Leon Savage, San Angelo, Texas, October 5: I began work with the Santa Rita congregation in San Angelo, October 4. This congregation is comparatively a young congregation and possesses a wonderful opportunity and challenge. We will enter the new Bible School annex next Lord's day. This congregation possesses one of the most outstanding group of men who serve as the elders, that it has ever been my pleasure to see. There is complete unity among them, each one possesses a will to work, and a deep love for the Lord's church. We anticipate a very pleasant work with them.

Preston Cotham, 2000 Oakland Blvd., Ft. Worth, Texas, October 5: The Trinity Heights congregation in Dallas closed a very fine meeting September 27, in which it was my privilege to do the preaching. The interest and attendance were fine from the beginning. Two were baptized and two placed membership. Brother Hulén Jackson, the hard working preacher there, did so much to make the meeting a success. Our work here at Meadowbrook continues to grow. Two were restored and placed membership yesterday morning and one man was restored last evening. Perry B. Cotham of Nashville, Tennessee, begins our fall meeting October 18 to continue through the 28th. The work here is at its best. When in Fort Worth worship with us.

J. David Taylor, Gould, Texas, October 6: The elders of this fine church, with almost every one of the members, have come to us and asked us to stay another year, and have raised our support financially to a helpful degree above what we were receiving. Wonderful people here with a bright future. God has richly blessed this church this past year with fine people coming into its membership by baptism and some restored. We agreed with them to start toward another year. We do not know we will stay that long. We love this fine church and love to work with them—but if another work would give us opportunity to do more for salvation of souls, then of course we would feel it our duty to change to it. There are some of the finest congregations of the saints in this area I have met in years. Great opportunities seem to be all around the churches of this part and the elders of the many fine churches seem to be taking advantage of the same to a better extent.

W. T. Garnett, Box 142, Portales, New Mexico: Three to place membership with the East 2nd Street church of Christ Sunday. Brother Elwood Page, Lovington, New Mexico, preached for us at the Wednesday evening service. Brother Page is set for the preaching of the truth. His lesson was well received and appreciated. We appreciate the assurance from our preaching brethren, concerning the reports and charges made against me. We are trying hard to do the will of the Lord and our elders are God fearing men, fine to work with, men who want the truth declared as it is in the Bible. I had fine elders to work under at Lovington, New Mexico; Henrietta, Texas; and here, and most all the places where I have worked. Visit us when you pass this way.

Bill McCown, P. O. Box 201, Liberty, Texas, October 5: Our meeting with Robert Le Croix of Victoria, Texas, as the visiting evangelist came to a close last night. One baptism comprised the visible results. Inasmuch as the theme of this meeting was "Christian Living," we believe that much good was done that will be apparent in the days yet ahead. It was a pleasure to be associated with Brother Le Croix in this effort. His preaching was forceful and to the point. Our work here in Liberty is still in its initial stage. We moved here September 13 from New Braunfels, Texas. However, we are contemplating a pleasant labor with this fine congregation.

Luther G. Roberts, 1506 Clayton, Borger, Texas, October 7: We are now residing at the above address and I am preaching for the church in Borger at Second and Deahl Streets. We moved here from Corsicana, Texas, where I preached for the West Side church. This congregation is made up of as some as fine Christians can be found anywhere. Brother Ernest McCoy did a good work here in Borger. During the four months since he left Borger the work has been conducted by local forces with two of the elders, M. W. Graves and Arthur Cox, doing the preaching. The type work they did is evidenced by the results during this period: seven baptized, 33 restored, and 17 to place membership with the church. These were in addition to the number added during the meeting in June in which Grover Stevens did the preaching. In the meeting 11 were baptized, 24 restored, and two placed membership. The total number of additions for the four months was: 18 baptized, 57 restored, and 19 to place membership with the church. We trust that this good work may continue through the months to come.

TECH BIBLE CHAIR BEGINS SEVENTH YEAR

With the opening of school for the Fall term, 1953, the church of Christ Bible Chair at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas, began its seventh year of uninterrupted operation. From all indications we should have a very profitable year. Over four hundred of Tech's students are either members of the church or list it as their preference.

During the Spring semester of 1953 some 1,696 students hours were spent in Bible classes, where systematic study of the Bible was conducted; and some 2,000 student hours were spent in devotional periods, where singing, praying, and a study of God's word were engaged in. During the seven years of operation there have been approximately 1,000 students who have benefited from the Bible Chair's program of work.

Our building is located one block east of the Tech campus on the main thoroughfare leading from town to the college campus. Our property is valued at some $40,000. At the present our Bible Chair committee is working on expansion plans, which if completed will cost approximately $75,000.00. Recently the Bible Chair received over four thousand dollars from the Gilliland estate to be used for the establishment and maintenance of an adequate library. Books are being ordered and a room is being remodeled in order to house the library.

This fall semester, among other activities, six Bible courses are being taught, and daily devotionals are being conducted.

J. T. Marlin, Sweetwater, Texas: In the past week two have been restored and one baptized.

100 RESPONSES IN LUBBOCK MEETING

Alan M. Bryan

The Broadway congregation of Lubbock held one of the most successful meetings in its history September 20 through 27 with M. Norvel Young, regular minister for the congregation, doing the preaching. There were 100 responses to the invitation with 17 baptized, 14 restored, and 69 identified as Christians. Attendance throughout the meeting was better than any gospel meeting held at the Broadway congregation.

On September 13 a new record was set in Bible School attendance with 1431 present. Attendance in Bible School averaged 1324 for the entire month.

B. F. England, P. O. Box 241, Grandfield, Oklahoma, October 3: I closed a very good meeting with the church at Charlie, Texas, on Sunday evening August 9. This meeting was attended by many members of the surrounding congregations. Brother Pennick, of Wichita Falls, is their regular preacher, and is doing a good work. Brother Longley, of the Floral Heights congregation, in Wichita Falls, directed the singing in a commendable manner. There were no additions, but we hope some good was done. The work in Grandfield continues to make progress. We have had one restoration since last report. Interest is good, and we have a number of prospects for obedience. The white church has just completed a new building for the colored folks and will conduct them a meeting beginning October 12th with Brother Jesse Davis (colored) of Vernon, Texas, preaching. Their building is 40 x 20 and is made of concrete blocks with concrete floor. (Also painted our building inside and outside).

The week of October 4 has been set aside as visitation week, also special prayer services are being held the week preceding the meeting.

If you are within driving distance of Commerce you are urged to attend this meeting. Willis G. Jernigan is the local evangelist.

P. D. Wimeth

A PATTERN FOR LIFE. By Archibald M. Hunter. Westminster Press, Witherspoon Bldg., Philadelphia 7, Pa. 124 pages. $2.00. 1953.

Here is an exposition of the Sermon on the Mount presented under three divisions. First, The Making, Manner and Matter of the Sermon. Second, The Exegesis of the Sermon. Third, The Meaning of the Sermon. The author presents six ways of interpreting the Sermon on the Mount. It is a scholarly production by one who has for many years served in the field of New Testament exegesis. The author presents the sermon as a four-fold ethic. It is a religious ethic, a disciple's ethic, a prophetic ethic, (not a new law, and here one may differ from the writer), and last, but not least, an unattainable ethic, which as Christians we must nevertheless try to attain. Friends of ours may order this valuable little volume from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

THE NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH. By L. R. Wilson. The Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas. 1953. 130 pages. Paper, $1.00; cloth, $1.50.

Here is a volume of radio addresses from the facile pen of L. R. Wilson, President of Central Christian College, Bartlesville, Oklahoma. These addresses were first delivered over radio station WOAI in San Antonio in 1943. At that time the series contained but 12 addresses. These were later carried on the front page of the Firm Foundation, then incorporated into a small volume which had a substantial circulation. The material has been reworked and revised and now appears in its present form. For those who want to be informed about the New Testament Church, and who want to teach and preach on the New Testament church, here is material at its best. It should be in every Bible student's library. The volume is priced within range of availability and appears in a beautiful blue-paper back. Why not order your copy today from the publisher or the author?

THE GLORY OF GOD IN THE CHRISTIAN CALLING. By W. O. Carver. Broadman Press, Nashville, Tenn. 1949. 239 pages. $3.75.

This is a commentary on the Ephesian letter. It is all but exhaustive. This is a commentary on the thought of the letter rather than on the letter word by word. This commentary is novel in many respects. There is a paraphrase of the letter which reproduces the context in Paul's own mind of the words in which he was writing, then there follows the arrangement on the opposite pages of the writer's translation, and this is compared with the King James Translation. For thoroughness, and clarity of thought, this is a masterpiece. Those who are studying the Ephesian letter will find much help in this volume from a Baptist Theologian. It is understood that one will not agree with all the author's comments, but this would be true with any scholar's commentary.

JUST A MOMENT

GOSPEL SERMONS. By George DeHoff. De Hoff Publications, Murfreesboro, Tenn. 285 pages. $3.00. 1953.

Here is a book of "great sermons" by a "great preacher." This is the fruit of twenty-five years of evangelistic work over as many states. More than four thousand people have been baptized as a result of these labors. The sermons are plain, simple and scriptural, and represent the fundamentals of the gospel in their subject matter, as well as content. It is a beautiful book containing twenty-four sermons, a sketch of the author's life, and four pages of photographs. It ought to be on every preacher's book shelf. Order your copy today from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

TOWARD THE MARK. (Studies in Philip-pians). By Stephen W. Paine. Fleming W. Revell Co., Westwood, N. J. 191 pages. $2.50.

This is a series of studies in Paul's letter to the Philippians. Out of this short epistle the author selects sixteen priceless gems, analyzes, enlarges, and describes them with pungent force. This is one of the most significant volumes on this letter that has come to this reviewer's attention. It is a volume that both young and old alike will enjoy. It was written with a younger group in mind, but it has universal appeal. Any one of the sixteen topics is well worth the price of this book. Order your copy from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

CLEAR OF THE BROODING CLOUD. By Jack Finegan. Abingdon Cokesbury Press. Nashville, Tenn. 1953. 176 pages. $2.50.

This is a volume of eighteen inspiring chapters on problems facing modern man with light from the Scriptures. Each chapter is a gem within itself. Jack Finegan is a ready writer. This is his last volume, but he has many others. Dr. Finegan is director of the Palestine Institute of Archeology and dean of the summer session of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif. He is also preacher of the University Christian Church in that same city. This volume will add help and suggestion to any Bible student. Order your volume from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

RIGHT AND WRONG WAYS TO USE THE BIBLE. By J. Carter Swaim. Westminster Press, Witherspoon Bldg., Philadelphia 7, Pa. 178 pages. $2.50. 1953.

There is a real place in every Bible student's library for a volume like this. It is literally packed with valuable suggestions and help as the author presents each of the ten chapters with a verse from the Bible as his "chapter headings," as: "How do you read?" "Understandest thou what thou readest?" "Do you know Greek?" The author describes certain common ways of misusing the Bible by misquoting, twisting meanings, quoting phrases out of context, misapplying texts, etc. The last chapter is a gem, taking as its heading, "In him all things hold together," and points up to Jesus as the key to an understanding of the Bible. Our friends may order their copy today from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

THE LIFE OF JESUS. By Charles H. Roberson. Mrs. Charles H. Roberson, 1618 College Drive, Abilene, Texas. 30 pages. $1.25. 1953.

BOOKS OF THE NEW COVENANT. By Charles H. Roberson. 31 pages. $1.00. 1953.

To say that Charles H. Roberson is the author of these two volumes is sufficient—no word of mine could add to their merit, nor embellish them in any way. These are brief outlines of courses offered at Abilene Christian College during the years he served so nobly as head of the Bible Department, having served in this capacity from 1932 to his retirement in 1951. Brother Roberson was recognized by the Greek Department of the University Texas as the "Greek Scholar of the Southwest." We are happy to commend these volumes for the library of every Bible student, and for class work among adults. Our friends may order their copy or copies from Sister Roberson or the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

NEW TESTAMENT COMMENTARY. John. Vol. 1. By William Hendriksen. Baker Book House. Grand Rapids, Mich. 250 pages. 130 pages. Paper, $1.00; Cloth, $1.50.

This is one of the 14 volumes of a New Commentary to appear from the conservative pen of a Calvinistic Scholar. This particular volume introduces the set by giving an introduction to the Gospel of John, which is well worth its price. The introduction before the comments on John's Gospel is outstanding. Recent discoveries and recent scholarship all combine to make this a worthy contribution. It will come from the press at the rate of about two volumes per year. The next is due in Sept. which will complete the comments on the Gospel of John. Romans is scheduled to appear in Jan., 1954. Dr. Hendriksen is the author of "More Than Conquerors," a commentary on Revelation. This is also excellent.

Our friends may order their copy from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

THE HOLY CITY. By John E. Huss. Privately published. Spartanburg, S. C. 1952. 125 pages. $2.00.

This book contains eight sermons prepared and delivered by John Huss, a Baptist preacher. The lead sermon, The Holy City, which gives title to the volume is a sermon on Heaven. It is excellent. The sermons are unique, simple, and have an unusual approach. The sermons are Baptist in flavor, but as a whole are suggestive for any preacher. "The Mile of Power" and "A Little Honey" are well worth the price of the book to any preacher. Order your copy today from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

LORD'S DAY EVENING SERMONS, Vol. Two. By Foy L. Smith. Gospel Advocate Pub., Nashville, Tenn. 148 pages. $2.00. 1953.

My good friend, Foy L. Smith, 107 N. Pendell St., of Cleburne, Texas, has brought forth his second volume of Sunday Evening Sermons. These are ten complete sermons written as they were delivered from the pulpit. They are down to earth, sort of language people understand. They are sound in their gospel content, and rich and fitting in their illustrative material. The fine choice of words which the author uses serves as a vehicle of conveying the thought to the reader. Those who have volume one will certainly want this, and those who have neither will want both volumes in their library. Order your copy today from the author, or from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

to Wallowa, Oregon, where he preached and taught. My wife and I moved here in La Grande, Oregon, in 1939 from Texas. There were no members of the church here. We ran an ad in the local paper to see if we could find any members at all. Brother Fallwell, who was living at Wallowa, Oregon, read the ad and came down. He said he would buy a building and start the work here. He did in 1941, then he bought a building in Baker, Oregon, and began the work there with very little financial support. Both places now have nice church buildings, all paid for. About nine or ten years ago, he moved here to La Grande, Oregon. He worked in the Lord's vineyard just as long as he was able to get to the church building. He lost the use of his legs and could not stand up; he was also almost blind, but continued on teaching. He never received any salary for his preaching; he did not want pay. He never asked for much of this world's goods for himself. He said all he wanted was to reach heaven. He was about 75 years old at his passing. He passed away at Ontario, Oregon, Friday morning at 8:00 a.m., September 11, 1953. He was laid to rest at Lewiston, Idaho, Monday at 2:00 p.m., September 14, 1953.

RATLIFF—Minnie Neal Ratliff, a Christian mother and one who loved the Lord was called home to rest August 13, 1953. She was born March 28, 1871, in Mississippi. Early in life she was married to George Sam Ratliff and to this union was born two daughters and two sons. Survivors are: Mrs. Pearl McCuiston and Mrs. Emma Sue Gordon, both of Sweetman. There are nine grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. She lived to see much sorrow and many heartbreaks. One son died in early manhood. The other son, Richard Neal Ratliff, was killed in London in World War II, and a few months later her husband died. However, she never let the sorrows of this world separate her from the love of Christ. She was baptized in 1912 by T. H. Ethridge. She remained faithful to her duties as a Christian and leaves behind her the influence of a good life. The snow was never too deep, the weather too cold, nor the rain too hard to keep her away from Sunday worship, and many times attended church so ill that her doctor would have wanted her to remain at home. Her devotion to the Christian life was a real inspiration to those who knew her. Funeral services were conducted by L. C. Lawson.

She was born Norah Blanche Lochridge, June 23, 1866, in McKinney, Texas, and was married in May of 1888 to R. J. Yantis. In June of that year they moved to Fisher county where they homesteaded land. Eight children were born to this union, six of them surviving. Also surviving are twenty-five grandchildren and thirty great-grandchildren. He was a fine Christian gentleman, faithful in his Christian duties, and good to his family and friends. He obeyed the gospel April 19, 1931. Brother Flavil L. Colley baptized him while serving as minister in the city of Houston. On May 3, 1931, he was united in marriage to Miss Grace Lawrence at Charco, Texas. The ceremony was performed at the church of Christ by Brother D. C. Williams. To this union was born two children, Georgia Ann and Temple. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lea Doerr, of San Antonio; six sisters, and three brothers as follows: Mrs. E. M. Suddith and Mrs. Bill Taylor, both of San Antonio; Mrs. O. E. Lankart, of Goliad; Mrs. O. L. Morgan, of Okinawa; Mrs. F. T. Wright, of Hondo; Mrs. L. T. Moffatt, of Oxford, Kansas; Edgar Doerr, of Junction; Walter T. Doerr, of Corpus Christi; and Gilbert G. Doerr, of Laredo. The funeral services were solemn and beautiful. Brother Paul Stevens of San Antonio delivered the sermon, and the writer assisted. We are certain that Sister Doerr and family are comforted in that Brother George was a Christian and lived true to God and his Lord to the hour of his death. Letters from Listeners to the HERALD of TRUTH

THE HERALD OF TRUTH
Abilene, Texas

Dear Brethren:

Last Lord's Day a gentleman came in response to the invitation that we had never seen before. He found us because of our highway sign and was looking for us because of the Herald of Truth broadcast.

This man was brought up in the Catholic church but began to rebel against her teachings and practices years ago. He came into possession of a Bible about two years ago and began to study it. He had been in a Catholic hospital most of the last eighteen months before coming here. He, along with four others, were able to learn enough truth while in the hospital to decide to look up the Church and obey the Gospel as soon as they were released. Studying and listening to the radio was quite a problem for these men, while they were in a Catholic hospital. They had to do both without the knowledge of hospital attendants. Our new brother is happy, having become a Christian.

HERALD OF TRUTH

P. O. Box 1264
Abilene, Texas

Dear Brethren:

This will advise you that a man by the name of _____ who identified himself as a former gangster, having only recently been released from prison, where he was sentenced for robbery, presented himself to the Church at Central Seattle to be baptized.

He said that while in prison in Kentucky certain religious programs were broadcast to the inmates there every Lord's Day. That over a number of months of listening to the Herald of Truth broadcast, he became convinced that the church of Christ was the true church and had decided to obey the gospel, thus becoming a member of it, upon his release. When he came through Seattle he happened to notice our sign, "Church of Christ," and came in to inquire.

Brother _____ is a journeyman printer, and is trying to work out a new life based upon the gospel as he learned it to be through the Herald of Truth broadcast.

Yours in the Master,

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Risen With Christ

Paul says, "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affections on things above, not on things on the earth: for ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God" (Col. 3:1-3).

Alexander McClaren, a world famous denominational preacher, says that "risen with Christ" in this passage of scripture can mean but one thing, and that is baptism by immersion. I do not call attention to this to prove the point, but because it is unusual for denominational preachers to make such a concession on this passage of scripture.

Anyone who considers the context will know that Paul means baptism. In the chapter preceding this Paul says, "Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead" (Col. 2:12). Paul had not changed his subject when he wrote the third chapter. The apostle was not writing specifically to teach that baptism is immersion, but to point out the obligations of those who are risen with Christ.

Those who are risen with Christ should seek those things which are above. Then he says, "Set your affections on things above, not on things on the earth." Those who are risen with Christ have started in a new life. They are new creatures. They have been born again. They are dead to sin, and their life is hid with Christ in God. This new relationship requires a change of conduct. If new converts go on loving the world and seeking earthly things, their apparent conversion has been in vain. No one can achieve a goal without setting his mind on it to the exclusion of other things, and seeking it with all of his heart.

An observing newspaper reporter went to a race track one Sunday afternoon to see an old race horse run by itself. He said there were sixty-five thousand paid admissions at one dollar each. He questioned the intelligence of sixty-five thousand people who would pay one dollar each to see an old horse run by itself. This just illustrates the weakness of human beings—shows how their minds are set on earthly things—the most of them of no value. And some church members are caught in such situations just to satisfy their curiosity.

What Our Hands Find To Do

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might" (Ecc. 9:10). This is very important in every undertaking, and especially important in the Christian life. No one can aimlessly go to heaven. It is said that men use only a small part of their talent in their earthly callings. Their achievements would be much greater if they used all their power.

The Bible teaches that men must use all their talents in the Christian life. People cannot serve God with a divided heart. In order to be saved they must love and serve the Lord with all their heart. Too many who profess to be Christians think that the main thing in life is to make a living. Everything else, including Christianity, is secondary to this. A man does not have to stop making a living in order to be a Christian. One can serve God with his whole heart and still make a living. Paul made tents for a living when the churches failed to support him. But we are sure that Paul's earthly calling did not cause him to neglect his duty. He did not get so tied up in making tents that he would neglect preaching or living the Christian life.

TEACH (Make Disciples of) ALL NATIONS

J. W. Roberts

In the September issue of Bible Talk the editor offers a short article entitled, "Teaching and Preaching" by M. S. Whitehead. The purpose of the article is to set forth the thesis that the King James Version is wrong in translating the verb matheteuo in this verse "teach." Brother Whitehead thinks that the translation of this verb by a word meaning "convert" in the Syriac version shows a better understanding of the original than that displayed by those English translators who render it by "teach." Brother Garrett, the editor, gives his approval to that conclusion by saying, "Whitehead is right when he says that matheteusate means 'convert' or 'disciple' the nations and not 'teach' the nations."

The point in the whole matter is that the editor has expounded a theory that teaching must always be to members of the church and preaching to those not Christians. On this distinction he has built a foundation and is waging a war against preachers who live in one place and preach to the church under the oversight of a group of elders as Timothy did at Ephesus. He thinks that it is nonsense to try to "preach to the church" or teach outsiders. This is the reason that he must get the idea of teaching out of this verb. It would destroy his system. Since I have formerly offered some comments on this matter, I would like to offer a few more here.

The verb matheteuo is a verb of late formation in Greek. It finds its root in the older verb manthano which means "I learn." The later form of the verb is used both intransitively (without an object) and transitively. When it is used as an intransitive verb it means "I study, I learn, I am a pupil." When it is used as a transitive verb (this is what Broadus meant by "causative" form), it means "I make one a learner, I instruct, I teach." The verb is from the noun mathesis which means "the act of learning or getting knowledge." The noun mathetes is from the same root. It means a learner or disciple. It has the characteristic "agent" termination: tes which signifies "one who does . . ." Thus this word means one who learns, one who is taught. Our English word "disciple" means exactly the same thing. It is derived from the Latin discere "to learn." Thus to "make a disciple" and to "teach" or "instruct" mean exactly the same thing, and the latter part of Brother Garrett's distinction that the verb means "make disciples" but not "teach" is a distinction without a difference.

Now "convert" is a different matter. As the reader can see from above, there is nothing in either the etymology or the use of the original word to suggest such a meaning. Why then should the Aramaic suggest such a meaning? Evidently simply as a paraphrase. Anyone who knows any Greek knows that the idea of converting inheres in an altogether different root—the derivatives of the word strepheo, "I turn." Lexicographers have long been wary of fixing the meaning of words and texts of documents by translations, for the simple reason that translations are often mere paraphrases of the original. This is especially true, for instance, of the Septuagint with relation to the Hebrew text of the Old Testament. One cannot necessarily judge the meaning of the Greek word by the original word in Hebrew it translates. Many have been led astray in trying to amend the text or define Greek words by a comparison of the Hebrew text with the Greek translation. "Convert" from Aramaic could at best be a paraphrase for matheteusate.

The point is made that the Syrians must have known the meaning of Greek better than the translators of the King James Version. But the Latins translated the word by docete "teach," and we might say with equal wisdom that surely the Latins knew Greek as well as the Syrians or Aramaic people.

Perhaps the Aramaic translators were thinking of the fact that often we use the term "learner or pupil" in the sense of one who not only is studying but has accepted the position of his teacher. But such a derived meaning should not be considered the actual meaning of a word.

There is another way, however, of showing that the contention with which we are dealing is wrong. This same passage shows that teaching is a part of "making disciples." In order to present this point let us look at the construction of the sentence:

"Going (poreuthentes, an aorist passive participle, Nominative, Masculine, plural) therefore make disciples of (matheteusate, Aorist, Active, Imperative, Second Person, plural) all the nations, baptizing (baptizantes, Present, Active Participle, Nominative, Masculine, plural) them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching (didaskontes, Present Participle, Nominative, Masculine, plural) them to observe all which I taught you" (Matt. 28:19, 20).

The first participle is aorist. Aorist Participles used with finite verbs get their action from the verb and must be either prior or at the same time as the action of that verb. Thus we must render "having gone, made disciples" or "go and make disciples." Now in the same way the two later participles get their action from the force of the main verb. Baptizantes "baptizing" and didaskontes "teaching" both are present participles and must get the time of their action from that of the main verb, which is matheteusate. A present participle may express either prior action (by implication of the context), simultaneous action (usually), or future action from that of the main verb (rarely). Obviously Jesus doesn't mean that the baptizing and teaching are prior to the command "make disciples." Surely even Brother Garrett would not join the Baptists and say that they are after the command to "make disciples," for he thinks that verb means "convert" and that would have men converted before baptism. They cannot be separated in time for their relation to the main verb is identical.

The truth is that the action of "teaching all things Jesus taught" and that of baptizing is at the same time as that of "make disciples." They are to be interpreted as "Modal" participles, showing the manner or way in which the thing commanded is to be done. We make learners or disciples by or at least while teaching them all things Jesus taught his disciples and baptizing them. (See Green, Handbook to the Grammar of the Greek Testament, p. 332. He gives Matt. 28:19, 20 as an instance of this use of the participle. I am indebted to Brother Thomas Warren for this suggestion.)

The whole contention that teaching is only for Christians, as preaching is for aliens is shown to be false. Teaching is shown to be a part of the process of instructing and making of disciples.

There are other passages which teach the same thing. In John 6:44, 45, Jesus said that teaching is a part of the process of coming to Jesus: "They shall all be taught (didaktoi) of God. Everyone who has heard and learned (from manthano) comes to me."

Matt. 28:19 offers no basis for any such fine distinctions as is being made in some quarters between "teach" and "preach." The truth is that the words in the New Testament often overlap. Notice that in Mark 16:16 we have "preach the gospel," while in Matt. 28:19, in another giving of the same commission, we have "teach (make disciples), baptizing and teaching."

Homecoming—Westfield, Texas, Church of Christ

In the year of 1873 a gospel preacher (name unknown now) was passing through Westfield, Texas (15 miles north of Houston) and stopped long enough to preach to a few people there. This resulted in several denouncing denominationalism and accepting God's word as it is written. This congregation is still in existence and carrying on the Lord's work according to his plan.

The records reveal the names of the members in 1873 as follows: Brother Eliga Tedder, Sister Polly Tedder, Lee Roy Runnels and Sister L. Runnels. Many others have been baptized into Christ since that time and the congregation now has a membership of about 50 active members. The membership may seem small, but the town is very small. They have a very good location with a building consisting of a seating capacity of about 110 with three classrooms. They have an average Bible school attendance of around 50.

Among the various gospel preachers who have assisted this work with their labors are: Brethren W. D. Black, W. W. Lemmons, Oscar Smith, Sr., Luther Blackmon, D. M. Fruzia, Andrew Bentley, R. Jay Taylor and many others. During this time many other preachers have held meetings or preached occasionally, including Brother G. H. P. Showalter, in 1924.

On Sunday, October 25th, they plan to have a homecoming, marking their 80th anniversary, and request the presence of all who have met with them in the past years. There will be a basket dinner following the morning service, with singing from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Morning services: Bible study, 10:00 a.m.; preaching and worship, 11:00 a.m.; evening service, 7:30 p.m.

Brother O. C. (Cecil) Alexander has been preaching for this congregation during the past nineteen months. During this time Brother Lynn Turner has been in charge of the young people and directing the song services. He followed Brother R. Jay Taylor who spent several years in the work there.

God Has Spoken

J. Emmett Wainwright

"God, who at sundry times in divers manners, spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds; who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the majesty on high" (Heb. 1:1-3).

Comparisons and Contrasts

The author of Hebrews was guided by the Spirit of God, and presents an educational course in comparisons and contrasts. The first covenant, which had been given through Moses, was limited and typical of a better covenant based upon better promises (Heb. 8, 9, 10).

The initial gospel sermon of the Christian dispensation was proclaimed on the first Pentecost following the resurrection and ascension of our Lord and Saviour. The apostle Peter was the designated key-man; yet all of the apostles were equally empowered with apostolic authority (John 20:23). The sacred secret of human redemption, for all nations and races, was brought to light through the Lord's apostles and prophets (Eph. 3:1-11). They were the trusted "earthen vessels" serving the Lord as a depository for the gospel treasure of spiritual riches! (2 Cor. 4:7).

Devout Jews from every nation composed the first audience to hear the good news; and positive proof of the fulfillment of prophecies uttered by Joel and David convinced thousands that they had brought about the crucifixion of the Prince of Peace. The sword of the Spirit penetrated their spiritual hearts with this declaration: "Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye crucified, both Lord and Christ" (Acts 2:36).

Honest hearts received the certified truths, and verified facts; and, in conviction of their sins, they cried out for relief: "Men and brethren, what shall we do?" The inspired speaker proved worthy of his sacred assignment when he replied: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call. And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this crooked generation" (Acts 2:37-40).

Those who gladly received the wonderful words of life were baptized immediately; and the Saviour added them to his church! The apostles served as Christ-appointed judges; and rendered the decision of the Godhead regarding retention and remission of sins—binding and loosing. The new converts placed a precious value upon the second division of the world-wide and age-lasting commission of Christ; and, "they continued stedfastly in the apostles' teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of bread, and in prayers" (Acts 2:42). Christian harmony prevailed among the disciples; and their devotion, sacrifices, liberality and unity demonstrated the force of spiritual fellowship; and the impact of Christian unity won the respect and favor of the people (Acts 2:47).

Whosoever Will and Whosoever Won't

Qualified leaders are vital necessities; and spiritual security is within the reach of every worthy follower. The Great Physician prescribed faith, hope and love to counteract doubt, despair and fear; and those abiding triplets provide spiritual sinews of strength and dignity for the inner man. Faith in the Godhead is a combination of "conviction of the unseen past" and "confidence in the promised future." The sure foundation of faith supports a living hope; and hope is composed of desire and expectation (Heb. 11:1). Love divine, which has been shed abroad by the Holy Spirit in the hearts of the faithful, serves as a spiritual ligament—binding the saints to the Creator and his creatures in the hope of saving and being saved (1 Cor. 13:1-13).

In the parable of the sower, the Master Teacher warned his disciples against false expectancies. Not everyone hearing the good news would respond to the gospel call, because many human beings are hard-hearted like the wayside soil. Others respond quickly and move forward under favorable circumstances; but, being emotional and unstable, wither before the heat of opposition. Some converts permit the deceit of sin and riches to reduce their spiritual thermometer to zero; they become unprofitable (Matt. 13:22).

Human frailty is often victimized by satanic subtlety. The man of God issued this solemn warning: "Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward; how shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him?" (Heb. 2:1-3).

In less than forty years after the establishment of the kingdom of Christ, some citizens drifted from the sound doctrine of efficient instructors; and "became such" that needed to be "taught again" the first principles of the gospel of Christ (Heb. 5:12-14). Others had been enlightened, but willfully turned from Christ by doing despite to the Spirit of Grace and counting the blood of the covenant an unholy thing (Heb. 6:1-8; 10:25-39). Not all of the members yielded to temptation, or succumbed to indifference; they were admonished to draw nigh in the full assurance of faith—believing unto the salvation of their souls!

The author of the Hebrew letter encourages the saints of all ages with a list of ancient worthies who overcame all kinds of discouragements by faith and obedience (Heb. 11). They believed in God's personality; and, by obedience, confided in his dependable character (v. 6). The stability of God's word, the certainty of his promises, coupled with the security of the spiritual kingdom which they had received, served to strengthen the faithful (Heb. 6:12-20; 12).

Divine Authority and Attitudes

In these days of confusion and conflict, as regards matters material and spiritual, the souls of the saints are sorely tried. Wagging tongues contact sagging ears—eartennas, and bring forth whispering campaigns, which engender strife and separates the best of friends (Prov. 16:28). The heavenly Father abominates discord among brethren (Prov. 6:16-19). When tale-bearers have been eliminated, or silenced, contention and strife will disappear (Prov. 26:20).

Respect for divine authority begins with the spiritual heart; and is manifested in the conversation and conduct of the child of God. This sacred course is the blessed assurance of spiritual health and happiness. Disrespect for divine authority has ever been a constitutional ailment—a cancerous condition of the soul. Digression and non-progression are symptoms which are manifested by innovations and indifference.

None of the ancients, who transgressed and disobeyed, escaped just penalty. How much more severe with us if we neglect greater opportunities, greater experiences, and greater promises? In Jude 11, all the saints are solemnly warned lest they develop the wrong attitude of mind, manifest the wrong spirit, engage in religious acts unauthorized, and fall by the way: "Woe unto them for they went in the way of Cain, and ran riotously in the error of Balaam for hire, and perished in the gainsaying of Korah."

What was wrong with the way of Cain? He, and others, manifested disrespect for divine authority, in the worship, by offering something the Lord did not authorize. What was the error of Balaam? He, and others, had the word of God; but they wanted "more." They did not respect the all-sufficiency and self-consistency of God's word. What was fatal about the gainsaying of Korah? He, and his renowned associates, spoke injuriously against God's form of government; they became hyper-critical of the leadership of Moses.

Our Father is no respecter of persons or generations as regards individual responsibilities; neither does he smile upon modern substitutionalism. In some communities, committees have displaced elders and deacons with the partisan charge: "Not qualified." How are the "committees" selected? By self-exaltation or majority vote? In the absence of scriptural example, such subversive movements of minority groups reminds us of Munich and Moscow. The preacher-pastor system is a popular form of digression, tainted with sectarianism, and headed for denominationalism. The Lord's prescribed course of discipline has been abused and disregarded by ambitious persons—domineering circuit-riders.

Diotrephes desired the pre-eminence; he disregarded the apostle, and caused strife among the disciples (3 John 9-11). Demas, a profitable servant for some time, gradually drifted into a state of apostasy (2 Tim. 4:10). The Lord was displeased; and he is not happy over modern repetitions. Some preachers should be "pasteurized" in order to burn up the bug of ambitious arrogance; and thus pave the way for presbyters (elders) to be "pastorized" according to the Scriptures. The time is ripe for a serious consideration of this passage: "Obey them that have the rule (guide) over you, and submit to them: for they watch in behalf of your souls, as they that shall give account; that they may do this with joy, and not with grief: for this were unprofitable for you" (Heb. 13:17).

Christ and Religious Error

The Lord manifested his attitude toward, and evaluation of, the churches in Asia. Some were good and others were bad; the remainder were part good and part bad. All of them had heard the one and only gospel which Christ commanded his apostles to preach to every creature; and those congregations were expected to be of the same faith and order. Christ commended the faithful, and condemned the opinionated. The disobedient were called upon to repent—return to their first love and do their first work, or suffer the consequences.

The Savior's appeal and admonition clearly indicates the limitation of divine tolerance and spiritual communion (Rev. 2 and 3). The restoration of Christian fellowship begins with the individual by a change in attitude of mind, an alteration in disposition of heart; and is consummated in reformation of word and deed.

Let us strive to become detached from the environs of carnal localities, former ties, and partisan bigotry by heeding the final appeal of this excellent epistle:

"Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach. For here we have no continuing city, but we seek for one to come. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name. But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased" (Heb. 13:12-14).

Third Annual Lectures in Europe

Otis Gatewood

The Third Annual European Lectureship has just come to a close with one of the best attendances we have had as yet at this lectureship. Brethren from England, France, Belgium, Holland and from different parts in Germany were present and took part in the lectures. The brethren in Italy could not attend due to the fact that their visas were almost expired and they were afraid to leave Italy for fear they would not be granted permission to return.

Three were baptized and one was restored. Each evening after the lectures, translation was made into German for those who could not understand English. By special arrangement with the Chief of Chaplains Office in Heidelberg, soldiers were granted detached service to attend these lectures. This gave them permission to stay here for the entire lectureship without it being counted against their leave time. This is the first time that we have been able to make such an arrangement, but there is a special provision in the army regulations that permit soldiers to attend such a series of religious services. We were able to secure cots and mattresses from the army. These were placed in our classrooms. Our building was full during the entire lecture week.

The program was prepared by Brethren Hugh Mingle and Don Finto. Some of the outstanding issues discussed during the day were, "How to Develop Self-supporting Congregations"; "How to Avoid Sectarian Trends" and "How to Retain Zeal Among Missionaries and Brethren at Home." A very excellent spirit prevailed among those present and everyone seemed determined to contribute something positive to the upbuilding of the work generally. The experiences that one had gained in a hard field was a source of encouragement to others. One particular thing struck me in an outstanding way and that was that those who came seemed to be tired and greatly in need of refreshing hours spent with their brethren.

Each Evangelist in Europe works pretty much alone under hearts together is greater than that which is usually found very discouraging circumstances and the ties that bind our among evangelists in the States. These periods of fellowship are somewhat battery charges for us all. A spirit of love and unity prevails. One outstanding part of our lectureship was the devotionals that we had together every morning at 9:30. It seemed as though everyone was pouring his heart out with all the love and thanksgiving that was possible for human beings to give.

The church building in Frankfurt is the only one in Europe that provides facilities to house all who would like to attend the lectureship, so it was decided that the lectureship would be held here next year. The tentative days are August 1-8, 1954. If any brethren from America are planning trips to Europe next summer, we urge you to make your plans to be here next time. We urge all soldiers in Europe who read this announcement to make their plans to get detached service and be with us next year.

Ground Breaking for New Children's Home Draws Large Audience

J. B. McCorkle

An estimated 800 members and friends of the church were present for the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new children's home of Lubbock, Sunday, October 11, at 3:00 P. M. Mrs. Ida S. Collins, donor of the 200-acre farm on which the home will be built, turned the first earth. Many visiting preachers participated in the ceremonies by each turning a shovel of dirt after being introduced by Brother M. Norvel Young, minister of the Broadway congregation of Lubbock. Among those participating were Bascomb Litton, of Petersburg; Walt McDonald of New Deal; T. J. Finley of Dimmitt; Bill Andrews of Brownfield; Evertt Huffard of Idalou, David Allen of Brownwood; Cecil Allen of Plains; Richard Dacus of Wolfforth; O. E. Hunt of Shallowater; Lewis Hale of Lorenzo; Herschell Dyer of Lincoln, Nebraska; Cleon Lyles of Little Rock, Arkansas; and Dean Brookshire, Jack Hardcastle, O. H. Tabor, A. A. Thomas, John T. Smith, Mont Whitson and H. R. Zamorano, all of Lubbock.

Brother W. V. Maddox, one of the elders of the Broadway congregation was master of ceremonies. Brother Don H. Morris, president of Abilene Christian College gave the invocation. Brother J. P. Crenshaw, evangelist from Plainview, gave the principal address. He called attention to the need for additional homes for children and emphasized the fact that churches of Christ should be foremost in this work.

Brother John B. White, superintendent of the home, spoke briefly on "The Conservation of our Children" and explained details of the proposed construction, which will eventually care for 300 or more children. A number of hymns were rendered by a chorus from the Broadway congregation under the direction of Horace Coffman, associate minister. Brother Cleon Lyles, evangelist from Little Rock, Arkansas, led the closing prayer.

Construction of the first unit will get under way immediately. Other units will be built as rapidly as funds are available. It is hoped that three or four can be completed within the next few months. Each unit will be a large family-size cottage with facilities for 15 to 18 children. The children in each will live as a separate family unit under the supervision of cottage parents.

A great need is known to exist for additional children's homes. Existing homes of the land now offering sanctuary to the homeless are being forced to turn children away almost weekly. Officials of the State Department of Public Welfare state that more suitable homes for children are badly needed.

Brother White would like to visit churches of the land and explain in detail the plans and needs of the Children's Home of Lubbock. Elders are urged to consider the inclusion of this important work in their 1954 budgets. Those interested in helping in any way are requested to write to John B. White, Superintendent, Children's Home of Lubbock.

The new home will operate under the direct supervision of the 15 elders of the Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock, Texas.

What Should I Preach in a Gospel Meeting?

J. C. Choate

Since there are many gospel meetings being conducted, this question is of much importance. Of course many various answers could be given and especially by the religious world. If a gospel preacher should ask a question of this nature in certain audiences, the answers might be as follows:

1. "One night of the meeting you should give the life story of some great man or woman." Now I am quite sure that a talk along this line could be made interesting, and yet, Paul said that he was determined to know nothing but Christ and him crucified (1 Cor. 2:2). People ought to be more concerned about the life story of the Son of God. Only in Christ is there salvation (Matt. 26:28).

2. "Preach a sermon on your life story. Yes, tell how you got saved and how you were called to preach. Tell the good things of your life and the bad things that have happened to you." Preachers have been known to waste and squander their time on such. Almost all so-called religious preachers or teachers devour their time and the time of others by telling how they "got saved" and how the Lord called them in some way to preach. Such preaching is nothing more than pure ignorance speaking. When an individual preaches the truth there is no time for foolishness. Why should a preacher resort to his own experiences? The Bible is complete and furnishes man unto all good works (2 Tim. 3:16, 17). The word of God must be used in connection with salvation. Paul declared that "we preach not ourselves."

3. "Preach on the death of some loved one. Tell how someone's mother died, etc." I am quite sure that a preacher of the gospel could spend much time in telling death-bed stories or graveyard tales. I am also quite sure that in so doing that people could be scared into obeying the Lord, over persuaded, and forced into their action. But God's word does not force such action. The love of Christ must be preached and the invitation that he extends to all (Matt. 11:28-30).

4. "Speak one night on the world and its problems." Denominational preachers become very popular many times because they go about over the country speaking on world problems. Many of them go about speaking on prophecies and a modern-day fulfilment of the same. And yet, we have newspapers and radios to find out about the news and all that is connected with it. We should be more concerned about the spiritual things of life than the carnal (Matt. 10:28; 16:24-26).

5. "Preach on a good moral life." I know that everyone must live a good moral life. But, there will be many a soul lost in the day of judgment because they have put their trust in morality alone. God requires morality and obedience as well (Acts 10).

6. "Preach on love." Love is great and powerful (1 Cor. 13). However, many do not understand true love. If we really love the Lord we will keep his commandments (John 14:23).

7. "Just preach Christ." In other words, people just want the physical Christ preached only. People don't want repentance, baptism, and other commands preached. Listen dear friends, when Christ is preached, the commandments of Christ are preached (Acts 8). Furthermore, an individual that fails to preach all of the commandments of Christ, fails to preach Christ.

We have been discussing the disposition of the world toward preaching. Now, let us find out what the Bible has to say about preaching:

1. Preach the word: "I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine" (2 Tim. 4:1, 2).

2. The scripture furnishes man unto all good works: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (2 Tim. 3:16, 17).

3. The truth make free: "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make ye free" (John 8:32).

4. The Great Commission: "And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned" (Mark 16:15, 16; Matt. 28:18-20).

5. Power of the word: "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Rom. 1:16).

6. Speak on the truth: "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen (1 Peter 4:11).

7. Not to add, subtract, or substitute (Rev. 22:18, 19; Gal. 1:7-9).

8. Hear the word: "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17; Matt. 17:5; Heb. 1:1, 2; 2:1-3).

Salvation depends on the right message. Hence, only the gospel message has power to save and to offer a reward (Rom. 1:16; 1 Cor. 15:58).

At the Home of Cornelius

A. R. Holton

Cornelius was a member of the occupation army stationed in Palestine. The Roman government had many such stations in their vast empire. Cornelius must have gotten many things from the Jewish people among whom he lived because he was a man of prayer and he was a benevolent man. It is interesting to note the difference in what the Jews stood for and in what Cornelius may have known in Italy. In the first place, the Jews were looking for a Messiah. It is the tragedy of all history that they rejected the only one that ever fit the prophetic ideals of the Messiah. Whatever Cornelius may have known about God in Italy, he did not know of God through the Messiah. There were many of the Jews, however, who did accept the Messiah and did accept Christ as the Messiah. In Acts 10, we find that this is the one thing needed by Cornelius. He was to be told what he should do, and included in what he should do was his obedience to the will of Jesus Christ as the Messiah of God.

And in the second place, Cornelius saw in Palestine the greatest manifestation of home life of any people in all the world. Nowhere else was home life stressed as much as it was in Palestine. The Jews through long centuries had learned the value of a home, and so Cornelius has learned this great lesson, too, because it is in his home that the action takes place. More than once in the New Testament a home is the center of great truth and the home becomes a lighthouse in the darkness surrounding it.

In the next place, Cornelius had found in Palestine the greatest body of literature that the world of that day could have known, the Old Testament Scriptures. These books of the prophets and the historical books of the Old Testament form a body of literature that Cornelius could not match in his native Italy. This literature forms a part of our Bible and Peter in his sermon to Cornelius makes good use of the prophets and no doubt he relies on the knowledge Cornelius must have had of the prophecies concerning Christ.

In the next place, Cornelius observed in Palestine worship in the synagogue and in the temple. This was unique. Paganism had its temples and its shrines but there was nothing in the ancient world to equal the synagogue and the temple, as the Jews used them. No wonder Cornelius was a devout man. He liked this element of life among the people with whom he lived. He was ready then when Peter pointed out to him that which he should do. We are told that he received the Lord and that he obeyed the Lord. This obedience included water baptism. Peter, of course, was going by the revealed will of our Lord in the Great Commission when he said, "Go, teach and baptize." Here are people turning to Christ and turning away from their sin, and turning to Christ was a very definite step. It meant faith and repentance and confession and baptism. People were never in doubt as to what it meant to turn to Christ. This is still the hope of all humanity. This is still what men should do, and if we were able to stand before any audience today and tell the people what they ought to do, we would have to include this wonderful experience of Cornelius.

What Does The Bible Say?

IT'S SMART TO BE GOOD!

Many young people get the idea that it's smart to be bad. Nothing could be further from the truth. Jesus clearly made his appeal to young and old to keep his commandments because it is the smart thing to do! For example, Jesus said: "Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them" is like a wise man who built his house on a rock. In contrast he said that the man who did not do his commands was like a foolish or "dumb" fellow who built his house on the sand. When the rain descended and the floods came, and the winds blew, the "smart" man's house stood firm, but the "dumb" fellow's house was destroyed.

Again Jesus told the story of the "smart" and the "dumb" girls who waited for the bridegroom. The foolish or silly ones were not prepared when the bridegroom came and were shut out of the wedding. This is another way of saying that it is smart to be good, to do God's will. This is God's universe, and he is the umpire. Someone has said: "No one has ever really broken the commandments; they have simply broken themselves upon them."

Again there is the case of the rich fool who laid up his treasure here on earth and thought he would live forever. "But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?" (Luke 12). Notice that God did not chide him for being bad or wicked. He put the finger on his real trouble. He was "dumb," or "silly," "foolish." He should have used his business acumen to see that he could not live long at best. His vision in material affairs had made it possible for him to become very wealthy. But his blindness in spiritual matters cost him all of his fortune and his soul too. Again Jesus asked: "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" (Matt. 16). Jesus is putting it on a profit and loss basis. To serve Satan and sin is bad business. It is smart to be good.

Most of us can see that crime doesn't pay. It is not clever or smart to try to get rich robbing banks. But if we realize that it is "dumb" to try to get away with breaking man's laws against robbing and killing, how much more foolish it is to think we can get away with rebelling against God.

So, let me especially appeal to our young readers. Be smart. Be good. Serve God and you will be rewarded with an abundant life here and eternal life in the hereafter. It is smart to be good!

Why Not Order Extra Copies?

The World-Wide Mission report is ready for printing. Why not order a number of extra copies for the church where you worship. This report is thrilling. It will increase your interest in the far corners of the kingdom. It will stimulate greater zeal at home as well as abroad. Here are some of the reports:

Australia is Calling, Allan Flaxman; The Church in Tripoli, Libya, Lawrence E. Taylor; The Church in Austria Builds, Bob Hare; The Cause in the Canal Zone, Reuel Lemmons; Monte Vide Eu from Uruguay, David M. Hadwin; Canada Calls, J. C. Bailey; New Testament Christianity in Belgium, S. F. Timmerman, Jr.; Churches of our Lord in the Philippines, Ralph Brashears.

The Crossroads of the Pacific, F. B. Shepherd; The Church in Great Britain, Leonard Channing; The Work in Scotland, Andrew Gardiner; Mexico, the Land of the Future, Ben Cano; Work in Japan 1948-53, Harry Robert Fox; The Restoration

Plea in India, Prenshon Kharlukhi; Korea Rebuilds, S. K. Dong; A Report on Germany after Six Years, Otis Gatewood; A Conversion in Italy, Cline R. Paden; Nigeria—A 20th Century Restoration, Howard Horton.

Since the "Harvest Field" was published in 1948 this will be the most complete report on the world-wide gospel efforts of churches of Christ. Of course some lands are not included for lack of space, but this issue contains material for many illustrations in Bible classes and sermons. Let's spread it widely! (5 cents per copy).

There Is No Substitute For Prayer

Why are Christians so often defeated by temptation? Why are workers in the church so frequently discouraged and listless? Why are so many good people lacking in spiritual energy and power to do great things for God? Why are so many churches of the Lord not on fire with zeal for Christ? One great cause is lack of prayer in Jesus' name! There is no substitute for prayer!

Prayer is described by Webster as "an entreaty, a petition addressed to God." It may be in the form of adoration or confession or supplication or thanksgiving. It is talking with God, and it is more than that. It is a communion with him, an opening of the heart to his will that he may express his power through us. William James said that prayer is "intercourse with an ideal companion." God is our father, and we were created in his image to dwell with him in peace. When we fail to pray we are missing the fellowship with the only Person who is able to make us what we ought to be. We might paraphrase the words of the Hebrew writer and say: "Without prayer it is impossible to be well pleasing to God for he that comes to God must have enough faith in God that he will pray frequently to God."

Some Christians have allowed the abuse of prayer to discount the proper use of it. Any good thing can be abused, and prayer has been abused. There are those who make false claims as to their power to raise the dead, to take the place of good medical treatment, and generally to perform miracles which cannot be substantiated with proof. Others try to substitute prayer for obedience to the plain commands of the gospel. They say that the alien sinner who has never obeyed the gospel needs only to pray for forgiveness of sins and God will save him without the kind of faith which leads to obedience of the command for the sinner to repent and be baptized unto the remission of his sins (Acts 2:38). Certainly prayer is no substitute for obedience to God's other commands. It is no substitute for repentance, for confession of faith in Christ and baptism into Christ. It is no substitute for giving of our money to support the cause of Christ, nor for any other command to the Christian. But, let us underscore this too. The keeping of all these commands is no substitute for prayer. In our age of stress upon outward activity we are often tempted to think that we can keep so busy doing good, visiting the sick, helping the needy, preaching private or publicly, writing, showing hospitality, that we will not need much prayer. In the early church at Jerusalem the apostles refused to get so busy "serving tables" that they would not have time for "continuing steadfastly in prayer." They had been with Jesus, the man of prayer, and he had taught them that prayer was of primary importance in the disciple's life. There is an old proverb which says: "Satan laughs at our toil, mocks at our wisdom, but trembles when we pray." Our Lord taught his disciples a parable "to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint." Surely, many of us faint because we fail "always to pray." Truly, there is no substitute for prayer.

WORLD-WIDE EVANGELISM REPORT

A special issue of the Firm Foundation will be printed for November 10, 1953. The subject is "World-wide Evangelism Report". This special issue is under the general direction of one of our editors, Brother Norvel M. Young. Brother Young has spent some time in correspondence with gospel preachers throughout the world, and the articles for the special issue are written direct from the fields by those engaged in the work. The various countries of Europe, Canada, China, Japan, the Philippines, Australia, Africa, and others will report. Who is doing the work, how it is being done and its progress and success is being given by men on the field, whose personal relations with churches all over the United States will make an interesting, and, we might say, a thrilling report. Who does not rejoice at the success that is attained through the evangelistic efforts of editors, preachers, teachers and the churches generally throughout the world at the present time? Why not keep the good work going, but in a still greater way? The Firm Foundation is being sent all over the world to the various mission points, on continents, and the Islands of the Sea. Several of the Pacific Islands and on to the Far East have small congregations of loyal disciples.

The interesting thing about this work is that it is being done by the churches, that it is truly a work of the churches. There are no outside organizations, such as the foreign and home Missionary Societies, that were advocated some sixty to one hundred years ago. The workers and churches are not perfect, but it is usually a misrepresentation on the part of anybody who declares that the work that is being done by loyal disciples now is subject to the Scriptural and logical criticism that was directed against outside organizations other than the church years ago. Now that the churches are doing the work, we find some who are hesitant and some who are highly critical of the work. This work being done by loyal churches is the very thing we contended for some fifty to seventy-five years ago. Let the churches do the work instead of an outside organization with officials unknown in the New Testament and the very name of the organization itself unknown in the New Testament. This was opposed one hundred years ago and brought strife and division among the churches. Finally the churches advocating humanly organized societies for doing the work of the church pulled off and formed the popular denominational church known as the "Christian Church." It is rejoicing to know how much is being done, how great an opportunity lies before us, and all of it in the simple New Testament order. I think I have read and examined as much literature in connection with the work that is being done by churches of Christ, as anybody, and I am gratified at the reports that are given me from the churches everywhere that they are using at home and abroad the very same methods and embracing the very same opportunities in the establishment of churches and the usual New Testament procedure in their organization. When a number of people are baptized in any community, it is a general practice of those doing such work, to make these churches an independent congregation without interference from outside churches and this same plan and procedure, I am told by those doing the work abroad, is exactly the same way as it is being done at home. It is under the direction of its elders who are appointed as early as practical and Scriptural.

How Many Shall We Print?

It is of immense importance that as soon as you read this, you communicate with the Firm Foundation Publishing House by letter or preferably by telephone or telegram, stating how many copies you can use at the special price of $4.00 per hundred copies. Every church in the land should have a nice bundle of 100 or several hundred copies of this issue of the Firm Foundation. It will help your local work. It will encourage, inform and enlighten your congregation, and it will set in motion many latent activities in the great, ripe harvest field for the glorious gospel of Christ.

We Want to Know How Many Copies to Print

The time is very short. Please wire us today how many copies your congregation can use. Don't wait to write. The first order we received calls for 500 copies by one congregation. With the wealth of many congregations this, of course, is a very small item—only $20.00 for 500 copies of this great issue of the Firm Foundation. Brethren, will you help us? Will you rise in the strength of Israel's God to go forward in conquering the world for Christ? As the paper must be printed some days ahead of publishing date, please give us your order now. The date of the paper will be November 10, 1953. It must go to press, however, nearly a week ahead of that date and we want to know how many to print.

Little Men Obscure the Greatness of the Church

Cleon Lyles

People who recall their reading of "Gulliver's Travels" will remember the splendid illustration of Lemuel Gulliver prostrate on the ground tethered to the earth by a thousand tiny threads. Little men did that and they were swarming all over his body when he awoke.

Those who have lived long enough to look back over a few years' history of our country will recall that many men have sold their country to the enemy because of a desire for gain, or because they were too ignorant to be in a position of trust. We always think of such men as little men.

Little men have always obscured the greatness of the Lord's church. Perhaps Paul realized this would take place when he wrote: "Give no offense to the church." The church of our Lord is God's finished work. It is the sum and substance of God's creative power. It represents God and his Son in their fullness, and was designed to magnify the name of our God. This church was built to stand out in the world above all else that the world might produce. If allowed to appear in its true light, the church will reveal the greatness of God to people of the world. But the church does not always appear in its true light. Let us notice some ways in which men often reveal their littleness.

One who allows his own desires to cause friction in the church, or in holding out for what he wants, keeps the church from moving on, is destroying the greatness of the Lord's body and revealing his own littleness. Of course we are not talking of things that are right and wrong, but of things that may be neither right or wrong as far as morality may be concerned. One reason why men sometimes do this is because of their inability to see the consequences of what they are doing, but it still reveals littleness.

Then there are those with small political minds who work their way into some leading position in the church and try to satisfy their desires for power. Usually such men have never been what you would call a success at anything else. But they have wanted to occupy positions of authority. When such a person receives any recognition in the Lord's body the church will lose her greatness through his littleness.

Each generation has produced its share of those who envy others in their good fortune. Men of this caliber had rather see the cause of Christ go backward instead of forward if they are not receiving the credit for its growth. I have known men who really rejoiced when a congregation failed, or wept when one succeeded. Such people are famous for such statements as, "Oh, all they want is to satisfy their pride"; "They are just interested in being big," etc. I suppose people with such dispositions will always be here, but so long as they are the Lord's church will suffer to the extent of their limited influence.

When brethren air their difficulties before the world they are obscuring the greatness of the church because of their littleness. I believe in taking care of matters that harm the church, but there is a place where it should be done. That place is not before those who are not members of the Lord's body. Many congregations have been held up in their progress, and some destroyed, because men of little minds got to fighting each other over some so-called doctrinal difference, which later proved to be ninety-nine percent of, "Who is to be the greatest in the kingdom of God?" Men have waged such fights for years and then turned right around and embraced the thing they condemned. When such happens we cannot help but believe that the fight waged was merely a struggle for air in a stagnate environment created by their own desire for recognition which their ability was unable to command.

We may not ever make such an impression on others as we would like, but the one thing within the reach of all is bigness. May the Lord help us to never obscure the greatness of his church because of our littleness.

From Abilene Christian College

Walter E. Burch

Approximately 1,800 students, visitors and special guests were present at the formal opening of Mabee Dormitory for Men at Abilene Christian College, October 6.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mabee of Midland and Tulsa, Oklahoma, who set up the foundation which financed the dormitory.

The Mabees flew down from Tulsa with directors of the Foundation. The couple was honored during the hour and a half opening ceremonies which began in the chapel services and later moved over to the dormitory for unveiling of the bronze plaque and portraits of each of them.

Frank E. Stickle acted as spokesman for the Foundation's trustees, who included F. C. Swindell of Tulsa and Guy Mabee of Midland.

Another Tulsa visitor was Paul Taliaferro, executive vice president of Sunray Oil Company and long-time friend of the Mabees. They flew down in the company's nine-passenger plane.

Also accompanying them in the plane was Mrs. Logan Stephenson, whose late husband was a Foundation trustee, and a nephew of the Mabees, Louis Mabee.

Other guests included Ed Wilson and George Sowden of Wilson and Patterson, architectural firm from Fort Worth which designed the new building; Contractor Al Ward and his wife of Tulsa; and the artist who did the Mabees' portraits, Frederic Mizen of Chicago and Baylor University, who was present with his wife.

Two irrigated farms, totaling 390 acres and valued at more than $200,000, have been given to Abilene Christian College on an annuity basis by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Williams of Lubbock.

The gift was revealed October 7 by B. Sherrod, president of the college's Board of Trustees from Lubbock, following ACC's regular morning chapel devotional.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were presented to the students and received a rousing ovation.

"Instead of giving us the praise, give God the glory," Williams addressed the students. "For God has been with us, and may this small gift be used for the glory and upbuilding of the cause of Christ."

Mrs. Williams, visibly affected by the student reception, said tearfully, "Let us all give the glory to God."

Sherrod described the two farms as "two of the best in the Panhandle."

He said Mr. and Mrs. Williams had spent their lives on a farm and worked hard. "They accumulated what they have, not by asking the government for security, but by good, honest hard work," added Sherrod.

The gift came on the heels of the appeal made by ACC trustees to "speed up the college's development program."

President Don H. Morris said the decision on the use of the Williams' gift would be made by the Board. He indicated to students, however, that the money derived from the farms may be the start on urgently needed facilities for the Bible and Home Economics Departments and classrooms.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Thilitt S. Teddlie, Box 314, Sulphur Springs, Texas, October 19: Two placed membership and one was baptized October 18. Excellent attendance in all services of the church.

Winstead O. Cooper, Nocona, Texas, September 28: We had more additions to the church at Saint Jo by baptism and transfer of membership in the month of August than any month since I have worked with them. There was one restoration, one baptism, and three transferred membership the 27th.

Geo. S. Wilkins, Box 334, Eldorado, Oklahoma, October 19: After nine months with the church here, I have accepted work with the Carlsbad, Sanatorium, Texas, church. My address after the 26th will be Box 128, Sanatorium, Texas. No one has been selected for the work here. Anyone interested, write S. A. Cook, Eldorado, Oklahoma.

Boyd D. Fanning, Pearl & Bryan, Dallas, Texas, October 16: I have just closed a ten-day meeting with the Sheridan Blvd. church of Denver, Colorado. LeRoy Murphy, the local preacher was a true yoke-fellow. Paul Moffitt, minister for the Englewood church directed the singing in a fine way. It was most pleasant to have fellowship with several good preachers of Denver. Two were restored.

Joe Lomax, Vega, Texas, October 9: Andy W. Burks of Carlsbad, New Mexico, did the preaching in our fall meeting. Four were baptized. Our meeting got off to an excellent beginning by a preacher's meeting which was held on the second day of the meeting. Present were 15 visiting preachers and two visiting elders. Brother Andy is a good preacher and the congregation here received much good from him and the lessons he brought. When passing through Vega, stop and worship with us.

Charles M. Adams, Box 285, Cleveland, Oklahoma, October 17: W. Curtis Porter just closed a debate with A. J. Wall (Missionary Baptist). It lasted four nights. Brother Porter is a past master of the art of making a Baptist preacher say things he never intended to say. Our work continues to grow in every good way. It is the conviction of this writer that the four night discussion that was conducted here did more good than a ten-night meeting. We enjoy the Firm Foundation's splendid articles each week. May they continue. Pray for us.

C. Y. Pettigrew, Box 562, Aspermont, Texas, October 9: It has been some time since I have made a report though I have not been idle. The last Lord's day in August I finished three years' work with the church in Crowell, Texas. There were 51 added to that group while there, also with the help of our Lord we helped build a very attractive building. The new church is an asset to the city. Our work here in Aspermont, Texas, is very encouraging. We have a very fine group of Christians here with a mind to work. We have been here five Lord's days, and have had twelve responses. Let us give all the praises to our Lord. His gospel is the power of God unto salvation. Anyone reading this article who knows of someone near Aspermont that I may be able to help please contact me at my address above. Pray for us.

Chas. E. Parker, 711 Blackworth, Miami, Oklahoma, October 1: Three baptisms, one restoration and four added by membership during September.

Jack Southern, Shidler, Oklahoma, October 13: The church here just closed a meeting in which I did the preaching. More than 100 visitors registered. Four were baptized and two were restored. This makes a total of eleven added to the congregation since we came here August 16.

Howard Carter, 4310 Gables Street, Amarillo, Texas: If you are in need of a gospel preacher for local work, I would be glad to hear from you. Have had thirteen years experience. The last local work was with the Central congregation here in Amarillo. I shall be glad to hear from you, and come for an appointment. Phone 44507.

G. A. Dunn, 629 N. Van Buren Ave., Dallas, Texas, October 15: September 30 we closed a meeting in Waverly, Tennessee, with five baptisms and two restorations. A man eighty-five years old was baptized. Brother Jim Porch directed the singing. Folk from many places attended the meeting. They have a nice new brick house on the most prominent street. The meeting was profitable and pleasant.

R. Leonard Owen, Box 446, Atoka, Oklahoma, October 14: Alston L. Tabor, McAlester, Oklahoma, concluded an interesting and profitable series of gospel meetings here September 16. Three were baptized and three were restored. We enjoyed a fine meeting with the church in Caney, Oklahoma, September 28 through October 7 in which five were baptized and five were restored. On October 19, the Lord willing, I shall begin a gospel meeting with the church in Coalgate, Oklahoma.

Ross Meredith, Elgin, Texas, October 16: Since the first of the year we have had 15 baptisms, 5 restored, 22 placed membership totalling 42 additions in all. Our Sunday morning Class attendance reached a record of 96 recently and we had been having approximately 120 in attendance on Sunday for the Lord's Supper. Peace and harmony prevail and we have this year begun a congregation for the colored people with a small building and much hope for progress. The Lord has been very good to us. To him and his word belongs all the credit.

Jess H. Hall, 3205 Denton Highway, Fort Worth, Texas, October 19: September 7-20 I was in a good meeting with Brother W. C. Anderson and brethren at Rosiclair, Illinois. There were no visible results at Rosiclair but we trust that good was done otherwise. September 21-30 I did the preaching in a meeting at Milburn, Kentucky. Four were baptized during the Milburn meeting. Brother Rupert Martin is working with the brethren at Milburn. I will return to Milburn next year for another meeting. Our work here at Birdville in Fort Worth is moving on in a very splendid way. Due to my change to Fort Worth from Paducah, Kentucky, I have time for one meeting during the spring of 1954. If I could be of help to you in a meeting you could address me as above.

Elbridge B. Linn, 1903 University Avenue, Austin, Texas, October 15: Last Lord's day three placed membership and two were baptized here at the University Avenue congregation.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, October 14: At noon yesterday, a sixty-year-old railroad man requested that I baptize him at the earliest possible minute. I did.

Dale R. Larsen, 5148 Dodge Street, Omaha 3, Nebraska, October 15: Eight baptized, two restored, and four identified here in past three weeks. Nine of these responses came during 11-day meeting with Robert E. Gulley of Casper, Wyoming, preaching.

J. E. Norman, Box 551, Ventura, California, September 28: This leaves me in Paso Robles, teaching a special class in Bible for the church here; interest is good. I am closing my work over here and plan to be back in Texas for good and will be glad to hear from any church needing an experienced man. Write me at the above address.

Cecil Allen, Box 50, Plains, Texas, October 12: Had meeting at Bethel Schoolhouse near Whitney September 7-13. No conversions, but enjoyed working with the brethren at Whitney again. Our work out here continues in a fine way. At the conclusion of services last night a fine young man and his wife were baptized. Have others attending that we hope will obey soon. No building as yet and no help toward it.

A. C. Huff: Brother Cleon Lyles closed a good meeting here at the 9th and Columbia church Wednesday night. There were five baptisms and six restored or three restored and two placed membership. It was a great meeting otherwise. Brothers J. P. Crenshaw and Bobbie Hoover are laboring with the congregation and they are both able and worthy preachers. Both are highly esteemed by the church. They are talking of enlarging the auditorium to make room for the work there.

John H. Banister, 3014 Skillman, Dallas, Texas, October 19: I recently assisted the church in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, in a gospel meeting. One was baptized, six restored, and one identified. Excellent crowds. Hugo McCord labors as local evangelist. This congregation has grown in recent years to where it is one of the best in Oklahoma. Seven have been baptized and four have placed membership here at Skillman Avenue the past two weeks. George H. Stephenson preaches in our meeting October 25th to November 1st.

J. Emmett Wainwright, 547 East Walnut Avenue, El Segundo, California, October 14: Some three hundred persons were present for special services at 1762 15th Street, Santa Monica, where the Negro congregation invited R. N. Hogan and this scribe to speak in their commodious building. The month of September in Prescott, Arizona, was a pleasant experience with a fine group where Brother Ted Bollier has been preaching and is now evangelizing; and the new preacher, Brother Harry Pickup, Jr., is under way with a bright future for the cause of Christ there. Brother Forrest Shaffer, an ACC product, and pioneering in Illinois, spoke at 406 East Grand, El Segundo, to an appreciative group last Lord's day, while I spoke twice at 2528 El Cajon Boulevard, San Diego where one was baptized, one reclaimed, and four by membership.

Bill Thompson, Lufkin, Texas, October 12: Two baptized last week. New congregation established on Union Road with approximately one hundred members from the Fourth and Groesbeck church.

J. I. Chitwood, 22-33rd St., North, Great Falls, Montana: The work here is progressing nicely. The men of the congregation take turns preaching on Sunday morning and Sunday nights are usually devoted to Bible study. Anyone knowing of Christians located at the Great Falls Air Base should give us their names and information such as would be needed to locate them.

Durwood Boggs, 7825 Hillard, Dallas, Texas, October 14: The Pleasant Grove church of Christ is continuing to grow. We have had record attendance at Bible classes and prayer meeting services for several times straight recently. Our house is overflowing. About 10 were added by membership, baptism and restoration during August and September.

Walter W. Leamons, Junction, Texas, October 16: My oldest son has been in Korea several months and expects to spend the winter there. His address: Pvt. John D. Leamons US54089150, B Btry 3rd AAA AW BN (SP), APO 468 C/O PM, San Francisco, California. Work continues to prosper here at Tenth Street church. Brother Alex McDonald, an elder at Broadway in Lubbock, recently visited us and made an inspirational talk.

W. S. Boyett, 1416 N. Hudson, Altus, Oklahoma, October 12: I did the preaching in a meeting with the church in Eunice, New Mexico, which closed October 4th. Fine attendance and interest were characteristic of the meeting throughout. Two were baptized and two restored. I have promised to return for another meeting next year. In the local work here in Altus during the month of September, six were baptized, one restored and one identified. I will be with the church in Visalia, California, in a meeting from November 6 through 15th.

Ira Y. Rice, Sr., writes from Norman, Oklahoma, October 17: I closed a gospel meeting with the church in Lindsay, Oklahoma, Wednesday night of this week. Visible results of the meeting were 26 responses to the gospel. Five baptisms and 21 to confess faults. Brother Harold Thurman is the faithful minister for that congregation, and is doing a fine work. Brother J. D. Bryant conducted the singing in the meeting in a fine way. To Jehovah and his Son go all the praise, honor and glory, for all that was accomplished during the meeting. I am to begin a song drill for Northside church in Oklahoma City Monday night, the 19th.

M. E. Waldrum, Box 446, Santa Rosa, New Mexico, October 12: I recently conducted my third meeting at Lindreth, New Mexico, a small rural community in the northern part of this state. They now have nine active members, and more were found who had been out of duty for a long time. This small congregation has bought a lot, walled in, and roofed a building by themselves. None are high salaried. But they need some financial assistance to finish their building before cold weather. They need ceiling, floor, doors, and other finish. They have so far done their own work and bought materials as they went. Truly, this is a worthy call. Any desiring fellowship in this work should contact Bill Hatley, Regina, New Mexico.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, October 12: Our work at Catoma Street is very encouraging. Yesterday I baptized two very fine men. One was a Methodist, the other a Baptist.

Clarence C. Gobbel, 1157 E. Mabel, Tucson, Arizona, October 18: Three have been added here since our last report. One was baptized and two placed membership. Our meeting with J. D. Rothwell preaching closed last Wednesday night, with fine attendance throughout and the best of preaching. We shall reap the results of such fine preaching for some time to come.

C. B. Thomas, Corpus Christi, Texas, October 13: Brother G. C. Brewer did the preaching in our meeting which closed the 11th. The preaching itself was wonderful and the general interest good, but there were no baptisms. We continue to press ahead in the Master's work. Our budget for the next fiscal year is $62,400.00, and it is all allocated.

James V. Curlee, 707 Bonsall Avenue, Balinger, Texas: Four have placed membership with the Eighth Street church here recently, and all phases of the work seem to be quickened and on an upward trend. For this we thank God, and take courage. To all my preaching brethren, elders, and others who wrote me this past summer while I was changing works, I wish to express deepest gratitude. Bet wishes to you and yours and to all brethren everywhere.

B. B. Harding, 437 S. Thompson, Vinita, Oklahoma, October 12: There have been three restorations here recently. One was baptized during the tent meeting at Bluejacket. Rain prevented the last two services, and sectarian prejudice kept many away throughout the meeting. Attendance from Vinita, Miami, and Timber Hill was excellent. The colored meeting has been postponed until next summer when we can use open-air as no place can be found for this fall; the donated tracts will be kept and used next summer.

Gordon L. Downing, City Park Church of Christ, Floydada, Texas, October 12: Since our Sept. 14, 1953 report, two have placed membership, four have confessed faults, and one man was baptized. Our study program is one that any group would be proud of. More and more men and boys are taking an active part in the worship services because of the training program of the church. The ladies are assisting in a wonderful way with their hospital visitation program. Pillow corsages are given to each patient once each week and this is creating much favorable comment and giving opportunities to teach.

F. F. Conley, 225 Davis Blvd., Elk City, Oklahoma, October 19: The Second and Adams Street church in Elk City, Oklahoma, is at peace. Good will and fellowship prevail. The work is in excellent condition. In the last two months we have had about two hundred and fifty restorations, baptisms and people to identify themselves as members of the Lord's church. The possibilities here are unlimited. I moved here from the Gulf Street church in Beaumont where I enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable work. Brother Norman Starling has been secured to assist in the Gulf Street work in Beaumont and good reports have come from his efforts. When passing through western Oklahoma, stop and worship with us at Second and Adams Street in Elk City.

