maverick, San Antonio, Texas, September 9: I will be in Texas at least temporarily, and while here I may be reached at the above address. I will be available for meetings, or will consider local work in Texas or adjoining states. Experienced, faithful preacher of the word.

Walter W. Leamons, Junction, Texas, September 7: Tenth Street church had two good audiences yesterday. Brother J. D. Holmes, of Rochester, Texas, assisted in the morning service and Brother Nelson Talley of Austin, in the evening service. I had the pleasure of preaching at the mid-week meeting at London, Texas, last week, and delivered the address at school-opening exercises there this morning. Served as minister of the church there a number of years.

Sister U. G. Wilkinson, Box 192, Comanche, Oklahoma, September 8: I have just finished reading the Firm Foundation. It is wonderful. Brother G. W. Allison, his wife, and sons, Stephen and Mark, visited me today. Brother Allison began his work with the Church of Christ at Velma, Okla., last Lord's day. The attendance was of the best. His work will be good any place. Brother David Underwood will be here to help us in the church September 27. He is from Harding College, Searcy, Ark.

Robert Gordon Clement, 701 North Fourth Street, Marlow, Oklahoma, September 10: The Lord has blessed our efforts. Two years personal evangelism by some of the members was crowned with success. This past Lord's day the wife of a member of the Methodist Board and former teacher of the adult class was baptized into Christ. This makes eight baptisms and four erring children reclaimed since last report. The pastors are to be commended for their labor of love. When visiting in south central Oklahoma, worship with us.

Orlan Miller, 302 S. Denver Street, Jackson 9, Mississippi, September 9: During the latter part of July, the elders sent me to Durant, Mississippi, to conduct a tent meeting in this new field. There were no visible responses. From August 7-16, I preached in a meeting at Guy, Arkansas, and from August 17-26 at Woodrow, near Vilonia. Eleven were baptized and one restored in these two efforts. The meeting at Guy was quite unique in that two sisters, age 84 and 82, obeyed the gospel and were baptized at the same time. The husband of one, age 79, was restored to duty. The work at West Capitol in Jackson continues to be pleasant and inspiring. The Lord is blessing our efforts.

W. W. Otey has moved from Belle Plaine, Kansas, to 315 East 7th, Winfield, Kansas.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, September 8: Our work at Catoma Street is most encouraging. Last night I baptized a young Baptist woman. Others seem to be quite interested in the plain, simple gospel of Christ.

Elbridge B. Linn, 1903 University Avenue, Austin, Texas, September 10: During the month of August twelve persons placed membership, three were restored, and one baptized at the University Avenue church of Christ. The work is progressing nicely in every phase.

Oram J. Swinney, Greggton, Texas, September 10: We have had several additions recently with three more this week. One immersion and three to identify with the church. Our fall meeting begins September 28, with Brother J. W. Anders of Mineral Wells, Texas, doing the preaching. October 12th, I begin a meeting with the good church at Quitman, Texas, where Brother Albert Brown is laboring.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, September 7: Labor Day holiday brought many visitors to this resort town. More than 450 for worship, 270 in Bible classes, a new record. Our new and enlarged church building will seat 600. We confidently expect to fill it. We have facilities for 600 in the Wednesday night Bible school-training program and hour of prayer. The folks are in town and we intend to see that they have an invitation to this service.

Claude Robertson, Haskell, Oklahoma, September 8: The work here moves along in a good way. I did the preaching recently in a meeting at Checotah, Oklahoma. Fifteen responded during the meeting; eight baptized and seven restored. Brother Don Wilson labors with this congregation and is doing a good work. I will do the preaching in a meeting with the church in Winnsboro, Texas, where Brother W. L. Fritts is their minister. This meeting begins October 6th. I will be with the church in Bixby, Oklahoma, in a meeting beginning October 19th.

Cleon Lyles, Little Rock, Arkansas, September 1: Three were baptized and one placed membership at the Downtown church (Sixth at Izard) Sunday. The Broadway church in Springfield, where Elmer L/Roy is doing a great work as preacher, recently closed a meeting in which I preached. It was also my pleasure to preach in a meeting recently with the Lamar Street church in Sweetwater, Texas. Paul Foutz is the much appreciated preacher there. Floyd Sharp and I are in a meeting this week at Bee Branch, Arkansas.

C. J. Harcrow, 311 West 42nd Street, Austin, Texas, September 14: The work for the deaf is going forward in a fine way, with increasing interest. On September 6th, Mrs. Mildred Williamson, a fine lady and mother, was baptized, and last Sunday her daughter, Kay Williamson, along with Dickie Hill were baptized. Last Sunday evening at 2 P.M. Brother Lloyd Williams, who is a young preacher and student of Abilene Christian College, preached in the sign language. Sister Ben Holland translated the sermon orally for the hearing. We had a large number of visitors from other congregations. Brother Williams was greatly encouraged and all enjoyed fine fellowship. When you are in Austin, you are cordially invited to come and worship with us.

L. F. Mills, 156 E. Baker St., Gatesville, Arkansas, September 11: Seven were baptized and two restored at Williford, Arkansas. No additions in my meeting at Gilt Edge, Tenn. I will be in a meeting at Massillon, Ohio, beginning October 4. Our work at Central Avenue goes well.

Doyle Cannon, San Antonio, Texas, September 9: The work here at Government Hill congregation still continues to grow. Last Lord's day we had seventeen responses: two baptized, four restored, and eleven to place membership. A Methodist gentleman is coming tonight for teaching about the church and we expect him to obey the gospel. Pray for the cause here and when in San Antonio, worship with us at Government Hill.

W. H. Hale, Cheyenne, Wyoming, September 12: We just closed a fine meeting here with Brother Oscar Smith of Texarkana, Ark., doing a fine job of preaching the word. One was restored and two placed membership. The work in Cheyenne is moving along very well. Any one passing through should stop and worship with us. The address is 1601 East 19th St., Cheyenne, Wyo., Phone 2-8428.

Jess Hall, 3205 Denton Highway, Fort Worth, Texas, September 8: Our work with the brethren in the Birdville congregation of Fort Worth has started in a good way. The past two Sundays two were restored and identified with us and one was baptized. At this time I am in Rosiclare, Illinois, with Brother W. C. Anderson and the good congregation here. Beginning on Monday night, September 21, I will begin my part of a meeting at Milburn, Ky., where Brother Rupert Warren is preaching.

Preston Cotham, 2000 Oakland Boulevard, Fort Worth, Texas, September 10: We closed out August with the highest attendance record ever for Meadowbrook, despite the summer and many on vacations. Three were baptized, three restored and placed membership, and three others placed membership with us during the month. One young lady was baptized last evening, Wednesday, September 9. I will be with the Trinity Heights congregation in Dallas in a meeting September 20-27. Perry B. Cotham will do the preaching in our fall meeting October 18-28. We are now on the radio each Sunday afternoon at 5:45 over KCUL, 1540 on your dial. The work here is at its best.

Eldred Stevens, 922 W. Leuda, Fort Worth, Texas, August 26: The first of June we were invited by the Southside church of Fort Worth to return to work in our home state. Although there was much to argue against such a quick move, we decided that we would be more happily situated in Fort Worth, so we begin there this week. I would like for correspondents, publishers, etc., to note the change of address. Books of the Stevens-Beevers debate should be ordered from the new address. The congregation meeting at David Lipscomb College should have a bright future. We feel that some progress was made during our year with them, including the beginning of a $400,000 plant that should mean much to the expansion of its local program. At present I am in a meeting with the College Avenue church in Lubbock. The elders and local preacher, Brother Jack Hardcastle, are doing a good work here. Two meetings remain on my program for the year: Lindale in Houston (October 12-21), and Stillwater, Okla., (October 25-November 4).

F. A. Bailey, Girard, Texas, September 9: Last Lord's day I accepted full time work with the church at Girard, Texas. We had good attendance and a fine interest was shown at the morning and evening services. The church here is united and we are looking forward to much good.

Elmer L'Roy, 901 S. Broadway, Springfield, Missouri, September 11: There were no baptisms but the attendance and interest were good in a nine day meeting recently at Freedom church in Camden County, Mo., in which I preached. A man was baptized at Broadway and Madison during my absence by Dorsey Traw, who preached here. Willis Jernigan of Commerce, Texas, will be at Broadway and Madison September 25-October 4 for his second meeting with us.

Thomas J. Wagner, 1020 Dozier Place, Nashville 6, Tennessee, September 6: We closed almost six years of pleasant labors as minister of the College Street church in Lebanon, Tenn., July 19 and after conducting three gospel meetings moved to Nashville to labor with the Russell Street church and began our service with this good church last Lord's day, September 6. Our home address is as above. Success to the Firm Foundation.

O. E. Correll, Kinmundy, Illinois, September 7: I was with the congregation at Salem, Illinois, on September 6—preached morning and evening. We had almost a record attendance and the best of attention. I always enjoy being with them, since having been with them almost two years, once each month. That was some few years ago but it seems like going back home. The brethren all expressed their pleasure at having me with them again. I am going west in about two weeks, or about September 20, to Kansas and Oklahoma. If any congregation along the way would like to have me stop with them, write me at once that I may get it before I leave home.

Bascom M. Litton, Box 292, Petersburg, Texas, September 8: On July 1, we moved from Memphis, Texas, to our present address. We enjoyed three years of pleasant and profitable work with that congregation and have found a very amiable and promising situation here. Two families totaling eight people have recently placed membership here and one young man was baptized last Sunday morning. I recently preached in a meeting at Southall near Franklin, Tenn. We had near capacity crowds throughout the meeting. Two were baptized and one restored. Singing was directed by Albert Jones, who had recently returned from Korea.

Ector R. Watson, Abilene, Texas, September 8: I am closing three years' work with the church at 12th and Chestnut. I moved here in order that I might place my children in school and I appreciated the opportunity to work with the 12th and Chestnut Streets church. Our attendance has fluctuated from time to time, but there has been a slight increase in the contributions each year. The elders have greatly encouraged me and there has never been a ripple between us. I deeply appreciate such faithful bishops. God knows and will reward our labors together. Brother Frank Van Dyke has been secured to follow me, and I wish for him and the church the blessings of God. I plan to give more time to meetings, and would appreciate the opportunity to assist churches in such gospel efforts. My new address will be: Wanette, Oklahoma, Route 2. If I can serve, call upon me.

Clem Wesley Hoover, Cherokee, Texas, September 7: Services were well attended last Lord's day and night with the Bend, Texas, Church of Christ. One was restored at the evening service.

Milton S. Parker, Route 1, Del Rio, Tennessee, September 10: My work with the church here terminates December 31. I will be available for work after that date. If you will need a preacher at that time, write to me at the above address. I have had thirty years of experience as a preacher. I can furnish references.

Jack Hardenastle, 2436—27th Street, Lubbock, Texas, September 10: Two were baptized and one was restored in the meeting here at College Avenue. Eldred Stevens preached and R. L. Shuman led the singing. I preached in a meeting with the West Side church in Corsicana recently. Luther G. Roberts is the regular preacher there and is doing an excellent job.

G. S. Westbrook, Box 420, Bonham, Texas, September 5: I moved this week to Bonham to work with the Northside church. Jack King did a great work here for about six years. Prospects are excellent for a continued good work and much interest. Had a good crowd Wednesday night. Tomorrow is my first Lord's day here. I will preach four times tomorrow. Listen to our regular Fannin County Broadcast over KFYN, 1420 kc, at 8:00 A.M. Sundays. I will be in a meeting with Bill Parsons and the Central church in Denison, Sept. 20, the Lord willing.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman Avenue, Dallas, Texas, September 9: During the month of August there were seventeen added here at Skillman Avenue church. Three were baptized; ten identified; and four restored. Interest and attendance have been good and our prayer meeting averaged three hundred forty-nine in attendance for the month. Last Sunday Jack Nadeau preached at both services with five responding, one baptism and four identified. I am to assist in a gospel meeting at Bartlesville, Okla., October 4-11. George H. Stephenson of Memphis, Tenn., holds our fall meeting October 25-November 1.

John M. Burnett, Box 973, Ajo, Arizona, September 9: Another good day here Sunday, September 6. One was baptized at the morning service who had been a Baptist for thirteen years. Two placed membership at the evening service. One was restored Sunday, August 30. One was baptized August 9th who had been a Methodist for several years. I have time for a meeting in May or June 1954. I would like to hold a meeting in southern California or southern Arizona.

John H. Gerrard, 529 Clark St., Aurora, Illinois, September 8: The meeting at Elgin, Ill., closed last Sunday evening. There were no responses to the invitation. However, several members of the church were contacted. Others heard the gospel for the first time. Gospel literature was distributed and the gospel was preached over the local radio station every day. The new congregation at Joliet, Ill., begins meeting morning and evening, Sunday, September 13. Brother Don Moyer, of Blue Island, Ill., will be their preacher. Brother Moyer is a fine gospel preacher. The church in Joliet meets in the American Legion Building. The church in Aurora continues to do well.

Robert V. Hamilton, Box 107, Hamilton, Texas, September 11: During the month of August, Brother Cecil B. Douthitt held a very fine meeting for the church here. There were three baptisms (one a head of a family and a Lutheran) and two young people. One family was restored from the Anti congregation that meets here in Hamilton. The meeting was held out of doors, and the weather was fine. Many favorable impressions were made on those in attendance, and perhaps we shall reap more in time from this sowing. From September 14th through the 20th, I plan to be with A. C. Knight and the church in San Saba, directing the singing in a meeting in which Joe Malone of Fort Worth will do the preaching. I anticipate a pleasant and profitable time to be spent with these brethren. The work continues here on a fairly even keel; we hope that with the beginning of school and the end of vacations the attendance will be generally higher in all departments. Many visitors come our way, and we are always happy to see them.

Floyd A. Decker, 553 Kirby Place, Shreveport, Louisiana, September 10: Just closed a meeting with the Bossier City (La.) congregation last night. Brother Jack Arvin is the preacher there and we had a most delightful meeting. Brother Arvin has been there almost since the beginning of the congregation. They have outgrown their present building and are now having two morning services to accommodate the audiences. Bossier City is planning on building in the near future and with their present attitude toward the work of the Lord they could soon be one of the largest congregations in Louisiana. I was able to stay at home during this meeting as Bossier City is just across Red River from Shreveport. I closed a fifteen days meeting at La Center, Ky., August 26th. This meeting was designed by the brethren at Bandana, Ky., to be the first in a series of efforts to plant the church of our Lord at La Center. We had good attendance but no one added to the body of Christ that we know of as a result of the meeting. I lived at La Center when a boy and many of my family are living in that section now. Bandana church was faithful, exceedingly so, in their attendance and fellowship. Lewis Randolph led the singing and taught a class of little children each night except three. He has great ability and a strong personality which he has given over completely to the Lord. Jerry Jennings, of Paducah, led the singing the last three nights. It would take more space than I have here to tell about Jerry—an excellent voice and ability. I was in Mobile, Alabama, August 30, and all the congregations there are going forward in a good steady way.

Leonard Mullens, 2426 Alco Avenue, Dallas, Texas, September 11: Brother A. C. Pullias of Nashville, Tenn., did the preaching in our summer meeting. The song direction was carried out by Brother Sam P. Durrance of Washington, D. C. Both of these men did their work well with a good meeting as the result. Thirteen responded to the invitation, with six being baptized, five restored, and two placing membership. The work of Brother Pullias is well known to the brotherhood, and he was at his best while here with us. Brother Durrance is an accomplished singer and will do any group good. Since the meeting, a number have responded to the gospel here at Edgefield. It was my pleasure to do the preaching in a meeting at Levelland, Texas, during the month of August. Sixty-one responded to the invitation. Four placed membership and the others were restored and baptized. I begin Monday at the Castleberry church in Fort Worth, where Abe Lincoln preaches. Here at Edgefield, four new elders have been selected, bringing the number to nine, along with five more deacons. Contributions are higher than ever, and the interest is sustained rather well.

R. Ervin Driskill, 1604 W. 23rd St., Birmingham, Alabama, September 11: In June I closed more than three years of work with the Rose Hill church of Columbus, Ga. We are now back in Birmingham with the Belview Heights church. Perhaps there is no city where the relationship of ministers and congregations is more cordial and where the church, in general, is more set for the defense of the church against all encroachments such as "Institutionalism" and "Centralized Control." Two years previous labor with the North Birmingham church ('47-'49) endeared the church here to us, and we look forward to a pleasant and profitable work with the Belview brethren. Brother Chas. Caldwell of Savannah, follows at Rose Hill. We wish for him and the church there success and happiness. Friends will please note my change of address.

Hornea W. Busby, Fort Worth, Texas, September 10: It was my very great pleasure to be with the Sixteenth Street church in Washington D.C., the first Lord's day in July. Then to Shamrock, Texas, over the second Lord's day in July for about eight days, in a very fine meeting. About one hundred souls either confessed faults and asked for the prayers of the church or were baptized. Bill Tittle is the preacher and is a wonderful helper. We promised a return engagement in September, next year. Then from Shamrock to Rhome, Texas, for another fine meeting, with Joe Rhoten as helper. Joe always does a fine job at whatever he undertakes. The month of August was spent with the churches in Itasca, Littlefield and Kenedy, all were well attended and the interest was extra good. We are now in Garland, Texas, in a good meeting and from here I am to go to Oklahoma City for two meetings including four Lord's days. "The church of the Lord is moving on."

Doyle Banta, Box 205, West Helena, Arkansas, September 9: Three were baptized, two restored and fourteen placed membership during August. We are now supporting full time Brother Kan Pyung Kim in Pusan, Korea, and Brother Ju Kup Dong in Ulsan, Korea. Granville Tyler will be here for a meeting October 18-28.

George H. Stephenson, Memphis, Tennessee, September 9: I recently preached for the Grand Avenue church in Sherman, Texas, in a gospel meeting. This is a young and active church with Claude C. McQuiddy serving them as their regular preacher. It was good to see so many brethren and friends I had known in years gone by when I worked in county missionary work under the Walnut Street church in Sherman. We had good attendance and interest throughout the meeting. There were nine baptisms and four to be restored or identified. The singing was directed by John Elmore, one of the elders of the church. I promised to return for another meeting, the Lord willing, in 1956. We are happy in the work with the Normal church here in Memphis. It is growing and encouraging.

H. W. McElsh, Burnet, Texas, August 24: This writing finds me at Fairy, Texas. The meeting began here tonight. A house full of people and good interest at the initial services promises a good meeting. Brother Stanley Giesecke is preaching for the church here and is honored and loved by all. The meeting in Graford, Texas, closed last evening with a total of eleven baptisms. The singing was well directed by Brother George Bryan and Brother Johnny Walker, one of their elders. Also did the preaching in a meeting at Weinert, Texas, on which I have not reported. There were seven baptisms and three restorations there. Brother Ronald Wilkerson, their preacher, directed the singing in a good way, and proved to be a real co-worker in the meeting. My son, H. W., Jr., is directing the singing in the meeting here, and of course, we are enjoying our association in the work to the fullest extent. It reminds me of the many meetings in which my father and I have labored together, and enjoyed so much. The meeting closes September 1st. Then my wife, son, and I go to Boise, Idaho, for at least twelve months work. Mail will reach me if addressed in care of Church of Christ, 4th and Bannock, Boise, Idaho.

Carl A. Collins, Box 53, Morgan Mill, Texas, August 24: With home forces doing the preaching and Brother Drew Mauldin of the Liberty community nearby leading the singing in a fine way, we closed a good ten day meeting here last night. Two were baptized and one restored. The members say the largest number of non-members attended in the history of the congregation. Also, three were baptized a few days before the meeting. We have been busy here all the year. Brother Bill Hearn, now of Sioux City, Iowa, preached in our spring meeting with good attendance and fine interest. We conducted our first Vacation Bible School for this congregation in June with Brother J. W. Anders, minister of South Side church in Mineral Wells teaching our high school class. It was a great success. In July we conducted a mission meeting at Patillo, twelve miles north which was well attended. We have also done a great deal of work on our church building including air conditioning. We thank the Lord for these great blessings and press on, we trust, to greater things in his service this coming year. We need the Firm Foundation in more homes in our community and we hope that we can soon increase that number.

Morris Moore, Hubbard, Texas, September 3: We just closed a wonderful meeting with the congregation in LaRue, Texas. Three precious souls were baptized into Christ. Interest was good at every service. Brother Bill Star has done a wonderful job in his labor with the church there. In the month of July we held a meeting in Mount Calm, Texas. During our efforts there eight responded to the invitation. Four confessed sin, and four were baptized into Christ. Two of group baptized were past seventy years of age. One young lady came from the Baptist church. The Lord willing I will be with the church in Granbury, Texas, for a meeting beginning on the 4th of October. Since our coming to the work in Hubbard on January 2, 1953, nineteen have obeyed the gospel, one confessed sins, and five have placed membership with us. For all of these additions and blessings we humbly thank God and give him the glory and praise for it all. When passing through Hubbard we invite you to worship with us. We covet the prayers of all Christians everywhere.

Robert H. Bell, 672—19th Street, San Diego 2, California, August 24: The church in Friendship, Tennessee, conducted a gospel meeting July 5-12 in which I did the preaching. Brother David Davidson, the local minister, did an excellent work in directing the singing. Nine were baptized. On July 19 I began a meeting with the church in Glass, Tenn., which continued through the 29th. Brother Jackie Parks, of Obion, Tennessee, conducted the singing in a very fine way. Four were baptized. On August 2 I preached at both the morning and evening services for the church in Milan, and attended the summer lectures at David Lipscomb in Nashville that week. Then on August 9 I began a meeting with the Vaughn Grove church which continued through the 16th. Only one confessed sins during the meeting. Brother Billy Ray Davidson led the singing in this meeting and did it well. I promised to return to Tennessee in 1954 and again in 1955 for other meetings. Yesterday was our first Lord's day home, and a large audience greeted us. One was baptized at the morning hour. Brother Robert W. Lehmann, a local preacher, devoted his full time to the work of the church here during my absence and baptized two and restored three. His work was deeply appreciated by both the congregation and myself.

W. T. Garnett, Portales, New Mexico, September 1: One was baptized and a few restored since last report. I enjoyed your fine editorial in the September 1st issue of the Firm Foundation on "The Perfection of Christ." This is and always has been my position and teaching on this question. For the benefit of my many friends and those who might be concerned because of some reports from here, permit me to say the work has been far from pleasant for the past three months. Some who have now been withdrawn from, and are meeting in another place, have fought the church with articles and hard speeches trying to say that the church here is unsound. When asked for the unsound things, they are at a loss to answer, because the church meeting on East 2nd Street, and the one meeting on Fourth Street, is sound in every way as it is possible for us to be. If we find something that is not according to the Scriptures, we will do our best to correct it. This group is trying to crush me with things I never thought of teaching or believing. Namely, that Christ was not perfect. If they misunderstood me some time, they have no right now because I have repeatedly, in classes, from the pulpit, and over the air stated my position, that Christ was perfect in everything he did. And, that I teach, that you cannot bring an accusation against an elder, which I never did teach. I do teach what the Bible says, that it must be in the mouth of two or three witnesses. And two other charges, which I never did teach or never will. But when people are hard pressed they will say many things. I hope they will repent. The work here in the church at East 2nd Street is and will be kept in line with the Bible. Brother Grover C. Ross and Brother R. L. Allen, who preach for the Fourth Street church are fine gospel preachers to be associated with; also, Brother W. A. Kerchville who works in the interest of the children's home that is now under construction. We here at Second Street Church of Christ are in fellowship with the Fourth Street church in building this home. When passing this way, visit with us.

Mae Barte, Austin, Texas, September 1: It was my privilege to work with three fine churches this summer in meeting work. I led the singing for the meeting in Llano, in which Brother H. I. Taylor of Austin preached. This was the second meeting in Llano in which Brother Taylor and I worked together. In Burnet I taught a singing school, worked in the Vacation Bible School, and led singing for the meeting in which Brother F. F. Conly of Beaumont preached. This was my first association with Brethren Conly and the local evangelist, Roy Stephens. It was a pleasant one. Then I led the singing and preached in the meeting at Big Valley, Texas. This community is located on the Colorado River, mid-way between Goldthwaite and San Saba. All in all, the Lord blessed me with opportunities this summer which I cherish, and which greatly strengthened me in his work. Brykerwood church, formerly known as West Austin, continues to grow. When in Austin, visit with us. You will find us a friendly group, desiring to know you and wanting your presence with us again."

H. Arden Lawrence, Box 742, Premont, Texas: A. E. Findley of Refugio closed an eleven-day effort here on August 26. He was almost sick the first part of the meeting but was feeling well enough to preach his best during the last week of the meeting. Two confessions of sins were made and two were added by transfer of membership. During the first week of the meeting we conducted our second Vacation Bible School. We had an average attendance of 73 and an enrollment of about 100. I am concluding my work with the congregation here on September 13. The membership of the congregation now stands at 81 compared to about 40 three years ago when the congregation was started. We erected a nice meeting house and obtained a preacher's home during my stay here. I was sent here and supported for several months by the Sinton congregation. The church is now completely self-supporting. My successor has not been selected. I am moving to Bay City to what appears to be greater opportunities of service. I invite all within hearing distance of station KIOX (1270) to tune in each Sunday morning from 8 to 8:30. If you know of Christians meeting for worship in the oil fields of Venezuela, please notify me.

M. C. Cuthbertson, P. O. Box 6343, Tucson, Arizona, September 10: The work with the Country Club Road church in Tucson has been very fine all the year. This summer has seen much of our best work, with new records established for Sunday evenings and Wednesday evening services. More than the usual number have been baptized with most of them coming from the various churches. Several Catholics have been among the number. Four grown people were baptized during August and one from the Christian Church group. Two placed membership. In a good meeting at Culver Palms, Culver City, California, I did the preaching during two weeks of August. Many friends from Greater Los Angeles were present, and one woman was baptized. Bob Melear is the good preacher for this congregation. I was invited to return next year. Earlier in the year, I did the preaching in meetings at Flagstaff, Arizona, where Brother A. E. Harper preaches, and in Hayward, California, where Brother Erven Harris preaches. Both of these men also are doing good work.

W. S. Willis, Gustine, Texas, September 4: A good gospel meeting closed here last Lord's day with two baptisms, two restorations and one placing membership. Brother Chester Hill of the Calmont congregation of Fort Worth, did the preaching in a very forceful way, shunning not to declare the whole counsel of God. Brother Leon McCarty of Brownwood directed the songs in a most commendable way. The brethren asked me to preach the opening sermons on the Lord's day and Brother Hill did not begin his service until Monday morning. At the first service and at the conclusion of the message every member present stood reaffirming their faith, reconsecrating their lives to the work of the Lord. This was great encouragement to me, and I am persuaded that a good work can be accomplished here. Brethren pray for me.

B. C. Stapleton, 1775 Main Avenue, Durango, Colorado, September 9: We think it might be well to let the brotherhood know that a man and his wife (known as Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Flynn) are going through the country asking help from the churches and individual Christians. They are evidently nothing more than moochers. They told of receiving help from an individual Christian in Pueblo, Colo., but when asked about receiving help in Monte Vista, Colo., they denied it. We were almost certain that they had, because two members of the church in Durango visited in Monte Vista over the Labor Day weekend and knew of a man and woman receiving help. The Flynn's finally admitted it and said that they had just forgotten. We also heard of a man and woman receiving help in McLean, Texas, about two weeks ago and through a telephone call, we learned beyond a doubt that it was the same couple (they even gave the same name there). They never did admit this. They were told how we feel about moochers and that the brotherhood would be warned. The man is tall and very skinny and is supposed to be an arrested tuberculosis case. The woman is medium height, heavy set, and rather coarse featured.

W. A. Harrison, Box 46, Burns Flat, Oklahoma, September 12: I closed a gospel meeting September 9, at Thomas, Okla. There were no visible results, but the church there feels that the cause was strengthened in other ways. The Burns Flat church sent me to assist in this meeting. The church in Thomas needs desperately some one to live on the field full time. There are good opportunities for the church there. The Thomas church will do its part in helping support a man. Who will help them in this effort? There is a man who can go but he needs support from some congregation to help him go. If you are interested in this worthy cause, contact Brother W. A. Walker, Thomas, Okla. The work goes well here at Burns Flat.

Grover C. Ross, Portales, New Mexico, September 9: The work on West Fourth Street is progressing nicely. Since we last reported, several have been baptized, several restored, and several have come to be identified. All together this year, we have had 110 responses, and the number of baptisms is 44, the restorations 30, and the others being identified. We have never had better cooperation and fellowship in the history of the church here. I have been with this good church some eight years. This year has been the most progressive year since I came to Portales. Harmony in this congregation is better than it has been during the eight years. There is a fine group of elders to work under. Brother W. T. Garnett, who preaches for the East Second Street church is sound in faith and life. The fellowship between East Second Street church and West Fourth Street church is perfect now. All who have known Brother W. T. Garnett know that he stands for the truth. He is still the same man whom you have known. The orphan home work is progressing nicely. The first unit is in the building now. We hope to have it ready for occupancy the first of the year. The first unit can house as many as forty-eight homeless children. When in Portales, visit with us at Fourth Street church, or East Second Street church.

Chester A. Hunnicutt, P. O. Box 982, Apopka, Florida, September 9: Since my last report I have assisted in three meetings: Bay Minette, Ala., one restored. Lonnie Polk, the preacher there, led the singing. Jimmy Faulkner, state senator of Alabama, is a faithful member of the congregation there. At Plymouth, Fla., one was baptized during the meeting and two others later. L. B. Chastain, the local evangelist, directed the song service. At Main Street, Bell Buckle, Tenn., two were baptized. Bruce Vetto led the singing.

D. D. Woody, Baton Rouge 9, Louisiana, September 3: After about eleven weeks spent in meetings with churches in Tennessee and Kentucky, I am back to resume my work with the church in Baton Rouge. Visible results in seven meetings were the presence of many fine audiences to hear the gospel, about twenty-five baptized and about twelve restored to duty. I was assisted by many fine and able brethren in these meetings. Churches served were as follows: Tiptonville, Petersburg, Bells, South Harpeth, Ostella and Wilson Hill (near Lewisburg) all in Tennessee; and Locust Grove (near Franklin) in Kentucky. The church here is doing well, although it has been trying to carry a program beyond its financial ability. Besides supporting the preacher for the colored church and me, they have partially supported the preachers at Jackson and Hammond, Louisiana. We need financial help in supporting the Hammond preacher, for the congregation there is small and the weekly contributions are comparatively low. The building must also be paid for. In addition to all this responsibility, the church here helps the work in several foreign countries. I predict that some day the Convention Street church in Baton Rouge will be one of the outstanding congregations of the south.

Bill Cofer, Hobart, Oklahoma, September 4: Yesterday I helped move Brother Tom Silvas to Stratton, Nebraska, where I know he will do a very good work, and needless to say, this is a field that has been long neglected. It is a difficult field, filled with hobbies, and many discouraging problems, but I believe Brother Silvas to be well fitted to meet any and every problem that might come his way. He is willing to sacrifice, and we need to remember him in our prayers. Tom is blind, his wife serves as his eyes . . . they are filled with zeal for the work of the Lord, and has done a good work in Ft. Cobb, Oklahoma, having baptized 16 while working there. The church in Stratton isn't asking for money, they intend supporting him full time, and have a very excellent eldership, but they do ask our prayers, and brethren let us remember them often. The need in Nebraska is for more and more preachers, men that will be willing to sacrifice, and there are many large towns that do not have a congregation of the church. They need Christian families to move up there, men willing to launch out on faith, and love for the cause of Christ. The work is slow, but who knows the end of these efforts several years from now. The church in Stratton has set the example for the past few years leaving a very good example that other congregations in that section look to. They have had a full time evangelist in the field, they are growing—section see the need slowly of sacrificing, and the other congregations in that to have a full time man too. May God hasten the day when the church there will be strong, and give those of us in easy fields purpose of heart to help them in any way that we can. Remember the Silvas family in your prayers.

Earl L. Craig, Station 1, Box 540, Canyon, Texas, September 8: I have preached in two meetings this summer, one at Texline, Texas, and the other at Lockney, Texas. There were three baptisms and three came asking for the prayers of the church in the meeting at Texline. There were two baptized and two who placed membership with the church in the meeting at Lockney. Brother Clifford L. Newcomb is the faithful preacher and zealous fellow-worker at Texline and Brother George S. DeVoll at Lockney. I had not met either of these brethren before but I learned to love and appreciate them both during these meetings. Prospects for a good enrollment in the Bible chair at West Texas State College this fall are good. We are hoping for a large number of students in the Bible classes. If your son or daughter comes to West Texas State encourage them to sign up for a Bible course and to come to our regular daily devotional service. Your help is needed and will be appreciated.

J. W. Webb, Box 397, Moore, Oklahoma, August 20: Two, a young man and his wife, placed membership with us yesterday. They are a fine couple. Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Underwood from Twelfth and Drexel, Oklahoma City, Okla. They seem to be good workers in the church and have requested that we feel free to use them in any way we can. That's the spirit all of us should have in the Master's work. May their tribe increase. We are contemplating a Young Men's Training Class that will meet on Tuesday night of each week. This will be a good work and we feel that good will come of our work together in this way. Quite a few of our men have expressed their desire to have such a class for we feel the need of it in this congregation. Brother Glenn W. Todd, one of our elders, has been placed in charge of it and we know that under his efficient leadership we will be able to accomplish a great deal. I will assist in any and every way possible to make it a success. We are on the old highway 77—passing through Moore from Norman to the city. When you come this way, stop and worship with us.

John Bullock, Box 484, Lewisville, Texas, September 8: I concluded a very interesting meeting in Governor, New Mexico, recently. Brother David Darnell, of Farmington, New Mexico, led the singing. The Farmington congregation and the congregation here in Lewisville had fellowship in supporting this meeting. Farmington sent Brother Darnell to lead the singing, and the brethren here sent me to do the preaching. We were instrumental in establishing a work there in Governor for which we thank the Lord. We found about six members of the church in that vicinity which will meet for worship each Lord's day, also several people who are not members that want to come and bring their families to services. Good interest and attendance characterized our work in that series of gospel meetings. Although there were no responses to the invitation, several were interested in the truth and we believe that they will be baptized soon if not already. This meeting was conducted in the Great Western Drilling camp's recreational building close to Governor. The people who manage this camp truly were grand to us during our stay there and we certainly appreciated their kindness. We enjoyed the fine association with the gospel preachers throughout that section. Evangelist Barton Davis, of Farmington, was a source of encouragement and help in this meeting. He drove one hundred miles over the mountain roads, which were almost impassable, to bring people to the services, not once, but many times. The elders at Farmington are sending a man out there each Lord's day to preach, with Lewisville supporting him at the present time. We met Brethren Gene Reneau and Dick Case up Colorado way while there. The work here in Lewisville is moving along fine. We believe this work offers great possibilities for progress throughout the coming days. This is a great section of Texas, with Dallas and Denton on either side and we are about in the middle. I have some time for meetings in 1954. Pray for us that we may glorify the Lord in everything.

B. W. Guymon, Duncan, Oklahoma, September 1: I have recently returned to the Eastside church in Duncan, Oklahoma, after laboring with the church in Burkburnett, Texas, for 21 months during which time 87 people responded to the Lord's invitation. Since moving here May 31, 26 have responded to the invitation, nine last Lord's day, so we feel the work is progressing in a fine manner. The Bible Study has continued to show an increase despite the usual "summer slump" and reached 309 last Lord's day which is a considerable increase over the 227 of a year ago. The interest in the church work is very good and I am happy to be back with the Eastside congregation for I feel there is a great opportunity for this exceptionally fine church. The church here at Eastside will have been in existence five years January 1, starting with 149 members, and now has a membership of 416. We are planning a third congregation in Duncan in the near future in a new building at a cost of approximately $100,000.00 of which we now have half and the lots are paid for. I feel there is no limit to the potential of the church in Duncan with Christians so willing to work for the Lord.

Ira B. Sandusky, 3395 Highland Avenue, Beaumont, Texas, September 11: Nineteen have responded to the Lord's invitation in the past six weeks. Three were baptisms and the others were transfers and restorations. The work is now picking up after summer vacations and we look for continued growth for the Lord. Willis G. Jernigan of Commerce is to be with us in a gospel meeting November 8-15. We look for much good to be done for the cause of the Lord at this time. We are trying to get the members into more visiting and work of that nature for the bringing in of those who are not Christians. Personal work will do good anywhere it is tried. When coming our way, stop and worship with us at South Park.

Thomas B. Warren, 5000 Doyle Street, Ft. Worth, Texas, September 9: I have just closed two meetings in Louisiana: at Lake Charles, with 30 responses: 14 baptized, 16 restored. Brother Murphy D. Phillips, local evangelist, preached the last Sunday of the meeting, at which time two were baptized and one restored. At New Iberia one was baptized and four restored. Very good crowds, mostly "outsiders" who had heard the daily radio broadcast by Brother Cecil Hook, local evangelist. Truly things are beginning to look encouraging in Louisiana, a great mission field right at our doorstep. Brethren let us awake to the responsibility that we have to take the gospel to "Judea and Samaria" as well as "to the uttermost parts of the earth." If the congregation where you worship is thinking of taking on a bigger load outside of its own community, why not look into the possibilities here—at least the congregations in next-door Texas. I was impressed by the zeal of both the men noted above.

J. L. Calvert, Box 345, Drumright, Oklahoma, September 10: On Friday night, August 28th, I closed my eighth meeting for the year at Olney, Texas, at Bixby, Okla., at Hanna, Okla., at El Paso, Texas, at Fort Gibson, Okla., at Pleasant Valley, Okla., at Jay, Okla., and Porter, Okla., with thirty-one additions in the eight meetings. All of these meetings were excellent except one.

There were no additions in it. It was not well attended. On August 30th, I began work with the church here in Drumright with two baptisms, two restorations, and one placing membership. Last Sunday, my second Sunday here, one was baptized and one restored. There seems to be a fine group of faithful Christians in this congregation, and we are expecting an enjoyable and profitable work with them.

Tice Elkins, 1523 Cuba Avenue, Alamogordo, New Mexico, September 10: I have received to this date seven dollars on radiobroadcast intended to start October 1. Unless the money to support the program for one month comes faster and more liberal for the next twenty days, we will be compelled to abandon the plan to reach thousands of people in this area who never hear the gospel any other way. If enough does not come in to pay for one month at $30.00 per week, I will return every cent I do receive to the sender on the first day of October. I hope you will help to initiate and carry on this soul saving program. May the Lord open our hearts.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Gunnison, Colorado

In June of this year I made a request in the Firm Foundation for information concerning any members of the church of Christ who might be living in Gunnison, Colorado. At that time no one wrote to me from Gunnison, but I had letters from other places from people who are interested in seeing the church established in Gunnison.

A letter from Sister J. H. Dowell, 201 W. Adams Street, Borger, Texas, tells me there are two men operating tourist courts at Gunnison who were at one time members of the church, but one had dropped out of attending church and the other had identified himself with the Baptists. This is what happens in so many cases. A state college at Gunnison has a large enrollment of students, and it is probable there are several members of the church in this student body.

Last week I had a letter from Sister E. F. Hawkins, Box 1454, Cortez, Colorado, telling me that her daughter is in college at Gunnison. She is a junior in college, and will probably be there three years. The minister of the church at Cortez writes me that this lady is a devoted member of the church. Her name and address is Mary Hawkins, Western State College, Chipeta Hall, Room 219, Gunnison, Colorado. I am giving the addresses of these people so they can get in touch with each other, and get a move on foot to establish the church in Gunnison, Colorado. It is likely there are enough people in Gunnison, in the city and in the college, who are, or have been, members of the church, to make a fair size congregation. Another interested person is Mrs. M. C. Allen, 1321 Bradford St., Memphis, Texas. One Texas preacher writes me that if enough members can be located in Gunnison to make a nucleus for a congregation, he might be interested in working there to establish the church.

The Earth Is The Lord's

Paul states a self-evident truth when he says, "For the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof" (1 Cor. 10:26). This means that the earth and everything in it belongs to the Lord. Too often people forget this truth. If a man has a deed to a thousand acres of land, that does not take it out of the hands of the Lord. When the rich fool died, he was confronted with the proposition, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?" (Luke 12:20). His conversation had always been, my land, my fruits, my barns, my soul, but at last he had nothing left but a neglected soul.

The earth is the Lord's because he made it. It is the Lord's because he rules it. Man could not make the earth. It bears the marks of infinite wisdom and power. Man makes toys and plays with them. The greatest thing man has ever made is nothing more than a toy when compared with the works of God.

Day and night, winter and summer, follow each other with the greatest exactitude. They have done this through all the ages without making a mistake. The inhabitants of earth are here on probation. This is not their last abiding place. As the children of the Lord, we should use the world without abusing it. Above everything else, earth is the place where man prepares to meet God.

There Is One Body

Elbridge B. Linn

Do you remember your childhood impressions when the circus came to town? Were you lured away by the loud voice of the caller at some sideshow into spending some money to see "the strangest thing in the world—the man with two bodies and one head"? Perhaps it was some other "freak" which stirred your curiosity and excited your attention.

Now that we are full-grown men and women, capable of discerning error and truth, we probably are little concerned by any attraction of deceit and fakery practiced by early showmen. But, there are some strange, inconsistent things which should concern us, especially in the realm of religion. The strangest thing in Christendom is the spirit which thanks God for "many churches (denominations), for many different religious organizations." I say this attitude is "strange," because of so much teaching in the New Testament on the subject of Christian Unity. Not only is the attitude strange; it is also wrong.

Paul wrote: "Keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph. 4:3). And then, "There is one body . . ." (vs. 4). The Scriptures teach there is one body, and but ONE body! What is that one body? "And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the pre-eminence" (Col. 1:18). This same truth is taught in Eph. 1:22, 23. The body of Christ (the church) is made up of those who are saved by Christ. Acts 2:47 teaches that God adds the saved to his church! In Eph. 5:23 the truth is emphasized that "Christ is the Savior of the body." There are many members (individuals) and yet just one body. "For even as we have many members in one body, and all the members have not the same office: so we, who are many, are one body in Christ and severally members one of another" (Rom. 12:4, 5). "For as the body is one, and hath many members, all the members of the body, being many, are one body, so also is Christ . . . Now ye are the body of Christ, and severally members thereof" (1 Cor. 12:12, 27). One would require some expert advice in the field of misinterpretation to misunderstand these words from the word of God.

In denominationalism today we see many bodies and not a few heads and realize that such a monster of many bodies and many heads would be called a "freak" in the physical world. But when we look at the religious world and consider the New Testament teaching of a body with a head, we shut our eyes and our ears, shift the gears of our understanding into neutral, shrug our shoulders, view the state of Christendom with pity, and then do absolutely nothing about it. In fact, the preacher who tries to do something about religious division finds plenty of opposition from the so-called "elect." Plainly, the divided state of the religious world, is in violation of both the letter and the spirit of the Bible. It is not even according to reason. One head cannot have 200 different bodies. Christ does not have 200 different denominations, for he does not have 200 different bodies. He has ONE body.

One Husband—One Wife

The word of God teaches that in the marriage relationship, one man and one woman should be joined for life. That is the ideal, even though sin sometimes may break the union. Paul took the illustration of marriage to teach us something about Christ and the church: "For the husband is the head of the wife, as Christ also is the head of the church, being himself the Savior of the body" (Eph. 5:23). Then, in the same chapter, husbands are exhorted to love their wives as Christ loved the church (5:25), as their own flesh, as their own bodies (5:28, 29). Paul further declares that he is speaking in regard of "Christ and of the church" (5:32). This simply means that the church sustains the same relationship to Christ as the woman (or wife) does to her husband. Christians are married to Christ (Rom. 7:4); the church is the bride of Christ, (Rev. 19:7; 22:17). As in the figure of the body, Christ has but ONE body, so also is the figure of marriage, Christ has but ONE bride of wife. She should wear his name, for what would you think of a wife who would not wear her husband's name, choosing rather to wear the name of some other man? Yet, just drive around any city and notice what names you find on church buildings. Where is the name of Christ? You will find many names honoring men, or movements, or particular doctrines, but where is the name of Christ? One would think that the bride should have more respect for the husband than that! The point is that denominationalism does not honor Christ; it honors itself. In the final analysis, Christ is left out. Religious people everywhere should think about this, pray about it, forsake all practices peculiar to their own denominations and foreign to the New Testament, and unite with Christians only on the word of God only!

There are today many religious persons who have dedicated their lives to the service of Christ, who yet believe that denominationalism—sectarianism—is all right. They have not learned of the condemnation which the Scriptures place on sectarianism. In the book of Galatians, the works of the flesh are enumerated by the Holy Spirit. Three of these "works of the flesh" should merit our careful study. They are rendered by the Authorized (King James) Version as "strife, seditions, heresies," and in the American Standard Version as "factions, divisions, parties." God therefore condemns strife, factions, divisions, heresies, parties, or seditions among those who profess to follow him. These sins are labelled "works of the flesh" and, they "who practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God" (Gal. 5:21).

We should study the words "heresies" and "parties," which are born from the one Greek word haireseis. Actually, our word "heresy" is not a translation of the Greek term but only its anglicized form. There are five other occurrences of the word in the New Testament, and it is translated "sect" s-e-c-t! It is applied to the sect of the Sadducees (Acts 5:17), a particular Jewish party or group different from the sect of the Pharisees (Acts 15:5; 26:5). Paul himself, as a Jew, had been a member of the Pharisee sect. After he had become a Christian, and was establishing churches of Christ throughout the Mediterranean area, he was brought before Felix, the Roman governor, charged by the Jews with being "a mover in insurrections among the Jews throughout the world and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes" (Acts 24:5). Because Christians were different from the Jews and withdrew themselves from Jewish worship and practices, in order to follow Christ and the apostles, they were derisively and scornfully called by some, "the sect of the Nazarenes." This one use of the term is without divine approval. It never occurs again in the New Testament. God did not intend it to be used as a name for his church. When Paul came to Rome, certain Jews approached him desiring to know more about the church of Christ, saying: "For as concerning this sect, it is known to us that everywhere it is spoken against because the Christians withdrew themselves from the old Jewish worship and life. This was right, for Judaism had fulfilled its mission, and Christianity was now the way to God. However, as now it is quite obvious, there should be no sects among Christians. Factions, divisions, heresies, parties, and sects are condemned as "works of the flesh."

One who is a member of a so-called "Christian sect" is a sectarian. He who believes in propagating religious division is a sectarian, contributing to sectarianism. Sectarianism is only another word for denominationalism. Since every denomination is a "sect" in "Christendom," denominationalism is wrong.

If ever there was a time when it would have been right for people to be divided into different sects, it was when Jews and Gentiles became Christians. But did Christ plan one church for the Jews and another for the Gentiles? Indeed he did not! But rather the Scriptures teach that he "made both one" created "in himself of the two, one new man, so making peace," and reconciled "both in one body unto God through the cross" (Eph. 2:14-16). That one body is the church. It is the ONE body mentioned in Eph. 4:4. Christ has but one body. Now, friend, this is a message to me—and to you. I have no church, nor does the church belong to you. Either of us is guilty if we contribute toward division in the body of Christ. Sectarianism is unscriptural, yes, anti-scriptural. Sectarianism destroys the oneness of the church of Christ. Sectarianism is a work of the flesh. It is sinful. One cannot be a sectarian and at the same time a faithful Christian. The sectarian practices strife, divisions, heresies—all "works of the flesh." He cannot hope to escape the condemnation of the word of God—"They which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God." Remember Gal. 5:19-21.

Friends, there are some things which are as true as the Bible:

If the church of which I am a member be not the church of Christ, identical with that of which we read in the New Testament, it will be rooted up, for Jesus said: "Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up" (Matt. 15:13). Please consider this.

If all the religious denominations are churches of Christ, it is sinful for them to be divided and opposing each other.

If one church is as good as another, we are indictable for criminal waste for supporting so many unnecessary churches, to say nothing about the rivalry, prejudice and hatred that they cause.

There must be some reason for the existence of the church of which I am a member, and unless there is a scriptural reason for its existence, it cannot be justified.

If there is another church on earth in which I can serve and please God, do my duty and go to heaven when I die, then there is no scriptural reason for the existence of the one of which I am a member.

Friend, meditate upon these things, which I have, in a figure, applied to myself.

Now, permit me to say in utter humility, after contact with denominations even in Asia, and after long hours of study upon the New Testament apart from human creeds, the church of which I read is unlike denominations to be found today. And the church of which I am a member is the only one in which I can preach just what the New Testament teaches sinners to do to be saved, Christians to keep saved, and withal to worship and serve God.

It is the only church the practices of which are never questioned as to their scripturalness.

It is the only church to which all denominations can come without giving up, or leaving off, one scriptural practice to which they hold.

Earthen Vessels

Jack Morris

The gospel of Jesus Christ is a treasure in earthen vessels (2 Cor. 4:3-7). We have now reached the time and place in God's program when heavenly messengers are no longer used to reveal the will of God. In these "last days" God has spoken unto "us" by his Son (Heb. 1:1, 2). Our revelation is not partial or fragmentary but complete and final. It was confirmed and made credible by supernatural demonstrations from God, and having been confirmed no man disannuleth, or addeth thereto (Gal. 3:15). The curse of heaven will be visited upon man or angel presuming to change it in the slightest (Gal. 1:6-9). We must accept our revelation without addition or subtraction. It is the power of God unto salvation unto everyone who believes it (Rom. 1:16, 17). It is the treasure of the ages.

This "treasure" is in "earthen vessels." The oracles of God refer to man as a "vessel." Saul was a chosen "vessel" to bear the name of Christ, and Timothy was admonished to be a "vessel" unto honor, sanctified, and meet for the Master's use (Acts 9:10; 2 Tim. 2:21). Therefore, Paul declares that man made from the dust of the earth becomes an earthen vessel to carry the good news of salvation to the whole creation (2 Cor. 4:3-7; Mark 16:16).

When was the gospel committed to earthen vessels? The gospel was not to be preached until after the death and resurrection of Jesus the Christ (Luke 24:46-48). He gave the apostles the world-wide commission just prior to his ascension into heaven. The command was to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature (Mark 16:16), but before they went they were to wait. They were commanded to tarry in the city of Jerusalem for the descent of the Holy Spirit (Acts 1:3, 4), which would guide them into all truth and bring to their memory everything that he had taught them (Jno. 16:13, 14:26). The apostles were to witness to all the world but the Spirit would empower them in order that they might become competent witnesses (Acts 1:8).

The apostles waited for the Spirit until the first Pentecost after the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. On that day the Spirit descended upon them and they began to speak to the multitudes as the Spirit gave them utterance (Acts 2:4). They proclaimed the gospel with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven (1 Peter 1:12).

God completely filled earthen vessels with the gospel. They were now qualified to take it to the entire world, for it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe (1 Cor. 1:21). This gospel contained in earthen vessels was to be preached to the whole world until the end of this age (Matt. 28:18-20). The saving gospel in the hands of mortal men is the treasure of the ages.

In view of this commitment to earthen vessels the apostle asks the question, "How can they hear without a preacher?" (Rom. 10:13, 14). Obviously, it would be impossible. However, in this age of enlightenment there are those who believe that saving power can be had in some other way. They hold that salvation can be had apart from the preacher. It was therefore necessary to divinely illustrate this truth in the New Testament so that those who have honest hearts may find and embrace it.

Cornelius was a devout man who prayed to God always, yet he was an unsaved man. God sent an angel to tell him his prayers were heard (Acts 10:31). The angel instructed him to send for a preacher who would tell him words whereby he and all his house would be saved (Acts 11:13, 14). The preacher came and preached the gospel of Christ, and Cornelius and all his house were baptized into Christ (Acts 10:47, 48). Why didn't God save Cornelius through prayer? Why didn't the angel tell Cornelius what to do to be saved? Why send for a preacher? Why was it necessary for a preacher to preach the gospel to Cornelius? Why? Because this treasure is in earthen vessels! It pleased God through the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe (1 Cor. 1:21).

We read in the New Testament of a man riding alone reading from the Old Testament. He did not know of Christ and therefore could not understand the meaning of what he read (Acts 8:28-30). God knew the man's heart and arranged the circumstances so he might have an opportunity for salvation. God sent an angel to a preacher to tell him to go down to the road the man was traveling (Acts 8:26). When the preacher arrived at the road he saw the man riding along in his chariot. The Holy Spirit told the preacher to join himself to the chariot and the preacher found a willing listener.

The preacher preached unto him Jesus (Acts 8:35). When they came to a certain water the man requested baptism. Upon his confession of faith in Jesus Christ the preacher baptized him and the man went on his way rejoicing (Acts 8:35-38).

39). Why did not the angel appear to the man who needed salvation and tell him what to do instead of sending the preacher to him? Why didn't the Holy Spirit influence the man unto salvation instead of telling the preacher to join the chariot? Why did both the angel and the Holy Spirit assist the preacher in the man's salvation instead of assisting the man directly? Why did not the angel tell the man what to do? Why did not the Holy Spirit tell the man what to do? Why send for a preacher? Because the gospel treasure is in "earthen vessels." How can they hear without a preacher? (Rom. 10:13, 14). It is impossible!

Saul of Tarsus was on his way to Damascus to persecute Christians when the Lord appeared unto him in the way. Saul fell to the ground terrified and asked, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" He was instructed to go into the city and there it would be told him what to do (Acts 9:6). The Lord appeared to a preacher and told him to find Saul who was praying. When the preacher arrived he told Saul to arise and be baptized and wash away his sins calling on the name of the Lord (Acts 22:16). Here a man met the Lord face to face. He was a sinner and inquired of the Lord what he must do. He was sent to Damascus and a preacher arrived to instruct him in the way of salvation. This man asked the Lord face to face what to do. Why did not the Lord tell him? Why must he wait for a preacher? Because the gospel treasure had been committed to earthen vessels. It is impossible for man to be saved directly through heavenly intervention alone. Heavenly messengers do not carry the divine terms of pardon. The treasure is to be found where God has placed it and nowhere else. It is useless to seek for it in other places.

Christians Refrain From Worldly Living

Hoyt Bailey

Those who belong to Christ are not of the world. Jesus said of his followers, "They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world" (Jn. 17:16). Christians have been called out of the world. "Wherefore come ye out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch no unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be to you a Father, and ye shall be to me sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (2 Cor. 6:17, 18). The Christian has been delivered from darkness. The apostle said, "The Father . . . made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light; who delivered us out of the power of darkness, and translated us into the kingdom of the Son of his love; in whom we have our redemption, the forgiveness of our sins" (Col. 1:12-14).

Christians are to be fashioned contrary to the world. The scripture says, "And be not fashioned according to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is the good and acceptable and perfect will of God" (Rom. 12:2). Followers of Christ are not to become entangled with the world. Peter said, "For if, after they have escaped the defilements of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein and overcome, the last state is become worse with them than the first. For it were better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after knowing it, to turn back from the holy commandment delivered unto them" (2 Peter 2:20, 21).

Christians are not to be overcome by the world, but they are to overcome the world. John says, "I have written unto you, fathers, because ye know him who is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the evil one. Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the vainglory of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever" (1 Jn. 2:14-17).

There are certain principles by which we can determine what is worldly and what is permissible as recreation. Things forbidden by a "Thus saith the Lord are wrong. All works of the flesh are forbidden. The scripture says, "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousies, wraths, factions, divisions, parties, envyings, drunkenness, revellings, and such like; of which I forewarn you, even as I did forewarn you, that they who practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God" (Gal. 5:19-21). "Or know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived; neither fornicators nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with men, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God" (1 Cor. 6:9-10). Inasmuch as these things would keep people from inheriting the kingdom of God, they are not to be practiced by Christians. Those following the works of the flesh are of the world.

The law of the land is to be respected and obeyed, unless that law violates the law of God. Christians cannot obey God while disobeying civil law which is in harmony with the will of God. The scripture says, "Let every soul be in subjection to the higher powers: for there is no power but of God; and the power that be are ordained of God. Therefore he that resisteth the power, withstandeth the ordinance of God; and they that withstand shall receive to themselves judgment. For rulers are not a terror to the good work, but to the evil. And wouldest thou have no fear of the power? do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise from the same: for he is a minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is a minister of God, an avenger for wrath to him that doeth evil. Wherefore ye must needs be in subjection, not only because of the wrath, but also for conscience' sake. For this cause ye pay tribute also; for they are ministers of God's service, attending continually upon this very thing. Render to all their dues; custom to whom custom is due; tribute to whom tribute; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor" (Rom. 13:1-7).

Whatever is dishonest is wrong. Paul said, "Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men" (2 Cor. 8:21). Lying and deception in trading, buying, selling, and obtaining goods or property under false pretense are all wrong. The scripture says, "Let him that stole steal no more; but rather let him labor, working with his hands the thing that is good, that he may have whereof to give to him that hath need" (Eph. 4:28).

Things in-decent and dis-orderly are wrong. The apostle said, "Let all things be done decently and in order" (1 Cor. 14:40). Much of the summer wearing apparel is not modest apparel. The scripture says, "In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety . . . (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works" (1 Tim. 2:9-10).

Whatever causes the Christian to be regarded as a sinner is wrong. Things that destroy his identity as a Christian are wrong. Christians cannot partake of the works of the flesh or go places the flesh is at work, for such will cause him to be regarded as a sinner. He would destroy his identity as a Christian by partaking of the works of the flesh.

Whatever weakens his influence for good, and brings reproach on the church or himself as a Christian is wrong. Jesus said to his followers, "Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost its savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out and trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a lamp, and put it under the bushel, but on the stand; and it shineth unto all that are in the house. Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven" (Mt. 5:13-16). Paul said to Christians, "Do all things without murmurings and disputings: That ye may become blameless and harmless, children of God without blemish in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom ye are seen as lights in the world" (Phil. 2:14, 15).

A thing that is doubtful in the Christian's own mind, and is offensive to his own conscience is wrong. John said, "For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things. Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence toward God" (1 Jn. 3:20, 21). Doing things that are doubtful in one's mind is wrong. Paul said, "But he that doubteth is condemned if he eat, because he eateth not of faith; and whatsoever is not of faith is sin" (Rom. 14:23).

Anything that brings the Christian to be with evil associates or weakening influences is wrong. Paul said, "Be not deceived; evil companionships corrupt good morals. Awake to soberness righteously, and sin not; for some have no knowledge of God" (1 Cor. 15:33, 34). Again, the apostle said, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth unto his own flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth unto the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap eternal life" (Gal. 6:7, 8).

Whatever hinders Christian duties is wrong. Things that cause a Christian to miss worship are wrong. Jesus said, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness . . ." (Mt. 6:33). Business or pleasure which keeps one from doing his Christian duties become wrong. Paul said, "And the things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also. Suffer hardships with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. No soldier on service entangleth himself in the affairs of this life; that he may please him who enrolled him as a soldier" (2 Tim. 2:2-4). A soldier does not become entangled with any affairs outside of the army, neither are soldiers of Christ to become entangled with any affairs of the world.

Things that place upon the Christian an unequal yoke and put him to a disadvantage in serving the Lord are wrong. Paul said, "Be not unequally yoked with unbelievers; for what fellowship have righteousness and iniquity? or what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what portion hath a believer with an unbeliever? and what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; and God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (2 Cor. 6:14-18). Business or marriage which would place upon the Christian an unequal yoke would be wrong.

It is wrong to use things that are harmful to the mind, body or soul. "What know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price; therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Cor. 6:19, 20). The scripture says, "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil. And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Thess. 5:21-23). The apostle said, "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. Give no occasion of stumbling, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God" (1 Cor. 10:31, 32).

Things that plant evil thoughts in the heart and have a tendency to tempt and suggest evil thoughts are wrong. Solomon said, "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life. Put away from thee a froward mouth, and perverse lips put far from thee. Let thine eyes look right on, and let thine eyelids look straight before thee. Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established. Turn not to the right hand nor to the left; remove thy foot from evil" (Prov. 23:27). Again, he said, "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he" (Prov. 23:7). James says, "draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye doubleminded" (Jas. 4:8).

Things which weaken or become a stumbling block in the way of others are wrong. Paul said, "Let us not therefore judge one another any more; but judge ye this rather, that no man put a stumbling block in his brother's way, or an occasion of falling . . . It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak" (Rom. 14:13-21).

Christians are to be diligently engaged in doing the will of the Lord, and by so doing they can keep themselves unspotted from the world.

New Worker In South Waco

Palmer Wheeler

September 6th, Brother Palmer Wheeler, well known song director, singing teacher, and song writer, began full-time work with the South Waco Church of Christ in Waco, Texas. Brother Wheeler taught vocal activities at Freed-Hardeman College for two years, has spent ten years in evangelistic singing, and has conducted countless singing schools for churches throughout the South. He resides at 2706 Dutton, Waco.

The South Waco church is the "youngest" congregation in Waco having its beginning the first of March, 1950. From an initial membership of 154 it has grown to its present membership of 314. On April 6th, 1952, it completed a new $65,000 church building equipped with air-conditioning, and including 12 classrooms, nursery, and offices. Wallace Gooch, its present preacher, began working with the congregation from its inception, and reports that the church is making substantial strides in becoming one of the finest congregations in Central Texas. Since the first of this year there have been 57 additions to the congregation, including 24 baptized (others being restored to duty or placing membership). Perfect harmony and internal peace has characterized this church since its beginning, and it is blessed with a humble and capable eldership.

With the addition of Brother Wheeler to its working forces, it is believed that the congregation will enjoy an even greater growth in every way. Plans and preparations are now in operation to establish a Mexican congregation in Waco.

What Is In Thine Hand?

Ross W. Dye

Sometimes someone gets the idea that there is nothing he or she can do in the service of God. Often, when such a person is thinking, "I can't do anything in the church," at that very instant he has a great opportunity right at hand, and the ability to take advantage of it. God called Moses to lead the Israelites out of Egyptian bondage. Moses tried his best to think of an excuse for not doing it. As he complained of his inadequacy, "The Lord said unto him, What is that in thine hand? And he said, A rod" (Exdo. 4:2). While Moses belittled his ability, he had in his hand the thing he needed.

It is a sinful disposition that depreciates and despises his one talent and refuses to serve because he can't occupy the place of the three-talent man. "Who art thou that repliest against God? Shall the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?" (Rom. 9:20). The one-talent man is just as needful as the three-talent man. "For the body is not one member, but many. If the foot shall say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body? And if the ear shall say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body? If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling? But now hath God set the members every one of them in the body, as it hath pleased him" (1 Cor. 12:14-18). Let the man with little ability be a good steward of his one talent. If he serves faithfully in his lesser place of duty, he may be entrusted with a higher. Look around and see the manifold opportunities to honor God and do good unto man. You will find the means right at hand to keep busy in the Master's service. 408 N. Marshall, Oklahoma City 10, Okla.

NEW TESTAMENT LESSONS, VOL. 2, THE EPISTLES

Romans Through 2 Thessalonians in 30 Lessons

Introduction

New Testament Lessons by Granville W. Tyler, covering the entire New Testament in 92 lessons, three volumes (LIFE OF CHRIST AND ACTS, Vol. I, 32 lessons; THE EPISTLES—Rom. through 2 Thess., Vol. II, 30 lessons; EPISTLES AND REVELATION—1 Tim. through Rev., Vol. III, 30 lessons), are designed to teach, not something about the Bible, but the Bible itself. These lessons have been used by the author in mimeograph form with gratifying results.

Questions are asked that may be answered from the New Testament. Adequate space follows each question for a clear-cut answer. Answers to all questions may be found in the scripture references given at the beginning of each lesson. These lessons should (1) help to familiarize one with his New Testament, as he turns back and forth to find answers to the questions, (2) give one an over-all view, and a fair working knowledge of the New Testament.

How To Use These Lessons

1. Most effective method: Lessons should be carefully filled out by students between class periods, and answers kept clearly in mind for class recitation. Lesson sheets are removed from books (notice perforating), taken up by the teacher at the beginning of the class. The teacher should cover the lesson in class asking each question, giving each student an opportunity to explain his answer. Due credit should be given for every proper answer—even if it is not worded just as the teacher's answer. Lessons should be accurately graded by the instructor, marking each question missed, and placing the percentage made in the designated place. The graded lesson sheets should be returned promptly to the class at each successive meeting. Such a method proves challenging, interesting and profitable.

2. If the teacher sees fit: These lessons may be used as a workbook. Each lesson should be filled out carefully before class time. Lessons may be graded by the class, under the direction of the teacher, during the class discussion. By this method the books may be kept intact without removing the lessons.

What Does The Bible Say?

A CHRISTIAN IS BRAVE IN THE FACE OF PHYSICAL DANGER!

One historian said of the early church of Christ of the first century: "The Christians outthought the pagans, outlived the pagans, and out-died the pagans." Faith in God and Jesus Christ gives a Christian courage in the face of physical danger. Continuing our study of Paul in Acts 27 we find him placed aboard a ship bound for Rome. A great storm threatened the ship. Luke gives a dramatic description of the storm. The ship was lightened by casting out the wheat it carried. For fourteen days the tempest continued until the sailors despaired and tried to desert the ship. But Paul, the Christian, reassured the entire 276 persons aboard by saying: "I exhort you to be of good cheer: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, but of the ship. For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve, saying, Fear not, Paul . . ." The ship was wrecked, but all the people landed safely on the island of Melita.

Do you live in constant fear of illness or death? Do you worry about the physical harm that may come to you or your loved ones? Then listen to Jesus' advice: "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell" (Matt. 10:28). Robert Browning said: "The acknowledgement of God in Christ solves for thee all the problems in this world and out of it." One of these problems is fear of physical harm from the elements or from our fellowman. You can conquer this fear by "fearing God" and keeping his commandments.

Jesus taught his disciples this lesson when they were with him in a tempest on the sea of Galilee. They cried out: "Lord, save us: we perish." He said: "Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith?" Then he rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm (Matt. 8:26).

Great faith in God which comes from a study of his word will conquer your fears. Increase your faith by feeding on the sincere milk of the word of God. Then exercise your faith by doing Christ's will. Deny yourself and live daily in the steps of the Master. You, like Paul, will impart confidence to those around you. You, like Paul, will be used by God to glorify him. You, like Paul, can say at the end of your physical life: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day . . ." (2 Tim. 4:7). Let me appeal to you to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ as God's Son, repent of your sins, confess your faith in Christ, and be buried with him unto the forgiveness of your sins (Rom. 6:4). Then grow in faith and in love as you live the Christian life.

TOUCHING THE HEM OF THE GARMENT

"And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works . . . exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching" (Heb. 10:24, 25).

In harmony with this passage this exhortation is written. The Lord has abundantly blessed his church in the past twenty-five years. Hundreds of new churches have been started, and hundreds of gospel preachers have begun full time to preaching the gospel. A conservative estimate of the number of churches of Christ in the United States would run well over fourteen thousand with over a million members. Approximately 85 full-time workers are being supported in other countries. Millions of dollars have been put into erecting church buildings, and preaching the gospel at home via radio, television, pulpit, and the printed page. It might be easy now to sit back and take it easy. Nothing would please the devil more than for New Testament Christians to relax their vigilance and their zeal. Smug satisfaction now would defeat so much of the gain which has been made by the efforts of loyal and devoted Christians in the past quarter of a century.

God has blessed us. Great achievements have been made for the advancement of the kingdom. We have inherited a wonderful opportunity from our forefathers. But "let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall" (1 Cor. 10:12). We have not really touched the hem of the garment. We have not begun to do as much as God wants us to do. Tens of thousands of fair-minded men and women are searching for the truth in Jesus Christ if we will only bestir ourselves to reach them with it. Hundreds of new communities are desirous of having a church established in their borders. Ten thousand communities in these United States alone have no church of any kind. The Macedonian cry comes from dozens of lands like Australia, New Zealand, Sweden, Denmark, Nigeria, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, as well as Germany and Japan and many others. When you consider what God has done with a few Christians in the past twenty-five years, just envision what he can do with more than one million of us in the next twenty-five years.

If someone had told you that the church would grow by leaps and bounds since 1928, just to go back a quarter of a century, would you have been surprised? Has this remarkable growth not caught most churches and most Christians by surprise? Then, do not underestimate what God can do with us and through us in the next 25 years. If we will only remain faithful he will do wonders among us. You recall how Joshua told the people of Israel: "Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you." So, let us re-dedicate ourselves to the Lord and his cause, and he will do wonders among us. Let us not think for a moment that we have arrived, that the church has reached the climax of its growth in our time. That is what Satan would like for us to think. But God wants us to provoke one another unto love and to good works. He wants us to lift up our eyes and see the marvelous harvest of souls which is ripe. He wants us to work harder, to give more sacrificially, to encourage every good work. He wants us to pray for laborers to enter the harvest. He wants us to go about everywhere preaching the word and practicing it too. No, we have not touched the hem of the garment of what we can do to glorify God through the church. Let us re-double our efforts rather than relax in self-satisfaction!

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

THE MINISTRY OF WOMEN—(No. 2)

1. It is generally conceded that women may teach children. There has been objection to women's teaching classes of children the Bible. I have not yet heard of these same objectors' opposing women's teaching classes of children in a public school. By what authority do we permit women to teach classes of children in the various secular branches of study? The same authority that grants the permission to teach any branch of study will certainly authorize them to teach the Holy Scriptures. The fact is that God has required that the Bible be taught, but has not required that history, science, etc., be taught. The propriety of teaching these may be urged from the standpoint of their practicability and utility in the affairs of life, but not only do all these argue in favor of teaching the Scriptures, but it is expressly required by God that the Scriptures be taught. No one, surely, could think of contending that it is right for a woman to teach a class in secular history, but wrong for her to teach the class, also, the Holy Scriptures. Then, we conclude that it is right and proper for a woman to teach a class of children, or for older women to teach younger women the things required of them in the word of the Lord.

2. There is nothing so damaging to the cause of truth, perhaps, as a one-sided view of privileges, rights and duties. It is always unsafe to draw conclusions without learning the whole truth. It is not wise to reach conclusions from premises not proven nor admitted. The denominational world has stressed the matter of faith as a condition for pardon, overlooking the other conditions named that are of equal importance. We find fault with sectarianism because of its indifference to the ordinance of baptism in the plan of salvation, and contend that all conditions for salvation that are enumerated in the word of the Lord shall be regarded. When we undertake to reach a conclusion in regard to women's work in the church, we should not do so without due regard for all that is revealed in the Bible on the subject. To hear many quote Paul's language, "I suffer not a woman to teach," you would think that they did not even know that Paul also required that women teach. Why should we stress with unusual emphasis, Paul's statement, when he said, "I suffer not a woman to teach," but fail to notice, or consider, or stress the language of the same apostle when he required that women teach?

3. It is clear that women are not authorized to take general leadership in teaching. The patriarchs were men. Moses, the leader and lawgiver of Israel, was a man; the seventy elders were men; Joshua, and all the great prophets were men. Christ called the twelve apostles, and the seventy—all men—the preachers, bishops, deacons and evangelists of the

New Testament, were men, and it is clear that God intended that in every dispensation men should have the leadership, and Paul was right when he said, "I permit not a woman . . . to have dominion over a man." God did not intend that women should take the leadership in teaching, to the extent of having dominion over the man. It may be said that their method of teaching is private rather than public. However, by the term "private" it is not to be presumed, or supposed, that a woman must necessarily instruct only one at a time.

4. Much that has been said in regard to women's work in the church and the opposition that has been made to her work as a teacher among the people of God is inconsiderate, and without real foundation. Paul's prohibition against women's taking the leadership in teaching, ruling, etc., in the church, is generally observed by godly women among loyal disciples. We do not have women preachers traveling, evangelizing and baptizing people. I know of no women elders in the local congregations. Women do not direct and lead our worshipping assemblies, preside at the Lord's table, offer public prayer, lead in giving thanks for the bread and wine, etc. But we should not assume premises that do not obtain, and are inadmissible. We should not argue on the assumption that our women are not loyal and that they are presuming in the affairs of the church to become the leaders, rulers, and directors of the church where the New Testament Scriptures forbid their action.

5. For my part, it is perfectly clear to me that a woman who is a Christian, who has strong faith, who is a careful student of the Bible, who knows the word of God, and practices its requirements, is well qualified to teach. I will not pause here to argue from the many standpoints from which the matter might be considered, her suitability and qualification for the instruction of children—those of younger years, who are particularly susceptible to her influence. A woman who is capable of teaching young people the science of mathematics, certainly has the ability to teach the same young people the word of the Lord. If she has studied the word of God herself, if she reads it carefully and frequently, if she is well versed in its teaching, she is competent to teach young people over whom she may have influence, when opportunity appears, the doctrine of Christ. And she can do this without intruding into the affairs of the church in a way that she ought not. There are thousands of women, faithful, earnest and devout, who are neglecting splendid opportunities of teaching young people, and even older ones, the way of life and salvation. This is a work that is within the easy reach of godly women, and the truth may be more widely circulated and better known, by diligence along this line.

The Religious Question Hour Now Heard Over Two Stations

"The Religious Question Hour," a radio program featuring Bible answers to Bible questions, with O. J. Russell as speaker, can now be heard over most of Southern Oklahoma, North Texas, a large portion of East Texas, a part of Arkansas and a small section of Louisiana. The program originates in Longview, Texas, where it is broadcast over Radio Station KFRO, 1370 kc, and is carried over "Southeastern Oklahoma's far reaching independent station," KSEO in Durant, Oklahoma, 750 on your radio dial.

The church in Calera, Oklahoma, is supporting the program on the Durant station while the Whaley Street church in Longview, Texas, where Russell now preaches, supports the broadcast over the Longview station. Brother Russell conducted the program over the Durant station for three and one-half years while he worked with the church in Durant. Unusual interest and response was reported from a wide radius as far south as Waco, Texas; west, beyond Wichita Falls, Texas, and east into Arkansas.

The program can be heard over KFRO, Longview, Texas, at 8:45 each Sunday morning and over KSEO, Durant, Oklahoma, at 9:30 each Sunday morning. Efforts are being made to secure a better time for the Durant station.

From Nashville To Washington, D.C.

A. R. Holton

After almost 12 years of work in Nashville, Tennessee, I began work with the Sixteenth Street Church of Christ, 4801 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., on September 1. Twelve years is quite a span of time as men count time. The work at Central church in Nashville, Tennessee, a work that will demand the best of anyone. The Lord blessed us in many ways. I was only absent one Sunday in the 12 years on account of illness. This is quite a record. Nearly 1300 additions to the congregation were made during the time. Hundreds of sermons were preached over the radio, hundreds of funerals were held, hundreds of marriage ceremonies were performed, thousands of homes were visited, thousands of personal conferences were held. All of this adds up to 12 years of very hard work, but it was a joy and a pleasure never to be forgotten.

Turning now to the Washington scene, it seems that God in his providence provides us with a schooling for whatever problems he has us to face. I feel that all of my work up to now has made me better prepared to do the work in Washington, D.C. Indeed, a great door is open in this city, the capital not only of our nation but of the world itself. Washington is a key city to a great missionary effort. The Atlantic Seaboard from Georgia to Maine is a vast mission field for the churches of Christ. The church here in Washington has been able to make great growth because of the large numbers of our people who moved here from all parts of the country. The work here is harder than in the South where we have so many churches. It takes longer, but it is a work that must be done. A work that will challenge the very best. The church here in Washington is fully aware of its responsibility and I am looking forward to a very interesting ministry in this very interesting city. Let me say to all who may read this: If you have friends or relatives in Washington and would like for them to be in touch with the church, please let me have their names and addresses.

It is a continuing delight here to see the vast Army and Navy personnel that visit the church from time to time. In God's good providence, American soldiers have done more for the cause of Christ in the last 25 years than any group among us. It was the American soldier that spearheaded the cause in Germany, Italy and France. Perhaps no other situation has ever been like this before in the history of the church. Many of our Army personnel sooner or later come to Washington. This church has received these men with open arms and provides a fellowship each Sunday for them. After our regular service, each one is invited to stay for this hour of fellowship that consists of a meal prepared by the women of the church. It reminds us of similar days in the country in Texas when the church would announce "dinner on the ground." Those were great occasions. This is a permanent part of the work here.

Interesting Pamphlets Available

More and more churches of Christ are using tracts and attractive pamphlets to help preach the gospel. More people are reading than ever before. There is a decided rise in the general production of books and magazine articles on religious themes. Let us take advantage of this avenue.

Many churches are unaware of a series of pamphlets produced by the 20th Century Christian. These are designed to gain the immediate attention of the reader. There are 34 pages, Reader's Digest size, with a colored picture cover. They are available in any quantity. The price is exceedingly low in view of the quality of printing. In various tests made by some churches in tract racks these tracts are the first ones picked up by the visitor. Check this list of themes and see if the church where you worship is taking advantage of this line of gospel pamphlets:

1. Understanding the Bible; 2. God's Way of Salvation;
3. The Cross of Christ; 4. The New Testament Church; 5. Church Music; 6. Christian Stewardship; 7. Worldliness; 8. For Men in Service; 9. Making Marriage Work; 10. One Christ for One World; 11. Examples of Conversion; 12. Overcoming Sorrow.

Brethren:

This is written in behalf of Brother Gus Winter, of Casa Grande, Arizona. Brother Winter is eligible to retire on a social security allowance of about $80 monthly on January 1, 1954. He has preached and taught the gospel among the churches of Christ over a period of close to twenty years. It is his desire to get back into full-time gospel work after having been engaged in secular employment recently. He has continued to preach and teach as opportunity permitted while thus engaged. It is his desire to find an opening to fill a Bible Chair in one of our college or university centers, and feels that he is qualified to do such work, since he holds university and seminary degrees.

Since he will retire soon with a regular social security allowance, as above stated, and thus can, if necessary, provide his own housing, it would not take a large salary for him and his wife.

So far as I have had occasion to observe, I can commend Brother Winter in his character, manner of life, teaching ability, and general deportment for general preaching work. Any brethren who might be interested in contacting him for work, on or before January, 1954, may write Gus Winter, 113 North Florence Street, Casa Grande, Arizona.

C. A. Buchanan, Glen Rose, Texas, September 14: We had good services here yesterday. Over forty visitors signed our visitor's register. People come here from many places for treatments in the five sanatoriums. The church has a great opportunity. We are happy in the work.

Herbert L. Newman, 559 West Mariposa Drive, San Antonio, Texas, September 16: We continue to experience a steady growth at the West Avenue church. Two were baptized and three placed membership with us within the past two weeks. When in San Antonio, visit with us at West Avenue and Sherwood Drive.

William B. Kughn, 506 Cotton Avenue, Caruthersville, Missouri: Another precious soul came forward confessing the error of her way. The work here continues to grow. Plans are being made to lay the foundation for the new educational building.

Elbridge B. Linn, 1903 University Avenue, Austin, Texas, September 21: Yesterday the Bible School attendance was 495. We had set 500 as a goal. There were 33 to place membership and one restored. The work of the Lord at University Avenue congregation is in splendid condition.

Raymond DeSpain, Blanco, Texas, September 7: Yesterday was another good day with us here. The house was nearly full for the preaching service; one was baptized. When you are passing this way, stop by and worship with us. Blanco has a very good and pleasant group of people with which to work.

J. Loyd Rice, 400 E. 3rd St., Casa Grande, Arizona: The work here is moving along fine. Attendance is increasing. Interest is good. We are planning a meeting next month and look forward to continued growth in the household of God here. I am getting up a club of subscribers for the Firm Foundation.

Homer Putnam Reeves, 2442 W. Jefferson Blvd., Dallas, Texas, September 16: My meeting with the Lepanto, Arkansas, church resulted in six or seven baptisms and about as many restorations. The Sunset church is now enjoying the comfort and utility of her lovely new building. One was baptized; one was restored and five came by transfer on September 13.

W. A. Bradfield, Henderson, Tennessee, Last night I closed a good meeting at Oxford, Mississippi. Three were baptized and four were restored. Billy Ringgold of Clarksburg, led the singing in a splendid manner. Richard Curry is doing a fine work there. This was the first meeting in the new building and the first in Oxford in 12 years.