J. T. Marlin, Sweetwater, Texas: During the past two Sundays three have responded. A Roman Catholic was baptized.

Tillit S. Teddie, Box 314, Sulphur Springs, Texas, October 13: One restoration Sunday, October 11. A special song service will be held here Sunday afternoon, November 1st. Many communities will be represented.

John M. Burnett, Box 973, Ajo, Arizona, October 11: The work here is getting along fine. The brethren say the work is at its all time high for which we give God the praise. One has been baptized and one restored since last report. The brethren have asked me to preach in our fall meeting beginning Sunday, October 25, through Wednesday, November 4.

Charles F. Scott, Box 25, Old Hickory, Tennessee: Brother Willard Collins did the preaching, and Bob Winstead led the singing in a meeting that closed here last night. Attendance was the highest in recent years, with audiences exceeding a thousand some of the nights. Twenty-seven were baptized, and thirteen confessed faults.

Willard Collins, David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tennessee, October 15: I closed my eighth and last meeting for 1953 last night. In these meetings 134 were baptized, 58 restored, and three placed membership. The meetings were held in Lewisburg, Tennessee; Arlington, Virginia; Fayetteville, Tennessee; Richland, Washington; Milan, Tennessee; Ashland City, Tennessee; Shelby Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee; and Old Hickory, Tennessee. There were 27 baptisms and 14 restorations in the Old Hickory meeting which closed October 14. The attendance averaged 817 per service for the 13 services.

Robert Gordon Clement, Marlow, Oklahoma, October 1: It began with a telephone call a few months ago. We visited the man in the hospital and spoke with him about his soul. Other visits followed, soon he was dismissed; letters, bulletins, encouraged him to attend a Sunday evening service—his interest was aroused. He and his wife came regularly for a month, then Sunday evening they requested that Brother Russell Fowler baptize them. Brother Fowler, one of our pastors, had with his wife aided them to an understanding of the Scriptures. These two, with five others baptized, two who have been restored and two who have placed membership with us have enlarged our number in September. Pray for us that we might enter the doors of opportunity opening before us. All in driving distance are invited to share with us the blessings of gospel preaching by Dale Brooks of San Antonio in our meeting scheduled November 15-25.

V. J. Cullum, Brydson, Texas, October 15: On October 11 we concluded more than three years' work with N. Military church, and began at Bryson, Texas, October 12th. During our stay in Oklahoma City the church more than doubled and we expect continued growth there. We expect a good work here.

Charles J. Horton, Route 4, Box 24-H, Corpus Christi, Texas, October 10: Today marks the end of our first month of work with the Flour Bluff congregation of the church in Corpus Christi. There has been one addition recently. The Naval Air Station is located only a short way from the church building, and we would be glad to contact anyone at the Base, in the interest of the church, if furnished with name and address.

Bill McCown, P. O. Box 201, Liberty, Texas, October 13: Elmer Moore, minister at Dayton, Texas, met J. M. Wallace, of the United Pentecostal church, in a four-night public discussion October 6-9, in Dayton. Thomas B. Warren of Fort Worth moderated for Brother Moore and a Mr. Evans of Lake Charles, La., for Mr. Wallace. Discussed were the One-God doctrine and the continuation of the Holy Spirit in a baptismal measure and the working of miracles. Brother Moore defended the truth in fine fashion and was the master of the situation at all times. His defense of the truth was positive and clear. Both disputants conducted themselves as gentlemen at all times. The discussion was productive of much good to the cause of Christ in Dayton and in the surrounding area. Our work at Webster and Fannin in Liberty continues to show a fine interest. With the prevalent spirit of cooperation, much good should result.

George Tipps, 211 W. Grand, Jackson, Tennessee, October 16: Six baptized, one restored, and one identified in our fall meeting at Highland with I. A. Douthitt preaching. The lessons were timely and overflow crowds were in attendance at almost every service.

Garvin M. Thoms, 2213 Woodside Avenue, Springfield, Ohio, October 9: Since September 1st we have been working in Springfield, Ohio. There has been one confession of faults and one baptism. The congregation has a "mind to work," a ladies' Bible class and a personal workers' class having been started. Brethren moving this way will find the meeting house located at 2863 East High Street at Willis Avenue.

John T. Shamblin, 803 Largent Street, McKinney, Texas: I wish to report my change of address to you and also to the brotherhood. We moved here on the Ninth of this month. We were received most graciously by this fine group of Christians and are very happy to be with them. We had a very fine day our first Sunday and are looking forward to a fine and pleasant work here. To that end we beg the prayers of all the saints.

T. Reginald Boley, 2825 Avenue E, Fort Worth 5, Texas, October 12: At the present I am visiting Chico, Texas, on the second and fourth Sundays each month. This is a small congregation, but they are much concerned about the work in and around Chico. We are doing much good personal visiting. There are a few families who seem unconcerned. So many are unwilling to accept personal responsibilities. Brother W. S. Willis, Fort Worth, did a good work among them last year.

Floyd A. Decker, 2811 Creswell, Shreveport, Louisiana, October 12: Brother C. R. Nichol, Clifton, Texas, closed a very fine meeting with us last night. Enjoyed being with Brother Nichol again and the brethren here were highly pleased with the kind and yet vigorous manner of his preaching. I begin at Tomball, Texas, November 9th. Brother D. W. Nichol, brother of C. R. Nichol, is the preacher there. Our work continues to improve. After about two weeks my address will be 553 Kirby Place—next door to the church building which is on Creswell at Kirby. The church recently purchased the Kirby Place property and it is nearly ready to occupy.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, October 14: Last Sunday there were 240 at Bible School for an all-time record at William Street. There were 124 Daily Bible Readers or 51% of the Bible School.

Will W. Slater, Box 7178, Sylvania Station, Fort Worth 11, Texas, October 12: Much interest was manifested and much good accomplished in the singing school in Concord, Oklahoma. I am to begin a meeting at Gospel Chapel, Licking, Mo., next Lord's day. It will be my second effort with them. I go from there to Clark Lake, Michigan, for a meeting. It will close my work for the year. If I can help you in a singing school, or meeting, this winter, write me.

Clinton W. Whitten, Auburn, Alabama, October 10: 133 College students here last Sunday exceeded by 31 the previous record of student attendance at one service set the week before when 102 were present. The largest number of Christian students here this fall in the history of this college-town congregation: 165 are on our list as members, mates of members or from Christian homes.

Douglas H. Perkins, Denver, Colorado, October 9: Last Lord's day was another fine day for the church in South Denver, which meets at 2005 So. Lincoln Street. Six people were added to the local church. Four were by transfer, one was restored and one was baptized. Attendance and interest at all services were fine. I am in my seventh year with this good church. Last Tuesday night I began a gospel meeting with the church in Coweta, Oklahoma. This is my fifth meeting in Coweta. A man who is head of a family has been baptized thus far.

Edgar Furr, 417 W. Dimmit, Crystal City, Texas, October 12: Just closed a meeting with the Fair Ground Road congregation in San Angelo Sunday night. Two were restored. Baptized four here at home recently. Our summer meeting with Brother M. R. Phillips preaching resulted in four baptisms. I begin a meeting in Victoria Monday night, October 19th, and will be in Hankamer, Texas, November 22nd for ten days, and in Eagle Pass December 6th for a meeting. Work here in Crystal City is in fine shape with best interest ever. Attendance at Texas Normal Singing School this past summer was the largest ever, and our Bible camp was well attended. This program is conducted in Sabinal each June.

R. L. Roberts, Box 247, Decatur, Texas, October 19: During the second week in August I held a very good meeting for the Mud Camp congregation near Burkesville, Kentucky. Six were baptized and one was restored. It had been sixteen years since my last meeting there. On my way to St. Marys, W. Va., where I spoke at both services Aug. 23rd, I visited Cane Ridge meeting house near Paris, Ky. While in West Virginia I spent a day visiting at Bethany. As I looked over the places of interest there, I could not help wondering if the greatest mistake of Campbell's life was not the establishing of a college. It was from this school that the men came who led in the digressive movement to establish the Missionary Society and the introducing of instrumental music into the worship of the church. I was very courteously shown the places of interest by an official of the school. On the third Sunday in July, 1954, I am to begin a meeting at Christian Chapel, Henderson county, Tennessee. Would like to book one or two more in that section.

Malcom P. Hinckley, 3034 E. Gage, Huntington Park, California, October 9: Sunday was the 24th anniversary of this congregation. Five answered the invitation: one was baptized, one placed membership, and three were restored. Wednesday evening saw another new record made when 117 were present for mid-week service. The work is growing in every good way.

W. D. Black, Box 182, Evant, Texas, October 12: I worked with the church at Star for about two months during the summer. During that time Brother H. W. McClish from Burnet, Texas, preached in a meeting. Six were baptized and one was restored. One baptized since the meeting. I have also preached several times at Johnson City. One young married man was baptized uniting a family in Christ. The small church at Johnson City is making progress. They have a nice new church building in one block of Highway 281. Will soon have the indebtedness paid off, and will be in a position to do greater things for the Lord. I am ready to answer calls anywhere in reach of Evant. If I can serve you in any way let me know.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, October 12: Another was added to our working force yesterday by baptism, making three to be baptized in the last two weeks, and there are several more fine prospects that we hope will do likewise soon. The work of the Lord is going along in a very fine way. We take courage and press on. Since fine rains have come to the Valley, and our new reservoir is chuck full of life giving water, the valley is really in fine condition. Thousands of acres of vegetables have been planted, and shipping will start this week. Citrus fruit is now ripening, and some shipping has begun. Why not plan your vacation to include a visit to this magic valley, for it is really wonderful down here in fall and winter. Worship with us when coming this way.

Robert Gordon Clement, Marlow, Oklahoma, October 16: Sunday we completed a series of eight lessons on "Christians and the Home." The interest and good reception is manifest by nine baptisms, three restorations, and two identified during this period. The lessons were presented with the aid of the chalkboard to outline and diagram them. They were entitled in the order of their delivery: Why I Am A Christian, Establishing the Home, Relationships in the Home, Correct Values in the Home, Parental Responsibility, Christians and Education, Christians and Recreation, and Marriage and Divorce. Wednesday evening the lesson on Establishing the Home was presented again to a large group with the aid of thirty-six kodachrome slides which visualized the points of importance in the lesson. These slides, and complete script, will be made available without charge to my brethren who desire to use them. C. Dale Brooks will labor with us in a gospel meeting November 15-25. You are always welcome to worship with the church at 301 North Broadway in Marlow, Oklahoma.

George Stephenson, regular minister for the Normal church in Memphis, Tennessee, will be in Dallas from October 25 through November 1, for a gospel meeting at the Skillman Avenue church of Christ. Morning service will be conducted at 7 and evening services at 8.

W. J. Shackelford, Neosho, Missouri, October 12: An audience of about 1500 from some 100 congregations in eight states attended the origination of the "Herald of Truth" in the Neosho City Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, October 11. The Harding College Chorus, of Searcy, Arkansas, under the direction of Kenneth Davis, presented a special group of songs. James D. Willeford spoke on "The Origin of the Bible." John F. Reese, one of the elders of the Highland church in Abilene, spoke on the history, progress, and future of the "Herald of Truth," now heard on 285 radio stations. The Jefferson Street church in Neosho was honored to serve as hosts on this occasion. Rue Porter began a meeting at the morning service on the same date with 311 in Bible study and more than 500 for the worship service. This date marks the beginning of our fourth year of worship in the new building located on South Jefferson at McKinney, and also marks the beginning of my fifth year of work with this outstanding congregation.

Robert Goodman, Box 308, Overton, Texas, October 14: We have had several to place membership recently and one to be baptized. The church has just completed a lovely 6 room preacher's house. Interest continues to be good. We plan to move to Madisonville, Texas, October 29. All correspondents please note.

Gordon J. Pennock, 216 Hill Street, Bismarck, North Dakota: Last January I began preaching on Sunday afternoons at Lake Williams, North Dakota. October 4th we saw our first visible results when two were restored and a fine woman was baptized. Last Lord's day the Lord's table was set there for the first time. A new congregation has now been established with three members. We are hoping and praying that others in the community will be taught and will obey from time to time. Sundays are busy days for me what with preaching and teaching here in the morning services then driving 85 miles to Lake Williams to preach in the afternoon and then returning in time to preach again at the evening service. Who will come over and help us?

Fred W. McClung, Oklahoma City, October 16: October 14 I closed a good meeting with the Overland church in St. Louis, Missouri. Seven placed membership from out of the city; ten were baptized, including a Catholic man and a man whose wife was a Catholic. There were nine restorations. This is a growing church and Brother Edwin Broadus is doing a good work with them. Everyone please notice my new address is in care of the church of Christ, 12th & Drexel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. I will begin a meeting with the Hillcrest church in Corpus Christi where Brother Truman E. Spring is the minister, on October 27. The church here in Oklahoma City is interested in securing the services of an assistant preacher and educational director.

A. L. Harbin, 109 14th Street, Vallejo, California, October 3: During the month of September I preached in two meetings in Oklahoma. The first was at Sentinel where, for about twelve years, Brother Albert C. Trent has been serving as the able and beloved evangelist. Brother G. A. O'Neal of Oklahoma City very ably directed the singing. Interest and enthusiasm were high throughout the meeting, and one fine man was baptized. In 1955, the Lord willing, I am to be with this fine congregation for my fourth meeting since we moved away from them. The second meeting was with the church in Mangum, where also we once lived and labored. Brother Riley Henry is doing an outstanding work there as local evangelist and is held in high esteem. Singing was well directed by Brother Henry and Brother Houck. Four were baptized and one was restored from the error of the Christian Church.

Ira D. Brister, 234 S. Hampton Road, Dallas, Texas, October 6: The work at the Sunset congregation in Dallas in our new building and with our added facilities is taking on new life and increased activities. With Homer P. Reeves as minister we are experiencing much growth and interest. Holland Boring, our song director and assistant minister, left us very suddenly to return to Abilene Christian College to further his education. He did a wonderful work with our young people, and we certainly can recommend him to anyone desiring his services. We now are looking for someone to direct our song service and work with our young people, and while we would prefer someone who could take care of the preaching service when Brother Reeves is away, this is not absolutely necessary. Contact or write Elders, Sunset Church of Christ, 2442 W. Jefferson Avenue, Dallas 8, Texas.

Guss Farmer, P. O. Box 101, Terrell, Texas: We had Brother Logan Buchanan in a very successful meeting the last week in August, including the last two Sundays. There were eight baptisms. In every respect, Brother Buchanan benefitted the work of this congregation. It was a genuine pleasure to be associated with him. The work at Terrell continues to promise bigger and better things for the future. The most inspiring thing to happen to us in a long time is the decision on the part of Brother and Sister R. J. Smith, Jr., to go to Germany as missionaries. Brother and Sister Smith are young, energetic and devoted to the Lord. Their decision was reached after careful consideration. It still remains "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest" (Matt. 9:37-38). It isn't every day that young people decide to sacrifice so much. The least we as Christians can do is to help them. In spite of certain obligations, this church desired and thought it proper that we should take the lead in supporting them, but at this time we can't assume all of their regular support. Other churches are needed. We pray that some of you will respond to this appeal. If you can help in Brother Smith's regular support, let me know. The time is short, since Brother and Sister Smith would like to be in the field by the first of the year. Any way that I can be of service in putting Brother Smith's case before you, call upon me. Brother Smith may be contacted through my address. His phone is 4-2130.

O. E. Correll, Box 91, Kinmundy, Illinois, October 9: I visited the church at Parsons, Kansas, on September 30 and spoke to nice audiences. I received a very warm welcome, and the brethren expressed their appreciation of having me with them once more. I have only been with them a few times, but I enjoy being with them very much. Good interest was manifested. On October 4 I was at Italy, Texas, and spoke twice. Brother McCormick, who is their regular preacher, is forced, by ill health, to limit his speech to only a few moments, and he introduced me, and spoke for his limited time, then turned it over to me to finish up. At night I used all the time. I was never received anywhere with a warmer welcome and brotherly kindness than I was here. This was my first visit with them, but they are as warm friends as I ever met. I go next to Salem, Illinois, for a week and on October 18. Then I go to Marion, Indiana, for a one week meeting, the Lord willing. This is my first visit with this congregation, and I trust good will be accomplished there. Brethren, pray for me, that much good may be done.

Arthur C. Blackwell, Church of Christ, 2205 Wantland Avenue, Klamath Falls, Oregon, October 15: The meeting came to a close with good results. Four were baptized the last night of the services. Brother Pierce Adams did a splendid job of presenting the lessons and the church as a whole was strengthened greatly by the good sound preaching. The meeting was well attended, with new ones each service, the interest was good, with a number of questions to be answered each evening. We carried a ten day radio program five days a week during the meeting. There have been five baptisms from the result of the program. It would be hard to say what the result would be if we were only able to continue the program. The radio men told Brother Adams and me the radio would reach approximately two hundred thousand people. The congregation is hoping and praying that the time will come, when they will be able to put the program on the air for an indefinite time. The building fund has been started and the lots contracted for, if the people will give their consent for a church to be built, we hope to get started on our new building soon. We will know about the lots definitely this coming week. The present building is inadequate and something must be done before long. There have been twelve baptisms since my last report and others are interest. If you have folks that live here in Klamath Falls or friends who might be interested, if you will write me giving their addresses I shall be glad to visit with them. There have been two families moved in that are members, one from Dallas, Texas, the other one from Roseburg, Oregon. Any time you are in Klamath Falls, Oregon, come and worship with us.

BIBLE INSTRUCTION AT C. C. C.

James Mathews

Bible instruction at Central Christian College was expanded this fall by the addition of another Bible teacher to the faculty and the inclusion of several new courses.

James O. Baird, dean, is now devoting all of his teaching time to the Bible Department, and W. Taylor Carter, a graduate of Abilene Christian College, began work with the college this fall as instructor in freshman Bible in conjunction with his work as instructor in business administration. Other Bible teachers include Hugo McCord, Stafford North, and Mrs. Zelma Lawyer.

Nearly 25 courses are offered each year in Bible and related work. Those now being taught during the first semester include Greek, Old Testament Survey, Evidences of Christianity, the Four Gospels, Church History, Bible Geography and History, Romans, Galatians, and Hebrews, and the Christian Woman.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN COLLEGE OPENING

James Mathews

Thirteen states and one foreign country were represented when Central Christian College opened its fourth year on September 10.

Increasing the total enrollment nearly ten per cent over last year, students are in attendance from Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia, and Switzerland.

Joining the faculty were six new instructors, three of which were added to take care of enlarged curricula. Several new courses are being taught this year, and again the college is offering special night classes.

WATSON-HATHAWAY DEBATE

Sterl A. Watson will meet Lester Hathaway here November 10-13 in a public discussion. Brother Watson will affirm two nights that teaching the Bible in classes, using women to teach some of those classes is divinely authorized. The last two nights Brother Hathaway will affirm that when the church calls an assembly, the teaching must be done in an undivided assembly using men only as teachers, teaching one at a time.

Jimmy Allen will begin full time evangelistic work here November 1.

Carrol Cannon baptized two here last night.

J. D. Bales will preach here October 18; F. W. Mattox, October 25.

Prescott, Arkansas.

WARREN-BALLARD DEBATE

Thomas B. Warren

On the nights of November 9, 10, 11, and 12, I am to meet Wesley D. Ballard, of the anti-class, one drinking-cup faction, in a discussion on classes, women teachers. We also have propositions signed on the drinking vessel question, but have not, as yet, agreed on a date for this discussion. The first night I will affirm that it is unscriptural to teach the Bible in simultaneous classes. The second night Ballard will affirm that it is sinful to teach the Bible in simultaneous classes. The third night I will affirm that women may teach a class of women and, or, children. The fourth night Ballard will affirm that it is sinful for a woman to teach a class of women and, or, children.

This Ballard is not to be confused with the L. S. Ballard, Baptist, whom I met in debate last summer.

Tentatively, the debat is to be held in the meeting house of the Rural and Mail Street church in Dallas. This is not as yet definite, but, at any rate, they are to furnish the building for the discussion, since the debate resulted from their challenge.

LET'S ADVERTISE THE HERALD OF TRUTH LOCALLY

Willis E. Kirk

There is little doubt about the good being accomplished through the nation-wide program, "The Herald of Truth." The effectiveness of this program in spreading the gospel is becoming more apparent all the time. The minimum of good, however, is being realized at the present time due to congregations failing to advertise it locally. We have done a good job of stressing it on members of the church, but have probably failed to make it known to the people of our communities, the unsaved, as we should have. The program needs to be advertised locally. Every congregation should run an advertisement through the local newspaper announcing the program and follow it with the schedule of services of the local church. It will greatly stimulate the local work and increase tremendously the effectiveness of the program. We know. We tried it.

A HANDBOOK ON CHRISTIAN TRUTH by Harold Lindsell and Charles J. Woodbridge. Fleming H. Revell Co., Westwood, N. J. 1953. Pages 351. $3.50.

This is a handbook on fundamentals of the Christian faith. It is written by two faculty members of the Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, Calif. It attempts to state what the Bible teaches. The book contains fifty-two chapters in essay, outline form. The chapters deal with both doctrine and conduct. The book is divided into ten major divisions, such as The Bible, The Person of Christ, the Doctrine of Salvation, The Believer and the church, and others. As would be expected, the book is an emphasis on these themes from the point of view of those trained in the Baptist faith. Any reader will find valuable suggestions in this book. One will not always agree with the authors, but this does not discount the value of the book. Friends may order their copy from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

A HISTORY OF THE DISCIPLES ON THE WESTERN RESERVE. By A. S. Hayden. Religious Book Service, Box 181, Henderson, Tenn. 476 pages.

Here is another rare publication brought to our attention by Brother Earl West, recently gone to Freed-Hardeman College, at Henderson, Tenn. It is a thrilling story of the Restoration Movement within an area of about 700 square miles in the northeast portion of the State of Ohio. This is a classic in the field of Restoration Literature and every gospel preacher will want a copy in his library. It will keep one up late at nights reading with a desire to go on to the next page and chapter to see what happens next. The author says: "As far as possible the whole work has been brought within the following plan":

1. A sketch of the condition of religious society at the opening of the work.
2. A short account of the agencies by which it was accomplished.
3. A history of the work itself.
4. Biographical notices of the principal actors.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Give Me The Bible

The following words by Priscilla J. Owens find deep response in every thoughtful soul,

"Give me the Bible,
Lamp of life immortal,
Hold up that splendor,
By the open grave,
Show me the light
From heavens shining portal,
Show me the glory,
Gilding Jordan's wave.

At the grave where we commit a cherished friend to rest, Christianity glows with special radiance. The Bible is the only Book that comforts people when they die. Those on their death beds never request preachers to read about science, geography or history; it is always the Bible. Its assurances of a life beyond the grave are very satisfying to the human heart. We cannot conceive the despair that would settle over the world, if the light of the Bible should be blotted out.

The Bible is now, always has been, and probably always will be, the best seller among books. There is a constant increase in its sales from year to year. Other books come and go, but the Bible remains. It never grows old. It is always fresh and full of interest. Jesus said, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away" (Matt. 24:35). Peter said, "But the word of the Lord endureth forever" (1 Peter 1:25).

It does not require a well contrived sales talk to sell the Bible. It sells itself. Any one can sell Bibles. Every one wants the Book that meets the exigencies of life and shows men how to die—that gives light in darkness and courage in adversity.

The Bible reveals the mind of God, and what it reveals is man's greatest inspiration of hope. It tells of God's everlasting love, his willingness to forgive sins, his providence, and his promises of salvation. These are the supreme thoughts of life—the sentiments closest to man's heart.

Nearly everybody has a Bible. What men need to do is to use it more. The Bible is neglected, even by those who claim to be its best friends. Men need to study the Bible reverently and sincerely, then heed its teachings.

Watch Unto Prayer

Peter writes, "But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer" (1 Peter 4:7). To one who is a Christian, nothing is more appropriate than to read the Bible and pray. When we read the Bible God is talking to us. When we pray we are talking to God. No one has spiritual strength without this intercourse with the Lord. In a parable concerning perseverance in prayer, Jesus said, "Men ought always to pray, and not to faint" (Luke 18:1). Men usually put greater emphasis on work than they do on prayer. Some men will do their very best to achieve a praiseworthy object, and if they fail, they give up with a conviction it cannot be done. Instead of praying they faint.

If some men do not get everything they ask for in prayer, they think it is a failure. They pray in a dictatorial attitude, virtually telling the Lord, "we want all this or nothing." If men pray for things to satisfy their lusts, it profits them nothing. James says, "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts" (Jas. 4:3). There are people who never think of praying till misfortune overtakes them. But men need God in prosperity as well as in adversity.

Things In Opposition

Hoyt Bailey

Wrong has been in opposition to right since the serpent appeared to Eve in Eden. Throughout those centuries from then until now, man has been faced with the problem of choosing the wrong or the right. The great men in history, the ones who have been a blessing to themselves and to humanity, have been those choosing the right and opposing the wrong.

ERROR OPPOSES TRUTH: The basis of the first conflict between wrong and right was the opposition of error to truth. The subtle serpent approached Eve with a lie, saying to her: "Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of any tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, of the fruit of the trees of the garden we may eat: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die" (Gen. 3:1-4). God spoke truth, but the serpent spoke a lie. God said: "Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die," but the serpent said: "Ye shall not surely die." Error opposed truth, misled, deceived, and brought death to Eve. From them until now, error has been in opposition to truth.

God cannot lie, because it is impossible for God to lie (Tit. 1:2). Paul said: "Yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written" (Rom. 3:4). Grace and truth came by Jesus Christ, and he is the truth. No one can become united with Christ apart from truth. A scrambling of error with truth will not unite an individual with Christ. Jesus said: "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (Jn. 8:32).

Jesus said that the devil "was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there was no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it" (Jn. 8:44). Error is always opposed to truth. All the religious truth is contained in the Bible, for therein is contained all the truth which God has given to mankind. Religious teaching that is outside of the Bible is error, and all religious teaching that is separate from the Bible is opposed to truth. It is wrong to follow error, therefore one should renounce error for truth.

UNBELIEF OPPOSES FAITH: Unbelief is in opposition to faith. It should be observed that error destroys faith. "But the Spirit saith expressly, that in the latter times some shall fall away from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons, through the hypocrisy of men that speak lies, branded in their own conscience as with a hot iron" (1 Tim. 4:1-2). The apostle said: "Preach the word; be urgent in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long suffering and teaching. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but, having itching ears, will heap to themselves teachers after their own lusts; and will turn away their ears from the truth, and turn aside unto fables" (2 Tim. 4:2-4). These verses reveal the fact that departing from the faith comes as the result of "giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons, through the hypocrisy of men that speak lies." It is emphasized here that one must turn from truth before turning aside to unbelief. Scripture says: "and will turn away their ears from the truth, and turn aside unto fables."

Error promoted unbelief in the heart of Eve. The serpent held up a lie to Eve as though it were truth. The faith which Eve had in the word of God was destroyed by the lie which was presented by the serpent. Error is opposed to truth, but error also destroys faith.

DISOBEDIENCE OPPOSES OBEDIENCE: We have seen that error is in opposition to truth, error destroys faith, but error also opposes obedience while promoting disobedience. While Eve heard truth and believed only truth she was obedient to God. Eve did not disobey God while hearing truth and believing truth, but she disobeyed God after hearing a lie and believing that lie. After her disobedience: "Jehovah God said unto the woman, What is this thou has done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat" (Gen. 3:13). The woman admits that she did not disobey God while hearing, believing, and following truth, but her disobedience came after she heard and believed a lie. 1 Kings 13 gives an account of a young prophet who was obedient to God while listening to and following the commands of God. That young prophet was not disobedient while hearing and following truth. The king could not entice the young prophet to disobey God. It took one who would come under the guise of religion to mislead the young prophet. An old prophet "went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak; and he said unto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Judah? And he said, I am. Then he said unto him, Come home with me, and eat bread. And he said, I may not return with thee, nor go with thee, neither will I eat bread nor drink water with thee in this place: for it was said to me, by the word of Jehovah, Thou shalt eat no bread nor drink water there, nor turn again to go by the way that thou camest. And he said unto him, I also am a prophet as thou art; and an angel spake unto me by the word of Jehovah, saying, Bring him back with thee into thy house, that he may eat bread and drink water. BUT HE LIED UNTO HIM. So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his house, and drank water." The young prophet met death, because of this disobedience. It is important here that we see the act of disobedience as the result of the young prophet hearing, believing, and following a lie. Error opposes truth, destroys faith, and promotes disobedience.

UNRIGHTEOUSNESS OPPOSES RIGHTEOUSNESS: Scripture says: "Be not unequally yoked with unbelievers: for what fellowship have righteousness and iniquity?" (2 Cor. 6:14). Unbelievers have not heard, believed, and obeyed the truth. The righteous are those who hear, believe, and obey the truth. Luke says that Zacharias and Elizabeth "were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless" (Lk. 1:6). John said: "I rejoiced greatly, when brethren came and bare witness unto thy truth, even as thou walkest in truth. Greater joy have I none than this, to hear of my children walking in the truth" (3 Jn. 3-4). One can live a righteous life, and can walk in a manner pleasing to God by walking "uprightly according to the truth of the gospel." (Gal. 2:14). We have seen that error opposes truth, destroys faith, promotes disobedience, but error also guides persons into unrighteous living. Paul said: "But shun profane babblings: for they will proceed further in ungodliness, and their word will eat as doth a gangrene: of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus; men who concerning the truth have erred, saying that the resurrection is past already, and overthrow the faith of some. Howbeit the firm foundation of God standeth, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his: and, Let every one that nameth the name of the Lord depart from unrighteousness" (2 Tim. 2:16-19). Hearing truth, believing truth, and walking in truth is the only way to live a righteous life, the way to overcome unrighteousness.

UNGODLINESS OPPOSES GODLINESS: Paul said: "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world" (Tit. 2:11-12). Error cannot promote godly living, for godly living is promoted only by truth. An uncorrupted life cannot be built upon corrupt teaching. A godly life must be built upon truth, built upon the word of God. Scripture commands: "But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech, faith, in charity, in patience. The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things; That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed. Young men likewise exhort to be sober minded. In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you" (Tit. 2:1-8). There is no hint in the Scripture that error is to be followed for any purpose by the one following Christ. Only truth promotes godly living.

DARKNESS OPPOSES LIGHT: "For what fellowship have righteousness and iniquity? or what communion hath light with darkness?" (2 Cor. 6:14). Jesus said: "And this is the judgment, that the light is come into the world, and men loved the darkness rather than the light; for their works were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, and cometh not to the light, lest his works should be reproved. But he that does truth cometh to the light, that his works may be made manifest, that they have been wrought in God" (Jn. 3:19-21). One opposes the light by opposing the word of God. One rejects God and Christ by rejecting their word. Jesus said: "I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me may not abide in the darkness . . . He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I spake, the same shall judge him in the last day" (Jn. 12:46-48). Darkness opposes light, but error promotes darkness, and light is shed abroad by truth.

DIVISION OPPOSES UNITY: Error promotes division, but truth promotes Christian unity. The apostle said: "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them that are causing the divisions and occasions of stumbling, contrary to the doctrine which ye learned: and turn away from them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Christ, but their own belly; and by their smooth and fair speech they beguile the hearts of the innocent" (Rom. 16:17-18). Error, false teaching, causes religious division. Paul said: "Now I beseech you, brethren, through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (1 Cor. 1:19). "If any teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; . . . from such withdraw thyself" (1 Tim. 6:3-5). Paul said: "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel" (Phil. 1:27). Jesus prayed that all religious people be one, he died that all religious people become one, and he gave one gospel to unite all obedient ones in the one body, the church. Error divides but truth unites.

Wrong opposes right by error opposing truth. Wrong opposes right by error destroying faith, by error promoting disobedience, by error promoting unrighteousness, ungodliness, darkness, and division. Truth promotes faith, obedience, righteousness, godliness, light, and unity.

The Spirit And The Apostles Of Christ

Elbridge B. Linn

You will remember of course that it was the Old Testament prophet Joel who wrote: "And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions" (Joel 2:28). Christ promised this Spirit in baptismal measure to the apostles. Just before his ascension to the right hand of God, he said to them, "And behold, I send forth the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry in the city, until ye be clothed with power from on high" (Luke 24:49).

In order to have a full understanding of this, turn to the gospel according to John, where in chapters 14, 15, and 16 we find the record of the words of Christ to those who were to be his apostles. Jesus told them what he would do for them after his departure, saying, "It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I go, I will send him unto you" (John 16:7). One will make a grievous error, if he bear not in mind the fact that Christ was speaking to the apostles. The coming of the Holy Spirit in the role of Comforter was a special blessing to them. This promise that Christ made to the apostles does not apply to you nor to me. Now, if you think otherwise, bear with me just a moment, and you will see why it couldn't!

The baptism of the Holy Spirit, which came on the Day of Pentecost (Acts, 2nd chapter) was "the promise of the Father" (Acts 1:4) which Christ had made to them. Now, it was very evident that this promise was made to the apostles ALONE, because they were to wait "in the city," that is, in Jerusalem. You couldn't very well do that, could you? Also, by the baptism of the Holy Spirit the apostles were empowered to preach the gospel and to perform "the signs which followed." Shall we notice carefully some scriptures at this very point. In John 14:26 we read what Jesus said to the apostles: "But the Comforter, even the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I said unto you." Friend, were you and I present when Jesus said that? NO. Then, the apostles were the ones to whose minds the coming of the Comforter would bring remembrance of all that Jesus had formerly taught them. John also wrote the words of Jesus: "But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of Truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall bear witness of me, because ye have been with me from the beginning" (15:26-27). Need we ask: "Were you and I with Christ from the beginning?" NO. Then, he was not talking to us, nor of us!

When the Great Commission had been given to the apostles by Christ, and had been preached by them, the Hebrew writer warned those who were neglecting this great salvation in Christ, saying, "which having at the first been spoken through the Lord, was confirmed unto us by them that heard; God also being witness with them, both by signs and wonders, and by manifold powers, and by gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to his own will" (Heb. 2:3-4). The apostles were the ones who heard Christ. Of course, the gifts of the Holy Spirit which we shall consider, were to the early church, bestowed through the laying on of the hands of the apostles.

They were simply spokesman of the Spirit of God and it was the message which they preached (the message of the Spirit) which touched the hearts of the hearers. To enforce this statement let us read Acts 2:37: "Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and the rest of the apostles, Brethren, what shall we do?" The command: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins" immediately followed, and the response of the believers was: "They then that received his word were baptized: and there were added unto them in that day about three thousand souls" (verse 41). Now, that we have the gospel recorded, and the events of the beginning of the church, men are not baptized by the Holy Spirit as were the Apostles. We have sufficient teaching to instruct us in the way of righteousness (2 Tim. 3:16-17). We have the perfect law of liberty (Jas. 1:25). We live by and contend earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints (Jude 3). Such truth was, of course, delivered by the apostles under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

The need for the baptism of the Holy Spirit no longer exists. The Gentiles have been admitted for water baptism into the church of Christ. And, we have the word of God which the apostles preached. It is the sword of the Spirit, the word of God (Ephesians 6:17).

In Ephesians 4:4, Paul affirmed (after the day of Pentecost and the events at the house of Cornelius) that there is "one baptism." Is such Holy Spirit baptism, as predicted by John the Baptist? Or, is such water baptism, into the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit? Let us see.

Holy Spirit baptism was not that of the Great Commission, for, (1) the baptism of the Spirit was a promise; the baptism of a penitent believer for remission of sins and which puts one into Christ (Gal. 3:27) was a COMMAND. Promises can be received; commands must be obeyed. The apostles received the promise of the Comforter; you and I, if we have been scripturally baptized, have obeyed the command.

(2) Christ was the administrator of Spirit baptism; men are the administrators of water baptism.

(3) Modern claimants to Holy Ghost baptism talk about their feelings; however, the New Testament teaches in Acts 2:33 that Spirit was SEEN and HEARD — and NOT "better felt than told!" You can hear this frequently enough today: "I can't describe the feeling; but I know I have it!"

(4) In New Testament days, the apostles of Christ were able to perform miracles! Paul wrote of "the signs of an apostle" (2 Cor. 12:12). IF the God-given power to raise the dead, heal the sick, speak in languages never before known by the speaker, drink poison and not be hurt, shake off deadly vipers without harm, etc., was PROOF SUFFICIENT that one was an apostle, and baptized by the Holy Spirit, then, the ABSENCE of such miracles today is PROOF SUFFICIENT that God does NOT baptize men today with the Holy Spirit!

However, the apostles of Christ did receive such power when the Holy Spirit was poured out upon them. Christ was the administrator of the baptism, in fulfillment of the promise to them, which promise they saw and heard, and by his power they performed miracles, spoke in new tongues, and preached the gospel.

ERNEST RAINES WANTS TO GO TO DENMARK

W. A. Bradford

Ernest Raines of Humboldt, Tennessee, a graduate of both Freed-Hardeman and David Lipscomb Colleges, is anxious to go to Denmark to work for the Lord.

Ernest is a capable, fine young married man and deserves the support of brethren who are interested in mission work.

Here is the story as he reports it:

"There are now three ladies who are members of the church in that country, having spent some time in the United States and being converted here. They are desirous of having one or two couples come and live with them and preach the gospel. Brother Nyal D. Royse of Los Angeles, California, is somewhat interested in going, but because of having a large family, college age, it is difficult for him to get sufficient support it seems, but if possible he wants to go. We would be able to go any time, allowing me ample time to give the congregation where I preach a notice of my leaving."

Brother Raines is now preaching for the Little Mountain Church of Christ, Winchester, Tennessee. For information about him, write the elders there, or Ferris White, Humboldt, Tennessee, or either the dean at Freed-Hardeman or David Lipscomb College.

Address Ernest Raines at 711 North High Street, Winchester, Tennessee.

Every song leader and preacher will be interested in its contents. Many congregations will want to order bundles to help the members sing better.

Then in March 1954 a special is planned on "The Need For Christian Education." Later another special is planned on "The Church and Benevolent Work." Another special is planned in the latter part of the year on "Restoring the Spirits of New Testament Christianity." Be sure to renew and get a club so that you will not miss any of these specials.

A new feature is beginning soon. "A Walk With the Master" by Clifton Rogers of Port Arthur, Texas. This weekly walk will emphasize Christian living, and how we can walk nearer to God. Also we are planning to run thumb nail pictures of many of the writers to make their articles even more personal and interesting to those who do not know them well.

"What Have I Done?"

C. S. Doggett

In the days of the prophet Jeremiah, Jehovah said: "I hearkened and heard, but they spake not aright: no man repenteth him of his wickedness, saying, What have I done? every one turneth to his course, as a horse that rusheth headlong in battle."

The divine complaint is, that no one seems so sensible of sin and guilt in his sight as to say, What have I done? All are so full of self-confidence that they feel no need of repentance. Is there not an urgent need of pressing this question now?

For instance, What have I done with God? Is he not the author and preserver of my life? Have I been mindful of his goodness and thankful for his mercies? What place have I given him in my thoughts?

What have I done with Christ? He has been offered me as the gift of God. What have I done with him? Have I accepted him or rejected him? Have I crowned him with thorns or with honour and glory? Is his blood sprinkled on my heart or is it under my feet?

What have I done with the Holy Spirit? Have I grieved him by my unbelief? Have I turned a deaf ear to his entreaty, and hardened my heart against the melting influences of his presence? Have I received him in all his fulness, or am I still doing despite to the Spirit of grace?

What have I done with the warnings of Providence? In the day of my adversity have I been led to "consider?" Have all my afflictions been sanctified? Has the loss of loved ones on earth drawn my affections more intently after the things that are above?

What have I done with my Bible? Have I been reading it as God's written message to my soul? Have I been using it as a lamp from heaven to guide my footsteps thither? Have I made it the "Man of my counsel," and is its message hid in my heart? Have I openly confessed its truth, or am I ashamed of it?

What have I done with my talents? My brain, my money, my time, and my tongue—have they been used for the glory of self, or for the glory of God? Have they been buried in the napkin of self-preservation, instead of used for the advancement of the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ?

What have I done with my opportunities? Have I taken advantage of my many God-given privileges, to hear his word, to speak in his name; to reprove, to rebuke, to exhort? Have I been more anxious to kill the time than to redeem it?

What have I done with my neighbors? Have I sought to take advantage of them, rather than be a blessing to them? Have I loved them as myself, or have I treated them as inferior creatures? Have I received of the saving grace of God, and have I treated those beside me as if I owed them nothing?

What have I done with the inner cry of my own need? Have I been conscious of the need of God's forgiveness and deliverance from the power of sin, and yet have sought to stifle the voice? What have I done with my sense of weakness, powerlessness, and fruitlessness in living the Christian life? Have I sought comfort instead of confession, the pity of my fellow-believers instead of the power of the Holy Spirit? Am I among those of whom the Lord complains, that they do not repent saying, "What have I done?"

The Church

J. C. Choate

"When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven. Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ" (Matt. 16:13-19).

From the above scripture there are many things involved. But, the main thing under consideration is that of a sure foundation for the church to rest upon. The Lord tested the Apostles with a question, as to their faith. Then Peter confessed the Christ, yea the divinity of Christ, before men.

It is said when Jesus entered into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi that he began to ask questions. We note that he asked two important questions. First, "Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?" Second, "But whom say ye that I am?" These questions were of importance at that time because the Lord wanted to know more about their faith. Even now as we read of the things that occurred at that time, we can readily see the faith most acceptable to the Lord.

Now, let's go back to the very first question. The question was, "Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?" Jesus asked the question in connection with the world. In other words, "Just what does the world think of me?" "Do they believe in my divinity?" "Just what does the common people think of me?" Now to the answer. Some say that "thou art (1) John the Baptist." Some say that "thou art (2) Elias;" others say "thou art (3) Jeremias," or (4) "one of the prophets." Hence, the world was divided. A world of different beliefs concerning Christ. Thus, the Lord was not pleased with such opinions. So, the Lord asked another question. "Whom say ye that I am?" This time the question was directed especially to the apostles. The Lord wanted to know just what his disciples thought of him. He wanted to know as to whether the apostles had faith in him or not. Notice the answer given: "And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of God." Thus, the glorious Christ was confessed with all of his divinity. Then the Lord gave his approval by saying, "Blessed art thou." The Lord did not pronounce such a blessing upon the world. Well, why? Simply because the Lord does not accept opinions but rather a strong faith. In pronouncing a blessing upon Peter, the Lord pointed out that the knowledge that was expressed was of God. The Lord also pointed out to Peter that he would build his church upon the same confession (1 Cor. 3:11). The church was to be in the future but was to belong to the Lord only (Acts 20:28). The Lord said that his church would be established and that nothing would prevail against that fact.

Further, Peter was to receive the keys of the kingdom or the church. This blessing gave Peter the right to show the way into the kingdom on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2).

Hence, from the study, we can see the importance of the questions that were involved. Then, finally the confession that was made, to the effect that Christ was the Son of God. This confession was so important that Christ promised to build his church upon the same. And thus, in connection with the church, the keys of the kingdom were given. "Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ."

Just Across The Street (No. 2)

F. L. Paisley

Again we glance at two different and differing churches on opposite sides of the street. One of them is the same "First" church in former essay. The other is also a "First" church—a "sister denomination." The two groups differ on some things, but perhaps agree on more points than they differ. We shall consider first a few

Points of Difference

The church meeting on the south side of the street teaches immersion for baptism, accepting nothing else. The church across the street gladly accepts a person from the other "communion" on his immersion, but would insist against practicing it herself. She teaches that sprinkling water on the head is baptism.

That immersing church holds strongly to the doctrine of "once in grace always in grace"—that is, regardless of the conduct, life, sins, crimes a saved man might do, he is none the less certain for heaven—even if dying in the very act of crime. The church across the street says that one can so sin as to be lost after having been once saved.

The immersing church is named for the act and practice of "baptism," but opposes any emphasis upon the doctrine of "baptism" except the act. The church across the street is named for her "methods" of doing things—each church opposing the wearing of the other's name. In this great difference between themselves, there is a general likeness!

The two churches differ seriously on the subject of baptism. One insists upon "believer's baptism"—none but believers being baptized—the other insists that non-believers may be baptized, if under age of accountability. They believe in and practice forcing an innocent baby to submit to "baptism," but will not say its parents should be forced to submit to it! The immersing church teaches that the only thing absolutely essential to believe about baptism is the act of the very unessential thing! Yes, he must believe that the act is non-essential, not related to remission of sins.

With these few points of difference let us notice.

Some Points of Agreement

Both churches agree generally that "one church is just as good as another." Until the New Testament church is mentioned this doctrine prevails. Then it is out the window. While agreeing that one church is as good as another, and that one is acting soberly in joining either one, they oppose your belonging to both of them. They have never tried to explain that if A can belong to the immersing church, and B to the sprinkling church, both consistent with all essential truth, why can't C belong to both of them. In this conglomeration of self-contradictions they agree.

Both churches agree that there is no need of obeying any command of the Lord to go to heaven—that salvation is a matter of "faith only." They each studiously omit preaching that those "who obey not the gospel—will be punished with everlasting destruction" (2 Thess. 1:7-9). They neither have any use for the Lord's promise, "he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mark 16:16). They unite in proclaiming this as "water salvation."

Both churches agree that the New Testament, as written, is not sufficient to express what men should do and be religiously. To help the Lord out where he forgot, or was just too indifferent to supply full information, they each have adopted an additional creed. That of one is called a "Manual"; the other a "Discipline." These two little books differ widely from the New Testament, and glaringly contradict it in their distinctive utterance.

The two churches agree that the kind of music ordained in the New Testament—singing—is insufficient for their praises, so they volunteer to offer the Lord a different kind—all sorts of instrumental sounds, as "aids." They agree that when the Lord declared that "every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward" (Heb. 2:1-3), it means no threat to us now for making any such changes as suits us. This, and all other errors they hold, are based upon the fatal blunder and sin of discounting the New Testament as an all-sufficient guide in religious matters.

They agree that their own chosen and self-manufactured names are better expressions of relationship to God than is the one name Heaven assigned to God's people under Christ. "And it came to pass that the disciples were called Christians first at Antioch" (Acts 11:26). "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian," Agrippa said to Paul. (Acts 26:28). And Peter chimes in to say, "If any man suffer as a Christian—glorify God in this name" (1 Peter 4:16). Agrippa's statement to Paul proves that Paul was persuading him to be a Christian. Such an ardent defender of the name of Christ as Paul was, he would quickly have corrected the ruler had that not been true. Both churches agree that all should be Christians, but oppose the name in preference to their humanly given titles.

Each church agrees that the other is not once mentioned in all the Bible, but neither will tell the other that truth!

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that in most congregations the members spend more money each week for tobacco, chewing gum, cokes, and ice cream than they spend in sending the gospel to those outside their community? Is the Lord pleased with this condition? Why not use the special issue on Mission work to stir the brethren up to do their duty. Be sure that each elder gets a copy. Also the deacons. Also the Bible School teachers. Have members of Bible Classes use it for ten minute reports on different fields. It can be used even with the children's classes. For less than a package of chewing gum you can awaken some self-satisfied, half-asleep Christian to what Christ expects of him in sending the gospel to every creature!

"WORLD REPORT ISSUE"

Norvel Young

The second issue in November (November 10) is exclusively devoted to articles from mission fields outside the United States. The major fields of evangelism by churches of Christ will be heard from. These interesting articles written by men on the spot will bring Christians in this country up-to-date on the widespread efforts to preach the gospel to the whole world. Such a report has not been widely circulated since the "Harvest Field" was published in 1948. These past five years have seen more evangelism abroad by churches of Christ in this country than any other five years in history. Do not miss this thrilling story of converting thousands to Christ in other lands. Each article is crammed full of facts. Each report breathes the spirit of the sacrificial Christians who have left the comforts of home to carry the good news to those on other shores.

Order a bundle of these to distribute to each Christian family where you worship. Cost, five cents each. In this way you can help stir up brethren to their duty in carrying out Christ's marching orders to his disciples. Let Brother Showalter know how many copies you wish so that they can be printed when the regular issue is printed. The Special Issue on "Congregations At Work" was exhausted long before the demand was met.

Organized Personal Work

J. D. Thomas

Many congregations today are organizing and centralizing their work in personal evangelism, so that they can be more effective and can be sure of working all possible prospects.

At Abilene Christian College this year we are offering a one-hour credit course, meeting one night weekly, in which we discuss both the theoretical and practical aspects of soul-winning through personal contacts by the "ordinary" church member. Further, we are stressing the organization of the program in the local congregation, so that students will have "know how" as well as inspiration for organizing personal work programs in the various congregations where they will make their homes in the future.

By continuing such offerings here over a period of years, we should eventually do untold good in the Lord's work through the influence of the students who have studied in the class. This year there are 40 students enrolled in the class for credit and several who are taking it for non-credit.

Laboratory Methods

In addition to the class period, we are requiring two hours weekly done in personal work, or in office or organizational work that will help to understand the setting-up of a systematized procedure. Thus the laboratory approach makes quite practical what the student learns in class, and also he brings problems to the class that he meets in actual practice.

The College Church of Christ and the other congregations in Abilene are permitting these students to do the "laboratory" part of their work under their supervision, so that different students do their work in different systems of organization. These systems are compared in class discussion, and representative speakers from the several congregations will be asked to speak to the class, so that all will have the benefit of as many ideas as possible.

Class discussions include the psychological aspects of making the approach and proper conduct of the interview, as well as the knowledge of key-scriptures and the answering of arguments that are commonly met, both in and out of the Bible.

Adequate Records

Among the practical features of organizing a personal work program that the student will learn is a record-keeping system that enables church leaders to keep close supervision over those who need spiritual help—either to obey the gospel or to be restored or even strengthened. Several types of indexes of prospects are used, according to the need of the individual. The keeping of records makes certain that no prospect is overlooked, and that each prospect is visited by the member of the congregation most competent to care for his problems.

Lectureship Discussion

Because of the rising interest in organized personal work, and because many congregations are seeing the opportunities in soul-winning afforded by such a program, some discussion is now being given to having the subject of personal work discussed on the 1954 Abilene Christian College Lectureship program as an outstanding feature, with a view to others receiving information and guidance which will help them in organizing a program in their own congregations.

We understand that one congregation is ready to employ a man full-time when they find the person suitable for organizing and conducting a personal work program in a proper way.

We will be happy to hear from any who have practical suggestions of methods they are using in the doing of any phase of personal work. We want the class work here to be the very best and will appreciate any contributions from any source.

What Does The Bible Say?

INVESTIGATE THE PLEA FOR UNDENOMINATIONAL CHRISTIANITY

Every day we read about Senate and House investigations. Although some investigations may be poorly conducted the idea of investigating for the truth is certainly good. When Paul reached Rome the Jews there showed themselves fair by investigating his plea for "the kingdom of God." They said, "We desire to hear of thee what thou thinkest; for as concerning this sect, we know that everywhere it is spoken against" (Acts 28:22).

Too many people pass judgment on the basis of prejudice or emotional bias. Too few people are willing to investigate. These Jews thought that Christianity was a "sect" Judaism. They had heard many criticisms of it. Yet, they were open-minded enough to find out for themselves from one of the preachers of the gospel.

Let me take this lesson as an opportunity to plead with each reader to investigate the claims of Christ for yourself. Do not be content to make the most important decision of your life without thoroughly considering the evidence. Read your New Testament. Study especially one of the gospels such as Matthew, or John, and then the book of Acts. Then investigate the plea being made by the churches of Christ in your area to return to simple New Testament Christianity.

Many people have turned away from Christianity because they have observed the divisions brought about by men. They have heard criticisms made against the church, the body of Christ, the kingdom. Too often they have not been willing to stop and investigate themselves.

We are convinced that God has revealed himself in the person of his only begotten Son, Jesus Christ. We believe that the Holy Spirit has given us the inspired guide in the Bible. We believe it is possible today to go back behind all of the doctrines and dogmas of men and go to Jesus Christ and his teaching. The Word of God is the seed of the kingdom, and when we accept that Word in our hearts and obey it we can be born again of the water and of the Spirit just as the 3,000 did on the day of Pentecost, the birthday of the church.

By taking Christ as our only creed, the Bible as our only rule of faith we believe we can work together in free, independent local congregations just as the early Christians did. We can worship in the same manner they did. We believe God will save us and add us to the church when we believe in his Son Jesus Christ and trust in him, repenting of our sins and being buried with him in baptism to rise and walk a new life (Acts 2:47). God will bless all who will obey his Son and do his will!

Investigate this plea for undenominational Christianity. Living for Christ is a seven-day-a-week proposition. Deny yourself and take up your cross and follow him. Like Paul, when your pilgrimage here is over you can say: "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give to me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing" (2 Tim. 4).

OPPORTUNITIES AMONG NEGROES

Approximately one person in ten in America is a negro. These sixteen million Americans speak our language. They have enjoyed this land of freedom for more than a century. They are studying in our public schools and working in the shop or the store, or the factory or on the farm. They present a most wonderful challenge to Christians who burn with a desire to share the gospel with others.

Thousands of towns have tens of thousands of negroes and no church after the New Testament pattern. The gospel of Christ will convert them just as it will their people in Africa or other races over the world. Christ loved them and died for them. They need the gospel. The religion of Jesus Christ will do more to help solve the race problem than anything else.

Many churches that have been established by such evangelists as Brother Marshall Keeble are in need of encouragement and instruction. They lack qualified leaders, preachers, Bible school teachers. The Nashville Christian Institute and Southwestern Christian College at Terrell have been established to help train their young people. They need our support and encouragement. Shall we let these schools wither for lack of our moral and financial help? Write to Athens Clay Pullias at David Lipscomb College in Nashville or to Dr. John G. Young at Southwestern Christian College in Terrell, Texas, to get a full picture of their marvelous opportunity and desperate need.

Brethren, some money and time spent with the Negro citizens of our own community and in such schools will pay marvelous dividends both here and hereafter. We need to preach the gospel across the sea, but we must not neglect to preach it to those across town.

The greatest argument for the power of prayer is the example of our Lord himself. The four gospels probably cover only a hundred days of Jesus' life, yet they abound in reference to his prayer-life. Luke, more than the others, underscores his praying. Jesus prayed at his baptism by John. He prayed all night before choosing his apostles. He prayed on the Mount of Transfiguration. He prayed after the feeding of the five thousand. He prayed in the garden of Gethsemane. He prayed on the cross three times of the seven times it is recorded that he spoke. How can any man attempt to follow such a praying Lord and neglect to pray always?

Yet, many men who have admired Jesus as a great leader and teacher have overlooked this secret of his power. Many service organizations have adopted Jesus' golden rule, but have entirely neglected his example of prayer. The world has hailed him with its greatest music, its most honored art, and its grandest architecture, but has too often refused to kneel down with him and pray to his Father. How many of his disciples have followed his example of going apart from the crowd and continuing "all night in prayer to God." Yet, he says to us: "Ask and it shall be given unto you; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you." The prayerless life is the powerless life. If we would gain power to do God's will, let us continue steadfastly in prayer.

"Ere you left your room this morning,
Did you think to pray,
In the name of Christ our Savior,
Did you sue for loving favor,
As a shield today?

"When you met with great temptation,
Did you think to pray?
By his dying love and merit,
Did you claim the Holy Spirit,
As your guide and stay?

"O how praying rests the weary,
Prayer will change the night to day;
So when life seems dark and dreary,
Don't forget to pray!"

THE FIGHT OF FAITH

"This charge I commit unto thee, my child Timothy, according to the prophecies which led the way to thee, that by them thou mayest war the good warfare" (1 Tim. 1:18).

"Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. No soldier on service entangleth himself in the affairs of this life; that he may please him who enrolled him as a soldier" (2 Tim. 2:3).

"Fight the good fight of the faith, lay hold on the life eternal . . ." (1 Tim. 6:12).

The mightiest conflict the world has yet known is that in which the soldiers of the cross are engaged. The greatest leader of soldiers and the greatest military strategist of all time is the invincible Captain of our salvation, made perfect through suffering (Heb. 2:10), who has conquered the grave and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel, which has been known to all the nations unto obedience of faith (Rom. 16:26). The reception of the gospel, its belief, and obedience to it, constitute the oath of allegiance to the King of Glory, and enlistment in the Lord's army. The peerless Leader who conquers with the sword of his mouth, in his own times shall show who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of them that reign as kings, and Lord of them that rule as lords. He has, to every subject in his realm, given the solemn charge that the commandment (law) be kept without spot and without reproach (See 1 Tim. 6:14). All orders in the Lord's army must be carried out without partiality, hesitation or neglect. And all soldiers in the kingdom of heaven must fight or perish.

But the fight of the Christian—the fight of faith—is of an order far above and superior to any and all other struggles. And it is of more importance than all other struggles. It is a fight against sin, and sin is the source of human unhappiness. To eradicate sin means the introduction of peace, joy and happiness in the life of everyone. "Our wrestling is not against flesh and blood, but against the principalities, against the powers, against the world rulers of this darkness, against the spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places." So declares Paul to the Ephesians. The contention of the Christian is against all that is sinful and wrong—all that is contrary to the sound doctrine of Christ. The orders of our great Leader are to stand for that which is true, honorable, just, pure, lovely, and of good report. The man of God opposes the works of the flesh, and advocates, urges and defends the fruit of the Spirit of God. The people of God strive to bring peace and happiness to men and women by inducing them to turn away from all the unholy lusts of the flesh: fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, sorceries, enmities, strifes, jealousies, wraths, factions, divisions, parties, envyings, drunkenness, revellings, and such like. This enumeration is given by Paul in his letter to the churches of Galatia. And how much more useful and happy people would be if all of these evils were eliminated from their lives! There would come joy and gladness where grief and sorrow now reign, rule and ruin the lives of men. In the life freed from sin, there is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control. And Paul adds that against these there is no law, and that they that are of Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh with the passions and the lusts thereof.

The religion of Christ Jesus our Lord is the best antidote for the sorrows and suffering of a distressed world. If the lofty precepts of our Savior were accepted and fully applied in the lives and hearts of all responsible human beings there would be no fratricidal strife, no wars and rumors of wars—no crimes—no murders, adulteries, thefts. To the extent that men are imbued with the spirit of the Christ—his life and teaching—does evil fail and good, truth and happiness, control. The greatest benefactors to the race are those who teach the doctrine of Christ and cause men to believe and obey the truth, and conform their lives to its holy precepts. The trouble with the nations is that they have left God out of their affairs. The conversion of men to Christ will do them more real good than anything else that can possibly be made effective in their lives. And the conversion of the rulers and leaders, of nations, and the commanders of the armies and navies of earth will mean greater blessings to them and their people than all things else combined. And this is the Christian's warfare—his aim and ideal. To stand for these sublime and benevolent attributes and excellencies of heaven, to defend them, and fight for them, is pre-eminently the greatest work that mortals can engage themselves to perform. Should we not encourage and assist all those so engaged? And should not all who know the joys of salvation in Christ, be willing to cooperate in every right way to lead others into a realization of the experiences of all that is best and most desirable in the life that now is, and into that peace and satisfaction of the exceeding great and precious promises of the unspeakable glories to be revealed in the life to come in the upper world?

MUCH INTEREST IN "WORLD REPORT" ISSUE

A number of congregations and gospel preachers and elders have expressed interest in our "World Report" issue giving articles from the major countries where evangelism is being done by Christians supported from the United States. In view of this the special issue has been delayed one week in order to give others a chance to order extra copies. We can only afford to publish approximately as many as are ordered. So get in your order for a bundle of 100 or 500 or 1000 at the low price of $4.00 per hundred. This is a low cost medium of stirring up your friends in the church to the tremendous challenge of the great commission.

OUR FALL SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN

The Firm Foundation has a new face. It has new features. It has new special issues coming up for 1954. Now we want some new subscriptions to go with all this.

To encourage our hosts of friends to get up clubs we are offering these incentives in good gospel books.

First Award: To the one who sends in the most subscriptions in clubs between now and January 1, 1954, we will give $100 worth of books or Bibles or Testaments. He may make his own selection from the books which we have in our catalogue. Think of it. A good small home library for the person who works a little extra in getting subscriptions this fall. Never before have we offered as much! Never before could you earn such a bonus for a little effort in calling on your friends, writing, announcing about the Firm Foundation. These subscriptions may be new or renewals.

Surely someone will be happy in winning this $100 award.

Second Award: To the worker who obtains the second largest number of subscriptions in the allotted time we will give $50 worth of good religious books of his own choosing from books we have in stock. So, two happy people are going to be mighty glad they entered this worthwhile contest for putting wholesome gospel literature into more Christian homes.

Third Award: To everyone who sends in as many as ten subscriptions at the regular club rate, we will send a free copy of W. M. Davis' "Things to Consider" or a copy of the Abilene Christian College Lectures for 1953 or 1952, or a copy of "Preachers of Today" edited by Batsell Barrett Baxter. You may choose. So everyone who works will be rewarded. There are no losers in this contest. All will win.

You may wonder why we are so eager to get more readers. It is because we realize that less than one member in twenty in churches of Christ is taking any gospel paper. We recognize that an informed church is a strong church. We believe that the news reports alone are worth the price of the paper for a year. We believe the articles are a bonus to teach and exhort the brethren in the way of Christ.

So, we appeal to you to cooperate with us in blessing more homes by putting a good religious journal in them. Use your phone. Use your car. Write for some free samples of back copies to show your friends the Firm Foundation. Let's really double our subscription list this fall.

Watch each week to see the list of club workers. We hope your name is included soon.

FROM IDAHO FALLS, IDAHO, CHURCH OF CHRIST

F. L. Vanlandingham

Dear Brothers in Christ:

Many are the heartaches and trials of those few who attempt to carry the gospel of Christ to areas where that truth is little known.

We, as a group, are well aware, also of the problems which you have, even in the areas where the truth is accepted and practiced.

However, this letter is our Sincere Appeal for Help—in money, guidance and prayers.

Each of the denominations represented here in Idaho Falls has a building of its own in which to worship, and each of them is growing.

If they can grow, as they have, with what they have, how much more could the church grow which has the real truth, if we but take the golden opportunity which stands for us to grasp.

At the present, we have rented an upstairs room, over a market, for a meeting place. This room has been used as a club room for some social group, as well as a School of Folk Dance (4 nights a week). However, this was the best that could be found at the time and under the circumstances.

This week, by the abounding grace of God, we have been offered a church building at a real bargain price (here in Idaho Falls). The Assembly of God is building a new and larger building and are offering its present building and location to the Church of Christ at a price of approximately $8,000. The lot is located at 15th and Elm Streets, is 50x125, the building has an auditorium on the ground floor which seats approximately 90 people, 3 classrooms in the basement and 3 classrooms upstairs. It has recently been completely redecorated inside and will be adequate for several months, or years, or at least until we can outgrow it. (We have 3 months' option to buy).

We have a regular attendance (Sunday morning, Sunday evening and Wednesday evening) of from 20 to 25 people. Six families are represented on our regular attendance record. The annual census has been completed but we have not received the compilation showing that number who prefer the church, or have no preference at all. We have no minister and would welcome someone who can visualize our need and who has the desire to carry God's Word to a lost and dying world.

We cannot, fully, support a preacher nor can we buy a building alone. We can pay for the building after we have the down payment of approximately $3,000 and we can subsidize the salary of a preacher to some extent.

Please try to visualize our urgent need and take this as an open opportunity to have a real part in spreading the gospel, not only to all nations, but spreading the gospel at home where the need is so obvious and so great.

Your help is greatly and urgently needed and will be deeply appreciated by the church here and, the Bible being true, we are sure you will receive blessings "An Hundred Fold."

Donations toward our building fund will be greatly appreciated and receipts for same will be forwarded to the donor.

Address all inquiries, donation, and letters of encouragement and guidance to Church of Christ, Idaho Falls, Idaho.

158 N. Ridge Ave., Idaho Falls, Idaho.

IMPROVING CONGREGATIONAL SINGING

Paul H. Epps

December 17, the Firm Foundation will send forth a special issue on the all important subject, "Improving Congregational Singing." Several splendid articles have been prepared by various preachers and song directors of the church. These timely articles will be published for the purpose of inspiring each Christian to put forth more effort in the improvement of gospel singing, individually and collectively.

Several thousand extra copies will be published and distributed, and each congregation should encourage every member to receive a copy. It would be well to send one to an interested friend who may be drawn closer to the truth. In order that the congregation may be moved to a greater zeal in improving the song service, the articles may be used in talks in young people's classes, ladies' classes, men's classes, at mid-week services and over radio programs. It is our hope that this special issue shall serve the purpose for which it was intended—to stimulate more interest in improving our song services, both physically and spiritually, and to cause each member of the body of Christ to place the proper valuation upon a subject that has too long been neglected.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

J. T. Marlin, Sweetwater, Texas: We had one of our largest audiences Sunday morning. A Baptist lady was baptized at the evening service.

Malcom P. Hinckley, Huntington Park, California, October 23: One more has been baptized here and another has placed membership with us. Attendance and contributions continue to grow. Last Wednesday saw us set two new attendance records.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, October 21: Brother Richard Rivers, formerly of Nashville, Tennessee, and now the head of the music department at Huntingdon College here in Montgomery, is presently working with the Catoma Street congregation as song director. He is great in his field.

A. J. Kerr, 1203 Vilas Avenue, Madison, Wisconsin, October 19: I have been with the Madison congregation for almost three months. During this time, four have placed membership and two have been baptized. James D. Willeford and Robert W. Lawrence have done a good work in this field. Brother Lawrence is still with the congregation and is a good co-worker.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, October 20: Two hundred and fifty-seven were at prayer meeting Wednesday night—a new record. Two hundred and seventy at Bible school—also a new record. We never have "rally days," special services or special speakers. Brother W. R. Smith, vice president, Abilene Christian College, spoke on Monday night to the teaching force. Brother Clem W. Hoover spoke effectively at prayer meeting hour.

Allen L. Yowell, 207 W. 1st, Claremore, Oklahoma: The Central church of Christ in Claremore in times past has had some division. We want the brethren to know that the church is now united. We are in sore need of a new building and are making plans to start a new one in the spring. For the past two months the average Bible study attendance has been 83. In the last eight months seven have placed membership with the church and eight have been baptized, one last Lord's day. Our average contribution is about $115. No church can grow if it is divided against itself. We are growing and working together.

O. C. Hartsell, Minden, Louisiana, 612 Elm St., October 23: Sister Hartsell is out of the hospital, but recovering slowly due to complications. The church is busy here doing religion in Jesus' name. One of our young members, Brother J. Will Sims, who is in the service of our country over in Korea, wrote his parents of the needs of our Korean brethren made destitute by the war. The churches in this area responded liberally after being informed about it. Christianity in practice speaks louder than Christianity in words. Words without deeds are vain. Minden and Evergreen churches of Christ are alternating each month a song service. Brother DeLuky is local evangelist for the Evergreen church and doing a good work. Brother Thompson, one of our elders, has been confined to his bed for some time. Pray for him and the work here. May we march on in Jesus' name.

Leslie W. Grant, Mentone, Indiana, October 21: Our two weeks meeting closed with six responses, four being baptisms and two restorations. Interest was fine throughout.

William Reeves, 2 Keer Ave., Apt. 504, Newark, New Jersey, October 20: The address of the new Central Church of Christ will be, beginning the first Sunday in November, 6 West Park St., Newark, N. J., instead of 982 Broad St., Newark, N. J.

Cleon Lyles, Little Rock, Arkansas, October 19: The 9th and Columbia church in Plainview, Texas, closed a meeting the 14th in which I preached. Six were baptized, six restored, and two placed membership. J. P. Crinshaw and Bobby Hoover are doing good work with this congregation.

C. S. Doggett, 1201 Vine Avenue, Martinez, California: The work moves along nicely since we moved into our new auditorium. Several new congregations in this part of the country add to the zest and interest of more disciples. We need more preachers in this part of the country. When passing this way, worship with us. May we work while it is still day!

Choice L. Bryant, 165 South 15th Street, Salem, Oregon, October 19: Recently four have been added to our local membership: two by baptism and two by transfer. Brother-warder K. Novak, Snyder, Texas, is to serve us in Salem as visiting evangelist beginning October 22 through November 1. I am to serve as visiting evangelist in a campaign with the Eastside congregation in Portland, Oregon, the latter part of November.

D. H. Perkins, 2070 South Grant, Denver, Colorado, October 22: Two adults were baptized and one placed membership during a recent meeting at Coweta, Oklahoma. J. R. Patterson, preacher of the church, and Roger Todd who led the singing, drove down each night from Central Christian College, Bartlesville, and brought other young people. On the Lord's day of the meeting, a new attendance record was established for the Bible study. During my absence from Denver one of the elders and another of the brethren did the preaching. Since my return, we have baptized one, restored one, and had one to place membership.

W. B. Cox, Mason, Texas, October 22: Recently, I was away from the work here for two weeks. During that time, I was invited to preach for the Meadowbrook church in Fort Worth where Brother Preston Cotham preaches. Brother Cotham is doing a good work in Fort Worth. Two hundred and fifty were present on the Wednesday night I preached there. While away, it was a privilege to preach for the church at Haskell, Texas, where Brother Fred Custis is the very capable preacher. The work there is on the move from all that we saw. After my sermon there on Sunday evening, a group of singers from Southwestern Christian College sang. Brother Leon Ramsey came with them to talk concerning the hopes of this school concerning its future. The work in Mason continues on in the same good way. This is a fine congregation to work for in the Lord. When coming this way, be sure to stop by and worship with us.

Wayne Hargrove, Houston 21, Texas, October 9: Last Sunday, here at MacGregor Park, there were eleven invitation responses: one confessed faults, two were restored and placed membership, five placed membership, and three were baptized (one Catholic and two Baptists). The past two Sunday nights and Wednesday nights we have set all-time attendance records. Eleven new deacons are being appointed.

Homer Putnam Reeves, 2442 W. Jefferson, Dallas, Texas, October 19: Two were baptized and two received by transfer at Sunset on October 18. My meeting with Peak and East Side, Dallas, resulted in twelve responses.

Dale Sexson, Andrews, Texas: Hulen Jackson just closed a fine meeting with the church here. Seven were baptized, four were restored and several records in attendance were broken during the meeting. Since the meeting one has been baptized and one identified. The work here has never looked better.

Herb Swinney, Box 7, Coleman, Texas: Two baptized, two restored and one placed membership in last Sunday's services of the Coleman church. Both ladies baptized were Methodists; one for over forty years. These baptized were results of local radio work. Our mid-week attendance for the last month has been above 400. Peace and harmony prevail among the members.

L. F. Mills, 156 East Baker Street, Batesville, Arkansas, October 19: I enjoyed a good meeting with the church in Massillon, Ohio, recently in which two were baptized, two restored and some identifying themselves with the congregation. The meeting was unusually well attended. One made confession of sin at our local services yesterday. I am to begin a mission meeting at Mt. Pleasant, Arkansas, tonight. Prospects are good for a good meeting at this place.

Luther Savage, Rosen Heights Church, Ft. Worth, Texas, October 12: The last eight days have shown great advancement for the cause of Christ here. Two have been baptized and four have confessed error. One of those who confessed sin and requested the prayers of the church was J. Willard Morrow. For his benefit we would like it to be known that he is now accepted in full fellowship by the church here. We believe that the troubles that this church has endured for several years are now over. The four months that I have been here have been eventful and well spent.

Lloyd E. Ellis, 231 Fourth Avenue, Chula Vista, California, October 23: The work in Chula Vista is moving right along. Seventeen additions in the first seventeen weeks since I have been here. We hope that we can keep up this average of at least one each week. We now have 85 names on our membership list. We have just recently remodeled the dwelling on our lot and are living in it. (Correspondence please note change of address from 135 Garrett Ave.) Plans are being made to begin construction of our auditorium on the front of this lot. At present we continue to meet in the Community Building located at Fifth Avenue and H Street. (The building faces Elder Drive just off Fifth). If you have friends living here, or in San Diego, send me names and addresses and I shall try to assist them in locating the church. Visit with us when you come this way. There are 25,000 or more people in Chula Vista and we hope to build a strong congregation. The climate is ideal throughout the year.

Frank J. Dunn, Peak and East Side, Dallas, Texas, October 12: Homer P. Reeves did the preaching in our fall meeting. There were 12 responses. During September 24 responded, of whom seven were baptized.

Church of Christ, Rolling Fork, Mississippi, Box 112: About a dozen families in the Rolling Fork area have recently begun meeting in the court house for worship, as the distance to the nearest congregation is more than twenty miles. We have purchased and are paying for two lots and have begun a Building Fund. We would greatly appreciate any help from churches or individuals wishing to assist us in our undertaking.