Joe H. Morris, Center, Kentucky, September 14: Last night Brother Roy E. Cogdill and C. M. Leneave closed one of Paducah's greatest meetings. The preaching was powerful and true. The crowds overflowed, while three were baptized. Roy Cogdill is giving the world exactly what it needs to hear. I am in what promises to be a good meeting here. Clements Street work goes well.

J. C. Murphy, Cumby, Texas, September 15: I have been preaching the past year for the congregation at Farmersville, Texas, where I formerly lived and labored with the exception of two months this summer while engaged in meetings. Brother Osby Weaver of Greenville, Texas, just closed a good meeting with six baptized, during which time a Vacation Bible School was conducted.

Monroe E. Hawley, 3413 S. Alabama Avenue, Milwaukee 7, Wisconsin, September 15: The first service of the church in Waukesha, Wisconsin, was held September 13th in the Avalon Hotel with 24 present. Billy Boyd, evangelist of Racine, preached. Five families from the church in Milwaukee provide the nucleus of the new church. Waukesha is a city of 22,000 fifteen miles west of Milwaukee. Four congregations cooperated in a series of gospel meetings conducted during July and August and the new congregation is an outgrowth of this effort. Names of members in the vicinity of Waukesha may be sent to the writer.

Clifton Rogers, 3225 Fifth Street, Port Arthur, Texas, September 15: Last Lord's day here at Procter Street a new record high of 445 in Bible School attendance was established, along with a record contribution of $1,500.00. M. Norvel Young of Lubbock brought three splendid lessons emphasizing studying the Bible in classes. The brethren here are stretching forward in a high spirit of enthusiasm and faith.

Willis G. Jernigan, 1401 Ash Street, Commerce, Texas, September 14: Nine placed membership here yesterday. The congregation is growing. The Cross Roads meeting near Grand Saline closed August 27th with five baptisms including a life long member of the Baptist denomination. B. C. Goodpasture, editor of the Gospel Advocate, will be in Commerce October 11 for our fall meeting.

Jas. A. Fry, Box 151, Jasper, Texas, September 14: I began work with the church here yesterday. Two placed membership. Brother Norman Starling, who had been with the church here for almost three years, baptized eight the last Sunday he was here. He did a fine work here, and is loved by the church. The church here maintains a daily radio broadcast, except Saturdays. The work with the Goldthwaite church was pleasant. We left with the good will of all.

R. C. Oliver, 1303 West Virginia Avenue, Parkersburg, West Virginia, September 12: On August 12 I closed a meeting at Sharpe, Ky., in which 27 were baptized and one restored. In a meeting at Hazel Dell, Ill., which closed August 28, I baptized three. On August 30, I closed my work at Thayer Street in Akron and began here last Sunday, September 6. While here I will attend school in Marietta. If you have friends whom you would like for me to visit while here, please send me their names and addresses.

Malcom P. Hinkley, 3034 E. Gage, Huntington Park, California, September 12: My family and I have just returned from a trip which took me as far north as Vancouver, B. C. In Portland, Oregon, I spoke Sunday morning for the North East congregation where Brother L. D. Webb is evangelist and head of the Columbia Bible School which has begun meeting in its new building. Two were restored. We enjoyed visits with three other congregations on our trip. This past week four have placed membership here at Huntington Park, and a new mid-week attendance record of 115 was made.

Hoyt H. Houchen, 1403 Hicks, San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 17: Since beginning work with the Highland church, 1226 Highland Boulevard, here in San Antonio, there have been eighteen additions: eight baptisms, two restorations, and eight transfers of membership. Recently two more elders were added, giving us a total of eight. The names of eleven men are now before the congregation for deacons, these to be added to the seven who are now serving. My new book, "Sermons Inside and Out," a book of sermon outlines which I am compiling, will be ready for the press soon. We are enjoying a very pleasant work here at Highland. When coming our way, visit us.

Chas. E. Parker, 711 Blackworth, Miami, Oklahoma, September 6: Two baptized into Christ during August.

A. H. Maner, 115 Castillo Avenue, San Antonio, Texas, September 15: The Grove Avenue church sent me to Front Royal, Va., for a meeting in August. They have a nice new building, a fine small membership and a good preacher in Brother Nelson Smith. While in that part of the country I preached in meetings at 25th & Noble in Anniston, Ala., and at Campbell's Spring, Ala., near Ashland. Two baptisms at Front Royal and two at Anniston. I also preached one night in Wheeling, W. Va., where I once worked. This was an enjoyable experience. Grove Avenue is in good shape and doing a big work.

John W. Hedge, 636 Kickapoo Street, Jacksonville, Texas, September 17: The meeting with the church at Canute, Oklahoma, which embraced the first and second Lord's days of September, was well attended, the interest was good, and one was baptized. My debate with Dr. Albert Garner, Baptist, is scheduled to be held at Gallatin, Texas, beginning October 12th. The debate will be held only at nights on the following dates: October 12th, 13th, 15th and 16th of the first week; and on the 19th, 20th, 22nd and 23rd of the second week. Those from distance who plan to attend will please keep these dates in mind.

V. J. Callum, North Military Street Church, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, P. O. Box 8242, O. C. 14, September 13: I am soon to close a little over three years work with the brethren here, all of which has been enjoyable and profitable for all concerned. More than 200 have been added during this period, and we have sent some 33 to begin a new congregation nearby. After October 12, my address will be Bryson, Texas. We are looking forward to working with this congregation. Recently here, we have had three restored. Anyone interested in the work may write the elders at the above address.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, September 10: On September 8th Brother James H. McBroom, a long time friend and Sister Evelyn Crunk of Nashville were joined in marriage by me at the Willow Street church of Christ in Cookeville. Sister Crunk taught Latin and French at the Hillsboro High School in Nashville and received her Master's Degree in these subjects from the University of Texas in Austin this summer. Brother McBroom preached his farewell sermon at the Green Hills church of Christ in Nashville on September 6th and is now located with the South Miami church of Christ in Florida. His home address: 6235 S. W. 69th Avenue, South Miami, Florida.

Bill McCown, Liberty, Texas, September 15: Our work with the splendid congregation in New Braunfels, Texas, came to a close Sunday, September 13th. Over three and one-half years were spent with this congregation, and we left them with a sense of loss. However, we are confident that the church there has a bright future. We have completed our move to Liberty, and are looking forward to a pleasant labor with the brethren here. Brethren T. O. Davis and T. K. Newman are elders. Robert Gordon Clement preceded me as minister for this congregation. The church building is located at the corner of Webster and Fannin Streets. When passing through our city, stop and visit with us.

Raymond Bailey, 410 Seminary, Crawfordsville, Indiana: For the past two and one-half years I have preached for the church at Huntsville, Ark., and attended the University completing my Master's degree in history. I moved here and began work with the church the first Sunday in September. I could hold some meetings next summer. Any congregation desiring a meeting next summer contact me at the above address. I can give references as to my character and preaching ability.

Sylvan Gray, Gunnison, Colorado: We are meeting at the I.O.O.F. Hall every Lord's day in Gunnison, Colorado. With the help of Brother Charles P. Poole from Michigan who was here for the summer teaching in the college we were able to get a few members together and met in his home until we were able to find a place to meet. We have about fourteen members in attendance and have some visitors. There is much to be done here as there is a distance of over two hundred miles without a church. Most of the members like myself live out from Gunnison and if we have a severe winter it will be hard to carry on the work but we will do the best we can.

G. S. Westbrook, Box 420, Bonham, Texas, September 10: Last Sunday was my first in this work, at Northside. One was restored at the morning service. I preached over the radio at 8:00 a.m., here at 10:40, taught a class at 9:45, and preached again at 6 p.m., and then drove out to a community north of here and preached again at eight o'clock. There seems to be plenty to do here. I am to be in a meeting with the Central church in Denison beginning Sunday, Sept. 20. One of our young men, Billy Barr, preached at Southside Sunday night and baptized his father and mother. Praise God for the power of his word and for men who preach it faithfully!

Shamrock Shores Church of Christ, Angora at Tavaros Streets, Dallas, Texas, September 8: In mid-November, 1952, Stanley J. Lovett began work with this congregation as regular minister. Since that time, more than 90 people have responded to the invitation. During this same period, this congregation has contributed more than $29,000. We have been able to retire in three years a mortgage that was planned to be retired in ten years. Under construction now is the new educational building that will have year-round air-conditioning. This building will be completed about November 15. When visiting in the city of Dallas, a warm welcome awaits you at this congregation.

V. A. Vick, Lovelady, Texas, September 16: On April 1, I began working with this congregation. We have a fine group of Christians here. The elders are of the very best. I was in a meeting in Roxie, Miss., the first part of July. After this Brother Conner and I worked together in a good meeting where he preaches at Weldon, Texas, near here. There were nineteen baptisms and four restorations in this meeting. From here I went to Ridge, Texas, where Brother Gimon and I worked together in that meeting. The results there were two baptized and one restored. Our meeting here with Brother Luther Blackmon resulted in one restoration and many hearing the word. We just finished a good meeting in a community near here which the Lovelady congregation sponsored. There was good interest among those who are not members of the Lord's church. Three have been baptized recently here. The glory belongs to the Lord.

V. M. Gilbert, 1913 Franklin Avenue, Des Moines, Iowa, September 7: The first six months of this year were spent in preaching which was done in Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, and Washington. I conducted four meetings in the state of Washington with several being baptized. Now in the second week of a meeting at this place. Several other congregations have been represented in attendance. Brother Joë Lemmons, the local preacher from Chillicothe, is leading our singing. A very dry season in these parts and along with the hot weather of last week, some sickness and a death has made it somewhat harder for the meeting. Expect to continue here till the night of the 13th and then begin the next night in Center Point, Iowa, then on to Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio for meetings. Hope to accomplish good for the cause of Christ.

W. T. Hamilton, 607 N. 1st, Lamesa, Texas, September 10: Last month Leroy Brownlow conducted a good meeting for us. The preaching was splendid. There were two restorations and five baptisms—all adults. We are now doing some repair work and redecorating our building. The need for this was caused by a recent tornado which did about $4,000 damage to the building. It will be like new when this work is finished. Our mission program in most places is bringing results. Brother Nagano, whom we support in Japan, baptized sixteen on a trip he made to Okinawa last month. Brother Minestroni reports two baptisms in Italy, and Don Finto reports three baptisms in Hamburg, Germany. Brother Willie Pope who preaches for the colored people here held a meeting in Alabama and reports two baptisms and seven from the Christian church there.

Frank J. Dunn, Peak and East Side Church of Christ, Dallas, Texas, September 9: My family and I recently drove 7,300 miles through the twelve western states and into the edge of Mexico and Canada, visiting eight national parks and several national monuments, such as the Petrified Forest. God is truly glorified in all the marvelous wonders he has wrought. During the time, we conducted a meeting with the El Cajon church in San Diego, Calif., where six were baptized and five restored. Fred Amick serves in a splendid way as local evangelist. We talked with brethren at Livingston, Mont., and Olympia, Wash., and worshipped at Port Angeles. It is inspiring to see the growth in the Northwest, but much remains to be done. In Montana, our third largest state, there are twenty-one congregations, with only ten full-time preachers.

F. A. Livingston, 2128 Amanda Street, Ft. Worth, Texas: This comes to say that I recently closed a fine meeting in Oakwood, Texas. There were eleven baptized and four to place membership. This was the first time that the gospel had been preached in Oakwood to the colored people. This meeting was sponsored by the white church of Christ in Oakwood. Brother A. C. Boggs, one of the elders of the white church of Christ in Haskell, Texas, recommended me to the church in Oakwood. He himself encouraged my efforts much in that meeting and also contributed to its support. Because of the lack of finance the white church there in Oakwood is not able to build a meeting house for the little church and they need one so very badly. Any brother, sister, or congregation will do well if you will send a contribution to Mr. Wade Barnett, General Delivery, Oakwood, Texas. All money sent will be acknowledged and used for erecting a meeting house for the new church.

L. E. Garner, Benton, Kentucky, September 16: Eleven were baptized and three restored in a meeting that began August 23rd and went through September 2nd. Of these that were baptized, one was a Methodist, and two were Baptists. Brother Elbert M. Young of Eldorado did the preaching in this fine meeting. Brother B. L. Trevathan, our local song leader, did a fine job leading the singing. I closed a meeting recently with the Oak Valley congregation with a husband and wife being baptized. When spending your vacation on the Kentucky Lake, worship with us.

Geo. S. Benson, Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas: I closed a meeting at Waldo, Arkansas on August 16. The Waldo church is one of the old churches in the state. That community is the scene of a great many early debates. The church has grown a great deal in Waldo during the past five years and now is housed in a nice building with good classrooms. The meeting was well attended from start to finish. The hearing was excellent. There was one restoration, no baptisms. Brother C. F. Shirey is the local minister. While he is new in Waldo, the brethren were much delighted with his work.

John T. Smith, 2521 Colgate, Lubbock, Texas, September 16: In the last month four have been baptized and five have been added by transfer of membership here with us. Recently I did the preaching in a meeting at Slaton, Texas, in which four were baptized. The church there is a good one. The attendance for the morning services never fell under 100 and reached 120 one day. Brother M. E. Blake is the new preacher with the church, and was a good helper in the meeting. My next meeting is in Lincoln, Neb., with Brother Hershel Dyer, the preacher, beginning next Lord's day. Brother Hubert Arant of Lubbock will lead and direct the singing. After this, I have meetings at Herring Avenue, Waco, and Palestine.

Roy H. Lanier, 1106 S. Dewey Street, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, September 14: I am to be with the church at Sand Springs, near Tulsa, Oklahoma, in a meeting October 18. Brethren in that area are requested to remember this date and attend as many of the services as possible. The church, as well as I, will appreciate your cooperation.

W. J. Shackelford, 323 W. Sherman, Neosho, Missouri, September 14: The church at Coffeyville, Kansas, is engaged in a 90-day gospel meeting. I preached in the fifth week of this meeting September 7-13. A substantial, well-located building was recently completed here with the help of a number of established congregations. Geo. Darling is doing a truly great work as local preacher. More men of his ability and experience are needed in this area. There is need for a strong congregation in this industrial city of 20,000, and with continuing support from other churches for a limited time, the influence of the Coffeyville congregation will be felt throughout this section of Kansas where the church is almost unknown. This church is making a real sacrifice to meet their great challenge of opportunity. I know of no other similar place holding greater promise for the immediate future providing outside help can be continued at least through next year.

Floyd Embree, 610 E. LaDeney Drive, Ontario, California, September 11: September 1 marked the end of three years labor with the church in Artesia, New Mexico, during which time about 200 were baptized. I began here September 6 and from all appearances this will be a very enjoyable work. One was baptized at the end of Ladies Bible Class last Monday evening. Brother Robert A. Waller follows me in Artesia. Brother Waller has worked with this congregation before and is loved by the community. With the eldership and membership they have, Artesia should continue to be a good work. The elders in Artesia backed me in preaching and contending for the truth. I have every reason to believe that the elders here in Ontario will do likewise.

WALLACE-KETCHERSIDE DEBATE

From October 26-30, Brother G. K. Wallace will engage W. Carl Ketcherside in debate in St. Louis. We have secured a hall at 6200 Etzel Street, St. Louis, that will seat 2,000.—STERL A. WATSON, St. Louis 14, Missouri.

Leo H. Thurston, Lutesville, Missouri, September 16: Our meeting closed September 5 with one baptism, one restoration, and one placing membership. The preaching was done in a very capable manner by Brother James J. Welker of Melber, Ky. We at Lutesville are very thankful to the church in Melber for sending Brother Welker to preach in this meeting. The church here is progressing as well as can be expected under our crowded condition for our Bible class work. We have purchased a lot, and have appealed to the churches everywhere for at least a little help on our building program, but as yet it has not been very encouraging. We will appreciate very much any offering you may be able to send us to C. E. Lincoln, Marble Hill, Mo. We feel sure the church of our Lord would move forward in a great way if we just had the facilities to handle the work that needs to be done. Let us all pray, and do something about it while we pray.

Elton S. Hughes, Box 2506, Maplewood, Louisiana, September 4: Our meeting with Merle Bryant from August 24 through September 2, resulted in five responses, three baptisms and two confessions of faults. This was considered the most successful meeting ever to be held in Maplewood. Following the meeting, four have placed membership. August 21, I baptized a lady who had been a member of the Pentecostal church for seventeen years. During the summer I have held meetings in the following places: Paul Store community, Shelby County, Texas, no responses; Logansport, La., three baptisms and two restorations; Winnsboro, La., Route 3, two baptisms and two restorations; and Tenaha, Texas, two baptisms. The church in Tenaha invited me to be with them in another gospel effort next year. We are in our third year with the Maplewood congregation. In many ways this has been a most profitable work. We are glad to announce an increase, both in interest and attendance. In a business meeting last week it was decided to enlarge our program. When visiting or traveling in this section of the state, stop in and worship with us.

Melvin J. Wise, 4216 Stanhope Avenue, Dallas, Texas, September 17: It was my pleasure to do the preaching in a meeting with the Walnut Street church in Texarkana, Texas, which closed last night. The interest was fine and the audiences grew from the very first service. Brother Loyd R. Brents is doing an excellent work with this good church. Five were baptized and several others were restored or placed membership. I promised to return for another meeting in 1957. The Lord willing, I shall begin a meeting with the church in Clarks-ville, Tennessee, on October 5th.

H. Kenneth Rhodes, Box 54, Elida, New Mexico, August 28: I took up full time work with the congregation at Elida the first Sunday in June, with plans to continue there for at least one year. At the present time, I am on my way back there, after leading the singing for three meetings in Tennessee. Brother Frank Van Dyke preached at Gates, Tennessee, and two were baptized. Brother J. A. McNutt of Memphis did the preaching at the Cairo congregation near Alamo, Tennessee, baptizing five; and Brother Ross O. Spears of Bolivar, Missouri, preached for the Maury City, Tennessee, meeting, baptizing nine and restoring one. I still have some vacant time for the next summer, and would like to book meetings to either preach or direct singing. Anyone who is interested may contact me at the above address.

WARNING!

W. T. Wheeler, Treasurer
Seventh Avenue Church of Christ,
Miami, Fla.

A Mr. and Mrs. Jacob David and six small children have appeared in at least two South Florida cities recently claiming to be members of the church from Del Rio, Texas, and appealed for help from congregations at West Palm Beach and in Miami. Approximately $100.00 was given them in the former city just before their arrival in Miami with the hard luck story and Buick Sport Roadster, badly in need of repair. Groceries, gasoline, hotel rent and cash was also given them here. After one night they checked out of hotel informing manager they were returning to Texas. Texas preacher, whom they claimed baptized them, writes: "I have no recollection of having ever met them. I have no record that would show they were baptized in Del Rio, especially during the nearly five years I was there. . . . I'm afraid you've been 'duped.' These things happen quite often." Mr. Jacob David claims to be a painter and they give their home address as Water Street, Del Rio, Texas, but also claim they are from Pampa, Texas, and California. They claimed to have driven to Miami from Jacksonville in one day but West Palm Beach brethren state they had them in a motel for a week before their arrival here.

Brethren and churches should know this!

PEACE RESTORED AT WALDRON, ARK.

Russell M. Ingalls

On August 2, 1953, the division at Waldron, Arkansas, came to an end. About eighteen months before, the congregation was divided; about half of the congregation met in a building in the rural community of Pleasant Hill.

In the early part of 1953, Brother G. B. Stroope moved to Waldron from Amarillo, Texas, and began preaching for the congregation. It was largely through his efforts that harmony has been restored.

Wednesday evening, July 29, Brethren Parsley, Granville Richmond and Gus McDaniel resigned as elders of the Waldron congregation.

JACKSONVILLE, TEXAS

John W. Hedge, Representative

I held a meeting for the church in Waldron from April 5 through 12 at which time some effort was made to restore peace. After peace was restored, I was called back for another meeting from August 19-30. Two were restored and one was baptized.

The Waldron church can look forward to rapid growth now, and if the present feeling of brotherly love and determination to move forward prevails, the church will grow rapidly.

McCLUNG MOVING TO OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLAHOMA

Fred W. McClung

Brother J. B. Kinney has resigned as minister of the Twelfth & Drexel congregation, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and has taken up the work at Lebanon, Tennessee. The congregation has grown and developed in every way during the six years that Brother Kinney has been with us. He is a diligent worker for the Lord, ever a faithful servant and is leaving with the love and affection of the entire congregation.

We feel deeply indebted to the elders of the church in Fayetteville, Arkansas, for their releasing Brother Fred W. McClung from a new two year contract, so he could begin his work as our minister on September 13th with a gospel meeting.

We are fortunate in securing the services of Brother McClung. He is well known through the brotherhood, as a builder and promoter of the Lord's cause, for his soundness, and success in revival meetings as well as local work. He worked for the good church in Anson, Texas, before going to Fayetteville, Arkansas.

We are thankful that this congregation has not been bothered with division, but is happy, loving, and peaceful.

(Signed) A. T. Belknap, S. J. Cook, R. C. Mass, Herbert Poe, Hugh D. Straughn, Ernest Warren, Rex T. Westerfield; Elders of the Church of Christ, 12th & Drexel, Oklahoma City, Okla.

DEBATE ON BIBLE CLASSES—WOMEN TEACHERS

This discussion is scheduled to be held at Littlefield, Texas. Brother Ralph Gage of Ft. Smith, Arkansas, and Norman Gipson of Grand Prairie, Texas, will be the debaters. Propositions are as follows:

"The Scriptures teach, that a local congregation may employ Bible classes in its regular program of teaching (insisting that the members attend, and inviting the world to attend); and that godly women may teach some of these classes." Affirmative, Norman Gipson; Negative, Ralph Gage.

"The Scriptures teach, that a local congregation, in its regular program of teaching the word (that is, insisting on the presence of the members, and inviting the world to attend), may employ only one group for teaching all who come to be taught by the church; and that men only may teach." Affirmative, Ralph Gage; Negative, Norman Gipson.

This discussion is scheduled for September 22-25.

B. L. White, 7404 S. E. 57th, Portland 6, Oregon: I am happy to report that we have had fifteen responses to the invitation in the eight weeks we have been with the South East Congregation in Portland, Oregon. Four adults have been baptized, two have placed membership, and nine have been restored to active duty. One who was restored also placed membership. We urgently need workers, Bible teachers, and song leaders in this great field. The harvest is indeed white, but the laborers are few. We have had eighty-two in Bible classes on Sunday morning. Our present goal is for one hundred. About one-half of our Bible Class attendance is made up of children from the neighborhood whose parents are not members of the church, and many of them do not have any religious connections whatsoever. Two of our members have left us recently. Our song leader went to A.C.C., and one of the main families has left on an extended trip south. This leaves us only six male members to carry on the great work here. The White Settlement Congregation in Ft. Worth, Texas, is helping to support us in this work. We are indeed grateful to them for this help, for without it we could not remain here. We are trying to get some more support as it is so badly needed right now. If any one is at all interested in helping to spread the gospel in this section of the nation, please let us hear from you.

J. K. Westbrook, Sidney, Texas, September 15: Through the last Sunday in August and the first Sunday in September, I did the preaching in a gospel meeting at Lloyd Mountain fourteen miles from Snyder, Texas. This was where I held my first gospel meeting several years ago. It was a joy to meet so many old time friends that I had not met from 15 to 20 years. The congregation at Lloyd Mountain is small because so many have moved away, but they have a faithful few that are continuing to meet and worship. The meeting was well attended by brethren from Snyder, Dunn, and Colorado. Young Brother Scott, whom I knew when he was a small boy, directed the song service, assisted by another young brother and they did it well. They were both from Snyder and I appreciated the presence of Brother Ted Norton and the other preacher from Snyder. On Wednesday night following the meeting I preached for the North Side church in Colorado City, Texas, and met many old time friends. What a joy to preach the gospel, meet old time friends, and to make new ones.

Frank Trayler, Chaplain (Maj.) USAF, P. O. Box 207, Boerne, Texas, September 14: A recent communication from Brother Timoteo B. Almonte, Zamboanga City, Philippine Islands, reveals the conversion of two teachers in the Zamboanga City High School. Brother Almonte baptized brethren Ricardo Baban and Cristino Agbulus. Brother Baban was formerly an Aglipayan priest, and Chaplain in the Filipino Army. Aglipayan is the independent Catholic church of the Philippines. Brother Baban has two degrees, B. S. E. and M. A., and Brother Agbulus is a graduate in Agriculture. Both desire to preach, and have preached since their conversion. Because of the nature of Brother Baban's education and experience, he will be ready to preach as soon as he is grounded in the faith, and with the desire and proper grounding of Brother Agbulus, we will have another fine preacher. Brother Almonte's three sons are each preaching some, thank God! Let us stand by the Filipino brethren with all we have!

Bill Thompson, Lufkin, Texas, September 17: Four were added recently at Fourth and Groesbeck. The new building on Union Road is completed, and the first service will be October 4, Sunday afternoon, and I am to preach the first sermon. Brethren have not secured a preacher as yet but possibly will this week. Attendance in Bible study the past two Wednesday evenings has been 206 and 205, respectively. I preached in a very fine meeting at Uvalde, August 23-30. Mack Stirman is the local preacher, having moved there recently. Brother Austin Taylor led the singing in his usual good way, and we had a wonderful time. My father, Will M. Thompson, Edmond, Okla., preached at Fourth and Groesbeck in my absence.

Book Review

"These Things Remain." By Carlyle Marney. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, Nashville, Tenn. pp. 174. 1953. $2.00.

Here are ten sermons which are singular in their nature. No volume of sermons has fallen under my eye that is as unconventional in pattern as this volume. They are highly dramatic and emotional in tempo. They must have had an unusual appeal to the congregations which heard them. Each sermon deals with the eternal verities of the gospel and are designed to strengthen conviction in a world of frustration.

"New Light from Old Lamps." By Roy Smith. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, Nashville, Tenn. pp. 252. 1953. $1.75.

This is a volume of more than 200 one-page essays based on "new light" in the use of the text of the Revised Standard Version and its parallel from the King James Version. Teachers and preachers will find this a treasure house of inspiration. Although this scribe does not agree with all the conclusions of the author, this is not to discount its value. Those who have read from the pen of Dr. Smith, will find the volume a welcome one. The teacher will find apt illustrations and new approaches to texts which heretofore were dormant. Preachers will find sermon suggestions and material. It will prove to be interesting and helpful reading on almost every page.

"The Search for the Ancient Order." By Earl West. Gospel Advocate, Nashville, Tenn., and Religious Book Service, Indianapolis, Ind. 2 Vol. Vol. 1, pp. 358; Vol. II, pp. 468. $4.50 per vol. 1949, and 1950.

Here are two volumes which are a "must" for any Bible student who is building his library on Restoration Literature. There is nothing comparable to these two volumes. The first was published by the Gospel Advocate Publishing Co. in 1949, to be followed in 1950 by Vol. II and published by the Religious Book Service of Indianapolis, Ind. The first volume begins with the restoration in 1849 and carries the story through to 1865. The second volume picks up the story in 1865 and brings it down to 1906. There will likely be a third volume which completes the story down to our present day. A preacher can ill-afford to be without these volumes. This set would make a valuable gift to your preacher.

You may order this two-volume set from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

"The Bearing of Recent Discovery on the Trustworthiness of the New Testament." By Sir William Ramsay. Baker Book House, Grand Rapids, Michigan. pp. 427. $4.50. 1953.

One of the most significant and valuable reprints of the year is this volume. No preacher or serious Bible student should be without this volume on his shelf. For many years this reviewer has searched all the old book stalls looking for the works of Sir William Ramsay. It is thrilling to know that some of his most valuable works are again available. This volume comes as an appropriate companion to his former ones, "St. Paul, the Traveler and the Roman Citizen," and "The Cities of St. Paul."

"Abilene Christian College Lectures, 1953." Firm Foundation Publishing House, Austin, Texas, pp. 210. 1953. $3.00.

For a number of years the Firm Foundation Publishing House has published the Annual Lectures given in the auditorium of Abilene Christian College. This is no exception. The title of this series of lectures is "The Church at Work." These volumes are looked forward to from year to year as a veritable treasure house of gospel materials. This scribe has the whole series on his shelves and plans to add to it from year to year. They grow better as they grow in years. Any one of the lectures is worth the price of the book. Each man did his best, each man was outstanding in his particular field of address, and the general tempo of the addresses was on an ascending order. Space forbids listing all the chapter headings, but those who heard these addresses will need but a reminder to order theirs if they have not already done so.

"Young's Literal Translation of the Holy Bible." By Robert Young. Baker Book House, Grand Rapids, Mich. $5.00. 1953.

Here is a volume long overdue, and one which has found its way on all too few shelves because of its prohibitive price. It has long been out of print, but it is now available. It brings out the shades of thought, feeling and meaning in many a passage, otherwise hidden from the student. It is a fine companion volume to his Concordance. Certainly no Bible scholar will want to be without this in his library.

For comparative purposes, this is, with other translations this is a "gem". We commend its wider range of usefulness.

Any of the above books may be ordered from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin 61, Texas.

CHASTAIN-PHILLIPS DEBATE

W. C. Phillips, of Cleveland, Tennessee, will engage Hoyt Chastain, of Malvern, Arkansas, Missionary Baptist, in a four night debate beginning October 5.

The church propositions will be discussed pro and con. The debate will be held in the auditorium of the Arnold school building. The seating capacity is 1135. This will be the first debate the church of Christ has had with the Missionary Baptists in Cleveland. We hope to make the debate a profitable one. Visiting preachers will be cared for.

DEBATE

F. I. Stanley, evangelist, Church of Christ, Midland, Texas, vs. J. Cullis Smith, preacher for Missionary Baptist Church, Ardmore, Oklahoma. Beginning September 22-25, eight o'clock each evening. Place: Southside church of Christ, 710 S. Baird, Midland, Texas. Propositions to be discussed are: Baptism and the Church. Mr. Smith is affirming that the Baptist Church is the scriptural New Testament Church of Christ as taught in the Bible. Brother Stanley affirms the same about the church of Christ.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Give Ear, O Earth

"Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth: for the Lord hath spoken" (Isa. 1:2). The prophets of Israel were deeply impressed with their message. One who speaks for God should feel the solemn responsibility that rests upon him. The destiny of those who hear him depends upon what he says. He is a wicked and unprofitable servant who would change the word of the Lord.

It is very important when God speaks. Men should listen with reverence and deep interest. When the Lord commands men to hear, it means that they should close their ears to all other voices. There is a confusion of tongues in the religious world, and it is not always easy to discern the voice of the Lord. When one wants to hear a voice on the radio, he must turn the station completely in—this makes the voice clear and shuts out other voices. Many listeners have the voice of God only half turned in, or altogether turned out. Eve listened to God with only one ear—she turned the other ear to the devil.

When God was speaking his law to the children of Israel at Mt. Sinai, the people said to Moses, "Speak thou with us, and we will hear: but let not God speak with us, lest we die" (Ex. 20:19). They had the idea that many people have—that God's law is easier to obey when spoken by man. There are people who will listen with great interest to what a preacher says, till he starts quoting the Scriptures. At this point they yawn and go to sleep. The stories, anecdotes and illustrations are fine, but the word of God is tasteless.

Man's habitual attitude toward the heavenly message should be, "Speak Lord, thy servant heareth." And man's constant prayer should be, "Have thine own way, Lord." A man said he was going over a mountain pass, when he came to a dangerous looking place his wife grabbed the steering wheel. He let loose. She said don't let go. He said two people can't drive one car. In the rough places of life men tell the Lord they want to do the driving. But the Lord cannot have his own way when man holds the steering wheel.

Do All In The Name of The Lord

In the New Testament much emphasis is placed on doing things in the name of Christ. It does no good to do the wrong thing in the name of Christ. One may sprinkle water on another in the name of Christ, and call it baptism. But it is not. In truth one cannot sprinkle another in the name of Christ, because such a thing has no authority in the New Testament. To do anything in the name of the Lord means to do it by the authority of the Lord. To say that we do it in the name of the Lord does not make it that way.

Paul says, "And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him" (Col. 3:17). Whatsoever we do in word signifies teaching. And whatsoever we do in deed signifies practice. The two should correspond to each other. Only hypocrites teach one thing and practice another thing.

The gospel requires that we believe in the name of Christ, that we confess his name, that we be baptized in his name, and that we pray and worship only in his name. Doing the right thing in the wrong name is not valid obedience. To be baptized or to pray in the name of Paul, Peter, James or John the Baptist is not obedience.

5842 Monticello, Dallas, Texas.

There Is A Difference

Hoyt Bailey

Christ differs from Satan: The idea that one thing is as good as another, or that one person is as good as another person in the religious realm is an effort to scramble truth with error, right with wrong, and good with evil. Such is an effort to place Satan on an equality with Christ, to place idol, pagan gods on a par with the true and living God, to exalt false religious systems to the same level with New Testament Christianity, and to adopt vain worship for the true worship authorized by Jesus Christ. For one to assume that it makes no difference what he believes and practices in the realm of religion is to assume that there is no difference between the true God and idol gods, to assume that there is no difference between Christ and Satan, to assume no difference between false religions and New Testament Christianity, and such accepts vain worship to be as good as true worship.

There is a difference between Christ and Satan. Jesus Christ is the Son of God, the Savior of the world, the way, the truth, and the life, the light of the world, the great Physician, the great Prophet who speaks to the people for God, the great High Priest who speaks to God for the people, the Captain of our salvation, the Lord of lords and King of kings, the Prince of peace, the mighty Counselor, the Rose of Sharon, the Lily of the valley, the good Shepherd, the Alpha and Omega, the first and the last, the bright and morning Star, "he that searcheth the reins and hearts," the bread of life, the true vine, the door of the sheep, he is the resurrection, and the life.

Satan differs from Christ, because Satan is the father of lies, the tempter, the enemy of righteousness, Beelzebub, the evil one, Belial, the adversary, the deceiver, a sinner from the beginning, a murderer, and the enemy of both God and man.

Christ and Satan differ from each other in that they offer different things and lead individuals in different directions. It is the height of folly to assume that everything done in the name of religion is directing everyone to the same destination. The ministers of Satan appear as ministers of righteousness, and through their deceivings transform themselves into angels of light. One can learn from the Scriptures that Christ gives life, but Satan leads to death. Christ gives rest, love, salvation, joy, and peace, but Satan leads persons into the way of hate, strife, grief, torment, and damnation. Christ directs one into the strait and narrow way which leads to a place prepared with many mansions, the place of eternal happiness, but Satan directs individuals into the broad way which ends in the lake burning with fire and brimstone, the place of eternal misery.

Friends of the Lord are Different from Enemies of the Lord:

The enemies of the Lord would try to present the ungodly, scornful, wicked, false prophets, hypocrites, and sinners as being on a par with children of God, heirs of God, laborers together with God, and with new creatures in Jesus Christ. The enemies of the Lord would try to hold up blind guides, deceitful workers, servants of men, servants of sin, friends of the world, enemies of God, enemies of the cross, and enemies of the Lord as being no different from servants of God, good soldiers of Jesus Christ, obedient children, a holy priesthood, a chosen generation, a holy nation, a peculiar people, the people of God. For one to think that there is no difference in what religious people believe, nor in whom they believe is equal to thinking that there is no difference between right and wrong, truth and error, good and evil, righteousness and unrighteousness, godliness and ungodliness, nor between what one believes and does in his religious life had as well think that there is no difference between the persecutors and the persecuted, nor between the lovers of pleasure and the lovers of God, neither could such persons consistently admit of any difference between idolaters and worshippers of the one, true God.

Enemies of the Lord are strangers to the Lord, adulterers and adulteresses, evil workers, children of the devil, enemies of all righteousness, covenant-breakers, unbelievers, blasphemers, unreasonable, unlearned and unstable beings. Enemies of the Lord are against the Lord, and they are against the Lord's plan of saving mankind. Friends of the Lord are with the Lord, for him, and in accord with his plan of saving man. Friends of the Lord are good stewards, the flock of God, the salt of the earth, the light of the world, his disciples, the branches, Christians.

No theology, philosophy, nor reasoning can make Christ like unto Satan, nor the friends of the Lord like unto the enemies of the Lord, nor truth like unto error, nor right like unto wrong, neither can such make the evil to be no different from the good.

It is not possible for one to be a friend of the Lord while being a friend of the devil. The fact is also true that one who is a friend of Christ, doing the will of Christ, is an enemy of the devil. Followers of Christ and followers of Satan are entirely different beings. Jesus said: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other" (Matt. 6:24).

If there can be no difference in what persons believe or do not believe, nor in what they practice or do not practice, why did the apostle say to Christians: "Be not unequally yoked with unbelievers: for what fellowship have righteousness and iniquity? Or what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what portion hath a believer with an unbeliever? And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for we are the temple of the living God; even as God said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherefore come ye out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch no unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be to you a Father, and ye shall be to me sons and daughters" (2 Cor. 6:14-18). If it makes no difference what one does or does not, then why did the Lord say: "Come ye out from among them, be ye separate, and touch no unclean thing"? If it makes no difference what one does or does not, why did the Lord instruct his followers to "deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and to live soberly and righteously and godly in this present world"? Why did the Lord say: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world? If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him" (2 Jno. 2:15).

Those In The Narrow Way Are Different From Those

In the Broad Way:

There is a difference between those in the one way, those in Jesus Christ, and those who are traveling the many ways of religion. The strait and narrow way is entered through the one door, Jesus Christ, but not by the many doors opened by men. The ones in the fold of God are in the family of God. There is but one fold, but one family of God. Such is different from the many folds directed by men. The New Testament reveals that Jesus Christ built his church, one church, not many churches. One following Christ in the strait and narrow way follows him in his church. The teaching of the New Testament concerning the one church is different from the teaching of men and the teaching of many churches. Those in the strait and narrow way follow one gospel, the gospel revealed in the New Testament. The one gospel is different from the many gospels of men. Christ taught one doctrine, not many doctrines. The doctrine of Christ is found in the New Testament, but the many doctrines of men are found outside of the New Testament. Christ has one spiritual body, not the many bodies authorized by men. Those in the strait and narrow way are different from those in the broad way, because they preach the one gospel of Christ, abide in the doctrine of Christ, and have fellowship in the one body of Christ. Subjects in the one way are directed by the words of the one Spirit, and those words are found in the New Testament. Those for Christ are different from the ones against him, because they have one hope, not many hopes; one Lord, not many lords; such are united in one faith, not many faiths; and they entered into Christ through one baptism, not many baptisms, and one God is their Father.

Those Within The Church Are Different From Those Outside:

Persons in the church of Christ are saved, called out of the world, they are in the one body, subject to Christ, reconciled to him, and they are building upon Christ as their foundation. Those outside of the church are outside of salvation, the one body of Christ, outside of the authority of Christ, outside of reconciliation, and they are apart from the immovable foundation. Those within the church have been called out of the world, they were delivered and they are to keep from the world, nor are they to be conformed to the world. They are not to accept into their conduct filthiness, nor wickedness, nor guile, nor hypocrisies, nor evil speakings, neither are Christians to follow any of the works of the flesh.

Each one in the church of Christ is to thirst after righteousness, extend mercy to the needy, retain purity in his heart.

promote peace on the basis of truth, practice love for enemies, love for truth, and to deal honestly, justly and patiently with his fellows.

Those in the church are new creatures in Jesus Christ. "For as many of you as were baptized into Christ did put on Christ." The ones baptized into Christ were raised up to walk in newness of life (Rom. 6:4). If it makes no difference on whom one believes, nor into whom one is baptized, then it would necessarily follow that one could as well believe on the devil and be baptized into the fellowship of him. Every one should know that it does make a difference on whom we believe, and it makes a difference into whom we are baptized.

Those who believe Christ, repent of sins, confess faith in Christ, and are baptized into Christ are saved from past sins, the sins are remitted, they are washed away, they are removed as far as the east is from the west, those past sins are blotted out to be remembered no more. That obedient person is a new creature in Christ Jesus. He has been delivered from darkness to light, from the power of Satan unto God, from the kingdom of darkness to the kingdom of Christ, from death in sin to life in Jesus Christ.