L. Arnold Watson, 7450 Chase Road, Dearborn, Michigan, October 22: John D. Cox of Florence, Alabama, closed our fall meeting last night. Two were restored and one baptized. This was Brother Cox's second meeting with Dearborn and he is well loved by all. This meeting was the most consistently attended meeting, by the membership, since I've been at Dearborn. Also, a good number of non-members were in attendance. I begin Monday night, October 26, at Fountain Square, Indianapolis, with David Bobo, to last through November 4. This will be my final meeting for this year. Our building expansion work is about completed and we should be occupying our new educational unit soon.

Elbert R. Garretson, 1110 East Santa Fe, Fullerton, California, October 21: I've just concluded another meeting with the fine congregation in Mesa, Arizona. The previous meeting was in November, 1952. Ten responded to the gospel invitation: six were baptized, three restored, and one was identified. This meeting presented many joys to us all. The local evangelist, Brother Urie T. Poissall is a gallant co-worker and he spent his ability, his energies and time well during this meeting. Brethren Ray Randall and Johnnie King were selected as elders during this meeting and the congregation stands with them to the last man. These two men obeyed the gospel in a meeting conducted in Mesa some years ago by Brother Gatewood, following his debate with Kenneth Farnsworth, the Mormon. Interest in the work in Fullerton is fine and the work is going forward.

Ralph Russell, Box 444, Carrizo Springs, Texas: The "new look" on the front page of the Firm Foundation is most attractive. The paper is continuing to do much good in its chosen field. May your efforts prosper. Since last report, there have been two baptisms. The church conducted a gospel meeting, September 20-27, with Brother O. M. Reynolds doing the preaching. Gospel lessons were presented each evening, the seed of the kingdom was sown in the hearts of many outsiders. Brother Edgar Furr, Crystal City, did a splendid work in leading the singing during this meeting. Praise be to God for the increase as his seed is "planted" and "watered" (1 Cor. 3:6). Visit with these brethren when you pass this way. Remember the cause here when coming before the throne of grace.

NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

Church of Christ meets at Catalpa Avenue and Kecoughtan Road, Route 60, between Newport News and Hampton, Virginia. Telephone 22037 Newport News. Address 1124 25th Street, Newport News, Virginia, B. H. Atkinson, Minister.

Billy Norris, Box 294, Searey, Arkansas, October 24: During this week at the College church there have been six baptisms and fourteen restorations. More than seventy have responded to the invitation since the first of July.

Herbert L. Newman, 559 West Mariposa Drive, San Antonio, Texas, October 12: The Highland and West Avenue congregations of San Antonio are conducting a radio program every Sunday morning on KMAC, 630 kc., from 8:15 to 8:30. We believe that much good will be accomplished as a result of this radio work. One was baptized and two placed membership at the West Avenue church Sunday.

Luther Savage, Rosen Heights church, Ft. Worth, Texas, October 21: Last week we closed a lectureship here at Rosen Heights congregation. We listened to the preaching of J. Woodie Holden, J. P. Williams, Leroy Brownlow, Abe Lincoln, Jess Hall, Wesley Mickey, Dillard Thurman, and Claude Guild. There was one confession of error during the lectureship. We feel that the whole church has benefited by fine preaching of these good men.

Melvin J. Wise, 4216 Stanhope Avenue, Dallas, Texas, October 20: On October 14, I closed a meeting with the church in Clarksville, Tennessee. Brother C. W. Brannam is zealously at work in Clarksville, building up a strong church with the support and co-operation of his brethren. Two were baptized during the meeting. I promised to return for another meeting in 1957. The Lord willing, I shall be with the Culbertson Heights church in Oklahoma City in a gospel meeting, November 1-8. Brother Avis C. Wiggins of Lewisburg, Tennessee, a former preacher for the Preston Road church here in Dallas, will do the preaching in our fall meeting, November 15-22.

William F. Lemons, 906 West 10th Street, North Platte, Nebraska, October 13: The work on our new building has begun. It is hoped that we can enclose it by bad weather with the funds we have. It is estimated that the completed building will cost around $15,000. We now have $6071 in our building fund, with nothing to substantially increase it in sight. Our need of a building is great in this hub-city of Central Nebraska. We have also recently begun a new program on Sunday morning entitled: "The Voice of the Restoration." We are hoping to get enough help from members over the country to keep this program on the air. Send all contributions to help on the meeting house to the Church of Christ, North Platte, Nebraska. All contributions will be promptly acknowledged.

Howard D. Parker, 7910 Rugby Avenue, Birmingham, Alabama, October 19: One has been baptized and one confessed wrongs and several have been identified with the 77th Street congregation since last report.

R. K. Akers, 1121 Military Road, Niagara Falls, New York, October 20: Three were baptized last Lord's day as we began our second year here. We have hopes for a continued good work. I preached in a well attended and inspiring gospel meeting with the Fennel Avenue church of Christ, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, September 27 to October 11. I am scheduled to be with the comparatively new congregation in Petersburg, Indiana, November 1-11.

Hugh M. Tiner, Los Angeles, California, October 22: October 4 through 11, I had the privilege of working with the 7th and G congregation in Temple, Texas, in a gospel meeting. This is a fine congregation. Large audiences were present daily at 7:10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. James LeFan, regular minister here, was a fine co-worker in this special effort. Together we talked personally with many people in Temple. There were eight responses—six baptisms, one restoration, and one by transfer of membership. At the conclusion of the meeting interest was at a high pitch. Others expressed their plan to obey the gospel soon. Oslyn White, graduate of Pepperdine College, directed the song service in an excellent manner.

Wayne Hargrove, 5317 South Park Boulevard, Houston 21, Texas, October 20: Last Sunday there were nine more responses here at MacGregor Park congregation: one confessed faults, three were restored and placed membership, three others placed membership, and a man and wife were baptized.

Joe S. Hyde, Jacksonville, North Carolina, October 18: Our attendance and contributions seem to be increasing each service. One young man who was a Catholic has been baptized into Christ. If you know of anyone in Camp Lejeune, whether a member of the church or not, please notify me at P. O. Box 576 and I will be glad to contact them and do what I can to teach them the truth. Have a part in this great mission field where the church is almost unknown, and has been neglected for so long.

Reginald Beaver, Box 184, Delta, Colorado: The meeting in Alamosa, Colorado, in which I did the preaching was very successful. Two were baptized and one confession of faults. Several people heard the gospel for their first time, due to the work of the brethren. The work in Delta continues in a fine way. One was baptized at the Wednesday night service last week. We meet at 5 p.m. on Sundays for our evening service. This is proving beneficial to us in that we have more visitors and we also are privileged to visit with other congregations on the Western Slope. Visit with us, when you are in this area.

R. C. Copeland, Jr., 410 South College Avenue, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, October 24: The church of Christ in Tahlequah is on the march. It continues to grow in every way. New attendance records are being set almost weekly. This is a friendly church and welcomes all visitors who travel through this old national capitol of the Cherokee nation. Personal evangelism is the need of the church today. Each Christian should learn how to do personal teaching.

Albert F. Brown, Box 576, Quitman, Texas, October 24: Our meeting with Brother Oram J. Swinney of Greggton, Texas, closed on October 21st. Brother Swinney did his work well and his humble spirit gained the love and admiration of all. The interest and attendance were good and some say this is one of the best meetings in the history of the congregation here. There were two baptisms and many of the city heard the gospel preached. It was a real pleasure to be associated with Brother Swinney in this meeting. We look forward to greater things for the Master in this area.

James D. Record, Box 1465, Crane, Texas, October 20: After eighteen months' labor with the Ellis Homes church, Big Spring, Texas, we moved to Crane on August 1 to work with the good congregation of saints here. Our stay promises to be fruitful and pleasant, as the brethren have a mind to work and are led by zealous bishops. To date there have been twenty-five to answer the invitation, fifteen being added to the church and the rest confessing sins. Eight of these came during the meeting in which Brother Tom Wallace of Hobbs, N. M., did the preaching in a fine way. Correspondents, please note my new address.

WANTED a middle aged full time gospel preacher, by the church of Christ of Tolar, Texas. For information write church of Christ, Tolar, Texas.

Weldon B. Bennett, 1716—22nd St., Lubbock, Texas, October 22: My family and I landed in New York September 1, after more than four years' work in Germany. We plan to return to Germany on January 15, 1954. I have preached in meetings the last few weeks at Big Sandy, Texas, and Jackson Avenue, Memphis, Tennessee. We are now in a good meeting with Riverside in Fort Worth with four baptisms, five restorations to date. November 8-22 we shall be in a meeting at Compton, Calif.

John McCoy, Box 65, Nocona, Texas, October 17: We have just concluded a meeting with Brother Jimmy Bays of Wichita, Kansas, a former minister of this congregation, doing the preaching. Two were baptized and two placed membership. I have preached in four meetings and directed the singing for two others this year. The church in Nocona continues to grow. With a membership of 265, we had 285 in Bible classes Sunday and used chairs to seat the morning audience. Brother Bill Hearn, supported by this congregation has been sent to Huron, S. D., to preach for the small group there.

Sterl A. Watson, 1284 Morton Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, October 23: I have recently closed meetings with the Garfield Heights church in Indianapolis, Ind. These meetings were a perfect pleasure. This is likely the largest congregation in the state. They are in the process of building a $75,000 annex to their present plant. W. L. Totty began work in Indianapolis about sixteen years ago, with less than fifty members. Their audiences now range up to near 500 per Sunday. With a good eldership and a co-operative membership, Brother Totty has accomplished much. This church has grown despite the heckling of hobbyists and their soft sympathizers. This church does not use men for leading parts of the services who are habitually absent from the Sunday night and Wednesday night services. This is a good example for other churches. They have a good mission program, and do a great deal of charity work. Two were baptized during the meetings. Four were baptized and two were restored here at home, Sunday. Our collection was $521.00.

Bill Andrews, Brownfield, Texas, October 20: Here is a report on the work here at Southside in Brownfield, Texas. We have had ten persons to respond to the Lord's invitation during the two months I have been with the church here. One of these was a former Catholic woman who now knows and loves the truth.

J. Loyd Rice, 400 E. 3rd St., Casa Grande, Arizona, October 19: We closed a good meeting here at Casa Grande yesterday with Brother Norman Kenner of Chandler, Arizona, doing the preaching. Brother Kenner did his part well and the cooperation of the congregation was fine. One was restored yesterday morning. It was my happy privilege to preach at Chandler both services yesterday while Brother Kenner was here. It was an enjoyable experience for me. By the grace of God the work in the valley continues to prosper.

Thos. McDonald, Waco, Texas: Beginning the first of the year, I am to work with the church at Lockney, Texas. The East Waco congregation is interested in finding a good man to begin here as soon as I am gone. The membership numbers about two hundred. The church has a nice building, with new classrooms added this year. It also owns a home for the preacher. The elders are good clean men, and sound in the faith. In fact I do not know of a more pleasant work than this. There are congregations with a greater field, but I do not know of a better group to work with than these brethren. If you are interested, send correspondence to the elders of East Waco Church of Christ, 301 Hood Street, Waco, Texas, or to W. E. Richardson, Care of Miller Produce, Waco, Texas.

Harvey Childress, 1520 E. Minnehaha Pkwy., Minneapolis 17, Minnesota: Yesterday I had the privilege of once again helping launch a brand new work in a city in the United States where the church has been unknown. Knowing a few service men were stationed at Duluth, Minn., who had no place to worship, my wife and I drove up there for the week-end and to try to get them started in a meeting. We found Brother and Sister Melvin Krumrei had moved there to help with the Lord's work, so we teamed with them, and got the work going. The first service was held in the YMCA with fourteen present, four being non-members. Three Christians made acknowledgements for neglect of duty. Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wisc., are the "Twin Ports" at the head of Lake Superior. Over 150,000 people live in the two cities. We want to make every effort to contact members and interested people who live in the area. If you know of any, write Brother Melvin Krumrei, Route 3, Box 440-B, Duluth, Minn.

Charles J. Horton, Route 4, Box 24H, Corpus Christi, Texas, October 20: Seven have been added to the church here during the last week. Last week in fulfilling the request of a man of German and Scotch-Irish descent, we drove twenty miles to a location on the Nueces river where he was baptized. His wife, born in Poland, was also "buried with him in baptism" on the same occasion.

W. L. Fritts, Winnsboro, Texas, October 19: We have just closed a very fine meeting here in Winnsboro, Texas. Claude Robertson of Haskell, Oklahoma, did the preaching, and his lessons were well delivered, and just as well received by all who heard him. Brother Lum Presley directed the song service, and the singing was fine indeed. We had four to answer the invitation: two to be baptized and two to be restored to their first love. The church here seems to have taken on new courage. There are great days ahead.

F. B. Shepherd, 1732 Keeaumoku, Honolulu, T. H.: Another young matron was baptized Lord's day. Beloved, when coming to Hawaii, contact us at 1732 Keeaumoku, phone 6-7952. We do not want you to miss worshipping with us in Honolulu. The Punahou-University Bus stops within two blocks of the building. Work on the first unit of our fire and termite proof building to replace the present badly damaged structure should begin by January 1. We still lack several thousand dollars of having enough to justify letting the contract. Many of you Service or Ex-Service persons who have lived on Oahu could render us a great deal of assistance and also make it easier for others, following you if you would contribute regularly or occasionally to the Building Fund and perhaps interest others. Theoretically a building should have nothing to do with evangelism. Practically, every one who had had experience knows it is a tremendous factor in getting people's interest aroused. Regular services here at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Lord's days, and at 7:30 on Wednesdays.

Grover C. Ross, Portales, New Mexico, October 14: Brother H. P. Cooper of Dinuba, California, assisted us in our fall meeting, which resulted in two baptisms, two restorations, and several replacing membership. The church was greatly edified from the fine lessons that Brother Cooper brought. Since the meeting one has been baptized and several identified. We have never had better interest during the eight years I have been associated with this church.

Lawrence Hazelip, 1509 William Street, Valdosta, Georgia, October 20: The Central Avenue church of Valdosta has sent Brother Paul Cantrell of Atlanta to Douglas to help in planting the New Testament cause in this city. Brother Cantrell began his labors there on October 1st. The church in Douglas is presently meeting in the American Legion building on the Alma Road. Services are held here on Lord's day morning and evening. The mid-week services will be held in the homes of the members. If you know of members in or around Douglas, write Brother Paul Cantrell, Box 85, Douglas, Ga., Telephone 960R. There are still 107 counties in Georgia without a single congregation of the Lord's people meeting in them. May God bless our efforts to spread the cause of Christ in this territory. The congregation here of approximately 300 members is supporting four men full time in this territory.

Ed Grantham, Marshall, Texas, October 21: Since our last report from the South Washington church in Marshall, our hearts have been made to rejoice and we trust that God has been glorified by the response at this place. We have had a total of 22 responses with eight baptisms and 14 restorations and memberships. We have been located in Marshall for the last six and one-half months, and this brings the total of responses to 44 for this period, with 21 baptisms and 23 restorations and memberships. This congregation is blessed with good elders and deacons with a mind to work. Where scriptural elders are selected, the church cannot help but grow. Both congregations in Marshall are making steady growth.

Urie T. Poissall, 443 Robin Lane, Mesa, Arizona, October 17: Last Sunday night we closed a very successful meeting in which Elbert R. Garretson did the preaching. There were ten additions, six by baptism. Two men, Ray Randall and Johnnie King, who were baptized by Otis Gatewood in the first meeting held by the Mesa church, were installed as overseers. In addition to being the first fruits of the church here, these men have all the qualifications to a noticeable degree.

V. M. Gilbert, General Delivery, Olney, Illinois, October 20: I enjoyed preaching through a very fine meeting of two weeks with Farmersburg, Ind., with visible results of one being baptized and two placing membership. There was a basket dinner in the city park with an afternoon meeting September 27th with an estimated nearly 400 people assembled, 31 congregations represented and several preaching brethren present. I began here with Olney, Ill., the night of October 12th. Attendance and interest are good. This is the home of Brothers Lyle A. Berry, Elmer Craig, William Reed, Luhter Toliver and Loyal Hall, all good gospel preachers. I expect to close this meeting the night of the 25th and then be home for four days with my next meeting to be with Wauneta, Nebr., beginning the first day of November.

Paul S. Gray, Box 573, Bowie, Texas, October 24: The meeting in Ashland, Kentucky, was well attended. Cooperation of surrounding congregations was fine. One was baptized and his wife restored from the Christian church. W. B. Freeman serves this congregation. The last Sunday afternoon of the meeting I preached to a fine audience at Linnville, Ohio. The meeting at Shaw Avenue in Cleveland, Ohio, was also well attended. One was restored and two placed membership. The first Sunday of the meeting I spoke to the newly-established congregation at Ravenna, Ohio. Conditions look favorable for a successful work there. Five have placed membership here since my last report. Tomorrow evening I speak on the lectureship at Alvord and November 2 I begin a meeting in the new meeting house at Levelland, Texas, to continue through the 11th.

H. B. Gist, 636 Steves, San Antonio 10, Texas, October 19: Four were baptized at Highland Hills, 303 Burkedale, the past two Lord's days. Faith, love, peace and work is the order of the day with us.

A. C. Wickham, Roscoe, Ohio, October 19: I am now in a good meeting at the Wolf Creek Church of Christ near Malta. The church house is more than one hundred years old. This is a splendid congregation. Brother Herbert Bankes is an efficient song leader. Good church cooperation in these parts. Last night I spoke to the largest crowd they have had for many years. We have had a large attendance from the beginning.

Clarence A. Price, Waco, Texas, October 18: Two placed membership at the morning service today. Our crowds are growing by the week. We hope to have extra seats in the auditorium soon. Any that may have sons or daughters stationed at the James Connally Air Base in Waco may contact me at the above address. We will call on them. This congregation is the nearest to the Base.

Voyd N. Ballard, 408 West Marengo Avenue, Shafter, California: On September 27, I closed my work with the church in Woodville, Calif. This was the second time that I had lived and labored with these good people. My relationship with them was pleasant, and remains so. They have made arrangements with Brother Jack Freeman to work with them. The Lord willing I am to return to Woodville for a four nights debate with M. J. Duncan, Missionary Baptist, on November 30, and running through December 3 of this year. I will affirm baptism for the remission of sins the first two nights, and Mr. Duncan will affirm impossibility of apostasy the last two nights. The debate will be conducted in the church building in Woodville and will begin at eight o'clock each evening. On October 4 I began work with the church in Shafter, California. This seems to be a good sound congregation, under a good eldership. My mailing and home address is 408 West Marengo Avenue, Shafter, Calif., and my telephone number is 9542.

George B. Curtis, Siloam Springs, Arkansas, October 21: It was the purpose of wife and me when our family was reared for me to enter the field of evangelism. About the time we were able to begin this work, our daughter, Faye, passed away and we reared her only child—a son. He is now a senior in high school and after his graduation it will no longer be necessary for us to stay at one place all the time. We plan to move to our home at Clarksville in July of 1954. At that time we shall have been with the fine congregation here for two years. The church is at peace and growing. We love them and they love us. No finer group of Christians can be found. The Siloam Springs church has a wonderful future. We are not leaving local work for lack of a job, or a place to go. Opportunities present themselves for good local work every little while, for which we are indeed grateful. Holding gospel meetings has always been my first love—so much so that sometimes it hurts the local work where I labor. I want to bring as many of the lost to Christ as is possible before I must lay aside the sword of the Spirit. The annual encampment sponsored by the Siloam Springs church of Christ begins July 4. I shall work through that and then be at home at my Clarksville address. Congregations that which to use me after that date will please contact me. I shall be ready to serve all—large or small. May God's blessings and your prayers go with us into this much needed field.

Great Songs of The Church

(600 Hymns and Gospel Songs, Alphabetically Arranged).

Fabricated by the Rand McNally Company

A million or more already sold, 5000 churches, and now outselling all previous years.

Available Editions, Present Prices, Terms and Code Letters:

(Prices are the same in any quantity).

The following code letters, SN, RNR, or DLX, may be safely used for mail or wire orders:

SN: Shape notes, blue and gold, No Responsive Readings.....$1.10 postpaid

RNR: Round Notes (Standard imprint), with Responsive Readings.....$1.30 "

DLX: De Luxe Gift and Pulpit Edition, shape notes only.....$5.00 "

☛ All orders will be filled from shape-note stock, unless RNR is specified.

The extra cost for name of church in gold is $10 for each one hundred books or less than hundred. Single copy, lettered, will cost $2 total, postpaid, whether SN or RNR. Lettering delays dispatch a week.

All books are bound in blue, all are uniform in music content, and all are in the "streamlined" size: 5 3/4 by 8 1/4 by 7/8 inch thick. All have braided, ravel-proof bookmark, colored headbands, tinted edges with matching fly leaves, water-proofed cover cloth (pyroxylin treated). All have presentation page, and the closing song at the back, "Beyond the Sunset," harmonized for Mixed Quartet by E.L.J.

☛ OUR WELL-KNOWN TERMS MUST BE CAREFULLY RESPECTED.

The rule has long been "Cash with order, or C.O.D."—for the books and fees. No charge accounts are opened with customer, church or dealer. No bookkeeping, no billing; small margin, no losses.

"Dealers" recognized are authorized book stores, and general religious journals; not church bulletins or general stores. Dealers must send their own printed labels, one for each carton of forty books.

Wrong books sent out, if by our error, will be exchanged, of course; but write us for instructions first.

Telegram and Telephone orders will be filled, but only C.O.D., full price. The Chicago office now handles wire orders, as well as all mail orders, and can be reached (except Saturdays) by telegram, or by long distance person call, directed to: "Miss Emery, GSP; ESsex 5-5400, Chicago."

☛ SPECIAL NOTICE TO DEALERS: NEW DISCOUNT RATES

Bookstores and journals have sold over half of the million or more books that are out. In the aggregate, and with but little outlay of space or effort, these dealers have picked up a clear profit of over a hundred thousand dollars off the book—far more than the publisher's net, because of the small margin on which we operate. The cooperation of the dealers is deeply appreciated; and the publisher regrets the necessity of announcing a cut in the discount rate—from the current allowance of 20c per copy to 15c, effective at once.

For those dealers who generally pay postage on other book sales, this 15c, postpaid, may be fully as good as 20c would be on the customary procedure of charging the postage back against the dealer; and our prepaid method is certainly more convenient. Great Songs Press has always paid postage within the U.S.A. And now, on our price of $1.25 for delivery in Canada and foreign countries (our only price change), we will attempt to pay the transport costs to any point in the world, without extra billing. We want to get away from all billing.

Inflation finally forced a choice upon us—whether to raise the selling price, cheapen the book mechanically, or reduce the dealer discount. The hymnal has had a very great year, and 50,000 copies of the SN edition are now being fabricated—at highest manufacturing cost in our history. (The Standard made a like number of the RNR edition earlier in the year.) We could have raised the price; but such changes are unwelcome, confusing, and inflationary. We could have cheapened the book—invisibly too! But we didn't. Never has the hymnal been fabricated on higher standards than this beautiful edition (the 33rd) which is now in the work. The only other course was to cut the discount to the dealers. We think they understand and will continue to cooperate with us, as we shall with them in every possible way.

All Direct and Urgent Orders Should Be Telephoned as Above or Addressed:

GREAT SONGS PRESS, 124 W. Monroe St., Room 920, CHICAGO 3, ILLINOIS

P.S.: We recently sold a set of SN plates to interested brethren in the deep Southwest with full rights to produce and distribute their own parallel edition from Abilene, Texas. We wish them all success in their field.

TRAINED SINGERS WANTED FOR RADIO-TELEVISION HYMN CHORUS, IN CHICAGO

Here is a MOST UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY for lovers of Gospel Singing who can qualify. It is believed that this particular Hymn Chorus, composed of some of America's foremost Gospel Singers, is destined to become one of the WORLD'S GREATEST SPONSORED RADIO-TELEVISION PROGRAMS.

In a recent article in the Firm Foundation, M. Norvel Young said, "How about considering Christ in your location? Are you living where you can do the most good for the kingdom? Have you ever thought of moving to the town or city or country where you honestly believe you can do more for the church of the Lord than where you now live?" To those three splendid questions, we say: If YOU are a FAITHFUL MEMBER OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST with a WELL-TRAINED VOICE and MUSICAL BACKGROUND; and if you can move to this city within a reasonable length of time, it will pay you to write us AT ONCE! Graduates from Christian Colleges who majored in voice, please pay special attention to this message. Here is YOUR GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY!

We must have some of the BEST TALENT in the church of Christ for expanding this FINE CHORUS, which incidentally has no connection with the church, as such, but rather is sponsored by a business corporation. Readers who are not interested personally, can help OTHERS who may qualify (and thus indirectly help the church) by calling their attention to this unique announcement. We want EVERY man and woman who can meet our qualifications, throughout the entire brotherhood, to KNOW of this RARE CONNECTION. This includes not only individual singers, but also quartets, trios and other combinations of TRAINED VOICES!

FULL TIME EMPLOYMENT with EXCELLENT PAY and a GREAT FUTURE is assured to the TRUE CHRISTIAN men and women who qualify for this choral work.

NOTE

We also have openings for others who are not trained singers. However, ALL whom we employ MUST be FAITHFUL members of the church of Christ (no drinkers and preferably no smokers) who have high regard for Christian principles in business, with intelligence, ambition and vision. Excellent PAY with a great future!

If YOU are SINCERE, capable of MAKING UP YOUR OWN MIND for ACTION and if you really LOVE THE CHURCH enough to WORK FOR IT, in addition to YOUR BUSINESS CONNECTION WITH US, then here is a great CHALLENGE to YOU!

We have openings for EXECUTIVES, SALES MANAGERS, FIELD REPRESENTATIVES, CLERICAL WORKERS and OTHERS.

In reply (whether you are a singer or a non-singer), please give age, education, experience, number in family, name of church with which identified and general information about yourself. A small picture will be appreciated.

SPECIAL EDITION

World-Wide Evangelism

Let Us Enter In

M. Norvel Young

This issue is devoted to reports from Christians in lands outside the United States, lands where the gospel is being preached with the assistance of Christians in this country. Jesus Christ has not changed his marching orders to his disciples. Those of us who believe so strongly that "he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" must not ignore the verse just preceding which commands us to "go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (Mark 16:15, 16).

Every Christian is enjoined to devote himself to preaching Christ as he has opportunity. Some can preach him to those across the street and some to those across the ocean, but he must be preached for the gospel is God's power to save.

We are seeking to restore New Testament Christianity in its purity. This means we must restore the love for lost souls, the missionary zeal of primitive Christianity. They went everywhere preaching the word. They were not smugly self-satisfied to know the way of salvation themselves. They were under a debt to share it with Jew and Gentile alike. So, if we would go to heaven ourselves, we must devote our time, our talents, and our money to sharing Christ in all his simplicity and power with everyone we can reach.

Preaching the gospel at home and abroad is not an elective. It is not just for certain Christians and certain churches of Christ to be concerned with. It is an essential! It is imperative if we would be saved eternally ourselves. A church that is not characterized by love for lost souls, that does not seek to the best of its ability to spread the gospel to every creature, lacks that much in being a true church of the Lord's. New Testament Christianity is essentially and dynamically evangelistic.

Whenever we fail to obey any of Christ's commands we suffer the consequences. So when a Christian or a church becomes self-centered, smugly self-satisfied, and loses its zeal for lost souls it must suffer the consequences. First of all such a Christian and such a church will suffer the disapproval of God and Christ and the Holy Spirit. Secondly, it will suffer the consequences of its sin of neglect of the great commission in its spiritual life. God meant for us to be so busy seeking to advance the kingdom, to save those who are out of Christ, to preach the gospel to those who have never heard it that we wouldn't have time to be jealous of one another, to gossip, to be envious, or proud. Once we confine our Christianity to ourselves, "Me and my wife, my son John and his wife, us four and no more" we can expect to be ripe for envy and jealousy, discord and even division.

Just as an idle brain is proverbially "the devil's workshop" so a Christian or a church of Christ which neglects to work for saving souls is easy prey to all the sins of spiritual pride: backbiting, covetousness, strife, deceit, Phariseism, and sectarianism. Christians must obey the command of Christ to go preach him to every creature (to the extent of their ability) or suffer the consequences of hiding their "talent" in the earth.

God will bless Christians and churches who are willing to sacrifice to carry out his will. He will punish those who refuse in this respect as well as in any other respect to do his will. The only safe thing for us to do is to go all out for preaching Christ to the whole world!

To be more specific, what can one Christian or one church do?

1. First, you can become informed as to the opportunities open today for spreading the kingdom. Some fields are riper than others and the gospel in some communities will reap greater harvest than in others. These fields vary in different times. God expects the bishops of the local churches to use their best judgment in deciding where that church can work most effectively in sending the gospel abroad. Paul said: "For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries" (1 Cor. 16:9). There are many such doors open today. Read the reports in this issue and in the news sections of such papers as the Firm Foundation, Gospel Advocate, and Christian Chronicle regularly. Keep up with these matters at least as well as you do with the political and economic news. Ask God for wisdom in using your talents, your time, and your money to the best advantage.

2. Secondly, use your influence to encourage, exhort others to catch the vision of the fields which are white unto harvest. You can do much where you are yourself. You can do more by exhorting others to work with you in sending the gospel out. Talk about the advance of the kingdom. Be enthusiastic about the marvelous growth of the church in the past 25 years. Look ahead and consider what God can do through his people in the next 25 years.

3. Do not underestimate what God can do through you or the church where you work and worship. God is as powerful today as ever. The Holy Spirit can work through the word, "the sword of the Spirit," to convert people to Christ that you would never guess could be converted. Too often pastors or bishops of the church consider only what they can do or what the church can do unaided by God. The church is a spiritual institution. God dwells in each true Christian. One of the greatest mistakes we can make is to underestimate what God can do through us.

Elders like Brother Otto Foster have borne witness that they have been constantly amazed at what a church can do once it launched out into the deep in a program of evangelism at home and abroad. Brethren must be challenged by some concrete program of evangelism before they will give to the limit of their ability. "It actually pays to do mission work" reports Dr. John G. Young, an elder of the Skillman Church of Christ in Dallas. He means that the church has more to do with at home if it follows the Lord's command to preach the gospel to others.

4. Never become discouraged. The devil wants to discourage you. He wants you to think about all the problems you face as a Christian so that you will not get busy sharing Christ with others. If the church waited until everybody was perfect at home before it started preaching abroad it would never start. One of the best ways to improve spiritually, generosity, love, faith, devotion to Christ, soundness of doctrine at home is to get busy sounding the word out to others.

May this issue be used in God's way to stir up thousands of Christians and thousands of churches of Christ to redouble their efforts to carry out Christ's marching orders. This is our prayer as we send it out.

The Cause In The Canal Zone

Reuel Lemmons

There are a few outstanding crossroads of the world. One of them is the Panama Canal Zone. Here converge the shipping lanes of the world. Here is squeezed into a bottleneck fifty miles wide the north-south transportation lines that link the Americas. The strategic importance of this zone, both from a military and cultural standpoint can hardly be envisioned.

Because of these attributes, people of the Canal Zone speak of the mighty ports of the world as if they were next-door whistle stops. And because of this, people from Panama embark for nearly every port every few days. They carry with them the impressions and the ideas they gained in Panama. Some of them have carried the gospel. They were converted there.

Because of its military value, the United States government maintains a great army of men—Marines, Army, Navy, and Air Force—in and about the Canal Zone. These men, together with their families, comprise a population averaging somewhere in the neighborhood of 100,000 souls. They come from every state in the union. They are exactly what the population of any of our military installations in the states would be. On leave, they have no place to go; highway facilities are limited to one fifty-mile road linking the oceans, and another, some fifty miles north into the interior of Panama.

When these people are rotated, they, too, take with them what they have learned. They may return to the states or they may go to India, Africa, England, or Japan. Some of them have taken the gospel. Many of them have learned the truth there, and have been baptized.

We have a church in the Canal Zone. In fact, we now have three congregations in Panama. For several years groups of brethren have met for worship. As military groups were rotated, these bands of brethren moved away. During the early years of World War II, the Central church in Cleburne, Texas, undertook the task of planting permanently the church in the Canal Zone. A 99-year lease was obtained from the government on a very beautiful piece of property, located on Balboa Road, which is the main avenue linking the Canal Zone Panama City just across the line in Panama. This six-lane street carries a staggering amount of traffic.

Upon this property a building valued at about $40,000 was erected and paid for. In connection a home for the preacher was provided and furnished. The Central church has since that time provided partial support of a preacher to work with the church in Waco. The church meets at 0851 Balboa Road. This group. Later they were joined by the Herring Avenue

In the Atlantic side, a group began meeting in the American Legion building in Cristobal, and has grown steadily. Brethren from Balboa have lent encouragement and leadership. This effort, begun by some women, shows promise now of becoming a good strong congregation.

Panama City, outside the Zone in Panama, is a city of about 1,000,000 people. Being the one large city in the Republic it dominates the country. The city police of Panama City are the Public Army of Panama. We have a small congregation of native Panamanians meeting in Rio Abijo, a suburb of Panama City. A young Panamanian is being trained by the brethren in Balboa, and is doing a commendable job of proclaiming the gospel for his people.

The total membership of these three churches will not at this time exceed 100 souls. However, with every passing year the work assumes a more permanent appearance. Because of the military nature of the situation we will always have a transient membership, but gradually we are increasing the number of permanent personnel employees who are Christians. These will be there for years to come.

It is our plan now to try to plant about two more congregations in the Zone, which, together with the two we now have, would make a place of worship accessible to all who are in the Zone. Of course the need for churches outside the Zone in the Republic of Panama is as great as it is anywhere else in the "mission field."

Brother Frank Milton is the present preacher for the Balboa church, and the church address is Box 3003, Balboa, Canal Zone.

New Testament Christianity In Belgium

S. F. Timmerman, Jr.

The churches of Christ first penetrated the Belgian frontier in the summer of 1947, when brethren in Holland and Germany made contacts with interested parties at Pepinster. From the baptism of a few persons in that small town, the church in this country has grown to include three congregations and plans are under way for the beginning of still another.

The first of these congregations had its beginning in a home in Pepinster and has continued to meet, first in homes, later in rented halls, until the present time. Of the twenty-four who have been baptized in that locality, nine are still faithful. Services are conducted each week on Lord's day morning and on Tuesday evening. One of the Belgian brethren in this assembly is an able helper in any assignment except the preaching. Two meetings, by Melvin Anderson and S. F. Timmerman, have been held in the present meeting hall, located on the main street of town.

The group in Liege, which is the third largest city of Belgium with a population of over half a million, had its start, like Pepinster, in a private home in 1948. The first public hall was rented in the beginning of 1950. A total of thirty-three have been baptized in the Liege area, of whom a large number have fallen away. Six gospel meetings have been conducted in that city by Melvin Anderson, S. F. Timmerman and Owen Aikin. The present meeting place is 14, Blvd. de la Constitution, with a local attendance on Sunday of around 15.

The summer of 1950 saw the debut of the work in Verviers, Belgium's textile center. A meeting held in a rented hall resulted in a few baptisms, and regular services were conducted following this effort. Nine people have obeyed the word since that time, six of whom are still in regular attendance. These include some of the most substantial people yet to be reached in Belgium. It is in Verviers that the churches in Belgium have their best hall of meeting, a modern ground-floor auditorium with space for a hundred people, baptistry, dressing rooms and other improvements. This property, as with all other property used by the churches in Belgium, is rented by the month on a three-year contract.

The first evangelist to establish himself for permanent work in Belgium was S. F. Timmerman, who came to this country in the fall of 1948. Living first at Pepinster, now at Verviers, he has labored with all three of the churches now in existence, both in meetings and from week to week. His time is now given in the main to the work in Verviers and Pepinster.

Donald R. Earwood and his family came to Belgium in the summer of 1951, settling temporarily in Liege. They have since moved to Brussels, the capital and largest city of Belgium, where he plans to start a gospel work in the near future. He is also continuing his labors with the brethren in Liege for the present.

The above workers were joined by the Hilton C. Terry family in September of 1952. The Terrys chose to spend a year in Verviers, learning the language and ways of the people before choosing a specific field of labor. They expect to move soon to Brussels, where Brother Terry will work with Brother Earwood in that city of a million souls.

No report on the work in any country would be complete without citing some of the problems and needs connected with it. The problems in Belgium are varied, but may be listed under a few general headings: First of all, the country is bilingual (French and Flemish) and no complete coverage can be given to the country as a whole until there are those who can speak effectively in each language. Until now all the work has been done among the French-speaking population. Again, the country being predominantly Roman Catholic, the majority are steeped in superstition, are ignorant of the Scriptures and are wholly indifferent to the plea to restore New Testament Christianity. However, this problem can be overcome to some extent by surmounting still another: that of making the church known and respected as a permanent institution in Belgium. All the brethren now on the field are laboring to offset these difficulties.

More workers can head the list of needs in any foreign work, and Belgium is no exception. A country with Belgium's heavy population density and strategic location on the European continent should have far more than the three evangelists now working there. Neither should faithful brethren feel themselves unqualified or excused from meeting this challenge. From this country, through language and colonial ties, lines go out to France, Switzerland, Holland, the Belgian Congo and many other points of the globe. Brethren or churches interested in this field should get in touch either with one of the brethren now laboring there or one of the churches which support them: Polytechnic in Fort Worth, Hilston Terry; Sparta, Tennessee, Donald Earwood; or Preston Road in Dallas, S. F. Timmerman.

Canada

J. C. Bailey

What Is Canada Like?

Many people have asked me just that question when I have been in the Southern states. One might as well ask a person what is the United States like. There is a vast difference between the farmer on our Western Plains that grows tens of thousands of bushels of wheat in one year and the fisherman that lives on the rock-bound coast of Newfoundland. Both are cursed with sin, both need a Savior, but there is a vastly different mental outlook. The plains of Texas, and the people that live on those plains, are much more like the people of Saskatchewan than the people of Saskatchewan are like the people in Newfoundland, or the Texan is like the people of the hills of Arkansas. It is not to say one is better or worse than the other but simply that their environment has given them a different outlook on life.

Canada A Colony Of England?

Canada is a nation. We make our own laws. We elect our own government, just as surely as you in your country. Every man and woman over 21 years of age has the right to vote at either a provincial election or a federal election unless, indeed, he be confined to a penitentiary or an insane asylum. We are one of the nations in the British Commonwealth of Nations but we are in no sense a colony of England. There would be just as much sense in talking about England being a colony of Canada as to reverse it.

What Are Canadians Like?

Our country is a new country, our status as a nation is new, but we have developed our own way and become among the nations a nation. There are more members of the church in Fort Worth, Texas, than in all of Canada, yet the church is stronger in Saskatchewan than it is in North Dakota, Montana, South Dakota, Wisconsin, or Minnesota. This growth has not come from people moving in. Instead, we have given scores of members to other provinces as well as the United States. The church is vastly stronger in Ontario than it is in New York or any of the New England States.

Canadians are heroically struggling to maintain two small Christian colleges. Canadians are on the foreign field and they have contributed since the war, thousands of dollars to help with mission work in various enterprises abroad. Brethren, help us evangelize Canada, and while you are at it, we shall help you evangelize the world. There has been enough work done in Canada to show that it is no experiment.

Brother Roper came from Louisiana this spring to Edmonton, Alberta, and the work is going ahead just as fast as you would expect it to go ahead in any northern city in the United States. Brother Alvin Jennings has succeeded as well in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, as he would have succeeded in a similar work under similar conditions in your country. We have one thing here that should be an incentive to one to come to Canada. Every church in Canada is in fellowship with every other church with one exception. Ketcherside has captured one church. His forces are trying to capture another. Brethren here in the past have said to the hobby riders, "You are not wanted." A great many of our brethren use one cup but we do not say to the others we will not fellowship you because you use more. We have brethren that have opposed Christian colleges but they have not thought of such a thing as saying to the other brethren we will not and cannot fellowship you. Come over and help us, but the cause is too weak to bear the foibles of the hobby rider.

The Immensity Of The Task

Canada is larger than the United States including Alaska. Yet in all this vast country there are probably not more than some thirty preachers giving full time to the work. Most of these are in a relatively small part of Canada. True, this is the most densely settled part of Canada but even here the number of preachers is wholly inadequate to the task before them.

Look At The Field

British Columbia is the most western province. There are several small congregations in this province and a number of scattered members but only one full-time preacher. Even he works part time. In Alberta there are two congregations and two or three preachers. There are two other places where the Lord's table is spread each Lord's day. There are two members in each place. Saskatchewan has some twenty-five small congregations, the largest of which has about eighty members. There are three or four full-time preachers. Manitoba has about seven congregations and one or two full-time workers. Ontario has about the same number of congregations as Saskatchewan but they are larger. A few of them exceed the one hundred mark. I do not think the number of full-time workers in Ontario will exceed twenty. In Quebec there are a few members but the light has almost gone out and from there east there are some members but no workers and unless something is done the light will be entirely extinguished when these few die.

The Picture Is Not Black

The work in this vast country is small, pitifully small, but growing. Souls are being baptized into Christ, saints are being strengthened, new meeting houses are being erected to give permanency to the work. The churches in Ontario are working to build up weak congregations and enter new places in Ontario. Brother James O'Neal is laboring to start the work in new places in Northern Ontario. My own brother is at Kingston, Ontario, in an effort to start a new work there. Winnipeg is looking for full-time workers in that city. Saskatchewan has plans for new work and workers. Alberta has two men in Edmonton to start and to build up the work in that fast-growing city. Many in British Columbia are alert and anxious.

The word is going out over the air from a number of stations and good results have been obtained in this way.

Two gospel papers are printed in Canada and both have obtained a good reputation in their effort to preach the word. If any of the readers of this article would like a copy of these papers you may write to the Canadian Christian, Box 700, Thorold, Ontario, or to the Gospel Herald, Radville, Sask, Canada, Box 6.

What Can Be Done?

The answer is obvious. The work that is being done in Edmonton should be multiplied one hundredfold. The work that is being done in Saskatoon is proof enough of what can be done. Last year there was a school teacher in British Columbia that was hundreds of miles from the nearest congregation yet he taught the word as opportunity afforded. There have been five baptized. As I type these lines an interesting meeting is in progress in this community. We need scores of men such as Brother Earl Severson to take the gospel into these new places.

Come over and help us. Come with the gospel but leave your hobbies behind. We are not strong enough to carry an extra burden.

Brother preacher, that is interested in what is called mission work, you can double your usefulness in Canada for we shall help you to carry the gospel to regions beyond, even while our birth pangs are upon us.

'Monte Vide Eu!'

David Marshall Hadwin

In 1520, Ferdinand Magellan and his men were off the south-eastern coast of South America when suddenly one of them cried out, "Monte vide eu!" or "I see a mountain!" Soon they discovered that they were seeing nothing more than a small hill that had the deceptive appearance of a mountain; but, years later, a city grew up around that hill and was named Montevideo.

Today as I venture south from the United States, I do not see merely a hill nor a mountain. I see a continent! I see a continent that appears small and insignificant in the affairs of men and the world. I see a continent ignored or avoided in its spiritual needs and exploited of its material goods. I walk the streets of its cities and along the paths of the country. I look into the faces of its people. I see hatred and lust, anger and every sort of wickedness—and sadness. Darkness hangs over the souls of the people, and there is no light. "Truly," I say to myself, "this is the dark continent."

I look again. I see a continent! I see a continent twice the size of Europe. I see a continent with natural resources so abundant that it is said that it could support a population of one billion. The future smiles on South America and hides herself. Then I ask myself, "Will South America become the center of tomorrow's civilization? Will nations arise out of its earth and direct the affairs of the world of tomorrow?" There is silence! I find myself surrounded by spiritual darkness! I tremble at the thought of this darkness spreading over the rest of the earth!

I return to the present, and the continent is stretched out before me. I see three centers of population. I learn that about two-thirds of the 110 million people of South America live on the Atlantic side of the continent. I see that most of these are in the eastern and southern part of Brazil, in Uruguay, and in Northern Argentina. I see a second center in Chile, isolated by the ocean, the desert, and the mountains. To my gaze a third center appears in the northwest in the midst of the mountains.

I invite you to come with me as we explore the region of the northwest. We visit the countries of Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, and Bolivia. We see wars and rumors of wars. Dictators rise and fall. Democracy is mockery. We search for the salt of the earth. We find a few grains, but they were converted in our nation. We find no congregations except for a small group, a group of American oil workers in Venezuela. We learn that they are not able to reach the natives. We pass through the countries. We find ourselves surrounded by Indians and Mestizos. We give them Bibles, but they cannot read. We preach the gospel story. Persecution towers above us blotting out the sun. It speaks in Latin. Its robots reach for stones. But we are not there!

We go to Chile. Freedom is in the air. The power of Rome is bound. We meet one hundred thousand Protestants. We are happy at first, and then we are sad. We see the blind leading the blind. We give the people Bibles, and they can read. We preach the story of Jesus, and they listen. But we are not there!

On we go to Argentina and Paraguay. Liberty stays behind in Chile. We look for Rome and find that she is never very far from us. She is very sick, but she scowls and moves. We give the people Bibles, and they can read. We preach the word. Some look over their shoulders at Rome and listen to us. But we are not there!

We enter Brazil. We change from Spanish to Portuguese.

Again, we smell freedom. We meet a million Protestants, but most of them are on the ground. They think that they have the Holy Spirit. We give them Bibles, but most of them cannot read. We preach the gospel, and they listen. But we are not there!

We come to Uruguay and back to Spanish. We find the only evangelists in South America. My father and I are at home. Seven months we have been here. We are bathed in freedom. We look for Rome, but she is hard to find. Only ten per cent of the people bow to her regularly. Thirty per cent bow once in a while. She is just a little fellow. We give the people Bibles and preach. The people read and listen. We are in a virgin territory. We must clear the land of obstacles, and then we can plant and water. The harvest will begin some day. God will give the increase.

Won't you come down and help spread the light so that these people might see? No? Then won't you help to send someone else? No? I see dark clouds in the east and the west! I see the wrath of Jehovah! I see our land invaded and our cities devastated! I see our blessings taken from us! I see ourselves forcibly spread over the face of the earth!

"But that won't happen," I tell myself. I see my brethren awakening from a sleep of the past. From a deep sleep they are awakening. I see a trickle of missionaries becoming a small stream. I look at the stream and dream of a river. "Unto the uttermost part of the earth," I hear a voice say. "Surely," I think to myself, "this is the uttermost part of the earth."

"Monte vide eu!" I cry out. "I see a mountain! I see the mountain of Jehovah's house established on the tops of the mountains! I see it exalted above the hills! I see all nations flowing unto it!"

The Australian Mission Field

Allan Flaxman

Try to imagine an island about twice the size of Western Europe or say equal to the size of the United States and you will have a fairly accurate idea of the size of Australia. Now picture a rather modern city built fronting one of the world's most beautiful harbors, with its suburban area extending in a twenty-mile radius from its main business center—picture its population of almost two million whites enjoying a semi-tropical climate and you get a quick mental view of Sydney, Australia's largest city. It is in the suburbs of this city where your writer and Colin Smith—co-workers in the Lord's vineyard, live.

And what of the missionary activities in this Australia? As a mission field of the churches of Christ in America, Australia can truly be classed among the "have nots"! In this vast country we do not have a solitary American missionary. Mark it now, not one American missionary in the whole of Australia—a country as large as the whole of the U. S. A.!

And what about native preachers? There are just two of us, Colin Smith and myself. No more, just two in the whole of this island-continent! But that is not the whole story. For several years now Colin has had to supplement his income from the U. S. with what profits he can scrape from a small business. What is more, my own arrangements with the Riverside church in Fort Worth as regards personal support will be at an end in just over twelve months! Naturally I must already begin to face the question, "What then?"

The Australian mission field has no radio program; no orphan's homes; no Christian colleges; virtually no expense fund; and no finance with which to engage in benevolent work!

We are ready to admit that progress has been slow in Australia, but we do not think that it has been slower than some smaller countries when a true comparison in labor and money expended are drawn. About thirty-seven baptisms over the past three years may seem very few to many Christians in the U. S. but I believe when the facts stated above are thoroughly absorbed that the reason will be as plain as anyone could want it.

But lack of helpers and lack of funds with which to operate has not stopped us from doing as much as we could with what we had, though it has seriously cramped our efforts. For instance it is logical that we should work from some central suburb of Sydney, but this we could not afford to do. So we have had to be satisfied with working in a little town away from Sydney, and in Sydney's extreme outer suburbs where operating costs are not so high. As a result of this "hole in the corner" preaching we are still hardly known at all in Sydney. In fact it would be no exaggeration at all to say that only a small fraction of one percent of Sydney's two million people even know we exist and that an ever smaller fraction have any idea what we really stand for!

We have been driven to concentrate much of our efforts on reaching Sunday school children, and Colin has especially worked in this direction. Not that we have some crazy notion that we shouldn't waste time converting children, far from it. But it must be patent to all that when converts are made among children in their early teens that they can be of very little material or financial help in pushing forward the work of the Lord. In fact most will admit that they become, by reason of their immaturity, added burdens to the missionary rather than extra ones upon whom he may soon call for some assistance.

Bible camps have come to play an important part in the work here in Australia. Many of the baptisms have taken place at such camps and other conversions can be traced directly to the lessons taught in them. Recently Brother Shepherd of Kurrajong made a cabin on his property available to us at any time for Bible camps. This is really a great step in the right direction. Two successful camps have been held there this year.

Long seeing the need for a monthly magazine carrying our plea for restoration of New Testament Christianity in this country, Alice and I decided to do something about it a year ago. We soon decided that printing was well beyond our financial reach, but thought that we might possibly manage a mimeographed paper. After going into figures we decided we could just barely afford a mimeographed monthly if we cut our housekeeping expenses very fine. Thus was born the Restoration Herald. To produce fifteen hundred copies, 3,000 sheets of paper had to pass through the old rebuilt machine twice, each sheet had to be folded carefully in half and then 1500 middles glued to 1500 outsides. This went on for the first six months but praise the Lord a church in the southern part of Texas now sends us sufficient money each month to have 1700 of these "Heralds" printed. The little paper has proved its worth, and if money were available, many times 1700 could be used each month.

At least two American missionaries are anxious to come here, but up until this time of writing no church has been found to support them. Why not contact me about them? Surely we need their help!

That the work can grow here we feel quite certain, but we are equally certain that it will mean facing the facts with men and money! The Seventh-Day Adventists are by their own admission an unpopular movement, but even at that they have 24,000 members in Australia! Why? Because they have many missionaries, plenty of funds, broadcast over many stations, have many schools, make wide use of correspondence Bible courses, and have a number of publishing houses! In other words, they have faced the facts. They admitted that Australia is not just a little green atoll in the South Seas, but is a vast land mass with great cities demanding a program of activities commensurate with its size and population.

The question that keeps burning in our minds is: "Will the churches of Christ in America face these facts too, and then act on them, or will we be left to struggle on unaided, battling to fulfil the task that is crying out to be done, till we fall exhausted, broken in both health and spirit?"

The Church of Christ In Tripoli, Libya

Lawrence E. Taylor

Libya is a small country in North Africa joining Egypt. The natives are Arabs, but there are many Italians since Libya was once an Italian colony. Tripoli has a population of over 80,000 and is one of the two capitals of Libya. The Arabs are almost 100 per cent Moslem and the Italians are mostly Catholic. There are a few thousand Europeans here and about 15,000 Americans connected with government work.

When I came to Tripoli in September, 1951, there was no congregation of the church of Christ. The Paul Dillards of San Antonio arrived just before me and were having services in their home. We got together and soon found three or four others. In February, Brother Bynum from Tuscaloosa, Alabama, came. My wife arrived the last of September about the same time some other families arrived. Our attendance at present averages close to forty for Sunday morning and about thirty Sunday night and Wednesday night. Our record attendance is forty-five. Our contribution averages about $75.00 each Sunday with a record contribution of $102.00. Fifty dollars a month was sent to Italian missions for some time.

Now we have a building program planned. At present we are meeting in the schoolhouse at Wheelus Field, an Air Force installation. If we can succeed in getting a building in downtown Tripoli, we believe the congregation will double in a few months. We have information that there are some forty local people who desire to attend American services, but since we meet on the field, these people cannot obtain a pass to enter the field. There are several members of the church here who do not come or have much interest in the work since it appears to be of temporary nature, not having a permanent building. We should have at least sixty out every Sunday right now.

We do not have a regular preacher. Since all of us here now are connected with government work, we cannot give full time to preaching, visiting and general work necessary for growth of the congregation. Some of us divide the preaching load between us and feel we are doing good, but not good enough. We need a full-time preacher. We have had some visible results. We have had six baptisms, about eight restorations and several to place membership. The group as a whole is very enthusiastic and willing to work. Most all the men are willing to take part and do the best they can.

This is the only congregation in North Africa, an area reaching from French Morocco to Egypt and the only congregation I know of in a Moslem country. We are in the process of buying property in Tripoli for a building. Real Estate and building cost is very reasonable. We feel we can build a sufficient building for $5,000.00. The church has a great opportunity here.

There are some old Roman ruins, cities that have been excavated recently, along the coast a few miles from Tripoli, that indicate some of the buildings were used by the early Christians. We would like very much to see the church of Christ firmly established again in this part of the world.

Many of the natives speak English and the language barrier is not too great. We can get Bibles translated into the Arab language through a British printing company here. Libya is a new nation and through aid from the United States, their standard of education is becoming higher and their standard of living is rising. The people are learning new ways and means of living. Now is the best time to teach them about Christ and his way of life.

Our problems at hand are: (1) We need a preacher. Brother Haynie of Milliton, Tennessee, has agreed to come or send someone if he is unable to come himself. But at present we will not be able to support him fully. We believe we can commit ourselves for $250.00 per month and within a year possibly support a preacher entirely; (2) We need a building. As mentioned before, it is difficult to get the local people admission to the base. We have brought several to the services and all have expressed interest. The cost of labor and building materials are such that a building will not be costly. Once we get our building and get a preacher in the field, we feel that we can almost be self-supporting within a year. At present we have about $2,100.00 in our building fund. Most of the people in the congregation here are from different congregations in the states. Each of us is writing his home congregation in an effort to obtain help in our building program and in getting a full-time preacher in Tripoli. Our hope and prayer is that the people in the states will become aware of the great opportunity the church has in Tripoli and will remember us in your prayers and hope for the progress of the congregation.

Our "Special Edition—Churches At Work" of February 10, 1953, has been reprinted to supply the great demand of late orders. We now have an overflow of several thousand copies available. Be sure to write us at once how many copies you want, if any. Price, 35c in 10 copies or more.

Nigeria - A Twentieth Century Restoration

Howard Horton

The first chapter of the Lord's work in Nigeria began to be written, at least in background, when the Lawrence Avenue Church of Christ, Nashville, Tennessee, prepared a correspondence Bible course for servicemen. Through servicemen the course fell into the hands of people of many different nations. Providentially, about the "mid forties" a native Nigerian policeman, C. A. O. Essien, joined the ranks of those taking the course.

Immediately Essien recognized the truth of the things he was learning and he began to teach them to others. Rapidly a modern restoration got under way. The Echols-Reese reports of 1950 underscored the immensity of this movement. In 1951 Eldred Echols returned to Nigeria for three months to inaugurate an effort to teach native preachers. About thirty men went out from his classes to preach the word to their people. Far-reaching were the results of the short course taught by Echols. Still the preachers are showing the good effects of his work.

The second chapter of the Nigerian Restoration also sprang from the Lawrence Avenue congregation. They decided to assume support for two American families to go to Nigeria to initiate a more permanent teaching program. The money was raised and during the last week of November, 1952, the James E. Johnsons and the Howard Hortons reached Nigeria and entered into the work.

The first six weeks they spent visiting the congregations established by the native preachers. There were about seventy congregations in the Calabar Province of southeastern Nigeria and a few congregations farther north among the Ibo people. Fifteen native preachers were working more or less effectively in teaching the gospel to the people. Most of the congregations were weak spiritually, numerically and in knowledge. Many denominational conceptions still influenced their actions and denominational terminology filled their language. Their conception of the organization of the church was still colored by their denominational backgrounds.

One supreme factor was present: they desired to speak where the Bible speaks and to remain silent where it is silent. They did not always know what the Bible says, but they did want to know and to do when they learned.

In January, James Johnson and Howard Horton began a series of Bible classes in an effort to help the preachers to a better knowledge of the gospel. After nearly three months of study the men went into various villages and began preaching what they learned. The results of their work were almost immediately felt. Even young men began to convert large numbers from paganism and denominationalism. New congregations were started almost every week. Now there is at least one congregation in each of the six districts of the Calabar province. A second series of lessons was completed in July, and native preachers are scattered over an area with a radius of sixty miles.

Certain needs have become evident and plans are being laid to meet each need. First: The vastness of this area and the extent of the restoration effort demands more white families. It is impossible for two men to reach the congregations often enough to stabilize them during this infant period. There needs to be two families in each district of the Calabar province and at least two families to make some beginnings in "Iboland" to the north. Many new converts are weakening and returning to the world and to denominationalism because we cannot visit them often enough for teaching. Nowhere can a congregation send a man where more exciting prospects for the Lord's church exist. A man must be supported, and provided with a house, a car, and transportation to this country. The nature of the climate and health conditions make it imperative for an American family to have an inexpensive, yet weatherproof house.

In answer to this first great need the Sixth Street church of Port Arthur, Texas, is sending R. E. Peden, of Vincennes, Indiana. He arrives October 2, the Lord willing.

Second: There is a need for congregations to support a group of the more capable and experienced of the native preachers. Thirty dollars per month will support a man full time. These men can be given sermons and teaching help and then they can carry the gospel very effectively to their people. They can move among the churches preaching in two- or three-week meetings throughout the area. As they teach the gospel they will strengthen the churches as well as the younger preachers located at the various villages. The older preachers can be taught to teach the congregation to support the younger men, thus learning a responsibility in supporting the gospel. These older men have been preaching at great sacrifice. With support their work would be enhanced. Several congregations are undertaking the support of a native preacher.

Third: There must be a more effective teaching program for preachers. There is not a single congregation in Nigeria capable of developing leaders. In order to have facilities for this work it is extremely urgent that money be provided for classrooms and living quarters for the students. It will also be essential to provide enough money for each student to buy food while he is studying. In this land of extreme poverty they cannot live away from home without help. Six dollars per month will feed one of them. If they can be brought out of their environment, separated completely from their customary culture and background, we can make more progress in leading them from darkness to light. For $180.00 per month a congregation can feed thirty students as they prepare to preach the gospel of Christ. We can have some of the brightest young minds of Nigeria. Already we have seen the work that even a young man can do among his people here. Some means must be provided to separate young men unto preparation of the gospel. The Vulte Boulevard church in Nashville, Tennessee, is inaugurating plans to make a substantial beginning toward providing buildings. It will require others to help.

Fourth: Nigeria has a unique school system. The schools are largely supported by taxes, government grants and village subscription. They are essentially public schools but they may be managed by some white person. We have been requested to manage many schools. This involves counseling with the village committees and making reports to the Provincial Education Office. One man can easily manage twelve schools and spend every week end preaching. Some preachers are also high school principals, college teachers and officials, county superintendents of education, etc., in America. A preacher with school experience can preach many times a week and also help these people guide their school efficiently. Then we could teach the Bible to every pupil every day. Thus we could reach several thousand of the future leaders of this awakening country. Elvis Huffard of Chattanooga, Tennessee, has announced the desire to come to Nigeria. His travel fund is well begun. It is his desire to be in Nigeria by November or December. Here is a tremendous opportunity for an able gospel preacher and a trained and experienced school man to help carry out the first three needs more effectively and in addition to undertake something in the way of a "Bible chair" in the schools.

Fifth: The work in Nigeria demands many, many tracts. The Nigerians are avid readers and there is a complete vacuum of true Bible reading. We need tracts on all topics.

Nigeria is an awakening country. The people are reaching for the better things. We who are here pray that it will be possible to make the light of God outshine the empty glitter of worldly gain and vain ambition.

The Work Of The Church In Africa

Guy V. Caskey

Africa! thirty-seven countries, two hundred million people, four times the size of the United States. Her people, black, brown, white, are Mohammedan, Catholic, Protestant, heathen—predominantly heathen. Neglected continent! The gospel has been preached in five of these thirty-seven countries—the Union of South Africa, Northern and Southern Rhodesias, Nyasaland and Nigeria. Even here the spread of New Testament Christianity has been extremely limited by a deficiency of both men and money. It is heartrending to sit helplessly by and see such meretricious systems as Roman Catholicism establish their attractive and expensive strongholds throughout this continent. The Seventh-Day Adventists are spending five million dollars this year in Africa. Because we have, hold and preach the truth, with a fraction of this amount and a few more men, the church of our Lord can be firmly established in strategic points across this vast continent.

For forty years our brethren have been working among the native peoples of the Rhodesias, particularly Northern Rhodesia. Permanent bases have been established at four points: Namwianga, Kabanga, Sinde, and Livingstone, from which our brethren have gone out to preach the gospel in the native villages round about. In Southern Rhodesia the church has been planted among the native peoples at Nhowe, and surrounding areas, in the eastern districts of the colony and at Bulawayo in the west. There is now a church among the white people of Bulawayo.

In 1950 work was begun among the white people of Johannesburg, in the Union of South Africa. In this modern city of a million people, one European congregation has been established, two colored churches and a number of native congregations. The white church has a beautiful new building consisting of an auditorium (seating 300) and six classrooms. This property is worth about $40,000.

At the beginning of 1951, the church was established in Pretoria, the executive capital of the Union, thirty miles north of Johannesburg. There are two good churches one among the whites and one among the natives. Recently they were fortunate to be able to purchase ideal lots for a new church building on the main thoroughfare through the city and just one block from the Union grounds, where stand the magnificent government buildings. This property cost $36,000. No better location for a place of worship could be found anywhere, and this property will, doubtless, double in value in a few years.

Seven hundred miles south of Johannesburg, on the shores of the Indian Ocean, the church has been established in the city of East London. Ninety thousand people live here. There are also native Christians in some of the adjoining villages. Last month they completed and entered their new church building. It is well located, attractive and adequate.

Down the coast from East London two hundred miles is the beautiful city of Port Elizabeth. There are two churches here, one among the white people and one among the colored and natives. They do not, as yet, have their own place of worship.

A thousand miles southwest of Johannesburg is Cape Town, a city of a half million people, nestled under towering peaks in a botanic garden on the shores of Table Bay. There are three churches among the colored people here. There are a few white Christians, but no work is being done to establish the church among the Europeans.

The possibilities and opportunities of these countries far exceed our present abilities and resources. In Nyasaland we have one native preacher working alone and without the money he needs to do the job well. Next month another young preacher whom we have converted and trained will join him in that field. All of East and Central Africa are untouched. Country of indescribable beauty, ideal climate, abundant rainfall and incalculable potential agricultural and mineral wealth, we should send men there with the gospel before it falls under the control of Rome.

A hundred men who love the truth, who are deeply concerned about saving the lost and who believe that the responsibility devolves upon us to take the gospel to the whole world could work wonders in Africa. Such men could establish the church in every country on this continent and with persistence guarantee its strength and permanence. America has both men and money to accomplish this task without burden or inconvenience. Does the church there have the interest and love to please God by sending the glorious light of the gospel to shine in "Darkest Africa"?

Johannesburg, South Africa.

The Church In Great Britain

Leonard Channing

A report on the church in Great Britain must differ somewhat from the reports on the work in other parts of Europe in that we are not dealing with a new mission field, but with an area in which the church has been established for well over one hundred years. Yet it is true to say, that although New Testament Christianity made rapid progress in these islands at the beginning, due to the inroad of digression, that growth was not only not maintained, but at one time practically ceased altogether.

Position today. There are thought to be about 180 congregations in the British Isles bearing the name "Church of Christ." Unfortunately however, at least two-thirds of the churches have been affected by digression, and are now members of a sectarian and modernistic body which has grown up among them known as the "Co-operation of Churches of Christ," a body similar to the Christian church group in the United States. The digression might have been complete had it not been for the work of a small group of loyal and energetic brethren who some thirty years ago set about the formidable task of what amounted to restoring the Restoration Movement in Great Britain.

The position today is that there are in the British Isles just under 40 churches who are loyal to New Testament truth, with a total membership of around 1100. Of these, 20 are in England, and one in Northern Ireland, having a total membership of approximately 800. The largest churches are Hindley Lancashire; Summer Lane, Birmingham; and Belfast, Northern Ireland, each with a membership of over 100. All these churches are completely independent of any central organization.

In addition to the 40 "loyal" churches in the British Isles there exists another eight to ten churches with a total membership of just over 200, who although they are still nominal members of the digressive Co-operation group, and in some cases still allow its preachers to serve them, in all other respects oppose digression and closely associate themselves with the independent churches.

Preachers. There are in all, seven full-time preachers working in Britain. This number includes the one who has done more than any man to stem the tide of digression, Brother Walter Crosthwaite—who although over eighty years of age is still active in the work. The area of work is fairly evenly distributed—five are working in England and two in Scotland.

At least three of the full-time preachers, including the writer, are now supported by American churches. One is supported by the church in Hindley Lancashire, and one by the Scottish committee.

The "Old Paths Committee," a committee formed by the loyal brethren in England about thirty years ago in order to fight digression, at one time supported several full-time men, but although still in existence now no longer has any preacher under its control.

Perhaps a word of explanation is necessary lest the mention of "committees" be confusing to the American reader. Among the "loyal" brethren there is some difference in view as to the proper method of supporting and directing the work of evangelists. Many of the older brethren favor at least as an expedient a district committee system, with a number of smaller churches pooling their resources and supporting a full-time worker among them. Many of the younger brethren, especially those in full-time work, believe that this should be the responsibility of individual churches alone. However, in spite of this both groups work amicably together, looking forward to the time when these differences will be resolved.

Publications. Among the "loyal" brethren there are two papers published. The first is the Scripture Standard edited by Brother Walter Crosthwaite, and published monthly, is mainly for the brethren as a news medium among them. The other paper is Revival published by Brother Leonard Morgan which is mainly for outside distribution and takes the form of a monthly four-page tract. Many are conscious that there is need for more literature, tracts and books, but the relatively high cost of printing is the difficulty.

Progress. It is very heartening to realize that while the digressives are steadily losing ground, among the loyal churches there has been slow but very sure progress. The greatest progress has been made among the churches in Lancashire in the northwest part of England, particularly in the church at Hindley, and also in Northern Ireland in the church at Belfast. Some progress has been made among the churches in Yorkshire in the northeast part of England, and also in southern England, including the London area. Progress has also been made in Scotland. Churches have been revived which were almost defunct, as in the case of Peterhead in the northern part of Scotland.

It is also heartening to note that churches have been established in recent years in areas where formerly only digressive churches existed. Such churches are at Ulverston in North Lancashire, Eastwood in the Midlands, and Tunbridge Wells in the south part of England.

But perhaps the most encouraging sign of all is in the fact that churches have been established in areas which have never heard the primitive gospel. Such a thing has not been seen over here for many years. Three churches have been planted in such areas: at Ince in Lancashire, Hereford in western England, and at Aylesbury Buckinghamshire, northwest of London. In the latter case for instance, as far as the writer can trace, there has not been a church in this area of 100 square miles for nearly 100 years. Although these churches are small at present they have a good opportunity for growth.

Future Prospects. As to the future of the work in Britain there are both problems and prospects, as perhaps is common to all fields of labor. The problems are both within and without the church. Outwardly, the greatest problem is the widespread materialism and spiritual indifference among the British people. This is particularly so in England, where only a very small percentage of the people attend a place of worship with any regularity. The traditional outlook among the British, particularly as it affects their religious views, is also a problem. It is due to this last fact that the state-supported church of England is so well entrenched.

Within the church perhaps the greatest need is for the development of properly qualified elders. Although an improvement in this has been seen, there are still churches which have been established for many years and are yet without elders.

As to the future prospects perhaps the most encouraging sign is that of the new spirit of evangelism which is slowly but surely rising among the churches. In the past the brethren have mainly had to look inward and fight the digression in their midst, but now this phase is passing and the work of saving souls can go forward. As an indication of this it is noteworthy that four out of the seven full-time preachers are working with newly formed churches. This is as it should be, for not only is there the need for strengthening existing churches but to plant new ones. There is no lack of opportunity, for there are still vast areas of Britain which have never heard the true gospel.

Our earnest prayer is that this spirit may grow so that the church of the Lord in Britain may not only remain faithful, but may become as numerically strong and as powerful in witness as it is in other fields of labor.

Harry Robert Fox, Jr.

The past five years have presented the gospel with its greatest opportunity in Japan. That is why it is all the more regrettable that more gospel preachers did not come over. For the twenty-one workers who did come and serve at one time or another during this time were not able to reach more than a small fraction of the millions who might otherwise have been reached. However, since this report is not to be concerning what might have been, the following paragraphs will sketch some of what actually took place during the past five years.

The chief purpose of each worker has been to preach the gospel and to establish churches. Consequently there have been numerous gospel meetings held (an average of about 30 per summer) and thousands of baptisms resulting (more than 3000). Also, 34 new congregations established. Nor has preaching been confined just to summer meetings. Workers have gone out every Sunday and preached up to as many as five sermons at as many different places, not to mention weekday Bible classes in homes, hospitals, sanatoriums, courts, schools, shops and other places of business. Even as we ride the trains to our various appointments we usually get into conversations with other passengers sitting next to us who want to know why we are in Japan. This always provides us with a good basis for proclaiming Christ.

But since there are so few of us over here we have just about reached the point where more people have been baptized and more congregations established than can be adequately cared for. So in addition to all of our regular preaching we have been giving time to training selected Japanese to be preachers, teachers, and leaders in the churches. The first major effort along this line was begun in the spring of 1951 in Omika when a special department was set up in Ibaraki Christian College for the training of evangelists. Classes met four days a week and every American evangelist taught at least one course. Courses were designed to take the students through the entire Bible, as well as to acquaint them with church history, public speaking, sermon preparation, debating, comparative religions (especially the Oriental religions), false doctrines and how to meet them and Greek.

Now after two and one-half years of this arrangement it has been unanimously concluded that a more localized set-up would be better. Thus, beginning in September there will be two training programs in operation in Ibaraki on a congregational basis with several others sure to develop later on. The Yoyogi-Hachiman congregation in Tokyo has been conducting such a training program of its own since last winter with brethren from Yamanashi and Ibaraki assisting in the teaching. A total of more than 30 Japanese evangelists and would-be evangelists are at present enrolled in one or the other of these three training efforts.

Another means being used to give extra Bible instruction to church members and potential leaders is a summer Bible camp being operated in Yamanashi prefecture by Brethren Ed Brown and George Gurganus. It was begun last summer and is being continued this year. It provides 50 young people at a time with three weeks of healthful camp life on the shores of beautiful Lake Motosu at the foot of Mt. Fuji. Bible and doctrinal classes are taught every day until noon with a worship period included. Every other night preaching services are held. Since a few non-Christians are also allowed to attend the camp, evangelistic as well as teaching opportunities occur, and each year several baptisms take place.

Also established for the purpose of giving Japanese young people (Christian and non-Christian) extra opportunities of experiencing the meaning of the gospel is Ibaraki Christian College (1949) and High School (1948). Here, too, we not only have the pleasant responsibility of helping young believers to grow in their faith but also have many invaluable opportunities to lead unbelievers to faith in Christ. Consequently there is hardly a week that goes by but that one or more of such students confess Christ and is baptized.

Just last month, as an example of the unusual opportunities along this line, I had the happy privilege of baptizing a young man who had studied Bible under me for two years in the college. He was the son of a Shinto priest and was himself a devout Shinto believer when he first came to I. C. C. But during the course of his studies he gradually became convinced that the truth was to be found only in Christ. So four months after graduating he wrote me a card saying he was ready to give up his Shinto faith and accept wholeheartedly and unreservedly Christ as Lord. Accordingly, on July 21 he was buried with Christ in baptism and we saw another victory for the gospel.

Finally, we are convinced that in order for the many new babies in the churches throughout Japan to grow as they should, a great deal of teaching is going to have to be done through the printed page. Therefore we are devoting an increasing amount of our time and money to the task of turning out suitable literature. A very great help to us in this respect was the gift of a printing press made possible by thousands of dollars contributed by American service personnel meeting for worship in Yokohama and Tokyo. The print shop is located on the property of the Yoyogi-Hachiman church in Tokyo. At present four monthly magazines are being published as well as numerous tracts. A few books are beginning to be published.

Two orphans' homes and one old folk's home have been established by individual Japanese brethren on their own. Yet here, too, evangelistic opportunities are very great. Nearly every one of the old folks (40) in the home have been baptized and are among the most faithful members of the church near the home. The same can be said of the orphans as soon as they reach the age of accountability.

Although we are all painfully aware of the little work which has been done when compared with the great need in Japan, we nevertheless thank God for blessing our small efforts so abundantly. Our main hope is that we will be permitted to stay on long enough that the churches which have been established so far may become thoroughly grounded and able to stand on their own. The most pressing problem is how to get the present corps of Japanese evangelists self-supporting. At present they are all being supported by churches and individuals in America because none of the Japanese churches are strong enough financially to support a preacher. This in turn is because the overwhelming majority of all church members are young people who are yet in school or who do not yet have jobs.

In conclusion we wish especially to express publicly our deep appreciation to Brother McMillan and the Union Avenue church in Memphis for the outstanding service they have rendered the spread of the gospel in Japan through their ceaseless efforts to keep you folks in America reminded of the needs over here. Had it been necessary for those of us on the field to have taken time out from our preaching to do that job we could not have done half of what we have been permitted to do otherwise. To the many thousands of you who have responded time and time again to the needs as they have been presented to you we also express our heartfelt thanks.

Ibaraki, Japan.

Let's Write To The Missionaries

M. Norvel Young

Christians who have left their homeland for the gospel's sake need moral and spiritual support as well as financial. Some men on the field have become discouraged even though the church which sponsors them sends their check each month. They would like to receive a personal letter from some of the brethren. A five-cent stamp will send I ounce by ordinary mail. Fifteen cents will send one-half hounce by air mail.

Too often we are like the man who couldn't understand why his wife was unhappy. He said: "She wants me to tell her that I love her. I told her that when I proposed. If I ever change my mind I will tell her." So, the fact that we send brethren off to a foreign land with a happy fellowship meeting and best wishes does not mean that they do not need our letters. Men in service of their country rate mail call above mess call. So men and women in the service of the Lord look forward to a warm, friendly, personal letter from brethren they knew here and left awhile. Have you written lately? Even if you are a stranger to those on the field, you have read of their work and you can get acquainted by means of correspondence.

A NEW FIELD—CHURCH FOR THE DEAF

Ben F. Holland

Church of Christ for Deaf, 1500 Newton St., Austin, Texas

Gordon Crocker

Brother Gordon Crocker of Pampa, Texas, and Brother Don Stone of Amarillo, Texas, will be with the Church of Christ for Deaf in Austin, Texas, in a meeting from November 12 through November 21. Brother Crocker, who is deaf, will preach in the sign language, and Brother Stone will interpret the sermons orally for the benefit of hearing members and friends.

This is as far as the writer knows, the first gospel meeting held in Texas by a deaf preacher. We feel most fortunate in having Brother Stone who preaches for a congregation in Pampa, Texas.

Brother Crocker is a minister to the deaf at the Southside Church of Christ in Amarillo. He has labored there about a year, driving a distance of fifty miles from Pampa to Amarillo every Lord's day to teach and preach to the deaf there. Brother Crocker is a graduate of the Texas School for the Deaf. He obeyed the gospel two years ago and since then has devoted all of his spare time to a study of the Bible. He is a well-informed Christian in the Scriptures, and we believe that he will be a strong influence among the deaf of Austin.

Brother Stone is an ex-student of Harding College and a preacher for the congregation in Pampa, Texas. He is a young man of considerable ability, and he is especially interested in preaching the gospel to the deaf. He started learning the sign language in a special class at Harding College taught by Brother Sam Roach. Brother Roach has recently moved to Detroit, Mich., for the purpose of establishing a congregation for the numerous deaf people who are working in the automobile factories there.

This meeting is being conducted specifically for the purpose of reaching the deaf in Austin, but the members of this congregation believe that a large number of hearing people in this community will want to attend this unusual type of meeting. Invitations are extended to all hearing and deaf who wish to attend.

Services will be held at 1500 Newton Street each evening at 7:30 P.M. A basket luncheon will be featured on Sunday, November 15th. Bible classes will begin at 9:30 A.M. and worship at 10:30 A.M.

Brother Crocker will be available for conference each day between 10 and 12:00 noon. He will accept invitations for conferences in homes at other hours during the day. Brother Stone will also be available for conferences and visits. If anyone knows of individuals that either of these brethren might visit, you are sincerely requested to notify the writer.

Churches of Christ In The Philippines

Ralph F. Brashears

Brother Leland E. O'Neal and family, sponsored by the Oak Park Church of Christ, Sacramento, California, came to Zamboanga in Mindanao in October, 1946, and returned to the States in June, 1950. They did a good work for the church of Christ during that early period in that area. Brother Floyd T. Hamilton and family, sponsored by 17th Street Church of Christ, San Francisco, California, arrived in the Philippines in January, 1948, and returned to the States in July, 1951. He is highly honored by the Filipino brethren of Mindanao for the excellent work which he did during his stay here. They sincerely desire him to return to Mindanao and continue the work he began. The teaching of the Bible by these brethren in "Zamboanga Bible School" has had a strong influence for good throughout the whole island of Mindanao.

It is hoped that when Brethren Leland E. O'Neal and his Brother Harold, sponsored by Westside Church of Christ, Duncan, Oklahoma, arrive in the Philippines this year that they will restore the school which has been discontinued since Brother Hamilton's health necessitated his leaving.

My wife and I arrived in the Philippines June 21, 1948, sponsored by the Southwest Church of Christ, Los Angeles 44, California. We were destined to begin our work in the largest and most advanced island of the Philippine Archipelago, Luzon, in Tayug, Pangasinan.

Brother Roman Oltuveros and his family at Bongabon, Nueva Ecija were the only members of the New Testament church we know of in Luzon when we arrived. We began teaching Bible classes in Luna College and preaching on Sunday, while living in the home of the president, who is a Methodist. After one year and six months we moved to our own house, provided by our sponsors, and continued two more years in Tayug. Churches were established in Tayug, Burgos, Sison, Pozorrobio, Olongapo, Bongabon, and in Baguio City. Eleventh Street Church of Christ, Port Arthur, Texas, took over the sponsorship of the work of Brother Oltuveros in Bongabon in April, 1949, and it has prospered until there are four struggling congregations in that area now.

While we were in Tayug we began the Philippine Bible College. This work does not include academic classes but such classes necessary for training preachers, church leaders, and workers. It has helped to train some excellent young preachers and workers in the church who will have an important influence in the Philippines for years to come. We have seventy-five students enrolled now and more are planning to enroll next term. We moved our school to Baguio City in July, 1952, where we are teaching in a rented hall down town. It is now too small for our increased work.

Also, October, 1951, we began the publishing of New Testament Christianity, the Philippine Christian Monthly, a magazine especially for Philippine churches of Christ. The publication is enthusiastically received by both members and non-members of the church. It has helped to unify and strengthen the churches throughout the Philippines.

In August, 1952, we began the Bible Book Store in Baguio for the purpose of distributing Bibles and Christian literature in the Philippines. We used a small part of our rented hall and sold in one year $1,035 worth. The store does not pay for itself but it helps to promote the truth more than the small cost to operate it. Students do much of the work.

The work of Brother Victor N. Broaddus is among the Chinese in Manila. I do not know when he came to the Philippines nor who is sponsoring the work. He is also conducting services in English in his home for Americans and Filipinos. His address is 47 Lope de Vega, Manila, Philippines.

There are two pressing needs of the churches of Christ in the Philippines: one is economical and the other is educational. They are inseparable. The people are so poor they cannot give enough to support a minister, or build a place for worship. Having been accustomed to Catholic and Protestant methods of supporting the church they have not yet learned how to give scripturally very well. But because denominations in the States are sparing no effort to finance and train their followers here we need help also to teach the truth lest error be successful and the truth be neglected.

The educational program of the church is equally problematical. The multiplicity of dialects makes it impractical for Americans to try to preach or teach in the vernacular of the people. The best we can do is to preach and teach those who understand English and let them teach their own people in their native tongues. The second problem is printing helps or literature for the common people. Small children and many adults cannot read English and there is no literature for the masses of the people. To publish song books, Sunday school books or reference books in one dialect does not help one-third of the people. To publish books in many dialects is much too expensive. Most of the people love their native dialects and have no desire to give them up for a common one. But how can a church continue and grow without good literature?

The third need of an educational program of the church is well-rounded teaching. Filipinos need much more than a few doctrinal lessons. The spirit of Christianity needs emphasis as well as the form. Practical courses, such as music, character building, teaching, preaching and personal work should be taught.

Now to say a few words about Bible school or Christian College in Baguio City. Most people know that most churches do not maintain an education program in the local churches sufficiently to prepare one for adequate leadership in the church. This is especially true in the Philippines. Perhaps training can be done easier, better and more economically in a Bible school or Christian college.

Some of the mission fields have been supplied with sufficient funds for building Bible schools or Christian colleges. But as for the Philippines we feel we have been somewhat neglected. We do not have even an adequate building for worship, much less land and buildings for a school. The educated people of the Philippines are able to study in English and a school of this kind if adequately equipped would be self-supporting, because there are no free state colleges for competition. Also, with the respect Filipinos have for Americans and American education, they could have about as many students as they could accommodate.

Baguio City, located in the mountains of Central Luzon is cool enough for Americans to live quite comfortably. The Baptists and Nazarenes both have begun seminaries in Baguio since we came here, but in spite of their own buildings, we have almost twice as many students as both of them put together. With the start we already have we only need a few more good teachers and some buildings and equipment. I want to appeal to our brethren in the States who believe in Christian education to join hands with us to build a Bible school or a Christian college in the Philippines.

Finally, brethren, there are about eighty churches of Christ now in the Philippines with an estimated four thousand members. We need your prayers and backing in order to continue our progress toward maturity.

Restoration In India

Prenshon Kharlukhi

In a nation with a population of over three hundred and fifty million people, there are about six million who claim themselves to be Christians. These believers in Christ are identified with different denominations or sectarian churches.

As far as our information goes there are only a little over two hundred Christians of the New Testament faith in the entire Indian nation. Most of these two hundred Christians meet regularly for worship in four congregations situated in the villages with minimum of worldly temptations generally prevailing in the urban areas. There are a few other Christians who could not get the opportunity to meet regularly for worship—some of them because they live in places far away from regular congregations while others being daily manual laborers have to go to rural areas at certain seasons of the year in search of work. It was partly through the labor of these scattered individual Christians that the pure gospel of Christ was sometimes made known to some lost souls.

Some congregations have digressed from some of the simple Bible teachings because of the misinterpretation of the same by some preachers of the Christian church or disciples from America as well as by some unfaithful native preachers. For example, unscriptural opposition with regard to church fellowship by immersion, regular partaking of the Lord's Supper, vocal music in worship as against the use of mechanical music, congregational autonomy. It is a hopeful sign that a good many sincere Christians in some congregations have begun to learn truth and are considering to be restored to the apostolic Christianity which we strive to teach and practice.

The Christians of the New Testament faith belong to a hill tribe called the Khasis and live in one of the finest hill sections in eastern India with mild climate and adorned with varied natural scenery. Although a good many of the Christians in India are half illiterate and very poor in material blessings, we rejoice at the belief that we have the most precious blessing in that we are "called children of God" through obedience to the gospel of Christ. As soldiers of Christ we consider it our bounden duty and responsibility "to contend earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints" and to win souls for Christ.

Imbued with the zeal to win sinners for Christ, a good many Christians were trained or rather trained themselves for personal ministry by practical experience in the field.

Preaching of the gospel in this section of India is mostly carried on by means of individual contact and house-to-house visits with interested individuals. Of course at special meetings a few outsiders might attend. It takes a lot of patience and labor before one soul could be convinced to obey the gospel, and that also those who responded are the ones that really "hunger and thirst after righteousness." In spite of all the zeal of the existing congregations and individual Christians to preach the word in season and out of season, we have very limited opportunities to widen the borders of the kingdom of Christ because each one of us have to labor hard, very hard indeed, to make both ends meet. Acute poverty on the part of Christians stands in the way of their supporting even one full-time preacher to take the good tidings to such villagers as there are prospective converts. This has been and will continue to be a retrogressive factor that accounts for our slow progress to sow the seed on the scattered village folks in these beautiful hills.

So far as our memory goes, during the past one decade since when the restoration movement pushed on very vigorously, there were very few invitations from individuals living at places farther from where the congregations are located. Even then, groups of Christians went to proclaim the simple Bible teachings to unwilling and opposing village folks; thereby one or two souls were added to the church of the Lord. Instances are not very rare when groups of faithful Christians, men and women, walked between fifteen to twenty miles in the interior on Sundays—the particular days that Christians can spend in his service—entirely free from the thought of material need, and yet not one other single soul would be willing to attend gospel meetings to hear the good news. Nevertheless we were not disappointed. If and when one lost soul living at twenty miles' foot-path distance desired to know the truth, we had not refused to respond to such invitation although it meant physical fatigue and much patience on the part of zealous Christians.

The fact that the numerous churches of Christ which have tremendously increased in number both in the Old and New Worlds and yet were guided as they were by the New Testament teachings without the necessity of missionary societies, ecclesiastical bodies, man-made doctrines or confessions of faith has silenced the usual argument advanced by denominational leaders that the churches of Christ in India will inevitably feel the necessities of all these denominational practices and teachings once they grow in size and number.

During the past two months there have been invitations from groups of denominational members from places situated forty to fifty miles away to teach them the word more intensively in order that they may know their wrong in being sectarian and the scriptural way of salvation. To respond to these invitations to preach the word is beyond our means which is regrettable. I mean to say that as congregations and individuals we have very limited resources, not enough to send a group or a couple of preachers to spend a few weeks in those villages where there are people who sincerely hunger and thirst after righteousness. There are thousands upon thousands of denominational members, mostly Presbyterians and Roman Catholic, who, having left their primitive native religion, sincerely believe they are safe in these denominations which their respective champions claim to be the only true churches on earth.

The prospects of winning lost souls in the hills of Eastern India are bright "but the laborers are few." He knows our limitations, and to him "the Lord of the harvest" we pray "that he send forth laborers into his harvest."

Owing to various circumstances best known to denominational ecclesiastism, a movement is on for the union of all denominational churches in India on certain common principles without changing any sectarian teachings. The churches of Christ, although negligible in size and strength, may become the object of suppression by denominations. There is a challenge to the Christians of the New Testament church whether "to contend for the faith" without yielding an inch. We stand for unity of all Christians upon one condition and one only: a complete return to the apostolic Christianity with no book but the Bible (New Testament) without addition of human creeds because, "Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction, which is righteousness: that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work."

A History Of The Work In Austria

Bob Hare

A small band of soldiers stationed in Salzburg, Austria, were on fire for the Lord and wanted to get a work started among the people there. As some of them formerly worshipped with us here in Munich, they contacted me about their plans. I really had more than I could handle here in Munich but I consented to hold them a meeting. So the first gospel meeting took place from March 3-10 of this year. One of the nicest and best known places in Salzburg was rented for this purpose. Advertising was done by radio, mail, newspaper, and billboard. I went up a few days before the meeting to get everything in order and on my first Sunday I was invited to preach for a group of about sixty people. I later found them to be of the Pentecostal group. They do say that they baptize for the remission of sins but they do so many unscriptural things. I preached to them concerning some of their unscriptural acts of worship and have hopes of converting some of them but their leaders won't listen to reason. Many of these people attended the meeting each night.

Brethren, much to my sorrow I found almost every sect imaginable already in Austria and many of them own their places of worship. It is certainly discouraging to know that these people have more zeal and courage in spreading error than we do truth. Most of my time was spent in trying to answer questions relating to teachings of the different sects rather than what the Bible teaches. I did preach the truth as revealed in the Bible but they wanted to find out if the teachings and practices of their different sects were in harmony with the Bible. Many preachers also came to the meeting and they, too, wanted to talk about certain doctrines and practices in their different groups. One needs to realize that the majority of these people know very little about the Bible, as Salzburg is dominantly Roman Catholic. One of the leading doctors of theology from the Catholic Seminary visited our meeting also.

There was an average of fifty-eight each night. This might seem like a small number to you but to us this means very much. Brother Miller, a member of the German congregation in Munich, led the singing in this meeting and has been helping me in the furtherance of this work. Before the meeting we had no contacts but now we have enough to carry on two Bible classes and a Sunday morning worship service.

On May 14th we baptized the first three converts. The first, was a lame man who is paralyzed from the hips down. He was a Roman Catholic for many years but withdrew from them but not without persecution. Later, he was brought under the influence of the Jehovah Witnesses and became a member of that sect. As he studied and learned more of the truth, he realized that they were not the true church. He listened to other doctrines of men until we came along with the simple gospel of Christ and after several weeks of studying the Bible with him in his home, he became a Christian. We had to baptize him in a bath tub in his home and we have never witnessed a more sincere conversion.

The other two converts were women. One had been a member of the Pentecostal group for many years before obeying the gospel. The other is a refuge out of Czechoslovakia and she had been a Roman Catholic all her life. All three of these are sharing their Christianity with others and have brought many contacts to our services.

During the first week of July, six more souls were added to the congregation in Salzburg, thus bringing the total membership to nine, three of them being men and the other three women. Four of there are from Yugoslavia, a father and son and a man and his wife. We had to purchase a Bible in their native tongue in order to teach them. They do not quite understand the German language as of yet. The father is one of our best members and he is able to carry on the services when we are not there. The other two converts were native women of Austria and both are trying to convert their husbands at the present time.

Our greatest hindrance in this work is trying to find a decent place in which to meet. Salzburg is an old city and is very crowded. Very little building is being done and thus it creates a very critical housing shortage. We are at the present time meeting in the dressing room of a bath house. The room is very small but in spite of its many disadvantages, it is almost always full. We have our weekly Bible classes and Sunday morning service there. One cannot even rent a beer hall in this town because of the shortage of space, but there is a ray of hope. We are now trying to raise enough money to purchase a barracks. Our plans are to lease a lot for several years and then buy the barracks and place it on the lot. Over $600.00 has been raised thus far but we still need close to $500.00 more. If you can and will help on this, it will be greatly appreciated.

I would also like to say something about the opportunities of doing work among the soldiers stationed throughout Austria. They present a wonderful opportunity also. We presently have an American congregation in Salzburg but there are only about a dozen in attendance each Sunday. Although they are small in numbers they are large in spirit and zeal. It was through them that this work was started in Austria. We have only a hand full of soldiers stationed in Linz and Vienna but we hope to start a work in these cities through them. Several soldiers have been converted already in Austria and the opportunities are very good.

In closing let us not forget that the harvest in Austria is very ripe but the laborers are very few. Brother Miller and I are the only ones laboring in Austria at the present time and we have so little time to devote to this work because of our obligations here in Munich and other near-by cities where we have already baptized people. Brother Noffsinger, who is a doctor, plans on coming to Linz in October where he will study medicine. He would like to find someone to go with him and start a work in this city. I have already looked the situation over and it is very promising. Brother and Sister Charles Guttermuth, who just recently graduated from Abilene Christian College, are trying to find support so that they can come and help in this great work. Won't someone help this wonderful couple in coming to this ripe field. God has placed a wonderful opportunity before us but we need to take advantage of it now. Please pray for this work and do everything you can to help it move forward.

MEXICO

Ben Cano

Mexico is one of the youngest countries in the gospel of Christ, though it is old in a religion full of traditions and superstitions and hard in some places to preach the gospel of Christ.

Without a doubt, we can say that Mexico is being blessed by God in the last few years. The gospel of Christ has been preached in this country for the past fifteen years. During these fifteen years, 28 congregations have been established in spite of problems, such as threats to kill various preachers. Often some have had to leave their dwelling.

Each of these congregations average from 25 to 40 members, except the Juarez, Chihuahua congregation which is composed of 65 active members. Most of these congregations are carrying on a program to train young men to preach and do personal work.

In the city of Torreon there is a small preachers' training school that was organized by some of the American and Latin brethren for the purpose of educating twelve young boys at a time.

This school has already yielded one preacher from those that are being prepared for the ministry. He is already a full time worker in the field. And many more will leave the classrooms at due time for the white fields in this pagan country. With the small efforts of our brethren, Pedro R. Rivas who is the teacher there and a well qualified man for the job and others, are doing all they can for the advancement of such a great and glorious work. Nevertheless, their efforts are not sufficient to supply preachers for every congregation in the whole country. So as we said before, every congregation is doing its best to develop young preachers and preachers for the cause of Christ.

The Mexican field has approximately 23 preachers engaged in the Master's work in eight states and they cover 28 different towns where they preach the gospel of Christ.

Some of these boys will suffer persecutions as we already know they will, but they will be willing to give their lives for Christ when they become aware of the responsibility that has been placed upon their shoulders.

Brother Ernesto Reyes (one of the young preachers) was shot at in a small town (Vicente Guerrero, Durango), by a fanatic Catholic when they were having services. Though the man missed him and ran away, the city authority did not pay much attention to the plea for justice and protection of our brethren there.

Several of the brethren in Calera, Zacatecas have been stoned many times by the mob of people which has all the time been instructed by the priest of that place.

Others have been killed just because they confess Christ as their Saviour and many others run out of town for the same cause. Can they do any thing else to us? They can kill the body, but not the soul. In spite of prejudice, ignorance and superstition the gospel of Christ is being preached. Would you be willing to have a part in the glorious work? Please let us know.

READ WHAT OTHERS SAY:

Evangelist Horace W. Busby says: "Of the many Bibles with special helps (I have at least six), which I have used and thoroughly examined, the Third Improved Edition of Thompson's New Chain Reference Bible is without doubt the most helpful. Because of its Numerical-Chain Reference System it really stimulates Bible study, and its helps are more exhaustive than those in other Bibles." J. N. Armstrong, M. A., LL. I would not want to be without a copy of this edition of the Bible at all." James F. Cox, M. A., Abilene Christian College, says: "The New Chain Refer-

The helps and general arrangement of this Bible are such that in my opinion it deserves a place in every home throughout the land." Evangelist W. A. Bentley says: "I consider the New Chain Reference Bible the best, most complete, useable, and practical Bible on the market today. It is a library of Bible information, a gold mine of spiritual truth. It inspires study and is a great time-saver. It makes the Bible easy and delightful to both young and old. THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

The Christian Life

I read a sermon in somebody's book entitled, "Christians Should Be Christians." The subject suggests a good thought, but it implies a contradiction of ideas. It implies that some Christians are not Christians, but there is no such thing as a Christian not being a Christian. One may assume the name "Christian" without being one in fact, but he is a hypocrite instead of a Christian. All church members are not Christians. Some of them are backsliders. A Christian is one who follows Christ. Backsliders and hypocrites do not follow Christ.

The New Testament shows men how to become Christians, and how to live the Christian life. There is not a human creed in the world that shows any one how to be a Christian. All that these creeds do is to show men how to not be Christians, but how to be sectarians.

On this subject two questions are important. First, what does the Bible command men to do in order to be Christians? Second, what does the Bible say Christians did? A New Testament example has the force of a commandment. Men were commanded to repent and be baptized to become Christians (Acts 2:38). This law has not been repealed. Then it is said of those who obeyed these commandments, "And they continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and in fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers" (Acts 2:42). The plan of the Christian life is simple—expressed in plain words that ordinary people can understand.

There are many church members who know their duty, but fail to do it. When they are exhorted by the brethren, they make excuses. They usually point to someone else who is not doing his duty. It is not wise for one to make a spiritual failure purposely because someone else has failed inadvertently. The greatest failure that anyone can make is to fail to be saved in eternity.

The Other Side of Death

The greatest incentive to the Christian life is eternal life. I am persuaded that the happiest life we can live on earth is the Christian life. Any pleasure that one may gain by worldliness is only for a season. Earthly enjoyment is not offered as a reward of the Christian life. Paul says, "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable" (1 Cor. 15:19).

Christians need a deeper conviction concerning eternal life. Apparently some are reluctant to relinquish their hold on the pleasures of earth, lest eternal life should fail to give them all that they have desired. They cannot sing, "I surrender all" from the bottom of their hearts. Such a doubt will cause them to be weak in devotion.

The confidence of Paul is inspiring. He said, "For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart and to be with Christ, which is far better. Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you" (Phil. 1:23, 24). Not many have as their exclusive aspiration for continuing to live simply that they may serve the Lord. Someone wrote a song for doubters, using these words:

"Could we but make those doubts remove, those doubts that are so high."

We will get along better when we remove them.

The Church In Germany After Six Years

Otis Gatewood

The progress of the work of the Lord in Germany during the first six years has far exceeded the fondest expectations of those of us who first came to Germany in 1947. We had hoped then by concentrated effort of a number of evangelists working in one place, within five or ten years to get one congregation fairly well established, and to train a few native evangelists to preach the gospel. We expected to find the Germans stubborn and hard to convert and very much bound by the traditions of their state religions. We thought perhaps it would be necessary to wait until we had trained the children of a new generation before we could say that the church was firmly established in Germany.

There are no elders in any of the congregations yet and none are self-supporting, but there are now in Germany, 29 congregations and 23 native German men who are giving full time to the work of the Lord. Thirteen of these men are already giving full time to preaching. They are: Dieter Fritschie, Lujian Boetcher, Rudi Walzebuech, Fred Casmir, Dieter Alten, Gunther Rochstroh, Klaus Goebels, Reiner Kallus, Hans Nowak, Rene Cheneaux Repond, Otto Miller, Ludwig Hoepfel, and Dieter Goebel. Ten of the twenty-three are giving full time to studying and preaching. Six are studying in Frankfurt and four are in Christian colleges in America. Those in Frankfurt are: Alfred Lenger, Albert Kniest, Franz Mueller, Paul Ziegert, Adi Schenk, Franz Sunderman. Those in America are: Edgar Knoobel, Henrich Blum, Kurt Blum, and Gottfried Reichel.

Twelve of the twenty-nine congregations speak English and are composed mostly of American soldiers, but nevertheless they are a very vital part of the work in Germany. In fact, six of the seventeen German-speaking congregations were estab-

Was Relief Work A Mistake?

We are all conscious of the fact that the success of a work in a mission field cannot be judged by the number of congregations established or by the number baptized, because young congregations and young Christians can die very easily if they are not given proper nourishment and personal attention. Many of those who have been baptized in Germany are no longer coming to church regularly. More people have been baptized in Frankfurt and more therefore have been lost to the church here than in any other place. Over a thousand people have been baptized in Frankfurt alone and only about three hundred and fifty of those can be described as faithful members of the church. That appears to be a very bad record. Some have thought that the large number have quit coming due to the fact that we now do very little or no relief work. Some therefore try to say that we made a great mistake in doing any relief work at all. Some mistakes were naturally made, but if I ever went to another war-torn country to preach the gospel and found people dying from hunger and cold because of a lack of clothing, I would recommend that Christian people arise again in the strength of the Lord to do what they could to help. The Bible says that pure religion and undefiled before God the Father is to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep one's self unspotted from the world (Jas. 2:27). There were many widows and orphans in affliction in Germany when we first came here in 1947. Christian people in America through those of us who were preaching the gospel in Germany did what they could to relieve that affliction and in my estimation a good work was done. In addition to the good we did to help those in need, other good things have resulted. The church of Christ is now looked upon as a church that not only preaches but also does. We are highly respected by the Frankfurt city officials and the mayor of the city (who has written excellent letters of recommendations to mayors and city officials of other cities where we have begun work), and as a result of what we did for the poor of Frankfurt the building of the West End congregation in Frankfurt is in one of the best locations of the city.

"They Went Everywhere Preaching The Word"

The fact that we have lost practically two-thirds of those baptized in Frankfurt is proof that the church is far from being definitely established when a large number of people have been baptized. But why did we lose them? Partly due to the reduction of relief work, but not entirely. In my estimation this is not even the major reason. At the time the large number of people were baptized in Frankfurt seventeen full-time workers were engaged in a concentrated effort to preach the gospel in this city. The success with which we met in baptizing this large number of people is proof that the method of concentration was good. When we were all working together I have seen as many as eight and nine hundred people per night under a tent listening to the preaching of the gospel of Christ. However, soon friends and relatives of members of the church in Frankfurt began asking for us to come to other cities to preach the gospel. This spread the gospel in other cities but it weakened our efforts in Frankfurt. Many evangelists gave their time and attention to other cities and in the long run it will prove a blessing to the spread of the gospel in Germany as a whole, but temporarily it has meant a setback for the work in Frankfurt. At the present time there are only five American evangelists in Frankfurt. They are: Keith Coleman, Howard Schug, Roy V. Palmer, Hugh Mingle, Otis Gatewood and their wives. Three women: Irene Johnson, Georgia Carver, and Kathryn Patton are engaged full time in children's classes and personal work. It was impossible for the reduced personnel to give personal attention and the teaching that is necessary to hold a large number of newly-baptized converts. We need not only to baptize people but also to be with them daily, Acts 5:42, in teaching them all things (Matt. 28:20).

Self-Supporting Congregations Developing

However, even though many in Frankfurt have been lost to the faith, those who have remained are a good nucleus around which well-established congregations can be built. Since the congregations here in Frankfurt are older than in most other places in Germany they are more fully developed than in some of the newer places. Several of the congregations have already adopted budgets, the men of the congregations meet each month and we urge them to take on as much responsibility as possible. One of the congregations in Frankfurt has a budget of approximately two hundred dollars per month. Our purpose in Germany is not to establish missions which will be indefinitely dependent on American money and American evangelists. Our aim is to develop the churches and Christians here to such an extent that the German churches and Christians can shoulder the responsibility of taking the gospel to all of their nation. Until the church is that far developed we cannot say that the church of the Lord has been fully and firmly established in Germany.

One might presume that with the rich background of Christian influence Germany has had it would be rather simple to develop the members of the church rather rapidly when they are once converted and baptized. In some respects the job is easy. For example, seldom do we find a German man who is not willing to lead a public prayer or to help in any of the public services in which we ask him to serve. However, herein lies one of our greatest dangers. Many who are willing to serve often take on more responsibility than they are capable of handling. When they meet with disappointments they are easily discouraged, and become so disillusioned as to quit the church. We have lost some good men in the church in Germany because we have placed too much responsibility on them too quickly. The exhortation to lay hands suddenly on no man can well be heeded in Germany.

The Future Germany Presents Even Greater Challenges

After six years we are still convinced that Germany presents one of the best opportunities that we now have to preach the gospel of Christ. Germany is still settling into a new way of life being greatly influenced by America. In spite of some mistakes that have been made by our government, Americans are still highly respected in Germany. This gives an American evangelist a great opportunity. When we first came here it was hard for us to understand some of their customs and to speak the German language. But we now know the customs and the language problem has been greatly overcome. For a while many Germans felt that the church of Christ was not here to stay—that the church would leave when the American Army left. But the fact that we have built permanent buildings in several of the cities is proof that we are here to stay. There is therefore, now, more stability to our work. The largest building with a seating capacity of approximately seven hundred has been erected in Frankfurt. Approximately five hundred people every Sunday use the building in addition to the use that is made of it in a daily Bible teaching program. The building is open from seven o'clock of mornings until 11:00 p.m. at nights, and I do not know of a church building in the brotherhood that is used more than this one here in Frankfurt. Here evangelists, elders, personal workers, Sunday school teachers, and song leaders are given daily instruction in the Bible. Ten of the thirteen German evangelists were trained here in Frankfurt. It would indeed be an inspiration for some of you brethren to hear some of them preach the word of God. One of them, Klaus Goebels, is now holding a meeting in the Westend congregation in Frankfurt. I have never heard the gospel preached more firmly and yet more kindly than he is now preaching it. Over one hundred non-members of the church have been present every night to hear him preach. Not many churches have a chance to preach to that many people who are not Christians in gospel meetings.

Classes For Children Play An Important Role

We believe the future of the church depends on the coming generation. For that reason every opportunity possible is taken to teach children the word of God. In practically every congregation in Germany you will find that a large number of children are being taught. Irene Johnson, Betty Roemer, and Georgia Carver are giving much of their time to these children and to training German young ladies to teach these children. Large numbers of young married couples who were reared under the Nazi influence are now struggling hard to make a comeback. In many instances both father and mother work. They, therefore, seek to find a place where they can leave their children during the day. A goodly number are already being kept in our building at Senckenberg Anlage and are being taught the word of the Lord daily. Twice a year approximately one thousand different children stay in our building during the Frankfurt International Fairs while their parents attend the Fair. We have a chance of teaching them the Bible and making contact with many of their parents in this way. More than eight thousand people visited our building during the last two fairs.

We found after several summers of experience that most of our children in our Sunday school classes went away into the mountains during the summer. Most went to a Lutheran or Catholic camp. We tried to have vacation Bible schools but they were not successful due to the fact that all the children were gone to the mountains. This last summer we took all the children in our classes to our own camp in the mountains and for six weeks we taught them the Bible daily. We have therefore solved this problem and found a wonderful opportunity to teach the word of God.

Tent Meetings, Correspondence Courses, Tracts And Literature

When we first came to Germany we found that tent meetings attracted many people who would not come inside of a building to hear the gospel of Christ. This summer, two tents have been constantly in use and the success of all the meetings has proved that this is still a very successful medium of preaching the gospel. In every meeting that is held, cards are always available for any who wish to give their names and addresses to receive the correspondence Bible course offered by Brother Dieter Alten of Mannheim or to receive our monthly paper Neuestestamentliches Christentum. These are sent to any who wish them without cost. The German people are still ready to read almost anything they can get their hands on and we are trying to take advantage of this while the opportunity is available. One of the greatest needs now in Germany is to get as many of the books of our brethren translated into German as soon as possible. If this were done it would be a great medium of strengthening and firmly establishing those who are yet young and weak in the faith. One of the first books we wish to print is the "Church of Christ" by Phillips. The book is already translated and ready for print. If anyone would be interested in helping to print this valuable book into German we would be glad to hear from them. Recently Brother Leonard Worgan from England visited our third annual European lectureship. After returning home he wrote, "Now looking back on my visit the most vivid impression I retain is one which I became aware of during one of the services in the large auditorium. As I listened to the singing I thought, 'The church has come to Germany to stay.' I believe this. My impression is not of a struggling mission, but of an established cause, which only needs food and exercise to make it grow and expand. With no desire to flatter I feel that a wonderful work is being done in Germany and the deep prayer of my heart is that the Lord may continue to bless your efforts. I feel, too, that I can only say, 'This is the Lord's doing and it is marvelous in our eyes.'" We are thankful to Brother Worgan for these words. We only wish that more of you brethren in America who have helped get the work of the Lord started in Germany could also visit here and see what you have helped to accomplish. We believe you too would be happy. It costs only a little over $300.00 to make a round trip from New York to Germany. Why don't more of you brethren visit us here next summer? We would be delighted to have you.

Five Years In Italy With The Gospel

J. R. Chisholm

January 14, 1953, marked the beginning of the present effort to establish the church of the Lord within the borders of an Italy that has been held under the control of a domineering Catholic church for many hundreds of years. The claim of the Catholic church is that 99 per cent of the people are members of that church, but strange to say less than 25 per cent are faithful and many who had been faithful are now skeptics and some are openly atheistic.

While the Catholic church cannot hold the hearts of the people with their doctrine, it is able through political and economic means to exert such pressure that the majority of the people are afraid to embrace any other religion. Protestant bodies have existed in Italy for more than a hundred years, yet they have made little progress.

We were not ignorant of the difficulties to be faced in carrying the gospel into this land but it was in confidence of the Lord's power and with his words, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" ringing in their ears, that faithful gospel preachers have dared to enter Italy and to proclaim the gospel.

The priests of Rome have played upon the superstitious fears of the Italian people to create hatred against gospel preachers and Italian Christians. Riots have been staged that resulted in bodily harm to some of them. Loss of homes and jobs is not uncommon. The police have been called upon to forcibly close meeting houses and keep the people from worshipping God. Fines and jail sentences have been imposed upon some who dared to preach the gospel. Under such a deluge of trials the faith of some has faltered and failed. On the other hand these trials have built and strengthened others, who, having passed through their Gethsemane, stand as the vanguard of tried and true soldiers of the cross.

Here is what has been done:

1. 600 faithful Christians in Italy.
2. 20 or more congregations meeting.
3. 11 American preachers in Italy.
4. 16 Italian preachers in the work.
5. 8 student preachers.
6. 3 church buildings, another to be purchased.
7. A school for preachers in Milan.
8. Correspondence course in Bible.
9. Tracts and Testaments given by the thousand.
10. A weekly radio program.
11. An orphanage for boys.

Churches are established in some of the larger cities of Italy: Rome, Milan, Florence, Leghorn, Padova, Catanzaro, and Messina in Sicily. The preachers in the Milan area do the teaching in a school for preachers in their building. Eight or more students have had one year or more of training. $40.00 per month will supply food and clothing for a student. Tuition is free. The church in Rome offers a correspondence course in Bible that has been placed in the hands of hundreds and has converted many.

Fourteen Italian preachers are fully supported in their work by churches of America. Two or three others need support. Five of these preachers are former priests of the Catholic church. Four are from the other denominations.

Three church buildings that will seat nearly 250 persons are owned in Rome, Milan, and Velletri. All have classroom facilities. Another is to be purchased in Padova shortly. These buildings are valued at more than $100,000.

A weekly radio program was begun over station Monte Carlo during the month of June that covers the entire country of Italy. Brother Ralph Graham prepares the lessons which are delivered by Brother Sparagna.

At Frascati, 15 miles below Rome, Villa Speranza, a home for boys is operated under the oversight of the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, Brownfield, Texas, with Brother Carl Hecker as superintendent. Thirty-one boys are enjoying Christian love and care because Christians of America and other lands have Christ-tendered hearts and provide the fellowship necessary. This home and equipment cost $60,000.

These are among the things that have been accomplished through the past five years. This is but the beginning. Now 27 preachers of the gospel labor there and more than 600 faithful men and women are the results of their labors. The things that God has done through his servants in Italy should be the means of lifting our hearts high as we look toward the future.

The Work In Scotland

Andrew Gardiner

I. Historical

Scotland has a religious history of controversy and division. In the main the Church of Scotland (Presbyterian) has held sway since 1560 when the reformed church was made the national religion. However various questions of expediency have divided the people, and disrupted the unity of the national church. Various movements pleading for reform appeared in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, while among the Scotch Baptists may be found traces of an effort to restore some aspects of the Lord's church.

Among early preachers of the Restoration Movement the names of G. C. Reid, T. H. Milner, and C. Abercrombie figure prominently, and during the latter half of the nineteenth century churches were built up in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Central Scotland, Fife, and the North East. Brother James Anderson, a faithful gospel preacher and debater contributed greatly to the strength of the church in Scotland, and many other brethren have labored faithfully in the gospel.

II. Digression

Innovations came to Scotland more slowly than to England and America. The 'Canny' disposition of the Scottish people has helped to keep the churches from being completely overwhelmed. Great havoc has been wrought, however, and especially in the great cities, many of the churches have adopted digressive methods.

III. Remnant

About seventeen or eighteen congregations have made a definite break with Digression. There are many other brethren who sympathize with the stand that has been taken. The membership of these congregations is about 600. They are widely scattered over the country, and about ten have their own meeting-houses. Brother W. Crosthwaite has made a great fight against the innovations, and has played a great part in saving these congregations.

IV. Present Position

1. The churches are small and widely scattered. This is difficult for the brethren to get together in numbers for fellowship and encouragement, and also for speakers to visit them. However it is profitable in this that at present we have small bridgeheads scattered all over Scotland, from which the gospel of Christ can be carried to the whole country.

2. Support for the preaching of the Word. It is very difficult for small congregations who have large buildings to maintain to find support for preachers. This is reflected in the fact that at present only Brother David Dougal and the writer are devoting their full time to gospel work. However there are a number of loyal and faithful men, who while they are engaged in secular occupations are devoting much time to the Lord's work. These brethren constitute the real strength of the Restoration Movement in Scotland today, and our hope for the future of the work. They make great sacrifice of time, effort, and money to assist weak churches, and to preach the gospel of Christ.

V. Future Prospects

1. Our first plan is to save and confirm all the churches that we have at present as far as this is possible. Brother D. Dougal is doing a wonderful work in this respect, visiting many of the churches and faithfully teaching the Word of God to the brethren.

2. While we save what churches we have, we must train leaders for the future. We need workers who are prepared to support themselves while devoting much time to the Lord's work, and we also need to train many brethren to go out to preach the word all over the land. Many young brethren have asked for training in this way and we are planning to conduct classes for these brethren.

3. While we concentrate our efforts on confirming the churches and training leaders for the future, we must at the same time press the work of evangelization. This falls into three categories.

(a) Great centres of population. In Edinburgh and Glasgow there are two small groups who are striving to establish strong New Testament churches in these cities. Glasgow is a city of one million inhabitants, and yet there are fewer than thirty members in the only congregation in the city which does not use instrumental music in the services. The writer is to spend some time working with this church during the winter of 1953-54. Our first need is for a suitable meeting-place in a residential part of the city. At present the church meets in an old store in the slum section of the city. Edinburgh is a city of just over a half million in population. Here there are five brethren struggling to try to build up a church on the Lord's pattern. They too are hampered by an unsuitable meeting-place in a difficult area of the city. These two cities are real centres of digression. In both the digressives have wrought great havoc, and it seems that both could use faithful gospel preachers to devote all their time to evangelizing in the various parts of these great centres of population.

(b) Rural Districts. Here there are more pleasing aspects of the problem of carrying the gospel to the lost. Brother D. Dougal is doing good work with the various little churches that are scattered throughout the mining areas of central Scotland. He is helped by many able brethren who are devoting much of their leisure time to the preaching of the Word while working to support themselves and their families. The writer has spent some time with churches in rural areas, but still much more needs to be done.

(c) New Causes. There are many areas in Scotland where at one time flourishing churches existed, but now are no more. Also there are many towns where the gospel has not yet been preached in its purity and simplicity. Steeped in the traditions of Presbyterianism these areas present a very difficult field in which to work. Surely they present a great challenge to those of us who are members of the New Testament church.

In contrast to these places are the new towns. In Scotland a great new housing program is being carried out by the government. This has built up huge new areas including some new towns, and also new suburbs to the older towns. People moving into these areas have broken with many of the ties of the old life. This presents to us a great opportunity to preach the gospel in what are really pioneering conditions. Plans are in hand to launch a new work in one of these areas.

The church in Scotland has over the years given many leaders to the cause in other lands. Brethren leaving the 'Old Country' and going out to seek fortunes in lands beyond the seas, have carried with them the principles of the Restoration Movement. This has greatly weakened the church in this country. As a result of this and of the great fight against digression, the church in Scotland is weak, and greatly in need of help and encouragement. Further information about the 'Work in Scotland' may be received from: Brother D. Dougal, Seaview Cottage, Wallacestone, Near Polmont, Stirlingshire, Scotland, or from the writer of this article.

The Crossroads Of The Pacific

F. B. Shepherd

The Hawaiian Islands are actually an archipelago sprawling for more than one thousand miles across the North Pacific. In the main group there are seven islands with a total population approximating half a million. The land area is about 6,500 square miles. The straight line distance between the outmost islands is 300 miles. There is excellent boat and plane service between these islands.

This archipelago is appropriately named the "Paradise of the Pacific." Here is climate perhaps not duplicated in any other part of the globe. The highest temperature recorded in Honolulu, on Oahu, is 88 degrees. The lowest 58. The average in August is 75. However, you can find snow and enjoy skiing on the top of some mountain peaks on the other islands. The average rainfall in Honolulu, the capital of the Territory, is 30 inches. At one spot on Mount Maiale (the wettest spot in the world) on the island of Kauai, the average rainfall is more than 600 inches. Less than 20 miles away it is fewer than 20 inches.

However, the Hawaii we Christians should be particularly interested in is that part which has to do with the activities of the household of the faith, and the spreading of the gospel of the Christ. It is doubtful if there is another spot in the world of comparative area where the population is as cosmopolitan. Of the approximately half a million listed in the official census of 1950 there are 189,000 Japanese; 13,000 are Chinese; 32,000 Filipinos; 13,000 pure Hawaiian; 77,000 part Hawaiian; 10,000 Puerto Rican; 7,000 Korean; 70,000 Caucasian. Added to these figures there are of course a score or more thousand men in the Armed Forces, principally on Oahu. What a challenge this is to those who are advocates of the "New Testament Gospel"; the "Unadulterated Gospel"; the "Restoration of churches after the New Testament prototype."

Here you rub shoulders every day with followers of Buddha, Confucius, Joseph Smith, Mary Baker Eddy, Pope Pius XII, Shintoism, the Talmuds, Christianity. For the size of the Territory and number of citizens there are few, if any, other places in the world where devotees of so many sects, "isms," and religions can be found together. This fact offers a tremendous challenge to the members of the church Christ built and imbued with the Christlike desire to "Teach all Nations." If it is variety and experience in religious activity one is seeking he can find it in the fewest number of minutes and the smallest amount of travelling right here at the "Crossroads."

The church of our Lord has been in the islands at least forty years. We have one brother still attending worship occasionally who has been here that long. Brother J. M. McCaleb preached in Honolulu several times on his early journeys to and from Japan. This single congregation is located in Honolulu, on Oahu, the most densely populated and best-known of the entire archipelago. There are 328,219 persons on this 604 square miles. 228,562 live in this capitol city. Oahu is the site of Pearl Harbor, where on December 7, 1941, practically the whole of our Pacific Fleet was sunk in the sneak attack of the Japanese. The battlewagon Arizona still remains on the bottom of the harbor, with part of her superstructure rising above the water. She has been sealed to form the tomb of the eleven hundred sailors and marines who perished when she was bombed and sunk. Adjoining Pearl Harbor is Hickam Field, still showing some of the scars made by machine gun fire when the bulk of our planes were destroyed before they could leave the ground.

At the other side of Oahu is famed Waikiki with its beach, Surf-riding, Out-rigger canoeing, and a score of other attractions provided for tourists and residents alike. Thousands of tourists come and go twelve months in the year. They bask in the sunshine and swim in the blue Pacific. For sheer beauty there are no hotels that surpass the Royal Hawaiian. The floral decorations, which are changed every day, are a year round "Flower Show," gorgeous in their colors, and almost breath-taking in the variety and arrangements.

The growth of the church has been very slow and quite checkered. There is little to be told about its existence until the early twenties when Brother J. H. Pennell came and worked with the few for approximately one year. Later Brother Max Langpaap, when he was refused permission by the British to enter the Union of South Africa after the first world war for the preaching of the gospel in its pristine purity, elected to spend a while in Hawaii. He stayed only a few months. No permanent place of worship was acquired during those years.

During 1942, when the number of men in the Armed Forces coming to the island began to increase there grew up a demand for a permanent place of worship. Brother Osby Weaver came about that time. Under his capable leadership, and with the hearty cooperation of the service personnel, the present place of worship was purchased in the autumn of 1944 at a cost of $35,000. Most of the money was contributed by the members of the church who were members of the Armed Forces. Some contributions were sent from the Mainland by interested persons. This building was a beautiful old mansion. It is located at 1732 Keeaumoku, in a nice residential section. A section where there are also a dozen other places of worship representing at least three entirely different systems of religion; e.g., Buddha, Shinto, Christian. This building has been remodeled several times but has gradually deteriorated until something must be done immediately to counteract and replace the damage that has been done by time and termites. Plans are being drawn right now for a new, fireproof and termite-proof meeting house to replace the present structure. The city authorities will not allow any further remodelling under any circumstances. The present plans call for a building to be erected in three units to gradually replace what we have now. With the completion of the third stage the present frame building will be entirely eliminated. At present there is in the treasury sufficient money to finance about half of the estimated cost of unit one.

While work in Honolulu really cannot be known by the designation "Foreign Missions" it is indeed an "outpost" for the spreading of the gospel throughout the Pacific area. Through here and out from here, members of the church go west until they find themselves in the "Far East." Men will be "serving the table" in Honolulu one Lord's day and engaged in a similar capacity in Japan the next. Eighty-five percent of the congregation is made up of persons just that transient. These men and their families are with us a few days; a few months; in rare cases, several years. In many cases the families of the men only are here. The husbands and fathers are on the high seas, or in the air, between the Mainland, Alaska, the Far East, and other places connected with the far flung lines of the United States Pacific Command.

The "local" people are Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos, Portuguese, Koreans, and Caucasians (Haoles) migrated from the Mainland. But they comprise one happy and united family, all living and worshipping together in the happiest of Christian fellowship and mutual love. It is thrilling to be a part of a congregation where there is practically illustrated the New Testament idea of: "Neither Jew nor Greek, bond or free, male and female; circumcision, uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, bondsman, freeman; but Christ is all, and in all."

Like everywhere else people live and the gospel is preached there is a need here for expansion of our activities. Brother Ben Guillermo, a Filipino, but born on the island and thus a native of Hawaii, graduate of Abilene Christian College, is working now toward beginning another congregation at the other end of the island. This will be slow and difficult but I believe Ben is fully capable of making a success if given time and encouragement. At present the Tenth and Francis Streets church in Oklahoma City is supporting him financially. Then there is the "Big Island"—Hawaii. So far as we know there is only one person who is simply a Christian over there. We certainly should have a worker in Hilo, the principal town. One or two attempts have been made to get a congregation started in Hilo, but there seems not to have been man or money to carry on until completion of the effort. We have some plans readying to send several families to Hawaii to become a nucleus. The peculiar need of the cause in these islands is for men of age, experience, and Bible knowledge who can fill the office of the bishop. Our entire membership is made up of young people. Most of them are young in years, the remainder, young in the church. Here is a wonderful land in which to establish a home and at the same time stabilize the church.

WHY DID YOU QUIT SMOKING AND WASN'T IT AWFULLY HARD TO QUIT?

David E. Parker

This question has been asked this writer many times. People who know that I had used cigarettes for many (18) years have asked this question and are seemingly surprised at my answers.

I have never stated nor can I so state that I believe the use of tobacco will send a soul to hell. I have read many articles on "smoking" or "use of tobacco" and have never found the arguments to be very forceful. Arguments such as "tobacco destroys the body (the fleshly)" are too weak to use. Many other things we daily use also do this harm such as; over-eating; coffee; losing sleep when unnecessary, etc. "It is unnecessary and costly." This argument is also weak in the fact that we look over other things that are also costly and unnecessary such as; sodas; tea; coffee; candy; ball games; more conveniences in the home; ice cream, and many other things.

I did not quit smoking because of these things or arguments but because of deeper reasons that to me are much more forceful. I can not say that I have enjoyed better health since I quit smoking. I have found no difference in the way I feel physically. The following reasons are the "why" I quit smoking.

"... but be thou an example to the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity" (1 Tim. 4:12). I have yet to find a father who desires his children to take up the habit of smoking if he is a smoker. I have never met a preacher that wants the young folks of the church to follow his example "in smoking" if he is a smoker (and there are quite a few). Doesn't this thought seem odd in connection with what Paul told Timothy to do in way of being an example? Should those "examples" smoke and then teach others it is best not to do so? Rather they ought to be ashamed. Is a smoker preacher (elder or deacon) an example of purity? For myself I do not think so.

"... to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed" (Titus 2:5). I contend that if an aged woman smokes she is unfit to teach the younger woman to be "chaste" and "good." A smoking woman is no picture of the one Paul had in mind I am sure. Then can the preacher who smokes be an encouragement to this teaching and an example to these?

"In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; ..." (1 Tim. 2:9). Teach the women the full meaning of this and continue to be an example to them and I dare say you will see what I mean when I say "why I quit smoking." These women are to be in like manner also to the men mentioned above in the 8th verse. If it is a bad example for women to smoke it is also bad for the man and more so for those in the lead, for they are the stewards. "Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." I believe he means faithful in things also, in any manner that we can be faithful.

There are so many things that I find weak and wrong in my life while trying to be an example, it behooves me to try to purify my life of as many of them as I possibly can. I could overcome the habit of smoking so I desired to do so that I might have greater influence on the flock, to which I must be an example if I desire to preach the gospel of Christ. These are only a few of the reasons and arguments I give for my quitting "tobacco."

Wasn't It Hard For You To Quit?

The gnawing, craving for tobacco never bothered me. The habit of taking something out of my pocket and putting it in my mouth did. I satisfied this nervousness with tooth-picks and match stems. After a few weeks this habit left me. Sure I gained some weight but as soon as I became accustomed to it the excess weight soon left me and I returned to my average weight.

This advice I would give to those who would like to quit the habit of smoking. You must first have a desire to quit and have good reason for quitting. The will must be set before you will succeed. There is no need to "try to quit." Those who try to quit never get the job done for to begin with they are "wondering if they can quit." Paul has said "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me." Make up the mind that you want to quit first, keep in mind the reason for quitting, pray to the Father for strength and you can be the master of this habit. You must believe that you are the master of this body before you can overcome this or other habits that should be broken.

If there is a strong desire to crave tobacco, inhale two or three deep breaths (as though you were trying to burst the lungs). This will stop the craving, which is really in the mind.

If this inspires others and helps anyone then the purpose has been accomplished and I am glad. Give thanks to God.

What Does The Bible Say?

ETERNAL CERTAINTIES AMIDST UNCERTAINTIES

George Sokolsky wrote a column on "The Lost Generation" in which he emphasized the uncertainties of our times and pointed to Whittaker Chambers as an example of the unstable youth who turned to Communism during the 1930's. Recently we have been reading of other Americans who were converted to Communism while they were prisoners in North Korea. This leads us to stress the certainties of life amidst its uncertainties.

The Bible teaches us that many things are uncertain. Men are changeable. "Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sons of man, in whom there is no help" (Psalm 146). Wealth is uncertain. Jesus said: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth where moth and rust consume and thieves break through and steal . . ." The future is uncertain. "Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth" (Prov. 27). Life itself is uncertain. "For what is your life? It is even a vapor, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away" (James 4).

But some things are certain too. For example, death is certain. The Bible says that after death we can be sure of a day of judgment. "It is appointed unto men once to die and after that the judgment" (Heb. 9:27). At the judgment we can be sure there will be a separation between those who have done God's will and those who have refused to obey him. "And he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats . . ." (Matt. 25).

On the positive side we can be sure that if we obey the teachings of Christ we are building our lives on a solid rock, a sure foundation (Matt. 7). By faith we Christians "look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen, for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal" (2 Cor. 4). The Bible teaches us that not any good deed which is done in the name of the Lord will be wasted, not even a cup of cold water (Matt. 10). It also teaches us that we can be sure of the love of God in Christ if we walk in harmony with his will. Can you say with Paul, "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Rom. 8).

You can count on God's promises. Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ today, turn from your sins, and be buried with your Lord in baptism unto the remission of sins, and be sure that you are right with God (Acts 2:38). You can depend upon God. He will bless you in your life in the church here, and with eternal life hereafter. Lay hold on the Christian's hope "as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast . . ." "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (2 Cor. 5). In Christ and his kingdom there is certainty in the midst of uncertainty. Obey him today!

Alberta's Capitol Needs Building

Roy Tidwell

Edmonton, a city of approximately 200,000 people, is the capitol city of the province of Alberta. And Alberta, where is that? Well, in size, it approximates the size of the state of Texas! It is claimed (by Canadians, not Texans) to have more oil than the state of Texas; and is everywhere recognized as "Texas of the North." Alberta lies between Montana, Idaho, and Dakota on the south and Alaska on the north—well, almost to Alaska, anyway.

The city of Edmonton is "on the Al-can"; that great expanse of highway leading to Fairbanks, Alaska. We may also say, it is 400 miles north of Montana and about the last place to grab a bite to eat, before taking off for the north-wood.

Alberta has everything that Texas has: almost, that is! We're short on Christians! Texas is noted for the number of members on the "church rolls," as well as the many other things you've possibly heard about. Alberta, which, as we have stated, is about the size of the Lone Star State, but it has only two congregations of New Testament Christians—Calgary and Edmonton. These are about as far apart as some Texas ranch fences—200 miles! Alberta has three preachers, two congregations and one small church building.

ALBERTA NEEDS ANOTHER BUILDING! Edmonton is the center of much activity and many people are migrating to Alberta because of oil development and other commercial and industrial expansion. Many millions of dollars; from Britain, the United States, and other places are being invested in Alberta oil. Edmonton is the center of this activity. At this writing several business buildings of 5 to 8 story steel construction are being built. A new $6,000,000 government building—an ultra-modern business district, costing $5,000,000, is to start soon! Enterprises are springing up on every hand. Edmonton is soon to have commercial non-stop British Jet Strato-cruiser service, reaching from London to Edmonton, then non-stop again to Tokyo, Japan. The city, according to the local Chamber of Commerce, is enjoying a numerical growth of better than 1,400 persons per month. You can well see the potential of such a city.

The church in Edmonton is only 5 months old. Though small in number, (eight at present) the church has already purchased three spacious lots in one of the finest locations in greater Edmonton for the erection of a building, come spring. We expect to begin construction not later than June 30th. (The severe winters and late thaws here make building earlier almost impossible). Our agreement with the city (an agreement which was necessary, the land being purchased from the city) calls for construction to start immediately after the spring thaw. We expect to meet the demands of the Edmonton City Planning Commission. Will you help us?

One thing is definitely in our favor: labor here is some cheaper, and we will not have a very large building (one seating from 225 to 250 will be sufficient). Materials, however, are some higher than in the states. But we must have help to start construction. We believe that we must have not less than $5,000 before construction can start. If you have blue prints of your own building (approximating the size of the one above suggested) and would lend them to us, we would appreciate receiving them; thus being able to save an architect fee here. We will return them to you upon request.

Brother Sidney Roper and I are laboring together in order that we might get the work firmly established as soon as possible. Our personal support is being underwritten by brethren and churches in the States. But these brethren are not in a position to build our building; not by themselves, though we have reason to believe they will help some. We sincerely solicit your cooperation in this good work. You may mail your contributions direct to the church in Edmonton, P. O. Box 396, or to Brother Roper at 10723 107th Street, Edmonton, Alberta. Let us hear from you soon!

EDITORIAL

WORLD-WIDE EVANGELISM

When we made a call for reports from gospel preachers from many parts of the world, the responses were 'so many' that it was impossible to include all the reports in one issue. So many of these were left in the "overflow" that it is of special interest to our readers to know that we have devoted quite a portion of our space this week to publication of these good messages from many lands.

This office has prompt and regular correspondence from the churches and preachers engaged in the Lord's work in foreign lands and we are much pleased with the manner in which everything is being conducted. So many of these churches in many lands and places are a result of military occupation by American forces. Among the soldiers and sailors, in the army, in the navy and in special assignments in military constabularies, many are faithful Christians, young men from the best Christian homes in our land and from the strongest and best churches of Christ in our country. The faithfulness of these younger men in the church is highly commendable. Many of them seem to be conspicuously diligent and active to the obligations of the church. It is interesting to know that song books, Bibles, Testaments, communion services and other church supplies are being sent regularly to many of the islands of the sea, as well as to many foreign countries.

Many of our readers have sons and also daughters in these foreign fields. They recognize the responsibilities of the Lord's worship on the Lord's day, and of activities in the line of leading others into the truth of the gospel. It is amazing what has been accomplished during the last few years. We are glad that this work is being done in the same manner that it is being done in our own country, where there are no organizations, whatever, other than the church in doing mission work at home and abroad. It is a misrepresentation to report that these brethren are going digressive in church organization. They are from the homes of loyal brethren and sisters all about us, and from the best working congregations in our country, the congregations that are supporting the ministers of the word of God in our own land and who, in their zeal, are carrying the message of truth to other lands.

When we read of so many hundreds and even thousands who have been baptized in different countries, such as Germany, Japan and the Philippines, we are not surprised that there are among them some backsliders. That is exactly the case in our own country where large numbers have been baptized during gospel meetings. Many of our best preachers have baptized in one meeting as many as 100 people and even more, and when a return to that locality for another meeting, by that preacher or some other preacher, in the course of two years, it has been frequently noticed that quite a large percent of converts have become backsliders. This emphasizes the importance, the very great importance, of teaching and training in their early experience as Christians.

We are glad to present the fine reports in this issue of the paper that were offered, but could not be used in last week's issue of the Firm Foundation. We should all rejoice in the great work that is being done for the cause of the Master. Let us thank God and take courage.

For the information of those who are calling for them, we can still fill a number of orders of last week's issue at $4.00 per hundred.

THIRD ANNUAL LECTURES ON PREACHING

Walter E. Burch

B. C. Goodpasture, editor of the Gospel Advocate, Nashville, Tenn., will be the guest lecturer at the Third Annual Lectures on Preaching set for Dec. 7-11 at Abilene Christian College.

The ten lectures will follow the theme of "Paul's Instructions to Timothy on the Work of Preaching," and material will be drawn from Paul's two epistles to Timothy.

The series was inaugurated in 1951 with John Banister, minister of the Skillman Avenue Church of Christ, Dallas, as the first lecturer. Last December the lectures were delivered by Gus Nichols, preacher for the church of Christ at Jasper, Ala.

The lectures are designed to inform and inspire preachers and prospective preachers, as well as to supplement instruction on homiletics, Dr. Barton explains.

Although arranged primarily for ACC ministerial students, the lectures are open to any preacher or anyone interested. Dr. Barton urges out-of-town preachers, especially those in the Abilene area, to attend the meetings.

Mr. Goodpasture began preaching at Holly Springs, Tennessee, in 1912. He received his A. B. degree from David Lipscomb College, Nashville, in 1918. He has also studied at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky. He has preached regularly for congregations in Georgia and Tennessee.

He served the Hillsboro church in Nashville from 1939 to 1951. He usually holds about six meetings per year. He has been editor of the Gospel Advocate since 1939 and president of the company since 1950. He is now an elder for the Hillsboro congregation in Nashville.

The Missionary Work In Korea For Past, Present and Future

S. K. Dong

Past—

In 1930, I heard the truth and accepted the truth, after I had preached denominationally for 14 years. Some churches of Nashville, Tennessee; Montgomery, Alabama, and others sent me back to Korea on October 1, 1930, to preach the gospel only. They did this because they remembered our Lord's command to his disciples just before his ascension; and what Paul said in Romans 10:12-17. Since then I have preached nothing but the gospel. As a result, many Koreans have heard and accepted the truth, becoming members of the body of Christ; and I established seven congregations in the section north of the 38th parallel. We built six church houses and bought one.

When we began to build the church houses, the men gave money and their time for the work. But, the women couldn't give money for usually they have no money. This is what they did: When they cooked the rice, they took one spoonful of rice from each member of the family every meal and put it into a small sack for the whole week, and brought it to the church on Lord's day morning and put it into the big box which was in the corner of the church. The amount was small, but every family brought rice, and after a few months the box was full. Then they sold the rice and paid the debts on the church house. In this way they didn't have any debts on the church house. You may think it was a very easy way to raise the money. But it was the hardest thing to do for the poor Christian women because at meal time the children would come to their mothers and say, "Mama, is there any more rice for me?" She couldn't give any more rice to her loving child, for usually the mothers didn't have enough rice for themselves at the meal. So they said to their children, "Next meal"; and the hungry children have to wait for the next meal time. But the next meal time is the same. She couldn't cook plenty of rice for they must cook only so much rice each meal in order that they can live the whole year with what their husbands brought in at the harvest time. You know, they are just like American mothers—they love their children. Don't you think the poor Korean Christian women are presenting their "bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God"? (Rom. 12:1). Indeed, they are.

Since the Soviet Army occupied the country north of the 38th parallel, we lost everything and came to Seoul. There I began to preach the truth, and established four congregations. But again the church houses were destroyed and many Christians were killed. The church lost one of its best deacons in Seoul (Brother Shin).

Present—

There are seven congregations in the extreme south of Korea which are very active. I established only one of them before I came to America this time. It is very interesting how the other six congregations were established.

In Pusan, I established one congregation by the help of Brother E. W. Miller (Chaplain) from Lakeland, Florida. The two others were established by Brothers Lee, Kang and my son, the congregation being made up of refugees. The Sheffield church of Christ in Sheffield, Alabama, supports Brother Kim, the minister of the First Church in Pusan; and the Eastside Central church in Detroit, Michigan, supports Brother Lee, the minister of the other church in Pusan. No church supports the third minister yet.

In Taegu, Sister Aichoo Kang, a school teacher whom I met on a train, and preached to her and she accepted the truth; so I baptized her in Seoul before I came to America this time. She came to Taegu as one of the refugees and married Major Min. I heard about this and wrote to my son to go there and find out about her faith. He found her very faithful. I wrote him to go there with one of the local preachers, Brother Kang, to hold a preaching meeting in her home. They did this and the result was that thirteen Koreans were baptized by one of the American brothers sent by Brother Silvey. Major Min was one of the 13. Brother Silvey helped the Koreans to establish the church there. Brother Lim is a young minister, supported by the Hillsboro Church of Christ of Nashville, Tennessee. The church was growing and Sister Kang's house was too small for the meetings. They raised some money and Brother Henson (Lt. Col.) helped them some and I sent to them $2,000.00 from the Korean Mission Fund which Trinity Lane Church of Christ in Nashville, Tennessee, kept. Now they have a nice church house to worship our Lord. I am sure that some of you brethren would be happy to know of this, who contributed for the Korean mission fund to help the Koreans.

In Ulsan, the late Brother Moon Suk Dang's mother-in-law, who had learned the truth through her son-in-law, lives in Ulsan. She had the faith in her heart and had withstood all of the persecutions through many years by her relatives and others. Sister Kang, wife of Brother Kang, is teaching in the public school in Pusan. Through her my son knew something about the church there. He wrote me about it, and I wrote him to go there and have a preaching meeting with the preacher. He and Brother Lee went there and held the meeting. Some of those there who were baptized by Brother Moon Suk Kang wanted to come back to the true church of Christ. Brother Kang's mother-in-law gave a lot and I also sent to them $1,100 from the Korean mission fund to build a church house. Now they have a very nice congregation. The work of Brother Moon Suk Kang who sowed the seed of truth is growing. Some of you brethren in the United States who supported him many years ago will be glad to know this. Brother Ju Kup Dong is the preacher there, and the West Helena church in West Helena, Arkansas, will support him.

In Kwangju, there was a small digressive church. Four of the 160 Korean military officers who were baptized at Fort Benning, Georgia, went there to be teachers at the Korean Military School; and they began to conduct a real true worship and established the true church of Christ. Two hundred and seventy dollars was sent from the collections at Fort Benning, Georgia, to buy a house in which to worship the Lord. There is still $240.83 in the bank to use for the Kwangju church, which was the result of the Fort Benning work. Brother Kang is the minister there. I baptized him in Seoul, where he was a Presbyterian preacher. The Philadelphia Church of Christ will support him.

In Puyo, Sister Chan Syell Kim came there with her seven daughters. She became a true Christian in China. It was very interesting to hear her story—the late Brother Moon Suk Kang's mother was converted by her son, who was a Presbyterian church Bible woman for many years and received a higher salary, and she helped her son in the Lord's work. I am sorry to say that Brother Kang died. Then the American brethren stopped their support to him and his family. She could not stay with her daughter-in-law and two grand-daughters for they have no income to live on. She then went to China where her son-in-law is the Presbyterian church missionary from Korea to preach to Koreans there. She stayed in the Presbyterian church preacher's home but she kept the truth in her heart just the same. We have a proverb in Korea: "If anyone has a needle in the pocket, the point of the needle comes out when the pocket is touched."

Doyle Cannon held a good meeting in Burnet in October, in which four were baptized and one was restored. Brother Cannon is a firm gospel preacher, and did a good work.

R. B. Vick, 824 2nd Street West, Williston, N. Dakota, November 2: We are meeting in Williston, North Dakota, in the county courthouse for worship and Bible study. We met the first time on the 4th of October, 1953.

Rufus R. Clifford, Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, November 4: I preached in a meeting for the church in Crossville, Tennessee, in October. Record crowds attended, two were baptized, one restored and one placed membership. Roy E. Hearn, the preacher, and the church there have accomplished a remarkable work in the past few years. I will be in Camden, South Carolina, November 9-17. David Arnold is the preacher there. Two were baptized here in the past week.

Bryan Vinson, Jr., Station A. C. C., Abilene, Texas, November 7: I will meet Arthur L. Vaughan, Fundamental Baptist, in Kilgore, Texas, on November 24, 26, 27 and 28. Two nights will be devoted to the subjects of faith and baptism, and two nights to the subject of apostasy. Mr. Vaughan is a graduate of the Bible Baptist Seminary in Ft. Worth and preaches for the Shell Fundamental Baptist church in Kilgore. The discussion will be held in the Community Center Auditorium. John W. Hedge and my father, Bryan Vinson, Sr., will be my moderators. This is my first debate. I am a junior student at Abilene Christian College.

E. J. Berry, Salem, Oregon, October 26: During the month of October six have been added to our number. Two were baptized, two were restored and two placed membership, coming to us from the church in Borger, Texas. We now have 59 members which is an increase from 21 at the time we came here 14 months ago. Attendance at all services of the church continues to increase and the outlook is indeed bright for greater influence and growth of the church in the next few months. Truly, the Lord is giving the increase to his cause here, and we sometimes stand amazed at the wonderful blessings he is giving us in our efforts to serve him.

TELEGRAM: Brother J. M. McCaleb passed to his reward on Saturday, November 7th. Funeral at one p.m., Monday, November 9th—E. V. Pullias. Fuller notice of Brother McCaleb's passing will appear in next issue of Firm Foundation. Brother McCaleb was 92 years old at the time of his death.—G. H. P. Showalter.

Morris Kemper, Box 284, Groveton, Texas, November 9: I started regular work with the church at Antioch near Groveton yesterday. Attendance and interest were good and a man and his wife were restored. I am also conducting a song drill one night each week. Interest is very good in this.

The two baptized were a young man from a Baptist home and a middle aged Methodist lady. The contribution and attendance average are the highest in the history of the congregation in Lexington. Membership now stands at 100. I should like to book two or three meetings for 1954.

V. C. Turner, 209 S. W. 3rd, Bethany, Oklahoma, October 26: Three more baptized and two confessed sins the past week here at Bethany. All were heads of families. New records are being made at almost every service. We now have an enrollment of 30 pupils in our religious Educational classes. The students are in grades 4, 5, 6 of the Bethany Public Schols. They are coming to us from denominational homes. They are taught the Bible on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday. At the end of our first month's teaching we are convinced that this is a wonderful work. This Home, which provides shelter and training for forty-five homeless children, is under the direction of the elders at Broadway and Walnut in Santa Ana. Our work here is strengthened by the presence of a number of graduates of our colleges from all sections who have moved to Orange county.

T. B. Crews, 105 Hardy Avenue, Corsicana, Texas, November 3: We are beginning to recover some from the shock of having so many of our members to move away. Three have been identified with us recently and the collection has been unusually high. Bible class attendance is about as high as it was before our heavy losses. We don't appear to be through losing members yet but with greater vision we look ahead.

Ralph R. Givens, 555—12th Street, Yuma, Arizona November 3: During October two were baptized, one restored, and six were identified. The first Lord's day in November three were restored and one baptized.

I am now in a joint meeting in Canton, Ohio, being conducted by the Walnut Avenue and Ninth Street congregations.

Arley E. Moore, 1208 Grant Street, Oregon City, Oregon, November 4: The work of the church here progresses in an encouraging manner. We had our largest crowd present Sunday with two adults being baptized at the close of the service. Four have been baptized since last report. The average Sunday attendance has increased twelve and average contribution has increased $20 per week since June 1st. We are beginning a weekly broadcast on the local radio station, KGON (1230 kc.) next Sunday morning. The broadcast time will be 7:45 to 8:00. If you know of members of the church in this area, please send me their names and addresses.

Howard A. Blazer, Sr., P. O. Box 364, Crossville, Tennessee, October 31: Five have been restored and seven baptized in the local area since my last report. H. V. Hendry, Jasper, Texas, November 2: For about a year and a half I have been preaching at Woodwith, Texas. Some increase was noted in attendance, finance and spiritual development. They now have a full time preacher. I am free to answer calls for Sunday appointments in driving distance of Jasper.

Clifton Rogers, 3325 Fifth Street, Port Arthur, Texas, October 31: The congregation which meets at 3700 Procter Street continues its sound and steady growth. W. T. Hines, 900 So. Grand, El Dorado Springs, Missouri, November 1: The work in El Dorado Springs, Missouri, the past year and a half that I have been here has shown a growth. Here lately there is new life. More members are willing to take hold. I would like to get away for a meeting or two, to rest up some. Life is too short to lay around and do nothing, but a change for a while will be a rest for me. If you are interested in this proposition, write me at the above address.

Norman H. Beeman, 14906 Winthrop, Detroit 27, Michigan, October 28: At the Strathmoor congregation we have had twenty-seven baptisms and fifteen restorations since last report. Eight of these baptisms and one of the restorations came during our meeting, October 18-25, in which C. E. McGaughey did the preaching. I know a good gospel preacher, college graduate, thirty years of age, married and has four children, who will be available for local work around the first of the year. If interested, kindly write me and I shall be happy to put you in touch with him.