It does make a difference what one believes and does. Scripture says: "If then ye were raised together with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is, seated on the right hand of God. Set your mind on the things that are above, not on the things that are upon the earth . . . put on therefore, as God's elect . . . a heart of compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving each other . . . and above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfectness" (Col. 3).

The Menace Of Misinformation (No. 2)

Basil D. Shilling

1. Since the day Adam and Eve disobeyed the law and will of God concerning them by eating of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, misinformation has caused multiplied millions of men to fail and to fall short of doing the will of God concerning them. A careful reading of the book of Acts should convince anyone that misinformation caused many to reject and refuse to obey the gospel of Christ on the one hand, and that in most instances those who obeyed the gospel did so only after their minds had been cleared of misinformation. I think there is no doubt that misinformation is now causing many to fall short of obeying the gospel of Christ that they might be Christians—Christians only and only Christians. Denominationalism is undoubtedly the result of misinformation. If the fine people who are now engulfed in denominationalism could only have their minds cleared of the misinformation which has been planted there and the truth made known to them, many of them would become obedient to the gospel and become Christians only and only Christians. It should be the sincere desire of every person who knows, loves and seeks to live by the truth to do all possible to remove misinformation and plant the truth wherever the opportunity is presented. Whatever the misinformation which hinders obedience to the gospel, it should be expressly pointed out and the truth concerning the matter taught. If the doctrine believed or the thing practiced is not true—if contrary to God's will—let us tell people so plainly, frankly, kindly and sincerely, and then let us point them to the truth. Error has been preached so long that some today think contradictory statements and doctrines in the realm of religion can be true, while realizing that contradictory statements in every other realm cannot possibly be true.

2. In this article, I want to point out some misinformation about the Bible which certainly causes some to fail to obey the gospel of Christ.

Misinformation About The Bible

1. Misinformation about the divine origin of the Bible is doubtless the cause for some failing to obey the gospel. Today there are people who regard the Bible as simply the product of the mind of men—a collection of tales and folklore from the minds of imaginative men in the dark ages. This is tragic, for the individual who thus regards the Bible will certainly refuse to obey the gospel. But what is probably even more tragic is for the classrooms of tax-supported colleges and universities to be used by the teachers to ridicule the divine origin of the Bible and seek to destroy the confidence therein of our sons and daughters. Don't think that this is not being done. It is. I do not say that it is done by all teachers, for certainly it is not. But it is done by some. And if done by even one, that is too many.

1. The evidence of the divine origin of the Bible is abundant, and, when weighed by an unbiased mind, is conclusive. I shall here mention only a few points:

(1). The Bible claims to be of divine origin. It says specifically that it is not the product of the mind of man, and that it was given by inspiration of God. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God . . ." (2 Tim. 3:16). "For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (2 Peter 1:21).

(2). The unity and harmony of the Bible attest its divine origin, and prove that it could not possibly be the product of the mind of man. It is composed of sixty-six books. About forty men were used by Jehovah in the writing of it. From the writing of the first book to the writing of the last book was a period of about sixteen hundred years. But despite these facts, perfect unity and harmony mark the Bible from beginning to end. It is utterly impossible for men of any generation to produce a book under similar conditions that will likewise be characterized by perfect unity and accord. In proof, just compare a textbook on science written recently with one written fifty years ago—to say nothing of sixteen hundred years ago.

(3). The divine origin of the Bible is attested by the intimation of certain scientific facts which were not known by men for several hundred years after the last book of the Bible was written. The mention of two or three will suffice: Job, who lived hundreds of years before the birth of Christ, said concerning God: "He stretched out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing" (Job 26:7). Not until the invention of the powerful telescope a few decades ago did the astronomers learn that the heavens in the north are void of stars, while in the south, east and west there are many stars which are invisible to the naked eye. How did Job know this fact? Until just a few hundred years ago men everywhere—even the scientists—thought that the earth of necessity must be supported underneath by something. Different men had different ideas about what that something was. Today we know that the earth sits in space, unsupported beneath by anything. Now how did Job learn this fact so many hundreds of years before even the scientists learned it? As recent as the time of Christopher Columbus, men thought the earth was flat. But Isaiah seems to have known that it was not flat but round. He said concerning God: "It is he that sitteth above the circle of the earth . . ." (Isa. 40:22). How did Isaiah know the earth was round? No man of his time, nor for several hundred years later, regarded the earth as round. How did Isaiah get so far ahead of other men in knowledge?

II. Misinformation concerning the completeness of the Bible is doubtless causing many people to fail in doing the will of God. These are the people who, because they do not regard the Bible as a complete and all-sufficient guide for the religious and spiritual needs of man, and, consequently, accept the creeds, doctrines and traditions of men in addition to the Bible as the guide of their religious life. The person who accepts as the rule of his religious life any thing other, more, or in addition to the word of God will certainly fail to do the will of God and will fall short of the approval of God. This is evident from many passages on the pages of the New Testament. A single passage will be sufficient. The apostle John said: "Whosoever transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son" (2 John 9). God and Christ will not be with anyone who does not abide in the doctrine of Christ. No proof is necessary for the statement that the man who accepts the creeds, doctrines and traditions of men is not abiding in the doctrine of Christ. Such an individual is going beyond the doctrine of Christ. But when this is done, the individual parts company with God. So the only way a man can have the presence and approval of God is to abide in, or be governed, guided and directed by the teaching of Christ Jesus.

Now the Bible teaches that the Scriptures constitute a complete and all-sufficient guide for man's religious and spiritual life. The apostle Paul wrote: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (2 Tim. 3:16, 17). Note that the Scriptures furnish unto all good works. This is an assertion that the Scriptures constitute a complete and all-sufficient guide. The apostle Peter declared the same vital truth when he said: "According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us unto glory and virtue" (2 Peter 1:3). We, therefore, have no need whatsoever for the creeds, doctrines and traditions of men in connection with our spiritual and religious life. The practice thereof separates us from God and causes us to fall short of divine approval.

III. Misinformation about the proper division of the Bible is causing some to fall short of obeying the gospel of Christ. These are the people who, because of the teaching they have been given, think the laws, precepts and commandments of the Old Testament are just as valid and binding upon men today as they ever were. They seem to think that they can read God's will concerning us today on the pages of the Old Testament the same as the New Testament. But this is not true, as the following series of truths will show.

1. God has spoken to us today through Christ. "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son" (Heb. 1:1, 2).

2. The salvation of all men today depends upon obeying Christ and living by the things he taught, not upon obeying and living by the law of Moses. "Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered; and being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb. 5:8, 9). ". . . he that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son" (2 John 9). "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city" (Rev. 22:14).

3. God has made a new covenant, founded upon better promises, and different to the covenant which he made with Israel at Mt. Sinai. "But now he hath obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises. For if that first covenant had been faultless, then should not place have been sought for the second. For finding fault with them, he saith, Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah: not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt . . . In that he saith, A new covenant, he hath made the first old. Now that which decayeth and waxeth old is ready to vanish away" (Heb. 8:6-13).

Points From Proverbs

Clarence C. Gobbel

In the sixth division of the book of Proverbs, we have a good lesson taught us in the first few verses, as follows:

"My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. Do this now, my son, and deliver thyself, when thou art come into the hand of thy friend; go, humble thyself, and make sure thy friend" (1-3).

That is, when a friend, or rather a neighbor, talks you into going surety for him for a debt that he owes, and you shake hands with him as a sign that binds you to the agreement, and then you find out that you are, "snared with the words of thy mouth," the writer tells what should be done about it. It is so often true, that when one stands for another on a note for payment of a debt, the one thus helped will begin to feel less obligation thereto, himself. So, the father continues to advise the son in verse 3 by saying: "Go, humble thyself, and make sure thy friend. Give not sleep to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyelids. Deliver thyself as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler" (vs. 4, 5). So he is advising the son to continue to court the friendship of this neighbor, and keep fresh in his memory that he has not been relieved of his obligation, just because another is standing for his debt. And by being thus humble, and friendly, this friend will not allow him to have to pay the debt. It seems we can derive these points from this short excerpt:

1. Be careful about going surety for another; 2. But when you do get caught, do your best to see to it that the one you help doesn't make you pay; 3. However, I feel that we can't affirm that he is advising his son to evade payment, but to do his best to convince his friend of his own responsibility to do so.

In the next paragraph of chapter six, the writer teaches a lesson in industry, thrift, and preparedness. He says: "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise: which having no guide, overseer, or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her food in the harvest" (6: 6-8). The sluggard is here admonished to consider the ways of the little ant, that he may be wise. The same writer calls the ant, "a people not strong" (30:25). And a people they are in that they provide houses for themselves, and they have their own towns, cities, and public roads, as civilized colonies of people. They work hard through spring, summer and autumn that they might have the privilege of sleeping through the winter. They do not, we are told, lay up these foods for winter consumption, for they sleep and do not eat through the winter. But they do provide for the time they are at work to sustain themselves and their young.

So the lazy, indolent man should learn a lesson from the small ant, for if he continues to sleep away his time, "So shall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man" (v. 11). One who is ever on the move, never settled anywhere, is usually in want, and poverty will strike with irresistible fury (as an armed man). Adam Clarke states that the Vulgate, Septuagint, and Arabic versions have added to this verse: "But if thou wilt be diligent, thy harvest shall be a fountain; and poverty shall flee far away from thee."

Before leaving the above thoughts, let us notice what the writer has to say farther along this line, in chapter 30, beginning with verse 24: "There be four things which are little upon the earth, but they are exceeding wise."

1. "The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer." Though these insects are "a people not strong," there is something about them to be commended, and that is, they are industrious, and foresighted. Not only for the age in which this was written, but in this Christian dispensation can we learn a lesson of worth from the ants. The ant teaches us the lesson that there is a TIME to do our work, and that is NOW, in this present life. While we are in the summer time of life, we are obligated to put forth every effort necessary to prepare for the life to come. Jesus said: "I must work the works of him that sent me while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work" (Jno. 9:4). Since such was true in the life and work of our Lord, it is even the more true in regard to our duty here. I can't work in the past, such opportunities are forever past; I can't work in the future, for it is not mine to claim, so I can only work NOW, at this very second. That's the only time I have. We can look back with regrets over moments lost, we can hope for the best in the future, but we can take advantage of the golden moments of the present.

2. "The conies are but a feeble folk, yet they make their houses in the rocks." The conies are small animals similar to the rabbits, and are "but a feeble folk," yet there is something about them which he commends. They have a certain place to build their homes, so as to try to escape the ravages of man. Just as the ant teaches the lesson of industry, and thrift, so the cony teaches us that we should do our work in the right place, where proper credit will be received therefor.

Some people labor under the delusion that it makes no difference whether in the church or not, they may live, and labor acceptably outside thereof, and their work be just as surely rewarded. Friends, if that is true, then Christ died in vain. For if one can live outside of the church, and find salvation, and all spiritual blessings, then they are found outside Christ. But we are told that, "All spiritual blessings are in heavenly places IN CHRIST" (Eph. 1:3). Since that is true, and Christ is the head of the body, his church (Col. 1:18, 24) then those blessings are in his church. If we do not claim those spiritual blessings by coming into Christ, and thus working for him in his body, the church, then we must conclude that we are working for the wrong one, the other spiritual leader, Satan, the arch-enemy of all righteousness. We can see then that it does make a definite difference whether we work in Christ, or whether we remain in the world, and work for him who rewards with everlasting separation from the presence of the Lord, and the glory of his power (See 2 Thess. 1:7-9).

3. "The locusts have no king, yet go forth all of them by bands." The locusts, another insect, though they recognize no king over them, have a commendable trait also: they "go forth all of them by bands." When you see the grasshopper, similar to the locusts, accomplish their intended destruction of crops, they go forth in great droves, or bands. Cooperation is practiced by them. So it must be with the people of God today. When cooperation of every member in a congregation is evident, we can accomplish about anything and everything we set our minds upon. And throughout the world, to the extent that we all speak, and act in unity having one mind centered upon the saving of the lost through preaching the word to those in darkness, it will be true according to the words of the prophet: "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea" (Isa. 11:9).

4. "The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings' palaces." The spider is a small insect that is not wanted in our homes, but when her nest, or web is destroyed, she is determined to rebuild if she isn't destroyed. She is industrious, and determined to pursue her work until it has been done. So she teaches us determination, and perseverance in all we do to the honor and glory of our Maker. Wherever she may be, in the smallest hovel, or in kings' palaces, her tenacity is ever the same. And regardless of whether we receive fame and honor for what we accomplish, we should be determined to do God's will in our lifetime, to his eternal glory.

Houston Bible School is to begin operation on September 8. Upon invitation of the board of trustees I have accepted the responsibility of president. Our program contemplates offering kindergarten thru junior college. We are beginning this year with kindergarten through the 7th grade. Brother Clovis Crawford, formerly with Harding elementary schools and the schools at Valdosta and Stinnett Settlement is principal. We have two elementary schools, one in the north side and one in the south side of Houston. We intend to add a grade a year, and junior college as soon as possible.

We have completed the purchase of the property of Berry Foundation School at 2950 South Broadway for our south side school. The property includes one large log building with an auditorium thirty-five by seventy-five feet, and plenty of classrooms and other facilities. The setting is a beautifully wooded tract and is about ideal in every way. At this writing we still have need for two or three teachers. Interested teachers should contact me at once.

Here are some of the reasons why I accepted this work:

Because Christian parents, being responsible for their children, may select the type of school which they believe to be best. Since public schools cannot give spiritual training they are unable to fulfil their aim, "To educate the whole child."

Because I am in sympathy with the developing pattern in Christian education. This, I believe, means a great number of schools, elementary through junior college, located within reach of as many of our children and young people as possible. With our larger colleges offering graduate work, they, and we, can offer services not offered by the other.

Because I believe that the elementary and secondary schools will thus reach a great many families not yet touched, and will reach them during the most impressionable years.

Because that, in spite of many fine Christian teachers in the public schools, the present materialistic, modernistic philosophy of current education tends to rob our children of their faith.

Because that, even prior to my preaching work, I was for many years active as a professional educator with children and youth.

Because Houston Bible School does not accept support from churches nor does it dominate churches.

Because approximately fifty churches of Christ in Greater Houston can do a splendid work.

What Does The Bible Say?

THERE IS A UNIVERSAL SENSE OF JUSTICE

Animals do not debate or argue or quarrel. They fight. Man can quarrel because he acknowledges a common standard of right and wrong. Children as well as college graduates sense that it is wrong to break a promise. This universal sense of justice, varying as it does with diverse cultures, is a most convincing evidence that man "is made in the image of God."

Continuing our study of Paul's trip to Rome we find him shipwrecked on the island of Melita or Malta. He was bitten by a viper. When the "barbarians" saw this venomous creature hanging on Paul's hand they said: "No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance suffereth not to live" (Acts 28:4). Of course they were mistaken in their judgment of Paul, but they had an idea of a moral retribution which was beyond the courts or laws of men.

This "conscience" is found in the moral codes of the ancient Babylonians, the Hindus, the Chinese, the Greeks, or the native Indians of America. When you hear someone say: "It's not fair" or "It's not right" you are witnessing an expression of this universal sense of justice or fairness. This moral law which is written in the hearts of men bears witness to the creator and to the divine law of the universe. Of course this "conscience" is not a sufficient guide itself. "Conscience" is subject to education.

Therefore we must study the revelation of God in Jesus Christ to know what is right and wrong. Don't ever violate your conscience, but educate it by the word of God. But every time you are "conscience stricken" you can take that as evidence that you are a living soul, a man "made in the image of God," not just an animal driven by blind instinct. Since you are an immortal personality, you should be giving first place to your spiritual welfare. "What shall a man be profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul," Jesus asked?

CONSIDER CHRIST IN YOUR LOCATION

Commencement sermons often include an appeal for the young graduates to consider Christ in their vocation. There is no doubt about the fact that certain young men can serve Christ better as gospel preachers or as teachers or doctors than as ditch diggers, even though digging ditches is a very honorable work. So every child should be taught to carefully and prayerfully decide in what line of work he can best serve Christ. That should be the deciding factor.

But let us carry this a bit further. How about considering Christ in your location? Are you living where you can do the most good for the kingdom? Have you ever thought of moving to the town or city or country where you honestly believe you can do more for the church of the Lord than where you now live?

Recently two couples in our city have made plans to move to the new Levittown, Pennsylvania city. They are young and equipped to work in the same profession at Levittown as here. They have carefully considered the matter, not simply from the standpoint of where they would enjoy living most, but from the standpoint of where they can do the most good. Should Christians move to a community primarily because of its comfortable living conditions or favorable climate or its economic opportunities? Of course, other things being equal, these will naturally play their part. But the primary consideration in where you live should be the cause of Christ.

Today, the church is hindered in its growth because there is a severe shortage of gospel preachers. Then too, there is a shortage of churches willing to sacrifice to send gospel preachers. Of course if every Christian gave more than one-tenth of his income to the Lord, there would be a vast amount of money available to support the preaching of the gospel in every nation. But while more young men are preparing to preach the gospel and while Christians are learning to give more generously, why should not more young couples who are able to earn their living move to communities where the church is weak or where no Christians are assembling for worship after the New Testament order. This is being done on a small scale, but why not on a large scale?

There are 10,000 communities in the United States with no church of any kind meeting. May we challenge those who read this message to move with several of their friends to such a town or city and start the church or build it up. Eternity alone could tell the good which could be accomplished. Don't take your present location for granted. Would you consider moving to another community if you were promised twice your present salary? Then why not consider moving if you can do twice as much good for the Lord you serve. Prayerfully consider Christ in your location!

RESPONSIBILITIES

There are certain burdens which must be borne. We cannot throw them off and meet the approval of God. Paul declared: "Every man shall bear his own burden," meaning his own responsibilities. Others may render aid in some matters, but none can perform the work that is required of another in the kingdom of God. A few observations may be helpful.

1. As a part of his vow of allegiance to Christ every true disciple of the Lord is under moral obligation to reflect in his daily life the character of Christ. He has certified to the world that he is Christ's disciple and that he is imitating the Master. His deportment, then, as long as he professes to be of Christ, the Lord, is being held out to the world as the deportment which the Lord approves. To fall far short of moral perfection is to bring serious reflection upon the precious name of Christ. Not for his own sake alone but for the general good of the common cause every disciple must conduct himself so that his manner of life is above reproach. If he is engaged in business his dealings with men must exhibit honesty that cannot be called in question, and that may cause wicked men to be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of him. He cannot afford to divide his activities into "religious" and "secular." Christ did no such thing. All that one does as a servant of Christ must be done as spiritual service to the Lord and not to men. Whatsoever one does in word or deed should be done to the glory of God. Christ's followers who are farmers are under obligation to be religious farmers. They have no license from heaven to be "secular" farmers. So in all the avocations of life, Christ must be first, last, and all the time. He must be put on as an investment for daily wear. "Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your spiritual service."

2. It is not man's whole duty to keep himself in the path of rectitude. It is, indeed, well to walk in the narrow way. But to save one's self is not the total of human responsibility. Paul wrote to Timothy that in doing certain things he would save himself and those who heard him. Every person who has been turned to Christ has an obligation that reaches out to others who have not yet yielded to the love of Christ and the power of the truth. Upon the dispersion of the church at Jerusalem, those who were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word. They did not class the work of some of them as "secular," and the work of others as "spiritual." The idea of "clergy" and "laity" was unknown to these early Christians. It was a later arrangement and classification. They were all religious people, all filled with love of the truth and all alike consecrated to God. Every Christian today is under a solemn obligation to seek out and save the lost. It is the work for everyone. And not till individual Christians wake to a realization of their personal responsibilities before God will the success attend the ministry of the word that should be realized.

3. Every congregation of disciples is under obligation, as a body of believers to hold forth the light of truth and to carry the news of salvation ever onward. It is well to meet on the first day of the week but this does not fill up the measure of responsibility. From them as a center should radiate the influence of gospel truth. From Jerusalem, in Palestine, went forth the message of truth into all Judea and Samaria and throughout the length and breadth of Syria. At Antioch, in one of the northern provinces, the gospel was preached and a church was established. From this congregation went forth Paul and Barnabas, and later Silas to the great missionary tours of Asia Minor and eastern Europe. As people obeyed the Lord in the western fields, they were taught by inspired men to sound out the word of truth in still other fields. And thus was executed the great commission to preach the gospel in the whole world. They had no missionary societies, home or foreign, other than the local congregation in which capacity as an organized body alone they moved.

4. There are now many thousands of congregations scattered in various parts of the world. Every one should be a fountain from which pours forth the water of life to save the perishing. It is one of the remarkable things that many thousands of the unsaved are not hearing—multitudes have never heard—the gospel of Christ. The significance of this is still more appalling when we consider that many of these lost one are in easy reach of "loyal" congregations of the disciples. There seems to be a feeling of self-sufficiency and apathy among us. It matters not with the average Christian and the average church that our near neighbors have never heard the gospel. A meeting house is built and it serves as a place to go on Sunday and gain the ease of conscience that prevents a professed Christian's feeling bad if he is not at the breaking of bread. If the rest of the people do not come all right, and if they are never obedient, little anxiety is felt. But there is a grave responsibility somewhere. Reader, is it at your door? There will come a day of reckoning. How many of us are ready for the examination that will determine whether we are chargeable with a neglect that has allowed souls to go down to eternal night, without having even heard the gospel? How many churches are holding mission meetings in nearby neighborhoods this summer? How many are expending ten dollars or a hundred dollars in good gospel tracts and leaflets to give the message of truth a general circulation in the country? Let us think quickly and act promptly. The night comes soon when this opportunity for serving the Master will pass forever.

Report On The Gipson-Gage Debate

L. W. Hayhurst

This debate was held at Littlefield, Texas, September 22-25, 1953, and was interesting in several respects. It was attended by very large crowds, good order and feeling prevailed, and it was the most recorded discussion that I have attended. It was observed that the first night those represented by Brother Gage sang with us, but the next night it must have gotten over to them that they were fellowshiping us, for they were seen to be abstaining. But when they got into the lead we sang with them, and thus we had fellowship!

Brother Gipson very ably presented evidences for the class system by proving each part separately. From Mark 7:17 he proved that Jesus taught some disciples away from the multitude. From Acts 5:42 he argued that the disciples taught simultaneously, since it was done in the temple and that from house to house they ceased not to teach. From Titus 2:3-5 he proved that women are to teach, and that since they don't do it from the pulpit, that it must be in a group aside from others. In this way he went through all the parts, proving each one by the Bible. We then concluded it is scriptural to do all the things that we do, that these things done in one meeting are scriptural, that if all the parts are scriptural, Bible classes are scriptural, that they line up with the Scriptures.

Brother Gage attacked the argument on three scores:

1. He said that the chart did not look like the proposition. But when he got to affirming he was reminded that his chart did not look any more like his propositions, for he proved "The Assembly" by 13 passages taken from different places.

2. He tried to parallel the evidence for missionary societies and instruments of music in worship. But he was reminded that there is no command to PLAY; and we have no OUTSIDE institutions.

3. He misrepresented Norman by saying that he would read such passages as Acts 5:42, and saying that Brother Gipson had read it and said, "Here it is. Here is the Sunday school." Then he would take some other proof text and claim that he had argued that here it is, etc. Truth is, Brother Gipson had said that this passage proves one part; this other passage, etc. Nor did Gage cease this misrepresentation after his attention had been called to it.

For the most part the debate was about as others. But in two respects it was different:

1. Brother Gipson handed them 25 questions on 1 Cor. 14 asking them to indicate if they agreed with him. On most of these there were only partial differences, if any. In this there was an evident effort to agree as far as is possible. It was demonstrated that it is easier to differ over that chapter from long distance than up close to it. Brother Gipson pointed out the fact that we use "the assembly" as much as they do, that we believe every passage referring to it. But he showed that this fact does not prevent our having Bible classes when we are not in that assembly; that is, after "church" is dismissed. Brother Gage hung up a chart on women, showing that they may teach privately, informally, etc. Norman told us that the chart was only a theory with those who opposed Bible classes, that whenever the women get to teaching any group anywhere, that they will be stopped. I predict that Gage will regret that little chart.

2. Brother Gage admits a field of liberty. This, after so applying Jas. 1:25, Col. 3:17; Isa. 8:20; Jer. 10:23, etc., as to prohibit the details of our teaching program. The difference here was that Brother Gage claimed to have no authority for building church houses, teaching singing schools, etc., while Brother Gipson claims that the field of liberty is authorized by being included in the command, that the command authorizes details for carrying it out. Brother Gage says that a church house is neither scriptural nor unscriptural. Norman presented a chart indicating that a command comprehends a field of human judgment, and that this field is limited. He showed that the command to "commit to faithful men" comprehends a time, place, arrangements, etc. Brother Gage came on to put baptism on the chart, and to agree that a place had to be selected. Norman proceeded to show that unless some place was selected there would be no baptizing; and so with other commands, such as "teach."

Future discussions will be built around this idea, and when they are, brethren will get closer together, for they will discover that they are withdrawing from us because we choose details, which right they assume for themselves.

South Portland Church To New Location

Charles Chandler, Howard Mitchell

The church, formerly meeting at 159 Sawyer Street, South Portland, Maine, begins meeting October 4th in the Community Building at the corner of Evans and Nutter Streets, South Portland. Arrangements have been made with the City Council of South Portland to use a part of this former school building.

This will be a great step forward in the growth of this two-year-old congregation. It has been meeting since its beginning in a rented hall, which is used for various entertainment purposes, dances being held each Saturday night. Although the hall was as clean as possible, many posters and signs for various groups using the hall hung on the walls during the worship periods and distracted greatly.

The new location will provide a large room for worship adequate for our use for some time to come with additional classroom space. We will be the only group to use the room and can arrange it as we see fit. But the greatest blessing comes in the location being only about a block from the lots recently purchased by the church here on which to construct a house of worship as soon as funds are available. We will be the only religious body meeting within a radius of one and one-half miles in any direction. Two large housing projects exist in the immediate neighborhood with many children who have no place to go to Bible school and church, as many parents fail to take them. We are now making plans for our first vacation Bible school for next June, and believe we will enroll 75 to 100 at least.

A gospel meeting has just concluded here in South Portland in which Brother Alvis Bryan, formerly of Lubbock, Texas, and now of Barre, Vermont, preached for us September 13-18 and Brother Russell Gleaves of Brunswick, Maine, preached the 19th and 20th, making an eight-day meeting. The preaching of the word was excellent. The average attendance was about 27, contrasting an average of about 15 during a meeting a year ago.

We are thankful to God for such among us as the Mitchells, who drove over 100 miles each evening to be present for the meeting; for the Ranks, who drove more than 40 miles each evening; and the Betts who drove about 50 miles several times; and Brother Stults who sacrificed a night's sleep and rode the train 270 miles for one service—these to assemble with the saints of God for worship—yes, all these and others because they love the Lord. This is the kind of people the Lord has here. Great is their faith.

One soul is to be baptized soon, the wife of our song director, which will unite a family in Christ, and will make the number of faithful members rise to 19. The Lord is surely blessing us, but there is so much more to be done, if only the means were available. We need a building so badly. Until we have one, we continue to be looked upon as "transcients" or "Holy Rollers," just as was the case through the South 25 to 50 years ago. Will you "come over into New England and help us?"

Box 1754, Portland, Maine.

C. B. Glasgow, Blum, Texas, September 22: I preached to a large crowd at Grub Hill Sunday and made special announcement for the Firm Foundation and urged each family to send in at least one year's subscription so that they could have one of the best papers published come into their home every week. I've been reading it since 1908.

W. S. Wiley, 503 E. Hulsache, Kingsville, Texas, September 24: During the last two weeks we have baptized two and one has placed membership here. Fifty-two members of the church registered as students for the fall semester in A. & I. College. We hope to have a goodly number of them in regular attendance at all services. L. R. Wilson begins our fall meeting October 18.

Joseph H. Cox, 4422 Preston Highway, Louisville 13, Kentucky, August 31: Rufus Clifford has just recently closed a very successful meeting here at Preston Highway. Clifford drew the largest crowds that have ever assembled in this building. The kind of preaching done in this meeting is needed everywhere. Two came by transfer of membership, one was baptized, and the church was greatly edified.

Cleon Lyles, Little Rock, Arkansas, September 28: Seven have been baptized and eleven placed membership the past few weeks at the downtown church (Sixth and Izard). Our fiscal year will begin next Sunday. Our new budget calls for $1600 per week. We have most of the amount promised and expect to exceed it. We will begin our ninth year with this church the first of November. The Lord has blessed our labors together.

Buford Holt, 1621 Mitchell Street, Humboldt, Tennessee, September 25: Three baptized September 16. Our meeting started September 20th with Tommy Nicks directing the song service and George Tipps doing the preaching. Two baptized and two restored during the meeting. A couple returned to Humboldt and will again worship with us. We are having fine singing and preaching and large attendance for the meeting.

H. H. Dunn, Huntington, Arkansas, September 24: Closed a ten-night meeting in Dardenelle, Arkansas, Sunday night. One was baptized and six restored. Begin tomorrow night in Lamar, Colorado.

Ross W. Dye, 408 N. Marshall Oklahoma City 10, Oklahoma, September 28: Horace Busby closed a meeting here yesterday with six baptized, eight restored and one identified. The past three Lord's days have seen three consecutive new records in Bible School. I shall begin October 18th at Northside, Fort Worth.

Reeder Oldham, Box 26, Gainesboro, Tennessee, September 19: B. C. Goodpasture held us a fine meeting. Six were baptized and four were restored. He has been asked to return in 1955. Bob Plunket ably led the singing. Nine were baptized, seven were restored, most of whom were during meetings at Burrstown, New Salem, and Sugar Creek."

Malcom P. Hinckley, 3034 E. Gage, Huntington Park, California, September 18: This past week the congregation here has made three new records. We reached 115 on Wednesday night, 154 on Sunday night, and 43 in ladies' Bible class. Other services have been at near-record levels also. Three more have become identified with the work here during the week, one by baptism, one by restoration from the Christian Church, and one by placing membership.

G. S. Westbrook, Box 420, Bonham, Texas, September 21: Two were restored yesterday morning and two were identified last night. I began my part of a meeting at Central in Denison last night with excellent attendance. The work at Northside in Bonham is off to a good start. Interest seems pretty good and we believe Bible school attendance will pick up despite the fact that several families have moved away recently.

J. D. Rothwell, 1004 El Sereno Drive, Bakersfield, California, September 21: We enjoyed a fine meeting with the 16th Street and Florida church in Chickasha, Oklahoma, September 3-13 in which three were baptized and one was restored from the Christian Church. Brother T. B. Underwood, Jr., is the efficient local evangelist. I will be with the Mabel & Santa Rita church in Tucson, Arizona, October 5-14. Work at Central, this city, goes forward in a fine way.

W. Earl Mansur, 241 E. Arlight, Monterey Park, California, September 21: Three were baptized and two identified yesterday, making a total of seven baptisms, four restorations and seven identifications in the past few weeks. The church in Montebello has made rapid growth since moving into the new building at 536 N. Poplar. Recently we conducted an eight-day meeting with local forces. If you pass through this area worship with us or if you have friends here who need to be contacted, let us know.

Fred L. Yeats, Route 1, Wilson, Texas, September 23: The brethren at Arch, New Mexico, closed a very successful meeting a week ago last night, in which I did the preaching. One very fine young man was baptized, and we believe the church was greatly strengthened. To God be all the glory. Two more confessed sins of neglect here Sunday. We have now had two baptisms and four confessions of sins since our meeting closed a month ago tonight. We take courage and press the fight. Pray for us.

P. D. Wilmeth, 808 Hamvas Lane, Tyler, Texas, September 27: Brother Elbridge Linn of Austin begins our gospel meeting here October 18-25. All in this area are invited to attend. The East Texas preachers will be guests for their first meeting October 5, at the Glenwood church of Christ. Brother Weldon Bennett is scheduled to speak to the group at eleven o'clock on the work in Germany. The writer begins with the Southside church in Austin November 1-8. Our work is growing here with substantial growth. When in our city, worship with us at Glenwood.

Murphy D. Phillips, 900—Second Avenue, Lake Charles, Louisiana: We moved here to work with the brethren in spreading the gospel, July 19th. It seems that the Lord has given us an open door. In less than two months, we have had fifty-eight to respond to the invitation. Thirty-one of these came during the meeting that Brother Tom Warren of Fort Worth, Texas, conducted here. We planned for this meeting, with daily prayer and with extensive advertizement. We plan to build a new, and a much needed building soon. Pray for our efforts here.

Wayne Hargrove, 5317 South Park Blvd., Houston, Texas, September 14: The MacGregor Park congregation moved into its new classroom addition yesterday. We had 394 in Bible classes, 477 in our two morning worship services, and 219 at evening service (with about twenty young people visiting another congregation in the city). Our membership now is 320. There have been sixteen invitation responses during the first two weeks of September: four baptisms, nine to place membership, and three to confess wrongs. Visit with us when you are in Houston.

E. R. Harper, Abilene, Texas, September 26: September has been a wonderful month for us at Highland. A record in Bible classes, 787; the first Sunday $8,438.00 contribution; a great number added to our local congregation; chairs in both auditoriums; discussing plans for a possible auditorium that will seat 1500 people and to convert our present building into an educational building. I am now in a good meeting at Breckenridge, Texas, and will be with the church in Henderson, Tennessee, the last two weeks in October. This will be my third meeting with this fine church.

D. H. Perkins, Denver, Colorado, September 23: Here at the South Denver church our attendance has broken all past records during the summer months. We had a very good Vacation Bible School in August which was beyond our highest hopes in attendance and interest. A man eighty-four years of age who has been a deacon in the Baptist church, and a very diligent student of the Bible for many years, attended; and since the school, has been baptized into Christ, and now seems very happy to be in the Lord's church. On October 6, I shall begin a gospel meeting with the church in Coweta, Oklahoma. This will be my fifth meeting there.

Loyd L. Smith, Lawton, Oklahoma, September 15: In August I held a meeting at Tularosa, New Mexico. Tularosa is a few miles north of Alomogordo, and has about three thousand people, most of whom are of Spanish descent and are Roman Catholic. The section is a good country, and many people are moving in because of the White Sands Proving Grounds, mining, agriculture, etc. We have a congregation of about thirty people in Tularosa. Lloyd Bailey, a postal employee of Alomogordo, preaches for them. They own a neat building, well located, that is adequate for the present. They are at peace, and would form an excellent nucleus around which to build a larger congregation. They need a full time preacher, and asked me to help locate one. I have been unable to find one. Also, they will need financial help. So they need a congregation that will help them get and keep a preacher. It is close to Texas and Oklahoma, and a congregation could keep in close touch with it. A good man living and working there all the time could accomplish much. If you are interested in helping in this work, contact the congregation in Tularosa, or, if you prefer, write to me.

Winstead O. Cooper, Nocona, Texas: A recent report of contributions and disbursements of the church at Saint Jo, for the first part of this year is better than it has been at any time I have worked with this church nine years this past August. The church has contributed to two radio programs, mission work in the states and out of the states, three orphan homes, old folks home, and some in the local town who were in need. Most of these contributions are on the regular monthly basis. We have had an increase in interest and attendance the last few weeks, and some added to the local congregation by baptism and transfer of membership.

C. E. McGaughey, 2407 W. Lincoln, Springfield, Missouri, September 24: At Clinton, Oklahoma, worked with E. E. Myers, who has just moved there from Odessa, Texas. Five were baptized and fifteen restored. Prospects are bright for the church there. The Tuckerman, Arkansas, meeting, where our son, Don, labors resulted in five baptisms and seven restorations. All were grown people, one man was 72 years old. Am now with the College Street church in Lebanon, Tennessee, and J. B. Kinney, who recently moved here from Oklahoma City. Attendance is good and interest increasing daily. Go next to Mayfield, Kentucky, October 2-11, and then to Detroit, Strathmore congregation, October 18-25.

Herbert L. Newman, 559 West Mariposa Drive, San Antonio, Texas, September 21: Sunday was another good day at the West Avenue church. We had 280 in Bible school, a total of 342 in attendance for the two morning services, and a very large Sunday evening audience. One was baptized and three placed membership. The West Avenue church will be three years old on October 18. The Highland and West Avenue congregations are conducting a radio program every Sunday morning on KMAC, 630 kc., from 8:15 to 8:30. We have reason to think that KMAC has the largest daylight coverage of any San Antonio station, and we hope to do much good as a result of this radio work.

Richard Robbins, Menard, Texas: We completed our first year's work with the Menard brethren in August. We found the brethren rather inactive when we moved here but the faithful few were anxious to do better. The building needed repairing badly. With almost $1,000 in the building fund we raised another thousand in a few months and borrowed another $3,000 to completely remodel and enlarge the building. During the building we raised about $600 more and contributed several hundred dollars of labor. Our attendance for Sunday morning worship has almost doubled, and attendance for Bible study has more than doubled. Contributions have increased from near $40.00 per Sunday to near $85.00. Seven have been baptized, seven restored and five have placed membership with us. Our active membership now numbers about seventy. Some believe the work here the most promising that it has been in several years. We hope that "the walls have been rebuilt" and much good can be accomplished in this difficult field.

V. C. Turner, 209 S. W. 3rd, Bethany, Oklahoma, September 20: Two baptisms and two placed membership here the past two weeks. Our Vacation Bible School (August 17-21) had an enrollment of 222, with a daily attendance average of 164. The last two days of the school more than 180 were present. Our fall meeting begins September 27 with Brother Virgil Cullum doing the preaching. The work in Bethany is most encouraging as it is definitely on an upgrade.

Stoy Pate, 1081 McLemore Avenue, Memphis, Tennessee, September 16: Brother J. B. Cox assisted us in a very successful Vacation Bible School this summer. In the first half of June we enrolled 330, and the last half in August we enrolled 500. In ten days we enrolled 612. We found it much better to have half of it just as school closes and the other half just before school opens in the fall. This week we have baptized four and had three to place membership. That makes 141 who have responded in the past ten months. It is just like a big meeting with some one responding nearly every week. The Lord certainly has blessed our efforts, and to him goes all the praise!

L. D. Thornton, Dill City, Oklahoma, September 7: The work here is coming along splendidly. Since my last report we have had five baptisms, two restorations, and record attendance for Bible classes. We just closed a meeting August 9 through 19, with Brother Noah Sparks, Jr., from Hydro, Oklahoma, doing the preaching and Brother B. L. Buford from Clinton directing the song service. Each did a splendid job. I did the preaching in a gospel meeting at Gotebo, Oklahoma, August 23-30. We had five baptisms there. The congregation here is sending me to Wray, Colorado, in October for a mission meeting. I enjoy and look forward each week to receiving the Firm Foundation.

W. F. Hall, Box 245, Okemah, Oklahoma, September 25: The churches of Christ in various parts of Oklahoma have sponsored a gospel meeting by the colored people in Boley, Oklahoma, the largest Negro town in the U. S. A. G. B. Holt of Oklahoma City did the preaching. We had four additions. Brother Holt is an able man. He hardly has an equal, including the white preachers. The meeting was well attended not only by the colored but white as well. I've had many years in the work, preaching in five states. Brother Holt can get the interest and hold it as well as any man I ever heard. I'm open for local work, not too far distant in Oklahoma, Arkansas or Texas.

T. A. PHILLIPS

Hatton B. Gist

I am persuaded that Brother Phillips is an honorable man and a good preacher. He is available for meetings or local work. If you want a "gospel preacher" (not a "flirt" or "smartalec") he will fit the bill. His address is 420 Maverick Street, San Antonio, Texas.

Max T. Neel, 5651 McCormick, Houston 23, Texas, September 14: Our work here at Lawndale seems to be getting started in a fine way. We had unusually good attendance in Bible classes yesterday, and five were baptized and two placed membership. The Lord willing, I shall conduct the fall meeting here beginning September 20th.