Robert E. Gulley, 1127 E. 12th, Casper, Wyoming, October 29: I left the good work of the South Main Street church in Roswell, New Mexico, to begin work with the church here August 1st. The church is making some substantial growth in Wyoming. The work here in Casper continues to advance. Eight have identified themselves with the church during this month, and three have acknowledged error. I was with the church in Omaha, Nebraska, for a meeting October 4-14. Five were baptized, two confessed error, and two identified themselves during the meeting. It was an enjoyable meeting, and working with Brother Dale R. Larsen, their efficient and conscientious preacher, was a pleasure. We hope that all who vacation or contemplate passing this way take note of our location and worship with us.

Lloyd E. Ellis, 231 Fourth Avenue, Chula Vista, California, November 1: Three more added to this congregation today. One was by baptism. Chula Vista is growing.

W. S. Willis, Gustine, Texas, October 28: The work is very slow at this time, however both attendance and contributions are showing some increase. We are enjoying the quietness and the pleasant work, as I have more time for study and preparation and can give more time to writing.

Elwyn W. Snow, Friendship Church of Christ, Sudan, Texas, November 3: We thank the Lord that the church here is moving forward. Our attendance is increasing. One confessed faults last Lord's day. Thirteen have responded to his invitation since August 1st. We give him the glory.

Paul Butterfield, Box 615, La Crosse, Wisconsin, October 28: The ladies of the church are piecing quilts for the orphans and the needy. Three were baptized and two placed membership. Many new friends and contacts were made and the meeting will continue to bear fruit. The writer will be with Brother Shilling and the Southside church in Austin November 1-8. When in our city worship with us.

J. H. Wood, Clarendon, Texas, October 30: The church at Clarendon was without a preacher for about two and a half months this summer. Brother Bert Wells of Archer City, Texas, moved to Clarendon on October 12th and began work with us. The first service that he was here was the mid-week service and it was raining and we had the largest mid-week crowd that we had had for several months. Then on his first Lord's day with us the house was filled and the offering almost double. We are planning good things for the church in Clarendon under the teaching of Brother Wells.

Robert H. Bell, 672-19th Street, San Diego, California: Our work with the Central congregation continues to be pleasant. Last Lord's day two Navy boys answered the call of the invitation. One was for baptism and one to be restored and identified. During the month of October three were baptized, one restored and one identified. Another Navy man was baptized and his wife restored the latter part of September which was unreported. We begin a lecture series on the church beginning November 1st which will continue for ten days. Local preachers will be used. The Lord willing I will preach in a meeting with the church in Encinitas, California, beginning November 15th. If you have friends or loved ones living here with whom we might visit, please advise.

Winstead O. Cooper, Nocona, Texas: Sunday night, October 18, two high school boys, Mike Newby and Don Griffin from Nocona had charge of the services at Saint Jo. C. E. McGaughey, 2407 W. Lincoln, Springfield, Missouri, October 21: At Mayfield, Kentucky, 12 were baptized and 36 confessed wrongs. Am now in a meeting with Strathmoor church in Detroit. Begin at St. Louis, Spring and Blaine, November 1; Gainesville, Texas, Commerce Street, November 15 and Murfreesboro, Tennessee, North Boulevard, November 29.

R. H. Moore, 833 N. 13th, Abilene, Texas: After more than 40 years full time preaching and teaching the gospel, Brother H. W. Wrye is now confined to his room in very poor health. He was forced to retire on account of his age, 84 years, and affliction due to kidney-bladder trouble which has crippled him so he cannot walk much without assistance. He is in need of financial help. Any contribution will be heartily appreciated. Address him: 733 N. 21st Street, Abilene, Texas.

We were honored with the presence of Brother M. Norvel Young of Lubbock, Texas, in our chapel on November 14th. We are planning a Thanksgiving program and homecoming on November 26 and 27. Seven good speakers have been selected for this occasion. Visitors will be welcome.

Leon Savage, San Angelo, Texas, October 31: The work with the Santa Rita congregation is progressing in a splendid way. Nine placed membership with us last month. We are now in the completing stages of a building program, which meant much to the congregation. This congregation has a wonderful future; the leadership of its elders is wonderful. APO 973, % PM, San Francisco, California.

Arthur W. Francis, Jr., P. O. Box 924, Sioux City, Iowa, November 3: I am now engaged in a series of meetings with Don Nielson and the church in Provo, Utah, to continue through November 8. This is a triangle exchange with Provo, Salt Lake City and Sioux City. M. A. Wright of Salt Lake City goes to Sioux City November 15-22. I go from here to a meeting with Gordon Pennock and the church in Bismarck, North Dakota. This series is to be from November 12-22. The church is growing in the North and West.

Willis G. Jernigan, 1401 Ash Street, Commerce, Texas, November 2: Our fall meeting closed October 18. Brother B. C. Goodpasture was the preacher for the series. The largest crowds in the history of the church attended. One was added. Brother Goodpasture will return in 1955. I closed a short meeting at Sand Flat last night. Two were restored. Excellent crowds. November 9, the Lord willing, I begin a meeting with the South Park church, Beaumont. Brother Ira Sandusky is the faithful preacher there. Brother W. W. Freeman preaches in Commerce when I am absent.

Tilitt S. Teddlie, Box 314, Sulphur Springs, Texas, November 2: One baptized November 1. More than 500 attended our special song service last Sunday afternoon. Interest and attendance still increasing.

St. Clair Slatton, Wilburton, Oklahoma, October 26: Our attendance yesterday was 62 with $71.74. Our meeting place is on East Main Street on Highway 270. If passing through our city on Lord's day, stop and worship with us. You will find a friendly, orderly group of New Testament Christians and a cordial welcome. Pray for us.

Jess Hall, 3205 Denton Road, Fort Worth 11, Texas, October 29: Our work is beginning in a very pleasant way here with the Birdville congregation. During the month of October we had seventeen new members to enroll with us here at Birdville. We are beginning now to plan for our work during 1954 and we hope to have a much enlarged program of work. When passing through Fort Worth we would be very glad for you to visit with us here at Birdville.

E. L. Dennis, Amarillo, Texas: I thought it well that I send in a report and give my new address. We begin work with the East-side congregation here in Amarillo in May, 1953. We have enjoyed working with these people very much. A good number have responded to the invitation, and quite a few have been baptized. Four have been baptized, and six identified the past three weeks. Brother Arthur L. Golden, former evangelist with this congregation will be with us in a meeting November 2-8. When in Amarillo come to see us.

E. E. Rhodes, Walla Walla, Washington, November 3: The church in Walla Walla, Washington, will conduct its fall meeting November 16-27; Brother Roy Hooper will do the preaching. In commemoration of the tenth birthday of this congregation, the last three days will be devoted to a "Homecoming" lectureship, in which ten or twelve preachers will participate; the theme being, "The church at work." Everyone is invited; and those who have, at any time, preached here, or worshipped with us are urged to come.

Gilbert Copeland, 1810 Buchanan, Wichita Falls, Texas, October 28: Brother Elmer L'Roy of Paris, Texas, closed a meeting with the Floral Heights church of Christ in Wichita Falls on October 18th. Two were baptized, one restored and two placed membership. This was the best attended meeting in the history of the congregation and interest was high all the way through. Brother L'Roy did fine work while here. His preaching was first rate and the congregation here appreciates him.

Arnold Hardin, Lancaster, Texas, November 3: I recently returned from Pittsfield, Illinois, and the meeting there resulted in four baptisms. We have been supporting James Gibbs there for almost a year and the work has done very well for that section of the country. The work here continues to make some progress though we feel very keenly the leaving of some 20 or more faithful members in the last few weeks. We helped to start the work east of us at Hutchins and we lost some to this work. We hope to help put a preacher in Jacksonville, Illinois, this coming year. Souls are dying while we pay out huge sums for song leaders, etc., that others could be doing. If we don't watch out brethren we may have to be paid to pray.

Floyd Embree, 610 E. La Deney Drive, Ontario, California, November 3: Since last report one has been baptized and several identified here. We have two radio broadcasts each week and are beginning a teacher's training class next Monday night.

Durward Boggs, 7825 Hillard Drive, Dallas, Texas, November 3: The Lord's work at Pleasant Grove church is progressing. During October we had three to place membership with us and three restored. Our attendance is at a record high and the contribution also. Pray for us that this may continue to be the manner of our life. When in Dallas, worship with us.

Bill McCown, P. O. Box 201, Liberty, Texas, November 8: I was called to Nixon November 3 to officiate at the funeral of Brother W. H. Hahn, minister to the Nixon congregation. On Friday, November 6, we returned to New Braunfels where I read the ceremony for W. F. Menges and Miss Mae Layer. It was good to be again in the midst of the New Braunfels brethren. Buford Pitman now labors there. Our work in Liberty promises to be pleasant and we contemplate a profitable labor here.

Hood Wilkins, 3210 Howard, Fort Worth, Texas, November 2: October was a great month for the church in Oaklawn. There were ten responses, two baptisms, two restorations, four placing membership, and two both placing membership and being restored. We had the highest average attendance in Bible study in the history of the congregation—251. We had a record attendance at the midweek service with 191 present last Wednesday night. Also, in October we had our largest contribution on record, and the highest average contribution. At the present we have the greatest number of active workers in the congregation we have ever had. Work on our new class rooms is progressing nicely. God is richly blessing us in every way.

Elbridge B. Linn, 1903 University Avenue, Austin, Texas, November 5: During the month of October fifteen placed membership, four were baptized, and two were restored at the University Avenue congregation. A lady was restored and placed membership this past Lord's day. Brother Ray McGlothlin, who directs the Bible Chair here, preached October 18 and 25 while I was away in a meeting with the fine Glenwood congregation in Tyler, Texas. Brother P. D. Wilmeth is the faithful preacher working with those good brethren. He helped greatly in the meeting. Three souls were baptized. The brethren asked me to return in 1955.

John H. Banister, Dallas, Texas, November 2: I have learned recently that Brother A. L. Harbin of 109 14th Street, Vallejo, California, plans to move to Abilene, Texas, in the winter to educate his children and to devote all of his time to meeting work. I want to commend Brother Harbin to the brotherhood. I have known him for about twenty years. He has been preaching for that length of time, mostly in Oklahoma. Brother Harbin is sound in faith, holy in life, and a very earnest preacher of the gospel. I would like to suggest that brethren, who are in need of a preacher to hold their meeting, contact Brother Harbin. I knew Brother Harbin in Oklahoma when I lived there and have had an opportunity to observe his work. I am sure he needs no particular commendation from me, but knowing of his plans, I am taking this liberty to inform the brethren of them.

Roy Burgess, Box 212, Zellwood, Florida, November 2: Twelve restored and two baptized in the meeting with the Mount Dora church October 18-November. The Lord greatly blessed our efforts. Outside people were in attendance about every night.

Cleon Lyles, Little Rock, Arkansas, November 4: During October, the first month of our new fiscal year, our contributions averaged $1,703.51 per Sunday. Last Sunday the contribution was $1,919.49, and Bible school attendance was 717. This was the beginning Sunday of our ninth year with this congregation. Three placed membership and one was baptized the past few days.

A. L. Harbin, 109 14th Street, Vallejo, California, November 1: Four have been restored here the last two Sundays, and our mid-week attendance is at the highest point on record for this congregation. Brother H. P. Cooper of Dinuba will preach in our meeting beginning tomorrow night. Next June, the Lord willing, we shall move to Abilene; and my time will be devoted to preaching in gospel meetings. Congregations desiring my services for such work may write me in Vallejo until June 1.

Dean Brookshire, 3816 33rd, Lubbock, Texas, October 27: After almost six years work with the 9th and Columbia congregation in Plainview, Texas, I moved to Lubbock last May, to work with the Sunset congregation. Since moving here nine have been baptized, nine restored and forty added by membership. I have preached in nine meetings this year which have resulted in twenty-eight baptisms and ninety-eight restorations. The meetings were at: Crescent Hill in Brownfield, Hale Center, Tahoka, Hereford, Acuff, Idalou, all in Texas; Fort Sumner, New Mexico; two here at Sunset and I taught a Teachers' Training Course in Lovington, New Mexico. The church in Lubbock is growing.

W. Woodrow Allen, Kearney, Nebraska, November 1: Three have placed membership with us during October, but the total membership remains about the same as it was at the first of the year because several have moved away. We have not been able to do anything on our building because of insufficient funds. We still need about $7,000.00, and if we had this amount we could borrow enough to build a small attractive building. The church here, and in all of Nebraska, is hampered because of poor buildings and buildings that are unattractive. How long we will be hampered can be answered by Christians and churches in other states, for we only have about 1000 members in all of Nebraska. It will be a long time before we will be able to improve the situation very much. What are you willing to do about it? I begin a meeting in Beatrice, Nebraska, November 2. Brother Homer Wolfe, Jr. is the preacher there.

Jas. E. Laird, Rockmart, Georgia, October 28: Three have been baptized and one placed membership since last report. We are now constructing five new class rooms with equipment and new pews at a cost of $14,843.74.

Leonard C. Waggoner, 7606 Linden Street, Houston 12, Texas, November 9: The Broadway Church of Christ in Houston has just completed a gospel meeting with A. E. Emmons, Jr., of Sheffield, Alabama, doing the preaching. There were three baptisms, five restorations, and two placed membership. Brother Emmons did some wonderful preaching. The congregation was strengthened through his efforts here.

Morris Moore, Hubbard, Texas, October 28: I closed a meeting with the church in Granbury, Texas, the 9th of October with no visible results. This was my old home town, and we had many visitors present at every service. A great time for rejoicing was experienced last Lord's day here in Hubbard when seven came forward confessing sins and asking for the prayers of the congregation. Also one of this group placed membership. Interest is still good here in every part of our work. Contribution has shown an increase each month for the past ten months. For all of these blessings we humbly thank God and give him the glory for it all. When passing through Hubbard we invite you to worship with us.

W. S. Wiley, 503 E. Huisache, Kingsville, Texas, October 26: Our fall meeting with L. R. Wilson preaching, closed Sunday night. Three were baptized, three restored and two placed membership. One other was restored here a few days before the meeting began. Our work is very encouraging. I am to speak in a lectureship at Robstown this week.

James W. Reynolds, Pueblo, Colorado, October 27: One was restored and one baptized here at Pueblo yesterday. The meeting with the Irvington church of Christ, 25 N. Layman Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana, came to a close Wednesday evening, October 21st. Exceptionally fine interest was manifest during this meeting, with three being baptized and several restored and identified. Cecil Willis followed Brother Earl West as an evangelist for this congregation. He's gotten off to a good start there and was a fine co-worker.

O. R. Perkins, 302 W. California Street, Ruston, Louisiana, October 28: Eight months ago we moved from Denton, Texas, and began work with this congregation. Many things have been done since that time. The debt on our building, which a little over a year ago was $12,000, is now less than $5,000; our building has been air-conditioned; eight have responded to the invitation; the church has sponsored several gospel meetings near here; and we seem to be growing more in a spiritual way. I'm beginning my eighth meeting tonight at Ringgold, Louisiana. We have had opportunity to appear on three lectureships in this locality. The Lord is blessing the work and we give him all the honor and glory. Pray for us and if you are through Ruston come by to see us.

C. B. Glasgow, Houston, Texas, October 26: I preached for Brother Charlie Metcalf to a very attentive and appreciative audience yesterday. Brother Metcalf is doing excellent work as local minister at Brookshire, but lives in Katy, Texas. The Lord willing, I will preach at Grub Hill in Hill County November 15th. The Sealy church is doing fine on their new building.

Will W. Slater, Fort Worth 11, Texas, November 2: The meeting at Gospel Chapel, Licking, Missouri, resulted in one baptism and two restorations. Good was done otherwise. This leaves me in a meeting in Jackson, Michigan. It starts off in a good way. My next work will be a singing school in Dixon, Missouri, beginning November 14. So far as I know now, it will close my work for the year. If any congregation can use me in a singing school or meeting, I will be glad to hear from you.

Max T. Neel, 5651 McCormick, Houston 23, Texas, October 29: Every phase of our work continues to be very encouraging. We had four to place membership last Lord's day, and the Lord's day before there was one baptized and one restored. We have had 40 responses since we came here the 16th of August, 33 of which have been actual additions to our working forces. Of this number, some sixteen were baptisms. Our membership now stands at 241, and our class attendance has been near 225 for the last several weeks. Our budget is $670.00 a week, and we've averaged that most every week of late. We're grateful to our heavenly father.

Robert G. Cook, Box 573, Springhill, Louisiana: The end of October brought to a close our third month of work with the brethren at Springhill. So far our work has been a pleasant one, and we look forward to doing greater things in the Master's vineyard. Springhill is a fine place to work and live. We have one of the largest paper mills in the south located here. On last Saturday and Sunday, Brother Goble of Dixie Inn, near Minden, Louisiana, was engaged in a discussion with a Mr. K. V. Reeves of Paducah, Kentucky, of the United Pentecostal Church concerning the receiving of Holy Spirit baptism by church members today. Brother Goble presented his lesson in a fine manner, establishing his arguments beyond possible doubt of the honest inquirer for truth; but his opponent in a ridiculing manner evaded the plain truths; hopping and skipping about in a manner to deceive his followers, taking from them the truths as presented by Brother Goble.

J. D. Rothwell, 1004 El Sereno Drive, Bakersfield, California, October 26: I enjoyed the meeting with Santa Rita and Mabel Church in Tucson, Arizona, October 5-14. Attendance was good throughout the meeting. Brother C. C. Gobbell is doing fine work as local evangelist. Work continues to grow with Central in Bakersfield. Two were baptized yesterday.

Elton D. Dilbeck, 1335 Granada Drive, New Orleans 22, Louisiana, October 25: October has been a great month for the church in New Orleans. A profitable meeting was conducted with three being baptized and three being reclaimed. Horace W. Busby was the evangelist. New records were posted for Bible school attendance and monetary contributions. Refrigeration units were installed in our auditorium. Plans were completed for the work to be established in the Gentilly section of our city. The new congregation will begin meeting at 3014 Elysian Fields Blvd., on November 1. We hope it won't be long before we will be able to establish other new works in New Orleans.

R. E. Davis, Sr., St. Petersburg, Florida, October 26: The work here at the Ninth Avenue Church of Christ continues to grow in all lines. Yesterday (Sunday) we had five additions. Three placed membership, and two were baptized. One was from a Baptist family, the other a Roman Catholic lady. Both were adults. Crowds continue to increase. Interest is at a very high level. The church is at peace with one another, and almost all are working in the interest of the Master's kingdom. Nothing but the transforming gospel of Jesus Christ, consistent work with prayer and faith, can cope with the problems which Satan thrusts upon the world today.

William B. Kuhn, Jr., 506 Cotton Avenue, Caruthersville, Missouri, November 2: "I have resigned from the work here in Caruthersville and will begin with the Central Church of Christ in Anniston, Alabama, November 15th. We have certainly enjoyed our work here in Caruthersville and appreciate the unity and God fearing Christians who make up this congregation. I am glad to have witnessed the steady growth, increase in contribution, record breaking attendance for all services, new equipment added to the plant, and the beginning of the building of the twenty thousand dollar annex. One hundred and nineteen have been added to the church. The church is in excellent condition to move onward to larger growth. Anyone interested in coming to this field may contact Denver Fike, Caruthersville, Missouri, Phone 468.

Jesse Brookshire, Morton, Texas, November 2: It was our privilege to be associated with Wilburn Whittington and the North Jefferson Street church in Mt. Pleasant, Texas, in a gospel meeting October 19-25. This meeting was well attended by the neighboring congregations. On Tuesday night we had twelve different congregations represented, and some of them from a distance. The church was made stronger in the faith, with two additions by baptism. Interest here is at an all time high. We made a new record in Bible school attendance, October 18th with 196 present, and a record for the month. Since our last report we have had 10 responses here. I go next to Plains for a meeting, November 16th, which brings to a close my meeting work for this year. I still have some available time for 1954. If I can be of assistance to you write or call me. When passing this way, stop and worship with us.

Oliver C. Cunningham, 406 Chestnut, Cookeville, Tennessee, October 30: I am in touch with several congregations in need of full time preachers. Any preachers interested, may write me.

Cornelius C. Abbott, 401 N. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma: Nine added here the past few weeks. I closed my last meeting for 1953 at Dell City, Oklahoma, November 1st with three baptized. Promised to return in 1955. Have conducted meetings this year in Memphis, Tennessee; Dayton, Ohio; Stroud, McLoud, Little in Oklahoma with a number baptized and several restored.

William Henry Hale, of 1601 East 19, St. Cheyenne, Wyoming, is looking for a location where the altitude is lower than in Cheyenne. It is more than 6,000 feet above sea level here, and my wife can't stand it. I have been here from Covington, Kentucky, more than two years, and she is getting worse. I am 55 years old, and have been in the work for more than thirty years. You can contact me at the above address.

Preston Cotham, 2000 Oakland Boulevard, Fort Worth, Texas, October 29: "Yesterday brought to a close the best meeting we have ever had here at Meadowbrook. Perry B. Cotham of Nashville, Tennessee, did the preaching, and did it well. There were 12 baptized, four placed membership and three restored. Among those baptized was a Baptist preacher, a young man of much ability, the son of a Baptist preacher. The interest and attendance were the best we have ever had here. Last Sunday we set a new Bible school record, 445. We now have about 430 members. This is the best and fastest growing congregation I have ever worked with. We are now two years and two weeks old. When in Fort Worth worship with us at 2001 Oakland Boulevard.

K. M. Kelly, Box 436, Alice, Texas, October 26: Yesterday was a good day for the church in Alice. Two placed membership and two confessed sins. There have been several who have obeyed the gospel since my last report. Our attendance, interest and contributions are at a peak. Brother Robert R. Price will do the preaching in our fall meeting which begins November 8th. The songs will be directed by local talent. One hundred and sixty attended Bible study last Wednesday night. The church here is blessed by having the best Eldership I have worked under. They have their meeting every week to plan the work of the church.

J. Ed Uland, Box 848, Moses Lake, Washington, November 6: I am now in a good gospel meeting in Gilman City, Missouri, and various surrounding congregations are assisting in this effort. Our evangelistic effort in Hamilton was enjoyable, and Brother Fred Fenton has been laboring with them. From here we go to Jamesport, for four nights, one night at the Lake congregation near Brimson, and then one night in Lawrence, Kansas, and plan to spend the 18th and 19th with Van Brunt and Twin Cities in the Kansas City area. If the Lord wills, we shall plan to return to the work in Moses Lake, Washington, as soon as our meetings are over. We are scheduled to speak at the Caldwell, Idaho, and Othello, Washington, lectureships this fall. Brethren, the work of the kingdom is progressing, and things are looking up for the Lord's cause. Let's all put our hand to the plow, shoulder to the wheel, and hearts in this great work of saving souls, and leading people to our Lord.

Cecil B. Douthitt, P. O. Box 67, Brownwood, Texas, November 9: Three were baptized and one placed membership on the past two Sundays here at Southside in Brownwood, Texas.

Frank Traylor, Chaplain (Maj.) USAF, P. O. Box 207, Boerne, Texas, October 26: Two fine airmen were baptized into Christ yesterday. One will be an officer when he graduates. There were thirty-four present at our 1:00 P.M. service in Chapel No. 4, Lackland Air Force Base.

W. Ray Votaw, 316 Indiana Street, South Houston, Texas: Brother J. W. Davidson of Kansas City, Missouri, just concluded a series of gospel services here in South Houston with James Patterson directing the singing. Visible results were four baptized, two restorations, and one placing membership. We were strengthened through Brother Davidson's plain and forceful teaching. We recommend him for his enthusiasm and ability.

Truman E. Spring, Corpus Christi, Texas, November 5: The Hillcrest Church of Christ in Corpus Christi, Texas, will end a fine meeting tomorrow night, with Brother Fred McClung of Oklahoma City doing the preaching. To date, we have had 16 responses (4 baptisms—12 restorations). Prior to our meeting here, the writer conducted a meeting in Woodsboro, Texas, where George Ewing is the preacher, with two baptisms. I leave November 8th to begin a meeting in Hartford, Connecticut which will start November 11th and last through November 18. Brother W. E. Hebbard is the preacher for the Hartford congregation, and I am looking forward to working with him and the church in that part of the country.

Joe Malone, Fort Worth, Texas, October 31: The West Berry church in Fort Worth has just concluded a gospel meeting with the preaching being done by Brother Lloyd Connel of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Five were baptized into Christ and seven others were restored to the Lord's work. On the final day of the meeting, Sunday, October 25th, there were 696 in Bible school and the average attendance for the month of October in Bible school was 641. For the new fiscal year beginning October 1st, the budget is set for $74,000.00 which exceeds last year's budget by $10,000.00, and of which sum $41,000.00 is for preaching the gospel in other places and already allocated to certain work.

U. R. Forrest, Akron, Michigan, November 2: Two baptized and three placed membership here the past two weeks. Almost every week shows an increase in attendance, contributions and membership.

Clarence A. Price, Rt. 9, Box 2021, Waco, Texas, October 29: Two baptized last week. One at the Wednesday night services and the other at the Lord's day morning service. The elders are planning to build a new auditorium in the near future. The growth of this congregation is going to force us to build before we are financially able to build.

Raymond C. Keley, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, November 1: The meeting at Tenth and Broad in Wichita Falls, Texas, resulted in thirty-three responses, sixteen of these being baptisms. This was my fifth meeting with this excellent church. Paul McClung is doing an outstanding work there. Thomas Sullivan led the singing in a commendable manner. I hold a meeting at my home congregation, Tenth and Francis in Oklahoma City, beginning November 8.

J. K. Bentley, 2 North "F" Street, Herington, Kansas, October 26: Wife and I moved to this mission field on October 1. There are only 15 faithful members of the Lord's church in this town of 4,000. Twelve denominations are already entrenched. Wheat farming and sheep raising are the main farm activities. The Rock Island Railroad has shops here. We need a number of Christian families from Texas and Oklahoma to move here, get employment, and help us build up the church here. There are a number of good towns within a radius of 30 miles of here where the true church is unknown. Truly the harvest is white and laborers are few in this area! We are now building a nice house of worship here on Highway 77. When passing, stop and worship with us.

Jesse M. Kelley, Box 1381, Port Arthur, Texas, October 26: Since last reporting to the Firm Foundation 26 have added their strength to our work here at DeQueen Boulevard. Twelve of these were baptized. Since coming here June 1 we have averaged about three additions per Lord's day.

Paul McClung, Wichita Falls, Texas, November 6: Raymond Keley did the preaching in a meeting at the Tenth and Broad Church of Christ from October 18-25, which resulted in 16 baptisms, 12 restorations, and five placing membership. This was the best meeting the church here has had in years. Last Sunday five more were baptized, and others are very interested. Brother Thomas F. Sullivan moved here the middle of October to serve as educational and song director. He is making a real contribution to the enthusiasm being manifested in the work at 10th and Broad. We believe that the future of the church here is very bright. I will do the preaching in a meeting at Tulia, Texas, from November 17-24.

J. Porter Wilhite, 6717 Lyons Avenue, Houston 20, Texas, October 26: Yesterday was a great day with us at Lyons and Majestic church in Houston, Texas. We broke an all time record for class attendance and a great crowd for all services. Four came by membership. One man baptized a few days before. All things are going well. Buster Dobbs, my helper in the work here, is in a meeting at Garden Oaks, but will be home soon. I preach on the lectureship at Shepherd this Wednesday night, which will close it. I begin at Dayton, Texas, next Monday night. Those who have not ordered one of the best debates ever between us and the Baptists, should order Warren-Ballard debate from Thos. B. Warren, 5000 Doyle Street, Ft. Worth. Price is $2.50. You will be glad you did.

F. L. Paisley, Rogers, Texas, November 7: Twenty-two years ago I was in a meeting on the east side of Temple—a mission meeting for the church on Avenue G. A fine man then fifty years old decided to be baptized the next night. A family gathering at Holland, near there, took him away from the meeting against his will. It also killed his immediate intentions to obey the gospel. Not till last Tuesday did he overcome that hindrance. It was my pleasure to baptize him at Central Church in Temple in the presence of his Christian wife and Brother Thomas Scott, local minister. All these years the family has not known why he had not obeyed the gospel. The incident points up the fact that we need to watch that innocent, little things do not hinder the truth. The man was responsible for so long delay; but the reunion caused him to rob the Lord of twenty years service.

J. T. Marlin, Sweetwater, Texas: This week three have been baptized and one restored. Those baptized were from denominations. We are having fine interest in our class-work here at 4th and Elm.

John H. Gerrard, 707 N. Lake Street, Aurora, Illinois, October 26: Our fall meeting closed here last night with one restoration the only visible result. Some good gospel lessons were presented by Russell H. Banks of New Philadelphia, Ohio. The work here is progressing nicely with a greater number of visitors coming to almost every service. In spite of liberalism and modernism running rampant in the Chicago area we have a faithful group here in Aurora. The good work at Joliet is making progress. One was baptized there last night. Visit us when coming our way. The church in Aurora meets at 529 Clark Street.

Olice W. Cruise, Riverside Church of Christ, Rt. 2B, Kiowa, Kansas, October 31: The series of assemblies each evening which began October 19th came to a close on October 29th during which a good father and a good mother of three sons were baptized into Christ for the remission of their sins. Brother Foster L. Ramsey of Tipton, Oklahoma demonstrated his zeal, and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in both his life while here and in his proclamation of the gospel in love for the souls of the lost. He was emphatic, and expressed his lessons with assurance of their truthfulness. He left here with a hearty thanksgiving to God by the brotherhood for his having been permitted to spend the eleven days with us. We commend him to the brotherhood wherever he may go for the good work he did here.

H. W. McClush, 1308 E. Jefferson, Boise, Idaho: My wife, son and I moved here about the middle of September this year. In the six weeks that we have been here there have been only four responses to the invitation, one baptism, one confession of faults and two to place membership with us. However we have instituted several movements that we expect to bear fruit in the near future. One of those things is a radio program that we are now putting on over KGEW of this city. It operates on 10,000 watts and reaches all of the great Northwest. We are on the air from 12:30 to 1:00 P.M. each Lord's day and can be tuned in at 1140 on your dial. Please announce this program and insist on all listening to it. It can be heard in most all of California, Nevada, Wyoming, Oregon, Washington, Canada and at times in Alaska. If you hear this program entitled, "Truth of the Airways" will you please drop us a card or letter so we may know how far it is being heard?

Our Departed

BILLINGSLEY—William Mitchell Billingsley, born January 1, 1876, in Jackson County, Tennessee, died in his Mannsville, Oklahoma, home October 17, 1953. For forty-two years he lived a Christian life. He married Celia Brown Loftis twenty years ago. M. U. Ayres of Madill, Oklahoma, and Tishomingo's Brother Wallace assisted in the funeral service. JOHN W. PIGG Gunter, Texas

DANIEL—G. V. Daniel departed this life October 5, 1953, in the Wolf City hospital of a heart attack. He had served as elder in the Gober church for many years. His home was the home of many visiting preachers. He is survived by two sons: Claude L. of Paris, Texas, and Leslie of Blythe, California.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, October 30: One added by transfer. 387 at prayer meeting, a new record, although it was a special occasion.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, November 6: Am in the midst of a fine meeting in Ingleside, Texas, with Brother Billy Frick and the brethren here. Several attending who seem interested in the truth. Pray for us and visit us in Victoria.

V. M. Gilbert, 1913 Franklin Avenue, Des Moines, Iowa, November 2: Our meeting with Olney, Illinois, was of two weeks duration and closed the night of October 25th with visible results of six being baptized and one placing membership. There were 16 congregations represented during the meeting. Olney is the home of five good faithful gospel preachers: Brothers Luther Toliver, Lyle A. Berry, William Reed, Loyal Hall and Clarence Craig. These brethren were home for most of the meeting. I am now in a meeting with Wauneta, Nebraska congregation which began yesterday morning. There was a basket dinner at the noon hour followed by an afternoon service with eight congregations being represented. Expect to continue here through November 15. Hope and pray for much good to be accomplished.

C. W. Scott, 301 N. W. 52nd Street, Miami, Florida: The Seventh Avenue church of Christ in Miami has begun advertising in South Florida a thirty-lesson course on the Bible without cost to students, Claude F. Castleberry and L. J. Stanley, elders of the congregation, revealed this week. After the first week of publicity more than 150 have requested the lessons. Ninety percent of these are not members of the church of Christ. Several courses have been under consideration for several weeks and the neatly printed series of Brother Monroe Hawley and other brethren will be the free course offered. An effort will be made to distribute this course mainly among non-members. The course will be offered to members of the Seventh Avenue church in a special class designed to prepare the prospective teachers. The local church paper, "The Messenger," "The Herald of Truth" broadcast, other churches of the area and another weekly broadcast, "Know Your Bible" will give publicity to the program of teaching by mailing the word of God. "As far as we know this will be the first effort among South Florida churches in such an endeavor," states C. W. Scott, evangelist of the church.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Pleasing God

Paul wrote this to the Galatians who had adopted something more than the gospel as a rule of faith and practice, "For do I now persuade men or God? Or do I seek to please men? For if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ" (Gal. 1:10). By his first question, Paul means this—Shall I try to persuade God to change his way, or shall I try to persuade men to change their ways? There is only one answer—God is "without variableness, neither shadow of turning." So it is a loss of time, and perhaps a sin, to try to persuade God to change his way. Man must do the changing.

Then the apostle asks, "Or do I seek to please men?"

All who are familiar with Paul's way of doing are well aware that he was not a pleaser of men. If Paul had been ambitious to please men, he never would have changed his religion from Judaism to Christianity. The apostle brought upon himself great persecution by refusing to conform to the ways of men. Paul approved Judaism and heathenism wherever he met them. He never tried to ascertain the sentiments of the people before he preached his sermons, so he would know better how to preach without getting on people's toes. Under no circumstances did Paul try to please men.

In the third place, Paul declares, "For if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ." This plainly shows that Christians cannot please both God and men—if they do all that God wants them to do, they will displease men; if they do all that men want them to do, they will displease God.

But many church members are like the school teacher who applied for a position in school. A member of the school board asked him if he taught that the earth is round or flat. He answered this way—in communities where the people believe the earth is flat, I teach the flat system, but in communities where they believe the earth is round, I teach the round system. Whoever conceived the idea that the way to find out what the truth is, is to ask the people?

Looking Unto Jesus

"Looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith" (Heb. 12:2). In running the Christian race some people look only to themselves for guidance. If their wisdom suggests and their conscience approves a certain course, that is the way they go. As a guide the Bible does not mean much to them. In fact they cannot tell us what the Bible is for. They do not recognize its authority in all religious matters.

Then there are others who look to men for guidance in the Christian race. They ask men what they must do to be saved. These men are not inspired; so, by their own wisdom they do not know how to answer this important question. It is very unfortunate that so many people would rather follow the advice of men who are not inspired, than to follow the teachings of Jesus and the apostles.

The only one to whom we can look with assurance is Jesus. He never leads men in the wrong way. His guidance is infallible. But that does not mean that men who follow him are infallible. The best followers take many awkward steps. That is because they are human. The grace of God provides bridges for the weaknesses of men; without that no one would be saved. The best men are sinners saved by grace. In human blindness, men are prone to err. But by looking unto Jesus men can safely reach the goal.

As I Remember It

A. R. Holton

It was in December, 1949, that I entered Sabinal Christian College at Sabinal, Texas. My family had recently moved to Ballinger, Texas, from our old home in Robertson County, Texas. Our nearest trading center in Robertson County was Kosse, Texas, in Limestone County. We lived on what was known as Head's Prairie. It got its name from an old settler, Jesse Head, who lies buried in the old Head cemetery.

Sabinal Christian College had been founded only a few years. The editor of the Firm Foundation, G. H. P. Showalter, had been president in the early days of the college. In 1909, I. E. Tackett was president. Associated with him in the classroom work was W. A. Schultz, in Bible; E. L. Mills, in Latin and Greek; Mack Tackett, in mathematics. These were some of the leading teachers in the school. All of these are still living at this time except Brother W. A. Schultz. He taught the Bible and his class came at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. There was no athletic program so his class ran until the bell rang for supper. These two hours at the end of the day are considered hard hours for teachers, but he held his classes at a high point of interest for these two hours, every day through nine months of the school year. I have had many teachers since then but I think he was the best teacher I ever had. He was a self-made man, a natural teacher, and I think one of the most brilliant preachers our great brotherhood has produced. He took his turn on Sunday mornings at the church to preach, and his Sunday was a great day for all the students. The people in the community came to hear him.

The Sabinal Christian College in those days had debating societies and much importance was attached to public speaking. An inter-society debate was held in the spring of 1940 at the big downtown tabernacle, which seated several hundred people. As I remember, it was packed on the night of the debate. This is in great contrast to intercollegiate debating now where the debaters and the judges and maybe a few spectators gather in a classroom and hear the debate. The big crowd now is at the stadium and at the gymnasium. I am not passing judgment, I am simply stating the facts.

The college at this time made much of its chapel exercises, which came at 10 o'clock each morning. The largest and best furnished room in the school building was used for this gathering of the students at worship. It was used at times on Sunday for public worship. But the students at Sabinal for the most part went to the downtown congregation. In fact, for most of the time, the downtown church was the only meeting place of the brethren at Sabinal. Charles A. Buchanan was a fellow student. Brother Buchanan now lives at Glenrose, Texas, and in a recent letter to me said, "Remember me to our old teacher, E. L. Mills." He is an elder of the 16th and Decatur Streets Church of Christ in Washington, D. C. Ralph Robinson was a fellow student and a minister but Ralph has been dead several years. He died in Stephenville, Texas, while minister of the church of Christ there. C. J. Robinson of Ft. Worth lived at Sabinal and I think did some school work.

The school building was a large brick building, money for which had been raised locally from members of the church and from the town of Sabinal. There were two dormitories on the campus. The bathhouse at the men's dormitory was a separate building from the dormitory. A special water heating arrangement had been made and the heat came from wood fires in a stove fitted for heating water. This stove was fired up at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and was available from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. As I recall it, at no other time during the week was its facilities available.

1910 saw the death of Mark Twain. I remember reading it in the newspapers that came to us in the library. 1910 was four years before the first world war broke out in Europe. 1910 was a year when many people thought that world peace had come and that we would never have another war. It seemed that many thought that poverty had been overcome. In general, it was a very hopeful period. We did not know in those peaceful school days that within four short years the world would enter a conflict which has not been concluded. It was thought a wild statement when somebody predicted in 1914 that the world was entering another 100 years war.

Sabinal Christian College was one of many such schools that sprung up in the South and Southwest, all within a few years of each other. They sprang up everywhere because the need was universal and also demanding. Education has been one of the demands that God has placed upon his people. He gave Moses instructions how to perpetuate and carry on the great things of their history. Parents were given the first responsibility. Moses himself was learned in the art and wisdom of the Egyptians and had been taught greater things by his mother. This school in 1910 presented a unique educational process. There were boys and girls enrolled who would not have been given a chance in a public school. They were too old and they were too far behind. But in a school like that at Sabinal they were given an opportunity. The teachers believed in this educational undertaking. It was a happy family. Religious life was not something tacked on with other phases of life. As I look back upon those years, the emphasis there was on the spiritual and everything else connected with the school was tied in with this great aim to develop spiritual life. The climate in Uvalde County, Texas, is mild and there was great opportunity for outdoor exercises. These outdoor athletic events had not reached the point of inter-college competition.

It was in 1910 that I first tried to preach in the little church at Utopia, Texas, near Sabinal. To reach Utopia you had to cross the Sabinal River three or four times. Many of these congregations in Uvalde County opened their doors to the boys and rendered a great service by using them. It was in the fall of 1910 that Brother Tackett came to me and said that Brother Sprott at Laguna, Texas, wanted someone to come there and hold a meeting in the schoolhouse. Laguna is 25 miles north of Uvalde and is near the Nueces River. He said that there was no one else to go and that he would like for me to answer this call from Brother Sprott. It was in the spring that he came to me with this request. School would be out in a few days. In the early days of June, we went to Laguna for this meeting. We took the train at Sabinal, Texas, for this short ride down to Uvalde, Texas, and then we took the mail hack to Laguna. Laguna consisted of one small store in which the post office was located. As I remember, this store was owned and operated by two very interesting gentlemen from the old world. Their native land, as I remember, was Scotland. The meeting began on a Saturday night and continued over three Sundays. Brother Tackett had told me that it was a mission meeting and that he did not know how much pay there would be for me in the meeting. On the last Sunday, Brother Sprott announced that all who wanted to have fellowship in the meeting could put the money on the table. The Nueces country was a ranch country and men attended this meeting in ranch clothing and were outfitted as cattle punchers. On this Sunday you could hear the rattle of spurs as men walked up to the little table and put down their money. Brother Charles Taylor, now of San Antonio, Texas, was the singer. We both had come to Laguna purely on faith. I owed an entire year's board bill at Sabinal which amounted to $108, $12 per month for nine months. This was not due until the next September, but I came in from this meeting and went to Brother Tackett's office and peeled off $108 to pay this bill and still had quite a few greenbacks in my hand. He was startled and asked if I had gotten this out of this mission meeting. I told him yes that they had paid me for the meeting and had paid Brother Taylor. Some 15 people were baptized during that meeting in the Nueces River.

A strange incident occurred. We were baptizing late one afternoon. The crowd was about ready to leave when a man rode up on horseback and asked to be baptized. After the man was baptized, I asked him how he came to know about the gospel. He said, "I sat on my horse last night in front of the schoolhouse and heard you preach and I heard you announce that there was to be a baptizing here and I came in from a neighboring ranch to meet you here and was a little late. I had made up my mind after hearing you at the school house to obey the gospel and so I came and so I have obeyed from the heart."

The Blind Men

Once upon a time there were five blind men who went to the circus. They went along until they came to an elephant. Each in his turn approached the elephant. The first one moved his hands over the elephant's huge trunk and exclaimed, "Why, an elephant is like a large snake." The second blind man came forward and touched the animal's ear and said, "No, my friend, you are wrong, an elephant is not like a snake, it is like a very large fan." The third, hoping to settle the dispute between his neighbors, came up to the animal and moved his hands over the side of the beast and being amazed at the understanding of his friends, turned to them and said, "I am sorry to inform you, but both of you gentlemen are wrong, an elephant is flat like a wall." The discussion became heated, the argument grew stronger. The fourth being displeased with the conduct of his friends and wanting to reconcile their differences, decided to check for himself. He came up to the animal, and being a short fellow got hold of the elephant's leg. He was greatly bewildered and certainly could not understand how his friends had made such a terrible mistake. He entered the discussion saying that the elephant was like a tree.

The four blind men continued debating the subject and things waxed worse and worse, each man saying that he was right in his contention. The fifth blind man grew impatient with this useless argument and decided that he would end it once and for all. He approached the animal from the rear and caught hold of his tail. "What!" said he, "An elephant is not as you men said, it is like a rope." So the five blind men argued and fussed and became bitter and even called each other names that they should not have. After a while a friend that could see came by and saw the ugly conduct of his five blind friends and asked what was the matter. Each disputant spoke in his own way, each thinking he was dead right. After they were finished the seeing friend said, "I can see all the elephant clearly, and each of you are only partly right, let me tell you what an elephant is actually like." He described the elephant perfectly.

The blind men, being proud and not wanting to admit error, turned in reproach, each going his own way mumbling something like this: "Who does that guy think he is, telling all of us we are wrong. He thinks he is the only one that is right, very narrow-minded; I know what I feel and he is not going to take that feeling away from me."

This old fable has come down to us through the elementary reader and there is a lesson in it for us to help us understand the religious confusion in the world today. Each man had received a different notion as to what an elephant was like because he was blind and did not investigate fully so that he might be enlightened. Because they had their various notions about the elephant, that did not make them right. You have heard of these blind men before, but have you ever heard of the spiritually blind who draw their conclusions from something felt and fail to investigate further? They establish their whole faith upon a single thought or verse of scripture and fail to look at the entire gospel. Mankind is spiritually blind and in the world of darkness (Matt. 13:14, 15); they refuse to come to the light because their works are evil (John 3:19-21). Paul said, "And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled in them that perish: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of the unbelieving, that the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God, should not dawn upon them" (2 Cor. 4:3, 4).

Our spiritually blind friends study only a small portion of the gospel and get the wrong or an incomplete concept of Christianity. Some of the blind will quote John 3:16 and say, "That's it." Others will read Romans 5:1 and say we are saved by faith only; while others who are spiritually blind will read 1 Peter 1:15, 16, and say that Christianity is "holiness." And in the religious world we have the same thing repeated until we have hundreds of ideas as to what true Christianity is like. It is a sad situation indeed, but remember, it is Satan who blinds men's eyes, and the God of heaven is not the author of confusion (1 Cor. 14:33).

If all men would lay aside their pride and the traditions of their fathers and cease their evil works and "walk in light as he is in the light" the scales would fall from their eyes and they would receive their sight. They could then see clearly the true and complete picture of Christianity. They could see the glory of the religion of our great God, the peace and tranquility that comes from walking through the valleys and over the mountains with the Bishop and Shepherd of our souls. All men everywhere would seek deliverance from the power of darkness and desire to be translated into the kingdom of the Son of God's love.

Evangelist, Preacher and Minister

Cecil Allen

Friends, I read an article not long ago denouncing the use of the terms: "evangelist, preacher and minister." The contention was that evangelists, preachers, and ministers in the New Testament were inspired. Since we have no inspired men today, we have no evangelists, preachers or ministers. While it is true that we have no inspired (miraculous) men today, still the man who speaks the pure, unadulterated word is guided by the Spirit. Every line written in the word was written under the inspiration of the Spirit. When we speak of the word we are speaking the words of the Spirit.

First, let us notice the word "evangelist." What constituted one as an evangelist? (2 Tim. 4:2-5). Timothy was told to preach the word, do the work of an evangelist. Acts 21:8 speaks of Philip being an evangelist. What did Philip do? He went about from place to place preaching the word and the duties relative to it. If doing this constituted one an evangelist, then, doing the same thing now would constitute the same. If not, why not?

Second: what constituted one as a "preacher?" (Rom. 10:14, 15). "How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach except they be sent? As it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!" (2 Tim. 4:2). "Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine" (Rom. 10:17). "Faith comes by hearing and hearing by the word of God." What was the good news? The glorious gospel of Christ which opened the way for all men to be saved. Not just the Jews. If the speaking of the gospel then constituted one a preacher, it will do the same today. If not, why not?

Third: Minister. What does "minister" mean? It means servant. Every child of God should be a minister (servant). Jesus said: "But he that is greatest among you, shall be your servant" (Matt. 23:11). What constituted a minister? One in those times was constituted a minister when he was a servant of God, served the sick, served the needy, and served man's spiritual needs by breaking unto him the bread of life, encouraging and exhorting him. If one does the same today, it will constitute him a minister. If not, why not? No, don't someone get me wrong! I am not teaching that women should be preachers, but there are all these other acts of service she can do, and also teach privately.

A REPORT FROM GERMANY

Ken Hancock

The French Zone of West Germany had practically no Americans in it until about two years ago, when an agreement was made to allow the American Army and Air Force occupy the north half of the French Zone. This area, now known as Western Area Command, with Army headquarters here in Kaiserslautern, has become the home of the 2nd Armored Division, numerous supply depots serving Army units throughout Germany, and the 12th Air Force, which has just moved its headquarters to Ramstein, about 15 miles west of Kaiserslautern. The Vogelweh Dependent Housing Area here is already the largest American housing area in Europe, and several hundred more housing units are to be ready for occupancy by next summer.

In October, 1952, four American Christians met for worship the first time in Kaiserslautern. Each Lord's day since then, a small group has met, first in the French Officers' Club, and now in rented rooms in a downtown school building. For the first year, one of our German-speaking brethren has come each Lord's day from Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Wiesbaden, Karlsruhe or Stuttgart to speak at the German worship service, and then on Sunday night in a German service at Pirmasens, 20 miles south of here. Last month the Hans Nowaks moved here from Stuttgart to work regularly with the German congregation. Hans is under the oversight of the Central church in Nashville.

Although we, so far, have only three members in the German congregation, we have made several good contacts, and Hans has begun a regular program with tracts and newspaper advertising which should produce visible results. Record attendance at the German services is twelve.

Attendance at the English worship service averages 25; the record is 39. We also have two Bible classes, a training class, and a regular mid-week service. According to the latest news, Americans will be in Europe for many more years, and Kaiserslautern will play an important part in the American occupation as long as it lasts. Although most of us spend only a year or 18 months in Germany, each time one of us returns to the States, a "replacement" soon comes in. We hope to grow in numbers in spite of this heavy rotation, and help all we can with the German work.

Our contributions average $100 monthly, and practically all of this can be spent on the German work. Within the past several months a total of $267.50 has been received from the States for purchase of mimeograph, addressograph plates, etc. This came from the churches in Vega and Wildorado, Texas; East Huntsville, Alabama; Indian Mound (Legate Church) and Woodlawn (Oakwood Church), Tennessee, and Miss Evelyn Payne, of East Huntsville. The greatest need now is a building of our own. Although the rented school rooms are clean, warm, and at present large enough, an occasional lecture program or concert forces us to change our regular schedule. Instead of meeting just on Sunday and one evening during the week, we need to have rooms available for Bible classes throughout the week. And, although we all agree that a building is not "necessary," the people with whom we come in contact here are just like those to be found anywhere—they are favorably impressed by a group that seems permanent enough in nature to have its own building.

The first step toward obtaining a building seems to be to rent one. With the assurance of $100 per month from the outside, we believe we can find a suitable building which can later be purchased. For references, we invite you to write Brother Otis Gatewood in Frankfurt or Brother Lloyd Collier in Wiesbaden, or see Brother Richard Walker from Heidelberg, who will be spending the next nine months in the States. This system of sending support directly to the mission field may be preferred by some who heretofore have hesitated to work through the brethren in the States overseeing the work at one or more of the German mission points.

Will you not consider this ripe field as you plan your 1954 mission program budget? For further information, please write Lt. K. M. Hancock, 02207404, 432nd Engr. Const. Bn., APO 227, care of Postmaster, New York.

Who Are Heretics?

W. S. Willis

Recently I preached a sermon on the above subject, and many have requested that I present it to the Firm Foundation for publication. Therefore I present the following:

Before we enter into the discussion, may we learn what all Standard Dictionaries define the word "heretick": "One who holds, or maintains, heretical opinions; subversive of, or contrary to Orthodox beliefs; an opinion or doctrine at variance with fundamental truths commonly received as orthodox, especially if leading to division; religious opinions at variance with authorized standards of living."

Paul admonished Titus in 3:10 that when he came in contact with one who was an heretick (or heretic) that he must admonish him at least the second time before he rejects him. Now if we leave this subject at this point we can never know who are heretics. Therefore we will have to let Paul and Peter tell us.

Who Are Heretics?

In 1 Cor. 11:16-22 Paul tells us who are in the first class of heretics: "But if any man seem to be contentious, we have no such customs, neither in the church of God. Now this that I declare unto you I praise you not, that ye come together not for better but for worse. For first of all, when ye come together in the church, I hear there are divisions among you; and I partly believe it. For there must be also heresies among you, that they which are approved may be manifest among you," etc. By what Paul said to the church at Corinth I understand that contentions and divisions were brought about by heretics in the church. It is very plain to me that there were those in the church who were not only teaching things contrary to "the apostle's doctrine," but were also practicing customs unknown to the church.

May we turn to Paul again and see what he said to the church in Galatia (Gal. 5:20, 21). Here Paul classes heretics alongside of all the lustful sins of the flesh, and that those who do such things are heretics and shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

Let us now turn to Peter and let him tell us what he understands that a heretic is: "But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord Jesus that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. And many shall follow their pernicious ways (destructive ways); by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words (counterfeit or false words) make merchandise (chattles) of you (for their own benefit)"—also verses 17, 18: "These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved forever. For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness (unrestrained lusts), those that were clean escaped from them who live in error."

Thus we see that those who are heretics in the church are very dangerous and should be shunned and rejected, and not recognized as leaders, teachers or active members of the church. For they bring reproach and shame on the blood and body of Christ. Else by his damnable heresies, he will influence the weaker to follow after his lustful ways and false teaching. Who will become tools in his "damnable heresies"?

Now let us sum up and see what we have learned about heretics and heresies:

1. We have learned that those who are members of the church and practice their "pernicious, lustful ways in the church and in their lives are heretics and they bring their 'damnable heresies' into the church.

2. We have learned that members of the church who cause strife, contentions and divisions in the church are heretics.

3. We have learned that those who teach a false doctrine in the church are heretics. Those who practice things contrary to the word of the Lord are heretics. And God will utterly destroy them in the judgment.

Are There Heretics In The Church Today?

I wonder if those who have caused division and are now causing contentions in the church by bringing into its worship and teaching innovations of man, such as mechanical instruments of music, missionary societies, woman's councils, reverends, pastors, doctors, superintendents, and presidents are not heretics? I wonder if there are not heretics in the church who are hindering, retarding and interfering with the work of the Lord's church, the teaching and preaching his gospel to the ends of the world; those who do not believe in preparing young men for the preaching of the gospel in schools and colleges, those who will not let the members of the Lord's church study the word in the best and most effective manner to get the most out of it; those who restrict and limit their preachers in preaching the whole and full gospel, by requiring them to preach only such things as they decree is according to their opinions, self interpretation and dictation of the Scriptures. If I understood what Paul and Peter said about those who were heretics, and what is acknowledged by all scholars to be the true definition of the words "heresy and heretics," then I am persuaded that there are many heretics in the church today. And if the indulgence of sinful, lustful worldly things are heresies, then when I see members of the church who have no regard for the righteous and holy precincts of the place of worship by smoking in the house of the Lord before and after their presence at his table, I am made to wonder if these are not heretics of the worst type, for by their disregard for the conscience of others and by their disrespect for the Lord's house and by their "pernicious ways" they may allure the weak to follow after their sinful examples? Brethren, "Think on these things."

THE MISSIONARY WORK IN KOREA

So when she was speaking with some of the Presbyterian church women, the truth which she had in her heart came out and they saw the truth. Four women wanted to have a Bible class to learn the truth from Brother Kang's mother. So she had it and their husbands were joined in it along with others. They learned the truth from her. The first thing they wanted was to be baptized as Christ commanded. But who could baptize them? Only she had been baptized scripturally. Their hearts were burning to obey the Lord. Finally they raised the money and sent a young man to Korea to get a Christian preacher to baptize them. He came back to China and baptized all of them. Then the Presbyterian church people in Korea heard about it and they wrote to their young missionary by saying: "We send money to you every month to preach the Presbyterian way, but it seems to us that you did something wrong." The young preacher was afraid to lose his job. So he said to his mother-in-law to move out of his house. Indeed, it was very pitiful for where would she go. The poor old woman has no home. Just as Jesus once said: "Foxes have holes, birds of the air have nests; but the son of man hath nowhere to lay his head." Thank the Lord that the true Christians heard about it and said to her, "Right, you come out from his house, we will come out of the Presbyterian church and then we will have a real worship." So they worship our Lord in truth and spirit and collected the money every Lord's day to support her. Sister Kim was one of them. When she came to Puyo, she began to worship the Lord in her home. Brother Man Soo Lee, a Presbyterian church preacher, learned the truth from Sister Kim. He is the minister there now and is supported by the Southside Church of Christ, Mt. Pleasant, Texas. The church is growing and they want to have the new church house. The poor Christians there raised $200.00 to build the church house. I think it is wonderful that they raised that much. Now they need $765 immediately. They are working on the foundation of the building now and want to complete the church house before cold weather comes. The total estimated cost of the church house is $965.00. Puyo Church of Christ is supporting some orphans, for which the Colorado Springs Church of Christ sent $100.

Future—

The future missionary work in Korea promises to be great, wonderful and successful; as it is a fact that the terrible war has caused the Koreans to change their religious ideas as the Japanese did. The American servicemen have had a great influence on the Koreans religiously. Koreans are basically very religious. Therefore, there will be a great opportunity to evangelize Korea from now on.

Brother (Lt. Col.) Max Silvey, who was in Seoul and Taegu, saw that the Koreans are eager to learn the truth. He suggested to the Sixteenth and Decatur Church of Christ in Washington, D. C., that they make a survey of the possibilities there. This three-week survey and missionary journey through South Korea were completed earlier this year by Brothers Gurganus and Brown, who reported that there is unequalled opportunity for evangelization of Korea. Consequently the Washington church decided to sponsor fully the missionary work in Korea. I am very happy, for since I came to America this time, I have been wanting to find an American congregation to sponsor the Korean mission work. Brother Joe Cannon, at the request of the Washington church, has also gone to Korea on a five-week missionary trip, during which he has conducted a Bible training class for preachers and officers of the church, and baptized 18 Koreans in a single week, many from sectarian bodies. Brethren, the field is ripe unto harvest.

Hudsons Sailed For Italy

P. D. Wilmeth

Wyndal and Wilma Hudson sailed to their work in Leghorn, Italy, the latter part of July. The oversight of the Hudsons has been assumed by the elders of the Glenwood Church of Christ in Tyler, Texas. The Coleman church in mutual agreement with the church in Tyler, made the necessary arrangements for the transfer of oversight. This makes no change in any way save for their oversight. Those who had committed themselves to have fellowship with the Hudsons and who had planned to send to Coleman should note this change in oversight and contact the Glenwood church, 807 W. Glenwood Boulevard, Tyler, Texas.

The Hudsons went to Italy with the purpose of establishing the work in Leghorn, Italy. At present there are no Christians here, so far as we know. Ambitious plans are envisioned for this center of 250,000 population. If anyone has the name and address of any man in the armed services, if such will be sent directly to us, we'll forward the same to Brother Hudson for contact. There is a military base in Leghorn, and it is our conviction that there may be men who are members of the Lord's body, who are not known to us as of now.

Those desiring to keep in touch with the work in this area will be placed on a mailing list by writing us.

Tyler, Texas.

H. Leo Boles On "Sponsored Cooperation"

(This article which follows appeared under Brother Boles' name in the Gospel Advocate of June 29, 1944. It is one of the last articles, if not the very last, in which he dealt with the subject of cooperation among congregations. This article was reprinted as a tract and widely circulated in many sections of the country. It shows clearly that he did not teach what some have represented him as teaching. The article follows):

THE CAUSE OF CHRIST IN CUBA

H. Leo Boles

Some of the churches of Christ in Florida are taking an active interest in the preaching of the gospel in Cuba. The Nebraska Avenue Church in Tampa, Florida, is receiving funds to support the preachers who are doing missionary work in Cuba. The Central church, in Miami, has undertaken the task to raise funds to build a church house in Havana. This is a good work. At this time brethren and churches cannot send help to foreign countries as they have done in former times, but they can send help to Cuba. Central church, in Miami, is to be commended for this act of service. The writer has held three meetings for Central church. He knows its elders and commends them for undertaking this task. (Emphasis mine.—BCG).

Central church is not able to build the house needed in Havana; hence, it is asking brethren at this time, when money is so plentiful, to contribute liberally to this work. It is a good time to raise funds now when brethren and churches have more money than ever before. If anyone wishes further information about this work, he may write: J. Roy Vaughan, 1161 Northwest 29th Terrace, Miami 37, Florida. All funds should be sent to this address, as Brother Vaughan and the elders of the church at Central will be responsible for the amount raised. The funds will be retained in the United States until the proper time for building the house.

Ernest Estevez was baptized by Brother Hoover at the Nebraska Avenue Church, in Tampa, Florida, about 1927; Brother Jimenez, about a year later. (These dates are approximately correct).

They had previously preached for the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, in missions conducted by these denominations among the Spanish-speaking people. (Tampa has a very large population of Spanish-speaking people. They came from Cuba and other points to work in the cigar factories in Tampa.)

Both men are natives of Cuba, both speak English and Spanish fluently. Brother Estevez was earnestly seeking for the truth at the time he met Brother Hoover. He had become dissatisfied with denominationalism and had ceased to preach for the denominations. After hearing the truth taught by Brother Hoover, he was baptized, and later worked for a long while under the elders of the Nebraska Avenue church, preaching to the Spanish-speaking people in Tampa. Brother Jimenez joined him in this work after he also became a Christian.

In 1937 the Nebraska Avenue Church in Tampa, assumed the responsibility to send Brother Jimenez to Cuba. Brother Estevez followed him about a year later. These men are supported by churches in America that make their contribution through the Nebraska Avenue Church. (Emphasis mine.—B. C. G.) These two men still consider themselves under the direction of the elders of the Nebraska Avenue church.

They have been thoroughly taught in the Scriptures by Brother Hoover. They labored in Tampa a number of years before going to Cuba. They are devout, humble, godly men.

They are free from false doctrine, such as premillennialism. Some time back they were approached by Don Carlos Janes, who offered to finance them in their work in Cuba. They replied to Brother Janes that they did not care to break with the elders of the Nebraska Avenue church in Tampa; and, furthermore, did not want him to give them any publicity or assistance without first consulting the elders of the Nebraska Avenue church.

Brother Hoover thinks Brother Estevez is about sixty years old, and that Brother Jimenez is about fifty. Younger men are needed in that field to do the hard traveling and work in out-of-the-way places. This is another reason why we want a good church building in Havana.

Some reasons why we need a church building in Havana:

1. Havana should serve as the radiating center from which Cuba should be evangelized. It is also a tourist city, where many Americans go every year and find no adequate place of worship.

2. A good building would give the church opportunity to teach hundreds of children who might attend classes. It would serve as an adequate place where Brethren Estevez and Jimenez could train young men to preach during seasons when they do not do much traveling.

3. It would impress the natives of the sincerity of Christians in America to bring them New Testament Christianity. It would elevate their ideals and give dignity to the work. It would give them opportunity to reach thousands of people not reached now.

The following is a report of labors in Cuba by Ernest Estevez, J. R. Jimenez, and their fellow workers during the past five years:

Attendance

	Services Held	Yearly Attendance	Weekly Attendance	Attendance Per Service	Visits	Baptisms	Kilometers Traveled
1937-40	6,048	194,137	3,733	32	16,466	571	98,472
Yearly Average	1,008	32,356	622	32	2,742	95	18,845
For 1943	1,592	61,377	1,180	39	9,378	285	45,745
Total	7,640	255,514	702	33	25,833	856	153,514

This was arranged by Brother Flowers. You will notice the big increase of 1943 over the other years. More was accomplished in 1943 than all the other four years. This, of course, indicates that the groundwork is now laid, and the work has the promise of good increase. It doubtless also indicates that they have capable fellow workers with them now—men they have trained since being there.

Our Goal

We would like to raise $10,000 for a nice, well-constructed building in Havana, adequate for church work for years to come. As yet we do not know much of the cost of such a building, and will not know until the war is over and conditions settle down. It is very probable that some of the brethren will visit Havana as soon as conditions are desirable to investigate location, type of building, etc. With what little notice has so far been made, already $613 has been contributed.

What Does The Bible Say?

BEWARE OF FENCE-SITTING

Recent Congressional investigations have at least established the fact that there are some Americans who are sitting on the fence in regard to Communism.

Certainly we have no excuse to make for any violation of a citizen's rights which any committee may have committed. But we do believe that an American citizen, whether he be a university professor, preacher, or farmer, should be willing to get on one side of the fence or the other. To hide behind the fifth amendment is to beg the issue. I believe that the Christian philosophy and the Communist philosophy of life are opposed to each other. You can decide which way you want to go, but you cannot go both directions at once.

This attitude of fence-sitting is all too characteristic of our age. Modernism has so watered down Christianity in the minds of many that they are not sure they are positively for or against sin or worldliness or communism. A false idea of tolerance has led to indifference to all spiritual values. These people are chronic "fence-sitters." To them nothing is black or white. Everything is gray. Sin has been so white-washed that it resembles righteousness. Righteousness is so adulterated that it resembles sin. They are afraid to wholeheartedly commit themselves to any leader or position.

Jesus Christ demands that you make a definite decision for him. He is not satisfied with mere tolerance, with objectivity, with fence-sitting. "He that is not with me is against me, and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." One of the greatest obstacles to the cause of Christ in America is not the opposition of atheists or 50,000 avowed Communists, but the indifference, the fence-sitting of tens of millions of citizens. Take time to investigate the claims of Christ and make up your mind for or against. Beware of fence-sitting!

Gamaliel, the celebrated doctor of law among the Jews, first advocated a neutral position toward Christianity. He told the Sanhedrin when they were about to kill Peter: "Refrain from these men, and let them alone" (Acts 5:38).

Of course, we are glad that he did not advocate killing the apostles, but Gamaliel was a student of the law of Moses and he knew the more than 300 prophecies concerning Jesus Christ. He also knew of Jesus' life and death and had heard the witnesses of his resurrection. There is a time to wait and see, but there is a time for decision. Gamaliel should have decided for Christ.

You cannot ignore Christ and his claims. He is either the Son of God or an imposter. He deserves your loyalty or your opposition. As Elijah said to Israel so Christ's challenge comes to us today: "How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him." In Elijah's day "the people answered him not a word." They refused to take a stand, to commit themselves.

May we urge you to study your Bible. Examine the evidence for Christ. Then make your decision to deny yourself and follow him! Confess your faith in him to others, and be buried with him in baptism (Rom. 6:4). Then live wholeheartedly for him. It is better to lose your head with the apostle Paul than to keep it with fence-sitting like Gamaliel. Beware of fence-sitting!

TRACT BEING REPRINTED

The 38-page pamphlet on giving entitled, "God, Man, and Money" is being reprinted to meet the demand. Twenty thousand copies of this were printed the first time and they are all gone. Ten thousand copies of this second printing are now available. Preachers and elders have found this useful in teaching the members about their duty in generous giving. It includes articles by such men as B. C. Goodpasture, John H. Banister, Clifton Rogers, Otto Foster, E. R. Harper, Dr. John G. Young, Jack Meyer, Robert S. Bell, Dean Brookshire, Fred Pinkston, and Tim O'Shanahan. Order your copies through the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin 61, Texas, 10 cents each.

World Report On Evangelism

Since the printing of "The Harvest Field", Christians have been interested in receiving a condensed report on progress being made in establishing churches of Christ and preaching the gospel outside the United States. During these past five years more gospel preaching has been done in foreign lands by Christians from the United States than in any other previous time in history. It has been a period of wonderful growth and opens up the prospect of greater achievements in the five years ahead. In response to the interest in this theme, the Firm Foundation brought out a special issue November 10 devoted entirely to articles by gospel preachers in most of the lands outside the United States where much mission work is being done. The following countries were covered by writers mentioned: Germany, Otis Gatewood; Italy, Joe Chisholm; Canada, J. C. Bailey; Mexico, Ben Cano; Uruguay, D. H. Hadwin; Ireland, Andrew Gardiner; Japan, Logan Fox; South Africa, Guy Caskey; Nigeria, Howard Horton; Belgium, S. F. Timmerman; Hawaii, F. B. Shepherd; Philippines, Ralph Brashears; Australia, Allan Flaxman; Korea, S. K. Dong; India, Preshon Kharlukhi; Austria, Bob Hare; Canal Zone, Reuel Lemmons; Tripoli, Lawrence Taylor.

Unfortunately there were countries that we didn't get an article from in time for this issue. These articles will be informative, encouraging, and stimulating. We hope that a number of congregations who have not already ordered will, and use this pamphlet to stir up the spirit and zeal of the members. In our effort to restore New Testament Christianity, we must restore the love for lost souls and the intense spirit of sacrificial evangelism which characterized the primitive church. You may order copies of this special issue at 5c each from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

NEW PAMPHLET ON "THE LORD'S SUPPER"

In response to a need for more teaching on the "Lord's Supper" a new pamphlet has been published by the 20th Century Christian. It should serve through the years as a good tract to hand to our neighbors and friends. Many people do not understand the plea to restore the Lord's Supper to its pristine purity.

The following articles are included: Jesus Institutes This Spiritual Meal, by John Banister; Why Christians Should Observe It Each First Day of the Week, by Frank Pack; How the Supper was Changed by Man, by William M. Green; Efforts of Reformers to Restore It, by Delmar Bunn; The Lord's Supper as a Memorial, by A. C. Pullias; The Lord's Supper as a Proclamation, by A. G. Hobbs; The Supper's Relation to our Spiritual Health, by J. P. Sanders; Practical Suggestions on Eating the Supper, by Mont Whitson; Let Each Man Examine Himself, by Joe White.

Churches or individuals may order a supply to use in personal work or in tract racks. 38 pages. Picture cover. Price, ten cents.

PROGRESS OF THE GOSPEL AMONG THE JAPANESE

Numerous congregations of loyal disciples have been established in the various parts of Japan. The people, as a whole, have repudiated idols and paganistic philosophies. The Bible and especially the New Testament are circulated freely in Japan and the English language is very widely spoken. Our brethren in the army and navy are doing a great work in leading others to the cause of the one true God. Some have written us in regard to Ibaraki College. This school is operated by loyal Christians, seems to be having a fine influence, and is a much needed institution in connection with the preaching of the gospel. I have just received a letter from Brother Logan J. Fox, President of the Ibaraki Christian College, which will serve as an answer to many questions that come to my desk, and which I submit herewith:

"Who Will Teach Him?"

Taro is a boy eighteen years old. His people are farmers and their home is one of a cluster of straw-roofed houses on a hill overlooking countless rice paddies. Taro's parents work hard in the fields and wage a constant battle against poverty. Each morning they begin the day with prayers offered to an image which they keep on a shelf in their home. This is the god who is protecting their home. At regular intervals they worship before a little shrine under a large tree near the fields where they work. This god watches over their crops. At other times they worship their ancestors. Taro too has done all of this since he was a little boy. He is not sure what it's all about, but he would not feel right if he neglected any of the gods that his Shinto parents have taught him to worship. For some reason Taro has enrolled in Ibaraki Christian College. While pursuing his regular course of studies he will be taught the Bible one hour every day. Taro pays $3.00 a month in tuition and fees, but it costs Ibaraki Christian College $8.00 a month to provide him this opportunity for study. He can be taught the Bible and learn better than his Shinto, idol worshipping parents, if some Christian will provide $5.00 a month. Who will see to it that Taro receives this training? Is $5.00 too much to pay for the opportunity of remaking this boy's life?

Michiko's father is a Buddhist priest. As far back as family records go this family has been loyal to the Buddhist faith. Every morning and evening Michiko has heard her father recite the Buddhist prayers in the monotonous sing-song manner which even in its monotony has a strange power to soothe. When her grandmother died she remembers burning incense and worshipping the spirit of her grandmother. Michiko loves her father and respects his faith. She finds that unconsciously she has come to think much as he does. Yet, Michiko is a student in Ibaraki Christian College. Her father had his doubts about the wisdom of her entering, but in the end gave his permission. Now, Michiko is studying the Bible and singing Christian hymns every day. The Bible seems difficult and strange but already she has come to love the hymns. Michiko pays $3.00 a month for her tuition. This Buddhist girl is being taught the Bible because some Christian in America is sending $5.00 a month to Ibaraki Christian College. We have many other children from Buddhist homes who can be taught the Bible—will you teach one?

Two-thirds of the students who enter Ibaraki Christian College at the present time are Buddhists, Shintoists and Athiests. But most of them are not at all sure what they really are. It is our privilege to teach them God and Christ. We cannot do it, though, unless some Christian in America provides $5.00 for each student we enroll. Write today and say: "Let me sponsor one student in Ibaraki Christian College." — LOGAN J. FOX, President, Ibaraki Christian College, Omika, Kuji-Machi, Kuji-Gun, Ibaraki-Ken, Japan.

NINETY-DAY MEETING IN COFFEYVILLE, KANSAS, IS NOW HISTORY

On August 2nd the small but zealous group of Christians in Coffeyville, Kansas, began a meeting that continued for ninety days. When the announcement was made to the local newspaper of the proposed meeting, the editor exclaimed, "At least this is something that no other church has attempted in Coffeyville!" Not only was it something new to the city, but also to the members. Some doubted if they could 'hold out' for that long . . . "That's an awful lot of church going." Others were heard to remark similarly but they were assured by George Darling who has served as evangelist in the congregation since last February, that so long as they did not all decide to take the same night off that the attendance would not be such a problem. An average of 75 percent of the members were present for services. Very few services did not find some non-members in the audience.

The church in Coffeyville expresses their appreciation to the following preachers and the congregations that sent them: Bobby Hoovers, sent by the church in Plainview, Texas; Rex Kimbrough, sent by Independence, Kansas; Charles Tinius, sent by the University church in Wichita, Kansas; Hugo McCord, sent by Bartlesville, Oklahoma; Jack Shackelford, sent by Neosho, Missouri; E. M. Borden, Jr., sent by Earth, Texas; L. R. Wilson, Central Christian College, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, self-supported; Charles Parker, sent by Miami, Oklahoma; Stafford North, Central Christian College, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, self-supported; Dale Pearson, sent by Ponca City, Oklahoma. George E. Darling did the preaching during the final week of the meeting.

The church in Coffeyville does not consider the visible results (17 responses) as the full measure of the success of the meeting. Only time and eternity will reveal the worth of the campaign. It is doubtful if one local resident does not know the location of the building in which the church meets. A new building, across the street from the high school. The zeal manifested by the members during the meeting won the admiration of the people. The zeal of "that small group" was mentioned from the pulpit of one of the leading denominational churches, that, too, helped to advertise the meeting.

Since the beginning of Brother Darling's work in Coffeyville, the church has increased from 35 to 60 members. The contributions have increased from an average of $65 per week to $120 per week. The new building will seat 168 and has seven classrooms. The Lord's cause is on the march in Coffeyville and some are of the opinion that they will be a self-supporting congregation by the first of the year when Brother Darling plans to move to other fields of service.

Reading, Writing and 'Rithmetic

George Hickey

To read anything or everything can be as dangerous as to eat anything or everything. Character is of more value than health. All kinds of brain food is being served. When an angel of Satan writes he often just insinuates. This method throws a doubting shadow upon the whole subject. Why insinuate that a school operated by Christian men ought not to exist? Why insinuate that the church cannot scripturally send an offering to such a good work? God commands the church to support good works and for preachers to constantly remind the church to do so (2 Thess. 2:17; Titus 3:8). This command does not infer that a school can in any way dictate to or control the church. If Satan would explain how the church can escape its duty to teach children how to read and work the math problems of Revelation then his insinuations would make more sense.

Occasionally a weak brother will read something from the pen of a preacher which does fit his way of schooling. He then will insinuate that the paper is not worthy and in a "huff and puff" he will cancel his subscription. This separates him from the writings of multitudes of God's preachers. To capitalize on a false insinuation is one of the most cowardly, jealous and ignorant acts imaginable. Writing is generally more accurate than speaking. If you love the words of faithful preachers you should immediately get subscriptions for the Firm Foundation. By doing this you are supporting a good work and sending many faithful gospel preachers to the homes of your neighbors.

Since editors have been known to print thoughts with which they do not agree—the address is Clemmons, North Carolina.

HELP ERIE, PENNSYLVANIA!

The mission work in Erie, Pennsylvania, is worthy of your support. Brother L. C. Chapin has labored in that city for about five years. For many years we have known him as a devout Christian and sound preacher of the gospel. He does manual labor to support himself and wife. He with about twenty-five other Christians have constructed a basement, but it is not weatherproof. They are now trying to finish the superstructure of the building. They make heavy contributions of their own funds for this work. The building must be finished before winter. Erie is a city of 150,000 and is truly a mission field. If elders will ask their congregations to make an extra offering for this mission work it can soon be finished. No doubt there are many individuals who will send contributions to this work, also.

Will you send one or more contributions to this worthy cause? Make it as much as you can!

Send all contributions to L. C. Chapin, Minister, 2707 Pebble Drive, Erie 4, Pennsylvania, or to the treasurer, John Driver, Jr., R. D. 1, Clifford Drive, Erie, Pennsylvania. Your contributions will be acknowledged.

The undersigned are helping in this mission work. Will you?

Signed: E. Ramey, Hereford, Texas; A. S. Higgins, Texline, Texas.

P.S. Brother L. C. Chapin's son, Doyle, told me this afternoon that his father received twenty-five dollars per week from the church in Erie for his work as minister. He contributes freely of cash and time. He works hard at manual labor in a Foundry to provide most of his living expenses. How many would make the effort and sacrifice he is making to do mission work? Surely this work is worthy of support. Will you help?—E. RAMEY.

LET'S EMPHASIZE THE BIBLE SCHOOL

M. Norvel Young

The church at Madison, Tennessee, has just reported 624 enrolled in daily vacation Bible school. They have a goal of 1000 in Sunday morning Bible school. The church at Charlotte Avenue, at Lewisburg, Tennessee, and several other congregations are reporting average attendances of around 900 per Sunday with goals of many more this fall. Not only are larger congregations stressing Bible school, but many smaller ones are doing as well in proportion. Here in Lubbock we are thankful that there are now eleven faithful churches of the Lord with a total attendance of around 3000 per Sunday.

Brethren, the fall of the year is the best time to increase Bible school attendance. The back-to-school season is the logical time to emphasize the need for every member and every child to be present every Sunday morning for the Bible study. Let's emphasize the Bible school this fall as never before. It would be most interesting if brethren would report along with the number baptized into Christ, the number who are growing in the knowledge of the Lord by regular study of the Bible. The word of God is the seed of the kingdom. A well-informed membership is a strong, spiritual bulwark against digression or retrogression. Let's emphasize Bible study this fall, and throughout the year. It will produce results!

New Rules For 1-A-O's

Jimmy Wood

There has been some controversy in the past as to whether a Christian has the right to bear arms or not. Regardless of what our feelings might be on the subject, I believe that each of us believes that a person must make up his own mind about these things. Brother James L. Daniel, Jr., whom I have known for a long time, enlisted as a conscientious objector, and signed up for non-combatant service. At that time he was sent to Camp Pickett, Virginia, to the Medical Replacement Training Center. However, in the future we understand that all such enlistees will be processed at their nearest army reception center. Many of these centers will not be familiar with the training of 1-A-O's and so Brother Daniel has given us the following procedure that has been suggested by the Medical Replacement Center's chaplain's office:

1. Each man is to have a notarized letter on church stationery from the local preacher saying that the man has been an active member of the congregation and that either the church and/or the member has been taught and believes that he is not to take the life of another.
2. Each man should definitely establish his 1-A-O classification from the draft board. Forms for this are available at the local draft board. (In talking with Brother David Sprague, one of our chaplains, he tells me that this is especially important.—J. W.)
3. At each personal interview after induction into the army, the man is to state that he is a conscientious objector so that all of his records will reflect this classification. The interviewer then should see that the man is properly assigned to a medical unit after the first eight weeks of infantry training. Should there be any difficulty, the man should appeal to the chaplain who will know the proper procedures for giving him this right.

Brother Daniel says that this information and the following of it will avoid a lot of heartaches and we pass it along in the hope that it will be helpful. He reports that there is a good church at Camp Pickett with about 30 members.

Odessa, Texas.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Joseph Sherman, 614 South 6th Avenue, Yakima, Washington, November 10: During the past two weeks, eight people have placed membership at Yakima. I broadcast over Radio Station KYAK. Listen Monday through Friday at 8:15 A.M.

Malcom B. Hinckley, 3034 E. Gage, Huntington Park, California, November 14: Two more have been baptized here, one more has been restored, and another has placed membership. Another new record was set for our Sunday evening attendance when we had 165 present.

A. E. Wickham, Roscoe, Ohio, November 11: I am in a meeting of a few days here. Good brethren live here. Last Lord's day I spoke to two large crowds in Coshocton, Ohio. We had one baptism and one restoration. Recently I preached three sermons at Burt, West Virginia, where I first took my stand with the church of Christ. Hope to get back some day for a meeting.

Claude Robertson, Haskell, Oklahoma, November 4: Five responded to the invitation during October here. We averaged 231 in Bible study during the month. I did the preaching in a meeting with the church in Bixby, Oklahoma, October 19-23. This was a good meeting. Brother Dismuke is their minister and is doing a good work. This church has a great future. I was invited to be with them again in the spring of 1954.

L. F. Mills, 156 E. Baker Street, Batesville, Arkansas, November 10: A mission meeting at Mt. Pleasant, Arkansas, resulted in three baptisms, three restorations, and a new congregation meeting for worship. Sunday afternoon services are conducted by the church here and the Melbourne congregation. A building is badly needed at Mt. Pleasant. Plans are being made to build a modest structure. One was baptized and one restored in our local work here. Three have been baptized in our fall meeting with Brother Eugene Britnell preaching.

C. B. Shropshire, Rt. 1, Box 180, Aloha, Oregon, November 9: The church in Hillsboro, though only three years old is showing a very rapid growth. In a little more than a year that we have been privileged to work with these brethren, we have seen the attendance and contributions triple. Eight have been baptized, several restored, and the spiritual interest enlarged. We have purchased a very fine piece of property and will build on it as soon as funds are available. The Northwest is still a mission field, and we need workers and support.

Luther G. Roberts, 1506 Clayton, Borger, Texas, November 5: From October 18-28 the church at Second and Deahl Streets, here, engaged in a gospel meeting which resulted in eight baptisms, six restorations, and two being identified with the church. E. Oliver Murray of Lafayette, Louisiana, did the preaching in an excellent manner and H. L. Arant of Lubbock, Texas, directed the singing in a fine way. Since the meeting closed two have been baptized and three have identified themselves with the church. I am preaching at the present time each night for the church at Skellytown, Texas, where J. R. Perkins is the regular preacher. O. F. Shewmaker is leading the singing.

Wayne Hargrove, Houston 21, Texas, November 9: Two baptisms, one restoration and one membership here yesterday. This makes thirty-nine additions in the past thirty-five days here at MacGregor Park in Houston.

Ward Glentzer, 1505 Ormond Drive, Corpus Christi, Texas, November 12: Olan Hicks did the preaching for us in a meeting from November 1-8. Bill Sharp and Charles Rhea, Jr. led the singing. We are ready to begin construction on our class rooms. I have time for one meeting next spring.

Luther Savage, 809 Merritt Street, Fort Worth, Texas, November 13: We are beginning this week the publication of a weekly printed paper for the benefit of the members of the church here in Rosen Heights and for their friends. It contains a few new items and many short articles. If you would like a few sample copies, write a postal card to the church here.

C. M. Moser, Whitesboro, Texas, November 9: The work here is improving in a noticeable way. A better spirit prevails among the members in general. Some old troubles have been settled, and the work promises to go forward. New members are moving in all along because of the oil in and around Whitesboro. Three married people have recently been baptized. A greater interest is being manifested in every respect.

Paul Butterfield, 1808 Barlow Street, La Crosse, Wisconsin, November 11: We have had two baptisms since my last report. A young lady of 22 and a boy of 15 years. They are natives of this part of the country. We are trying to raise enough money to build next spring. We have a fine lot paid for and over $3,000.00 toward starting the building. If you are looking for a place to settle down with a view of helping the Lord's church, come to Wisconsin. You are needed and there are no end of opportunities.

M. R. Phillips, Victoria, Texas, November 11: In last day of meeting in Ingleside, Texas, my last of this year. It has been a good one for the Lord's work and me. There have been lots of responses in the meetings I have held and I have enjoyed them a lot. I look forward to a greater year for the Lord and in his work in '54. I know a young gospel preacher that is ready to move. If you need him to work with you, you may contact me at once.

Gus Winter, 113 N. Florence, Casa Grande, Arizona, November 10: Am now preaching regularly for our very fine congregation in Douglas, Arizona. Had two to respond to the gospel invitation for baptism last Lord's day eve. Attendance, contribution and interest are on the increase from week to week. My wife and I have accepted their very urgent invitation to live and labor in their midst in full time gospel work after this January 1st. We are very happy indeed to respond to their call and to give full time, thought, talents and energies to the service of our glorious Lord and his church, after nearly two and a half years in secular work. We ask for the prayers of our brethren and friends as we undertake this new ministry in this strategic and important field.

Robert D. Bankes, 810 Houston Street, Kilgore, Texas, November 16: Our work with the Houston and Broadway church continues to grow. Recently one was baptized, two placed membership and one was restored.

Quentin A. Dunn, Box 273, Eldorado, Texas, November 12: During the past few weeks three have been identified and one restored in our services here. I will have some time after the first of the year that I desire to use for meetings.

Monroe E. Hawley, 3413 S. Alabama Ave., Milwaukee 7, Wisconsin, November 10: Wayne Mickey recently closed a meeting with the church in Milwaukee with one baptism and one restoration. The colored congregation in Milwaukee baptized four recently.

Claude A. Guild, Ft. Worth 11, Texas, November 6: Riverside's fall meeting closed with four baptisms, six restorations, and six placing membership. Weldon Bennett did the preaching in a splendid way. The church gave him an additional check for $578.00 to buy a car for his work in Germany. This finds me in Baytown, in a meeting with A. Hugh Clark.

Luther Savage, 809 Merritt Street, Fort Worth, Texas, November 7: A gospel meeting is planned for the Rosen Heights congregation here in Fort Worth, Texas, beginning November 16th and continuing through the 25th. A. V. Isbell of Lawton, Oklahoma, is to do the preaching. Those living in driving distance are invited to attend. The church building is located at 2103 Azle Avenue.

James A. Cox, 512 Earl Garrett Street, Kerrville, Texas, November 16: The work here continues to grow in a fine way. One was baptized into Christ and three placed membership with this congregation yesterday. This makes a total of sixty-four additions to this congregation since January 1. I know of an outstanding song leader who would like to lead singing for meetings during the summer months. If you can use him, contact him as follows: Morris Kemper, Groveton, Texas.

Doyle Cannon, 1002 Greer, San Antonio, Texas, November 6: I just closed a meeting with the church of Christ in Burnet, Texas, one of the strongest in the state, with four obeying the gospel and one restored. Roy E. Stephens is the outstanding preacher who labors with the good brethren there. I was much impressed with the wide awake congregation and their zeal for the Lord. They have a new Austin Stone auditorium and have just completed a two story educational building of the same material. When in Burnet worship with them.

Dick Powell, 212 N. Taylor Street, Gainesville, Texas, November 6: The work here at the Broadway Church of Christ is growing in all phases. We are having good attendance at the services and especially at the cottage meeting being conducted here in town. We are having results from these cottage meetings which shows that personal work can't be praised too highly. There is also much good work being accomplished by our radio program which is broadcast every Sunday morning over station KGAF, 1580 on the dial from 8:30 until 8:45. When in this section of the country all are invited to visit with us at the Broadway Church of Christ located at the corner of Broadway and Taylor Streets.

Frank Traylor, Chaplain (Maj.) USAF, P. O. Box 207 Boerne, Texas, November 9: An airman was restored to duty on November 1 and another was baptized yesterday. We continue with good interest at 1:00 P.M. every Lord's day in Chapel No. 4, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Paul T. Dumm, Charleston, South Carolina, November 13: It was my privilege to do the preaching in a meeting at Salisbury, North Carolina, where Brother P. L. Manning is doing a fine work. One baptism was the visible result. During my absence three were added at Charleston by identification.

John H. Gerrard, 529 Clark Street, Aurora, Illinois, November 13: It was my pleasure to baptize a fine young father and husband into Christ yesterday. Other prospects are in regular attendance that we hope to baptize soon. We are having the largest attendance of non-members here that we have ever had in the history of the work. Aurora is on U. S. 30. Stop and worship with us when coming our way.

Sister U. G. Wilkinson, Comanche, Oklahoma, Box 192, November 14: Received many inquiries the past ten days, why I haven't written the Firm Foundation. The fact is, just not able to do much writing. Will be 83 years old November 21. Brother David Underwood, minister here; Brother Perry, Prairie Hill church; and G. W. Allison from Velma church are attending Lectureship at Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas, this week. We enjoy the Firm Foundation more each week.

David C. Sprague, Chaplain (1st Lt.), USA, 401 N. 6th, Lawton, Oklahoma, November 12: I have received orders to send me to the Far East for assignment, probably in Korea. I will leave the U. S. on 11 December 1953. I would be glad to receive names of members of the Lord's church who are now in Korea, or of locations where members have been meeting to worship. Perhaps I can assist in their needs. Write to me at the above address. Fifteen were baptized while I was at Camp Polk during the last eight months, and worship services are to be continued on the Post for the members of the church. This will be under the direction of the church of Christ in Leesville, Louisiana. I urge all congregations of the church near military Posts to contact the Post Chaplain to secure names of members of the church of Christ. If the elders desire, permission may also be secured to conduct services for the brethren on the Post.

Rue Porter, Neosho, Missouri, November 12: This leaves me in a good meeting at Statesville, North Carolina. Three have been baptized to date, and the interest continues to grow. I am to meet an Elder Hansen, Seventh Day Adventist, in debate at Graton, California, January 26-27-28-29, 1954. He will affirm that "The Sabbath mentioned in Exodus 20:8, 11, is binding upon children of God today (1953). I will affirm that "The law of which the Sabbath was a part, has been abolished, and is not binding upon Christians today." The debate will be held in the new auditorium of our brethren in Graton. Arrangements will be made for accommodations for visiting brethren. L. W. Mayo of San Jose, will be my "timekeeper" and moderator. I have two more meetings for 1953—Springfield and Sparta, Missouri. 1954 will be another busy year for me. Twenty-two meetings booked. Time is precious, and we should do our best while we can, for none of us will be here very long at best.

Wayne Hargrove, 5317 South Park Boulevard, Houston 21, Texas, November 5: A man and his wife were baptized last Wednesday night, five placed membership Sunday (including one restored), and two more identified last night. This makes thirty-five additions in the past thirty-one days here at MacGregor Park.

Claude Robertson, Haskell, Oklahoma, October 29: I recently did the preaching in a meeting at Winnsboro, Texas. Four responded, two being baptized and two restored. Brother W. L. Fritts is the much loved minister for the church and is doing a good work. The church has a mind to work, and much progress is anticipated in the near future.

Luther Savage, 809 Merritt Street, Fort Worth, Texas, November 16: Last Thursday night it was my pleasure to preach in a lectureship at the church in Highland Park. The speakers preaching Monday through Friday were: James Scott, Roy Deaver, C. Wayne Lowe, Luther Savage, and Eldred Stevens. Dillard Thurman is doing a fine work there at Highland Park.

Edward J. Craddock, 1714 Cass Street, Nashville, Tennessee, November 11: The city-wide gospel meeting by the Walnut Street and Ninth Street churches of Christ in Canton, Ohio, is entering into the last week with good interest, with nine baptisms and restorations. Special day services have been one feature of the meeting and open forums after the regular night services with a large number in attendance. I begin with the Southeast church in Akron, Ohio, November 22, 1953.

Ira Williams, Port Lavaca, Texas, November 5: It has been over five years since I have sent in a report to the Firm Foundation. The church here has enjoyed a steady growth. A new three-bedroom home, and a new building for worship are the external indications of growth. There have been over 100 baptisms since I sent the last report. Horace W. Busby and Clifton Rogers have done a great service for us in meetings and both are scheduled for other work here.

Paul S. Gray, P. O. Box 573, Bowie, Texas, November 16: Levelland, Texas, a city of about 9,000 now has two congregations in perfect accord. During the recent meeting in the new house in which I was privileged to speak three were baptized and two were restored. The attendance was good to excellent and the associations most pleasant. The first Sunday 128 met for Bible study; about 200 for worship; and the contribution was $241.00. Men qualified for elders and deacons should be found soon and with the help of a good preacher rapid progress should be made. Stanley Lockhart is the highly esteemed preacher at the older congregation. He and Robert Simpson led the singing during the meeting in a most commendable way. The church here has agreed to support Glen Bettenhausen to the extent of $400 a month as he works with the newly established congregation at Grand Island, Nebraska. One has been baptized and two placed membership here since my last report.

W. Halliday Trice, 67 Waller Street, San Francisco, California, November 9: Since last report two husbands have been baptized and a fine couple have placed membership with the Golden Gate congregation at 8th Avenue and Cabrillo Street. Crowds and interest are on the increase. Please send me the names of those who should be contacted.

Max T. Neel, Houston 23, Texas, November 16: One was baptized, one restored and placed membership, and another placed membership with us yesterday, making a total of fifty responses in the three months we have been here at Lawndale. This makes us very humble for God's goodness, as we give him the praise! Our work in general continues very encouragingly. We'll soon have a list of subs for the Firm Foundation.

Murrey W. Wilson, Bentonville, Arkansas, November 10: Interest is fine here. Brother Floyd Stanley recently closed a good meeting with us with one baptism. I have just closed a good meeting at Jane, Missouri, with four baptized. One fine lady was baptized at our services here Sunday. Two more were baptized Sunday evening by Brother Robbins, who is in a meeting with the church at Corinth. I would like to arrange for other meetings in 1954.

G. Dudley Stout, Box 403, Belle Plaine, Kansas: We plan to terminate our work here about the first of January. Real peace and harmony now prevail here. We feel that our work here has been profitable in every spiritual way. I have baptized a goodly number here. We have not as yet determined where we shall go, but due to the severe cold causing our daughter to have bronchitis we prefer to go south.

Wayne Mickey, Box 852, Rochester, Minnesota, November 10: I preached in a series of meetings with the church which meets for worship at 35 and Cherry in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, October 24 through November 4. There was one baptism and one restoration. During the process of the meeting the colored congregation in Milwaukee had four baptisms and there was one colored person brought from Racine to be baptized. Joe Andrews directed the singing in the meeting. Monroe Hawley labors with the church there. He is doing a good work with his newly printed correspondence course. Many churches are ordering it by dozens and hundreds to be used in their local efforts. We are in need of several other preachers in this section. If you are interested or if you know of someone interested in working in this neglected field, please contact me immediately.

A GIFT

James Mathews

A gift of $10,000 has been presented to Central Christian College by the Mabee Foundation, it was announced recently by L. R. Wilson, President.

The J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation of Midland, Texas, stipulated that the money be used as a loan fund to help students who are unable to finance themselves. This foundation has made numerous gifts to colleges and universities and to other non-profit organizations over the country.

Although the Mabee gift will aid students who otherwise may not be able to carry on their college work, it is definitely not to be used by the college as endowment or operating fund. Central Christian College still needs other gifts which will help alleviate its need for buildings, library books, and permanent endowment.

TO THE BROTHERHOOD:

Bill G. Brown

This notice is published in the interest of the churches of Christ who might be duped by John R. Chapman of Hale Center, Texas.

Confessing Jesus Christ as the Son of God, he was baptized about a year ago while in prison. Through correspondence with the church here, he expressed his desire to become a gospel preacher upon his release. Upon his leaving prison the church manifested a special interest in him. Thinking him to be sincere we rendered financial assistance including provisions for his enrollment in A.C.C. But, after having been on parole a few weeks, he stole an automobile—was later apprehended and charged with theft by bailee. While out on bond, he repeated his crime. As yet, he hasn't been arrested.

We have reason to believe that he is presenting his hard luck story to the churches in Texas, possibly elsewhere. Don't respond to his appeal but contact an officer of the law.

MELVIN WISE SPEAKER AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN COLLEGE HOMECOMING
ON NOVEMBER 26

Melvin Wise, minister of the Preston Road Church of Christ in Dallas, Texas, will be the featured speaker of the Homecoming exercises at Central Christian College on Thursday, November 26, it was announced by L. R. Wilson, President.

The day's exercises will begin at 10:30 A.M. with an informal program by the student chorus. Brother Wise will speak at 11:15.

Homecoming will be climaxed Thursday night by the presentation of "Songs America Sings," the 1953 edition of the college's annual musical show.

Central Christian College invites all alumni and friends to visit the campus in November 26 for a day of fellowship and entertainment.

William Reeves (formerly of Fairlawn) and Emmanuel Luxardo (converted Presbyterian) will be the evangelists. Reeves is fully supported by the Castleberry church in Ft. Worth. Luxardo is supported by various churches.

Please send us the name and address of anyone whom we should contact in the Newark area. Send correspondence to William Reeves, 2 Keer Ave., Apt. 504, Newark, New Jersey. Phone Waverly 3-0990.

MURRAY MARSHALL TO OAK LAWN
IN DALLAS

After almost two and a half years good work here in Frederick with the South Side church, we are moving to Dallas to work with the Oak Lawn congregation, which meets at 2701 Reagan in north Dallas. Our new address there is 2711 Reagan, and we invite our friends to write and visit us there. We look forward to the new work with the fine church at Oak Lawn, with its many possibilities.

Our work here has been pleasant and fruitful. Twenty-seven have been baptized, 13 restored, and 16 placed membership. September, 1953, marks the peak of the work here in Frederick during the past thirty months.

SOUTHWEST LOS ANGELES

People of the Southwest Los Angeles area have been anxiously awaiting the completion of the new Westchester building. We are happy to announce that it has now been completed and the congregation is occupying it and is growing as a result of this investment. Brother Eugene White is the minister.

To complete the $75,000 building program the Southwest church at 64th and Normandie in Los Angeles, which has been overseeing this project throughout, has received permission from the Securities Commission of the State of California to issue $32,000 worth of first mortgage bonds. The most of these bonds have been taken up by the members of the Southwest and Westchester churches. Keen interest has been shown in completion of this project by all concerned. A few bonds dated 1960 to 1964 remain to be sold. They bear 5 percent interest annually and may be sold to members of the church of Christ only. Anyone interested in securing any of these bonds may write to the treasurer of the Southwest church for further information.

Joe S. Hyde, Jacksonville, North Carolina, P. O. Box 576. My work here will terminate the first of January, 1954. Anyone desiring to work on the East Coast, and in a much neglected mission field, may contact Brother Morris Cole, Treasurer, Jacksonville, North Carolina, Route 3.

PREACHER WANTED: At the Church of Christ in Pernell, Oklahoma. The church and modern parsonage are located on State Highway 76 one mile from a good, modern high school. The average church attendance is 106.

William M. Dewell, Newport, Ohio, October 25: Our meeting is now past history, gone and never to be recalled, except in memory. Brother Nicholas brought us some of the finest lessons on love, night after night, that we have ever heard. It is felt by the whole congregation that much seed has been sown and that a harvest in the future is to be expected. The building was filled to capacity each service and over fifty extra seats and chairs had to be obtained. Many local friends and visitors were present as well as our neighboring congregations, and we wish to thank them for helping to make the meeting so good. Due to the large crowds the Lord's day afternoon service had to be held in the local school auditorium. The lesson for the service was "The Christian Race." We highly recommend Brother Nicholas as a most capable Christian and servant, and wish him godspeed. There is much work to be done and so little time to do it. May we all work harder to win souls, and to edify and give God the glory, in all things. Two precious souls were baptized during the meeting. Anytime you are in our vicinity come and study with us. All are welcome.

COLLEY-KETCHERSIDE DEBATE

The debate between Flavil L. Colley of Dallas, Texas, and W. Carl Ketcherside of St. Louis, Missouri, will be held in Dallas. The dates, December 1-4. The Beckley theater has been leased for this discussion. The location: Beckley at Woodin Streets. Subject: Is it scriptural for a church having elders to have a paid preacher?

D. C. Lawrence, Lefors, Texas, November 12: Brother M. C. Cuthbertson of Tucson, Arizona, closed a ten-day meeting with the church in Lefors, November 8. Good preaching. One was restored. Another was restored Wednesday after the meeting. Brother Bob Fish, our regular leader, directed the singing in his usual fine way. A new building is being planned for the church here.

1487 ENROLL AT DAVID LIPSCOMB COLLEGE

Willard Collins

One thousand four hundred and eighty-seven students have enrolled in all departments at David Lipscomb this year to set an all-time record.

There are 886 students in the college department which also breaks an all-time record of 851 set in 1949. This year there are 376 freshmen enrolled.

Last year 1404 registered for the fall quarter in college, high school, and elementary school.

During the past ten years the student body has grown from 562 to 1487. Total financial assets have grown from $598,512.85 to $4,007,723.82 in the same period.

Lipscomb applied for membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on October 10.

Otis L. Rowe, Box 291, Cotton Valley, Louisiana: Since our last report there have been two baptisms and two restorations. A new annex to the building is nearing completion, with another class room and study to be added yet. The work continues to have a steady growth with peace and harmony prevailing. I still have time for two more meetings in '54. If I can serve you, call me.

H. H. Dunn, Huntington, Arkansas, November 16: From the 11th to the 18th of October I was with the Calmont Avenue congregation in Ft. Worth, Texas. A very pleasant meeting was had with one baptism, five restorations, and several to place their membership with that congregation. Chester Hill is their full time preacher and he is just what that expression implies. I learned to love him dearly. A good congregation: Good elders; A good preacher. How good and how pleasant to be associated with such people. I am now in Oklahoma.

Lawrence Hazelip, 1509 William Street, Valdosta, Georgia, November 13: With Norvel M. Young of Lubbock, Texas, doing the preaching and Warren Morris of Atlanta directing the song service, the Central Avenue congregation has just concluded a good gospel meeting. There were seven responses to the invitation. Three were baptized, two were restored and two were identified.

McGARY CARRIES ON

Clyde P. Findlay

Over at Montgomery, Texas, the surviving daughter of Brother McGary, founder of Firm Foundation is trying to establish the cause of our Lord there. Sister Viva M. McComb, Conroe, Texas, is carrying out the fine tradition of her father by helping in every way she can with the new little church at Montgomery. Her faithfulness and sacrifice is well-known throughout the entire section.

Now she is appealing for help. For many years a block of ground has been owned at Montgomery but never used. They have a building fund of around $1,000 and another $1,000 will probably be available when they start to build. But the great need is for a preacher. Brethren from Dobbin, Longstreet, Richards, Montgomery and other places attend. Preaching has been by weekly appointments. If enough churches would contribute a check each month to support a man there the work would grow and the building would soon go up.

Brethren, this is a great opportunity, a needy field, a good start and dependable people behind it. Let's get them out of the community center and into a house on their own property. I suggest that checks made payable to Montgomery Church of Christ be mailed to Mrs. Viva McComb, Conroe, Texas, who will see that they get into the fund.

Box 14446, Houston, Texas.

COMMENDATION

This is to state that Brother Gainey S. Westbrook, his wife Quanita, and his daughter, Jimmie Earlene, worked and worshipped with the church here for a period of three years.

Brother Westbrook is an excellent preacher and a very influential worker.

Truly we believe that they can be of great value to you if you will help them in the right way.

We commend them unto you.—Signed: Pioneer Park Church of Christ, Elders, W. J. Rogers, H. H. Whitney.

Jack Meyer, Jr., Box 21, Cyril, Oklahoma, November 5: "A Baptist woman and her husband were baptized here November 1."

W. C. White, Cherokee, Texas, November 7: Interest in the work of the church in Cherokee continues. One was baptized at the close of the morning service on last Lord's day.

Archie Waldrum, 1313 Sylvan Avenue, Palestine, Texas, November 16: I have just closed a meeting with the Green's Bayou, congregation in Houston. Three were baptized. The church in Houston is growing. Our winter meeting begins here Sunday, December 6th, with John T. Smith, of Lubbock doing the preaching.

Felix W. Tarbet, 2685 20th Street, San Pablo, California, October 31: Ten were added to our working forces here in San Pablo during October. Five were baptized and five added by transfer of membership. Attendance and offering are at an all time high for San Pablo. We also opened a new class-room addition to our building during October.

J. O. Jones, 1014 Beech Street, Little Rock, Arkansas, November 9: There were three additions yesterday which makes fifteen in all the last few weeks since my last report. We rejoice to note the growth of the church in this part of the state. Also, from every place the Word is being preached it seems it is bringing forth much fruit. Let us thank God for the great harvest of souls that are being gathered in, and press on brethren to higher heights in the Master's service.

A. E. Findley, P. O. Box 403, Refugio, Texas, November 11: Some time ago we told about an oil and cattle man furnishing us a locker full of fine juicy steaks and roasts. Now here is something worth more than the cattle on a thousand hills. We baptized this man into Christ last Lord's day. He told me he had not been inside a church house in thirty years till he heard me preach last summer. He is really a fine man and will be worth much to the church. 59 from all sources have been added to the church since we came here twenty months ago. Peace prevails. To God be the praise.

O. C. Hartsell, 612 Elm Street, Minden, Louisiana, November 12: Recently Brother Elmer Gobles of Dixie Inn church of Christ met Mr. Kenneth Reeves of the United Pentecostal church in a discussion on the subject of Holy Spirit baptism. Brother Robert G. Cook of the Springhill church of Christ moderated for Brother Gobles. There were two days of this discussion. Large crowds attended. Good was done. Brother Gobles is a Bible student, loves the truth, and is striving to teach it at every opportunity that comes his way. Wife and I, with the help of God, are laboring with the Minden church to advance the cause of Christ in this Parish seat. If and when Sister Hartsell's health is back to normal we can do much more in our Master's name. Our hearts rejoice to know that the churches of Christ are on the move in all parts of the world. God's blessings be upon the churches of Christ everywhere.

Dick Powell, 212 N. Taylor Street, Gainesville, Texas, November 16: We had good attendance here at the Broadway church of Christ yesterday. We had three to identify with us yesterday. The Commerce Street congregation of this city started a good meeting yesterday with Brother C. E. McGaughey doing the preaching.

Charles E. Wilson, 111 S. Keystone, Stafford, Kansas, November 16: We have had three restorations and one baptism since we moved here May 22. Brother Dale Church held our fall meeting October 7-18. His lessons were very instructive and the brethren feel that much and lasting good was accomplished by this meeting. I would like to hold about three meetings this spring. Meetings with a possibility of locating will be considered. I will also consider one missionary meeting.

John L. Davis, Junction, Texas, November 12: The work of the Lord moves along in a very fine way at the College Street Church of Christ here in Junction. After three years of pleasant work with the Eighth Street Church of Christ at Ballinger, Texas, I accepted a call from the brethren here in Junction. The church here is small due to the fact that the church has had some trouble and that another congregation has been started on Tenth Street. However I can state at this time that the trouble that existed has in a measure been brought closer together and it is only a matter of time until all will be settled. I am positive that all who pulled away are sorry and time will bring them back into the fold. We are busy having organized classes with good teachers and all seem to have a desire to work. At this time we are preparing to install a library in the church building for the benefit of all the members. We have a daily radio broadcast of (KMBL) and that has done a lot of good. We are hopeful of bringing many souls to Christ through this effort.

W. L. Baze, 417 Welch Street, Denton, Texas, November 17: Brother L. R. Wilson was the preacher during our fall meeting at Welch Street which closed last Lord's day evening. As always he was outstanding in his presentation of the truth. Two former Baptists are now New Testament Christians as a result of having been baptized into Christ for the remission of sins. One brother confessed waywardness and asked for prayers in his behalf. Last Lord's day morning saw a new record set in Bible study attendance and the house was packed for the preaching hour. We are certain that Brother Wilson's efforts will have lasting and far-reaching results. Quite a few students from both Denton colleges attend our services or those of the two other congregations. However, we believe that some are neither attending here nor at home. Therefore we ask parents to co-operate by doing their part in urging and insisting that their sons and daughters not forget their obligations to the Lord, while away from home. No one can take the place of father and mother when it comes to influencing these young people, and we need their help very much.

MAJESTIC HYMNAL

"And I said, Oh that I had wings of a dove! Then would I fly away, and be at rest" (Ps. 55:6).

After reading these precious words, turn to Song No. 1 in the "Majestic Hymnal."

—Austin Taylor

"This message to declare that I have closely examined MAJESTIC HYMNAL, the brand new song book just from the press of the Firm Foundation, and that I cannot recall a single gospel song book during the past 40 years that so completely justifies its title—MAJESTIC HYMNAL. Many brand new songs, many favorites of the past—the book is suitable for every purpose where good singing is desired and the truth taught. The book has my heartiest commendation, and I urge a thousand churches to order them in large quantities."—Tice Elkins.

I have been using song books a long time, and I think MAJESTIC HYMNAL is one of the finest books I have ever seen."—J. W. Bragg.

"MAJESTIC HYMNAL" came in good time. It looks good to have a new book with a lot of new songs that can be used."—Edgar Furr.

"I have seen many song books, but it is my judgment that MAJESTIC HYMNAL is the greatest song book that has ever been published for the churches of Christ."—W. N. Bohannon.

"I have received my copy of the MAJESTIC HYMNAL. My wife and I have examined every song, and we think it is the best of all your works. I want to say to the congregations throughout the brotherhood where I have conducted meetings the past fifty years: 'BUY IT'."—Tom Walker.

"We rejoice with the publishers of MAJESTIC HYMNAL for they have toiled into the night to produce a song book that would meet the needs of the churches everywhere and in all places. Each song is a gem and will have a spiritual effect in congregational and group singing."—J. G. Dooley.

"I have received and thoroughly examined a copy of the new MAJESTIC HYMNAL. I find it to be an excellent compilation of good gospel songs, and I am sure it will soon become a very popular song book among the congregations throughout the brotherhood. There are many numbers worth far more than the price of the book. Hearty congratulations to you upon the completion of this fine book."—Elbert V. Kelley.

"After a partial examination of MAJESTIC HYMNAL I find many of the songs we used to sing in the happy years gone by. Such gifted singers as Acuff and Evridge, Taylor and Edmiston, Kelley and Boring, and many other leading song writers and singers of the church seem to be fully represented as contributors to this work. This book will find a warm welcome. The songs of hope and love which it contains will stir the hearts of old and young to deeper reverence and godly living. Thanks a million for the copy you have sent to me."—Tillit S. Teddlie.

E. Lacy Porter, Huntingdon, Tennessee, November 16: In my last meeting near Tecumser, Missouri, three were baptized. The work here seems to be making progress. Our contributions have been larger this month, and we had our largest attendance in Bible study November 8 since I have been here. If you should pass through, we invite you to stop and worship with us.

Claude A. Guild, 2701 E. Belknap Street, Ft. Worth 11, Texas, November 16: The meeting at Baytown, Pruett and Lobit Sts., closed with two baptisms and five restorations. A sizeable contribution was made to the church work in Portland, Oregon, where we will be laboring beginning June, 1954. Brother A. Hugh Clark is the minister there and directed the singing during the meeting in a very fine way.

L. W. Mayo, San Jose, California: I know a fine young man who has been preaching for some years now who will be available for work soon. He is 26 years old, married and has one child. He has attended Abilene Christian College one year and has experience in local work. He is sound in the faith, and pure of character. If you would be interested in him, please write me at 81 No. 8th, San Jose, California.

James R. Wilburn, Box 109, Neenah, Wisconsin, October 19: This is my first report since coming to Wisconsin. I have been in Neenah, Wisconsin, now for about a month and a half, being supported by the church in Winters, Texas. Neenah is the center of the Fox River Valley, an area of some 400,000 population. Johnny Ramsey and I labor together in this area, making Neenah the center of our operations. One was baptized last Sunday bringing the total membership to 37. The contribution is averaging about $110. We also have just closed an eight-day meeting in Green Bay, 40 miles to the north. Green Bay is a city of 55,000 with eight members of the church now. Speakers in the meeting were: Billy Boyd of Racine, Monroe Hawley of Milwaukee, Bob Lawrence of Madison, Johnny Ramsey and myself. Green Bay is predominantly Catholic and needs some strong congregation to back it completely in every aspect of the work. Our meeting here in Neenah, November 8 through 16, will be held by Billy Boyd of Racine, Wisconsin.

H. F. Sharp, Conway, Arkansas, November 15: Since Brother Nichol has been unable to obtain suitable propositions for debate and since Mr. Jackson wants to make all arrangements for the debate at Kewanee, Missouri, the debate has been put off for the present.

C. L. Maxwell, 1026 St. Paul, Gonzales, Texas: I had the pleasure of being in a gospel meeting with the brethren at Bastrop recently. The congregation is small but they have a will to work. Brother G. H. P. Showalter is laboring with them and is doing a fine work. Brother Norman, the song leader for the Northside Church of Austin, conducted the song service in a very commendable way. Brother Showalter and his excellent wife were present every service. Other preachers attending were Brother Lynn of the University Church of Christ, Brother Packer of McDade, and Brother Luther Norman of Barksdale. Despite the inclement weather the attendance was good. Three baptisms resulted from the effort, and interest increased. I have resigned the work in Gonzales effective the last Lord's day in January. I have seen this congregation grow from a small congregation to a good size church. I preached here in 1947, resigned, and came back in 1950. A new minister will be selected in the very near future. I shall begin with the Waelder Church of Christ the first Sunday in February. This congregation has been very small for years. Brother Clarence Miller and a few more faithful saints have maintained the work in the face of obstacles through the years. We are praying for growth, and for a harvest of souls. Brother Walter Clark of Seguin has been preaching there for the past few weeks, and is doing a nice work. I am available to conduct three or four summer meetings. Churches desiring my assistance may write me and I shall be glad to respond.

BERGNER—Claus Bergner was born on March 4, 1887, and passed away in Nashville, Kansas, September 23, 1953. Of some men, relative to religious interest, the above bare facts tell the story—but not so of this servant of God. A charter member of the Isabel church, Brother Bergner, in his humble way, keenly supported the work of the Lord for over thirty-nine years. Edna Hamm, whom he married in 1904, was a tower of strength to him as these two gave their all in unending loyalty to the cause in a difficult area. Countless preachers made his home theirs, as they came for meetings and regular appointments. I remember vividly his conversation years ago when he said, "It's bad today when brethren don't want preachers in their homes. I have three daughters and I don't think I could have done anything finer for them than have preachers visit and share in our home as much as possible." This devoted servant is survived by his wife; three daughters: Charline Clark, New Braunfels, Texas; Betty McInteer, Nashville, Tennessee; and Bonnie Rutherford, Mendham, New Jersey, and seven grandchildren. Ernest Finley of Wichita said some very comforting last words and Bill Rhodes and Bob Timus handled the beautiful singing in the funeral service at Pratt. It is difficult for me to imagine a finer father-in-law or one I could have more deeply loved. How precious now are the promises of God.

MCDONALD—Hattie McDonald was born February 15, 1883. She was the second child of eight girls and two boys born to Martin V. and Fanny Rainwater of Oenaville, Texas. She was married to Hap P. McDonald. They lived a devoted Christian life together, for fifty years, eight months, and one day. Brother McDonald was president of the Alabama Christian College at Berry, Alabama, for five years. Sister McDonald taught in the college. She was loved by all that knew her. The writer was a student at the above named school the first three year terms, 1918 to 1921. I have been in close touch with Brother and Sister McDonald for some 35 years. I do not recall the day that I thought she was out of place. She enjoyed good health and we have no record of her missing a Lord's service. She passed from this life September 1st at Fayette, Alabama. She was laid to rest at Greggton, Texas, September 4, 1953. The writer conducted the funeral service before many friends and relatives.

TAYLOR—Brother E. M. Taylor was born August 15, 1869, in Terre Haute, Indiana, and died October 12, 1953, in Bakersfield, California, at the age of 84 years, one month, and 27 days. In childhood his parents moved to Indian Territory where he married Miss Martha Johnson in 1890. They moved to West Texas more than fifty years ago and to California about 25 years ago. To this union six children were born. Five survive: Charley Taylor, an elder at York Boulevard church, Los Angeles; Ross Taylor, Bakersfield; Mary Pruitt, Taft, California; Nellie Smith, Snyder, Texas; and Mildred Reid, Bakersfield. Sixteen grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren survive. Sister Taylor died in Bakersfield, January 2, 1943. In 1947 Brother Taylor married Sister Elizabeth Bennett who survives his passing. Brother and Sister Taylor disregarded age and infirmity of flesh in order to serve humanity in the name of our Lord; and take care of many unfortunate children in the county of Kern. Their devotion and sacrifices won the admiration of a host of acquaintances. Brother Taylor heard Brother Jack McCarty preach the gospel in Lubbock, Texas, in 1913; he weighed the evidence and appeal for a few hours, and then sought our Brother Liff Sanders, who baptized him and his three daughters. For forty years, he proclaimed the gospel in song, sermon and service; and was a constant reader of the Firm Foundation for some fifty years. The family requested my service at the funeral; and Brother Smith of the Central congregation assisted. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints" (Ps. 116: 15).

Book Review

P. D. Wilmeth

AND PEACE AT LAST. By Russell L. Dicks and Thomas S. Kepler. The Westminster Press, Witherspoon Bldg., Philadelphia 7, Pa. 94 pages. 1953. $1.50.

This is a unique and singular book—nothing like it in print, known to this reviewer. Its purpose is to help us to face the unwanted fact of DEATH. Dicks recounts what went through his mind as he lay dying last night. The thesis of the book is that "death is a part of life." In Part 2 Dr. Kepler has made selections from some of the choicest writings of the centuries on the subject of death. At the close of the book are a collection of brief poems and prayers related to the Christian's experience of death. Preachers will find this a very valuable little volume for the person who is at the door of departure from this life. Our friends may order their copy from the Firm Foundation Publishing Co., Box 77, Austin, Texas.

THE RECOVERY OF HUMANITY. By James D. Smart. The Westminster Press, Witherspoon Bldg., Philadelphia 7, Pa. Pp. 157. 1953. $2.50.

This is a volume of sermons delivered by Dr. Smart, a Presbyterian minister. It is an emphasis on expository preaching, which the author feels is greatly needed in these days. The sermons begin with the assumption that there is something wrong with humanity, and that the gospel is designed to meet that need. There are two focal points in these sermons; first, that of the individual, and second, the church and the world in which it is set. Dr. Smart is the author of or editor of the New Presbyterian curriculum for Christian education, and returned to the pulpit after completing this work. Any reader will find profit in this volume, even though he may not agree with all that is said.

Our friends may order their copy of this and other volumes from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CHURCHES OF GALATIA. By Herman R. Ridderbos. Wm. B. Eerdmans' Pub. Co., Grand Rapids, Mich. 238 pages. 1953. $3.50.

This is the latest volume in the series of commentaries under the general caption, THE NEW INTERNATIONAL COMMENTARY ON THE NEW TESTAMENT. This is an effort to present a series of commentaries by modern conservative scholarship that is thorough and abreast of modern scholarship, yet at the same time, true to the Word. But this series, like all others, will not coincide with what each reader may believe or understand—it is still a commentary, and a very good one.

This stimulating new commentary is by a Professor of New Testament at the Kampen Theological Seminary in the Netherlands. It is a valuable and critical commentary to add to one's book shelf. Our friends may order their copy or copies from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

THE SPREADING FLAME. By F. F. Bruce. Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 255 Jefferson Ave., S. E. Grand Rapids 3, Mich. 550 pages. 1953. $5.00.

This volume contains three volumes in one. It is a record of the "rise and progress of Christianity down to the time when it became established in Great Britain. The author writes for the average reader in a most interesting fashion. The author is a conservative English scholar, who is head of the department of Biblical history and literature at the University of Sheffield. This treatment of church history concerns a field of which most Americans know little or nothing. It has its place in your library. Our friends may order their copy from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

ON EAGLE WINGS. By George W. Truett. Eerdmans. Grand Rapids, Mich. 1953. 186 pages. $2.50.

On Eagle Wings is the seventh volume in a series entitled, The Truett Memorial Series. This is the second to deal exclusively with Old Testament texts. The sermons in this volume cover a wide range of themes. Three of the sermons stand out in this volume as this writer views them. They are: The Bible Lost and Found; Mutilating God's Word; and The Great Woman. All are good, but these seem most pertinent to present day problems. Those who have been adding these volumes to their library will welcome this additional one and be happy to know of its availability. It is well known that Dr. Truett preached forty-seven years for the First Baptist Church of Dallas, Texas.

Our friends may order their copy from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

C. R. Nichol, Christian, and W. E. Sherrill, Baptist, will be in debate in Benton, Arkansas, December 1-4.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Man's Need of God

Men ponder the virtue of poverty and the vice of excessive riches without reaching a satisfactory conclusion. They read in the New Testament that Lazarus was saved and the rich man was lost, and erroneously decide that poverty saves while riches doom the soul. But Lazarus was saved because he did the will of God, not because he was poor; and the rich man was lost because he failed to do the will of God, not just because he was rich.

Riches may prompt men to a self-sufficient life, while poverty may lead them to trust in God. That riches do not necessarily condemn is manifest from what is said concerning Abraham: "And Abraham was very rich in cattle, in silver, and in gold" (Gen. 13:2). In spite of this, James says Abraham was the friend of God (Jas. 2:23). Rich men are sinners when they trust in riches instead of God. Excessive wealth has the tendency to cultivate in men a spirit of self-sufficiency.

The sin of the Laodiceans was in their notion that they did not need God, because they already had everything they needed. That church said, "I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing" (Rev. 3:17). This sense of adequate provision made them lukewarm towards God. They lost their zeal and their devotion languished. They had five defects of which they were not conscious. They did not know that they were wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked. They had lost sight of the providence of God and the true values of life. They did not recognize their need of God.

David had some vices, and probably his greatest virtue was his unfaltering trust in God. In time of need he looked to God for help instead of depending on his own resources. He wrote, "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God" (Ps. 42:1, 2). The reason there is hypocrisy, indifference, backsliding, and negligence, is because men forget their need of God.

Christ The Only Way

Jesus and all the apostles taught that man's only hope of salvation is in Christ. Jesus said, "As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me" (Jno. 15:5). Then he said, "He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing" (Jno. 15:6).

When Thomas was in a quandary as to the true way to heaven, Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father but by me" (Jno. 14:6). Jesus is the only way to heaven because he established the only true church. When the church was established, it is said, "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved" (Acts 2:47). Who will say that the Lord's adding them to the church was non-essential? And who will say that the church to which they were added was not the church of Christ? Would the Lord add them to a church that was not his own? And don't forget that the Lord is still adding the saved to the church. He adds them to the same church he did then. And there were no denominations at that time.

Thanksgiving

Quentin A. Dunn

A few hundred years ago the pilgrims came to America, hoping to be able to practice their particular brand of religion, without anyone to molest them, or to make them afraid. While their worship was not in harmony with the will of God, we have reasons to believe that they were a thankful people. During the first harvest season after the pilgrims came to America, they gathered their harvest together, and gave thanks to God for their many blessings. The earliest harvest thanksgiving in America was kept by the Pilgrims in Plymouth in 1621, and it was repeated often then, and in the ensuing century, Congress recommended days of thanksgiving annually during the Revolution, and in 1784 for the return of peace. President Madison issued a proclamation of the same in 1815. Thanksgiving Day, in the United States, is a national festival, fixed by proclamation of the president and the governors of states, and ranks as a legal holiday.

Thanksgiving Day is a legal holiday, set aside by men, and not by God. Men celebrate it in various ways. Some make long trips, some go hunting, others get drunk, and others eat turkey. It requires only a small amount of thinking to know that getting drunk is not a process of giving thanks. No special day is mentioned in the Bible for thanksgiving; we should live thankful lives at all times. However it is not wrong to make a trip on Thanksgiving Day, visit friends, eat turkey, and give thanks to God for all blessings that we have received from him. Assembling for special religious services on Thanksgiving Day is a custom practiced by men, that is based upon the teachings of men and is without divine authority.

Men offer gratitude to God, we live in his presence each day, in him we live, and move and have our being. God is not only the maker of our bodies, he is also the Father of our spirits. Without the power of God, we could have no life, because he is the giver of all life, all breath, and all things. It was God who breathed into man's nostrils the breath of life; and made it possible for man to become a living soul. God made man for a greater purpose than he did plant and animal life; God let man have dominion over everything that creeps upon the earth. Although God has placed a great estimate upon man, and has provided for all of man's physical needs, God wants us to know that the world is not ours but his (Psalms 24:1, 2). For all the blessings that God bestows upon us, we ought to give thanks to him every day of our lives.

Most of all we ought to be thankful for the gift of Jesus, because without the gift of Jesus no one could be saved. "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life (John 3:16). The first part of the verse tells us how much God loves all men, we surely ought to thank God for his boundless love. To benefit from God's love, to be saved from one's past sins, and to be saved eternally is conditional. Man must believe on the Son of God, and this belief must lead one to obey the will of God. To be saved from past sins, one must hear and believe the gospel (Romans 10:17), repent of his sins (Acts 17:30), confess faith in Christ (Matt. 10:32), and be buried with his Lord in baptism for the remission of sins (Romans 6:4, Acts 2:38). Only those who have complied with the above conditions can acceptably thank God for the gift of Jesus. Those who have not complied with these conditions, deceive themselves when they think that God hears their expressions of thanks. Every faithful Christian is thankful to God, for the gift of Jesus, and we ought to express our thanks to him frequently.

Christians ought to thank God for the opportunity to work in his vineyard. The denominations have not entered the Lord's vineyard, therefore, they have no right to thank God for the opportunity to work in his vineyard. Our means of transportation is more rapid than it was during the days of the apostles; for this we ought to thank God, and show our gratitude by using the modern means of travel to carry the gospel to the lost. When the apostles were upon the earth, the means of transportation was very slow, yet Paul said that the gospel was preached to every nation during his generation. Today there are many nations that have not heard the gospel, in view of this can we truthfully say, that we are thankful to God for the opportunity to work in his vineyard? We are not in the Lord's vineyard to loaf, we are in it to work in his vineyard.

I am thankful to God for the form of government under which American citizens live, for the protection it gives man in life, liberty and his pursuit of happiness. In America a man has the right to be an employee or an employer, to marry, rear a family and the like. Under a communistic form of government a man does not have an opportunity to own property, cannot choose his employer, get his wages increased or quit his job at will. The sanctity of marriage is also destroyed, women became community property, and must produce as many children for the state as possible, their children being cared for by the state, in the meantime the women work for the state. I am aware of the fact that our government is not perfect, but I believe that it is the best in the world. I am thankful to God that I can speak against the evils of communism, and all manner of evil. Under our present form of government, we have the opportunity to worship God in spirit and in truth, without anyone to molest us, or make us afraid. If we were under the dictatorship of communism we would have to risk our lives to worship God in spirit and in truth. May God help us to be thankful for the blessings that we enjoy as American citizens, and especially, for the right to worship according to the will of God.

We enter the church as babes in Christ. It is God's will that we grow into the likeness of Christ. We cannot see ourselves growing into the likeness of Christ, just as we cannot see our children grow, however we know that it is normal for them to grow; we can also know that we are growing into the likeness of Christ. A Christian is thankful to God for the opportunity to grow into the likeness of Christ. The more closely we imitate Christ from day to day, the more nearly like him we become. It is possible for us to anchor our life in him, to the extent that we will never fall (1 Peter 1:10). We ought to thank God for Christ who is our perfect example, and always look to him, and do all that we can each day to grow into his likeness.

The end of life on earth is not the end for a faithful Christian. He has the hope of eternal life, which is far greater than life upon this earth. "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (2 Cor. 5:1). Men are moved by the hope of reward, and we ought to thank God for the hope of a bright eternal home in the heavens. Heaven is only for those who prepare for it. Those on the outside of the church have no hope of everlasting life. Everyone who enters the church and remains faithful until death will be given the crown of life that fadeth not away. Are you living a thankful life? Only a Christian has the hope of glory (1 Thess. 4:13). If you are not a Christian, turn to God and live a thankful life of love in his service. If you are a Christian continue to serve God faithfully, giving thanks to him in everything, looking not upon the things that are temporal; but upon the things that are eternal.

Back In Germany Again

Roy V. Palmer

I am down in Southern Germany at Augsburg, not far from Munich, holding a two weeks meeting for the German church here. Brother Ted Nadeau and I are staying here with a German family, and they are really nice. He is a machinist who maintains the machinery in a weaving factory, but he is very poorly paid. He earns 290.-D Marks a month. They take out 90.-DM for insurance, social security, taxes, etc. They have a little apartment, a kitchen and bedroom, and one other little room as wide as a bed is long (about). No bath, toilet is downstairs, and water is in the hall. But it is spotless clean, and they are happy. He (Brother Lohner) is 53 and she 47. They were in the Baptist church 15 years or longer, but had practically studied themselves out of it when Ted and Jack Nadeau came here last year. The church began in September last year—they have baptized 33, and have 31 left, but three or four of these are pretty weak. Many are very devoted to the church. They had a tent meeting in June, and now this one—and perhaps because no advertising was done—our crowds have not been too good. We have several outsiders coming, though. Between 40 and 50 have been here most evenings.

We had a good meeting at Frankfurt with Brother Kaus Gobbels preaching. We had between 130 and 150 in attendance with a good number of outsiders. We have about 45 members there in the Sachsenhausen congregation. Brother Gobbels is one of the preachers who studied three years in the Bible Training Course in Frankfurt—in fact I think he is the very first one I asked to come to our Bible training program in 1948. He has made wonderful progress, and preaches like an old experienced preacher. We urge each person in these meetings to come to us privately to study the Bible and to let us help them obey the gospel. We also have cards in the songbooks and we urge them to write their names and addresses on these cards so we can visit them or talk with them about their salvation.

We have several contacts from the meeting which are being followed up by some of the brethren in Frankfkurt. I was able to make some calls before I left for this meeting, too. We enjoyed the lectureship immensely. Brother and Sister Floyd Davis from Lille, France (Norman, Oklahoma) were with us that week.

Last week I had to leave Saturday for Augsburg, and missed the Bennetts. They came to Frankfurt on the way to the States and stayed from Saturday night until Wednesday evening with my family.

Here in Augsburg we had 35 members from the church in Munich up to visit Sunday. They rented a bus. Brother Hopfl, a young German preacher, converted since I returned to the States in 1951, preached for us Sunday morning. He studied in Frankfurt one year, then Jack Nadeau returned to the States and he came to preach in Munich. He has made wonderful progress, and will really make a fine preacher with more experience.

We find that the work in general over here is making good progress. It is slower than we might hope, but sound. If we but have the faith to keep on keeping on we will see churches all over Germany in our lifetime. May the Lord give the brethren at home a spirit of perseverance in spreading the kingdom, and bless those carrying the Word in far away places with the strength to labor faithfully.

(TO THE READER: Those who know Brother Glen L. Wallace know quite well that Brother Wallace is not given to idle, thoughtless, wandering, worthless, pointless criticism of efforts being made by others in seeking to establish New Testament Christianity. We are publishing his article herewith with the feeling that it will meet with careful, conscientious consideration. With our confidence in the brethren who are preaching the gospel through the "Herald of Truth," we are certain that they desire to be scriptural and correct in all that they do and that the observations submitted in the following article by Brother Wallace will meet with kind reception and with due and proper, sincere and scriptural consideration.—G. H. P. S.)

Questions About The "Herald of Truth"

Glenn L. Wallace

One should be reluctant to criticize his brother, especially when there is evidence that the brother is sincere in what he is doing. When a suggestion is offered and a question is asked about a work that a brother is doing, there are some who immediately cry, "Obstructionist," "Objector," "Jealous," and "Crank," yet Truth is always to be found in sincere study of a question. I have some sincere questions to ask about the operation of the "Herald of Truth" radio program, but before I raise the questions, I wish to be understood. If I am wrong and if I have misjudged anyone, I shall be glad to make the necessary corrections.

The church that lends its endorsement to this program is a good congregation and is led by sincere men. They have always been men who stand for truth. The men who do the preaching are my friends and the sermons I have heard and read have been gospel sermons. I am not jealous of the work and I rejoice in any good that has been done. I do not question the sincerity of any who work for the program.

The budget for this program is currently set at ONE MIL-

LION, FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND dollars for a year's contract on radio and television. This is a great sum of money and even if the results are very meager, perhaps the budget could still be justified. It is not the size of this budget that disturbs me, but the methods used to collect this money are questionable in my mind.

There are fourteen people employed in this organization and salaries for its operation are at present about $5,000 monthly. Another $2,000 is usually required to operate the office. This does not come from the church that "sponsors" the program, but from the people of the brotherhood over the nation.

The "Herald of Truth" operates under a sectarian name. Can we apply the name of men or movements to the official work or any part of the work of a New Testament church (1 Cor. 1:12)? The "Herald of Truth" is on the lips of listeners more than the name of Christ's church. "Herald of Truth" is used as a name for one branch of a congregation's work. To the average man over the land, the "Herald of Truth" is an organization with a definite program, personnel and organization. It is presented as the "Herald of Truth" just as the "Epworth League" is presented to the world by the Methodist Church. If the women of the congregation should organize the "Dorcas Club," would we object? If our young people want the "Busy Little Fingers for God," would we endorse such a name and organization locally?

The brethren of the "Herald of Truth" have an organization with officers both from the Highland Church and from other congregations. The "Herald of Truth" solicits money for its operation from individuals over the land. The program makes a solicitation through congregations but a campaign has been carried on independent of congregational solicitation. I am simply asking, is this a scriptural plan of operation? If a congregation among us should set up "The Society for the Conversion of the Orient" and send forth solicitors among the brotherhood, would anyone object? Would it be right?

The "Herald of Truth" solicits money for the "Herald of Truth." Checks are made payable to the "Herald of Truth." Advertising material features the name "Herald of Truth" in bold letters. If this is proper procedure, then I have been taught wrong all my life and I shall apologize for even raising the question.

There is within the mind of many today, a grave doubt as to the scripturalness and effectiveness of any program of work that reaches such proportions as to become a "World-wide brotherhood activity" and wholly beyond either the support or the supervision of any one congregation. Earl West, one of the most brilliant students of the Restoration movement today, says: "So, a local congregation obligates itself to spend half a million dollars in one year for a national radio broadcast, or a benevolent institution. Is anyone so naive to suppose that this is the work of a local church. A local congregation has obligated itself to become the agency through which the church universal can act." (Gospel Advocate). He then asks: "Does God intend the church universal to act in any kind of combination?"

1. Can a local church present a "Dorcas Club," a "Herald of Faith," a "Band of Hope" or the "Herald of Truth," as a medium through which to operate, either locally or in any capacity?
2. I have always preached that an organization larger than a local church is larger than a New Testament Church and is therefore not a New Testament Church. Have I been right?
3. Is the "Herald of Truth" a brotherhood program? If so, can the brotherhood offer suggestions and ask questions about its operation?

Divorce And Marriage

W. S. Willis

When I was preaching for the church at Grand Prairie, Texas, the Elders asked me to preach on the subject of Divorce and Marriage. There have been many who have requested that I submit that sermon to our church papers for publication. Therefore, I am presenting the following for your consideration.

The subject for this article is among the church's greatest and most serious subjects, and it should be given serious and prayerful thought. It is the oldest subject known to man as God introduced it when he created the man and made the woman and presented her to Adam, there God joined them together in bone, flesh and blood. And commanded them to multiply and replenish the earth." This subject has been known from the beginning of creation and was held and considered to be the most serious and important to man until the "hardness of his heart" prevailed upon Moses to write a "precept," a rule for moral conduct. This precept or rule did not change God's law, nor did it nullify it and make it of no force and effect. Notwithstanding, the eternity of God's law man has endeavored to so interpret it as to bring great confusion in the world, and many of the members of the Lord's church are greatly confused thereby. Today it is hard to find one who is not deceived in believing that if they can trump-up a charge of fornication against their husband or wife, they have the right to divorce them and marry another at their will and choice. The purpose of this discussion is to bring to light the truth on this subject and to impart knowledge to the members of the church concerning consequences of divorce and re-marriage. And to affirm that God's law is still in force upon man and woman in marriage relations. And that those who take upon themselves the sacred vows, are bound by God's law today just as they were in the beginning of creation. We have no record of this law having ever been taken out of God's law book, neither of its having been amended to suit the "hardness" of man's sinful heart, in his desire for the lusts of the flesh.

May we turn to the Lord's sermon on the mount, where he laid down the fundamental principles of the life when he declared the eternity of God's laws. Jesus said in Matthew 5:18-19, "For verily I say unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law till all be fulfilled." When will God's law be fulfilled? Not until heaven and earth shall pass away. In Matthew 5:31-32 hear what he said upon the subject of divorce. "It hath been said [note, that it had been said, and not by law] whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement: but I say unto you that, whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causes her to commit adultery; and whosoever marrieth her that is put away committeth adultery." No language could have been plainer that the cause of fornication was a reason for the putting away, and not a reason for marrying another. Therefore, it is not hard to understand why divorce and re-marrying is such a great sin.

Upon another occasion the Pharisees (religious leaders) tried to trap him on the question of divorcement. These Jews knew the law on marriage as well as any other law God had given them. "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife? And he answered and said unto them. What did Moses command you? And they said Moses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away. And Jesus answered and said unto them, for the hardness of your heart, he wrote you this precept, but from the beginning of creation God made them male and female [and in Matt. 19:8 he said "from the beginning it was not so"] for this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife, and and they twain shall be one flesh; so then they are no more twain but one flesh. What therefore God has joined together let not man put asunder." It was God's ordained plan for man and woman to be joined together in bone, flesh and blood, in order that they multiply and replenish the earth. And when God has so joined them in their offspring there is no power on earth that can separate them, put asunder that union. "And in the house his disciples asked him again of this matter, and he said unto them, whosoever shall put away his wife, (notice) and marry another committeth adultery against her, and if a woman shall put away her husband (notice) and be married to another she committeth adultery." If there had been any exceptions that would have permitted a re-marriage while the put away companion was alive I am sure the Lord would have told his disciples about it. Also if there was anything in God's law that would have justified a re-marriage God would have revealed it to man in his word, through his Son, ordained apostles and inspired writers. This we do not find in the word.

We will now see what the Holy Spirit said on this subject through the apostle Paul. In Romans 7:1-4 Paul uses an allegory of God's law on marriage and the law of Moses to teach the Judaizing members of the church that while the law of Moses was alive—in effect, they were married to it, but when the law died—was taken out of the way, they were no longer bound by that law and could be married to another,

From Lusaka, Northern Rhodesia

H. E. Pierce

We were delighted to receive a letter from Henry Nchena, a Namwianga mission-trained and educated teacher, who is teaching for the government. He was teaching at Livingstone where I led and encouraged him into active evangelistic work for the church. He has transferred this year to the Mazabuka Government School in the northernmost district of the Southern Province. He tells me that he has started a congregation of the church of Christ there with twelve members. He is assisted in this by another ex-Namwianga boy who is welfare officer in Mazabuka. Henry's father and father-in-law were both gospel preachers in the early beginning of the church in this country. He is a very capable young man whose full-time efforts in such work of establishing the church would be a great boost to our work if he did not have to give most of his time to teaching for support. Only $30 a month would be required to have his full-time services for the benefit of the church if we could get such support for native workers here.

Another interesting and forward step was made by the church here at Chilanga. The Lakes congregation was stirred to indignation by the refusal of the Welfare Committee to let us use the community hall. They determined to build themselves a house. I took hold of that determination and led them to the completion of a small but fairly satisfactory house. It is made of a framework of poles with grass tied all over the outside to make walls and a roof. Be it ever so humble, it is ours, made with our own hands, and is the first house of the church of Christ in the Central Province of this great country. It cost us about $5.00 for nails and thatching twine. It will serve us for about one year. We hope by then to put up a permanent one.

There were three baptisms at the Mine congregation and two at the Lakes congregation. There were no baptisms at Lusaka or Lilayi.

We had a five-day camping trip in the Mkushi District where J. E. (Chiripula) Stephenson opened one of the first district offices in this country. We saw some very beautiful scenery and caught some very nice fish in the Lunsimwa River.

even Christ. These Jews knew God's law governing marriage for Paul said, "Know ye not brethren, I speak to them that know the law, how that the law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth? (notice now For the woman which hath an husband is bound by the law to her husband so long as he liveth, [how long? until death shall them divide]. But if the husband be dead, she is loose from the law of her husband. So then, if while her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress. but if her husband be dead, she is free from that law, so she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man."

Brethren, if there had been no law that bound man and woman until death, Paul could not have used this allegory. The seventh chapter of 1 Corinthians is given over almost exclusively to the discussion of the marriage relations between Christians and unbelievers. Neither time nor space will permit a further discussion of this subject—Divorce and Marriage. However, we will beg your patience while we mention a few things beginning with verse 10. Here Paul is discussing the relationship between Christians and unbelievers. As we have the same condition in the church today it will be well if we will give a few thoughts to this angle of the subject of Divorce and Marriage. Beginning with verse 10: "And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord. Let not the wife depart from her husband: but and if she depart (notice) let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife. But to the rest speak I, not the Lord. If any brother [he is here addressing members of the church] hath a wife that believes not, and she be pleased to dwell with him, let him not put her away. And if the woman which hath an husband that believeth not, and if he be pleased to dwell with her, let her not leave him. For the unbelieving husband is sanctified (influenced) by the (Christian) wife. And the unbelieving wife is sanctified (influenced) by the believing (Christian) husband, else (otherwise) were your children unclean (disgraced but if the parents remain together and keep the children with them) then your children will be holy. But if the unbelieving husband depart (on his own will and choice) let him depart, the brother or sister is not under bondage in such cases" (they are free to pursue their own course in life and not bound to continue to work for and serve the departed one). This does not mean that they have been made free to marry another. If so, then Paul has contradicted what he said in the Roman letter, and what the Lord has said on the subject. As Paul closes his discussion he gives the noblest purpose for Christian husbands and wives to remain with their unbelieving companions. "For what knowest thou O wife, whether thou shalt save thy husband? Or how knowest thou O husband, whether thou shalt save thy wife." Paul in counseling with husbands and wives realized that there are some people it is impossible to live peaceably with, therefore he said, "God hath called us to peace."

Brethren, if I am in error, please advise me. Show me my error and I will greatly appreciate it, and will be glad to make the correction. This is too great and important a subject to pass over lightly. If our brethren had a better understanding of its seriousness the church would be spared much embarrassment and shame.

meet for worship, and as a result the growth has been hindered. The church has grown some, however, and now the brethren are determined to "rise up and build." They have secured well located lots and have plans drawn for a modest building which will be adequate for their present needs, and which can be added to as future need may demand.

These brethren are making every effort to be self-sufficient in financing this work, but with less than two dozen members and a weekly contribution of about thirty dollars, it will be impossible for this good work to go forward without help.

College Avenue will continue to support the preacher and the radio work and will make a substantial contribution to the building—we already have contributed $2,600 on their building and lots. Paul Butterfield, the LaCrosse preacher, has appealed through the papers for more help, and I wish to commend him and the appeal he makes as worthy. Perhaps there are congregations who would like to help even with a small contribution; others who know the need more intimately will want to give liberally and substantially to assure a building for this heroic little group which is striving even beyond its ability to do the work which needs to be done in LaCrosse. Maybe there are individual brethren from the Northern states, who have prospered in this world's goods, and who would like to help these brethren. Send all contributions to: LaCrosse Church of Christ, 1808 Barlow Street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin.

LaCrosse is a city of about 50,000 population on the Mississippi River. The proposed building is shown in the accompanying sketch from the architect's drawing.

A DREAM COME TRUE

(An address by Athens Clay Pullias, President David Lipscomb College, delivered at the opening of the 63rd session of the Nashville Bible School and David Lipscomb College, September 24, 1953.)

Vice-President Collins, Members of the Board, Members of the faculty, Members of the Student Body, and Visiting Friends: Long ago David Lipscomb had a dream—a dream that took form after years of meditation and study. David Lipscomb dreamed of a school primarily concerned with the building of Christian character; a school where the Bible would be taught each day as the inspired word of God; and finally a school which would offer such other courses of study as would prepare young people for lives of usefulness in the service of God and man. There was a time in the 1860's and 70's when David Lipscomb himself feared that such a school might involve dangers to the church. As the years passed he viewed with growing concern the spiritual and educational needs of young people, and he matured in his study of the Bible. The conviction grew in his heart that such a school was not only not wrong, but that it was gravely needed in the training of young people. This conviction increased in force and scope until it became with him a consuming passion.

He and Aunt Magg sat before the fire in Avalon Home, a frame building which stood just a few feet from what you know as Avalon Hall, dreaming of the Nashville Bible School. James A. Harding, whose great-grandson, Bill Deese, is here today, and a host of others shared that dream. In October of 1891 this dream of Christian education became a reality. It began with two classrooms, three teachers, a student body of nine, and a deep love for young people. This dream has expanded and grown until today at the opening of the 63rd session of the Nashville Bible School and David Lipscomb College I have the honor to welcome this all time record student body of 1,487. The vision of David Lipscomb

The Church In La Crosse, Wisconsin

Jack Hardcastle

For three years now the College Avenue Church in Lubbock, Texas, has supported a preacher and a weekly radio program in LaCrosse, Wisconsin. From the beginning the work has been handicapped by lack of a suitable place to has spread across the years and across the earth to the hearts of your parents, caught hold of your own minds and spirits, and brought you here today from approximately two-thirds of these United States, and from distant lands beyond the seas. I think it especially impressive that one man is here today who was born and reared eight miles from the city of Jerusalem in the land of Judea. In making it possible for you to be here your parents have entrusted us with their richest treasure, and it shall be our constant endeavor to help you grow in "wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man."

The growth of David Lipscomb College over the years has been an inspiring example of achievement. From the small beginning of nine in 1891 Lipscomb grew to 562 in 1943—a period of fifty-two years. Ten years ago today our student body, numbering 562, was divided as follows: The elementary school, at that time composed of grades one through twelve, had 243 students, and the college, offering only two years of college work, had an enrollment of 221. The total financial assets of the college at that time, as shown by the certified audit of June 5, 1943, were $598,512.85. The faculty and staff numbered thirty-nine in all departments.