Brooks Terry, 2314 Overton Road, Dallas, Texas, September 19: Our vacation Bible school in June had 230 to enroll with an average attendance of 194. Since June 8th, six have placed membership, four have been baptized, one has placed membership and restored, and one restored here at Overton Road. The writer taught in a teacher training course in Fayetteville, Arkansas, in July. I did the preaching in gospel meetings at Lipan, Texas, and Randlett, Oklahoma. Three were baptized. The brethren at Lipan have invited me to return for another meeting. J. B. Tomlinson and J. Ray Crook are the able preachers for these churches respectively. Walter P. Bryan will do the preaching in the gospel meeting at Overton Road November 1-8. My next meeting will be with the Southwest church in Oklahoma City November 8-15.

R. C. Copeland, Jr., 410 South College Avenue, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, September 7: We have good prospects for continued growth and effective work and service here. Two of our beloved members have passed on to their reward. Brother David Lesley Porter was born in 1891 and died in the veterans hospital at Muskogee, September 4, 1953. His wife and five children mourn his passing. Brother Porter was faithful to the Lord. I spoke words of comfort to the host of friends and the family on the influence his life will yet have on those affected. Services were conducted in the church of Christ building, this city, on above date. Two placed membership August 31. Now that college is open new members will be coming into our midst. This church has the mind to work and grow spiritually as well as numerically.

Tillit S. Teddlie, Box 314, Sulphur Springs, Texas, September 25: After two and one-half years' work with the church at Ennis, Texas, I have moved to Sulphur Springs, Texas, to labor with the congregation. The church at Ennis was wonderfully nice to me and my wife while we labored there, and we shall always owe them a debt of love too heavy to pay. The church in Ennis has enjoyed a season of peace and harmony, and we predict it will thus continue. Brother Frank L. Cox of Mineola, Texas, will move there the first of October to labor with that congregation. Brother Willard Morrow of Fort Worth, Texas, is now engaged in a meeting at Ennis. We have plans for an intensive campaign of New Testament evangelism in this part of the state. We hope to have some good reports of the work at Sulphur Springs.

H. I. Taylor, Austin, Texas: There have been twenty baptized, forty-three placed membership and five restored here at Northside thus far in 1953. For five months we have been meeting in a school building which has hindered our work some. We expect to meet in our new building in the early part of November. In our meeting work we have baptized thirty-two. I am to hold a meeting with the Spring Branch church in Houston beginning September 28, and at Round Rock the last week in October. When in Austin worship with the Northside congregation, West Forty-Third Street and Avenue B. Our new building will have a seating capacity of 1,000 and is of white brick construction. For over three years we have been meeting twice on the Lord's day morning but now we will be able to meet once. We are very thankful for this. We are still broadcasting the gospel daily over KTBC, 500 kc. here in Austin.

Joseph H. Cox, 4422 Preston Highway, Louisville, Kentucky, September 6: My meeting with the church at Lebanon, Indiana, this summer resulted in two baptisms. Jack Hazelbaker is the faithful preacher there. The meeting at Gratz, Kentucky, (Cemetery Hill church) resulted in no additions; however, there was much interest manifested. Earnest Stedham is the loyal and capable preacher for the church. Tomorrow I am scheduled to begin with Henry Caldwell and the church at Cozzaddale, Ohio, near Cincinnati. The work at Preston Highway here in Louisville continues to move forward. One was restored from the Christian Church last Wednesday; two were baptized and one restored this morning.

John L. Norris, Box 302, Mathis, Texas, September 26: Nothing to the contrary, we are to begin work on our building in Orange Grove next week. Since we began there four years ago, we have been meeting in the school library. At present, we have 19 members, with 10 families represented. All are average wage earners, and our contributions average above $60.00 per week. We are not asking help in our efforts, other than the prayers of the brethren. Since our beginning we have maintained a full program of work with regular preaching, mid-week Bible Study, and class work. The congregation has remained at peace, and our work has been most pleasant, even though the field is difficult, being mostly Catholic and Lutheran. Again we beg your prayers, and invite you to worship with us when in this section of the country.

Bill McCown, P. O. Box 201, Liberty, Texas, September 21: Our work with the Liberty congregation is off to a good start. One was baptized at the service yesterday morning. A good attendance was present for both services. We are looking forward to a good work with this alert and working group. Word received from New Braunfels this past week reports four baptized at the recently established West End congregation (colored) last Wednesday night. One other was baptized a few weeks ago who had been a Roman Catholic for many years. A. N. Patterson of San Antonio is working with this congregation and is doing a wonderful work. This congregation was started in June of this year as the result of a meeting in which 34 were baptized. Since that time the additional five bring the total membership to 39.

W. R. Craig, P. O. Box 697, Magnolia, Arkansas, September 15: We have been here a month, and it has been most pleasant. We look forward to a good work. Palmer Wheeler has just closed a five-day singing school. It was one of the best. C. R. Nichol begins our fall meeting October 18th. All within driving distance are urged to attend. Fifty students in Southern State College have indicated that they are members of or prefer the church. If your son or daughter is here contact us that we may better serve them. Our new building moves along smoothly. We hope to be in it by May first. When traveling highways 82 or 79 stop and worship with us. Our new building is located on 79 just two blocks off the public square. Our present location is one block south at 313 S. Washington.

Gordon L. Downing, 121 W. Tennessee, Floydada, Texas, September 14: Since our last report on August 17th, we have broken our Bible School attendance records twice here at the City Park church. Attendance at all services is at an all-time high. Yesterday five came forward to confess faults and one to place membership. The two weeks before, four come forward to be restored. We have begun work on our educational building, finishing the inside and building new classrooms to provide for our increased attendance. All the work on the building is being done by men of the congregation with the exception of plastering. The members have a mind to work and God is blessing the work.

J. I. White, Ackerly, Texas, September 6: We are enjoying a slow but steady growth. Brother Roy Phemister has been with us one year the first of September and we have baptized into Christ fourteen persons, six of these having been fathers of families whose wives were already members. I think we have a right to be proud of this record, considering the size of the community. We are experiencing the third year drouth, and most of our members are farmers, still we have recently built a new building, and our financial condition is very good. We need your prayers, that our growth may continue and that much good will be accomplished by our untiring efforts in the Lord's work.

Arthur W. Francis, Jr., P. O. Box 924, Sioux City, Iowa, September 18: We are glad to report two were added by membership and two by baptism in recent weeks. The young man baptized aspires to become a gospel preacher. We pray that his ambition may be realized for we have a great need for more native grown preachers in this section. Last Sunday was a record day with our former records for Sunday morning broken with the attendance of 72. Our previous record was set at 70 during our July meeting. I have recently visited with brethren at Burwell, Nebraska and Mankato, Minnesota who are in our listening area although 200 miles from Sioux City in opposite directions. We also attended Rue Porter's meeting at Jefferson, Iowa, last week and found a number of listeners. We continue on KCOM daily at 8:30 except Sunday at 9.

Wallace E. Mynatt, 818 So. College Street, Waxahachie, Texas, September 19: After a very pleasant and profitable work of nearly three years with the church at Runge, Texas, I have begun work with the South Side congregation in Waxahachie, following Brother C. A. Buchanan, who has moved to Glen Rose, Texas. We are very pleased with the prospects of this good work. We had a fine day Sunday and from all indications we should have a grand work here. We were received very graciously and everyone seems ready to enter into a fuller service for the Lord. At any time you are visiting in Waxahachie, or going through, we would be happy to have you worship with us. It was with a great deal of sadness we bid the brethren at Runge farewell. They expressed their love in many ways as they wished us godspeed. The man selected to do the work there will find a fine congregation to work with. We solicit the prayers of the faithful everywhere in our new work here.

Tillit S. Teddie, Box 314, Sulphur Springs, Texas, September 28: One placed membership with this congregation Sunday morning. Excellent crowds at both morning and night services. Prospects are bright for an outstanding work in this city.

Paul C. Keller: My health has improved to the extent that I am again able to do full-time work. For the past two years I have lived at my former home (Otwell, Ark.) and preached at Nettleton as health permitted. During that time the church built a new building in which to meet. I had the privilege of preaching in it my last Sunday with the church there. On June 15 I moved to Thyatira, Miss., to begin work with the church here. Thus far the work with the Thyatira church has been most pleasant. My health has been such as to enable me to hold three meetings this year: Crossville, Ill., Wheeling, Ark., and County Line, near Jonesboro, Ark. I hope that I will be able to increase this number and hold my normal amount next year.

ing again and there will be more jobs for some one there. Gardeners and poultrymen should do well here. If interested in moving here contact me and I will try to put you in touch with the proper ones to get located.

Joe Cooke Van Dyke, N. Broad Street, Lexington, Tennessee, September 12: I did the preaching in a meeting at Red Bay, Alabama, in July. Albie Puckett directed the singing. Three were baptized and three confessed unfaithfulness. Charles Maples helped much with the meeting. I was with the Mynot congregation near Cherokee, Alabama, following the Red Bay meeting. Edgar Williams directed the singing. One was baptized. I was at Maud, Alabama, next with Albie Puckett and Autrey Ware directing the singing. Eleven were baptized. In August I was with the Mars Hill congregation near Duck River, Tennessee, for a short meeting. Cloud Russell directed the singing. Three were baptized. John Aman Chalk and John C. Graham did the preaching for the Lexington church while I was away.

LOYD WILLIAMS TO PREACH TO THE DEAF

Sunday, October 11, 1953, Brother Loyd Williams, a student at Abilene Christian College, will preach at the church of Christ for Deaf, at 1500 Newton Street at 3:00 P.M. in Austin, Texas.

Brother Williams and his wife are very active members of the church. Brother Williams has preaching engagements at Lubbock, Amarillo, Gatesville, and Abilene. Brother Williams is studying for the ministry and plans to devote full time to the church upon completion of his education.

October 10-11 is to be Homecoming weekend at the Texas School for the Deaf. Many ex-students and others will be coming to Austin for this Homecoming. We wish to welcome all the deaf and any others who would like to attend this special Sunday afternoon service. Brother Williams will preach in the sign language. The sermon will be interpreted for the hearing.

TEXT: MATT. 21:33-41

The above scripture is the parable of the vineyard, as given by our Lord. A man let out his vineyard to husbandmen, and then after a while came asking for the fruit of the vineyard. Those who came seeking the fruit were stoned and mistreated. And then finally the son was sent, and this was the occasion when they said, "Let us kill him." Jesus goes on to tell us that the scribes and the Pharisees understood he was talking about them. They had stoned the prophets, and they would crucify the Son of God.

There are a few self-evident lessons in this great scripture. First, human privilege. The vineyard was hedged about, everything was prepared in the very best way. And so it is that God has given man a great place in the universe that he has made. When we think about the opportunities of today, we are aware that we are living in a great period of opportunity. Our privileges as Christians can hardly be estimated; it is beyond all of the thought of man.

The second point brought out here is human freedom. The vineyard was theirs to work in or not to work in. They could accept the men who came to collect the fruit or they could reject them; but their freedom was limited by the great law that you cannot have freedom without law. Mankind today has done havoc to the vineyard of God because we have thought that liberty and freedom could be ours by flouting all the laws of God. Freedom only comes by obedience.

The third point noticeable in this parable of our Lord is that they were under responsibility. It was a matter of common knowledge among all people in the day when Jesus lived that any man who would accept a place in the vineyard was responsible for making a return. These people in this case, Jesus said, ignored this responsibility. They set about to destroy the ones sent to them.

And in the fourth place, this story sets out in a clear way that Jesus is not mentioned in connection with man. This story has it that the owner of the vineyard sent his son, and the son is standing out over against all the others—servants, prophets, apostles. Modernism has tried to place Jesus in the same category with all other men, but this is not the New Testament way. Jesus is referred to as the one different from all the others.

In the fifth place, this story clearly sets out the love of God. The coming of Jesus was love's final act in behalf of mankind. One thing we can be sure of—the love of God. God so loved the world that he sent his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him might not perish, but have everlasting life.

And in the sixth place, these men made the tragic mistake of thinking that the garden of life was theirs without acknowledging God or accepting responsibility. No, the vineyard belongs to God, and we are but workmen in the vineyard, and there can be no freedom, and there can be no privilege without accepting this responsibility.

These men destroyed the privilege, and they destroyed the freedom by not accepting the responsibility. The garden of life is not ours; it belongs to God, and we live under the limitation of being subject to our Maker.

The kingdom was taken away, and given unto another. This leads us to our seventh and final conclusion: God will not abandon his vineyard, but will see to it that there is a generation that will accept the privilege and the responsibility and the freedom. God did not abandon Israel in Egypt; he did not abandon Israel in Babylonian captivity; he did not abandon Jesus Christ in the grave. He did not abandon the early church in persecution. He will not abandon his church now because he has said, "I will be with you always, even to the end of the world."

"DICE PLAYERS HIDE FROM DEPUTIES AT CHURCH BENEFIT"
(From St. Louis Post Dispatch, July 20, 1953)

Sterl A. Watson

"About 60 Wellston citizens, playing dice games at a church benefit Saturday night, spent a dark and uncomfortable quarter hour hiding from two sheriff's deputies sent to investigate complaints that gambling was going on there.

"The dice games were in the parish school gymnasium of the Notre Dame de Lourdes Catholic Church, Kienlen and Evanston Avenues, Wellston. Outside in the schoolyard, several hundred more residents milled around other carnival games of chance for which prizes such as lamps, were awarded. When the deputies passed by in their automobile, searching for a parking space in the crowded streets, a lookout at the gate gave the signal. Lights in the gymnasium were turned off and the doors closed. A poker-hand betting booth in the schoolyard hastily closed up.

"... While the dice players peered uneasily through the darkened gymnasium windows, the two deputies strolled through the carnival area. Finding no gambling in progress, they left, and the dice enthusiasts, perspiring freely, opened the doors and gladly made their exits into the cooler air outside."—(Copy, by Sterl A. Watson, St. Louis, Mo.)

Comment: This was an approved function of the Roman Catholic church. They knew they were violating the law. Otherwise, they would not have had a lookout at the gate. Their religion has descended to a pretty low level when they resort to "Poker and Dice games" to raise benefits. Just think! Fallible officers of the law having to raid an infallible church for lawlessness!

THE ROAD AHEAD

Cleon Lyles

This was the theme for a banquet Friday night, May 22, at the Sam Peck Hotel honoring a group of seniors, who are members of the churches of Christ here in Little Rock. This was the second annual banquet held for our seniors, and sponsored by some of the members of the Downtown church. We have tried to teach our young people the evil of dances, and of course, this includes the dance held for the seniors each year in the high school. In order for our young people to have some place to go that night, we have this banquet on the same night of the school dance. Both years we have had fine cooperation, both from the students and the parents.

This year, the banquet tables were decorated with spring flowers and miniature buildings representing the Christian Colleges available to the graduates. Tall white tapers wrapped in the colors of the various colleges added to the decorations. We also had literature from most of our schools for the students.

Brother Elza Hufford, minister of the Downtown church in Searcy spoke to the group and the Andy T. Ritchie family furnished the music. Each guest received an address book, with the inscription "Senior Banquet, 1953" as a souvenir.

We believe these occasions are going to become more interesting and valuable each year. It is in no wise a "church affair," but is conducted by various members, as a means of doing something to offset the evil of high school dances. We decided two years ago that all the talk and complaining people do does not get rid of the evil, so began to try to do something about it. This year it attracted much attention in the city, and there is some talk among other religious groups of adopting the same practice. It is possible that in the future we can entirely destroy the annual school dance. At least we can give our children some place to go as we teach them to abstain from evil.

"THE TOWER OF BABEL"G. S. Westbrook

Some time after the flood, as mankind began to spread over the face of the earth, some came to the plains of Shinar. Here they determined to make a name for themselves. They proposed to build a tower whose top would reach into the very heavens. Although God had revealed himself to man, prior to this, there is no indication that these men included God in their plans. He was given no consideration, nor was his will consulted in the matter.

Man had become self-sufficient, he thought. There is no indication that he even considered the possibility of failure. He presumed to be able to build a tower that would reach to heaven. If he accomplished this surely he would have made a name for himself. The spirit of self-exaltation began to assert itself.

God came down to see what men were doing. This shows God's interest in man. Just as he came down into the Garden of Eden and asked, "Adam, Where art Thou?", he now proves again that he is mindful of man!

But God was not pleased with what he found. Man was presumptuous. He had gotten too big for himself. God has never been pleased when man tries to build his own way to heaven. Man has ever had a tendency to try to do big things, but to leave God out. So the Lord stopped the work on this great tower. To this time men had been all of one speech and of one tongue. But Jehovah confounded their language until many discordant voices were heard and it became impossible to continue the work.

Today, as man travels toward Eternity, he often feels self-sufficient, and fails to rely on God. Men constantly are trying to build "towers" that will reach to heaven. With so many human "towers" in existence today confusion reigns supreme. God is not pleased with this for God is not the author of confusion (1 Cor. 14:33). Therefore he is not the author of these "towers" that make up the Protestant and the Catholic world. All such "Towers" are built in vain, for "If the Lord build not the house they labor in vain that build it . . ." (Ps. 127:1). Men need to recognize the fact that "The way of man is not within himself; for it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jer. 10:23).

Christ is the way out. Even before he died he foretold of the time when hearing his voice would produce "one fold and one shepherd" (John 10:16). Then in his prayer in John 17:17-21 he prayed for real Christian unity—"That all that believe on me . . . might be ONE . . ."

In Christ confusion ceases and perfect concord is reached, for "There is neither Jew nor Greek, bond nor free" but all are one in Christ (Gal. 3:24-28). Now God's purpose through the Ages—to gather all in one (Eph. 1:10) is fulfilled in the body of Christ which is the church (Eph. 1:20-23).

Confusion is forbidden in Christ, and all Christians are expected to "speak the same thing" (1 Peter 4:11) and to wear the same name" (1 Cor. 1:10-13). This is accomplished by laying aside all human rule books, creeds, and human practices, and "If any man speak let him speak as the oracles of God" (1 Peter 4:11; Isa. 8:20).

Our Departed

ROGERS—George Albert Rogers was born in Hill County, Texas, February 1, 1883. He departed this life at the Jackson County Memorial Hospital in Altus, Oklahoma, August 12, 1953. He was seventy years, six months and twelve days old at the time of his passing. Brother Rogers was baptized into Christ in 1905 and had lived a faithful Christian life since. He was twice married, first to Miss Mary Pigott in 1906. She passed away at Kiowa, Okla., in 1910. He was married to Miss Eva Banks in 1912 at Oran, Texas. She was killed in a tornado which struck Blair, Okla., in 1928. Brother Rogers, during his younger years, did much work in the church of the Lord in Palo Pinto County, Texas, and at Blair, Okla. Ill health had limited his activity in more recent years. He leaves three children to mourn his passing: two daughters, Mrs. Marie Mills and Mrs. Thelma Allen, both of Altus and faithful members of this congregation. The son, Charlie Rogers, lives at Vernon, Texas. He also leaves behind two brothers, four sisters and five grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted from the local church building by the writer and interment was in the Blair, Okla., cemetery.

YANDELL—Brother George M. Yandell passed away July 25, 1953, at Great Bend, Kansas, as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was born October 17, 1889, near Rogersville, Missouri. At the age of sixteen, Brother Yandell obeyed the gospel and continued a faithful Christian life, having been an elder in the church at Shidler, Okla., Ponca City, Okla., and Great Bend, Kansas. His primary mission in this life was to convert sinners to Christ, and toward this aim he taught adult Bible classes wherever he happened to be living. His thirty-five years of employment with the Carter Oil Co. brought him in contact with many people and Christian friends throughout Oklahoma and Kansas. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. James M. (Helen) Anders of Omaha, Nebr.; two granddaughters, Patricia and Marjorie; and two brothers, Albert of Rogersville, Mo., and Charles of Wichita Falls, Texas. His body was buried by his wife, Daisey, in Panther Valley Cemetery near Rogersville, Mo.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVISGunnison, Colorado

It seems necessary that I call attention to the situation at Gunnison, Colorado, again. In June, I wrote an article calling attention to the importance of getting a church started in Gunnison. Two weeks ago I called attention to it the second time. In the meantime Brother Sylvan Gray who lives near Gunnison has announced that a group is now meeting for worship in the I.O.O.F. Hall every Lord's day. Brother Gray says there is a distance of two hundred miles in that part of Colorado where there is no organized church of Christ.

The number of disciples now meeting in Gunnison is about fourteen. Brother Gray says a few visitors attend their services. It is important that considerable publicity be given to this locally in Gunnison. I would guess that there are forty or fifty who should be meeting in that city. Some of them have become indifferent and a few have gone in with the denominations, but nearly all of them can be reached and restored by giving proper attention to them. There will always be some new ones coming in to attend college.

There is much that ought to be done in Colorado. I have traveled over nearly all the mountain region making observation of religious conditions. At least a dozen new congregations should be started along the rampart range of the Rockies. Many tourists visit this part of the country during the summer. Church members who spend the summers in Colorado tell me they have to go as far as seventy-five miles to worship. Where a lot of people go is the place to establish a congregation. Just now give attention to Gunnison.

Good Soldiers

Paul told Timothy to endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ (2 Tim. 2:3). If one cannot endure hardness, he is not qualified to be a soldier. If a man is afraid to stand up and be shot at, he has no business in enlisting in any branch of military service, because that means "shoot to kill." To be a good soldier requires a lot of courage. This is true in the world and in the church.

Gideon's army was a very good illustration of the army of the Lord in all ages. Gideon had thirty-two thousand enlisted men, but only three hundred of them had enough courage to fight. Probably they all made a very good appearance on the drill ground and on dress parade—they were willing to stay in the army and draw their pay in time of peace, but when war started they were ready to go home. Gideon told all the fainthearted to return to their tents. Ten thousand left the army and returned to their tents. At the brook where they drank water all were eliminated but three hundred. In the Lord's army then, out of thirty-two thousand only three hundred were good soldiers.

"Is thy heart right with God?" is an important question. One cannot be a Christian if his heart is not right with God. Only those whose hearts are pure and courageous are good soldiers of Jesus. It is amazing how many there are who are willing to live the Christian life only in time of peace. Let trouble start and they return to their tents. The man who is ready to throw away his sword and make peace with the devil is not a good soldier. At the close of life Paul said he had fought a good fight. He acquitted himself gloriously on life's battlefields.

Who Knows God?

Quentin A. Dunn

Nearly everyone in America believes there is a God, and a good many people claim to know him. But who really knows God? Does the man who says he knows God necessarily know him? No, this is not sufficient evidence that he knows God, because a man may say that he knows God, and not keep his commandments. He that saith, "I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him" (1 John 2:4). When our love for God is manifested by keeping his commandments, we can be assured that we know God. It is good to have a knowledge of God, yet one must have more than a knowledge of God, one must obey God to truly know him. And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments (1 John 2:3). Only those who love God and keep his commandments really know God. The man who says that he knows God, and does not keep his commandments, does not know God.

Disobedience to God, or not keeping his commandments is manifested in many ways. There is plenty of evidence in the New Testament that Jesus is the Christ, yet many people say that Jesus was a mere man. This is not a new idea, there were people who did not believe that Jesus was the Christ, while he was on earth. Jesus said to the Jews, "I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins" (John 8:24). Jesus was a man, flesh and blood, yet he was also divine because he was God's Son. Those who are unwilling to accept what God has said concerning the humanity or divinity of Jesus, do not know God.

To believe that Jesus is the Christ, is a command of God, therefore one must believe that Jesus is the Christ before he has any right to say that he knows God. It is possible for a man to believe in Christ to some extent, and still not know God. This is surely true if he looks upon many of the commandments of God as non-essential.

God has commanded all men everywhere to repent (Acts 17:30). To repent means for one to turn completely from the love and practice of his sins. Some people are willing to give up some of their sins but not all of them. This cannot be genuine repentance. The man who continues in his sins does not know God. When a man truly repents, he changes his conduct and turns toward God; repentance is unto salvation (Acts 11:18). His repentance must lead him to obey the commands that are necessary for him to obey, to get into Christ before he really knows God.

Jesus said, "Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I also confess before my Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 10:32). Some believe in Jesus to some extent, but they are afraid to confess him. Such men do not know God. Many men would not confess Jesus while he was on earth because they were afraid, and they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God. "Nevertheless among the chief rulers also, many believed on him, but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they be put out of the synagogue. For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (John 12:42, 43). It is quite obvious that those men did not know God. To confess Christ is a command of God. Confession must be made with the mouth, and confession is unto salvation (Rom. 10:10). Belief, repentance and confession are unto salvation. One can do these things and still not know God. After he has taken the step that puts him into Christ, he has the right to say he knows God, provided he is willing to keep all of God's commandments.

Many people are not willing to do what God commands them to do to get into Christ. Baptism is the dividing line, between the kingdom of darkness and the kingdom of God's dear Son. Those who say that baptism has nothing to do with salvation, remain in darkness and sin. They may have some knowledge of God, but they do not know God because they have not obeyed him. Gal. 3:27 and Rom. 6:3 plainly tell us that baptism puts us into Christ and into his death. Baptism also saves one from his past sins and puts him into the Lord's church (1 Peter 3:21; 1 Cor. 12:13). There is no other way for a sinner to be saved from his past sins. Anyone who contends otherwise does not know God. "Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even we also should walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:4). Paul plainly says that baptism is a burial. This is too plain to be misunderstood. When men practice sprinkling and pouring for baptism, they do not practice it because it is taught in the Bible. Such practices are based upon the teachings of men and shall be rooted up (Matt. 15:13). After a man has been buried with his Lord in baptism he is raised to walk in newness of life. His walking in newness of life is the real evidence that he knows God. He now has a new motive, a new purpose in life and a new hope. His first consideration is to please God because he loves him. He manifests his love for Jehovah by keeping his commandments. He can say with full assurance that he knows God, because he loves God and keeps his commandments. God is his helper and friend and some day this man shall see the Lord. "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself even as he is pure" (1 John 3:1-3).

Rome's "Apostolic Succession" Claim

(May Protestant Action)—Suppose for argument's sake there was a beginning to Apostolic succession, let us examine facts of history in Europe's whole background. To every honest history student these facts are well known.

Cyprian was consecrated a bishop immediately after his baptism and conversion from paganism. Was he a wise choice? A laic named Eucherius became bishop of Lyons.

John IX as a layman was made Pope. What kind of Apostolic succession could he transmit?

The Roman church cannot even venture a guess here!

In 1308, Clement V gave his doctor, a layman, the archbishopric of Metz because the latter worked a cure of the Pope's person. How can one without valid episcopal orders transmit valid orders?

What happens then to the Roman Catholic church's blessed Apostolic succession?

From the deposition of Leo V in 905 to election of Leo VII in 936, there was not a Roman Catholic canonically ordained cleric—not a Roman Catholic cleric who had canonical right to his benefice. The reason is that during this 33-year period there was not a lawful Pope! Christophorus, Sergius III, John X, John XI—all were unlawful popes who obtained the papacy through force or simony. "These Popes," Platina says, "thought of nothing save how to blot out the name and dignity of their predecessors."

Since these were unlawful Popes, they had no right to the chair of the papacy: they consecrated priests invalidly.

In 855 was a Popess named Joan. The Roman church denies this; but Platina, a Roman Catholic historian and librarian of the Vatican, wrote the history of this popess, calling her John VIII. Thus the query: Was she a valid Roman Catholic instrument for their Apostolic succession?

In 964, because of the wrangle between Benedict V and Leo VIII, King Otho declared he would thereafter appoint the pope, and decided for Leo VIII.

Which was the true Pope?

Did Otho cause a break in Roman Catholic Apostolic succession? If so, this break has never been repaired!

And the awkward Roman Catholic Apostolic succession was continued not by a Pope but by a King (Otho)!

In 1044 four Popes claimed to be the Pope, namely, Benedict IX, Silvester III, John XX, and Gregory VI. Which was the true pope and, thus, the channel thru whom Apostolic succession flowed?

Again, from 1159 through 1182 four persons held at the same time to be pope: Alexander III, Victor IV, Octavian and Rolond. Which was the legitimate, true Pope?

Again, from 1378 to 1409 were two popes: one at Rome, the other at Avignon; each excommunicated the other; and the Roman church still has not settled which was the true Pope and the correct medium through which Apostolic succession was to be prolonged.

Roman Catholic Apostolic succession and privileges suffered further shipwreck at the Council of Constance in 1414. At time of this Council were three rival popes: Gregory XII, John XXIII and Benedict XIII. The Council of Constance declared all three illegitimate popes and thus their consecrations of bishops and ordination of priests and creation of cardinals were invalid. The Council of Constance then went on to appoint Martin V instead of one of the three claimants. But, according to the Bull of Nicholas II, only cardinals had right to vote for Pope. Then the election of Martin V was void! The only ones eligible to vote for Pope were the three claimants: thus if two voted for one, the one voted in would've been the true Pope. But since each claimed to be Pope, each voted himself in; and this, too, renders their procedure null and void, according to the Bull of Nicholas II, later enlarged and confirmed by Alexander III in the third Lateran Council in 1179.

Thus a breach has been caused which has never been fixed, and thus the Roman Catholic claim of apostolicity and heirship to St. Peter is idle and absurd!

You Can Help!

Leslie Rickerson

This is an unusual request but it is urgent and it will work! And it is in the proper Christian Spirit. We need your help and it won't cause you any hardship to render the help. Permit me to begin at the beginning and lead up to what I am talking about. In 1951, with my family, I moved to Thermopolis, Wyoming to work with the congregation here. There were some 20 odd members at that time; coming from a radius of 50 miles for worship. About half of these came from Worland, Wyoming, a city 33 miles to the north of Thermopolis. We began a mid-week service in Worland at the time, looking forward to the establishment of a congregation in that city. In April of this year we did begin a congregation in Worland. A two-week gospel meeting was held, with Bro. H. L. Matheny; Bro. Audie Moore; Bro. Stanley Shipp and myself doing the preaching and personal work. The meeting resulted in five baptisms, the starting of the congregation in Worland and the need for a building in which the church could meet. Worland, Wyoming is a city of approximately 5,000 people, and is about the most progressive and fastest growing city in Wyoming. It is a prosperous city. The church would grow with the city if given a chance. We have had a daily radio program over the Worland station all this year and as a result we have made many good contacts and created much interest in the church there. BUT, there is nothing in the way of a church building there, and many folks think of the church as being another "fanatical sect" holding to peculiar ideas and in time will fade into oblivion. Many others think of us as being one of the "holinist sects" and are reluctant to enter the rented hall where the church meets. A building would go far in showing that we are here to stay and would be an inducement to many to enter and hear what we teach.

Now, we here are all aware of the fact that most of the larger congregations are doing just about all they can do in the way of mission work. And we are not of the frame of mind where we think anyone should stop everything else and help us. In fact, we feel that the spreading of the Gospel in this area is our responsibility and we don't want anyone else to assume our responsibility. BUT, we do need help. And here is the way you can help and not "renege" on your commitments elsewhere. Everybody who reads this article can send the price of one brick! The price of a brick is a fraction over five cents ($.05); everybody can send a nickel. I might mention you aren't confined to the price of one brick. A dollar bill will buy 15 plus bricks; ten dollars would buy near 200 bricks, but the point is you can send the price of one brick. Beloved, anyone who has traveled Wyoming on vacation knows of the desolate condition of the church in this state. There is not a decent first-class building in this state; in many cities there isn't anything. We are few in number, there are about 20 members in Worland, we are striving to spread the gospel with what we have; it is a struggle. You who read this, first sit down and send that brick, then tell others of it and ask them to send one or more; you elders will you please consider this plea and help; you preachers, give us a boost in this plea.

I am not one given to "hair-brained" ideas. You can inquire concerning me of the elders of the church in Grand Prairie, Texas; Baird, Texas and of the school officials of A. C. C. This plan will work, we need a building in Worland, Wyoming; we need a "brick for Christ" in Wyoming. Send your help to Leslie Rickerson, Box 424, Thermopolis, Wyoming; or to Mr. Fon Lasater, c/o church of Christ, Worland, Wyoming; or to Mr. Gus August, 1214 Robertson Street, Worland, Wyoming. All donations will be recognized. We will build the building if you will supply the brick! How about it brethren? We need a building in Worland.

It is my intention to move to Worland to work with the group there as we have been unable thus far to interest anyone about moving there, and I thought perhaps it would be easier to induce a preacher to come to Thermopolis. Thermopolis has a place for the preacher to live and pays a salary of $60.00 per week; therefore a person would only need a little help from other sources here in Thermopolis. By the end of this year Thermopolis will probably be able to fully support a preacher and his family. But in Worland we start from "scratch." I want to move there and do what I can to permanently establish the cause of Christ in that city. I already have some help from Grand Prairie and can take that help with me, therefore, it would be easier for me to go to Worland than for someone else who has no support. But the main thing we need is a place to meet. We are not taking any one to interpret their present commitments in order to help by giving the thousands of dollars it would take to build a building in Worland. But every individual Christian can send at least enough to buy one brick. Others can send more. And in this manner we can soon have a building in Worland.

Value Of The Didache

A. D. Wilkinson

Perhaps every ancient document has some sort of value from one point of view or another. That value, however, is not always of positive nature, as it relates to the subject matter of its contents. The Didache, being a religious document, its value, if any, would naturally be supposed to be of a positive nature in strengthening and supporting religious conduct consistent with the standard of such conduct, which, of course, is the New Testament. This, however, cannot correctly be stated of the Didache, if the simple teaching of the New Testament is to be taken at face value, which I believe to be the proper attitude to take of such teaching.

The date of the Didache is variously assigned from the middle of the Second Century to the early part of the Fourth. All of the different scholars propose to use the same method of reckoning in their various assignments, which is the external and internal evidence of the document. They all refer to parallel or similar statements to be found in such writings as: "The Apostolic Constitution," "Apostolic Church Order," "Egyptian Church Order," "Epistles of Barnabas," "Clement of Rome," "Cyprian," and many others.

Dr. Bigg, in the introduction to his translation of the Didache, assigns the date to the early part of the Fourth Century, and cites as proof certain passages which would not be in harmony with customs and circumstances of earlier dates. To these passages, and some others, we would also like to call attention in an endeavor to ascertain the value of the Didache as a religious criterion.

In the first place, the presumptuous air assumed by the author of the Didache is sufficient, if there was nothing else, to question the authenticity of the book. The prerogative to command, ("Thou shalt, and Thou shalt not,"), belong to God, and is voiced only by those authorized by him to speak. Even all inspired men spake only as the Spirit gave them utterance in matters of religion.

The Didache begins with an exposition concerning "The Two Ways," supposed by some to be the subject of a tract written at an earlier date than the Didache itself. After stating the fact that there are two ways—one of life and one of death—the author proceeds to outline the way of life by quoting from the Ten Commandments, by saying, "Firstly, Thou shalt love God, who made thee; Secondly, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Then he quotes the Golden Rule, negatively, by saying: "Whatsoever thou wouldst not have done to thyself, do not thou either to another." In Chapter I, verse three, he assays to explain the teaching of these words by quoting from the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 5, as follows: "Bless them which curse you, and pray for your enemies." Here he interpolates: "Fast for them which persecute you." If this injunction is to be found upon the pages of inspiration, I frankly admit I have never been able to find it, and certainly I have never seen or heard of its being obeyed by anyone, nor have I ever heard from the pulpit, or any other source, any admonition to keep it. Therefore, it is, in my judgment at least, one of the many instances which points to a spurious hand in the authorship of the Didache.

The first chapter of the book closes with an admonition on giving, some of which is founded upon Scripture and some is not. For instance, the last verse reads as follows: "But about this it hath also been said: Let thine alms sweat into thy hand, until thou knowest to whom thou art to give." The source of this quotation, if it be a quotation, seems to be unknown. However, the phrase is said to have been used by writers of the fifth century. We know that we are admonished by Paul to work with our hands, the thing that is good, that we may have to give to him that needeth. But, the lesson in this is, as I see it, be sure to give to the needy without that "Holier than thou" attitude as to the worthiness of him who is to be the receiver. We know that the quotation does not come from the Bible, and as a rule of Christian conduct, it is foreign to any sentiment expressed therein.

The second division, as the author calls it, of the doctrine of the way of life is contained in Chapters 2, 3 and 4. Some of this, like the rest of the book, is based upon the Bible, and some is not. But it would require too much space to call attention to all of it, so let us pass to the 7th Chapter and see what the author of the Didache has to say concerning baptism.

This 7th Chapter reads as follows: "And concerning baptism, baptize ye thus, having declared all these things, baptize into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, in living water. But if thou have not living water, baptize into other water; and, if thou canst not in cold, in warm. But if thou have neither, pour water thrice upon the head into the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. And before the baptism let the baptizer and him that is baptized fast for one or two days before." Now we have it. Dr. Bigg uses this passage to confirm his claim of the fourth century as to the date of the Didache. Dr. Maclean, in his revised notes concerning this passage, says: "This passage could prove that the Didache was written later than the writings of Cyprian." Him we know to be one of the most ardent supporters of infant baptism of early history. We can be reasonably certain that the substitution of sprinkling and pouring for baptism has become liberally tolerated at the time of this writing. There is one thing we are absolutely certain of, and that is that this teaching concerning baptism is not even remotely suggested in the New Testament, and that fact constitutes positive proof that the Didache belongs to the spurious writings of early history, and cannot be relied upon in any instance, not verified from some other source for its religious doctrine. The idea of sprinkling and pouring for baptism is simply a substitution for baptism, and is not baptism in any sense whatsoever. There is no such thing as a "mode" of baptism; it is either baptism, or a substitute, and a substitute, in this instance, is worth less than nothing.

With the above fact in mind, let us turn to the 9th Chapter and see what we find in this ancient document concerning the Lord's Supper. We read: "And as regards the eucharist, give thanks in this manner: First for the cup. We thank thee our Father for the holy vine of David, thy servant which thou didst make known to us through Jesus, thy servant. Glory be to thee forever. As this bread that is broken was scattered upon the mountains, and gathered together, and became one, so let thy church be gathered together from the ends of the earth into thy kingdom; for thine is the glory and the power through Jesus Christ forever. And let none eat nor drink of your eucharist, but that they are baptized into the name of the Lord; for as touching this, the Lord hath said: 'Give not that which is holy to the dogs.' Then the first verse of the 10th Chapter says: "And after ye are filled, give thanks thus, etc." Here we have the author of the Didache advocating "closing communion" and the observance of the Lord's Supper after a manner which Paul calls heresy in the 11th Chapter of First Corinthians. He also reverses the order in which the emblems are to be taken, as he says, "First the cup." Therefore, in the matter of observing the Lord's Supper, if we are to be scriptural, I am sure we cannot follow the instructions we find in the Didache. It therefore necessarily follows that this document, regardless of its age, cannot be accepted as a guide for Christian worship. While I am aware that it is claimed by some that the above passage refers to the "agape," and not to the Lord's Supper, but while I regard the Didache as a spurious document, I am willing to give its author credit for knowing what he wanted to say, and saying what he meant to say, and the "Eucharist" always refers to the Lord's Supper.