In ten short years God has wonderfully blessed David Lipscomb College. Today there are 295 students in the elementary school, and many, many young people were turned away this fall for lack of room. There are 306 students enrolled in the high school, grades nine through twelve. This is an all time record for the high school. The college also has the highest enrollment in its sixty-three year history—the total being 886. This means that there are more than two and one-half times as many young people in Lipscomb as in 1943. Lacking just two there are four times as many enrolled in the college department alone. The material wealth of the institution is more than six and one-half times as great as in 1943. The faculty and staff is more than two and one-half times the size it was then, and you all know that an exceptionally beautiful campus, with ten splendid new buildings and fine equipment, has been developed. The endowment has grown from nothing in 1943 to $323,000 as of this day. The David Lipscomb College Foundation has been established for the purpose of guaranteeing financial support to the college. The Foundation now has assets of approximately $250,000.

For this rare period of growth expansion and increased usefulness we are indebted to a host of people living and dead—from David Lipscomb, whose dream has become a glorious reality, to the last person who has lifted his hand in behalf of this institution. I am inspired this morning by the presence of Brother A. M. Burton and other members of the Board of Directors. I know the hearts of those members of the Board who could not be here today are beating in unison with ours this morning, and their prayers are ever turned this way. These men who comprise the board have given so much for so long of their money and time, and their devotion to Lipscomb, that we have no way of expressing in words our gratitude to them. The only way in which they can ever be repaid will be in seeing you, and those who have gone before you, and those who will come after you in the years ahead, become the noble Christian men and women that David Lipscomb dreamed of building. We also know that after this life is over their labors for this institution will be a part of their heavenly treasure.

We are pleased to have Mrs. Helena Johnson present today, who has given so generously on so many occasions of herself and her wealth to Lipscomb. Every girl that walks in and out of Johnson Hall for all time to come will owe a personal debt to her. We are grateful too for the presence on the stage of President Emeritus Batsell Baxter, and for the presence of the members of the faculty and staff, who have labored so well and with such invarying devotion in building Lipscomb for you—the student body of 1953-54. One could never ask for the privilege of serving with a finer group of men and women than those who make up the faculty and staff of Lipscomb. These devoted hearts of the faculty and staff transform these elegant buildings into a living force for the cause of Christian education.

However, as encouraging as these recollections are, it would be dangerous to dwell too long on what has been done. One of the characteristic weaknesses of mankind is to fall into the error of thinking more highly of ourselves than we ought to think. The rich young ruler confidently asked the question, "What lack I yet?" and was disappointed to learn that he lacked a very great deal indeed. In the words of the inspired apostle Paul, we "have not yet laid hold." The things that have been done are but a beginning of all that needs to be done.

The next necessary step is to acquire membership for the college division of Lipscomb in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Our high school is already a member and has been for a long time. The senior college has been approved by the Tennessee State Department of Education, the University of Tennessee, and has been strongly supported in its work by our gracious neighbors, Vanderbilt University and George Peabody College. We have never made application for membership to the Southern Association, but we have been in constant communication with the officials of the Association in the process of building the senior college. We believe that the time has come when a formal application is in order.

I think it proper that I should tell you exactly what our position is, and what our plans are. Acquiring membership in the Southern Association is a process that will likely require several years. It cannot be done over night. We now have the minimum permanent endowment required before we apply for membership in the Association. The David Lipscomb College Foundation now has the minimum resources required to guarantee a stable non-operating income for a period of five years. I would like to emphasize that these are the bare minimum requirements, and that improvements and additions must be continually made. There is also this extremely important fact which I want to set clearly before you. Over and above what I have mentioned, Lipscomb must have annual gifts for operating purposes of $52,000, or more, for the present student body. If the student body should increase, as we have every reason to believe it will, this sum would increase at the rate of $4,000 additional for each additional one hundred college students. We are now engaged in an intensive effort to secure promises of support from substantial and interested people in the amount of $52,000 per year or more.

It would be unfair to leave the impression that our future goals are restricted to financial matters, or even chiefly concerned with them. There will go on, at the same time that we are striving to improve the financial position of the school, an even more zealous effort for improvement in achieving Lipscomb's educational and spiritual ideals. A perfect definition of what we are trying to do for you is found in the gospel of Luke 2:42, "And Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature and in favor with God and man." We will succeed in our real work to whatever extent you grow as Jesus grew.

I would like for this to be our motto, "It Can Be Improved." That applies to everyone of us, and to everything that is mortal. I can be a better man tomorrow than I am today. You can be better men and women than you are. It is this thrilling prospect of growth and improvement in every phase of one's life that is the real genius of Lipscomb, and I pray that each of us will take the attitude as long as we live toward ourselves and all that we do "It Can Be Improved."

What Does The Bible Say?

DON'T BE AFRAID TO BE IN THE MINORITY!

The politician who said, "I had rather be right than president" reflected a distinctly Christian attitude. We are firmly convinced that a democracy is the best form of government, but we do not believe that the majority is always right. In matters of right and wrong one man and God make a majority. If every one of the two and a half billion people on this globe voted that it is right to steal or murder, that would not make it right. So, don't be afraid to be in minority if you are in the right.

Jesus said: "Enter ye in by the narrow gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, many are they who enter in thereby. For narrow is the gate, and straitened the way, that leadeth unto life, and few are they that find it" (Matt. 7:13). He was warning us of the danger of drifting along with the majority on the downward path.

In all generations God's people have been a faithful minority. Noah and his household believed God instead of the people. Abraham and his family served God in the midst of heathen idolatry. A faithful minority of ten righteous people would have saved wicked Sodom from destruction.

Numbers do not impress the Lord if the majority is wrong. God chose Israel when they were few in number: "The Lord did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people; for ye were the fewest of all people." Only a faithful minority of the Jews remained faithful to God. The twelve who stayed with Jesus when the multitudes went away were not afraid to be in the minority. At Jesus' trial all forsook him, but his righteousness condemned the sin in the lives of the mob who cried: "Crucify him." Paul experienced the pain of standing alone before Caesar's court. He said: "At my first defense no one took my part, but all forsook me: may it not be laid to their account."

Jesus praised a faithful minority in the church at Sardis by saying: "Thou hast a few names in Sardis which have not defiled their garments, and they shall walk with me in white for they are worthy."

It is better to be standing alone on God's truth than standing with millions on error. It is better to be right than president or governor or anything else. At the judgment bar of God the judge will not be swayed by numbers. He will judge according to the words of truth which he has given us in his Book. Don't be afraid to be in the minority if you are in the right. Study God's word and follow Jesus Christ and his commands at all cost. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ as God's Son today. Repent of your sins. Confess your faith before men. Be buried with him to rise and walk a new life! Begin today by becoming a simple, undenominational Christian.

ANOTHER NEW CHURCH IN MAINE

Charles S. Chandler

The kingdom of God is spreading in New England as elsewhere. On October 25th at 3:30 p.m., a new congregation began in Kittery, Maine. Fifty persons assembled from the following places to assist in the beginning of this new work: Augusta, Brunswick, South Portland, and Kittery, Maine; and Mauldin, Brookline, and Natick, Mass.

Brother Joe Sanders, formerly of Nashville, Tennessee, and now preaching for the Brookline, Massachusetts, congregation delivered a very encouraging lesson on why another church in the Kittery, Maine-Portsmouth, New Hampshire area. Three members of the church already have been located in this area.

If you are interested in assisting in the beginning of this 4th new congregation in Maine this year, you may send any contribution for advertising or rent of the hall to: South Portland Church of Christ, Box 1754, Portland, Maine, marked "Kittery church." It is believed there are several other members of the church in this area stationed at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, but it will take advertising to locate them. If you know of any members of the church in this area, please notify the South Portland church. Kittery is located about half way between the South Portland, Maine, and the Mauldin, Massachusetts, congregations, thus bridging a gap of more than 100 miles between churches.

The new church in Kittery is the fourth church to be established in Maine in the past three months, and the eleventh during the past six years. This congregation has been in the planning for some three months with Brothers Charles Chandler and Howard Mitchell of the South Portland church planning to assist until a gospel preacher could be interested in moving to the new work. Already the Richard Hardys of Augusta, Maine, have determined with the help of God to move to Kittery in the near future. Brother and Sister Hardy are ex-students of David Lipscomb College in Nashville, and have been working with the church in Augusta for the past two years. Brother Hardy is currently working for the state in the tax department for partial support, but it is hoped that full support can be arranged for him to devote his full time to the work in Kittery soon. If you know of any congregations who are interested in launching out in this new work with this fine couple, please contact: Richard C. Hardy, 236 State Street, Augusta, Maine, or the South Portland church at the aforementioned address.

Until the Hardys effect their move to Kittery, the Chandlers and Mitchells of the South Portland church will assist in the regular worship services each Lord's day at 3:30 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall in downtown Kittery.

INCLUDE A VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL IN YOUR PLANS

M. Norvel Young

Many elders or bishops of local churches of Christ are already giving careful thought to planning for the work in 1954. May we suggest that you include a vacation Bible school in those plans. About one church of Christ in ten is now taking advantage of this wonderful medium of teaching. Here are some of the reasons why more churches should have such a school.

1. It provides a wonderful opportunity for intensive Bible training for six or ten days.
2. If three hours are devoted to this each morning a two-week course is equivalent to a year's training in the average Sunday morning class.
3. It has the advantage of attracting children from homes of those not members. Such children will come when they will not come on Sunday morning. Once they get a taste of Bible teaching they often enroll for Sunday morning classes.
4. More members of the church can be given work to do.
5. The training in singing is often worth the entire effort.

Such a course costs some money and requires a lot of effort, but it is well worth it. So, may we urge you to prayerfully consider having a daily vacation Bible school next summer.

HARDING COLLEGE LECTURESHIP

The Harding College Fall Lectureship, November 15-19, was one of the most outstanding programs of any of the Christian colleges. The subject of Biblical Prophecy, and specially its relation to premillennialism, was discussed in perhaps the most exhaustive manner since it became an issue in the brotherhood. Some forty-five speakers in all addressed their remarks to various phases of the fulfillment of Old Testament Prophecy, and an examination of the arguments in support of the theory of premillennialism.

This editor had the pleasure of speaking twice on the program. I appreciated this courtesy on the part of those entrusted with arrangements of the program.

Harding College is growing. If it has received justifiable criticism in years gone in regard to its defense of, or an apathy toward premillennialism, it seems to this editor that this trouble should be forever set aside. Most people who are premillennialists are not ashamed to say so, and, as a general thing, are contentious for their peculiar views or convictions.

The book covering all the speeches is to be published immediately and will be a great contribution to the literature offered the churches on an issue of deep significance to the growth of loyal churches and the expansion of the congregations of churches of Christ throughout the world, in a general way. All the addresses in the entire series are to be included in the book. We believe that there has never been a book on this subject that will be as interesting and as valuable to inquiry along the line of various divisions and sub-divisions on the subject of the millennium. We do not believe that any one of our readers can afford to be without this publication.

Harding College is making a recognized and substantial growth which is very highly appreciated by qualified men who have contributed their services to the upbuilding of this great educational institution. The President, Brother George S. Benson, is nationally recognized as an authority in the field of economics and his services have been invaluable in the administrative department of the college. He has traveled much and has been responsible for the contributions of many thousands of dollars sorely needed for the construction of modern, permanent and much needed buildings for the school. Associated with him is Bro. W. B. West, Jr., in the actual organization of the college and the arrangement of its curriculum. Also, Brother Russell Lewis, Brother Maddox, Dean Sears, and other members of the faculty are identified with the executive department in the arrangement of courses of study.

A valuable addition to the faculty is that of Brother Leonard Lewis recently from George Pepperdine College. I am mentioning men with whom I am personally acquainted and in whom I have confidence as to their ability and loyalty, and with no intended discrimination in regard to other teachers and instructors in the school, whose valued services have meant, and do mean much to the school.

Harding College has recently made a very pronounced forward stride in the construction of dormitories, library building, administration-auditorium building, etc. My understanding is that much attention is being given to vocational work in agricultural and craft and other fields. The regular enrollment of students is on the increase and brethren who know something of the sacrifices that have been made in the past, are much pleased with the progress that has been made, and is being made, at Harding College.

The series of lectures and addresses was concluded on Thursday evening with the great sermon by our aged colored brother, Marshall Keeble, President of the Nashville Christian College for Negroes in Nashville, Tennessee. People who know Keeble will understand that this was a great speech. The largest audience that has ever assembled in the auditorium at Harding College, some 1650 people, heard Brother Keeble. Record audiences were made, however, before this speech, during the lectureship.

It was a distinct pleasure for me and also for Mrs. Showalter, who attended, to be present at this lectureship and to contribute our part on the program. May loyal and faithful men direct the educational administration and efforts among us and become and remain what they should be, a great contribution of assistance to the parents of our children and the Christian homes in our land and in other lands.

Highland Elders Oversee Chicago TV Production

Confer With DuMont Network Officials

J. M. Patterson and John F. Reese, two of the elders of the Highland church in Abilene, are in Chicago this week to oversee final production shots of a "pilot film" of the Herald of Truth television program, and to confer with officials of DuMont Television Network.

It was disclosed last week in Abilene that the Highland elders had received offers from two major television networks. The Abilene Reporter News reported that the Highland elders have taken up an opinion on the DuMont offer and that contracts are to be signed by December 18, 1953. Signing of the contracts is dependent on funds being raised by that date.

The Highland elders, in a release last week, said that if 1000 congregations would give $27.00 per week, it would pay for broadcasting the gospel on 431 radio stations and on 62 television stations in America which will reach 82.29 percent of the TV homes in America. Plans call for a continuation and increasing the number of stations on the radio network which numbers 287.

Du Mont officials have indicated in Chicago that they made the TV offer in consideration of the rating that the Herald of Truth has gained on nationwide radio. The A. C. Wielsen Company recently tabbed the radio broadcast as the number three religious broadcast in America with a listening audience in excess of three million.

The production of the first television film of the Herald of Truth is scheduled for completion by the 12th of November. Prints of the film will be available at that time so church members over the nation can get a "preview" in private showings. Most of the DuMont television stations have agreed to run the film one time as a public service to assist the church in raising funds.

February 12, 1954, is the date set for the actual launching of the new TV program.

James W. Nichols and James D. Willeford, speakers on the network radio series, will be the principal speakers on the TV program.

Accompanying Reese and Patterson to Chicago were Nichols, Willeford, and Orville L. McDonald.

Work In Alberta Capital Off To A Good Start

S. C. Kinningham

The church is now six months old in Edmonton, Alberta's fast growing capital. Brother Sidney Roper moved there from Water Valley, Mississippi, in May to start a congregation after the New Testament pattern and Brother Roy Tidwell moved there in July from Littlefield, Texas, to work with him. Since that time they have striven faithfully together to get the gospel of truth before the multiplied thousands in that city who were not acquainted with undenominational Christianity.

The advocates of error have been laboring diligently sowing and cultivating the seeds of sectarianism. The many elaborate church buildings over the city stand as a monument to their zeal and devotion to the cause they have espoused. If these can be converted to the truth as it is in Christ Jesus and their zeal turned toward the spread of the simple gospel it will be worth all the effort we can put forth to bring it about.

The Gratifying Start

It is truly gratifying to see the way our brethren have worked so tirelessly from the beginning in laying the foundation for a great work to be done through the years ahead in this great area. As Paul and Silas went through the city of Philippi daily showing unto men the way of salvation, these brethren have likewise gone about through Edmonton daily in the same work. They are distributing tracts, conducting Bible classes in homes, writing newspaper articles, preaching publicly and using all other means possible for reaching the people. The results from their efforts thus far have been very encouraging. People are beginning to ask questions and to investigate the things taught. A few have already rendered obedience to the primary principles of the gospel and a stable body of Christians, though small, now meets regularly in the Y.M.C.A. to worship God according to the New Testament. There is an average attendance of between twenty and thirty for the services each Lord's day.

A Building Is Badly Needed

Since sectarianism is the only thing that has been known through this vast area in the past years, they look upon any new group in the same light. They naturally look upon the brethren meeting in the Y.M.C.A. as something new and are wondering whether it will last. Many good people who otherwise might be reached with the gospel are waiting to see the work take a more permanent form before giving consideration to it.

Realizing the urgent need of a building for the church to add permanency to their work, the brethren have sought carefully for the best possible location for a church home.

After several weeks of survey and careful investigation they were fortunate enough to obtain one of the most ideal locations in the city at an extremely moderate price. In fact, the lots they obtained might easily have sold for three or four times the price they were able to get them for, but the city had reserved these lots for a church location at a minimum price and our brethren were fortunate enough to find this out before it was made known to the public. They have already been able to pay almost a third of the price and a balance of $600 remains yet to be paid.

Forced To Act Soon

A building must be started on these lots by the middle of next year in order for the church to keep them. Help is badly needed from brethren where the church is already established if this great effort is to succeed. It is heart warming to see the interest the brethren in the south are showing in this field as they learn of its tremendous possibilities. The appeals for help have not fallen upon deaf ears, but the response has been wonderful. The support for the two brethren who are working in Edmonton was raised promptly when the need was made known. Funds for a lovely building in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, were soon raised when brethren learned of the need for a building in Edmonton has become great and help is needed soon in securing the amount needed for the project. Since mission-minded brethren in well-established places have begun to rally so well to the support of the gospel in this section we are inspired to believe this project will be taken hold of and supported faithfully. A building should be erected that will be in keeping with the lovely surroundings of the place secured, but it will be just as nice as interested brethren are willing to make it.

If you want to have a part in helping establish a permanent base from which to radiate the gospel in this field that is growing so fast in population and developing so rapidly industrially and economically we urge that you start your support as soon as possible. All contributions should be sent to the church, Box 396, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, or to Sidney G. Roper, treasurer, at 10723 107th Street in Edmonton. Each contribution will be acknowledged immediately and a regular report will be given of the progress of the work. Pray also that God will inspire us to use all dollars and sense to bring the greatest glory to his name.

From Provo, Utah

Don Neilson

Brother Arthur W. Francis, Jr., of Sioux City, Iowa, was in Provo for a successful gospel meeting, November 1st through 8th. After services the last night a group drove to Salt Lake City in order to baptize two.

Attendance throughout the meeting was good. Much personal work was done and many personal letters with invitations were written in advance. A number of prospects attended quite regularly, as did Brigham Young University students. Members from Salt Lake City and Ogden came frequently to give their encouragement. Much good was accomplished by the meeting and the work which went into it.

This congregation has grown from 11 members to 30 in a little more than two years. Many of these are yet babes in Christ. More rapid growth is seen for the future.

A new Sunday morning attendance record of 72 was set recently. The gospel is being presented personally to more and more individuals, which is the cause of the increased attendance.

Our building fund now has $2300. Much more is needed. Your contribution will be welcomed. Worship with us when you are in Provo.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Cornelius C. Abbott, 401 No. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma, November 20: Three added last Sunday; two baptized and one restored. This makes 12 added the past few weeks. The work is at an all time high.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, November 9: Yesterday was a day of encouragement for the Catoma Street congregation. Three were restored and one placed membership. Our work is growing.

Murrey W. Wilson, Bentonville, Arkansas, November 17: Interest is fine here. A greater program of work is being planned. One lady, formerly a member of the Baptist Church, was baptized into Christ Sunday.

Carl T. Kell, 1422 Aton Avenue, Dallas, Texas, November 18: Our meeting at Sylvan Avenue Church of Christ came to a close November 15, 1953. Results: three baptisms and one restoration. Elwyn W. Snow, evangelist of Sudan, Texas, did the preaching. We recommend his services to any congregation planning a meeting as we are sure the church will benefit by his efforts.

J. D. Rothwell, 1004 El Sereno Drive, Bakersfield, California, November 16: Work continues to grow at Central. During the past two weeks we have had nine responses to the invitation. Three were baptized, three were restored, and three were identified as members of the church. Attendance at all services is good. We recently had a record of 180 present for mid-week service.

Jesse F. Wiseman, 1449 Brown Street, Akron, Ohio: After a year of pleasant and profitable work with the church at Salem, Illinois, I began work with the Brown Street church in Akron, Ohio, the first of November. Brother Charles M. Campbell was the former preacher for the Brown Street congregation. Brother Campbell did a great work in Akron and is held in high esteem by the brethren. The work here continues to prosper. One was baptized into Christ at the morning service November 15th.

Bill Cavender, 7724 Mohawk Drive, Dallas 19, Texas, November 21: Thomas B. Warren of Fort Worth recently debated John Staley of Waco, of the anti-class, anti-woman teacher, one container group, in the meetinghouse of the Love Field church. Warren did an excellent job. Staley was mighty weak. Twenty-two have been baptized, six restored since last report. Those baptized included six Baptists, two Catholics, one Jew and one Methodist. We are now constructing a new building and classroom addition at Love Field.

Robert Goodman, Box 476, Madisonville, Texas, November 18: Our work came to a close in Overton, October 28. That also was the closing date of a gospel meeting in which W. R. Jones of Lubbock, did the preaching and Harmon Morgan of West Mountain directed the singing. These men did their work well. The church was helped by Brother Jones' preaching and outsiders became interested. Immediate results were: one baptized, one confession of faults and membership, and one asking the prayers of the church. Our work here is beginning well. Brother Wyatt Sawyer did a good work here.

Wayne Hargrove, Houston 21, Texas, November 16: Ten more additions here at MacGregor Park in Houston yesterday—two baptisms (a Methodist and a Baptist), four restored, and four placed membership.

W. C. White, Cherokee, Texas, November 17: Another young man made the good confession at the morning service on last Lord's day. He was baptized the same hour of the day.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, November 17: A man and wife restored on the Lord's Day. 253 in Bible School. 227 at prayer meeting Wednesday night. Around 400 at worship. Spoke last night in gospel meeting at Georgetown. Opening a beautiful new building there.

Richard Weaver, Box 372, Smyrna, Tennessee, November 20: The first service in the new building at Glorianna was held Sunday afternoon at which time I began a meeting there. It continues through this Sunday. November 29-December 6 I will be at Middlesboro, Kentucky. Brother S. D. Lester is preaching here in my absence.

Murphy D. Phillips, 900 Second Avenue, Lake Charles, Louisiana, October 25: One was baptized here Sunday, October 19. Two placed membership and one was restored a week ago. This brings to seventy the number of responses to the invitation in three months. We broadcast each Sunday morning on KLOU, 1580, at 8:45. The Lord willing, we plan to build soon.

J. C. Chonte, David Lipscomb College, Box 846, Nashville, Tennessee, November 19: At the present time I am working with the Fairview congregation of Pulaski, Tennessee. Just recently I preached for the congregations at Big Reedy, Kentucky, Wise, Virginia, and Athens, Ohio. I also had the privilege of viewing the first telecast of a Bible program on the local television station at Parkersburg, West Virginia. Brother Paul Hall was the speaker with the Southside congregation backing the program twice weekly. Brother Hall preaches for Southside of the city.

R. W. Turner, P. O. Box 642, Tallahassee, Florida, November 17: Within the past few months at our regular services we have had seventeen baptisms, several restorations, and a goodly number to place their membership. We begin our ninth year with this congregation on December 1st. Attendance, interest, additions, and contributions are at an all-time high. The Lord willing, we expect to occupy our new and modern $75,000 brick building located at 731 North Gadsden Street on or about January 1st. I pray that you and Sister Showalter may be blessed with many, many more years of fruitful service in the Master's vineyard.

Bill Thompson, 4th and Groesbeck Sts., Lufkin, Texas, November 17: Delmar Owens, Tulsa, Oklahoma, concluded a very fine meeting with us recently. Three baptized and four by membership since last report. We are now building additional classrooms and a nursery at Fourth and Groesbeck. C. R. Prince, Livingston, is coming to work with the Union Road congregation which we established, and begins December 13.

Luther G. Roberts, 1506 Clayton, Borger, Texas, November 7: Since the first of the month eight have been baptized, five identified themselves with the congregation at 2nd and Deahl Streets, and two have been restored.

Brooks Terry, Dallas, Texas, 2314 Overton Road: Recently ten have placed membership and one has been restored at Overton Road. November 1-8 Walter P. Bryan did the preaching in our meeting which resulted in four additions. I did the preaching in a meeting in Oklahoma City with Southwest Church which resulted in 14 answering the invitation.

Will W. Slater, Box 7178, Sylvania Station, Fort Worth 11, Texas, November 19: The meeting in Jackson, Michigan, closed without visible results. The brethren thought that much good was accomplished. The church has had a pretty hard struggle, but the future is much brighter and prospects are good for the Lord's work there. It is a great mission field. This leaves me in a singing school in Diron, Missouri. It is a work badly needed here, as well as many other places. I go from here to Heavener, Oklahoma, for a school. It will close my work for the year.

R. C. Copeland, Jr., Tahlequah, Oklahoma, November 3: Two were restored last Sunday. Contribution and attendance continues high, and new members move into this community almost weekly. This church is booming right along on the upward way. Our winter lecture program will be held from December 6th through the 12th with a different speaker each night. We are going to show a film relative to the proposed plan of the Herald of Truth being televised. The showing will be on the night of November 16th. Ladies Bible class here is studying how to do personal evangelism. That will surely help the growth of this church. Giving God the glory, we press onward.

Reginald Rogers, Sweet Home, Oregon, November 13: The church here is in its fourth year. In 1953 we have had one debate and one meeting. Brother L. W. Mayo was sent by the church in San Jose, California, to meet Ennis Hawkins, Seventh Day Church of God, for six nights. This was the third debate here for Brother Mayo. He did a splendid job. The church in Stockton, California, that meets at Channel and Stanislaus, sent Brother Guss Eoff for a meeting here. Interest in this effort was the very best. Brother Eoff spoke for all that is good and against everything that is contrary to sound doctrine, and did not drive the people away. Sister C. T. Graves, Joshua, Texas, sends tracts and papers regularly to help in the work here.

AMERICAN SEATING COMPANY, DEPT. 124
901 Broadway N. W., Grand Rapids 2, Michigan

Dick Powell, Gainesville, Texas, November 23: The Lord has certainly been blessing the work here at the Broadway church of Christ. I baptized a man and his wife this morning.

Elwyn W. Snow, Friendship Church, Sudan, Texas, November 19: I have just returned from a meeting with Sylvan Avenue congregation in Dallas; three were baptized and one restored. Many heard the word for the first time. The work here is on the increase. May we bring forth fruit unto God.

David Allan, Brownwood, Texas, November 22: There was fine attendance and interest at both services today. Two of our young girls were baptized at the morning service. Brother Frank Pack of Abilene Christian College will be with us in a teachers training class on the last Tuesday of every month at 7:30 P.M.

Melvin White, 43 Pecks Mill, West Virginia, November 21: It has been a long time since I have reported to any papers, although I have been busy in our Lord's vineyard—traveling and preaching. Occasionally I established a new congregation. We have a new one near home here about five weeks old. We meet each Lord's day at 2 p.m. We have a fair block building, but we need someone to donate seats or chairs to seat 200 or more people.

Mack Kercheville, El Paso, Texas, November 16: From November 1-11 Brother John F. Wolfe, of Brownsville, Texas, held one of the best gospel meetings that has ever been held for the Spanish speaking congregation in El Paso. We had the biggest crowds ever, the greatest interest, and there were eight baptisms and seven confessions of fault. No man in the brotherhood has made greater sacrifices for the Mexican field nor rendered greater service to it than Brother Wolfe. From all reports he is doing one of the greatest works of his career in Brownsville, Matamoros, and surrounding territory at the present time. He has been instrumental in bringing back a number of people including several preachers and whole congregations in Mexico from the digression of instrumental music in recent years. Brethren who are missionary minded are backing him better than ever in this work. He still needs more help in the matter of training some young preachers who are studying under him at Matamoros.

Luther Savage, 809 Merritt Street, Fort Worth, Texas, November 23: The Rosen Heights church went far over its goal for Bible Class attendance last Sunday. The contribution was the highest that it has been since I have been here. Thanks to Brother A. V. Isbell who is here and in the midst of a gospel meeting. He is from Lawton, Oklahoma. This is the second time that we have gone over the goal recently.

Charles E. Gentry, Cookeville, Tennessee, November 23: There were two baptized and one restored yesterday at the Jere Whitson Road congregation. The work here is growing and is one of the most pleasant works that I have ever engaged in. We now have 66 members and our contribution has averaged over $100 per week since I moved here 14 weeks ago. The people have a mind to work.

Dean Bullock, Durant, Oklahoma, November 23: The church here is making substantial progress. Several have been baptized during November. The attendance is at an all time high. Contributions are exceeding our budget. Interest and zeal are evident. A Christian spirit prevails. The forthcoming year promises to be the most fruitful in the history of this congregation. Pray for us.

John W. Rockhold, 440½ Arch St., Chillicothe, Ohio: Since October 1, we have been working with the church at 190 S. Hickory St., Chillicothe, Ohio. Since October 1, three have been restored, seven by membership, and one baptized. We look forward to a profitable work here for the Lord. Anyone knowing of members of the church, or others, moving into this area, who should be visited, let me know their address so I can call on them. Correspondents, please note my new address.

Homer A. Utley, 901 Madison Avenue, Redwood City, California, November 16: In September I closed four years of very pleasant work with the Shaw Avenue church in Cleveland, Ohio. I began work with the church here in Redwood City the first Sunday in October. The work here is going forward in a fine way. All services are well attended and interest seems to be at a high pitch. Three have been added recently. If you know of members moving in or near Redwood City, let me know and I shall be glad to contact them.

J. Porter Wilhite, 6717 Lyons Avenue, Houston 20, Texas, November 23: The church worshipping at Lyons and Majestic, where I have worked several years, is in good condition, spiritually and growing fast. We are all happy. They are missionary minded to the extent that they are willing to help needy places with meetings in 1954. If you have a place that is willing to do their part, by working and advertising, etc., and will write me at the above address we may be able to help you in a meeting. This church will sponsor the work if it is a worthy place with prospects of doing good.

Hatton B. Gist, 636 Steves Avenue, San Antonio 10, Texas, November 24: Three were baptized at Highland Hills, 303 Burkedale, Sunday, November 22.

Cecil Allen, Box 50, Plains, Texas, November 23: Last night brought to a close our meeting in which Jesse Brookshire of Morton, Texas, did the preaching. No visible results, but expect some later. He did his part exceptionally well. Gene Bennett of Denver City, Texas, directed the song service in a fine way.

Ben M. Taylor, Cyril, Oklahoma, November 19: Brother Glenn E. Green of Colorado Springs, Colorado, closed a very fine meeting here last night. Everyone enjoyed his humble yet forceful manner in presenting the truth. The meeting will long be remembered by all who heard him. Brother Jack Meyer, Jr., our regular preacher, is visiting the Searcy, Arkansas, lecture-ship this week. Jack is a tireless worker and preacher and is doing a fine work here. We expect to do greater things while he is with us and as a result of the recent meeting. We covet the prayers of all to this end.

Bill Morgan, Newport, R. I., November 20: A fine young man was baptized into Christ last week. Others are interested in the pure word of God. If you know of service men or women in this area, please write to us giving their mailing address or street address. Just because your son or daughter was faithful at home does not mean that he or she is faithful in this area, where it is usually supposed that there is no church. We are meeting at present in the Cranston School (near Broadway) here in Newport, R. I. We have several contacts and good results from these contacts made by parents and interested people writing us about service people here in Newport. Pray for the work here.

Reginald Rogers, Sweet Home, Oregon, November 13: The church meeting in Sweet Home, Oregon, that met three years in a rented hall, is now meeting in the new church building at Long Street and Pickens Road. The building, when completed, will seat 300. It is of pumice blocks, perforated tile ceiling, indirect lighting. We have no floor yet, but the gravel is not as uncomfortable as one would think. So far, there is practically no indebtedness on this undertaking, except the building lots, on which the payments are small. I was in a six night debate with Alfred Anthon, who represented the Church of God of Abraham Faith, at Corvallis, Oregon, recently. Brother Paul Fuston was moderator. We enjoyed having a part on the lecture program with the church at Puyallup, Washington, where W. W. McCollum evangelizes.

Vaughn D. Shofner, Lubbock, Texas, November 18: I preached in an interesting meeting at Arnett, Oklahoma, closing last Wednesday night. Frank Barnard is now preaching there. Other meetings of the summer and fall were with the Flora Heights congregation in Wichita Falls where Gilbert Copeland preaches; the San Jacinto church in Amarillo where Curtis Camp preaches; Ackery, Texas, where Roy Phemister preaches; Dequeen, Arkansas, where J. B. Lancaster preaches; Eastside in Waco where Thos. McDonald preaches. The church here in Vandella Village now has a few over 200 members, averages 240 for Sunday morning Bible school (last two months), and has a record attendance of 275 (last Sunday) for that service. Eighteen have been baptized and 14 restored here during the summer and fall.

Levey Bivens, Box 734, Gadsden, Alabama, November 16: One was baptized at the opening of our men's training class on last Monday night. Two placed membership yesterday. During the month of October our average per Sunday attendance in Bible school was the largest we have ever had; the same was also true of our average per Sunday offerings.

St. Pierre H. Hoge, P. O. Box 472, Allendale, South Carolina, October 26: On October 7 we closed a meeting here in which Brother C. A. Buffington of Savannah, Georgia, did an excellent job, not only in the preaching, but in visiting and exemplifying brotherly love. Three were baptized, one restored, and the church greatly edified. I preached at 41st Street church in Savannah in Brother Buffington's stead both Sundays of the meeting; three were restored there, the second Sunday I was with them. I am resigning the work here in order that I might better utilize my time in mission work. I want to work with a new, or weak, or small congregation that is willing to work and does not expect the minister to do all the work. Salary will not be of prime consideration in my decision as to where I go, but serious thought will be given as to harmony within the congregation, willingness to work, attitude toward God's truth, and other indications of love for God and the desire to see souls saved. Too, it is my desire never to compete with my brethren regarding a place to preach or any other phase of the Lord's work. Can furnish references. Would be glad to hear from any hard working, God loving congregation of the Lord's body that needs my services.

T. McCormack, November 20: Not physically able to preach standing any more because of necessary surgery to prolong my life here. I resigned from the work at Italy, and now am in my home in Dallas, 4739 W. Stanford. I regretted so much having to give up the Italy work. It is a good work. The people love the Truth, and accept it freely when in love it is presented. The church there needs one of mature age, and experience in manifesting the spirit of our Master both in the home and in the pulpit; one whose practice is consistent with his teaching—his teaching the Word of God and not his own explanation of the Word of God.

Murphy D. Phillips, 900 Second Ave., Lake Charles, Louisiana, November 19: The Second Avenue Church of Christ in Lake Charles is to have a singing school and song revival December 7-18. Brother Palmer Wheeler of Waco, Texas, the leading song director of the brotherhood, will be the teacher and director. There will be a short sermon with each nightly service the second week. I will be the speaker for this meeting with the exception of one night. Jimmie shall preach especially to the youth of Lake Charles. If you would like to come to Lake Charles and stay for this series of services, we will be happy to help you find a place to stay.

O. E. Correll, Kinmundy, Illinois, November 3: The meeting at Marion, Indiana, on West 9th Street, closed Sunday night with four additions: one confessed Christ and was baptized, one was restored, two others placed membership with the congregation. Much good was done other ways. For a few years this congregation has just been existing, with only a few members. They have come to life again with new zeal and a greater determination to work. The attendance was the best they have had for some years, which was very encouraging, and I will say the attention was as good as I ever had. This was my first meeting with these brethren, and I enjoyed it very much. I am glad that I could be a help to them. Let us all pray for them, that they may prosper in the work of the Lord.

Max T. Neel, 5651 McCormick, Houston 23, Texas, November 23: The Lord blessed us wonderfully here at Lawndale yesterday, with all previous records in class attendance and worship broken substantially, and another was baptized and three placed membership. We hasten to give the Lord the praise!

V. A. Vick, Lovelady, Texas, November 23: The work goes along very well here in Lovelady. We had five baptisms Sunday, November 15th. On October 4, my brother, R. B. Vick, and a few members began meeting in the county courthouse in Williston, North Dakota. They are having between 20 and 30 in their services there now. Williston is an oil center with about 11,000 population. There is certainly a good opportunity there. R. B. is working for his support and working with the members there, too. They are in need of some folding chairs. If any congregation has about 25 or 30 folding chairs they are not using, they can be put to a good use there in Williston. If anyone can help in this matter, please contact me or R. B. Vick, 824 2nd Street West, Williston, North Dakota. Who will and can help in this good work?

G. L. Mann, Fayette, Alabama, November 17: Four new class rooms and a preacher's study have been added to our building. Since moving into these new rooms November 1, interest, attendance and contributions have steadily increased. Chairs were placed in the aisles last Sunday to accommodate the overflow. More and more members are taking an active part in the work of the church. A well planned Bible school is now in operation.

Elders, College Street Church of Christ, Junction, Texas, November 1: Brother John L. Davis, former minister of the Eighth Street church in Ballinger, is now preaching for the College Street Church of Christ at Junction. A daily radio program, "The Gospel Broadcast," over the local station, KMBL, is being sponsored by the church and is receiving a splendid response from listeners. One woman, who was dissatisfied with her baptism was re-baptized recently. Last Lord's day a fine couple placed membership with us, and today an erring sister confessed her sins and placed her membership with the congregation. Peace and harmony prevail in this particular congregation and we are progressing steadily. We are indeed thankful for preachers like Brother Davis who fearlessly proclaim the gospel, who believe in church government, and do not sacrifice the church to popularity. God has been good to us and for this we thank him.

W. A. Harrison, Burns Flat, Oklahoma, November 18: The work of the church here at present stands in a healthy condition. The work is a pleasant and growing one although slow, but steady. There have been no additions of late, but all evidence points to an internal development for good. A lectureship program is in the making for the week of January 10, 1954, to continue through the 17th. The general theme will be "The Church at Work." It will feature ten speakers speaking on various Bible subjects that harmonize with the general theme. We believe this program will do much to stimulate interest among the local members. We pray that the Lord's church may expand its borders in the world with praise and glory ascending to Jehovah above. If there is a congregation interested in securing the services of a gospel preacher for 1954 for their meeting work, I will be available for a meeting or two. If interested please contact me at the above address.

A LIVING SACRIFICE

J. C. Choate

Christianity is far more important than a few think it is. Some individuals want to go through life and enjoy all that the world has to offer and then be a Christian on the side. Such is impossible! One must either be a Christian every day or no Christian at all. Read what Jesus had to say about lukewarmness in Rev. 3:13-16.

Paul sets forth a wonderful thought in his writings to the Romans: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service" (Rom. 12:1). Just think, a living sacrifice! Yes, a Christian must be a living sacrifice. Moreover, a Christian must be a living sacrifice at all times. Furthermore, that living sacrifice must be offered unto God. Hence, we might sum up the Christian life as a whole by saying it is to be a life of sacrifice.

So many members of the church have never learned how to sacrifice. There are some people who think more of worldly riches than they think of Christ. Others never want to work any for the Lord and his kingdom. Still others make excuses as to what they do or what they cannot do. Would you call such people sacrificial?

Dear brethren, when we learn that the Bible teaches that the Christian is to be a living sacrifice, then, and only then, will our lives be of value to the Lord. Devoted Christians want to do all they can for the Lord and his church, no matter what the price. Are you a living sacrifice? If not, then become one.

DEAR BRETHREN EVERYWHERE

Elkins

My health is improving very well, and my doctors assure me that when winter is past I shall be fully able to hold as many protracted meetings as I want to hold. I believe this is true, therefore, I am offering my services in that kind of work as follows: any place west of the Mississippi River by mid-April, and any place east of same river by mid-May.

I need the work more than I have needed work in forty years, for it has been one whole year since I have had any work to support my home. "Ma" Elkins and I do not need the most money a church can raise; we need a living, and are satisfied when we have that. If any congregation as stated above desires my help in a meeting, write me at once. I am booking a few scattered calls now, but will need several more for a full season. Let me hear from you at once, please.

THE MAJESTIC HYMNAL

The most pretentious and substantial effort made recently in supplying a universally accepted book of hymns and spiritual songs for the churches of Christ.

Hymns for all occasions, special attention to funeral and invitation hymns; songs for work and worship and evangelistic work. The most highly commended hymn book that we have seen.

"I have examined and used many hymn books prepared for the churches of Christ and can candidly say, after a thorough examination of Majestic Hymnal, that it is, in my judgment, the best hymn book that has ever been printed for the churches of Christ."—Fred McClung.

Dick Powell, 212 N. Taylor Street, Gainesville, Texas, October 26: Five months ago my wife and I moved here to labor with the Broadway congregation. These five months have been very happy ones for us, and we feel that there is still much good work to be done here. The elders here are very co-operative, and the congregation is a working group of Christians. Since coming here we have had a total of twenty-three results. The results are as follows: by baptism, 4; by restoration, 7; and by identification, 12; Brother Ernest McCoy is the minister of the other congregation in Gainesville, and together we have been preaching at the county jail. He and I alternate every other Lord's day except on the second and fifth Sundays; on these days there are other groups which have services. I look forward with much anticipation as I continue my work here and all of the glory or praise for the work here I give unto God who has so richly blessed us this far.

A. C. Huff, Plainview, Texas, November 2: I preached at Lockney, Texas, yesterday morning and evening and we had good attendance at both services. I am feeling well this morning. If there is any church that needs me, let me hear from you. Ask the church at Lockney or at Hale Center about me; or, either of the churches here. I am anxious to be busy in the vineyard of the Lord. I am sure most of the brethren think I am not strong enough to preach any length of time, but if you ask these brethren they will correct this error. Or, let me visit you some Wednesday night or let me fill in when your preacher is away. I can show you better than I can tell you. I do not ask to do this service because I am in need of money; I am prepared to live the rest of my days on earth without any money. I only want to serve God. God has blessed me with unusual strength and vigor in my declining years and I feel duty bound to do all I can to save sinners. I have spent my life in the service of my Lord and I want to keep at it as long as God lets me live. I rejoice to see the great growth of the church. The report from the Herald of Truth, Abilene, of five thousand baptisms as a result of the radio program the past year is wonderful. Truly the church is growing as never before. Let all who love the Lord rejoice and be glad, and everybody work harder than ever before.

Arthur W. Francis, Jr., P. O. Box 924, Sioux City, Iowa, November 19: I am now engaged in a series of meetings with Gordon Pennock and the church in Bismarck, North Dakota. It is good to see the growth of the church in the last eighteen months in this neglected state. There are at least three other groups meeting where there was only the one when I was here last. It is much to Brother Pennock's credit that others have become interested in the field. The meetings at Provo resulted in two baptisms, a mother and her daughter. Brother M. A. Wright of Salt Lake City is now engaged in a series of meetings with the church in Sioux City. He is an able preacher and it is reported that the meetings have begun well. The new congregation at Sac City, Iowa, continues with the aid of the churches at Sioux City, Webster City and Jefferson. Pray for them.

Hartsell Johnson, 14th and Adams, Hutchinson, Kansas, November 18: The meeting held at Amorita, Oklahoma, was a source of great encouragement to me. It is always a privilege to return to a place where one has labored in regular work. This meeting resulted in reaping of six souls for the master—three baptisms and three restorations. The church there is to be in need of a regular minister about the time school is out this spring. Anyone interested should contact Brother Elmer Maltbie, Amorita, Oklahoma. Following the meeting above, we were engaged in a two weeks meeting at Bethel Church of Christ, Stafford, Kansas. We had an enjoyable meeting here with good crowds and interest. Brother Therman Healey is doing a good work as regular evangelist there.

The work at Hutchinson has great possibilities. We are glad to be back home again after nearly a month's lapse. Brother Healey, Brother V. D. Love and Brother Bill Evans spoke in my absence and good reports were given concerning the fine lessons they brought. As scheduled now, I have time for one more meeting this spring, and would be willing to go anywhere for preaching services if good could be done.

DO YOU NEED A LOAN?

E. G. Kemper, Sr.

A long-range loan plan has been worked out which makes it possible to finance buildings for worship, for class space, for lots, and other property used by congregations of the church all over the country. If the congregation where you attend anticipates building or improving their present building, the buying of a lot, or other such expansions within six to thirty-six months from now, application for a loan should be made immediately so that the details can be worked out and the loan ready at the time it is needed. Full details concerning the obtaining of these loans can be obtained by writing the Union Cooperative Investment Corporation, 1009 Elm Street, Dallas, Texas. Church Loan Department. This is a Texas Corporation with $250,000 capital already paid in full and set up under the laws of the state of Texas, especially designed to meet the needs of churches.

LECTURES ON PREACHING

BY

B. C. GOODPASTURE

Brother Goodpasture will be on the campus December 7 to 11, 1953, to deliver the third annual series of lectures on preaching. The theme will be Paul's Instructions to Timothy on the Work of Preaching.

Lectures on preaching were begun in Abilene Christian College in 1951 when Brother John Bannister, of Dallas, Texas, was the speaker. Last year, in December of 1952, Brother Gus Nichols, of Jasper, Alabama, was the lecturer.

It is the purpose of these series of lessons to supplement classroom work by securing competent, experienced, God-fearing men of the church. The lessons are both inspirational and informational, hence, very helpful to our young men. Even though the lessons are prepared and delivered with the young preachers in mind, they are rich and profitable to Christians and older preachers. Everyone, therefore, is invited to attend these meetings and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunities. There will be two lectures daily, Monday through Friday at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The topics of the first series by Brother Bannister were: "The Importance of Preaching"; "The Purpose of Preaching"; "The Qualifications of a Preacher"; "The Work of the Preacher"; "The Temptations of the Preacher"; "Different Types of Sermons"; "The Preparation of a Sermon"; "The Delivery of the Sermon"; and "The Supreme Test of a Sermon."

Brother Nichols' discussions had to do with: "Preachers and Preaching"; (I & II); "The Preacher's Manner of Life"; "The Call to Preach"; "Preaching Out of the Overflow" (V & VI); "The Sermon"; "The Material of the Sermon"; and "The Delivery of the Sermon" (IX & X).

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

Teaching Revelation

Last August Brother Leon Stephens, minister of Pecan Heights congregation here in Dallas, requested me to conduct a series of studies for them on Wednesday nights, covering the book of Revelation. I told him I would do this at a later date. On the first Wednesday night in October I commenced these studies, and continued for eight successive Wednesday nights.

Pecan Heights is one of the new congregations in Dallas, having been established about five years ago. The membership of this congregation is made up of splendid people, and Brother Stephens is doing an excellent work with them. I enjoyed this period of Bible teaching with them. The interest was real good with the exception of a few nights when the weather was bad.

Some of the Firm Foundation readers will recall that a few years ago, I published in book form a series of lessons on the book of Revelation. This apparently inspired considerable interest in the study of Revelation, and I was called to different places to conduct these studies. I used eight nights in going through the book, and sometimes the interest would take on the proportions of a protracted meeting.

Revelation is an interesting book to study. It has been placed at the close of the New Testament, and is a very fitting conclusion of God's revelation to man. No other book of the Bible would occupy this place so well. In a sublime way it reveals to man the celestial city—the final home of the soul—where God will be with his people and lead them unto living fountains of water, and wipe all tears from their eyes. I think Revelation will strengthen the faith and hope of all who devoutly read it.

Spiritual Strength

A constant need of the people of the Lord is spiritual strength. As people cannot go on from day to day without renewing their physical strength, so Christians are not able to stand up to life without renewing their spiritual strength. It is unfortunate so many who profess to follow Jesus seem to be satisfied with being dwarfs in the Christian life.

The Bible tells us how to be strong spiritually. Peter says, “Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings, as new born babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pet. 2:1, 2). No one can be strong spiritually when his heart is full of the vices enumerated by the apostle. These things are weeds of worldliness that must be destroyed. A crop of corn cannot grow in a bigger crop of weeds. The corn will be small, weak and yellow. Christians that are small, weak and yellow cannot survive very long.

To be strong we must be nourished by the word of God. There is no other way to grow. No one can avoid doing wrong till he knows what is wrong, and he cannot do right till he knows what is right. The Bible is the only Book that enlightens us on the subject of right and wrong. Let us desire the sincere milk of the word that we may grow thereby.

The Church and the Substitutions Therefor

C. H. Palmer

In order to introduce the above subject it is necessary to note some of the dispositions and propensities of mankind.

Man was created immortal but not infallible; volative, therefore curious, discontented, impatient, willing to experiment to the extent of his own undoing. Is fallen man, with 6000 years of history, the complete divine record behind him any different today? He possesses the same power of volition, the same tendencies and traits, with additional ambitions and designs, and in a general sense, is farther from his creator than when he was expelled from the garden and the flaming sword was set against him.

When man, under the influence of Satan, separated himself from God and adhered to Satan; in order that the purpose for which he was created be not completely thwarted, it was necessary that God, in the process of time, retrieve him from the complete domination of Satan and redeem him from his lost estate into which he had advisedly placed himself; hence, “The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head.”

After 4000 years of tutorage, during which time, man, at various periods became more obstinate and rebellious than in the beginning, God, nevertheless fulfilled his promise made in the beginning by bringing the propitiating power and redemptive price (the Lord Jesus Christ) into the world through the medium of a woman. And, in order that Christ be the propitiator and the redeemer of mankind, (bruise the serpent's head) he must, of necessity, establish a plan, or system of redemption. That plan was in the mind of God from the fall of man, and Christ, according to that plan came to earth, shed his blood and gave up his earth life that man might be redeemed from sin and returned to a state from which he might continue to attain unto his original state of purity into which he was created.

In this sin cursed world, it would have been impossible for frail and inconstant man to have attained unto his original status as created, even though Christ died for him, had he not prepared a place for him here on earth where he might be in constant communion with him; hence, the establishment of his church. Jesus said to his disciples; “I go to prepare a place for you.” “I will build my church.” And, on the first Pentecost after his resurrection, he established that place for mankind, that when he is freed from past sins through obedience, he could be added to him, his body, the church, where he can be in constant communion with him, where he can work out his own salvation in the fear and in the favor of God, apart from the sinful world and Satanic influence.

It must be borne in mind that Christ established but one plan of salvation, one body, one church. When he said; "I will build my church," that declaration excluded all possibility of there being any other plan or institution called "church" established by divine authority or sanction. When he established his church, that was the finis, the concluding feature of his plan of salvation which cannot be duplicated, imitated, or supplanted, or replaced by substitution. Man voluntarily separated himself from God by disobedience, therefore, none but God could state the terms by which he must return to him. That, he has done and his word is immutable. Those terms are specific, definite and final, not susceptible to being added to nor diminished from, consequently there is, in the light of God's word, but one way, one body, one church.

The term "church," as used by divine authority, does not admit of the plural form, except within itself. It is not susceptible of variations, neither has it in any sense affinity, but is exclusive of everything not incorporated therein by the divine author. The term "church" means, "Called out" and no man or group of men, of themselves, can call men out of a world of sin into an institution of their own construction wherein men can commune with God and work out their own salvation. Neither can anyone devise a church except the originator of the term "church" and the institution the term designates, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who would build it."

The plural form of the term "church" is used in a number of places, referring only to the one body; for instance, in Acts 9:31; 15:41; Rom. 16:4, 16:16; 1 Cor. 7:17 and others, referring to congregations of the one church in various places, but, in no instance to different institutions with different names and different creeds, for there can be no such things divine, Acts 2, therefore it is impossible to pluralize the term church by divine authority, as outlined above. The church is a universal institution, composed of many congregations and is the Kingdom of God - Christ on earth. Who would fain pluralize the term kingdom of God - Christ in the sense used by Christ in Matt. 16:19? If there could scripturally be a plurality of churches, there would, of necessity, have to be a plurality of kingdoms, since Christ's church is his kingdom. But, there is but one king—Christ—to reign, hence, one kingdom. There can be but two spiritual kingdoms in the world; the kingdom of God - Christ and the kingdom of Satan. All persons must therefore be in one or the other of these kingdoms, there is no middle ground. Where is there a reference, or even an inference, in divine writ of the kingdoms of God - Christ on earth? John says, after the seventh angel sounded his trumpet, great voices in heaven declared that "the kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and his Christ." This, of course, refers to the triumph of the witnesses and final exaltation of Christ, when all nations will have recognized him as King of kings and Lord of lords (Rev. 5:13).

When Jesus said: "Upon this rock I will build my church," he did not imply that he would build more than one church, nor did he imply that after he had built his church upon the truth of his messiahship, that men would be at liberty to establish substitutions upon any basis or theory whatever denominate such institutions, churches. He gave us, through the Holy Spirit, the founding time and place of the church, of whom composed, the organization, the work and worship thereof, and only those who accept and conform thereto constitute his church. His church is referred to as a growing institution like unto a mustard seed with a very small beginning, but developing into very large proportions, sufficient for the salvation of all mankind; therefore Jesus said, (Matt. 15:13) "Every plant that my heavenly Father has not planted shall be rooted up." And God, knowing the disposition of man to imitate and substitute, stated ages before, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who would build it," Parsons, Kansas.

Brother Garrett's Plan for Edifying the Church

J. W. Roberts

Brother Leroy Garrett (Bible Talk, October, 1953) thinks that he has discovered a "scriptural" plan for edifying the churches. He thinks that the plan that a great many of the churches are now using is not scriptural. He thinks that many Christians are being robbed because elders employ a minister of the word of God to work under their direction in teaching and preaching the gospel. He thinks that this is a one-man ministry; a modern "pastor" system.

Brother Garrett's "plan" is not new to our churches, even if it is based on a misunderstanding and misapplication of scriptures. It is the "mutual edification" system, which doomed so many churches in some sections of our country to slow death. It is a system which does not edify the church. Some churches which use it haven't built up anything in ages, not even themselves.

Let us hear his "plan:" "In Ephesians 4:11 four offices are listed as being given for the perfecting of the saints. The word perfect means to train . . . And what for? The next two phrases, both beginning with for (eis) which shows purpose, indicate that saints are trained 'for the work of ministry.' That is, saints are to be trained to minister: 'for the edifying of the body of Christ'—that is, the training is for the purpose of qualifying them to edify the church" (pg. 5). The plan, then, is that "apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers" are given so that they may train the saints, so that the saints in turn may "do the work of ministering" and "edify the body of Christ." Hence the plan is to let the preacher stay with a church only so long as the training of the saints goes on, then when they are able to do this, force the preacher to "repair to other needy fields." I had seen this analysis of Ephesians 4:11-12 made by Carl Ketcherside, but am surprised to see it from Brother Garrett's pen. His training should have taught him better.

In vain it has been pointed out to him that an evangelist in New Testament times "did the work of an evangelist" under the elders of the church at Ephesus. Ephesus had elders (Acts 20:17, 28) many years before Paul left (I Tim. 1:3) Timothy there to work under the elders (I Tim. 5:19). It is clear from II Tim. 1:17 and other internal evidence that Paul wrote the pastoral epistles after the Roman imprisonment.

One wonders why Brother Garrett cannot see that his interpretation of Ephesians 4:11-12 destroys his contention which he continues to harp on, that the elders must do the teaching and edifying of the church. If God gave some evangelists, among others, to prepare saints so they could edify the church, and if this means that the evangelists may not edify the church, then we note that the pastors (elders) and teachers were in the same group given also to perfect the saints. So the elders are shut off from the work of edifying. Brother Garrett's interpretation would force the elders (as well as the evangelists) to "repair to other needy fields" when the saints are able to edify themselves.

What Leroy really does is to claim in this article that the saints are to edify themselves, while in other parts of it he claims the elders are to do it. Which does he really believe? If the saints are to do it, what then of his oft-repeated claim that the elders must do all the feeding of the flock (which he wrongly interprets as teaching)? His "mutual edification" plan based on his interpretation of Ephesians 4:12 turns out the shepherds and lets the flock feed itself! Now if he should say that the saints may do their edification under the supervision of the elders, he lets a door down by which a local preacher could get in also.

Brother Leroy's interpretation of Ephesians 4:12 also shuts off preachers, prophets, apostles, pastors, from "the work of ministry." This is based on the same reasoning: It is the saints who are to be perfected so they may do this. Any student of the Bible knows this is not true. Preachers, Paul, etc., are said to minister. Paul and prophets especially are also said to edify the church, which would not be possible according to this exegesis.

The words pros and eis in this passage (for perfecting and unto the work of ministry and unto edifying) do not mean different things as Leroy would have them. Paul varies the prepositions simply for variety, as he often does. In Romans 3:25 we have "for (pros) showing" and "for (eis) showing" where Paul is simply repeating his own statement. In Philemon 1:5 we have "Toward God and toward all the saints" where many of the best texts have the two prepositions interchanged. The same is true of "let each one please his neighbor unto (eis) and unto (pros) edification" (Rom. 15:2). Ephesians 4:11-12 simply means that these workers are placed in the church to do all three works: 1. perfect the saints, 2. do the work of ministry, 3. edify the body. It teaches the very opposite of what he is trying to make it teach. It teaches that elders and evangelists are given to do the work of edifying the body.

I should like to show the readers a few of Brother Garrett's statements. In all of these he is trying to prove his "mutual edification" theory. He quotes Romans 15:14 "Instruct one another." Here the verb is noutheto which simply means to "put one in mind of," to "admonish" and does not necessarily mean public teaching.

He quotes Galatians 6:1 to show that the spiritual (not just preachers) should restore the ones overtaken in a fault. But does this "restoring" involve public edification and teaching as he is applying it?

He quotes I Thess. 5:11, "Encourage one another and build one another up, just as you are doing." He says, "Here is more mutual edifying! And still no hired preacher!" He forgets that Paul had sent these very Christians and a church which already had elders seemingly (I Thess. 5:12) a "minister of God in the Gospel, to establish" them, and "to comfort" them concerning their faith. See I Thess 3:2 where Paul had related about sending Timothy to them only a short time before. See also Acts 17:14ff and 18:5. According to Brother Garrett's argument their mutual edification must not have worked. Then too, if it did, why did Paul have to write them two letters?

Next in setting forth his plan, Leroy expounds on I Cor. 14 that "all" prophesied and "each one" had a hymn, a teaching, a tongue, an interpretation" when the whole church came together. He doesn't even see that this is the very point which Paul is trying to correct! They all wanted to speak and at the same assembly and Paul wouldn't let them. He limits them to two or three at a meeting. They were practicing "mutual edification" and Paul told them to stop. Of course, this had reference to the exercise of spiritual gifts and not to the preaching and teaching of the gospel, but it is his scripture. By the statement that "all" prophesied I suppose Paul meant all who had the gift for he had said that all did not prophesy (1 Cor. 12:29).

Again Hebrews 3:13 is quoted: "exhort one another" and then he says, "This would have been a good time to have said, 'Look to your minister for the courage you need in your hour of trial.'" Leroy ought to be ashamed. Paul told the church at Thessalonica that he had sent Timothy to "establish them and comfort them concerning their faith" (I Thess. 3:2) yet he makes fun of a preacher's doing that today.

Finally he quotes other passages in Ephesians 4. When Paul says that "speaking the truth in love" we should grow up, etc., that is "mutual speaking," but he assumes that that means public teaching and edification. The verb aletheuo simply means to deal truthfully or speak truthfully. He couldn't prove that it means what he assumes it means to save himself.

Brother Leroy himself doesn't think that "all" or "each one" can learn to edify the church. He says on page 6 of this same issue, a scriptural evangelist should train the saints to speak, etc. "He would put men before the audience just as soon as they were capable of edifying. Those who could not learn to edify (the number would be few) would be given other tasks." Notice: those who could not learn to edify. Even Brother Leroy thinks some cannot do it. Some joints just cannot function as a tongue. "If all were the tongue, where would the hearing be?" I wonder how many members could be given other tasks under his plan and still have a "mutual edification system. Could we say ten? twenty? a hundred? I wonder what "other tasks" they could do? If they did some other tasks, would every joint be edifying the body?

In I Cor. 12:29 Paul uses a Greek form of question which expects a negative answer and asks the question: Are all teachers? Brother Garrett's plan which he has discovered say "all but a few" must be. That is the difference between his plan and Paul's idea of how the church edified itself.

Does every member of the church have to do the same work? Are there no diversities of work as well as diversities of gifts? Do all the members (or all but a few) have to do public teaching before the church is edifying itself and the members of the church instructing one another? Is not a preacher a part of a local church and when he teaches and preaches is this not the church building up itself? Are the sermons and classes taught by the preacher in our churches all the edification those churches receive? In the church of which I am a member more than 200 different people have a part in the public work and teaching of the church every week besides the work of the local preacher. Is this mutual? Is this the church edifying itself? Would changing the work of only one man among this whole group make it mutual?

OBITUARY AND REMARKS By Brother Harry Robert Fox, Sr.

John Moody McCaleb was born at Duck River, Tennessee, September 25, 1861, and passed from this life in Los Angeles, November 7, 1953, at the age of 92 years, one month and fourteen days.

He attended Carter's Creek Academy and later, the School of the Bible, now Transylvania College, Lexington, Kentucky. There he met Dorothy Bentley of Maysville, Kentucky, whom he married in 1891. In April of 1892 they went to Japan as missionaries.

Brother McCaleb gave his life to the work in Japan—a span of nearly fifty years. He returned to the States in 1941. A short time later, in 1942, he married Elizabeth Reeves of Tennessee and they established their home near Pepperdine College here in Los Angeles. Brother McCaleb taught in the field of Oriental Religions at Pepperdine until ill health made his retirement necessary a few years ago.

In addition to his wife, Brother McCaleb is survived by three children: Lois (Mrs. John T. Glenn), James Harding McCaleb, and Ruth (Mrs. Forrest Earl Williams); five granddaughters and five great grand-children, and a host of other relatives and friends.

The facts and figures just presented in the obituary can do only scant justice to the real quality of life and character of this saint of God. And I use that word "saint" advisedly, for truly he was a "man of God" if I ever knew one. And I think I had ample opportunity to know Brother McCaleb, for not only did we work rather closely together in Japan over a period of fifteen years, but what is more: my wife and I had the rare and blessed privilege of living with him in his own home, eating with him at his table three times a day, and kneeling beside him in prayer by that same table, as his custom was, every morning for the first year or more while we were living in Tokyo, learning the Japanese language. And in all of these intimate relationships together, we learned to appreciate him as a true Christian gentleman at all times and under all circumstances. As such, he continued to be our valued counsellor and adviser during our whole sojourn in Japan. In attempting to evaluate the large contribution he rendered the Cause of Christ in Japan, I feel inadequate to the task. For his vital part in that work was of the pioneering type, the more difficult and less spectacular service of seed-sowing or foundation-laying; hence I believe that only the Light of Eternity will fully reveal the actual fruits of his arduous labors. Then, I believe, "many shall rise up and call him blessed." And what is more: it will be his to hear those words of the Master, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

Sermon by Brother Tiner

Human words seem so inadequate at a time like this, when we attempt to give comfort in a memorial service for a departed friend and loved one.

Brother McCaleb was modest, meek and humble, and his desire would have been that little be said of him and much be said of the one for whom he lived, in whom he placed all his trust and faith, and to whom he looked for sustenance and strength, even Jesus Christ the Lord.

Brother McCaleb would have said about this service, "Remind the living that life is short, transient and passing; eternal life is all that really matters, so we should diligently prepare for it; death is inevitable and universal—no one can escape it—therefore we should all try to understand its meaning and purpose and realize that it fits into God's eternal purpose for us."

Brother McCaleb would have said that the only thing that matters in death is that a man have faith in God.

We who knew Brother McCaleb knew him as a man of faith. Mrs. A. J. McCall, secretary at the Temple, Texas, church, gave me a poem which she said her late husband, who for many years preached in Texas, used at funerals. I feel this poem expresses Brother McCaleb's faith and confidence in the Lord:

FAITH

When sorrow comes as come it must
In God a man must place his trust
There is no power in mortal speech,
The anguish of his soul to reach.
No voice however sweet or low
Can comfort him, or ease the blow.

He cannot from his fellowmen
Take strength that will sustain him then,
But with all that kindly hands can do
And all that love may offer too,
He must believe throughout the test,
That God has willed it for the best.

We who would be his friends are dumb,
Words from our lips but feebly come,
We feel as we extend our hands
That one power only understands,
And truly knows the reason why
So beautiful a soul must die.

We realize how helpless then
Are all the gifts of mortal men,
No words which we have power to say
Can take the sting of grief away,
But that power that marks the sparrow's fall
Must comfort and sustain us all.

When sorrow comes as come it must,
In God a man must place his trust.
With all the wealth that he may own,
He then must meet the test alone.
And only he may stand serene,
Who has a Faith on which to lean.

—Edgar A. Guest

There is so much which could be said on the occasion of the passing of a great soldier of the cross like Brother J. M. McCaleb, and yet so little needs to be said, for his exemplary life speaks for itself.

The Lord spoke of one of his faithful servants, Abel, in these fitting words, "He being dead yet speaketh."

Brother McCaleb still speaks to those of us who survive him and will continue to do so, because we know that he was a man after God's own heart.

Brother McCaleb's life has taught us many things—patience, faith, love, wisdom, humility, and understanding and tolerance toward all.

Brother McCaleb's life was as near a living demonstration of the principles of Christ as I have ever seen in a human being. His great concern was always for others. This concern led him to leave his friends and loved ones to spend over fifty years in a foreign land in mission work. His spirit and attitude toward all people everywhere is beautifully expressed in a song which he wrote, "The Gospel is For All:"

Of one the Lord has made the race,
Thro' one has come the fall
Where sin has gone must go his grace
The gospel is for all.

Say not the heathen are at home,
Beyond we have no call
For why should we be blest alone?
The gospel is for all.

Received ye freely, freely give,
From ev'ry land they call;
Unless they hear they cannot live:
The gospel is for all.

Brother McCaleb is better off than he was. He has now achieved the goal for which he has been striving so diligently for many years. He is now in a position to enjoy the fruition of all his earthly labors. For many years he has been laying up treasures in heaven. All of us have heard him quote the words of Jesus, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures . . ." He believed these words and practiced them.

Brother McCaleb slipped quietly to his eternal abiding place. Sister McCaleb hardly knew when he quit breathing.

There so little difference between life and death. In death our spiritual body lives on, but our mortal body returns to the dust. Brother McCaleb is now residing in the mansion prepared for him by our Lord.

No, not cold beneath the grasses,
Not close-walled within the tomb;
Rather, in my Father's mansion,
Living in another room.

Living, like the one who loves me,
Like yon child with cheeks abloom,
Out of sight, at desk or school-book,
Busy in another room.

Nearer than the youth whom fortune
Beckons where the strange lands loom!
Just behind the hanging curtains,
Serving in another room.

Shall I doubt my Father's mercy:
Shall I think of death as doom
Or the stepping o'er the threshold
To a bigger, brighter room?

Shall I blame my Father's wisdom?
Shall I sit ensnathed in gloom
When I know my love is happy,
Waiting in another room?

As the years go by all of us are realizing more clearly that this life is short and uncertain. All of us, sooner or later, will be called from the stage of action here below to face the judgment bar of God.

Brother McCaleb was certainly not one who believed that this short and uncertain existence upon this old earth was all there was to life, but he believed in a larger, fuller life which follows this one.

Brother McCaleb's life was not without purpose because he believed and trusted in one greater than man. He was acquainted with the divine purpose and meaning of both life and death.

At the funeral of Brother and Sister McCaleb's infant daughter, Ann Elizabeth, I read the following verses which Brother McCaleb liked very much and he expressed a desire that they be read at his funeral:

I am home in heaven, dear ones—
O, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief are over.
Every restless tossing passed;
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shade?
Ah! but Jesus' love illumined
Every dark and fearful glade.

And he came himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread;
And with Jesus' arms to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely
For I love you dearly still;
Try to look beyond earth's shadows,
Pray to trust our Father's will.

There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not idly stand;
Do it now, while life remaineth;
You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed,
He will gently call you home.
O, the rapture of that meeting!
O, the joy to see you come!

No person has developed a true concept of life, until he has achieved the true spiritual concept of death. Those who view life entirely from the materialistic standpoint frequently fail to appreciate that "death" has an important part to play in God's scheme of affairs.

"Death is the golden key that opens the palace of eternity."
"Death is the foreshadowing of life. We die that we may die no more, but to live eternally." "It is impossible that anything so natural, so necessary, and so universal as death, should have been designed by Providence as an evil to mankind."

When we understand God's purposes in two worlds, life and death become more meaningful to us and the bitter sorrow and sadness of death is lessened. The advent of Jesus into the world, his ignominious and untimely death, and his resurrection bring hope and encouragement to us.

"We see in the risen Christ the end for which man was made and the assurance that the end is within reach. Christ rose from the grave changed and yet the same: and in him we have the pledge and type of our rising."

In the light of these spiritual truths, Paul's admonition in I Cor. 15:58 takes on added significance and meaning.

As you know, Brother McCaleb often expressed his feelings and thoughts in poetic form. His last poem, written in August, 1951, will be a fitting conclusion to my remarks today.

O, that I my life may give Showing others how to live!
That when I the trail have gone
Others may be coming on.

And let not one, because of me,
The path to glory fail to see,
Be led astray and fail to reach
That place of bliss of which we teach.

But may the path on which I've trod
Sure be the one that leads to God,
That all who will may reach the goal
Straight on to God—home of the soul.

1953 EUROPEAN LECTURESHIP

Lloyd Collier

The brethren who work for the spreading of the gospel in Western Europe always look forward to the annual European Bible lectures with anticipation of a great spiritual feast. They were not disappointed this year, for the strengthening fellowship, invigorating admonitions, as well as informative discussions were even better than the previous year. The wonderful series of meetings, which reminded us of a visit to the States with the brethren there, gave each missionary new vigor and zeal with which he could return and do a more effective work of planting Christ in the hearts of the people where he works.

The brethren from England were again a shining torch of encouragement in this meeting. Frank Worgan presented some stirring lessons. Brethren from Holland, Belgium, France, as well as from eleven cities of Germany were present. The workers in Italy could not come, so they sent a letter which was very encouraging. Two Italian brethren delivered the letter, and remained for only a part of the lectureship, since they did not understand English too well.

The time from August 2 until 9 went by like a day, and we wondered if it were not a pleasant dream which we had experienced, as we returned again to our tasks with happy but heavy hearts at our parting, each already looking forward to another such fellowship next year.

A young man, Hugo Jeck, of Wiesbaden, went to Frankfurt and remained the entire week during the Lectureship. He will long remember this spiritual feast for he was born into the Lord's family there on August 5. We were happy to welcome him into our fellowship here in Wiesbaden.

Sister Hermann, a lady who had been attending our services for about a year, was baptized August 27.

Wiesbaden, Germany.

RETURN FROM TOKYO, JAPAN

Lt. Col. Robert M. Silvey

My family and I have just returned from Tokyo, Japan, where we spent one year working and worshipping with the Christians there. We were within walking distance of the Yoyogi-Hachiman Church of Christ where Brother George Gurganus is doing a wonderful work for the Lord. The Japanese Christians in this congregation are truly devoted to Christ and show great promise for the future. Their spirituality, and zeal impressed us deeply as we worshipped with them in their services.

We also enjoyed worshipping with other American service men in the New Kaijo Chapel in Tokyo. This is one of four G. I. congregations in the Tokyo-Yokohama area. Much of the success of this effort is due to the encouragement and help of the missionaries in this area, Brethren George Gurganus, Ed Brown, and Colis Campbell.

THANKFULNESS

M. Keeble

For over fifty years the Gospel Advocate and the Firm Foundation have introduced and encouraged our leading Negro brethren to the world and to our great brotherhood, and they have caused the white churches to call us to establish thousands of congregations among my race in America, mostly in the South. Thank God, had it not been for these papers the brotherhood would not know that such great evangelists as S. W. Womack, G. P. Bowser, R. N. Hogan, Luke Miller, John R. Vaughner, F. L. Thompson, A. L. Cassius, Sutton Johnson, and hundreds of other great Negro preachers lived. We owe a great debt of gratitude and thankfulness to these two great papers because they endorsed us and informed the white brethren about us. They always accepted and published our reports. For all of this free advertisement we are thankful. These papers encouraged the white churches to call us to establish churches all over America. We thank God for Brother David Lipscomb and Brother G. H. P. Showalter who were instrumental in encouraging the brotherhood to call us to preach to my race. What a blessing these brethren have been with their pen, the present editor of the Advocate has the same spirit Brother Lipscomb had, and we thank God for these great godly men who write for these papers and we thank God for them, and we thank God for our Christian schools. Nashville, Tennessee.

ANOTHER SPECIAL ISSUE DUE DECEMBER 17TH

On December 17th the Firm Foundation will bring out its special issue on "Improving Congregational Singing." We believe that the well-known song leaders and preachers who write in this issue are qualified to help Churches of Christ to improve their singing. We hope that elders at various places will see that every member gets a chance to read this copy. It may be ordered in bundles at $4.00 per hundred. At this low price it should not be difficult for any congregation to provide a copy for each family. We urge the careful reading of it, because we believe that one of the places in which much improvement is needed is in the realm of singing.