Turning now to the 14th chapter, we find a statement quoted by many, even by well-informed members of the church of Christ, to support the practice of calling the first day of the week "The Lord's Day." The statement reads: "And on the Lord's day of the Lord come together and break bread and give thanks, having first confessed your transgressions, that our sacrifice may be pure. But whoso hath a dispute with his fellow, let him not come together with you, until they be reconciled, that our sacrifice be not polluted. For this is that which was spoken by the Lord: 'In every place and time offer me a pure sacrifice; for I am a great king, sayeth the Lord, and my name is wonderful among the Gentiles.' This, in all probability, is the first record to be found where the first day of the week is referred to as the 'Lord's Day,' and that in a manner which shows that the author himself is not very familiar with the expression. Notice what he says: 'And upon the Lord's day of the Lord come together, etc.' Eusebius says: 'This phrase in the Didache shows that it was not a well established name.' Since no inspired writer of the Bible ever calls the first day of the week 'The Lord's Day,' and no reliable early church writings pretend to do so with authority, it is difficult to see how a member of the church of Christ, above all others, will presume to do so and regard it as a day any more sacred than any other day of the week. It is quite certain that the first record we have of any form of sanctity being placed upon the day was in the edict of Constantine, issued upon the 7th day of March, in the year 321, and reads as follows:

"On the venerable day of the sun, let the magistrates and people residing in the cities rest, and let all work-shops be closed. In the country, however, persons engaged in agriculture may freely and lawfully continue their pursuits because it often happens that another day is not so suitable for grain sowing or for vine planting, lest, by neglecting the proper moment for such operations, the bounty of heaven should be lost. (Given the 7th day of March, Crispus and Constantine being consuls, each of them for the second time)." As has been stated by eminent scholars of early church history, this legislation of Constantine bore no relation to Christianity whatever. But, to the contrary, it seems to have been an act of diplomacy, favoring the pagan element of the Roman Empire. However, since Christians performed their worship upon the first day of the week, according to divine pattern, it is easy to see how the church could adopt a doctrine instituted by men of great influence as Constantine. So it was, by the time the Didache was written, the first day of the week was beginning to be known as the Lord's day and what began as a pagan ordinance gradually became a Christian regulation and, today, in spite of the fact there is not one word of divine authority for it, it is one of the strongest sentiments in the religious world, even in the church of Christ. Thus we find the Didache, as a religious criterion, to be worth just about as much as the creeds, discipline, manuals and other church documents of the denominations of today, or of Joe Smith's Book of Mormon.

In conclusion, since there are so many people who refer to the "Teachings of the Apostolic Fathers," in support of certain ideas, let me say that the Didache is one of the sources from which this teaching is supposed to come.

Self-Deceived

George Hickey

The rich man thought that he was better than Lazarus. Ahab called Elijah the "trouble maker." Saul thought that he should persecute the church of God. The church at Laodicia deceived themselves. Solomon led Israel to ruin by being self-deceived. Pilate thought he was trying Christ, but Christ was really trying Pilate. The Scribes and Pharisees were the self-deceived religious teachers of the first century. They were followers of a right religion but had deceived themselves into following it in a wrong way. They said and did not.

Jealousy and indifference puts out the eyes of its victims. The number of Christians who are self-deceived produces more amazement than the world's seven wonders.

"Let a man examine himself . . . For if we would judge ourselves, we would not be judged" (1 Cor. 11:28-31). All examinations have a failing point. If one falls below that point he fails. Christ says, "Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no wise enter the kingdom of heaven." Man can read according to the seventh chapter of Matthew that many wonderful things can be done by those who have never been accepted by Christ. There are many ways for a preacher or congregation to be deceived. The one way that we want to call attention is to think that religion can be pure and scriptural when nothing is done for the fatherless. Have you deceived yourself as to what James 1:27 teaches?

The Work At Saskatoon, Canada

Frank Reeder

During August, I visited the church in Saskatoon, Sask., Canada. I spoke at the Wednesday night service, August 19, to a larger audience than I had expected. Two were baptized that night. One, however, was a lady who had been baptized before, but was in doubt as to the validity of her previous baptism. The church there is growing. They are working. Alvin Jennings is preaching for them, and he is working hard. The meeting house is finished on the outside only. They owed more than five thousand dollars on it and the note is due about the first of October. They had something over sixteen hundred to pay on it. I believe that that would be a good place for some who want to do mission work to send some money. The address is: Church of Christ, Box 1023, Saskatoon, Sask., Canada. If each one who reads this and is acquainted with Alvin Jennings or the work there, would send one dollar (or much more if you prefer and have it to send) it will help considerably.

On August 12th I spoke at the Wednesday night services of the church at Comanche, Texas, to a much larger audience than anticipated. I worshipped with the church there for several years. It was good to be back with the brethren there. Brother Manchester preaches for them and the church is growing.

"By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them"

J. Emmett Wainwright

An international scandal concerning Ingrid Bergman has attracted the attention of preachers, priests, press reporters and the public. In their efforts to whitewash an unsightly situation, some writers have misrepresented the true meaning of our Lord's statements regarding the woman taken in adultery (John 8:1-11).

Jesus said: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." The accusers tried to compel our Savior to function as a judge according to the Law of Moses. Upon one occasion the Lord declared that he did not come to earth to serve in the capacity of a judge (Luke 12:14). According to the law, however, the accused was considered innocent until proved guilty by the testimony of two or more witnesses. But none testified as a witness; therefore, none qualified to cast the first stone. In the light of the law—no decision of guilt or condemnation!

The Christ did not exonerate the guilty woman because of the sinfulness of her accusers. He said: "Neither do I condemn thee: go thy way: from henceforth sin no more." Jesus was the only one present capable of throwing a stone and he did not do so, but he did not condone the sin for he said, "Sin no more." The Son of God held forth the same principle in the parable of the "Mote and Beam." Those afflicted with a small mote are not relieved simply because most accusers (critics) are afflicted with "beamitis." The guilt of accusers does not exonerate the accused; but the hypercritical beamite should remove the local hindrance in order to be better qualified, with greater influence, when trying to rescue one from "moteitis"!

Christ can forgive and will forgive all those who turn to him in obedient faith, but apologists for sin unrepented of should weigh carefully the righteous judgments of the Lord who will function as Judge in that great and awful day.

A Newspaper Editor Comments

"Seldom, if ever, has there been a story publicized which is as unsavory and disillusioning as that of Ingrid Bergman. The cavortings of Rita Hayworth were bad enough. Spokesmen for Miss Bergman have been quoted as saying her American movie career is over. It may well be hoped that this is true. A woman who became the subject of admiration throughout the United States and in many other lands, she might have felt an obligation to set a better example for millions of admirers—many of whom undoubtedly place disproportionate credence in the conduct of their imaginary 'ideals.' Such obligations were not fulfilled.

"It takes no prude nor paragon of virtue to revolt at the shocking boldness of these love birds in flaunting their adulterous relationship and the crime of bastardy before the world. To cap it all it is now announced that they will seek to legalize the nasty mess by a Roman Catholic wedding. This in itself should offend all but the ungodly by the suggestion that the church which frowns upon divorce, forbids adultery and abhors bastardy, should now whitewash the affair and give all hands a clean bill of moral health by winking at the first, accepting the second as a fact accompli, and legitimizing the third."

Nashville Banner, February 4, 1950.

Fall Enrollment At Harding College 816

George S. Benson

A total of 816 students have enrolled in all divisions of Harding College. This includes 553 in the college, 23 in the graduate Bible department, 125 in the academy, and 115 in the elementary school.

The 30th annual opening chapel service was held in the college auditorium on September 18. Jesse P. Sewell, L. C. Sears, W. B. West, Kenneth Davis, R. C. Cannon, and Andy T. Ritchie took part in the devotional.

It was announced that S. A. Bell, Bible professor emeritus, has retired from teaching after 51 consecutive years in Christian education. Brother Bell made a few remarks, stating that 34 teachers on the faculty this year and four members of the board of trustees had been his students. Hundreds of preachers and elders have sat in his classes. The students and faculty gave him a standing ovation.

There are 16 new teachers on the college faculty this year, four of whom have doctor's degrees. There are eight new teachers in the academy. There are 77 teachers in the college and academy.

The new American studies building is in use. The school of American studies is designed to train young people for leadership positions in business, education, and public affairs.

With a strong, dedicated faculty and an excellent physical plant, we believe that this will be one of Harding's greatest years.

T. W. Croom To Discontinue Local Work

T. W. Croom

At the beginning of this year, I told the brethren here that I would resign the work here to take effect January 1, 1954. I am doing this that I may be able to hold meetings in small places unable to support a man full time. When I began preaching, 46 years ago, we were preaching in these places and neglecting the cities. There were a few exceptions to this, such as Nashville, Tennessee, but it was generally true that the most of the preaching was being done by some devoted men with little support and it was being done many times in isolated places in schoolhouses, brush arbors, and other places where opportunity afforded. Now all this is changed and when a young man gets ready to preach, he does not go out to "the fork of the creek" or other isolated places but advertizes that, "I want some church to call me" and of course give him a good salary. The churches almost always decide that this young man can reach more people in the city, so they arrange to give him a house, rent free, and pay him a good salary and send him to some small congregation in some city. I am not condemning this method but I clearly see that the places where I began preaching are now being neglected. I am planning to move back on my farm in Howard County, Arkansas, and devote the rest of my days in holding meetings where I am called, and possibly where I am not called. I will preach on Lord's days at any place not able to have a preacher full time within 100 miles of Nashville, Arkansas, at any time I am not engaged in meetings. Meetings will begin July 1 and continue through the fall. Any place desirous of my services in either of these ways, write me at once and arrangements will be made. Please do not consider this an appeal for help for it is definitely not. I think I am more able to preach the gospel now than ever before in my life and I am only offering to help those whom I can serve.

What Does The Bible Say?

How Wonderful It Would Be!

There is a marvelous power in unity. Jesus prayed that all those who would come to believe on him should "be one, as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou didst send me"; they should "all speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (1 Cor. 1:10).

Recently Billy Graham spoke to 25,000 persons in our football stadium at Lubbock. After our regular prayer-meeting service I went out to hear the last of his program. The very crowd was indicative of the interest people have in things religious. Of course I wished that Billy had been willing to preach the simple gospel that Peter preached on Pentecost. He did rebuke worldliness and certain types of sin forcefully. He did call upon the people to believe in Jesus Christ as the Son of God and to confess their faith in him. But he stopped there. What a wonderful thing it would have been if he had spoken to these waiting thousands the words of Peter on Pentecost when another huge crowd listened: "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2:38). Then suppose that everyone who had not been born again of the water and of the Spirit (John 3:5) had obeyed this command and had been baptized into Christ. What would those saved people be? To what church would they belong? They would be simple Christians, and the Lord would have added them to his body or church or kingdom as they were saved (Acts 2:47).

Think what a force for righteousness they would be if they did not divide into different denominations with diverse creeds and names and loyalties. Consider the effect of such a mass of believers whose only creed was Christ, whose only loyalty was to the kingdom of God.

Someone has well said: "The price of a divided Christendom is an unbelieving world." Nothing would give more power to the Cause of Christ than real unity among all who believe in him. Various federations and councils are somewhat like the United Nations, only a place to argue differences or to agree to disagree. The unity Christ prayed for is like that which exists between the Father and the Son, "perfectly joined together."

You and I do not have to wait for everyone else to agree before we can work for the unity Christ prayed for. We can insist on being simply Christians, nothing more and nothing less. We can resolutely refuse any religious loyalty save to Jesus Christ. We can accept no creed but Christ, no rule of faith but the Bible. We can work to urge all believers in Christ to do likewise.

From Prenshon Kharlukhi

Dear Brother Wallace:

We received your letter of May 1, 1953, with a check for $30.00.

Since my arrival home on the 20th of April, I have been very busy with preaching in the villages of this country. This and other domestic preoccupations prevented me from writing to you much earlier.

The Christians in India thoroughly enjoyed the report I gave them on my short visit with the churches of Christ in America. They were thrilled to know that there are many thousands of faithful Christians among the great American nation. The fact that there are numerous churches of Christ in America without any man-made creeds has enabled us to refute effectively the denominational argument that in actual practice man-made teachings are inevitable with the increase in the number of local churches.

Two weeks ago I had the occasion to preach publicly in one town 46 miles from Shillong. A little over two hundred respectable men and women attended the meetings. All of them belong to different denominations such as Presbyterians, Church of England, Church of God, Unitarians. At the close of the preaching they put very many questions and a good number of them seemed to be convinced that we are scripturally correct in teaching and practice. While none of them has obeyed the truth yet, we have firm hope that with further preaching efforts some will be won for Christ. One striking example to which these respectable folks have attracted our attention was that most of them brought their Bibles with them to check out whether we are scripturally right in what we stand for. They enjoyed our visit and they wish us to visit with them once again at our convenience.

Presbyterians of one village 25 miles from Shillong invited the leaders of this church to preach and teach them the truth. We promised to visit with them last Sunday (7th Inst.) but unfortunately owing to bad weather we were prevented from keeping our promise you know our hearts yearn and enjoy an opportunity of telling others the good news, but heavy rainfall inundated hill rivers and made it physically impossible to cross these roaring rivers to bring hope and solace to the salvation-hungry souls. However we intend to visit that place at an early opportunity.

One small congregation which for the last three years identified with the digressive church, has now decided to be restored and united with the faithful churches of Christ. They have invited the leaders of the Mawlai church to visit with them next Sunday to preach the simple Bible teachings to their village folks.

I remember with delight the rare privilege of meeting hundreds of beloved Christians in America. It will not be possible for me to write to them individually. I wish to express my heartfelt gratefulness and deep appreciation to them for their hospitality and friendliness toward me while I was in America.

Perhaps you have already known that the Government of India has turned down the visa application of Brother Rodney Wald to come to India. The Christians over here were grieved that this should be so, but we were helpless in the matter.

The church at Mawlai, Shillong has one pressing need for a modest church meeting house. This church has done fine missionary work and benevolent service toward the extremely poor members of the church within its slender financial resources. To purchase a lot and build a meeting house is beyond the church resources. There is one one-third acre lot centrally located for sale at a price of $2,000 in cash. There is an old building on this lot, that may serve as a temporary meeting house. To build a modest meeting house to seat 300 people will cost at least another $3,000. Will the churches of Christ in the States who are interested in the work of the church in India come to help raise necessary building funds? Brethren, we don't ask you for regular monthly help. We are compelled to beg from you because a meeting house is so necessary in this land of heavy rainfall and yet it is beyond the means of the church. Your help will mean a closer bond of Christian love with the Christians in this far off India and also will enable many sinners to hear the gospel of Christ to be preached regularly from the meeting house to be built with your monetary help. One Christian widow has donated $2.00 for the purpose. Will you not do the same?

LOCAL CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

There can be no surer road to ecclesiastical anarchy than carelessness, indifference or neglect in regard to the membership of the local congregations. Some have become critical. They seem to suppose that the members of the body of Christ belong to every local congregation in the land. With this view of things there would be no such function as that of the eldership, for the work of the elders would be scattered everywhere. The elders and deacons in any congregation have their authority circumscribed by the limits of the membership of the local congregation to which they belong. And this membership, it is manifest, may be increased by accretions from other congregations, or diminished by death, removal, etc. Alexander Campbell has well spoken along this line:

"Members should be publicly received into all societies. They are so in the state. It is a matter of record. When a person is regenerated, and desires to be enrolled among the disciples meeting in any one place, if his confession to salvation or immersion has not been publicly known to all the brethren, reason says those who have been privy to the fact, who can attest his confession, ought to introduce him to the congregation, and he ought to be saluted or received as such by the brethren with whom he unites. This the slightest attention to propriety, the reason and nature of things, fully and satisfactorily demonstrate. Letters of recommendation are the expedient which, in apostolic times, was substituted for this formal introduction when a citizen of the kingdom visited any community where he was unknown personally to the brethren.

"A person cannot be under the oversight or under the discipline of a congregation, unless he voluntarily associates with the brethren meeting in that place, and unless it be a matter of notoriety or of record among the brethren that he is one of them. There can be no formal exclusion if there be no formal reception. If there be no visible and formal union, there can be no visible and formal separation. In truth, there can be no discipline in any congregation, unless it be an organized body; and no body can be organized unless it is known who are members of it. On a matter of such plain common-sense perception we have seldom thought it necessary to say a word, and should not now have noticed it at all, had we not found some societies which cannot tell their own members, which even hesitated about the necessity of a formal reception of any person into them, or of having it on record who belonged to them. They demand a positive commandment or precedent for such a reception. They might as pertinently have demanded a positive commandment for persons to be formally married before they could be recognized as husband and wife, as to ask for a positive commandment for one of the most common dictates of reason and of thought. Indeed, every commandment addressed to the Christian congregations on relative duties and privileges assumes the principle that those who belong to a society are known to each other to belong to it, else they could not even perform the first duty to one another—they could not know when they were assembled—they could not 'tarry for one another.'

"Whether there shall be a record in print, in writing, or on the memory of all the congregation, is a question which must depend on circumstances. If all members are blessed with infallible memories, so as never to forget who are members, when they became such, when anyone was received, when anyone was rejected—I say, if every brother and sister can so well remember these matters, as, when the discipline of the congregation or any particular question respecting one case of discipline may arise, they can infallibly remember all about it; then, and in that case, it is unnecessary to have any record, church book, secretary, or anything written or printed. But if otherwise, there must be a record; because questions involving the peace and good order of society may arise, and have risen, which require infallible testimony, of the most satisfactory evidence on questions of fact, such as, Was A B ever a member of your community? When did he become a member of it? When was he excluded? When was he restored? When did he forsake the assembly of the brethren? Was he a husband at the time of his removal?"

The purpose of this letter is to acquaint the brotherhood with the fact that Max R. Crumley has resigned the work at the Central Church of Christ, Temple, Texas, and has accepted the work with the church at Ranger, Texas. It is also written to give a brief record of his work at Central and to show the esteem with which he is regarded by the members of this church.

Brother Crumley came to the Central congregation in June of 1949 and labored diligently for a period of a little more than four years. The results of his labors are seen in the many conversions to the truth that have come during this time, to the increased attendance at all services, the interest manifested by the congregation generally, the increased contributions, a greatly improved Bible school, and the love and respect with which he is regarded by the membership generally.

After repeated invitations from the church at Ranger, and feeling that possibly another might carry on the work at Central to an even greater degree of success, Brother Crumley of his own will accepted the new work.

It is with a feeling of deep regret from the Central congregation that Brother Crumley leaves us, but we wish him and the church at Ranger much success in the Lord's work.—In Christian fellowship, Central Church of Christ, Elders: W. F. Lawhorn, R. S. Stephens, Homer Reed.

Church Of Christ, Ranger, Texas

Mesquite and South Rusk, Ranger, Texas

To the Brotherhood, Greetings:

The congregation which meets at Rusk and Mesquite here in Ranger underwent some very sorrowful experiences about a year ago. Some departed from us.

The elders invited Brother Paul C. Witt, an elder of the Fourteenth and Vine Street Church in Abilene, to preach for the church here until a permanent worker could be secured. Brother Witt began work with us last November and very greatly assisted us with our problems. He is held in great respect by all.

We have secured Brother Max R. Crumley, who is now in his fifth year of labor with the Central Church of Christ, Temple, Texas, to work with us. Brother Crumley began his work among us September 1, 1953, and is in no way responsible for any conditions existing prior to that time. Brother Crumley is loved and respected throughout the brotherhood for his excellent ministry. We ask the prayers of the churches for us all as we labor together for God's glory!—Signed: Elders, O. G. Lanier, F. G. Head, Aaron Bell, M. H. Bobo.

Brother Harvey Childress of St. Paul, Minnesota, closed a ten-day meeting here August 23. Brother Childress, his wife and son planned and saved toward the trip for four years, using their time among us to build up the Lord's work in giving the meeting.

Brother Childress' interest in saving souls on "vacation" and with an expensive trip met with response among the members for a teamwork resulting in five baptisms and two acknowledgements of error.

The experience, ability and zeal of all three members of the family strengthened this isolated congregation in many ways.

There is unusual steadfastness among the 37 members in attending worship, the class for new members on Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock, and the mid-week prayer meeting and lessons surveying the New Testament. With ten new converts in the last 18 months making their homes in Juneau, this program is important to ground them in the truth that "by reason of time" they may be much-needed teachers and personal workers.

One note to encourage slow-growing congregations in hard fields: Often only one other person besides my wife and me met for worship in the rented halls the first two years of the church in Juneau. The building put in a new part of town gave us a Sunday school attendance and permanency in the eyes of the community. The number of converts has increased every year as we strive to maintain unity in the bond of peace and a real care for unsaved friends.

From The Nation's Capital

A. R. Holton

My second week in Washington gave me a very interesting experience with our State Department. In company with Billy Hood and Sam Durrance, ministers in this area, I had the privilege of having a conference with Mr. William Knight at the Italian desk in the State Department. The occasion of the conference was the arrival from Italy of Mr. Giacomo Rossa-peppe, an Italian lawyer representing Cline Paden and others of the churches of Christ in Italy. The Italian government had proposed taxation of our church property at a rate which meant the confiscation of our property there. Mr. Rossa-peppe presented the legal side of the matter to our State Department. We were delighted when a plan was worked out whereby we think a stay in the tax plan can be had and that there will be a definite and concentrated effort made to get recognition for the churches of Christ in Italy. It seems that the Italian government does not refuse us recognition but they simply ignore it and do nothing about it. We received great encouragement that every effort will be made to get recognition.

It was interesting to note the ease with which our State Department officials could talk in Italian with Mr. Rossa-peppe, and then talk with us in just as fluent English. Mr. Rossa-peppe is a brilliant lawyer and was in attendance at the services of the 16th Street Church of Christ on September 13. He also had lunch with us in the fellowship room of the church after the service. His English is rather broken but he made it clear even in broken English that he was glad to be with us. I think this is but one sample of the opportunity one gets in living in Washington. Washington is really the capital of the world. I think that Paul would have been delighted to be in Washington as he was delighted to be at the crossroads of the world in his day.

The conference referred to above was at the insistence of the church of Christ in Brownfield, Texas. This good church has the responsibility for the work in Italy.

Recorded Prayers

George Hickey

Recorded hymns, preaching and prayer are given to glorify God as well as to teach and lead the radio audience. The time element has some sincere brethren disturbed. There is a period of time between the confession and the baptism. How long can this period be and yet be scriptural? This depends upon the motive of the confessed believer. There is a time element in paying the preacher. A "hobbyist" may say we don't pay the preacher a stipulated amount, we just make him a gift after the sermon. Somebody must decide how much to give him. Is it just as scriptural to decide a week before as it is a second before the transaction?

The recorded prayers of the Bible are not thought to be useless. When a brother is selected to lead the congregation in prayer there is a time element between the time he utters words and these find lodging in other hearts. How long or short must this time element be in order to be scriptural? When a prayer is recorded, if the twice born radio listener can wholeheartedly accept it, then why won't God accept the prayer from the individual? God will accept it if it is offered in accord with truth and offered with the right motive (James 5:16).

The writer never realized that he possessed a "Chinese prayer wheel" until it was recently named. Here is what my wheel has written upon it—"Almighty God have mercy upon me a sinner, allow me to correctly interpret thy word and apply it to my life. In Christ's name." May the God of mercy keep me from sowing discord among brethren. Dear editors, he that is weak in the faith receive ye "but not to doubtful disputing." May God continue to shed his mercy to all but especially to the household of faith. "All truth is eternal." It must be recorded.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

F. A. Bailey, Girard, Texas, October 1: Last Lord's day we had an increase in our attendance and a very good interest was shown. One confessed wrongs at the morning worship.

Ira Lee Sanders, 8332 Bonner Dr., Houston 7, Texas, September 14: For the last two months I have been laid up at home with a broken hip and it will be some time yet before I will be able to get back in the work of the Lord. I am asking for the prayers of the brethren.

Levoy Bivens, Box 734, Gasden, Alabama, September 18: Four baptisms last week. Much interest is being shown in all phases of our work. Approximately one-third of our audience last Sunday were visitors. A full-scale effort is being put forth to completely evangelize our city.

Austin Taylor writes: Brother Bill Thompson has just been with the church in Uvalde in a meeting. Brother Thompson preaches with great power. If the church would make adequate arrangements to bring large crowds together, then call in Brother Thompson to preach the gospel to them, thousands of people could be reached while he might, otherwise, preach to only a few hundred. Such men should be out on the front line continually.

Vestal Chaffin, Box 84, Bruceton, Tennessee, September 30: During the summer I have conducted meetings at the following places: Moss, Tennessee, two were baptized and one restored. At Corinth, in DeKalb County Tennessee, with no additions. At Trousdale, in Warren County, Tennessee, one was baptized. At Hestand, Kentucky, nine were baptized and five were restored. At Northcutts Cove, in Grundy County, Tennessee, one was baptized. At Unity, in Warren County, Tennessee, three were baptized. James Wells conducted a meeting here August 31 through September 9; one restored.

James M. Tolle, 768 Alexander Street, San Fernando, California, September 30: Other J. Long, one of the elders of the Alexander Street church, is now devoting his full time to the pastoral work of this congregation. The brethren have zealously and liberally rallied to his support. His work is not meant in any way to supplant the responsibilities and obligations of the other elders but rather to expand the influence for good being accomplished by the Alexander Street church. Brother Long is an intelligent, efficient, and faithful servant of the Lord, and I confident that his labors will continually bear fruit to the glory of God and the progress of the church in San Fernando.

D. D. Woody, Baton Rouge 9, Louisiana, September 30: Last Sunday was one of the most encouraging days that we have had since I began my work here, more than a year ago. Our house was well filled. Two identified themselves with the congregation at the morning service; and a lady was baptized at the evening service, and was united with her husband in the Lord. Thirty-seven men and women are enrolled in the university here, who are either members of the church of Christ or name that as their preference. Some have already affiliated themselves with us. A few of the thirty-seven are from foreign countries. The cause is prospering.

Hutton B. Gist, 636 Steves, San Antonio, Texas: One lady baptized the 10th. House about filled on Sunday mornings. You will find welcome at Highland Hills church, 303 Burkedale.

Luther Savage, Ft. Worth, Texas, September 30: Sunday was another fine day here. Attendance and contributions were high and three were baptized. The man that was baptized was about forty years of age. The two women were about thirty-five years of age and had been Baptists.

University Drive Church of Christ, Portales, New Mexico: We have just closed a meeting, Brother Albert Sweet of Oklahoma City doing the preaching. We have another meeting scheduled for next month with Brother Bob Ware doing the preaching. We baptized a young teacher last night.

Thomas B. Warren, 5000 Doyle, Ft. Worth, Texas, September 15: My scheduled debate with Isaac Nixon, Baptist, has been cancelled due to Mr. Nixon's ill health. He was to affirm that the Baptist church was the only scriptural church, I the same for the church of Christ. It was arranged as a direct result of the tract, To Our Baptist Friends, by A. G. Hobbs, Jr. and was to have been held in the building of the Handley congregation here in Ft. Worth.

Doyle Cannon, San Antonio, Texas, September 21: Here at Government Hill yesterday we had four to respond to the invitation: one restored and three baptized. One of these men had been a Methodist, another a Baptist, and the other nothing. This is in addition to the two responses the Wednesday before and the sixteen Sunday before that. The work here grows in interest and is gratifying to us all. I have room for one more meeting in December. Those interested please contact me at Government Hill Church of Christ, 1016 Mason, San Antonio, Texas.

Will Slater, Fort Worth 11, Texas, September 20: The singing school with the "C" Street church in Stockton, California, was well attended and much interest manifested. I was to have conducted a meeting, but they decided a singing school was needed, and too, members from other congregations expressed a desire for same. Fine co-operation and brotherly love was manifested. Brother T. A. Davis is minister for the "C" Street church, and is doing a great work. My next work will be in Colcord, Oklahoma. Any congregation within driving distance of Fort Worth that needs a preacher this winter, I'll be glad to serve you.

James F. Fowler, 403 Church Street, College Station, Texas, September 21: The College Station church is experiencing one of the best beginnings of a new school year. Nearly sixty new student members have been added to our forces since Texas A&M College opened its doors for the fall semester. Many old students have returned and already our enlarged building is well filled except for the balcony. We anticipate using the balcony next Sunday since the A&M football team will be playing in College Station on Saturday night. Our Bible school has grown considerably in the past few months and we are now having the problem of finding adequate classroom space.

Ralph R. Givens, 555—12th Street, Yuma, Arizona, September 28: During the past three weeks three have been baptized, one restored, and six identified.

Howard D. Parker, 7910 Rugby Avenue, Birmingham, Alabama, September 29: All indications point to an enjoyable and we trust, profitable work with the 77th Street congregation here. One was baptized and one placed membership yesterday.

C. W. Scott, 301 N. W. 52nd Street, Miami, Florida, September 28: Three were recently baptized at 7th Avenue (a Methodist, Baptist and a Catholic), four others placing membership and one confession of sin. Visitors to Miami will find active and growing churches of Christ.

Bill Thompson, Lufkin, Texas, September 28: One man was baptized last Lord's day. There were 208 in Wednesday evening Bible classes. The new congregation will meet in its building on Union Road next Sunday. Fourth and Groesbeck has backed this work in every way.

Robert D. Banks, 810 Houston Street, Kilgore, Texas, September 29: The meeting at Vidor, Texas, in which I did the preaching closed last week with two baptisms. Brother J. T. Stone is doing a good work with the church as local minister and was a splendid co-worker in the meeting. The elders invited me to return in 1954. In the last two weeks there have been three responses here at Houston and Broadway. One was baptized and two placed membership.

Fred W. McClung, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, September 22: I started my work with the 12th and Drexel Streets church in Oklahoma City with a gospel meeting which closed Sunday night, September 20. One was restored and three were baptized into Christ. We had very good attendance and interest. I will preach in a meeting at Overland, Missouri, October 4th through the 14th. I will also be in a meeting at Corpus Christi, Texas, from October 27 through November 5. Everyone please take notice of my change in address. Write me in care of the church at 12th and Drexel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Reginald Beaver, Delta, Colorado, September 30: The church at Gunnison, Colo., is meeting each Lord's day in the Odd Fellows Hall. A gospel meeting is scheduled at Gunnison Nov. 24-29 with Duward Lee and myself doing the personal work and preaching. I would appreciate the names and addresses of anyone around Gunnison who is a member or might be interested in the church. At this time I am engaged in a gospel meeting at Alamosa, Colo. If a preacher could come to Gunnison and have outside support, the cause would grow more.

Leonard C. Waggoner, 306 West Pecan St., Olney, Texas, September 29: We have resigned the work here, and will move on October 12th to begin work with the Broadway church in Houston, Texas. During the past year here there have been 80 responses to the invitation, including 19 baptisms, 46 restorations, and 15 to place membership. This has been, I believe, the most profitable and fruitful work of my career since most of these responses have been heads of families and adult women uniting Christian homes for the first time in as high as 35 years. I have time for one protracted meeting in 1954. My new address is 7606 Linden Street, Houston 8, Texas. No preacher for Olney has yet been selected.

Hugh Boysdton, 1209 So. Texas Avenue, Odessa, Texas, September 14: There were 178 at the mid-week services last Wednesday. There have been four more restored last week. Contributions yesterday were $312.00.

J. Boyd Taylor, 1506 N. 9th Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, October 1: W. B. Barton of Clarksville, Texas, closed a good meeting with the Lincoln Street church last night. Four were baptized. A number of sectarians heard the gospel preached. In September, we set two new records for Bible study attendance.

William B. Kughn, 506 Cotton Avenue, Caruthersville, Missouri: I closed a meeting with the church of Christ in Donie, Texas. The brethren there are few in number but zealous in the work of the Lord. It is a small community and the people are prejudiced toward the church. May God bless the Christians who are few in number at Donie and give them strength to endure.

A. E. Wickham, Coshocton, Ohio, September 14: Two good meetings at the East Main Street Church of Christ here yesterday. Several away on vacations. Readers, keep in mind we still have "Bombs in the Camps of Russellites, and Jehovah's Witnesses" and "Christ's Will and Its Contestants." Former ten cents and latter, twenty-five cents. Cheaper in lots.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, September 21: Yesterday was a day of revival services, attendance good. Two mothers were identified, one brother restored, and his Catholic wife was baptized. There is another Catholic mother a prospect. In fact, we are convinced that nearly all Catholic and sectarians are prospects. We just think they are impossible and let them alone. That is our mistake and their loss.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, September 28: I am in the midst of a fine meeting with the brethren in Mt. Judea, Arkansas. This being my seventh meeting with them over the years. I always enjoy being with the good brethren here. I have baptized well over 100 people here, many having moved away to help in other places. The work at home goes well. Our next meeting there will begin October 19th with Edgar Furr doing the preaching. Be with us for worship, when in Victoria.

Thos. E. Cudd, 210 Cheyenne Avenue, Colorado Springs, Colorado, September 22: Our meeting came to a close last Sunday night. Seven responded to the invitation during the meeting. Brother Perry Cotham of Nashville, Tennessee, is a splendid evangelist. We commend him highly. The church was defiled and aliens were preached to at every service. We believe much good will come from the meeting in the future.

A. E. Findley, P. O. Box 403, Refugio, Texas, September 15: Since our last report we preached one night for the church on E. Burleson Street in Marshall, Texas. Brother Vaughan is their efficient minister. Brother Austin Taylor and the writer held the first gospel meeting in Marshall many years ago. Brother Sam B. Hall, District Judge, is one of the elders. We were baptized at the same time by the late venerable John T. Poe. Our meeting with the church at Premont, Texas, resulted in two restorations and two being identified with the local church. Three were identified here in Refugio Sunday.

On September 27, 1953, at Georgetown, Texas, our colored brethren held a special meeting, all day preaching and dinner on the ground, a full program, to arrange for a new building at Taylor, Texas. A fine interest with a liberal offering are reported.

Loyd L. Smith, Lawton, Oklahoma, September 30: Last Sunday night, Brother Foster Ramsey of Tipton, Oklahoma, closed a good meeting with us. Three were baptized and one confessed wrongs. His preaching was the kind that shows the difference between right and wrong. He helped us much. He has been asked to return next year.

Noel Grisham, Hutto, Texas, September 20: I completed eight years at Odell as minister of the church there and superintendent of the schools. July 1, I began work in Hutto as superintendent of schools and shall assist the church where and when I can be of best service. I have thus far preached at Taylor and Round Rock in the absence of their ministers.

Clarence A. Price, Route 9, Waco, Texas, September 29: Our crowds are growing here at the Lakeview church. We had room for only 15 more at the morning service last Lord's day. Two were restored and placed membership at the morning service. I have time for a meeting or two next year. Call me if you would like my services. Write me at above address.

Elbridge B. Linn, 1903 University Avenue, October 5: During the month of September three records were broken in Bible School at the University Avenue congregation. The attendances for the month were: 320, 420, 495, and 502. During the month of September, there were 84 to place membership and six restored. Yesterday four placed membership and one was baptized. The work of our Lord moves forward.

Cecil Hook, New Iberia, Louisiana: Excellent preaching by Brother Thomas B. Warren resulted in one baptism and four restorations in a recent meeting here. Better preaching could hardly be asked for. The work is at new heights of progress here. Two men have been baptized as a direct result of our daily broadcasts lately. One was a Catholic from another community. He met opposition; even his wife threatened to quit him. The following week-end the station received a deluge of protests of our program.

Luther G. Roberts, 1506 Clayton, Borger, Texas, September 21: After October 1st the above will be our address. We are moving on that date to Borger to work with the Deahl and Second Streets church. We have enjoyed the work with the good people who compose the membership of the West Side church in Corsicana, our stay here has been pleasant and the people have been good to us. We shall always cherish their friendship and hospitality. Only an opportunity to preach the gospel to a greater number of people motivated me to make this change when invited by the church at Borger to work with them. The preacher who accepts work with the West Side church in Corsicana will find a group including the elders with an excellent spirit, generous in their support, and hospitable in their association. There is nothing wrong with the church at West Side. They number among the membership some of the very finest men and women we have known. We regretted to leave West Side but anticipate a good work with the church at Borger in the Texas Panhandle.

James W. Reynolds, Pueblo, Colorado, September 22: Our work here in Pueblo continues to go well. I begin a meeting with the Irvington church, 25 N. Layman Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana, October 11th to continue through the 21st. Brother Cecil Willis is the local evangelist.

Brother Max Love and his wife have recently moved to Ft. Cobb, Oklahoma, and are doing a very excellent work with the church there. They were formerly working in Booker. There are many opportunities in this town, and lots of work to be done. I feel that the Loves will do a good work. Pray for them.

Bill Cofer, Fort Cobb, Oklahoma, September 26: I am now in a meeting at Ft. Cobb, and thus far there have been three to respond to the gospel invitation. The meeting continues through the night of October 1st. Good interest, and good attendance. I am enjoying working with Brother Max Love and his wife.

B. E. Bawcom, 926 N. "C" Street, Arkansas City, Kansas, September 27: One was baptized, one restored and one placed membership last Sunday. We hope to have a great meeting with Harmon Black of Detroit, Michigan, preaching. The meeting begins November 8. I begin a gospel meeting with Church Street in Mobile, Alabama, October 25.

Roy E. Stephens, Burnet, Texas: Two were baptized in a meeting at Bertram, Texas. Martin Crass ably preaches the word there. About eight have been baptized in Burnet recently. Five responded during a meeting with F. F. Conley doing the preaching in his usual fine way. I am in a meeting at Cleveland, Texas. Six responses the first service. Doyle Cannon of San Antonio holds us a meeting at Burnet in October.

F. S. Harper, P. O. Box 194, Woodbury, Tennessee, September 30: "Athens Clay Pullias preached in our fall meeting and Pat Boone directed the song services. The interest and attendance was good throughout the meeting. One was baptized and one was restored. The work here is going along in a fine way. Interest and attendance are growing with each service. One was baptized at our mid-week service this week and one was baptized last week. I go to Newcomerstown, Ohio, October 27th for a meeting.

John W. Hedge, Representative

George Tipps, 211 West Grand, Jackson, Tennessee, September 20: No responses in the Harlan, Kentucky, meeting. Harry Bennetts has been laboring with these brethren since July, and is highly respected among them. This was my fifth meeting in Southeastern Kentucky. I go next to be with Buford Holt and the church in Humboldt, Tennessee. Tommy Nicks will lead the singing.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, September 30: September 20th a Catholic mother was baptized and her husband restored, and two identified. September 27, a long-time Methodist man was baptized and one brother restored. Brother W. R. Smith, vice-president of Abilene Christian College, spoke last night helping us to enlarge our Bible school work. Average attendance during the summer was 253 each Sunday in the school.

A. G. Hobbs, Jr., 3156 Jane Lane, Ft. Worth, Texas, October 3: It was my privilege recently to do the preaching in a meeting in Miami, Fla. There were five baptisms and one restoration. One who was baptized was Roman Catholic. She came to services twice. Brother C. W. Scott taught her more privately and baptized her. I substituted on the "Know Your Bible" hour twice for Brother W. Ray Duncan. I never saw or heard of a like program. People telephone their Bible questions in and they are answered over the radio immediately. Some are sent in by mail, and more come in than can be answered, 90 or 95 percent from those who are not members of the church. From Nov. 15 to 25, I am to be in Holdenville, Okla., for a meeting.

Hershel Dyer, 847 S. 14th, Lincoln 8, Nebraska, September 29: This past Lord's day our fall meeting came to a close. John T. Smith did the preaching and it was fine indeed. He strengthened the church much and made a profound impression on the numerous outsiders who attended. Hubert Arant led the singing in his own capable manner. During this eight-day series we had some of the largest crowds that we have ever had in our building; two were baptized.

I. A. Douthitt, Chattanooga, Tennessee: Last night, September 18, in the Memorial Auditorium down town here in Chattanooga, I showed my colored motion pictures, which I made this summer in Palestine, to a very appreciative audience of between 3,000 and 4,000 people. I had on exhibit many souvenirs, costumes (worn by the natives), and other articles from the lands of the Bible. This program climaxed a good-will tour that I had been making in the interest of the Chattanooga Bible school. I have about 7,000 feet of colored movie film and several hundred colored slides that I made on my tours to the Holy Land. I am running out to several places within a reasonable distance of Chattanooga and showing the pictures at churches and schools.

A. C. Huff, Plainview, Texas, September 19: I preached at McLean on Wednesday night following the first Sunday in this month to a splendid audience while Brother Harold McCollum was away on business, and I had the pleasure of hearing him preach the following Sunday morning. He is doing a good work at McLean. I was told that the audience that Sunday morning was the second largest that they have ever had. Brother McCollum is a hard worker. He is taking the gospel to the homes and is having many of the denominations attending his class and hearing him preach. I hope to see that church grow as never before. I was called to teach a family in their home two weeks ago, and I am called to teach in another home next Tuesday night. I hope to do much good in these services.

If anyone that reads this knows of a church that does not use instrumental music in the worship, in or near Louisa, Kentucky, write me, H. E. Kelley, 1712 W 34½ St., Houston, 18, Texas. I have a daughter, Mrs. Bert Queen, who is a member of the church of Christ, who lives on Route 4, 10 miles out of Louisa, Kentucky. I would like to put her in touch with a church near there.

F. M. Redding, Oakwood, Texas, September 29: Brother Otta Johnson of Denison, Texas, assisted the church here in a fine meeting the latter part of July. Brother Johnson is a fine man, a genuine Christian and a good preacher. He is to return for a meeting in 1954, the Lord willing. Brother F. A. Livingston also assisted us in a missionary effort among the colored race. He is a powerful preacher and did some of the finest preaching I have ever heard. Eleven were baptized in this effort. There is an urgent need for financial help in further advancing the cause among the colored people here. The small, new congregation is meeting each Lord's day in a rented building, but we do not hope to be able to get it very long. Those interested in this work please contact us at the above address.

Elton D. Dilbeck, 1335 Granada Drive, New Orleans 22, Louisiana, October 1: "During the month of September Carrollton Avenue enjoyed the addition of 16 to its membership, a new record Bible school attendance, and a weekly average of $599.29 for contributions. Attendance is growing for all services. We are finding it necessary to use our balcony most every Lord's day morning. It was two-thirds filled last week. We expect to see a congregation established in the Gentilly section of our city before the first of the new year. From October 18-25 we will be engaged in a meeting with Horace W. Busby. At the present time I am preaching in a meeting with the Gretna, Louisiana, church.

W. A. Bradfield, Henderson, Tennessee, September 28: Last week I preached in the first meeting in the new building on East Chester Street in Jackson, Tennessee. Good crowds attended and five were baptized. Glyn Phillips is the regular preacher and that congregation has wonderful opportunities in the city of Jackson.

James D. Groves, Detroit 16, Michigan, September 28: B. C. Goodpasture closed a great meeting here at Vinewood last night which ran one week and twenty-two souls responded. Record attendances were set with over 600 present at the morning services yesterday. His sermons were marked by brilliant exegesis, piercing analyses, fervor, humility. He came to be greatly esteemed by the congregation and has agreed to return in 1955, Lord willing. Brother Goodpasture is a master of the pulpit. Many congregations were represented in this series. Yesterday afternoon we burned the mortgage on our building which we entered January 9, 1949, and which cost, with the land, over eighty-three thousand dollars. We hope that this may open larger avenues of service now that this particular phase has been completed.

O. M. Fairley, Osceola, Arkansas, September 29: Brother J. C. Martin of Alabama, who has been with the church here for two years, has resigned and will be leaving shortly. So we are interested in locating another preacher. We have a membership of 150 or more, and generally speaking, a very live, energetic lot of Christians—interested in the proclamation of the gospel and in the saving of souls. We need a man of experience, deeply consecrated, and one who not only makes an impressive appearance in the pulpit, but at the same time is interested in seeking the lost in the highways and byways. Your help in locating a man or making contacts will be greatly appreciated. We have a thirty minute radio program on Sunday mornings.

William M. Deuell, Minister, Newport, Ohio, September 11: I enjoy the field reports very much as it keeps me in touch with the different ministers and the great work being done by his servants. May the glory continually, be given unto our Lord. We are happy to announce that several have been baptized and two restored in Christ since our last report a month ago; also, we have just finished a new baptistry and hope to use it many times during our coming meeting of October 6, 1953. Brother Nicklas, minister and artist of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, is to hold our two-week service and since we are preaching to nearly a full house at both services on Lord's day, we are expecting an overflow in attendance and hope many souls will be saved. If you happen to be in our vicinity, we would enjoy your presence in Christian fellowship and love.

F. M. Reading, Oakwood, Texas, September 29: There has been no year in the past twenty-six years that I have not preached some for the church here. In fact there have been but few months during that time that I have not preached as much as one Sunday; for the past four years I have been working full time for them. It appears to me that they have heard me preach so much that someone else could do more good here. Because of that condition I want to go somewhere else. I would like to get in touch with some congregation that has a mind to work and that needs a preacher to locate with them. I am interested in some evangelistic work also. If you need me contact me at the above address, or phone No. 137, Oakwood, Texas.

"TV SUNDAY SCHOOL" TO BEGIN SEPTEMBER 27

Mrs. Gayle Oler, of Boles Orphan Home, Quinlan, Texas, will begin teaching "TV Sunday School" on Sunday morning, September 27, at 10:30 A.M. on Channel 8, WFAA-TV. The program will follow the International Bible School Lesson outlines, and will be presented as a public service by WFAA-TV.

Mrs. Gayle Oler

This program for children will include visual aids such as flannel board stories, blackboard chalk talks, flash cards, dolls, and object lessons to impress Bible truths on young minds.

The theme song of the "TV Sunday School," "Sing Along, Children," was written by Mrs. Oler, and harmonized and arranged by A. Hugh Graham, director of the Bel Canto Chorus at Boles Home. "Sing Along, Children" will be sung by Boles Home children, the Bel Canto Quartet, Mrs. Oler and Mr. Graham.

"TV Sunday School" is designed for boys and girls who do not attend church regularly, for children who are ill, and for shut-ins and children in hospital wards.

Cards and letters about the program should be mailed to "TV Sunday School," WFAA-TV, Dallas, Texas.

NOTE TO CHURCHES: WFAA-TV has shown every consideration in granting us this teaching privilege as a public service. Mrs. Oler has been assured that she may teach the entire Bible, appropriately for children from 3-11 years of age, and in her field of story-telling. By request, and according to our convictions, the theme song is without mechanical instruments of music. Mr. Jay Watson, program manager of WFAA-TV deserves our thanks and appreciation for his work in producing the "TV Sunday School." It will be well for announcement to be made that notes of appreciation be sent in by members of the church. Announcements should be made in local newspapers, also.

Dean Bullock, Durant, Oklahoma, September 30: One was baptized Sunday. One was baptized and another restored Wednesday night. The glorious gospel is powerful.

Thos. B. Warren, 4307 N. E. 28th Street, Fort Worth, Texas, October 2: A gospel meeting will be held October 25-31 in the meeting house of the Eastridge congregation, 4307 N. E. 28th St., Ft. Worth, Texas. The theme of the series will be: "The Letters to the Seven Churches of Asia." Following is a list of respective speakers and subjects: Oct. 25—"Letter to the Church at Ephesus", Neal Marshall; Oct. 26—"Letter to Church at Smyrna", Claude Guild; Oct. 27—"Letter to Church at Pergamum", Roy Deaver; Oct. 28—"Letter to Church at Thyatira", Jess Hall; Oct. 29—"Letter to Church at Sardis", Joe Malone; Oct. 30—"Letter to Church at Philadelphia", Wesley Mickey; Oct. 31, "Letter to Church at Laodicea", Abe Lincoln. Services will be held each evening at 7:30.

Foy Kirkpatrick, Terrell, Texas, September 25: On November 1 I will begin work as minister of education at the Terrell church, after having served over two years as minister at the church in Mesquite, Texas. I will continue my teaching duties at Southwestern Christian College in Terrell. Our work at Mesquite has been very pleasant, and we have seen substantial growth in membership and attendance during our stay, and the contribution has almost tripled during that time. Several have been baptized recently. A new building was completed the first part of the year, and the brethren are making plans for someone to locate with them full time. I have been interested in the educational work of the local church for some time and have made an extensive study in that work in connection with my study for my doctorate. I am looking forward to the opportunity of being able to work with the church in this capacity, and I believe that much good can be done in improving our Bible study program.

Clyde G. Smallwood, Box 254, Station ACC, Abilene, Texas, September 17: Another young lady was baptized into Christ at the Hillcrest church of Christ in Woodward, Oklahoma, last Lord's day. This makes two baptized and two restored. This congregation continues to grow and will do more of it now that they have secured a full-time preacher. Brother Frank Kilborn of Houston, Texas, will take over the work there beginning the fourth Sunday of this month. Next Lord's day will be my last with this wonderful congregation. I have come to love them deeply and certainly am not happy to leave them. Since I am to be in Abilene Christian College this next year, I am anxious to contact some congregation within a radius of 150 miles who might wish for me to drive out each Lord's day to preach for them. If such a congregation is interested, please contact me at Box 254, Station ACC, Abilene, Texas.

Marvine Kelley, 9th and Norman, Raymondville, Texas, September 28: I have not reported in some time due to a full schedule. Since January the church here has conducted four meetings and three debates. There have been 22 responses to the invitation and the church is growing. The last debate I had with Dr. Albert Garner will be off the press in about 90 days. It is not thought that my part of the debate is so outstanding but it was suggested by some of the preachers that attended that it ought to be in print because it is the first time a Baptist ever was forced to the place that he would admit just what the Baptist doctrine is. The pre-publication price will be $1.25 for the paper and $2.75 for the cloth binding. Send any orders to Marvine Kelley, Church of Christ, Raymondville, Texas.

Cecil E. Hill, 1111 West Mulberry, San Antonio, Texas: The Beacon Hill congregation of this city enjoys an ever-increasing interest and attendance. Last Sunday, seven placed membership and the Sunday before there were five. We have a good number of visitors in practically all of our services. The teachers are making a serious effort to increase our Bible school attendance to a substantially higher level. This is one of the most difficult phases of our work. Brother Norvel Young will be with us in a short meeting in the month of January. We anticipate a very successful evangelistic effort. This congregation is favorably known for its encouragement to young men, especially those who are stationed here in the Army and Air Corps. While we have been able to help and assist them, they in turn have made most valuable contributions to our work. Several who have come this way have been very capable and consecrated preachers and teachers.

Perry B. Cotham, 3709 Rosemont Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee: It was hard leaving the good church in Paris after six years of pleasant and profitable labor. The elders and the entire membership were so good to me and my family. We shall ever be grateful for our stay with the Lamar Avenue congregation. I plan to spend a few weeks this fall in meetings and visits showing my Holy Land pictures and talking in the interest of a new church building in Paris, France. The church there has some money for a new building, but they need more. The present location is in a poor part of town and on the third floor. Lamar Avenue elders signed the sponsorship with the French government for the Claxton Wilsons and they are now with the Maurice Halls in France. If any should desire to have fellowship in this work contact Brother Hall or the elders at Lamar Avenue.

U. R. Forrest, Akron, Michigan, September 22: Another was baptized here last Lord's day, bringing the number baptized during the past six weeks to six. I will in the near future be ready to turn my "notes for class work" over to the book binders. There will be about 500 pages, perhaps in two volumes. This is not a commentary, but just what the title implies: Notes for Bible Study at Home and in Classes; leaders for thoughts on every verse in the New Testament. We would like to know about how many to have bound, therefore would appreciate you writing to us if you want a copy. The price will be just what it costs for printing and binding. I do not think it will run more than $1.00 per volume, perhaps, plus postage. We do not want anything for our two years' work on the manuscript. Do not send any money now. We will let you know when it is ready and what the cost of production has been. Our work here is growing in every way.

Wilburn C. Hill, 130 Cleveland Avenue, Wichita 7, Kansas, September 27: The brethren at Cleveland Avenue sent us to Montana in August to conduct a training course at Flathead Lake Encampment. We enjoyed the work, and the brethren in that section are to be commended for their zeal. In many ways they have a rugged battle, but are making headway. I preached for the Montana congregations at Bozeman, Missoula, and Fairview, and also at Calgary, Canada, while gone. It was a pleasant experience for us. The work is progressing in a very commendable way here at Cleveland Avenue, yet there is much to be done. The two new congregations which we started, known as the University congregation and the Dellrose congregation, are doing splendidly, and the attendance here is close to that of a year ago. Our contributions are even better, and we are having about as many in Bible class as we have membership. Three more congregations in this section that we felt worthy have been given aid. Since last reporting, ten have been baptized, thirteen identified, and two restored. Brother Roy Foutz of Nacogdoches, Texas, is to be with us in our fall meeting October 26 through November 6. Beginning September 27, I am to be in a meeting with the Main Street church at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Couple desires to adopt a child five years old or younger. Any information relative to this matter contact MR. & MRS. M. A. GAZAWAY, Route 8, Box 315X, San Antonio, Texas.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Kentucky Avenue, Paducah, Kentucky, September 28: Clements Street church is really showing its strength to begin a great fall and winter work. Two large audiences with a father baptized and two identified yesterday. Peace, harmony and progress is enjoyed by all. We begin our fourth year on October 4th.

Dear Brethren Everywhere:

Due to circumstances over which I have no control, and due also to manifold duties both at home and away, I am compelled to withdraw my request for finances to carry on a radio broadcast in Alamogordo. The church of Alamogordo will continue the program they carry on as long as it seems worthwhile. I have been convinced that another program will not be worth the effort and the money required. I will begin returning all the money I have received for this purpose about the 5th of October, after this notice has had time to be seen and read by all. Please do not send more money for the proposed broadcast. But many thanks to all who did.—TICE ELKINS, 1523 Cuba Avenue, Alamogordo, New Mexico, September 22, 1953.

J. W. Ferrill, Groesbeck, Texas, September 21: The mission meeting at Round Prairie in Robertson County, Texas, with Brother Malcom Smith, who works with the church at Ben Hur, doing the preaching and the writer conducting the song service, was very pleasant and successful. Two elderly people, a husband and wife, confessed neglect of duty and rededicated their lives to the service of the Lord. Yesterday afternoon a young man and his wife were buried with their Lord in baptism and added to the family of God. The Baptist people kindly gave us the use of their church building, and though they were very busy harvesting their crops they came and listened attentively to the wonderful words of truth so ably presented by Brother Smith, and requested that he return for another meeting next year. The brethren from Bald Prairie, Willow, Union and Ben Hur came and helped in every way to make this mission meeting a success in sowing the seed of the kingdom. Thanks be to Almighty God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Wyndal H. Hudson, Via Grande, 27, Scala A—int. 10, Livorno, Italy, September 18: As far as we know, the very first services of the church ever to be conducted in Leghorn, Italy, were held last Sunday. There were seven in attendance. Four of us were members of the church and three were members of the Methodist church. Wilma and I are here as missionaries, and are supported by the Glenwood Church of Christ in Tyler, Texas, 808 Hamvas Lane. Brother and Sister G. C. Phillips are here employed by the Stanic Oil Refinery, and in all probability, will be here some four to six months. Brother Phillips is an elder in the Baytown, Texas, congregation. Today I talked with the Protestant Chaplain Major Lessley, and he has promised to co-operate in locating all members of the church who are stationed here in the armed forces. If anyone has the address of any soldiers in this area, please let us have them immediately! We solicit the prayers and support of all faithful Christians in this endeavor to win souls for Christ! All donations for the Italian work should go to the elders of the Glenwood church, Tyler, Texas. The Italian government has just granted me a two-year visa, so we need your fellowship immediately in order to evangelize this part of Italy.

Dean Bullock, Durant, Oklahoma, September 21: The opportunity for service here is stimulating and challenging. Seven were added to the congregation yesterday. Four were baptized, two were restored, and one was identified. Contributions and attendance are increasing. We broadcast each Sunday morning at 8:15 over KSEA, 750 on your dial. This program has a wide coverage; it has auditors in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and perhaps other states. The response to it is indeed gratifying. Another unusual feature of this work is teaching the Bible to students of Southeastern State College. More students than usual are currently enrolled in the course that we offer for credit. Brother Hershall Dyer, of Lincoln, Nebraska, did some very good preaching in our summer meeting. Seven were baptized; the church was edified. Since my last report, I have done the preaching in meetings in the following towns: Mineola, Crockett, Teel, Jamestown. I shall begin a meeting at Fullerton, Texas, October 12.

J. Boyd Taylor, Wichita Falls, Texas, for which I preach, recently sent me to Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, for a meeting. There were at that time about eight or nine members of the Lord's church there. Those brethren obtained the use of the gymnasium of the New Washington School in which to hold the meeting. A number of outsiders attended the meeting and some of them became interested, but no one was baptized. The group in Sault Ste. Marie is meeting in the home of Brother J. T. Wood at 1011 Augusta Street. So far as we have been able to determine, this is the only loyal group meeting in the upper peninsula of Michigan. If you know of any members of the church in that area, please have them contact Brother Wood at that address. The Kenross Air Force Base and Camp Lucas Army Camp are located there. There is a loyal group of Christians in Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, just across the St. Mary's river from Michigan. They have about fifty members. Brother T. W. Bailey, the father of Brother J. C. Bailey who preaches in Radville, preaches for them. On one Sunday afternoon it was my pleasure to speak for them. These groups are sponsoring a rebroadcast of the Herald of Truth on radio station KSOO in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan. The Armstrong Avenue church in Denison, Texas, and the church in Bremen, Georgia, also sent money to be used in the meeting for advertising and other things.

W. S. Willis, Gustine, Texas, September 28: I appreciated your card regarding getting subscriptions for the Firm Foundation, and I will make an appeal before the congregation and to its members. I know it is good for every member to get and read our church papers, and some do but not as many as should. This is a small congregation. They are having a hard time keeping the work going. They have had three years of drouth and crop failures and they have no other means of getting money. I did not intend to take regular work for some time but when they appealed to me I could not refuse to help them. It has cost me far more than I will receive to work here. We have our home in Fort Worth, which we have to keep up. Mrs. Willis has to remain there as she has apartments in the home. This separates us most of the time. I had to buy another car and furniture for the preacher's home here. As far as the support goes I will give my time without any gain. However, I am glad to do what I can. The Lord has blessed me with wonderful health and I cannot refuse to go when his work calls me. I wish for you a continued use-

Frank L. Cox, Box 104, Mineola, Texas, September 17: Having accepted an invitation to work with the church at Ennis, Texas, I resigned my work with the Mineola congregation Monday evening of this week.

Frank L. Cox

For more than two years I labored with this congregation. I am glad that I came to Mineola, for I feel that the Lord used me for the accomplishment of definite work that needed to be done. After October 4, address all correspondence to me at Box 336, Ennis, Texas.

T. B. Underwood, Jr., 1027 Suth 14th St., Chickasha, Oklahoma, September 30: J. D. Rothwell, Bakersfield, California, just closed one of the best meetings this young church has ever had. Three were baptized and one placed membership. Since then, there have been four to place membership. God has provided the increase and the church is doing well.

A. H. Beamish, Winnipeg, Manitoba, September 30: The Osborne Street congregation in Winnipeg is making a plea for aid in the evangelistic effort that is to be put forth in the province of Manitoba in the near future. At the present there is one man in the field who has been receiving only a portion of the support that he needs. At the present there are only two full time preachers in the entire province. In Winnipeg alone there is a population of better than 330,000 people, and to date there are only about two hundred Christians in the city. The time is ripe for a concentrated effort to evangelize this portion of Canada. Some support has been made available for this work, but as yet, not nearly enough. At the present a building has been purchased for the work at Neepawa, a town about 140 miles west of Winnipeg, and is being moved into the town in a few days. This work has been under the direction of the Osborne Street church for several years. The need is very urgent. Anyone who would like to receive further information please write to Brother A. H. Beamish, 1002 Banning Street, Winnipeg, Manitoba. An immediate response is needed in order for this work to be carried on.

ful and prosperous life. I can say with John, "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in good health, even as thy soul prospereth." May our heavenly Father continue his richest blessings upon you in your great work.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman Avenue, Dallas, Texas, October 2: During September here at Skillman Avenue church there were 12 additions—five baptized, six identified, and one restored. Two more were baptized last night. Much preparation is being made for our fall meeting October 25th to November 1st in which George H. Stephenson of Memphis, Tennessee, will do the preaching. Brother Jack Nadeau, whom we support in gospel work in Munich, Germany, will return there November 1st. He has done excellent work while with us here, and we thank those congregations that have invited him to speak on behalf of the building fund there. I am now in a gospel meeting at Bartlesville, Oklahoma, which closes October 11th.

R. E. Davis, Sr., St. Petersburg, Florida, September 28: The work at Ninth Street Church of Christ is increasing in attendance, interest, and in membership. Several have placed membership with us, while recently one was restored and four baptized. One from the Assembly of God, one an outstanding lady from the Congregational church baptized into Christ, a splendid married lady was baptized into Christ from the Baptists, and last Sunday, September 27th, a school teacher, also baptized by a Baptist preacher, was baptized into Christ. The work is being organized and we are quite hopeful of good results to follow our efforts. It is said this congregation is now doing more missionary work of late than any congregation or group of congregations in this section of Florida. Overcoming "hard shellism" is not a thing to be accomplished overnight. The brethren are working for Christ in peace and fellowship both with one another and with Christ. Brethren coming to this lovely city for the winter, are invited to worship with the Ninth Street congregation where only the pure gospel of Christ is preached.

C. Edwin Bills, Sr., Box 178, Freer, Texas, Oct. 2: The first Vacation Bible School ever attempted by the church here was conducted August 24-28 with great success. Although it rained almost constantly throughout the school our average attendance for the five days was 89 2/5, with a high one day of 94. About half of those attending were from homes of denominational affiliation. Our facilities were completely overtaxed; and we feel that with more facilities available we could have perhaps doubled our attendance. The congregation here is now enthusiastic about such schools, and the statement of one lady fairly well sums up the sentiment of the entire congregation. She said, "Why I never dreamed that a school could do so much good in so many ways. It is wonderful." And so it is. May God help us to realize greater opportunities for service. Brother Jack Nadeau spoke here last evening, October 1, to a fine audience; concerning the work of the Lord in Munich, Germany. The congregation now has a greater vision of what can and must be done. This congregation is making a liberal contribution toward the erection of a building for the use of the saints in Munich, Germany. Pray for us that we might uphold the banner of the Lord.

Miss Wilmeth

DEPARTMENT OF HOME ECONOMICS

Miss Marie Wilmeth, M.S., Ph.D., heads the home economics department. For eleven years, before joining the staff of A.C.C., she served as a County Home Demonstration Agent. She has been a member of the teaching staff of Colorado A. & M. and an agent of the Bureau of Home Economics and Human Nutrition. She comes from a line of gospel preachers and currently has some preacher relatives.

Miss Wilmeth states that home economics in colleges is about seventy-five years old. The courses of this department have proved to be so useful and popular it is currently offered in some seven hundred colleges in the United States. It was first offered in A.C.C. in 1915 with eighteen students enrolled. The 1916 college annual emphasizes its value in these words: "Home making is the greatest calling a person may have—It is the aim of this department to instill into the hearts of young people a deeper love of and respect for the home and to teach them to provide for its necessities, its health, its comforts, its beauty and its happiness."

Homemaking is as honorable as it is necessary. It is as necessary as a free and civilized society. God has made the home the basic and indispensable unit of any Christian society. History testifies that the breakdown of home life brings the collapse of civilization. This could happen us in the U. S. A.

Homemaking is both a science and an art. Food purchasing and preparation, buying, and making clothes, furnishing the home attractively and economically, rearing children to spiritual, intellectual and emotional maturity require both Bible and scientific knowledge and the skill of the artist's genius. The A.C.C. home economics department specializes in this science-art sphere. While some of the graduates and others who have been trained here have entered public services of one kind or another, the vast majority are homemakers. But whether the student becomes a homemaker or enters a professional field, the training is worthwhile. Currently, two courses out of a total of 20 that are offered are open to both men and women. They are designed to condition the enrollees in the fundamentals of human relationships, care and training of children, feeding of the family, planning and furnishing the home, budgeting and clothing.

From the beginning of one teacher and eighteen students the department has grown to four teachers and 225 students.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

The Way To Heaven

Life is a journey from time to eternity, and only one trip is to be made. When man crosses the river of death he never returns to his earthly abode. No one has an option of a second journey. Job said, "When a few more years are come, then shall I go the way whence I shall not return." It behooves man to make this journey in a sure way—he should take no chances with doubtful ways. On this point Peter admonishes, "Wherefore the rather, brethren give diligence to make your calling and election sure" (2 Peter 1:10).

There is only one road leading to heaven. It is the gospel road. Christ has only one gospel, and that gospel reveals only one road that leads to heaven. Paul says, "But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed" (Gal. 1:8).

When a passenger gets on the wrong train, the conductor does not tell him that if he is honest and sincere this train will take him to his desired destination. He tells the passenger to go back and start over, and to be sure to get on the right train. No one can go where he wants to go by following the wrong road.

The way to heaven is plain but many do not heed the instructions. To begin with Paul says that without faith it is impossible to please God. So that is the place to start. Jesus says, "Except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish." He also says, "Whosoever shall confess me before men, him will I also confess before my Father which is in heaven." He said to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God."

These are the steps an alien sinner must take to enter the way that leads to heaven. Some shorten the way by removing some of the steps. Some make the way longer by adding to it. Some go in a different direction from that marked out in the New Testament. So some will be disappointed when they reach the end of the way.

Jesus says the way is narrow. Many of the things that people want to take with them are too wide for the way. Instead of casting them aside they find a way that is wider. But the wide way does not lead to heaven. Solomon says, "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Prov. 16:25).

Paul's Answer To Peter's Question

"What shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?" (1 Peter 4:17). "And to you who are troubled, rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ" (2 Thess. 1:7, 8). So the end of those who obey not the gospel is the vengeance of God. There will be many good moral people in this group. There will be many religious and honest people—and many who thought they were traveling the right road. Some people think they have obeyed the gospel when they have not. Many think they have obeyed the commandments of God when they have obeyed the commandments of men. There is no substitute for obedience to the gospel. God's power to save is in it, and this power can be found nowhere else.

"There Is . . . One Spirit"

Elbridge B. Linn

In pleading for Christian unity in his letter to the Ephesian church, the apostle Paul wrote Ephesians 4:1-6. The importance of this passage of scripture to our thinking today is more apparent when one considers the divisions among us who call ourselves "Christians." One need not be a keen observer to note that denominationalism presents many faiths, many creeds, many baptisms, many bodies and many hopes. Now, the unity of the Spirit, as set forth in the word of God, demands a oneness based upon one faith, one baptism, one body and one hope. If one may scripturally think in terms of faiths, baptisms, bodies and hopes, then consistency demands that we multiply God, Christ, and the Holy Spirit. But WHERE is the person who, as a consistent Christian, feels called upon to teach that there are many gods, lords, and holy spirits? This is but a practical and condemning illustration to the effect that in Christendom today our practice and our theory are sadly inconsistent.

The one body of Christ is the one church of Christ (Col. 1:18), and both reason and revelation teach that the one body is indwelt by just the "one Spirit." Further, this one body—or church—is to be under the teaching of the "one Spirit." For, the "one Lord" gave his word through the inspiration of but one Holy Spirit. On this very thought the word of God speaks of the revealing of the divine will as follows: "To whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto you, did they minister these things, which now have been announced unto you through them that preached the gospel unto you by the Holy Spirit sent forth from heaven; which things angels desire to look into" (1 Peter 1:12).

In sectarianism today we find many kinds of spirits preached, and appealed to, but in God's plan there is but "ONE SPIRIT." Although, as Paul writes, there are diversities of gifts, yet they are all from the "same Spirit" (1 Cor. 12:4-13). A departure from the faith, which has resulted in sectarianism, is a fruit of giving heed "to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons" (1 Tim. 4:1-5). But the oneness of believers in Christ is brought about by faith in, and obedience unto the "ONE SPIRIT." The "spirit of error" as mentioned in 1 John 4:6 has caused religious division, and is also strengthened by the same, but Christian unity is the product of the "spirit of truth," which is the Holy Spirit (John 16:13). In modern religious division men can see much of the "party spirit," but little of the Holy Spirit! If all were of the "same spirit," guided by the same "Holy Spirit," they would believe the "one faith," be baptized by the "one baptism" into the "one body" and could then rejoice in the "one hope." Christian unity, love and peace are fruits of the one Holy Ghost (Gal. 5:22), but religious division—seen in strife, factions, divisions, parties—are works of the flesh (Gal. 5:20), and are denounced by the New Testament, yea, considered in terms of scathing denunciation.

Students of the Bible frequently admit that they cannot understand the work of the Holy Spirit in this gospel age. They say they can appreciate the providence of God and the atonement of Christ on the cross. However, they have difficulty with the Bible doctrine concerning the Spirit of God, which is too often neglected, misunderstood or wrested unto the destruction of true faith. Men say they can understand generally the works of God in creation and providence, in judgment and mercy. Likewise, they can value the death of Christ for their sins, as he came in his redemptive, atoning and saving grace. But, to many the works of the Holy Ghost yet remains shrouded in mystery and ignorance. This, possibly, may be due in part to the fact that the Authorized Version of the Bible uses the term "Holy Ghost," and to many minds the word "ghost" has legendary or even pagan significance. Nevertheless, as any standard dictionary will indicate, the word means "spirit," and is thus applied to the Spirit of God or of man in the revised versions of the Bible. "Holy Ghost" is then simply "Holy Spirit." A man's spirit is his "ghost" as the King James' Version of the Bible reads, and there is not the slightest reference to halloween "spooks" in the use of the word!

Yet, someone who wishes to ascribe unreasonable (and sometimes unbecoming) activities to the Holy Spirit can do so. He succeeds in catching the fancy and faith of a certain type of person, who follows along because he prefers to think of the Holy Spirit in terms of an influence (like electricity, heat or cold), a mystical manifestation of power, rather than as a member of the Godhead. Just at this point one should read thoughtfully Colossians 2:9: "For in him (that is, in Christ), dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily." The expression "Godhead" is clarified by Jesus in Matthew 28:19, when he commended the apostles to baptized believers "into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."

The Holy Spirit is a divine being. His works proclaim his personality. He speaks: "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith . . ." (1 Tim. 4:1). God's Spirit testified of Christ: "But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall bear witness of me" (John 15:26). Following this promise to the apostles, Jesus also said that the Holy Ghost would teach the apostles: "But the Comforter, even the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I said unto you" (John 14:

26). The Spirit of truth guided the apostles: "Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth is come, he shall guide you into all the truth" (John 16:13). The Holy Spirit searches. "But unto us God revealed them through the Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (1 Cor. 2:10). It should be evident then, to any thinking person, that the Holy Spirit is divine, and that his works proclaim him to be one of the Godhead.

He is the Author of the Bible. It is his sword (Eph. 6:17); it is the word of God! All of the prophets in both Old and New Testaments delivered their messages under the influence of the Spirit of God. 2 Peter 1:21: "For no prophecy ever came by the will of man; but men spake from God, being moved by the Holy Spirit." All of the writers of the Bible were inspired of God. "All scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for ever good work" (2 Tim. 3:16, 17, Revised Standard Version).

Articles concerning the Holy Spirit can become quite voluminous, due to the greatness of the theme and the multiplicity of questions engendered. A brief discussion, however, of his relationship to the apostles, to Cornelius, and to the early church will be given later.

All of us will do well to heed the admonition of the apostle John, who wrote: "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but prove the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world" (1 John 4:1). Much written and said today about the Holy Spirit was not inspired by him, but false teachers.

The Church of Christ Grows With Irving

Lewis Hogue

The history of the church of Christ, Delaware at Irving Boulevard dates back to about 1893. Several families in the surrounding communities decided to establish a congregation of the church of Christ in Irving. When they began to meet together, a Brother Bell, an elder of the church of Christ meeting at Pearl and Bryan in Dallas (the church still meets at this location), visited with the congregation here one Lord's day, and was asked to preach. This Sunday calls our minds back to Pentecost; eight precious souls were baptized into Christ. Brother Bell was asked to preach in a meeting, he accepted. The result was that several were baptized. During the meeting the church was organized with twelve charter members. Some of the leaders at that time were Brethren Lum and Charlie Clark. The church met in the old Lively school building, then located on North Britain Road.

"PROPOSED NEW CHURCH BUILDING"

In the year of 1903, Mr. Otis Brown donated the present site for a church building. In 1928 the present building was erected. The congregation, as well as all others, have had their problems, but all in all they have enjoyed a growth ever since.

Preachers for the local congregations have been: Will W. Slater, W. P. Skaggs, George McCollum, Claud Smith, George McCollum, Carl Spain, Jesse Powell, Monroe Tharpe, Hoyt Bailey and Lewis Hogue. Lewis Hogue is the present minister.

Elders for the congregation who have served in the past are: Lum Clark, Henry Caster, H. G. Baker, C. G. Miller, Tom Haley, Hoyt Wray, Oscar Tompkins, Ted Nicholas, W. B. Denney, Perry Clack, C. E. Reno, and J. B. Stephenson. Present elders are: Fred Hann, Leamon Crouch, Ralph Bell, K. L. Ford, L. W. Wimbish, Sam McCollum, L. O. Brown, and F. A. Warden.

With the vision of the present elders they saw necessary to start two morning worship services on Sunday. One service is at 8:30 and the other at 11:00. Bible study is from 9:45 till 10:30. There are also Sunday night classes and worship services, and mid-week classes and worship service. The original preacher's home has been converted into classrooms and a nursery. The average attendance for the past several months has been over 300; in June, 306; July, 338; and August, 357. Last Sunday, all records were broken with 381 attending Bible study. Brother Thomas F. Sullivan is employed as full-time song director and has been working constantly with the young people and the Bible study.

At present we have eight elders, men with vision who intend to see the church grow as the city grows. A new building is planned for the near future, also a home for the preacher will be built soon. Then we will be looking forward to starting another congregation of the church of Christ in the city of Irving. Along with the growth of the church of Christ at Delaware and Irving Boulevard, the East Side congregation is enjoying a tremendous growth. Last Sunday they broke all records with 259 in Bible study.

A radio program is conducted every Sunday morning at 7:45 through 8:00 o'clock over station KRRV, Sherman, Texas, 920 on your dial.

Paul—All Things To All Men

A. R. Holton

Paul's work was directed toward the two great divisions of the human race in his day, the Jew and the Gentile. For the Jews, Paul had to teach them to overcome pride of heart. The Jews were complacent, especially the Pharisees, and complacency in a great danger. The Jewish people had failed to respond to their unique blessings. As a nation, they were proud but had failed in the purpose for which God had chosen them. They took great pride in the law, but no one could keep the law perfectly. They talked much about the Messiah but rejected Christ as being the Messiah. The New Testament is filled with references as to how the early church met these difficulties. Paul's position in reference to his Jewish brethren was that they had fallen short in that they had rejected the Messiah. Paul does not admit that he is in error but he insists that his fellow Jews have missed the great thing that God had prepared for them.

But Paul had also to do much work with the pagans of his day. The great failure in paganism was that they had never closely related religion and morals. There were pagans longing for a better life. They, along with the Jews, somehow did not have the power to live as they wanted to live. It was here that Christianity came in to say that to have Christ in you and to put on Christ was to have the power. Paul said over and over again, "I can do all things through him who strengtheneth me." Paul had to insist on the reality of sin and the way of redemption. Stephen in Acts 7 is a great speech on the failure of the Jewish people. A failure due to the fact that they did not accept Christ. They did not accept the fulfillment of their own prophets. They did not accept the power that would enable them to live. John the Baptist came to the people with his great emphasis on repentance. A message that was not heeded in many instances on account of deaf ears and blinded eyes. Complacency and pride had closed the ears of many people to the demand of John to repent. They felt that they had no need of repentance.

Paul uses four great human pictures to illustrate what he means when he says that Christ in you is the hope of glory. For instance, he uses the illustration of adoption. The ancient world knew many instances of a slave being adopted into the family of the owner. Being thus adopted, he had all the privileges of a son and was heir to the fortune. That was what Christ had done for us. We had been adopted. And again he uses the illustration of redemption as in 1 Cor. 7:23: "Ye are bought with a price." The ancient world was familiar with the scheme of money being received in exchange for freedom. These early preachers of Christianity made use of this figure of speech in telling us that Christ had redeemed us. Another picture was reconciliation. People knew what it was to see friends embittered against each other and then some mutual friend acting as a go-between would bring about reconciliation. This, Paul says, is what happened in the case of humanity. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and a fellowman with us, acts as mediator between God and man, thus bringing about reconciliation. And Paul speaks in 2 Cor., 5th chapter, about the word of reconciliation. Jesus had told his disciples to go into all the world to preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved. It was this Commission of our Lord that was the word of reconciliation. Another illustration used by Paul was justification. This is a courtroom procedure. Jesus had said in the parable of the prodigal son that when the father saw the son returning, he ran to meet him and put on him new clothes. And so it is Paul states in 2 Cor. 5:21 that God clothes us with righteousness. In other words, in our obedience to him we are justified and he places upon us the cloak of righteousness. In Romans 8:1, we have the statement, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh but after the Spirit." This is another statement using this great picture. The condemned has been given freedom. There is no condemnation to them which are in Christ. Verse 29 of the same chapter is the same thought. We are conformed to the image of his Son and those who are made in the image of his Son he called he justified, and the justified are also glorified.

Response To The 20th Century Christian From Boys In Service

M. Norvel Young

These letters have come from boys who received a complimentary year's subscription from Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rogers. Other boys would like to have a similar gift. Would you like to send one or ten a year's subscription? We make it at the special club rate of $1.25. We can furnish the names and addresses and send a gift with your name on it.

"I had nowhere to worship while in Korea, and literature such as you subscribe for me, along with the little Testament I have, are the only means I had of securing spiritual knowledge. I thank you for this much appreciated gift."—Charles R. Barker.

"Thanking you . . . I'm acquainted with the magazine, but did not have a subscription. A friend and myself started a meeting in Seoul and now have six or eight meeting with us. I'm preaching for the small congregation now and upon returning to the States I hope to be able to give some talks on missionary work in the Far East."—Lem O. Rogers.

"I can never thank you enough for your generosity, for you have brought the congregations at home to me through the 20th Century Christian. My home congregation is in San Bernardino, California, and for the past five years I have been giving serious thought to becoming a preacher. Your giving this subscription at a time when I needed it most . . . has convinced me that the need is great and the field is open. I plan to enter Abilene Christian College in September, 1954."—James E. Webb.

"It helps furnish the spiritual food that is so badly needed. I'm the only member of the church on this base and good literature has to take the place of the Christian fellowship I've always been accustomed to."—Bill Scott.

"I always get a spiritual uplift from reading the inspiring articles in it. You will no doubt be interested to know that there is a small group of Christians meeting here in Iwakuni, Japan. May I suggest two friends for gift subscriptions?"—Kenneth W. Rich.

"I wanted to thank you personally for the fine gift of the 20th Century Christian. I also wish to commend you on the articles which appear on the back cover. I have received much benefit and inspiration from them. I feel the 20th Century Christian is one of the finest publications of its kind in print today. . . ."—Eugene Ruckman.

"You will never know how good it made me feel, here in a land where seemingly I am the only Christian for miles, to receive a gift like this, which seems to be a gift of uplifting inspiration . . . May you rest assured you have done your part, now may God guide me through mine. I'm sure he will, for, 'I have chosen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me' (Psalms 119:30)."—Rolland W. Fritz in Korea.

Just Across The Street

F. L. Paisley

Insignificant subjects might house a great deal of valuable truth. Two churches meet just across the street from each other (in many places). One meets in a large brick or stone house; the other in a modest frame building. Often the one in the finer building labels itself as "First Church."

The preacher for the "First" church is "located" for and with them by some sort of authority over them outside their membership. They have nothing to say as to whom they want. But the church across the street selects its own preacher by mutual agreement with him. This church has no authority on earth over it.

The "First" church has a little manual, or discipline, which outlines what the church believes and practices. The preacher must abide by the general rules of the little book, or face some higher authority for insubordination. The church across the street also has a little "discipline" or book of rules. The preacher has no one over him, nor does the church over it, to tell them to abide by that discipline. It is properly called the New Testament. It is full of instructions and rules as to what to teach, believe, do and be. Both preachers are so bound by the authority of their respective disciplines that they are cramped and embarrassed when departing from them. The "First" church preacher can omit all doctrines peculiar to his church and give moral lectures, and the church thinks he is a "great preacher." But the one across the street is so bound by conscience to preach the Lord's distinctive truth that some regard him as narrow and bigoted. They regard him as a "fighter" of "other denominations." The truth is, his discipline, the New Testament, is so plainly opposed to all denominations that he must speak boldly and plainly, even at the cost of being misrepresented.

For instance, the "First" church preacher freely refers to the people for whom he preaches as "my church." His every reference to them is by that term. And he means it! And he is right! It is his church. It is not mentioned in the whole Bible, nor in any history for many centuries after the Bible was written. He knows this is true, but will not at all tell his people who know nothing about either the Bible or history. But the preacher across the street never uses the term "my church" except when quoting the Lord in Matt. 16:18. Jesus only had right to claim the church which he purchased as his own. Let careless "Christians" wake up and stop their inexcusable reference to the church as "our church." This writer denies belonging to anything any man can call "my church."

The "First" church preacher, if he chance to refer to something he calls "baptism," will talk of sprinkling or pouring a little water on the head of a person. And his practice is invariably in harmony with his speech. No, he never tries to show a Bible command or example of such an act. Why should he, since the Bible is not the book he even pretends to follow in such actions? He will slyly tell one he thinks he can make void inquiry further that "baptism may be performed any of three ways, but sprinkling is much more convenient for us."

But the preacher across the street is bold, and the church will back him in saying that "baptism" has a very definite meaning, and a certain act is necessary to meet that meaning—that "sprinkle" does not mean "pour" and neither of them means "baptism." He says that "baptism" never did mean anything less than a burial or immersion. He cites Rom. 6:3, 4 and Col. 2:12, besides the example of the Lord's baptism and that of the man in Acts 8. Each "went down into the water," was baptized therein, and "came up out of the water." He insists that no man has right to select some more "convenient" act that is entirely foreign to the one the Lord commands. Worse still, to call that humanly authorized act the one Christ commanded.

The preacher in the big building says that the whole doctrine of baptism, as is the act, is wholly non-essential anyway. "Baptism is just a command," he assures one easily beguiled, and he means that "just a command" does not need be done at all. But the preacher across the street teaches openly that "all authority in heaven and on earth" is behind, over, above and in the command to be baptized, Matt. 28:19, 20, and that salvation is promised therein, Mark 16:16, and that one who does not believe it "shall be damned."

The "First" church preacher would call this sort of teaching "water salvation" doctrine. While so saying, he will take a few drops of water and sprinkle them upon the head of an innocent, unconscious infant whose parents he can deceive into such mistreatment of a baby. Yes, he knows that a little water is all that baby received, but he continues to blaspheme God's command by calling it "water salvation."

The preacher across the street insists that God requires all persons being baptized to "believe" and understand what and why they so do. He refuses to do anything called "baptism" when such understanding is not possible. He insists that in all the Bible no person had water sprinkled or poured upon him for any religious purpose, and that no infant was ever "baptized" as a religious act. The "First" church preacher will not at all undertake to disprove the claim so made.

There are many other examples of differences between the churches just across the street from each other. They can all be totaled under the one difference as to whether or not the Bible is supreme authority in religion. The "First" church preacher says that it is not—that human wisdom and liberty should dictate many of the doctrines and practices of the day.

The preacher in the modest meeting house denies this is true and cites such verses as the following: "Ye shall not add to the word I command you, neither shall ye diminish from it" (Deut. 4:2). "What thing soever I command you, that shall ye observe to do; thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it" (Deut. 12:32). "All the words I command thee to speak unto them, diminish not a word" (Jer. 26:2). "But though we, or an angel from heaven, should preach unto you any other gospel than that we preached unto you, let him be anathema (accursed)" (Gal. 1:8, 9). "I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto them, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book. And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the tree of life, and out of the holy city, which are written in this book" (Rev. 22:18, 19).

Upon which side of the street do you worship God?

Four Confessions

J. C. Choate

The word "confession" is very prominent in the New Testament. As a matter of fact there are four types of confessions found therein. The purpose of this study is to discuss the four different kind of confessions.

1. The good confession or the confession made by the alien sinner in obeying the gospel. Bible students know that the scripture advocates a strict obedience to God. Furthermore, in obeying God, an alien sinner is expected to hear the gospel, to believe the truth, to repent of all sins, to confess Christ before men, and finally to obey God by being baptized into Christ (Rom. 10:17; Heb. 11:6; Luke 13:3; Matt. 10:32, 33; Rom. 6:3).

We note that in obeying the gospel, that confession is found. Likewise, confession is just as important as any other command found in the word of God. Christ said, "Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 10:32, 33). Within this language Christ makes two promises: (1) Those who confess him before men; they will be confessed before the Father in heaven. (2) Those who deny the Lord before men will be denied before the Father in heaven. Several points might also be listed in connection with the Lord's statement: (a) Whosoever will confess—man is a free moral agent (Matt. 11:28-30). (b) Confession to be made before men. (c) Shall be blessed of the Lord in that he will confess the faithful before the Father. (d) Whosoever shall deny the Lord—that is, to reject the Lord (Rom. 6:23). (e) Those who reject the Lord shall be rejected in the day of judgment. Thus, we see that confession is of the utmost importance.

Paul said, "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Rom. 10:10). Notice, (1) Confession to be made, (2) With the mouth, (3) Unto salvation.

Now an example of such a confession. After Philip had preached Christ unto the eunuch, then, "Philip said, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God" (Acts 8:37). After making the good confession, the eunuch completed his obedience to God by being buried with the Lord in baptism. Now notice what happened: (1) The eunuch heard the truth. (2) He obeyed the truth. (3) Then he went on his way rejoicing.

From these three scripture readings we learn that salvation is obtained after complete obedience (Gal. 3:26, 27). In other words, we do not read in God's word that souls are to confess that they are saved and then go on from there. Paul said, "Confess unto salvation." That is, going in the direction of; not having yet obtained. After Christ has been confessed, then one is baptized into salvation (Rom. 6:3; 2 Cor. 5:17). Have you made that wonderful confession yet? If not, do so soon. "Behold now is the accepted time; today is the day of salvation."

2. The confession of an erring child of God. Sometimes mistakes are made, and bad ones at that. It is certainly sad to see a child of God depart from the faith. But when such occurs, the Bible plan is to be followed completely. James said, "Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much" (James 5:16). Hence, (1) Confess your faults before men, (2) And pray one for another, (3) That ye may be healed.

Now for an example from the Bible. "And when Simon saw that through laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost. But Peter said unto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money. Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter: for thy heart is not right in the sight of God. Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee. For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity. Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken come upon me" (Acts 8:18-24). Another example is found in Luke 15, the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

3. The Christian confession. This confession is very important. As Christians, we are not only expected to confess Christ with the mouth, but with our life also.

Peter said, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God" (Matt. 16:16). Hence, Peter confessed Christ, also, the divinity of Christ. "Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf" (1 Peter 4:16).

We are commanded to walk in the steps of Christ in all that we say or do (1 Peter 2:21). Christ said, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 5:16).

4. All shall confess to God. There are many enemies of the Bible. Some people do not even believe in God. Others reject Christ as the Son of God. Still others follow religious doctrines of men. But there is a day coming, "For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God" (Rom. 14:11).

Is It Wrong To Control Money?

L. P. Bennett

Matthew 16:26: "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Or, what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

To my mind some speakers have left the wrong impression concerning this statement. They have left the impression that it is wrong to control wealth. In 1 Tim. 6:10, we read, "For the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows." I don't love money, but I do love to do things that it takes money to do for the cause of Christ. It is right that we should expose evil, at all times and everywhere, but at the same time, we should show that good can come through the same channel if one reverses his actions. If we leave the impression in teaching that it is wrong to control money then we encourage slothfulness, which Jesus condemns in Matthew 25:26, "Take therefore the talent from him and give it to him which hath ten talents." Verse 28, "And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

The case of the good Samaritan who picked up the man that was beaten and left for dead, shows that he no doubt controlled considerable wealth. He had a beast of burden, he had wine and oil to use in helping the man and he had credit at the inn. But he used it in the right way. I do not think for a minute that he loved money, but he must have loved to do the things that it takes money to do. The men that went by on the other side lost their souls if they did not mend their ways. They loved their money and cared nothing for humanity.

Remember Jesus said, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Ananias and Sapphira loved their money so much that they lied to the Lord about it (Acts 5:4). I am sure they lost their souls. I never pretended to have given all I have and I expect to have more, but I expect to continue to do things for the cause of Christ in humanity that it takes money to do.

Money is only a medium of exchange and if I can exchange it for brotherly and neighborly and friendly love and for institutions of spiritual training and education and for spreading the gospel and for caring for orphans and the aged, sick and the afflicted, and to feed the poor, clothe the naked, and help build houses of worship, I will be happy to be able to control it.

It is my desire to live decently with all men and to bring my children up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord and after I have done this, and continue to do this to the best of my ability, I do not think that it matters as to the amount of money that I have. But if on the other side of the picture you use your money for selfish purposes and for the lust of the flesh and to aid the evil and care for nothing but your money and the evil joys that it will buy for you, then you have lost your soul.

Do not understand me to say that you can buy your way to eternal rest. You cannot do this. But it does take money to do some things that God has commanded us to do. God through Christ has devised a plan by which we shall be saved. Hebrews 11:6, "But without faith it is impossible to please him, for he that cometh to God must believe that he is and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." Rom. 10:17, "So then faith comes by hearing and hearing by the word of God." Luke 13:3, "I tell you nay but except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish." Matthew 10:32, "Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess before my Father who is in heaven." Mark 16:16, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned."

After obeying from the heart that form of doctrine, you are in Christ, in his body, the church and then every good deed is credited and every bad deed is charged in the book of life.

May I make an appeal to all who read this? Friends, obey the gospel. Be baptized into Christ, his body, the church, and then you will be rewarded and the good you do will redound to the glory of the Lord. If you refuse to do this, you will not be rewarded for the good deeds that you do. I like to see everyone get a return on his investment. You may say that is being too commercially minded. Bless your soul, if I were majoring in business administration, I would take the New Testament as my textbook. It gives more and promises more in the future than all the other books combined. Here we can see the highways of faith, an honest heart, a candid hearing and a searching investigation. I trust that this message will help you to properly use the money God may give you in this world.

More Spiritual Food

M. Norvel Young

It has been encouraging to notice how many persons responded to our recent paragraph about getting a good religious periodical into every Christian home. Here are a few suggestions on why each family should have several worthy spiritual papers in its home.

1. We are a part of what we read. Most of us read the daily newspaper or listen to the news on radio or TV. If we do not receive any regular news concerning the growth of the church around the world our diet is unbalanced. The more worthwhile news concerning the churches of the Lord the more interest we will have in the kingdom's expansion.

2. Our children need to become more interested in the church. The news section of such a paper as the Gospel Advocate, Firm Foundation or Christian Chronicle will help keep them abreast of activities in the church around the world.

3. Some Christians do not hesitate to say that they do not have time to read a religious journal. In this they reveal their taste for most of them read some papers or magazines. Many belong to book clubs and bring into their homes literature they would be ashamed to read in the presence of the whole family. Let us cultivate our taste for spiritual literature.

4. Some say they cannot afford the cost of a religious magazine or paper. Surely they do not mean this in most instances. Why not let the daily paper drop for a month? The average price for it will pay for the religious journal for a year. Brethren, let us who are spiritual encourage the average member to take one or more wholesome religious journals. Why not make up a club today for the Firm Foundation, Gospel Advocate, 20th Century Christian, Christian Woman, or Christian Chronicle, to mention a few?

What Does The Bible Say?

Investigate the Plea for Udenominal Christianity

Everyday we read about Senate and House investigations. Although some investigations may be poorly conducted the idea of investigating for the truth is certainly sound. The Bible teaches us to prove all things and hold fast to that which is good. When Paul reached Rome the Jews there showed themselves fair by investigating his plea for "the kingdom of God." They said "We desire to hear of thee what thou thinkest; for as concerning this sect, we know that every where it is spoken against" (Acts 28:22).

Too many people pass judgment on the basis of prejudice or emotional bias. Too few people are willing to investigate. These Jews thought that Christianity was a "sect" of Judaism. They had heard many criticisms of it. Yet, they were open-minded enough to find out for themselves from one of the preachers of the gospel.

Let me take this lesson as an opportunity to plead with each reader to investigate the claims of Christ for yourself. Do not be content to make the most important decision of your life without thoroughly considering the evidence. Read your New Testament. Study especially one of the gospels such as Matthew, or John, and then the book of Acts. Then investigate the plea being made by the churches of Christ to return to simple New Testament Christianity.

Many citizens in our nation have turned away from Christianity because they have observed the divisions brought about by men. They have heard criticisms made against the church, the body of Christ, the kingdom. Too often they have not been willing to stop and investigate themselves.

We are convinced that God has revealed himself in the person of his only begotten Son, Jesus Christ. We believe that the Holy Spirit has given us the inspired guide in the Bible. We believe it is possible today to go back behind all of the doctrines and dogmas of men and go to Jesus Christ and his teaching. The word of God is the seed of the kingdom, and when we accept that word in our hearts and obey it we can be born again of the water and of the Spirit just as the 3,000 did on the day of Pentecost, the birthday of the church.

By taking Christ as our only creed, the Bible as our only rule of faith we believe we can work together in free, independent local congregations just as the early Christians did. We can worship in the same manner they did. We believe God will save us and add us to the church when we believe in his Son Jesus Christ and trust in him, repenting of our sins and being buried with him in baptism to rise and walk a new life (Acts 2:47). God will bless all who will obey his Son and do his will!

Investigate this plea for udenominal Christianity. Living for Christ is a seven-day-a-week proposition. Deny yourself and take up your cross and follow him. Like Paul, when your pilgrimage here is over you can say: "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give to me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing" (2 Tim. 4).

FURTHER USE OF THESE ARTICLES

M. Norvel Young

It will interest the readers of the Firm Foundation to know that the series of articles appearing each week on this page are also being published in over 50,000 copies of the daily newspaper, the Avalanche-Journal in Lubbock, Texas. They are run in the form of a news column so as to look as much like such a column as possible and as little like an advertisement. The paper cooperates in allowing it to be run without any notice of its being a paid advertisement. In this way many more people will read it.

Recently, the church at State College, Pennsylvania, decided to run these articles, with appropriate changes for their town, in their local newspaper. Also the church at Rockport, Texas, ran a series in their weekly paper. Newspaper articles are an effective medium of reaching many people who will not attend the services. Most newspapers will give churches a reduced rate (which as a rule is not true of radio stations). Perhaps other churches might like to run these or other articles of their own in their local paper. If there are other series running at the present time we would like to hear about them.

Preachers Of Today

Brother N. B. Hardeman who lives at 309 White Avenue, Henderson, Tennessee, was born at Milledgeville, Tennessee, May 18, 1874. He married Miss Joanna Tabler and to them three children were born. Several years after her death he was married to Miss Annie Brown. He was baptized in 1892 by Brother R. P. Meeks and began preaching at Enville, Tennessee, fifty-four years ago in the year 1898. In addition to public schools he attended West Tennessee Christian College and Georgie Robertson Christian College.

Brother Hardeman never served as local preacher but did much evangelistic preaching and much work in the field of Christian education. Although he wrote occasionally for the leading brotherhood papers his chief writing is to be found in the published volumes of his sermons and debates. Five volumes of his Tabernacle Sermons were published by the Gospel Advocate Company between the years 1922-1928. The Hardeman-Bogard Debate, on the "Plan of Salvation" and the Hardeman-Boswell Debate, on "Instrumental Music," were printed. He also engaged in seven debates with Mr. Perick on the "Plan of Salvation," between the years 1910-1920 but these debates were not published. Brother Hardeman has preached by radio numbers of times when in meetings in various parts of the country. At present he accepts approximately ten meeting invitations per year.

Perhaps Brother Hardeman is most widely known in the brotherhood for his long time presidency of Freed-Hardeman College whose name bespeaks his connection with the school. The five city-wide meetings held in the Ryman auditorium in Nashville have also commended Brother Hardeman to thousands of people. Many heard Brother Hardeman deliver his lecture on the "Holy Land" after his return from a trip to the Bible lands in the year 1923. Brother Hardeman can be contacted permanently through Mrs. C. M. Foy, Henderson, Tennessee.—The above sketch appears in abbreviated form as one of 1350 biographical sketches in Preachers of Today; Price $3.50. Order from the Firm Foundation.

SIN—ITS RESULTS AND REMEDY

To God's ancient people the prophet said: "Behold Jehovah's hand is not shortened that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy that it cannot hear: but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, so that he will not hear" (Isa. 59:1, 2).

The sins and iniquities of the people separate them from God, and trouble, sorrow, pain, suffering and misery always come, and in forms intensified progressively, in separation from God. This is true in the personal and private life of every individual and none the less true among the nations of earth. Happiness and holiness are states or conditions of existence that are fundamentally and eternally associated, the one with the other. There can be no happiness, in the truest and loftiest meaning of the term, apart from holiness, and there can be no holiness in alienation from God. Even the chastening experiences of life—personally or in groups—individually, nationally and internationally—we are assured by the pen of inspiration, may be for our profit, if we are profitably exercised thereby, because it can result in our happiness and glory, by our becoming partakers of the divine Father's holiness. Then, "Follow after peace with all men, and the sanctification without which no man can see the Lord," is the urge, the admonition, and the exhortation of the illustrious and peerless Paul the apostle and messenger of the Lord to bring joy, hope and happiness to the Gentiles. Refer to the book of Hebrews, chapter 12:10-14. Sin is man's worst enemy. Persistent sin becomes man's ruin and man's destruction. Real happiness is attainable only in a condition of harmonious relationship with God. But sin is heinous and intolerable, in heaven's sight, and no one can possibly approach the mercy seat where Jehovah answers prayer, all burdened with sin. Our labors are vain, our efforts are unfruitful, our prayers are unanswered because sin lieth at the door. Men come to God with lip-service, but their hearts are far from God. Their lives in sin betray the profession they make in words. God turns away from them not because his hand is shortened that it cannot save, nor his ear heavy that it cannot hear, but because man has alienated himself from God by wicked works. And nations are made up of men. And as are the men of whom the nations are composed, so are the nations themselves. A good and righteous nation must be one composed of good and righteous people. Righteous, good and holy people do not make a wicked nation; and wicked people do not make a good nation. God turns away from people who turn away from him. To his ancient people he said: "Ah sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a seed of evil-doers, children that deal corruptly! they have forsaken Jehovah, they have despised the Holy One of Israel, they are estranged and gone backward" (Isa. 1:4).

Go to the 28th chapter of the book of Deuteronomy, where Moses, the great and illustrious lawgiver of ancient Israel, recited in terms of the most impelling pathos and eloquence the national greatness and power of God's nation—his peculiar people—if they would turn from all sin, from wickedness, and from the idolatries of the pagan nations, and keep all the commandments, ordinances and laws of the great Jehovah which he had made known to them through Moses from Mount Sinai. "Jehovah shall cause thine enemies that rise up against thee to be smitten before thee. They shall come out before thee one way, and shall flee before thee seven ways" (v. 7). "But it shall come to pass, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to observe to do all his commandments and statutes which I command thee . . . Jehovah will cause thee to be smitten before thine enemies; thou shalt go out one way against them, and shalt flee seven ways before them: and thou shalt be tossed to and fro among all the kingdoms of the earth" (vs. 15-26). And all the details of this prophecy have been fulfilled in the history of this unhappy people because of their departure from God, their defiance of his laws, and their persistence in sin, which thing separated them from the saving power of the great Jehovah who is mighty to save.

And in the day in which we live—shall our nation and our people be chastised because the sins of the people are a stumbling block preventing us from receiving the blessings of God's goodness, benevolence and mercy which he is abundantly able and willing, graciously, to bestow? Ah, my friends, the church today has a most wonderfully important service to perform. "Blessed is the nation whose God is Jehovah, the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance" (Psalm 33:12).

As citizens, and particularly as members of the church of the living God, we should exercise all possible influence within our reach to see to it that our nation has before it the fear of God with reference to all his religious appointments and his commandments. Every individual Christian should look into his own life and teaching, and bear in mind that God's children are the salt of the earth—and they are the salt of our nation—and the saving power in the great national problems to be solved at this time by our president, our rulers and our leaders upon whose shoulders fall the tremendous responsibility of the administration of government. They need and should receive our prayers and, not only this, but that cooperation in virtue of all the excellencies of life and character that distinguish the children of God and adorn their lives, and qualify them for saving men from demoralizing sin.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night." So says the psalmist in Psalm 1:1, 2. Pre-eminent blessing and happiness is the lot of those who turn away from evil and walk in the law of the Lord. In this way only may we expect the removal of sin which separates people and nations from the benevolence of propitious heaven.

The name of the Christ is Jesus which means "saviour" and was given by the heavenly messenger because it was he who would save people from their sins. Sin pollutes, destroys, and brings unutterable disaster to men and nations. Covenant relationship with the Christ brings, first of all the forgiveness of sins committed, their utter obliteration, their removal, their blotting out completely, as an obstacle between man and God.

This possibility of freedom from sin, comes through the terms and conditions of the great commission in which our Saviour requires that the people must hear, believe and obey the gospel in its terms requiring faith, repentance, confession of the name of Christ and being baptized in his name for the remission of sins. Thus purified, every servant remains pure and free from the penalty of sin in a life of faithfulness to the Master. "What shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?" is the interrogatory of the apostle Peter, and Paul says: "To you who are troubled, rest with us when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven in flaming fire, taking vengeance on them that know not God and obey not the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. In this day of trouble, sorrow, distress, anguish and death, let us set ourselves assiduously, devotedly, persistently and ceaselessly to the task of looking to God, trusting in him, turning to him, becoming obedient to his holy commands and requirements. He is mighty to save and will deliver us if we will put our trust in him. Amen.

Guild To Do Evangelistic Work In Northwest

Claude A. Guild resigned as minister for the Riverside church in Ft. Worth, Texas, to become effective not later than June 1. Announcement was made to the congregation at Riverside on August 30. Claude Guild will move to Portland, Oregon, where he will be associated with the new East Side Church of Christ and will serve as Vice President of Columbia Bible School.

Brother Guild will be available for a number of gospel meetings each year. The church in Portland, as well as Columbia Bible School, feels very fortunate in securing the services of Brother Guild because of his ability as a builder and worker in the church and we feel that few young men among us are better known for their soundness and zeal than Claude Guild. His coming to Portland will be a great contribution to the church as well as to Columbia Bible School. We appreciate the generosity and unselfishness of the members and elders of the church at Riverside for permitting Brother Guild to come to Portland and help us in the work to be done in this great field. There were many tears in the congregation at Riverside when the announcement was made because Brother Guild is known and loved for his works' sake in the Ft. Worth area. Not only are the brethren in Ft. Worth permitting him to come to the Northwest but they are sending him to do evangelistic work in this area, and supporting him for five years in the church work that he does in this field.

Below is a letter of recommendation and endorsement by the elders of the church of Christ in Riverside, Ft. Worth, Texas, where Brother Guild has been laboring for the past five years:

TO WHOM THIS MAY COME:

This will recommend to your Christian fellowship and confidence our brother, Claude A. Guild, who has been local full-time minister with this congregation for the past five years.

We are sending him into evangelistic labors in the Northwest, with our blessing and support. He has proven to be an able and zealous worker, having accomplished for this congregation more than any other who has served it. We would gladly have him remain with us, but he feels bound in the Spirit to go into more needy fields, and we are not selfish enough to restrain him.

We are therefore underwriting his personal support and recommending him to you as a man of faith, zeal and deep conviction; well qualified to undertake carrying the pure gospel to those that have not heard, to build up congregations, teaching them the Lord's methods of operation, and qualified to raise funds for the support of Columbia Bible School on a scriptural basis. This will be part of his assignment. We just as freely commend his wife Sammie. She is all to him that a preacher's wife should be and shares credit for his success. They have four well-trained children.—Signed, Elders, R. H. Banowsky, H. B. Bruce, Glen Holden, W. C. Sparkman, W. E. Stewart, D. P. Shore, J. H. Tew.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

A. R. Holton, 4801 16th N. W., Washington, D. C., October 5: Seven additions to the 16th Street church of Christ, Washington, D. C., during the month past.

Ross W. Dye, 408 N. Marshall, Oklahoma City 10, Oklahoma, October 5: Two were baptized and three restored here yesterday. This makes one hundred and twenty who have responded in nine months.

Trine Starnes, Box 602, Waco, Texas, October 6: I am looking forward to meetings with Central in Muskogee, Oklahoma, October 11-21, and Harris and Irving, San Angelo, Texas, November 1-8. We have just begun our sixth year of mutual labors here with Columbus Avenue. We are grateful for the spiritual blessings that have accompanied our labors.

O. C. Lambert, 1309—9th Avenue S. E., Decatur, Alabama, October 7: The Somerville Road church has now been in their new air-conditioned brick building three weeks. We are having additions every Lord's day. I will be with Sandusky church, near Birmingham, Alabama, for a meeting beginning October 19. I expect to have my book—Roman Catholicism Against Itself—ready for the press by Spring.

Tlee Elkins, Alamogordo, New Mexico, October 6: I find that it is out of my power to put on another radio broadcast in Alamogordo. The church is carrying on a two-talk a week by the local minister, and the station's time-for-sale is all taken except for such hours as are too difficult to use. I am returning all the money sent to me for a new broadcast, and thanking every one heartily for the kindness shown in sending money for this purpose. May the Lord bless you all.

Truman Carney, 6152 S. Grand Blvd., St. Louis, Missouri, October 5: On September 27th I closed my work with the Spring & Blaine congregation. We have had more than seventeen years of profitable and pleasant work together. The church is in good condition and will doubtless continue to do great work for the Lord. Brother Wilson Wallace will succeed me in this work. My work will continue in the St. Louis area. Yesterday marked the beginning of my work with the church in Ferguson, Missouri, located at 702 S. Florissant Blvd. If you have friends whom you would like for us to contact, please send their names and addresses.

Paul T. Dumm, Charleston, South Carolina, October 6: Our meeting came to a close last Wednesday evening with five baptisms as the visible fruits of the very fine manner in which Brother P. L. Manning of Salisbury, North Carolina, presented the gospel. None could be offended at his manner of preaching, but, rather they were taught in such a manner that they came again and again to hear him. Neither did he shun to declare the whole counsel of God at any time. The work moves on in Charleston having grown from 134 members to 175 since I came here last October 19th. Plans are now being made to establish a congregation in another section of this city. We will try to contact all whose names we receive from time to time who are located here.

T. J. Ruble, 303 E. 3rd, Belton, Texas, October 5: Recently two have been baptized, two restored, and two have placed membership here with the Belton congregation.

Levoy Bivens, Box 734, Gadsden, Alabama, October 5: Two additions yesterday; an all-time high attendance for Bible School and for all the other services. Much interest and enthusiasm is manifest in the congregation.

Raymond Whittington, Carthage, Texas, October 5: After two years and four months of very pleasant work with the church in Carthage, we are moving to Premont, Texas, November 10. Interest has been good here lately with record crowds last week. I will be in a meeting at Broadus, Texas, beginning October 19 and running through that week.

The church in Elsie, Nebraska, is interested in locating a preacher. The town is very small and located in southwestern Nebraska. There are about a dozen other congregations in this area. The church owns a small building and has a membership of about 45. The right man could do a good work. Address all applications to Guy W. Sims, Jr., Box 58, Elsie, Nebraska.

Murrey W. Wilson, Bentonville, Arkansas, October 7: Our work here has gotten off to a good start. We have recently had two to be baptized and three to place membership. We are now in a good meeting with Brother F. I. Stanley from Midland, Texas, doing the preaching. I begin a meeting October 19th with the church of Christ in Jane, Missouri. I would like to arrange some meetings for 1954 in this area.

Glenn L. Wallace, 673 E. N. 15th, Abilene, Texas, October 8: Closed a meeting with the Burbank Gardens church in Grand Prairie, Texas. This is a new congregation with a good meeting house, well equipped. They have more than 200 members and are only two years old. Holland Boring, Sr., is the faithful preacher for this group. Work with the College church in Abilene moves forward. My next meeting will be with Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, October 8: In July Willow Street in Cookeville began an early morning worship service on Sunday at 8:45, in addition to the 11 A.M. service. The attendance at this early service is amazingly fine. The Sunday Bible School last Sunday equalled the all time record of 226 set last July, and the Daily Bible Readers set a new all time record of 109, or 48% of the total attendance. One was baptized last Saturday.

Forrest Chapman, 421 Highland, Albany, Georgia, October 8: I have accepted the invitation to work with the River Street church of Christ in Valdosta beginning the second Sunday in November. The Highland Avenue congregation here in Albany will be in need of a full-time preacher at that time. It is a congregation that any preacher would do well to locate with. Peace and harmony prevail and there is a bright future for the church in this growing southern city. If interested contact, L. D. Beasley, 1006 Lincoln Avenue, or phone 3426-W.

George Tipps, 211 West Grand, Jackson, Tennessee, October 3: Five baptisms, four restorations, and two to be identified in a wonderfully attended meeting at Humboldt, Tennessee. Buford Holt preaches for this good church, and was a capable and congenial co-worker during the meeting. Tommy Nicks did his usual good job with the teaching and worship in song.

W. Halliday Trice, 67 Waller Street, San Francisco, California, October 6: Brother R. F. Lyman, of Vallejo, preached for us at our mid-week meeting last week, and a young married woman was restored and placed membership. At the close of our Sunday morning service I baptized a young man. The work of the Lord moves along very nicely at the Golden Gate congregation at 8th Avenue and Cabrillo Street. Please send me the names of those who should be contacted.

O. C. Hartsell, 612 Elm Street, Minden, Louisiana, October 7: Minden is the Parish seat of Webster Parish. I am told in this area there are 15,000 people. We have two small congregations, one in Minden and one in Dixie Inn. Brother Elmer Gobble is the evangelist out at Dixie Inn. I'm now with the Minden church. Began with this church September 1st. Brethren Wilhite, Starnes, Cheatam, Cochran, and others have helped this church regularly. In Christ's name we press forward to victory. In Christ's name we shall win.

O. M. Reynolds, Box 242, Leakey, Texas, October 5: September 20-27 I was with the good church at Carrizo Springs, of which Ralph Russell is the capable minister, with very fine audiences, fine interest and one baptism. Edgar Furr, minister at Crystal City, led the song services well during the week-days. Brother Russell is greatly loved and appreciated at Carrizo Springs, and is doing a good work. He preached to appreciative audiences here both Sundays of the meeting. The Lord willing, we conduct a meeting here with home forces October 18-25. The meeting had to be postponed due to the illness of Mrs. Reynolds and others.

Jack W. King, Box 15, Littlefield, Texas, October 6: I began with the Littlefield Drive congregation on September 1. During the three weeks prior to my coming, with Ned Fairburn and Horace Busby preaching, the church had some forty responses. During my month with them we have had seventeen more. Brother Norman Gipson engaged Brother Ralph Gage in a four-night discussion on the Bible Class question here recently which we believe will be productive of much future good. The church here faces many problems but we look forward to a good work as it also seems to have as great an opportunity as any congregation that we know about.

Silas Howell, Port Arthur, Texas, October 7: Recently I helped the church meeting at Ninth and Main Streets in San Angelo in a very good meeting. Brother Wallace Riffel, the local minister, had started the meeting and a number had been baptized before I arrived. Visible results throughout the entire meeting were nine baptisms, one restoration and one to place membership. Brother Riffel is doing a very good work with this newly established congregation. I am now in a meeting with the Groves congregation in the Port Arthur area where Brother Earl Miller continues to do a very good work. The meeting here is starting off well with one baptism last night and another tonight. I was here at this same time last year.

C. Howard Casada, Box 663, Tom Bean, Texas, October 5: Yesterday marked the beginning of our work with the congregation at this place. I was born in this community and lived here several years as a boy. We are looking forward to a fine work with these good people.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, October 6: Just closed a very fine meeting in Mt. Judea, Arkansas, with seven baptisms. Began last night in Siloam Springs, Arkansas, with Brother George B. Curtis and the good church here. One response the first service here. People are responsive to the gospel. "The field is indeed white unto the harvest." Let us as laborers go now into the field.

C. B. Glasgow, Box 906, San Felipe, Texas, October 7: After preaching two Lord's days at Grub Hill, Hill County, to good crowds, wife and I came back to South Texas, and went to Brookshire last Sunday and heard Brother Charlie Metcalfe preach an extra good sermon to the church. We visited Brother and Sister Joe Weaver at Sealy yesterday. They heard me preach at View, near Abilene, for six years.

Claude A. Gullid, 2701 E. Belknap Street, Ft. Worth 11, Texas, October 9: There were 10 responses to the invitation last Lord's day at Riverside—one baptized, three restored and six placed membership. The church here is in the best shape it has been in during the last five years. Brother Gary Scott, who is ministering with me, is a great asset. Brother Weldon Bennett begins a meeting with us October 18 (through 25), services daily, 10:00 A.M. and 7:30 P.M.

Rudy Wyatt, Gatesville, Texas, October 9: We have just concluded a meeting at 10th and Saunders here in Gatesville, the 23rd of September, in which I did the preaching. One was baptized, two restored and three placed membership. I am to be in a lectureship the 17th of this month at Valley Mills, Texas. Ten were present for the service for the deaf service here the third Sunday. This was somewhat less than last time due to the fact that many who had been attending had gone back to school in Austin.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, October 5: Two have been added to our working force by baptism recently. The work of the Lord moves along in a very satisfactory way. Attendance and interest are increasing with each service. Despite some false publicity circulated against the elders and the church here, we take courage and press on, giving to the Lord all the praise. Water has again come to the Valley, and it would be a wonderful place for you to spend your winter vacation. Pray for the work here.

Ross O. Spears, Bolivar, Missouri, October 3: I have just returned from a very fine meeting at Kansas City, Kansas, with the Argentine church of Christ where J. C. Davidson is the preacher and is doing a fine work. Three were baptized and one restored uniting three families in the faith. The Argentine congregation is located in a growing section and plans are underway to erect a building on the basement auditorium where they are now meeting. My work at Bolivar is to be resumed without break until next summer. If you know of anyone living in this area that I may contact or anyone moving into this general section I would appreciate your sending me the information. Just address me at Bolivar, Missouri.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, October 5: Yesterday I began my fourth year with the Catoma Street congregation. Our work together has been very pleasant. The brethren have been very loyal to the Lord and to me. The future seems quite promising. Last night, two placed membership with us.

P. D. Wilmeth, 808 Hamvasy Lane, Tyler, Texas, October 7: Four placed membership with us the past two weeks. We are working feverishly for a great meeting with Elbridge Linn of Austin October 18-25. Those in this area are being alerted and invited to attend the meeting. Services will be at 12:10 Noon and 7:30 each evening. The writer will be with Basil Shilling and the Southside church in Austin November 1-8.

William B. Kughn, 506 Cotton Avenue, Caruthersville, Missouri: The meeting with Edward J. Craddock doing the preaching came to a close September 8th. Nine were baptized and nine were restored. Brother J. B. Cox of Miami, Florida, was in charge of the song service. We regret that it was not possible for him to be with us the ten days, but due to an emergency call he had to return to Miami. Both Brother Craddock and Brother Cox did a wonderful work while here.

J. Loyd Rice, 400 E. 3rd Street, Casa Grande, Arizona: We had a wonderful day here yesterday. One made confession of faults at the morning services, and one was baptized last night. Our young people's class at 6:30 Sunday evening is making progress. I shall start a meeting Sunday, October 11, and Brother Norman Kenner, of Chandler, Arizona, will be here on Monday night to continue the meeting over Sunday, October 18. We are looking forward to a good meeting.

Hugh G. Murray, Box 314, Fowler, Colorado, October 7: We have completed four years of work with the church here. During this time, we have completed three class rooms and a baptistry that is badly needed. We have worked "with our hands" for over three years at secular work in order to help the church to have this addition. We will be open for full time work in a new field shortly. Anyone that is interested in my services in any way, may contact me as above. I have been on the "firing line" almost 20 years.

Max T. Neel, Houston 23, Texas, October 5: The meeting here at Lawndale in which I did the preaching was very encouraging. There were ten responses. Four of these were baptisms, four restorations. Three of the restorations were for membership. The morning after the meeting closed, I baptized a man whose wife placed membership Wednesday. Yesterday we had nine to respond, two for baptism, seven restorations. Then this afternoon I baptized a young man who had been a Baptist. Our work is very encouraging, for which we are grateful.

Perry B. Cotham, 3709 Rosemont, Nashville, Tennessee, October 7: I was recently with the Weber and Boulder Streets church in Colorado Springs, Colorado, in a meeting with Ray Wright, of Denver, as the song leader. Thos. E. Cudd has done a fine work with this congregation. One was baptized, one identified and five restored. Following this meeting I was with Harry E. Johnson and the church in Spur, Texas, for ten days. One was baptized and five restored in this meeting. Fred Gibson, preacher for the church in Dickens, led the singing. I am now with the East Hill church in Pulaski, Tennessee, where Virgil Bradford serves as local evangelist. Paul Brown, of Lewisburg, is directing the singing. From here I go to Ft. Worth to be with my brother, Preston, and the Meadowbrook church, and from there to Wewoka, Oklahoma, November 1-11 and East Main, Shawnee, Oklahoma, November 15-22.

James D. Groves, 8234 Normile, Detroit 4, Michigan: Two were immersed Wednesday, September 30, as we closed our ninth year here at Vinewood. Six hundred eighty-eight responses have been recorded in that period. One was baptized last Lord's day, two restored, and one identified. The churches here grown in number and strength.

Herbert L. Coffman, 1008 E. Franklin St., Hillsboro, Texas, September 30: On August 30, I started the work with the congregation here in Hillsboro. In the month of September, we've had six memberships. At present, we are completely renovating the class rooms, and equipping them with new chair-desks, blackboards, and maps. Looking forward to a prosperous work for the Lord.

Frank Pack, Abilene, Texas, October 6: C. R. Nichol of Clifton, Texas, was with the Northside church, Abilene, Texas, in a meeting September 20-27. Brother Nichol preached a wonderful series of sermons and was as active in the meeting as a youth of 21. Our crowds were very large; interest was high throughout the meeting. Four were baptized, three restored and eleven placed membership. We enjoyed Brother Nichol and believe that his preaching would be good for any congregation of New Testament Christians.

O. C. Hartsell, 612 Elm Street, Minden, Louisiana, October 8: Since beginning work here with the church five have placed membership and two have been restored. Last Lord's day Brother Frazier and wife of Liberty Hill, Texas, took membership with us. They recently purchased a large ranch near Sibley, Louisiana, five miles south of Minden. These additions and restorations are appreciated. Sister Hartsell recently underwent a minor operation in Thornton Minor Hospital, Kansas City 9, Missouri. She is soon to be back home, we hope, and if it's the Lord's will. We can do all things through the Lord Jesus Christ who gives us strength. Your prayers are requested.

Luther W. Martin, 1009 Morrell Avenue, Rolla, Missouri, October 7: The church meeting in Rolla, Missouri, has asked that I submit this announcement to the Firm Foundation. The Rolla church desires to secure the services of a full-time gospel preacher. At present, they meet in a remodeled residence building, but have purchased and paid for a corner lot upon which to build a new building as finances permit. The Rolla congregation has never had a preacher to work with them on a full-time basis. However, they participate with several other Missouri churches in the sponsorship of a daily gospel broadcast over KTTR, Rolla, at 12:30 P.M. weekdays, and the Herald of Truth at 8:45 A.M. on Sundays. Also, Rolla is within 30 miles of Fort Leonard Wood, which is a Military Reservation with a fluctuating population of 30,000 to 60,000 men. Members of the church conduct services at 1500 hours each Lord's day afternoon on the Post at Fort Wood, at Chapel No. 5. This is for the benefit of any members of the Military who cannot leave the Post for worship elsewhere. If any gospel preacher would be interested in really working, he is requested to write to Brother Rex E. Edmonson, 102 Hiway 72, Rolla, Missouri.

Lawrence Hazelip, 1509 William Street, Valdosta, Georgia, October 6: Since last report we have held the following meetings: Highland Avenue, Albany, Ga., five baptized; Doles, Ga., six baptized; Mt. Zion, Kentucky, four baptized and one restored; Moultrie, Ga., six baptized and three restored; Hahira, Ga., 13 baptized and one restored; Meigs, Ga., two baptized and one restored and Southside in Macon, Ga., six baptized and 17 restored. Our fall meeting here at Central Avenue begins November 1st with M. Norvel Young doing the preaching and Warren Morris directing the song service.