Our singing as a whole throughout the brotherhood is improving, but we haven't touched the hem of the garment of the beautiful and spiritual singing of which we are capable in most places. Tell others about this special issue. Be sure and hand a copy of it to the song leader where you worship or to the preacher and suggest that a bundle be purchased by the church or else purchase a bundle and hand them out yourself. Be looking for it on December 15th. Here is a list of the writers and their subjects: "Gospel Singing is a Heart Service" by Horace Coffman; "Gospel Singing is a Teaching Service" by Buddy Arnold; "Every Member Should Sing" by Bill Davis; "How to Create Interest in Singing" by Texas H. Stevens; "Obligations of Parents to Teach Children to Sing" by Marion Davis; "What a Singing School can do for a Congregation" by Wilkin Bacon; "Teaching Singing in Bible Classes" by Frank Dunn; "Obligation of Preachers and Elders to Teach on this Subject" by J. T. Marlin; "Hints to Song Leaders to Improve Their Leading" by L. O. Sanderson; "Working with Groups in Singing" by Harold Fletcher; "Convincing our Friends of the Advantage of New Testament Music" by Paul Epps; and "Our Singing is Improving" by J. C. Rigney.

HIGHLAND ELDERS REPORT SUCCESSFUL CONFERENCE WITH DU MONT OFFICIALS

Return To Abilene With Pilot Film

John F. Reese and J. N. Patterson, two of the elders of the Highland Church in Abilene have returned from Chicago where they have been conferring with officials of the DU MONT TELEVISION NETWORK and overseeing production of a pilot film of the HERALD OF TRUTH.

Ted Hergmann, president of DU MONT assured the Abilene men that the program would enjoy the same "freedom of expression" accorded the radio program which has been carried on a major network for the past two years. Bergmann said the television offer was made after observing the results of the radio series. Also attending the Chicago conference were Bob Lethridge and Gordon Mills of DU MONT'S Chicago office, Jerry Martin of DU MONT'S New York office, James W. Nichols and James D. Willeford of Abilene, and Orville McDonald of Dallas.

Present plans call for the launching of the television program on February 12, 1954. Sixty-two television stations are included in the original "target group" which will take the Herald of Truth into 4 out of 5 TV homes in America. The radio series, now heard on 287 stations, will continue with additional stations being added.

The Highland elders have signed an option on the television offer and plan to sign contracts on December 18, 1953. Acceptance of the offer will be conditioned upon the successful raising of funds.

Many of the DU MONT stations have already agreed to run the program one time free between November 15 and December 15 of this year. This will enable viewers of the nation to preview the first film entitled "Life Without Liquor." This film will also be shown in open meeting halls in various metropolitan centers of the nation.

There are eight elders at Highland. Aside from Brother Reese and Brother Patterson, there are: W. C. Smith, Frank Cawyer, W. C. Foutz, L. E. Weathers, Lewis Smith and R. L. Crawford.

THE DALE RICHESONS SAIL IN JANUARY FOR KOREA MISSION

A. R. Holton

According to present plans Brother and Sister Dale Richeson and son, Bruce, will sail January 12, 1954, from San Francisco, California, for Japan and Korea. They will be our first American missionaries of the churches of Christ to Korea. Another couple is planning to join them in the Far East and may be ready to sail on the same date. The Richesons are working under the oversight of the 16th and Decatur Street Church of Christ, Washington, D. C. Brother Richeson will be traveling among the churches until the time of his departure, showing pictures of Korea and talking to the brethren about the work there. These pictures were made by Brother Joseph Cannon on his recent trip into Korea from Japan.

Brother Richeson is a graduate of Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas, and has done local work in Prescott, Arkansas, and Mena, Arkansas, and Hopewell, Virginia.

We urge the brethren to receive Brother Richeson and have him speak to the people about the work and we urge brethren to have fellowship with him in this great undertaking. The church here at 16th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. feels that Brother Richeson is well equipped to be our first missionary in Korea and we are hoping to be able to announce soon that a second family will be going with him. We are of the opinion that two can do a much better job in this Far Eastern field.

ANOTHER "SPECIAL" ISSUE

Brother M. Norvel Young has made announcement that we are bringing out a special issue of the Firm Foundation on "Improving Congregational Singing." I have been away from the office most of the time during the last two or three weeks, and it is possible that we have said too little about the forthcoming issue on December 15th. It is highly important that all of our readers should act promptly. The price of this new special issue is only $5.00 per hundred and the size of the paper and the contents make that a very low price.

We do not know of any one of our periodicals that has brought out a special issue on the subject of "Improving Congregational Singing." The large number of writers in this issue, and their special qualifications along the line of congregational and personal praise service in the church, will be very important. We call attention to the following who have supplied us with important discussions on this subject: L. O. Sanderson, Clifton Rogers, Henry Arnold, Bill W. Davis, Paul H. Epps, M. Norvel Young, W. B. Bacon, Horace Coffman, J. T. Marlin, J. C. Rigney, Harold Fletcher and W. M. Davis. These are not all the writers. However, these will present for our readers twelve articles by twelve different men on the very interesting, important, scriptural and essential service of song in the churches of Christ. We fully believe that these articles will be of an order that will arrest the attention and inspire a special interest in this part of our worship. The best music in the world is rendered by the human voice, well trained. The worship is often much more interesting to outside people on account of the well directed worship in the service of song. People love to sing. Good people love to sing religious hymns—they love to listen to this service. God has authorized vocal music. It may be made very much more interesting and generally is far more interesting than the efforts that are put forth by denominational people with the use of instruments of music. The whole congregation is seldom trained or interested in choir singing with instruments of music. The whole congregation may be trained and, through us as a people, are being trained in good singing. What is more elevating, inspirational and enjoyable than a large congregation, singing the "Songs of Zion" in the church of the living God, assembled for worship?

Remember the time is short and we would like for everyone to place their order at once. If it is inconvenient to send remittance, simply write a letter or card stating how many copies you or your congregation, or any individual, will want. It is important for us to know this immediately in order to guide us on the number of copies we print. Will you kindly write us a postal card immediately when you receive this, stating how many copies you or your congregation can use on the great subject of "Improving Congregational Singing?"

J. E. NORMAN

We are grieved to learn of the sudden passing of Brother Jim Norman. Brother Norman was killed in an automobile accident in Bakersfield, California, on November 19th. Funeral services were at Sherman, Texas, and the interment at Denison, Texas. Brother Norman was a brother of Luther Norman, another one of our popular gospel preachers. Brother J. E. Norman was well known throughout Texas and California, as well as in some other states among loyal disciples to whom this message will come as a distinct shock. The writer of these lines has known Brother Norman from the time he was a student in Lockney Christian College at Lockney, Texas, a little more than fifty years ago. He has always been a loyal contender for the truth and has distinguished himself both as a preacher and more particularly as a debater. I remember a debate he held with the Mormons which lasted twelve days at San Antonio, more than forty years ago. His handling of the points at issue was highly interesting and Mormonism suffered a severe defeat. He was the respondent in quite a number of religious discussions on various issues among denominational leaders.

I received a letter from him just a few days ago, stating that he was making final arrangements in California to make his permanent home in Texas. But such is the uncertainty of life. Brother Norman leaves besides his widow, a number of children and grandchildren. The editor of the Firm Foundation feels a distinct loss in this sudden passing of one who was not only a brother in the Lord, but a special friend. May the blessings of the Lord rest upon the bereaved ones.

SELL THE BIBLE SCHOOL!

By Alan M. Bryan

The Bible School must be sold. It should be sold first to the elders of the church, whose duty it is to feed the flock. An effective systematic educational program can do much to feed Christians spiritual food and the elders must be sold on that fact.

The Bible School must be sold to every member of the congregation. Every person must be convinced that Bible School isn't something just for children but for all people of all ages. Each person must be convinced that in order for the elders to feed the flock, each member must take advantage of every opportunity arranged by the elders to dispense spiritual food. A large percentage of members of nearly every congregation are not even enrolled in Bible School or if enrolled rarely ever come to class. A real job of selling must be done to these members to influence them to become faithful in Bible Study.

One may ask, "How can the Bible Study be sold?" First, in elders meetings the importance of this phase of the work of the church needs to be discussed. Considerable planning on this phase of the work by the elders is needed if the Bible School work is to prove successful. The elders can visit congregations whose education work is above average or attend teacher training courses wherever held.

Next, the members must be sold on the importance of Bible Study by every conceivable means. Through the bulletin, sermons, announcements, teacher training series, special lectureships and above all careful guidance by the elders, every member can be convinced that he or she needs to attend Bible School regularly. This cannot be done in a short period of time but takes constant effort over a period of months and even years but the results will more than amply repay the efforts put forth to sell the Bible School to the congregation. God help us to promote more interest in this very important phase of his work.

"Improving Congregational Singing"

Paul H. Epps

On December 15, the Firm Foundation will publish a special issue on the subject, "Improving Congregational Singing." Several articles have been written by various preachers, experienced teachers of gospel singing, and song directors of the church, in hope that each Christian may be made to realize the need of improving the song service.

Several thousand extra copies will be published and distributed. Every congregation should see that each member receives a copy of this special issue. It would be well to send a copy to an interested friend as it might draw that one closer to the truth on this important subject. In order that each Christian may be moved to greater zeal and determination toward the improvement of our song services, these articles may be used in a teaching program in various classes: the young people's class, the ladies' class, the men's class, also at mid-week services and over the radio. Certain men of the congregation may be selected to give a talk at these classes or at the mid-week service.

Many timely articles have been written and many fine sermons delivered in defense of the truth on the subject, "Why churches of Christ do not use instrumental music in worship," and much good has been accomplished. Now, it is high time that we deliver more sermons and write more articles on the improvement of gospel singing. Let each of us put forth the proper amount of effort, individually and collectively, in improving that for which we are rightfully contending. Hence, this special issue is being published with one purpose in mind, namely, to cause each member of the body of Christ to place the proper evaluation upon gospel singing, a subject that has too long been neglected in teaching and in practice.

Before the publication of this special issue—each congregation would do well to make necessary plans for the distribution of copies to the membership. Each member of the congregation should be informed regarding these articles, and be persuaded to read each one in order that more knowledge may be gained, and more interest may abound in the improvement of that which God has authorized—gospel singing. "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly; in all wisdom teaching and admonishing one another with psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts unto God" (Col. 3:16).

THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST

Cecil N. Wright

(Sermon preached over Radio Station KFEL, Denver, Colorado, September 6, 1953).

That Christ is coming back to earth in person a second time, is clearly taught in the Bible. In Heb. 9:27 the apostle Paul declares that he will "appear the second time without sin"—that is, without a sin-offering—"unto salvation." In Acts 1:9-11 it is recorded that angels declared at the time of his ascension that "this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Rev. 1:7 says, "Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him." And Jesus himself also promised, saying, "I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (Jno. 14:3). The fact, then, of Christ's return is not a matter of question. But there is no little controversy over when he will return and what will take place after he gets here. And the sad part is that much of this discussion completely ignores much of the plain teaching of the Bible on the subject.

Exact Date Setters

For one thing, ever since the very days in which the New Testament was being penned by inspired writers, uninspired men have been predicting an immediate personal return of Christ, some of them waxing so bold as even to set the exact date. For example, Cromwell's followers in England said it would be in 1666; Swedenborg said 1757; Bengel, 1836; Miller, 1843; Cummings, 1852; Channing, 1867; Baxter, 1881; Charles T. Russell, first in 1914, then in 1918, and finally in 1925. Then when 1925 came and went without the appearance of the Lord, the followers of Russell and his successor, Judge Rutherford, to save their faces, announced that the Lord actually did come in 1914 as first predicted, but that his presence was visible only to themselves. That, of course, was untrue, for the Bible says that when he comes "every eye shall see him" (Rev. 1:7), and that "as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even to the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be" (Matt. 24:27). The folly of these date-setters is manifest to all. And the source of it is their gross ignoring of what the Bible says in this regard. Hear Jesus in Matt. 24:36: "But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only." And, again, the apostle Paul in 1 Thess. 5:1, 2: "But of the times and seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you. For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night." A thief does not announce the time of his arrival. Neither does the Lord. That is what the Bible says.

Other Prognosticators

But we have another type of prognosticators who are not so bold, but who simply say that the Lord's return will be soon. How do they know? Well, by observing the "signs of the times" and interpreting prophecy, they say. But how long have they been doing that? Ever since the days of the apostles. If you doubt it, read 2 Thess. 2:1-3, which we shall have occasion to refer to again later. But these predictions have so far proved just as untrue as those of the exact-date-setters. They have been being made off and on for 1900 years, and Christ has not come yet. So there is only one conclusion to come to—namely, that nobody, not even the closest student of prophecy or the keenest observer of the times, knows when Christ is coming back. Those who claim otherwise contradict the Bible itself, the very book on which they claim to base their knowledge—knowledge that Christ says no man has.

Wrong Signs Employed

It is true that these prognosticators claim scripture as their authority for such predictions. They refer especially to Matt. 24:32-34, the language of Jesus, which says: "Now learn a parable of the fig tree; when his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh: so likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors." But what is Jesus talking about here? Is it the end of time, or is it something else? A careful study of this chapter reveals that he is discussing alternately the destruction of Jerusalem, which occurred less than forty years later, and also the end of time, which has not come yet. He was not giving signs of the approach of both, but of "it." Now, what was "it"—the destruction of Jerusalem, or the end of time? Well, it was not the end of time, for in that very connection Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled." That generation has long since passed, but the end of time has not come yet. So the signs referred to had reference to the destruction of Jerusalem, and not to the second personal coming of Christ and the end of the world.

Personal vs. Impersonal Comings

You notice that I say the "second personal coming of Christ." I do that because the coming of the Lord and the presence of the Lord are often mentioned in the Scriptures when his "personal" presence or coming is not intended. The Jews thought of any great exertion of power through divine providence as being a coming, appearance, or presence of the Lord. For instance, in 2 Sam. 22:7-18, where David poetically describes a mighty earthquake and terrific storm by which the Lord delivered him from his enemies, he says in verse 10 that the Lord "came down." But he did not mean that he made a personal appearance. In the 19th chapter of Isaiah the Lord is represented as coming into Egypt to destroy its government and religion of that time. Yet this was not a personal coming. And Josephus, a Jewish historian, in his "antiquities of the Jews," book 18, chapter 8, and paragraph 6, tells of God showing his "presence" on a particular occasion by sending down great showers of rain contrary to human expectation, and speaks of this as one of the "very plain signs of his appearance." Yet this was not a personal or bodily appearance, but rather an appearance or presence through his providence. We call attention to these examples because they illustrate a type of reference to the Lord's coming that we must understand if we would avoid being confused by a few New Testament passages.

For instance, while Jesus was yet on earth he said, "Verily I say unto you, There be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom" (Matt. 16:18). Thus the establishment of Christ's kingdom on earth in the lifetime of his contemporaries is referred to as a coming of Christ; yet it was not a personal coming, but rather a signal manifestation of his power and the beginning of his reign. Likewise, there is every indication that the destruction of Jerusalem, which would end Jewish persecutions of Christians, was referred to as a coming of the Lord. To this the apostle Paul must have alluded when he said, "For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry"—that is, will not delay. See Heb. 10:37. And so with James, when he admonished, "Be ye also patient; establish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh" (Jas. 5:8). We know that it was not Christ's second personal coming that was then drawing nigh, but we do know that through his providence the destruction of Jerusalem and the end of the Jewish state was drawing nigh. And this must have been what was in the mind of the apostle Peter when he wrote in 1 Peter 4:7 that "the end of all things draweth nigh"—that is, the end of all things Jewish—the end of their state, the end of their temple and its worship, and also the end of their persecutions of Christianity.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Clarence A. Price, Box 2021, Route 9, Waco, Texas. One was baptized last Wednesday night here at the Lakeview church. Worship with us when traveling through Waco.

Wyatt Sawyer, 4018 Sue Ellen, Houston, Texas, November 30. The Pecan Park congregation was strengthened during the month of November by two restorations and two additions to the church by baptism.

Jas. E. Laird, Rockmart, Georgia, November 30: Since last report one has been baptized and one placed membership. The work on our new class rooms has been held up due to the lack of material.

Virgil Bentley, 719 North West Street, Cordell, Oklahoma, November 27: Our meeting with R. B. Sweet closed November 1 and while there were no additions the church was greatly edified. We soon will have been with this congregation five years, and have set December 1 as the day for paying off the indebtedness on our buildings.

The obituary in last issue of the Firm Foundation of Hattie McDonald of Fayette, Alabama, who passed from this life September 1 was signed "Tom Walker." That is wrong. "Tim Walker" should have been signed, not Tom Walker. Please correct and oblige your friend—Tim Walker, 2211 S. Tyler, Dallas, Texas, November 26, 1953.

Jess Hall, 3205 Denton Road, Ft. Worth 11, Texas, November 30: Thirteen new members at Birdville were enrolled during the month of November. Five of these were baptized and three were restored and identified with us. Five were identified. Our work is moving forward in a good way here at Birdville and we hope to accomplish more in the coming year.

Dick Powell, 212 N. Taylor St., Gainesville, Texas, November 30: Yesterday here at the Broadway church of Christ the evidence of personal work, patience, perseverance, and prayer was made manifest when two came forward to be restored and to be identified, and then there came forward two more to be identified. We set a Bible school attendance record here yesterday. The cottage meetings here in town are growing in interest, numbers, and spiritual value. We press forward in the work before us asking God's help and giving him all glory and praise.

W. S. Willis, Gustine, Texas, November 30: The work is moving forward in a very satisfactory way. Nothing unusual, just striving to do the Lord's work, and "to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace." The lectureship was a great success. Every speaker did his part in a most commendable way. Many congregations were represented with a goodly number each evening and many outside the church heard the wonderful facts about the Lord's church. The community singing will be conducted at the church building next Lord's day. There is a good interest in these singings. Many congregations have numbers present with their singers and leaders. The community is well represented and the singing is wonderful. Brethren, pray for me that I may continue in health, strength, and faith.

John T. Smithson, Wingo, Kentucky, November 24: Last Lord's day I preached at Metropolis, Ill. There were two fine audiences. One was baptized. The church there is moving along in a fine way.

James Huggins, Box 72, Gunter, Texas, November 30: Recently an elderly lady was baptized here. She had formerly been a Catholic. Three days after she obeyed her funeral was preached.

Wayne Hargrove, MacGregor Park Church of Christ, Houston, Texas, November 23: One was baptized, one was restored, and five placed membership yesterday here at MacGregor Park in Houston.

Ernest McCoy, Gainesville, Texas, November 27: We have just closed a very successful meeting here at the Commerce Street congregation in which C. E. McGaughy did the preaching. There were eleven baptisms and fourteen to be restored or place membership.

Paul Southern, 1642 College Drive, Abilene, Texas, November 25: Two were baptized, two restored, and one placed membership at 14th & Vine last Lord's day. We continue to have good attendance at both of the morning worship services, 9:00 and 11:00 o'clock. The brethren have hopes of building within the next year.

James O. Wilburn, Box 11, Gruver, Texas, November 24: The Baptists closed a meeting here Sunday night. During their meeting it was our privilege to baptize two Baptists into Christ for the pardon of sins. John Ally will assist us in a meeting the first of April. Because of postponement of a meeting I will have time for one more between now and summer.

Wm. E. Wallace, 641 Elma Street, Akron, Ohio, November 25: Brother Jeff A. Martin, Jr., replaces me at the Hickory, N. C. congregation, effective December 1. Brother Martin is from Texarkana, Texas. I believe he will do a fine work at Hickory. I am to begin work with the Thayer Street congregation in Akron, Ohio, November 29. I have enjoyed over two years of pleasant harmonious work with the Hickory group. They are progressing and in years to come will be one of the stronger congregations in N. C. Please note my change of address.

W. D. Black, Box 182, Evant, Texas, October 12: It has been some time since I reported, but have been quite busy. I have been to Rogers, New Mexico, again recently in a meeting. No additions. Had the hearty cooperation of both 4th Street and East 2nd Street churches in Portales. Brother G. C. Ross and Brother R. L. Allen at 4th Street and Brother W. T. Garnett at E. 2nd Street are men held in high esteem and are doing a fine work. Other congregations in reach of Rogers attended the meeting. It was a very busy time. School was just starting, but we think that good was accomplished in the way of sound teaching. The first and second Sundays in October, I preached at Lometa while Brother Robert Bolton was away. He is doing a fine work at Lometa and is loved and respected by all. I go next Sunday to Goldthwaite I am ready to preach anywhere in reach of my home.

Adron Doran, 109 La. Avenue, Lexington, Kentucky, November 28: I preached on Thanksgiving Day at the Druid Hills church in Atlanta, Georgia. Work in Central Kentucky is showing some signs of progress.

Lloyd E. Ellis, 231 Fourth Avenue, Chula Vista, California, November 25: The congregation here is determined to go forward about a special effort to increase our building fund on November 22. By Sunday night the contribution totaled $1285.04. This came from a congregation of less than one hundred members and without solicitation. We hope to secure sufficient loan to enable us to construct an auditorium of our own. When you or your friends came this way meet with us.

Bobby L. Hoover, 9th and Columbia, Plainview, Texas, October 30: The church here sponsored me in the first week of Coffeyville, Kansas, nine day meeting with the church there. Four were baptized, one restored and three placed membership. George Darling is doing a worthy work there. Cleon Lyles held our fall meeting. Six were baptized, six restored, and two placed membership. We have had five to place membership and one baptized since he closed here October 14. We are now planning a Lectureship for January.

A. E. Wickham, Middlebourne, West, Virginia, November 3: I spoke near here last night at a place called Burt where I took my stand several years ago with the church of Christ. It is a pleasure to be here. I closed a splendid meeting last week with the Wolf Creek congregation near Malta and McConnelsville, Ohio. Splendid cooperation of preachers and congregations. In 1875 John Rowe, father of Fred Rowe, who published the Christian Leader for years, held a meeting of four weeks in the grove, which resulted in 100 additions. On the Lord's day more than 1500 people were present. There were large crowds in Coshoc-ton last Lord's day.

Nannie Dodson, 218 Ware Avenue, East Pine, Georgia, October 9: I want you to know how much I do enjoy the Firm Foundation. I pass them on. The issue of September 29th had many good articles in it. Many wonderful things were said for the Christian.

J. F. Deggett, 805 East St., Graham, Texas, November 25: For the benefit of all who may in any way be interested and particularly for friends I have recently moved to the above address to work with the Graham congregation. The work has started off in a fine way. I had no trouble at all in persuading the brethren at Grand Saline, Texas, to "loose me" and let me go as far as the work there was concerned. I have never at any time thought I was indispensable to the work of any congregation. Brother Bill Decker of Abilene, Texas, preceded me in the work here and left many friends in his going. I am in fine health, busy, and happy in the work of the Lord. I would be glad to conduct one or two meetings next year. When coming this way we invite you to worship with the East side congregation.

R. V. Wood, Box 482, Mission, Texas, November 30: A fine young man and wife were added to our working force recently by transfer of membership. The work of the Lord in Mission is growing steadily. Interest and attendance are increasing with almost every service. The churches of the valley have a daily radio program except Saturday, one of the Ministers have the program a week at a time. We think much good will result. With a 75% Latin American population, and 20% people from the north, who are either Catholics, Lutherans, or Episcopalians, we do not have too many left to work on, but we are slowly making some inroads among the Latin-American Catholics. This is the best time of year to visit the valley while thousands of acres of vegetables are being harvested, and the citrus fruit is being gathered. Why not take time off and run down?

Elvin Bost, Allen, Oklahoma, November 15: Brother Cled E. Wallace held our fall meeting October 18-25. The preaching was superb. The interest was good and two fine boys were baptized. I am well into my third year with this good church. Prospects are very bright.

A. R. Holton, 4801—16th St. N.W., Washington, D.C., November 27: Three placed and two have been baptized since last report from Church of Christ, 16th & Decatur, N.W., Washington, D.C.

L. D. Hall, 717 South W. 24th Street, Oklahoma, November 11: I have been busy working with home forces thus far, but am ready and anxious to answer calls for monthly appointments or can hold a winter meeting for you. Do not think about the cost of this kind of work, but think about your neighbor needing to be saved. Write me and I will do my part in preaching to the lost. You may set the price for my labor.

Robert H. Bell, 672—19th St., San Diego 2, California, November 29: From November 1st through the 10th, we conducted our lecture series on "The Church in Prophecy and Fulfillment." Ten different local preachers were used. Each had his lesson well in hand and delivered it in a masterful way. November 15-22 I did the preaching in a meeting with the small church in Encinitas, California. This was the first meeting that had been conducted there in about three years. The few members that are there supported the meeting well by their presence. No one responded to the invitation. This was a mission effort on the part of the Central congregation. Brother Robert W. Lehmann, a local preacher, preached here in my absence.

R. K. Akers, Niagara Falls, New York, November 24: It was my happy privilege to do the preaching in an inspiring meeting in Petersburg, Ind., Nov. 1-11. The visible result was four baptisms, two husbands and their wives. All four had previously been baptized into the Baptist church. They readily obeyed the gospel when they learned the truth. Good preparation under the direction of Elders Shull, Hollon, Alexander, and Willis, and on the part of the local preacher, Gene Carroll, resulted in good interest and attendance on the part of the people of the community. Gene Carroll has done and is doing a fine work. He was an excellent coworker. Last Lord's day was a happy one for us here as two men were baptized and a husband and wife were restored. Not reported previously in the Firm Foundation were three baptisms on October 18 and two recent additions by transfer of membership.

W. Earl Mansur, 241 E. Arlight, Monterey Park, California, November 30: Two were identified with the Montebello church yesterday. Our work here is pleasant and there is encouragement in all phases of activity. When in this area of southern California, worship with us at 536 N. Poplar.

W. D. Black, Box 182, Evant, Texas, November 25: The work at Copperas Cove is starting off fine. Interest is fine. Attendance is increasing. Zeal and enthusiasm are manifest in the members of the Lord's body. We press on with hope.

Flavil R. Yeakley, Sr., 508 S. Oklahoma St., Weslaco, Texas, November 28: Last Wednesday night I closed a pleasant meeting with the church in Brownsville, Texas. There were only two additions during the meeting. They came by transfer of membership. But it was a pleasant meeting. I found R. M. Grigg, the local preacher, a fine, capable, pleasant co-worker. Our work at Weslaco moves forward in a nice way.

Dick Powell, 212 N. Taylor Street, Gainesville, Texas, November 25: Two were baptized tonight following the mid-week service. Two more were baptized last Monday afternoon. The brethren here are going out into the highways and byways and are seeking the lost, and souls are being saved right along. May God have all the glory and praise.

Walter W. Leamons, Junction, Texas, November 30: Two good audiences and one baptism yesterday at Tenth Street church. There is a good interest in all phases of the work, including the broadcasting of the gospel over the local station, KMBL, now in the fourth year. All the congregations of the Lord in this section are showing increasing activity. This is a matter for rejoicing, as there is room and work for all.

Joseph H. Cox, 4422 Preston Hwy, Louisville, Kentucky, November 22: The meeting held the first of November at Middletown, Ohio, was well attended, but there were no additions. The work here at Preston Highway is rapidly growing. The elders have arranged for Warren Rainwater to be my co-laborer in this great work. Eleven placed membership and one was baptized before my departure for the Middletown meeting. One was baptized here today. This congregation has not yet been in its new building two years, but now we are forced to build more class rooms to accommodate our Sunday morning Bible school attendance. The project is now under way and is expected to be completed next spring. There will be six large class rooms in this addition. Those moving to Louisville should contact us.

Cornelius C. Abbott, 401 N. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma, November 30: After eleven years of labor with the churches in Oklahoma and Texas, I am moving to Chattanooga, Tennessee, to begin work with the Red Bank church. I have labored with Chickasha, Altus, and Seminole churches in Oklahoma. I also was with the Lamar Avenue church in Paris, Texas, for two years. Our work has been so pleasant in the west and it is difficult to leave so many wonderful brethren, but we feel a great work can be done with the Red Bank church. They have just completed a beautiful new building and educational building that will seat several hundred. It is air-conditioned throughout. The move will put us closer to our relatives who live in Ohio and Tennessee. The church work at Seminole is at an all time high. Twenty have responded to the invitation the past few weeks. We begin our work at Red Bank January 1.

AUSTIN 61, TEXAS

FROM CAMP PICKETT, VIRGINIA

Several members of the Church of Christ, all soldiers stationed at the Medical Replacement Training Center, Camp Pickett, Va., have successfully provided their fellow soldiers with weekly religious services which will enable them to continue their religious activities in their own particular belief.

The planning and conducting of the services have emphasized individual participation in all aspects of the worship, and since these services were started in early December, 1952, there has been a rise in attendance of well over 100%.

Chaplain Wayne M. Daubenspeck, Lt. Colonel, has stressed religious freedom in the Army, and has cooperated in every way in providing the needs of these services.

While with the Army at Camp Pickett, many of the men and their wives have taken advantage of the opportunity and have assisted smaller congregations, such as South Hill, in strengthening their activities in this area.

The unanimous opinion of the men stationed here is that cooperation of the MRTC Chaplain's office has been excellent, and that the parents of sons in training here can be assured that they will be able to attend the Church of Christ weekly.

Among those who have actively participated are former students of David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn., Florida Christian College, Tampa, Fla., Athens Bible School, Athens, Ala., and Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Texas.

Robert C. Copeland, Jr., Tahlequah, Oklahoma: Two were recently baptized, and one placed membership here. This church is growing in all phases. The contribution, Sunday attendance, Wednesday night attendance, and Ladies Bible Class as well as all classes are growing. The future is bright, and it is believed that many more will answer the invitation of our Lord Jesus Christ. Soon new church signs will welcome all visitors traveling the three main highways into Tahlequah—the old capitol of the Cherokee Nation. We cordially invite all who travel in this scenic section of the country to stop and worship with us. This is a friendly congregation. Several are disgusted with the First Christian Church here and that affords us a great opportunity to teach them. We have had several in attendance from the music church, and with God's word we are showing them that the mechanical instrument can neither teach nor admonish according to Eph. 5:19 and Col. 3:16. We recently had three to place membership, two to make acknowledgments from the Ketcherside faction about three miles from here. Anti-ism, whether against orphan homes, mission work, colleges, or any other phase of good work—will not long stand against the truth. Radicalism has been our downfall in years gone by as the Church of Christ, but thanks be to God, we have come out of the radical-ism and are now practicing evangelism.

Basil C. Doran, P. O. Box 186, Ferris, Texas: As part of its missionary program the Ferris church supported me in a fifteen day meeting the first half of September last with the Eastside church, New York City, which the Lord blessed abundantly. Twelve responded to our Lord's invitation. Seven were baptized, three restored and two placed membership. Brother Eddie Grindley is in charge of this work and is doing a good job. He is without doubt the hardest worker I have ever seen. This man can do more than three should do. He is being ably assisted by Brother Bob Davidson of Port Arthur, Texas. Brother and Sister Davidson are of the finest type, and are proving themselves worthy of their chosen vocation. The Eastside church has a great challenge before it and I predict it will accept this challenge and in the near future will become one of the great churches among us. The other congregations and their preachers in the Greater New York area assist much by attending and lending encouragement to the work. Brother Leonard Kirk, a well known singer among us did a beautiful work in leading the worship in song. I shall return for another meeting soon. The work here continues to improve. Several have been added recently. Our program over Station KGKO, 1480 on your radio dial, 8:00 o'clock each Sunday morning is being well received. Visit us when you pass this way.

Dale R. Larsen, 5148 Dodge Street, Omaha 3, Nebraska, November 25: The new congregation in Bellevue, Nebraska, began meeting November 22 with 42 in attendance. Bellevue is a rapidly growing community just south of Omaha, and the congregation has purchased a meeting house only a few blocks from the Offutt Air Force Base. The Bellevue church is a planned outgrowth of the church at 52nd and Dodge in Omaha.

Homer A. Daniel, Julian Road, Chattanooga, Tennessee, November 25: My meeting with the Beaver Street church in Lisbon, Ohio, resulted in one baptism and some 18 preachers attending. Ray D. Beggs is Evangelist of this church. Harold Hadley of East Liverpool, Ohio, faithfully led songs. I am to return in 1956, the Lord willing. While in that area, I visited Bethany, W. Va., and was privileged to see scenes that made history in the long ago that are connected with the great Restoration Movement. Two have been baptized and two placed membership here at East Brainerd recently. This congregation is having a part with others in this area in supporting the Hortons and Huffards in Nigeria, Africa. We are beginning our ninth year in the Chattanooga area.

W. S. Boyett, 1320 West Fourth Street, Pecos, Texas, November 25: After more than three years of very pleasant work with the good church at Altus, Okla., I have moved to Pecos to work with the good church here. The opportunity here seems to be outstanding and we feel that we will be able to do much good in the Lord's work. Mardell Lynch, now of Phoenix, Arizona, preceded me here and did a fine work. A new building with adequate facilities for the work was erected while he was here. The church in Altus is one of the best and it was with much regret that we left them. November -15 I did the preaching in a meeting at Visalia, Calif., where Floyd Mitten is the loved and respected preacher. The meeting was well attended and twelve responded to the gospel invitation. The Lord willing, I shall return for another meeting in 1955. Correspondents, please note change of address.

Virgil H. Lawyer, Justin, Texas: I have completed, as of August 31, five years and eight months of labor, under the oversight of the elders of the Southside Church of Christ in Fort Worth. A full five years of this time was spent in Japan where I helped to establish eighteen new congregations and to baptized one thousand and thirty souls. My support came from the Southside church and never once was it tardy. They spent a total of $19,050 on our support and rent during our time with them. Since our return to the states last February, until September 1st of this fall, I have been preaching at Southside in the absence of their regular preacher, Robert C. Jones, and travelling on behalf of the work in Japan. During August I held a two weeks meeting in Chillicothe, Mo. Southside supported me in this meeting also. Brother Joe Lemmons is the preacher for the Chillicothe congregation. It is small, only fifteen members, but gives well and will grow, I am sure. Carl Ketcherside is the ruler of most of the congregations in that area and as a consequence the church is dead, cold and full of petty grievances. Brother Lemmons has the patience and faith to press on, in spite of these obstacles and I do believe that the simple New Testament church is there to stay. Our association with the brethren at Southside has not been marred by one single misunderstanding. They gave me freedom to carry on the work of preaching the gospel to the Japanese, in the best way that I knew how. In turn, I felt my obligation toward them and wrote monthly reports of my activities. They were my elders and never, at an ytime, tried to be elders of the churches I helped establish in Japan. They have now taken over the support of Brother Charles Doyle and family, who will soon be returning to that field. I began work with the church here in Justin September 1st. We began with an eight day meeting and had one restoration.

G. C. Hartsell, 612 Elm. Street, Minden, Louisiana, October 13: By the authority of our Lord Jesus Christ we press forward to the ultimate victory over the power of darkness. Sister Hartsell is improving with the days and should be out of the hospital tomorrow, the Lord willing. Our work here, so far, has been cooperative, pleasant and profitable. A heating system for the building is now being installed. Other improvements are in the making. We can do all things in him that strengtheneth us. May churches of Christ continue to move ahead in Jesus' name.

J. P. Williams, Rt. 11 Box 198, Ft. Worth, Texas, November 30: Since our last report four or five have been added here at Lake Worth in Fort Worth by restoration and membership. I have tendered my resignation effective March 15, 1954, here. I am leaving of my own free will and accord. I have not located a place at this writing but have my heart and mind turned toward the mission field somewhere in the United States. I would be happy to correspond with any congregation desiring to send someone out. I will be happy to consider any call, and furnish references. No one has been selected to follow me here at this writing. The brethren here are congenial and peace and harmony prevails.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

The Heart of Man

The functions ascribed to the heart in the language of the Bible show conclusively that it is not the physical heart that is under consideration. When Solomon recognized his great responsibility in ruling the kingdom of Israel, he offered this petition to the Lord, "Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad" (1 Kings 3:9). And the Lord answered this prayer, saying, "Behold, I have done according to thy word: lo, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart" (1 Kings 3:12). It seems impossible for anyone to miss the truth so far as to teach that the heart in these passages mean the physical heart.

Solomon wrote, "Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life" (Prov. 4:23). And again he says, "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he" (Prov. 23:7). From this it is apparent that the heart is the mind with which we think and understand. Sometimes it is used in a broader sense, to include the affections and will, as follows: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart," and, "Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful giver" (1 Cor. 9:7).

Christians need to use their hearts in every act of obedience to the Lord. When a man purposely misses the worship on the first day of the week, his heart is not right with God.

Jesus said, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through and steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matt. 6:19-21). So we cannot serve the Lord with a divided heart. We do not trust in the Lord while we trust in earthly treasures. A man's heart is not right with God when he fails to use his money as the New Testament teaches him to use it.

The Savior of All Men

Paul wrote this to Timothy, "For therefore we both labor and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, specially of those that believe" (1 Tim. 4:10). God is the Savior of all men in the sense that his plan provides for the salvation of all men. This does not mean that all men will be saved. The Bible teaches that many will be lost. But God loved all men, and sent Jesus to die for all men, and commanded the gospel to be preached to all men. So if men are not saved, God is not responsible for their being lost.

Paul says God is the Savior "specially, of those that believe." You cannot feed a starving man who refuses to eat. And God cannot consistently save a man who refuses to be saved. When men reject Christ by refusing to believe his word and obey his gospel, they will be lost. Jesus declared, "He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day."

LIFE'S CHANNEL IS FIXED

S. H. Hall

An address delivered over KFVD in Los Angeles, September 13, 1953.

First in the natural kingdom—

We go back to the beginning, and find in Gen. 1:11, 12, these words: "And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself upon the earth: and it was so. And the earth brought forth grass, and the herb yielding seed after its kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after its kind: and God saw that it was good."

From that day, this law, established in nature, stands unchanged. The whole success of the commercial world rests on this unchanging law. Otherwise when a man sows wheat he could expect barley, oats or perhaps raspberries, strawberries or something, he knows not what. When you put a setting of eggs under a hen you would not know what would come—chickens, buzzards or crows.

Principles are easily understood as great truths, although we may not understand the working of these principles. Life itself is a profound mystery, but there are certain facts and truths about life that we may understand to a certainty. Here are the hog, the cow, the sheep, in the same beautiful pasture feeding on the same grass, drinking the same water, breathing the same air and enjoying the same sunshine, but we know what the results will be to the owner—beef from the cow, mutton from the sheep, and pork from the hog. This we know and this we expect. But why these three animals produce these different meats from the same food, no one knows except God. Every seed shall produce after its kind, both in the vegetable and animal kingdom.

But let us look again. There in that beautiful plot of ground, we have the apple, the peach, the pear, and the grape, all rooted in the same soil, and their roots actually intermingled in the soil, but the apple, the peach, the pear, and the grape all are reproduced after its kind. God made it so in the beginning, and it so remains. But the point I want to drive home to your heart is that God did this by his spoken word, by the breath of his mouth. And all of this being true, why should it be thought incredible that the new birth should be effected by his word?

Peter says, "Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever" (1 Peter 1:23). How well we know these things. Let us read here Psalm 33:6-9:

"By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. He gathered the waters of the sea together as an heap; he layeth up the depth in storehouses. Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done, he commanded, and it stood fast."

Yes, the heavens and the earth and all things therein came into being by God's speaking them into being.

May we ask here: What is life's channel in the vegetable kingdom? First it is seed; second, this seed must be planted in soil; third, there must be moisture and the warmth of the sun. Can any one of these things be left out? Certainly not. The channel was fixed in the beginning, and it so remains fixed, and we conduct ourselves accordingly. This is true of the vegetable and also of the animal kingdom. And life is perpetuated by God's law—there is a channel of perpetuation. We have to have food, water, exercise, air and sunshine. Are there any of these things that we can eliminate? Certainly not.

Second, in the Spiritual Kingdom.

Our Lord has declared that this "life channel" in nature is analogous to the spiritual kingdom. Here let us read it:

"And he said unto them, So is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed into the ground; and should sleep, and rise night and day, and the seed should spring and grow up, he knoweth not how. For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, and after that the full corn in the ear" (Mark 4:26-28).

Reflect on these words: "In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made. In him was life; and the life was the light of men" (John 1:1-4).

But read right on till you come to verse 14, and you find these revealing words: "And the word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth."

The same word that spoke the world into existence, that established life's channel in the kingdom of nature, now God lets become tabernacled in a human body and he lives among us as "God's Life Channel In Grace." Tell me not that this is not so. Listen to him: "I am the way, the truth and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me" (John 14:6). This settles it. The very word that was in the beginning with God, and was God, by which the worlds were spoken into existence, now dwells here, clothed in flesh. He declares, "He that seeth the Son, seeth the Father also."

Oh, I know it is a mystery, and the Book so declares: "And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, and received up into glory" (1 Tim. 3:16).

Let us reflect together for a few moments. That word, by which the heavens and the earth were spoken into existence, became flesh and dwelt among us. Did anything confront him that he could not handle? We should not marvel at his speaking to the blind and they see, to the maimed and they walk, to the deaf and they hear, to the angry sea and it is calm, and even to the dead and they come forth. Remember, he is the word of God that was with God and is God among us. Yet he lived as the Son of man, with our fleshly nature, tempted in all points as we, suffered more than any being has ever suffered, allowed himself to be nailed to the cross and there was killed by pain, but as he had before stated, undone all the enemy had done to him and came forth by way of the resurrection. A mystery—yes a staggering mystery, that our Modernist friends will not take, but it is true, a thousand times true.

But in every seed in the vegetable kingdom—take the wheat seed for instance, there is in that seed the germ, the life within the seed, which springs forth, under the proper circumstances. Just so it is with the pure word of God: In it we find Christ as the germ or life giving part of the word. Yes, Christ is in his spoken word—did you get it? Hear him: "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life" (John 6:63b). This caused Peter to exclaim, "Thou hast the words of eternal life." And get it, they are words that he has spoken, not thoughts of his he never expressed. This is why Paul declares in Hebrews 4:12: "For the word of God is quick (life giving) and powerful (full of power)." That is why the apostle Peter could tell Cornelius and his household, "Words, whereby" he and his house could be saved (See Acts 11:14). This is why we are exhorted to "receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save" our souls (See James 1:21b).

But get this—our Lord is not in the doctrines and commandments of men. How well did Paul declare to the Thessalonians, "When ye received the word which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh in you that believe" (1 Thess. 1:13b).

Here let it be said: You cannot improve on the way God puts things or says things. Open your Bible to Hebrews 4:12, 13, and look closely as you read, "For the word of God is quick (life giving) and powerful (full of power) and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and the marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight." Whose sight? "But all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do." Can't you see how the thinking glides from the pure word of God to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ? Yes, we must face Christ in the judgment. But the same Book says we must face his spoken word in the judgment. See again John 12:48 and Rev. 20:12.

Now all this being true, how could anyone hope to receive this Christ and have him as his Savior short of receiving, with the whole heart, every word that Christ has spoken unto us. Here I want to drive home to your hearts, that you can as easily fly to the moon as you can touch Christ separate and apart from his words. Hear Peter in Acts 3:22, 23: "For Moses truly said unto the fathers, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me; him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you. And it shall come to pass, that every soul, which will not hear that prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people."

So there it is. Christ we cannot have as our Savior separate and apart from his word.

In John 12:48-50, Christ says: "He that rejecteth me, and received not my words, hath one that judgeth him; the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day. For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting."

Yes sir, and there is no such thing as eternal life separate and apart from the commandment of God. It is said in Rev.

22:14: "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city." Yes, as John says in 1 John 2:17: "The world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." Here is the secret of eternal life. Since Christ is the way, the truth, and the life, we understand the words of the Holy Spirit, speaking through John, when he says, "He that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life" (1 John 5:12). But the same writer says in his second epistle, verse 9:11: "Whosoever transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, hath both the Father and the Son." Now note the warning: "If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him Godspeed; for he that biddeth him Godspeed is partaker of his evil deeds." When they come with another doctrine, they come without Christ. The only way you can receive Christ is to receive his words, not substitutes for his word. For as he says in John 6:63: "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life." Don't you see?

Oh well, on and on we could go, but space forbids my giving it all in this address. Before closing, let us note again in particular, the analogy between the natural and the spiritual.

1. First, there must be seed, it must be planted, and with other attending circumstances, it springs forth and reproduces itself—reproduces after its kind, if you please. Here is life's channel for the natural kingdom, and it has so stood, unchanged since the world was created.

2. Just so in the spiritual kingdom: "The seed is the word of God." So says our Lord in Luke 8:11. This word must be planted in the soil of the human heart. The parable of the sower teaches this. See Matthew 13:18-23.

Do you know of a single convert in the days of the apostles that sowing the seed of the kingdom, the word of God, did not come first? And it should be remembered that Christ, the life given germ, was driven home to the hearts of the people. Note the conversion of the three thousand on Pentecost—Christ and him crucified, buried and arisen, ascended and crowned were the great thoughts these words planted in the hearts of the hearers. So it was with the conversion of the Samaritans—Christ was preached to them. So was it with the conversion of the eunuch—Philip preached unto him Jesus. So was it when the jailor and his household were converted—they spake unto him the word of the Lord. Cornelius was instructed to send for Peter and he would tell him words whereby he and his household should be saved. Yes, sir, when you carry the words of Jesus to the people, you carry Christ to them. Separate and apart from his word, he cannot be found. This is why James teaches us to receive with meekness the engrafted word that is able to save our soul (See James 1:21).

But the final word by way of warning—God's word will produce only Christians, true children of God; it will not produce Campbellites and establish churches not one time named in the word of God. In Matthew 15:9 Christ says, "But in vain they worship me, teaching for doctrine the commandments of man." Christ, the life-giving principle in the word is not to be found in the doctrines and commandments of men. Hear Christ again in Mark 7:9: "And he said unto them, Full well ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your own tradition." But the traditions of men contain not Christ, and though they are taught in the name of Christ, will not produce the children of God.

Think of the warnings, over and over given: "That ye henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the slight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive" (Eph. 4:14). Paul says to Timothy, "As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus—that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine" (1 Tim. 1:3). Paul also says to the Galatian brethren that though he or an angel from heaven preached any other gospel, let him be accursed (Gal. 1:6-9). And on and on you find warnings in the Bible. Peter says, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God" (1 Peter 4:1a).

The cases of the speccial pleading, mentioned in Matthew 7:22, 23, are those who have taught in the name of Christ their own doctrines, and this is spiritual forgery. Remember it states that that prophet who shall presume to speak a word in my name that I have not commanded, that prophet shall die. See Deut. 18:20. These are the ones who will cry unto our Lord at the judgment, saying, "Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? Yes, taught in the name of Christ their own doctrines (Matt. 7:22). Then it is our Lord who will say unto them: "I never knew you: depart from me, ye workers of iniquity." Yes, they have forged our Lord's name to doctrines he did not command—a very iniquitous thing to do. When one signs the name of someone else to a check, without his consent, and collects on it, he goes to the penitentiary. Where should it be thought people should go who forge the name of eternal God and his Son to doctrines they never authorized them to teach?

Let us be careful about what we teach—teach only what God's word says, and you will reproduce children of God and re-establish the church Christ purchased with his own blood. Let us see to it, as teachers and preachers, that we "speak as the oracles of God" as we are commanded (1 Peter 4:11).

CONTINUE NETWORK RADIO PROGRAM

The elders of the Highland church in Abilene report that much progress is being made in the preparation of the network television program which is scheduled to be launched on the DuMont Television Network in early February, 1954. One of the wire services announced last week that the Highland group had been offered time on 62 DuMont stations covering 82.29 per cent of TV homes in America. An option has been taken on the contract offer and the contract is to be signed on December 18, 1953.

The Highland elders carefully pointed out that the new TV program will not replace the present radio program carried by the American Broadcasting Company. The radio work will be continued with efforts made to add the present 287 stations now carrying the coast-to-coast broadcasting.

In an open letter last week the Abilene brethren said: "We feel that the opportunity of obtaining a network television program for preaching the gospel is one of the greatest opportunities to come our way. This does not mean the discontinuation of the radio broadcast but that a greater overall audience may be reached by radio and television."

Two of the Highland elders, J. M. Patterson and John F. Reese, have just returned from Chicago where they have been checking production of the first "pilot film" of the Herald of Truth. A number of the DuMont stations have agreed to run it one time as a public service while funds are being assembled.

Signing of contracts is dependent on sufficient funds being raised by December 18.

THE HERALD OF TRUTH BROADCAST

By LOGAN BUCHANAN

February 10, 1952, the ABC network began to carry a broadcast introduced by, "The churches of Christ salute you with the Herald of Truth." God willing, the DuMont Television Network will likewise begin to carry the program of February 12, 1954, so that ten million people each week may see and hear the gospel of the Master.

This program is identified as follows: "This program has come to you under the direction of the Highland Church of Christ, Abilene, Texas, and is supported by churches of Christ." Its elders inspect the program before it is transcribed, and give it final approval before it is put on the air. I was tremendously impressed by their willingness to accept suggestions during their inspection of one of the programs.

Funds are sent to the Highland church, especially earmarked for the Herald of Truth broadcast, to a special post office box set up by the elders "providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men (2 Cor. 8:21). P. S. Kendrick of College church has acted in the past as treasurer, and Phil Kendrick is the able announcer.

Office Work Is Tremendous

Hundreds of personal letters go out each day, answering questions, helping people locate congregations, answering requests for sermons, etc. Three secretaries and eight typists and bookkeepers are required, and they are swamped with work. These are paid $45.00 and $42.50 per week, respectively.

James Williford and James W. Nichols have done most of the preaching, and have been paid $100.00 per week, until recently, when they were increased to $150.00. John F. Reese, elder at Highland, gave up his business to manage the office, answer questions, and generally supervise this work at a salary of $150.00.

The two preachers spend many hours per week preparing the sermons, making transcriptions, piecing the program together, and following the continuity written by Brother Reese. Phil Kendrick, the able announcer, is paid $25.00 weekly.

Since Highland church had no space, offices had to be rented and furnished by the congregation. About one-sixth of the funds expended have been spent on transcriptions, printing and mailing copies of the sermons, paying the salaries and office expense, keeping the records, acknowledging the contributions, and for utilities, telephone and supplies.

History of the Broadcast

The two evangelists selected to do the work were preaching on a small six- or seven-station network in the northern states, when they were given an opportunity to enlarge their work and place it on a network.

College Church in Abilene was the first sponsor for the program, and since Brother Nichols' salary was guaranteed, this church agreed to serve as sponsor for four months, while the matter was put before the brethren. On September 16, 1951, The Minute Monitor, weekly bulletin of the College church in Abilene said:

"Brother James Walter Nichols has been working with the College church for the past four months in a special radio project. The College church agreed to sponsor this work for four months. This work is of the highest type and is commendable. . . We do offer a prayer for God's blessing on this and any other good work."

After releasing the work, College church continued to support it, and carries an item in its 1954 budget:

"Radio, Highland church $3.33 (month) . . . $1,000 (year)."

The Missions Program division of the Annual Report from College church says:

"We are also making a sizable contribution regularly to the Herald of Truth radio program. It is expected that as our budget grows we can do far more of this type of work." Their interest in this program shows almost one-tenth of their mission budget is spent here.

From September 16, 1951, the Highland church in Abilene has been overseeing this work. Their 1953 directory says:

"Many conversions and restorations have been reported. This work is being supported by a great number of congregations and individuals."

How Is The Money Raised?

Highland church has appealed to the churches through the mail, by telephone, and personal contact, for funds to do this magnificent work, as one sister congregation asking others for help and cooperation. Pledges are made by the churches to Highland church in Abilene, which pledges are paid by the local churches at their convenience.

Some individuals also make contributions, although no campaign for individual contributions has ever been made. It has never been said that it is sinful and wrong for individuals to contribute to a worthy cause.

Why Is This Called "Herald Of Truth"?

The Highland elders could not officially speak for the churches of Christ in any capacity. They therefore do not say, "The church of Christ claims and teaches so-and-so . . ."

This broadcast is not the church, and cannot advertise itself as such. It is the work of the church, or an activity of the church, even as a church bulletin. Other radio programs conducted by our people are called by such titles, to help build an audience: "The Gospel in Sermon and Song"; "The Bible Hour"; "Bible Questions and Answers"; "What Does Your Bible Say?"

Churches print bulletins with similar titles: "The Minute Monitor"; "Stop and Think"; "The Visitor"; "The Truth"; "The Caller."

Such a title is no more unscriptural than to call a mid-week service a "prayer meeting"; or to call a protracted revival a "gospel meeting"; or to call a number of classes meeting simultaneously a "Bible school." These names simply describe what the church is doing, and none need misunderstand.

Why Carry "Herald of Truth" On Letterheads?

To plant firmly in the minds of people that Highland church, with the help of sister congregations, does HERALD the TRUTH, it advertises this fact—just as we have always advertised the slogan—"Where the Scriptures speak, we speak; where the Scriptures are silent, we are silent."

This does no discredit to the church. All the advertising, programs, letterheads, films, and brochures sent out by Highland church make known clearly and without subterfuge, that this work is under the immediate and direct oversight of the Highland elders, to whom any criticism, suggestion, or question may be addressed, either from Abilene, or from any other quarter.

The first monthly report sent out said:

"If at any time there should arise in your mind a question about any of the phases of this work, we would appreciate your writing. We believe that you should know how the program is being handled, and by whom . . . We look forward to hearing from you . . ." (pages 5, 6).

But the church is honored in every program. We sincerely believe that none can hear, or see, one of the broadcasts or telecasts without learning what the program says repeatedly: "This program has come to you under the direction of the Highland Church of Christ in Abilene, Texas, and is supported by churches of Christ." None need misunderstand.

Is It Right To Preach On Radio Or TV?

Such mass media as radio, television, and printing tracts reach beyond any local church in communicating the gospel. Surely no one is naive enough to think that such mass media for heralding the truth as newspapers, radio, TV, etc., can be used without reaching into territory that the elders of a local church cannot supervise and oversee.

But the churches of Christ, operating under the Great Commission of our Lord, are engaged in a world-wide operation, since Jesus said: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature . . ." (Mark 16:15). Every Christian is a part of this world-wide operation, and every congregation has some obligation to carry it on. The local elders must plan ways and means to push this world-wide operation along, and help it succeed.

Some elders have greater vision than others, just as some preachers have greater vision. Some can see the possibilities of good in the work of the church, and some can see only the dangers of something bad.

If, as some would have us think, it is sinful and wrong for a local church to engage in any operation that reaches beyond the support and/or beyond the supervision of any one local church, it becomes sinful and wrong (according to that reasoning), to put ONE sermon on ANY radio station.

The sermon would be heard by someone not under the supervision of a local eldership, and its results would be felt in territory beyond their oversight. Does this not condemn ALL radio preaching?

Are we going to be driven into accepting the Catholic "Diocece" idea, or shall we follow the New Testament?

If it is right to preach the Gospel on ONE radio station, it is right to preach the same sermon on a thousand stations, with or without the use of a network. If elders do not overstep their bounds when they supervise a radio program heard 20 miles beyond their immediate neighborhood, they do not overstep their bounds when they supervise a program that reaches 2,000 miles beyond their own neighborhood.

Distributing Tracts Is Likewise

To prohibit a local church from conducting any operation that reaches beyond the supervision and/or beyond the support of the local church, would condemn ALL use of the printed page, including tracts, newspapers, etc. Somebody just might get their hands on a gospel tract who was not under the supervision of the local elders, and who never attended the local congregation.

If it is scriptural and right for a local church to send tracts and letters to people in its own country, it is scriptural and right for a local church to print and mail sermons and letters all over the world, in spite of the fact that it is thereby conducting an operation that reaches beyond the supervision and the support of the local church.

What About Public Contributions?

If indeed the local church must not permit anyone who is not under the supervision of the local elders to help in the support of its work, we are forever prohibited from passing the contribution platter to an open assembly.

Somebody just might put a contribution in the platter who is not a member of the local congregation. If it is wrong for a church to do what it cannot support without outside help, it would be wrong to accept this money. This legislation would force us to "closed box," and make us refuse non-members the right to worship by giving. Then we would have to decide whether a member is in good standing before he could give, etc. Is this what the New Testament teaches?

Can "The Churches" Unite To Act?

Prayer is an action that cannot be limited by congregational lines. Paul tells us to pray "everywhere" (1 Tim. 2:1-8). What is there about which we may unite in prayer that we cannot scripturally unite to help?

Fellowship between churches is not only proper and right, it is scriptural and divinely commanded, whether it consists in sending money to a missionary, relieving human distress, or helping one another.

Let us not be naive enough to think that our own local church has done ALL that has been done, when we baptize a man into Christ. Other congregations may have helped.

We all depend on one another to a great extent, and we shall always need the help of other congregations, in holding gospel meetings, building buildings, or preaching the truth on radio or elsewhere. Let us not be naive enough to think that the progress of the church at ANY locality is due solely to what that particular church itself has done. The training of its leaders, preachers, and its teachers, has probably been given elsewhere, by other churches.

One congregation, working by itself, can accomplish little. By joining hands together, we can do much more. There is a cumulative effect on the world, when the church works together (John 17:20, 21). God help us to grow more willing to "hold hands across the world" for the salvation of souls.

The Herald of Truth Is Such A Work

Although it is under the supervision of Highland church, this broadcast is a worthy enterprise, in which we can all help. One hundred and seventy souls die per hour in our nation without God. Those who care about these souls MUST be interested in reaching as many as possible with the gospel. The very thought of preaching to ten million people per week thrills the souls of those who believe in the power of the gospel.

Is This Program Too Big To Be Right?

Unless we have lost sight of the principal work of the church, to "preach the gospel to every creature," we will not say this work is too big. It is really too small. While we fiddle, souls die without hope.

Is it scriptural and right for several churches to work together on a given project, and to see it through as partners in a worthy enterprise? Or is anything too big for one local church, too big to be scriptural? And is it possible for several churches to work together and to act in concert without losing their independence, autonomy, and identity as local churches?

Our Great Danger Is Doing Too Little

There is not very much likelihood that "our" people will do too much, or get very far ahead of what the New Testament specifically authorizes. We have too many people who are always "agin" everything, for anything unscriptural to get very far.

Let us seek a Bible answer to our question.

A New Testament Example

Note the methods Paul commanded to be used in raising money for such a worthy project in New Testament times in 2 Cor. 8. Note:

1. There were saints in Jerusalem who needed relief. (This was AFTER the story of the sending of money to Judea in Acts 11:27-30).

2. Paul gave apostolic "orders" to the "churches of Galatia" (1 Cor. 16:1, 2), to give to their relief. Corinth was LIKEWISE ordered to join in this cooperative enterprise.

3. The "churches of Macedonia," verse 1, joined in this cooperation of churches, to have part in "ministering to the saints."

4. The church at Corinth had made a pledge to the work, a year before, 2 Cor. 8:10, 11, and Paul commanded them to KEEP their pledge.

5. The money was sent to Jerusalem by the hands of Titus, another unnamed brother, who had been selected as a co-operative action, "chosen of the churches to travel with us with this grace, which is administered by us to the glory of the same Lord . . ." (2 Cor. 8:19). (This word for "chosen" is XEIROTONETHEIS, an aorist passive participle from XEIRO-TONEO—defined by Thayer's Lexicon, page 668. It is the same word translated "appoint" in Acts 14:23. In 2 Cor. 8:19, the preposition UPO—which with the genitive case here shows the agents by whom the choosing or appointing was done—this brother was chosen "by the churches" (plural).

6. These brethren circulated among "the churches" to gather the cash and carry it to Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:3).

Shall We Deny God?

Here is a New Testament example of cooperative action, in which more than one church chose a man to go out to more than one other church and promote a scriptural work, requiring the raising of funds from more than one congregation. This was a scriptural operation, in spite of the fact that it was too big for the oversight and the support of one single local congregation.

Paul commended these churches who took part in this cooperative enterprise, and commended the men who raised the money as "the messengers of the churches, and the glory of Christ" (vs. 23).

We believe, then, that the principle of congregational cooperation is a scriptural principle, and that no man has the right to remove it from New Testament Christianity, nor to ridicule those who were called by God "the glory of Christ." If this be heresy, rescue me from it—I cannot deny God.

Let Us Follow God, Always

If it was right for the church at Corinth to pledge their giving a year ahead for the relief of the poor saints as in 2 Cor. 8:10-12, and if it was right to send money to elders of another congregation as in Acts 11:27-30, it is still scriptural and right for a local church to pledge to help Herald of Truth and send money to the Highland elders. If not, why not?

Let us not fear to follow the Bible, and do what these churches did, just because some person imagines and fears "it might some day lead to something big and bad." Such timid failure to obey God is unworthy of those who have placed their faith in Christ Jesus.

THE UNBRIDLED TONGUE

Ben M. Taylor

The Scriptures say, Ezek. 3:18: "When I say unto the wicked, thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him no warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand."

"He that is silent concerning a known evil, becomes a partaker of the sin." So why should I or any anyone else hesitate writing or saying anything we might be able to say or write concerning any evil? and especially upon the subject under consideration?

If any man among you seem to be religious and bridleth not his tongue but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain" (James 1:26). "Wherefore my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath, for the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God" (vs. 19-20). "But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison" (Ch. 3, v. 8). "Speak not evil one of another, brethren, he that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law; but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge."

And many other things are mentioned in these first four chapters of the book which are easily understood.

Sometimes I wonder if we do not exercise more judgment rabbit hunting, than we do in the proper use of our tongues. We can readily understand if a gun is improperly handled, calamity of some sort is certain, but when it becomes a matter bringing on destruction to both soul and body, we seem to lose sight of the fact we are carrying about something which is "full of deadly poison" the tongue which no man can tame, etc.

The tongue when improperly controlled, can destroy the church in just a little while. It can cause more grief and cause more heavy hearts, retard the progress of good gospel preachers than any one thing we might mention.

Yes it is so easy to pop off. Someone has said or described one who talks too much as a "popperoffer" then defined the word "popperoffer" as being "one who should be listening instead of talking". So whether this is the correct definition or not, it certainly serves the purpose very well.

"Speak not evil one of another" says James, and tells us what we become if we do, should be sufficient, but on we go with that unbridled tongue. I use the word "we" because none of us are as careful as we should be, I am sure.

For an example, I know of a certain congregation who secured the services of one of the best tried and true preachers the church has ever produced, a man who has and is now endorsed by the entire brotherhood, to conduct their meeting, and before the meeting was four days old, a vain individual begins with the unbridled tongue, to ridicule and say many hurtful things about the preaching. "He will run folk away; He is too hard; He calls names; We need a man who will use tact" etc.; and I suppose had it not been for the fact most of the congregation knew the preacher was guilty of no such thing, much harm could have been the result. But in that the preacher ignored it, and preached as hard as he could, the meeting was a success. The preacher found it out of course, as he always does, and perhaps left with a heavy heart, realizing of course more good might have been accomplished had this not happened, etc.

Now we might ask the question, Why did this all just have to happen? Simply because of what James said in his first remarks, Chapter 1:1. This is exactly why.

Webster defines the word "Vain" as "worthless—conceited" and so now we see hard it is for a church to grow or prosper, when this sort of material shows up.

Now think of the other accusations he made, "too hard, drives folk away." I have lived quite some time. I have never heard any preacher preach as hard as did Jesus and his apostles, and I doubt if I ever will. They called names and preached so hard many of those who heard, tried to do them bodily harm, and death finally came to them as a result of their preaching the truth, as it was revealed.

They used tact also, because they were guided by the Holy Spirit, and because of what the definition of the word "tact" given by Webster, which is as follows. "Tact"—Nice discernment and delicate skill in saying exactly what is expedient, or suitable in given circumstances." And so it goes, here we have a person who never preached a sermon in his life trying to dictate to a preacher who has given the best of his life to the preaching of the gospel. "Brethren these things ought not to be." There has been much written in the past covering plain, hard preaching, and how necessary it is, but if this nonsense which is so widespread in the brotherhood could be traced down properly, the most of it could be found to have originated most all together to he or she whose religion is vain. Mark them, and put it down when you find an individual who is constantly complaining some preacher preaches too hard and void of "tact" you will have found one who has some sort of an ax to grind. Sometimes it's a political axe, but more often we will find one who is unconverted to the old apostolic style of preaching the truth. John 8:32: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

Are you happily married?

Everyone knows that our divorce rate in this country is appalling. It has risen to the alarming proportions of one divorce in three marriages. Obviously many marriages are unhappy ones. Also, it is apparent that many homes are now headed for the rocks. What about your home?

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in marital relations. The time to prevent a broken home is before it happens. Too frequently couples who are having trouble, put off seeing a competent counsellor or doing anything to improve the situation until it is too late. To appropriate the slogan of the Citizen's Traffic Commission: "Be careful about your marriage. The home you save may be your own."

ATHEISM DOES NOT LIKE ITS FRUITS

James D. Bales

Atheism is finding it difficult to get converts to band together, and even in making converts. An article by Hal Boyle in a recent newspaper quoted an atheist as follows:

"Our membership was never lower," recently complained Woolsey Teller, secretary treasurer of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism.

"In many ways we who are trying to lead people away from church are in the same boat as those trying to lead them into church.

"People today are generally too interested in material things. The average man, I'm afraid, would rather play gin rummy or watch wrestling on TV than take part in something serious."

"The anti-religious organization, founded in 1925, reached a peak soon thereafter of 1,000 members but some months ago dropped to a low point of 340. Members pay $1.00 a year. Most members are 'middle-aged or more,' said Teller, adding:

"We seem to have a great deal of difficulty getting younger people interested."

"The states having the most formal atheists are California, New York and Ohio.

"Maine, Delaware and West Virginia are the worst states for us," said Teller, who believes some people are afraid to become atheists for fear they will be called Communists."

It is good to know that the 4A is having difficulties. Likely it ill fade out not too long after its founders pass on. Several observations are in order concerning Teller's statements. First, why should atheists want to band together to advance atheism. What bond of fellowship is there in denying God and affirming that men are just animals? It is better for atheists to live in a society which is composed mainly of non-atheists since at least the non-atheists believe, as a general rule, that there are real moral standards. They are thus more apt to treat an atheist like a man instead of like a dog.

Second, that people are not interested in something serious is one of the logical fruits of atheism. If atheism is true, then what is serious? Nothing is of real value and nothing is lasting.

Third, if atheism is right there is nothing but the material. Thus people would be fools to be interested in other than material things. Why should Teller devote his time to teaching men atheism, and then cry because some people live as if atheism is true! If he does not like the fruits which atheism would produce, or sanction, let him stop sowing the seed which produces that type of fruit.

Most young couples in our country want a lovely Christian home. They want a home where the Christian virtues of purity, honor, faith, hope, and love prevail. They want the fruit without being willing to plant the seed and cultivate the plant. You can't have the fruit without the root. The roots of a Christian home must be a deep faith in God, a trust in Jesus Christ, a knowledge of the Word of God.

A happy home is based on the character of the two individuals who form the union. There is no substitute for the Word of God to produce Christian character. So, if you want the fruits of a Christian home, give attention to reading the Bible daily, obey its prospects, attend church where its teachings are preached and practiced, seek Christian companions who will bring out the best in you. By cultivating your spiritual nature you will be making a great contribution to the happiness of your home.

Fourth, if atheism is true why should an atheist confess his "faith" if it might have some consequences which are unpleasant. What would be wrong with letting fear of being classed as a communist keep one from confessing that he is an atheist, or becoming an atheist? What principle in atheism is there to give man courage, to lead a man to stand up for what he believes? If there are no moral principles a man would be a fool to invite unpleasant consequences by taking a definite stand.

Fifth, atheism does prepare the way for communism. Communism is atheistic in its nature. More than one communist has testified that atheism softened him up for communism. Professor Budenz, once the managing editor of the Daily Worker, told the writer that that was his experience as well as the experience of other communists whom he had known. He has now given up both communism and atheism.

LET ME CHALLENGE YOU TO READ THE BIBLE THROUGH!

The new year of 1954 is beginning soon. Perhaps you have made several good resolutions. May we challenge you to read the Bible through in 1954.

You can do it by reading three chapters each day and five each Lord's day. You can complete it in 365 days.

More Bibles were sold in 1953 than in any year of history. No doubt you own one or more. But the Bible must be read, must be meditated upon, must be obeyed in faith if it proves the way of salvation for us. We are largely creatures of habit. How easy it is to spend 15 or 20 minutes each day reading the daily paper which is thrown away the next day. How much more valuable for us to read God's Book which will last forever. Most people find it better to start with Matthew and read the New Testament first.

It is best if you can choose a definite time for each day's reading, and hold to it. Read with expectancy seeking God's will for you. Mark the passages which are most helpful so that you can re-read them later. Memorize key verses so that you can meditate on them during the day. Be sure to pray for God's blessing as you begin to read and for strength to do his will when you finish your reading. Such a program will bless you beyond measure in 1954.

Several hundred people locally have made this resolve, and the church is furnishing them with a 38-page pamphlet on "Understanding the Bible." If you would like a copy of this you may have one by writing a card addressed to the church, Broadway and T, Lubbock, Texas. But be sure to read the Bible every day in 1954.

THE CHURCH AND SUBSTITUTIONS THEREFOR

C. H. Palmer

When Christ declared, "I WILL build MY church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it," he was declaring the fulfilment of prophecy in spite of the opposition of the Satanic power. He, no doubt, recalled the opposition of the Satanic power from the beginning, and his combat with him in the wilderness and the opposition during his personal ministry, that, after the declaration to build his church that he would add, "the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." He, no doubt, meant primarily, that the enclosure of his body in the grave would not prevent the building of his church. But, he meant more than that. Why would he build his church in spite of death and the grave, and then leave it to the ravages of Satan after it became an active institution. Hell as used here by the saviour means, grave, hades, sheol, and the term "gates" refer to the designs and devices of Satan as well as an adjustable door closing an entrance to an enclosure. Since Satan invented the grave, or made the grave necessary, it is a device of Satan. Satan has myriads of devices, all of which he will bring to bear upon the church (2 Cor. 2:11). Many of such devices are working within the church today, weakening and impeding its progress in sounding out the word of truth and thereby preventing it reaching many unsaved.

Satan arrayed himself against God, his human creatures and his plan in their behalf from the beginning, and he prevailed against his created pair in the Garden of Eden thereby establishing his influence in the world to the extent of causing God to repent that he had made man, and to decree that he should be destroyed from the face of the earth. But, the destruction of man by the flood did not arrest or destroy Satanic influence in the world, but he continued to oppose God, through man, down through the ages, and when the promised redeemer came into the world to eventually destroy the works of Satan (1 John 3:8) he increased his attacks against him, and against his church as soon as it was established. He tried to destroy Jesus soon after his birth; he tempted him through every possible avenue in the wilderness alone, and harassed him continually during his personal ministry, through his human agencies, and finally crucified him. But, he could not retain him nor stop the progress of his work, even by the gates of hell.

It was ordained from the beginning that his kingdom, or church, should be an everlasting kingdom. That it should never be destroyed, but should stand forever (Dan. 7:13, 14:18-27; Micah 4:7; 1 Cor. 15:24, 25, 27; Heb. 12:28). These scriptures, nor any others, infer that only the seed of the kingdom (the word of God) shall remain forever, but the kingdom itself. The king, Jesus Christ, has not been without a kingdom since its inception on Pentecost, and will not be so long as time shall last. When Satan initiated the great apostasy (2 Thess. 2:2-13; Acts 20:28-38; Jude 4; Gal. 2:4; Titus 1:15-16; Heb. 12:15) he did not renounce the church but began at once to change the truth of God into a lie, worshipping images, changing the organization and function of the church, and convinced men that it was all simply the church at work, or the church progressing.

From the beginning of time down to a number of years after the church was established, Satan's attacks against God, Christ and mankind were open and direct. But having been foiled by Christ and his followers who were taught of his devices, the direct approach was no longer so effective. Satan transforms himself into an angel of light, began talking religion, a perverted religion, a campaign of deception which was much more effective than open opposition, hence, the great apostasy. He seemed to come to a realization that he could captivate, unsuspectingly, more precious souls through advocating a perverted gospel, and an apostate church, something different, something better, than would be possible through continued open opposition to the true church. Knowing the disposition of man to readily grasp something different, a perverted teaching would be very effective. Therefore the perversion of the gospel, by the Satanic power, began in earnest about sixty years after the church was established and continued on and on, and is very active at this present time. In about the year 533 after Christ, the apostasy had become so powerful through deception, murder and all manner of persecution of those who would not submit to the apostate teachings and practices, that the true church was driven by the Satanic power into the wilderness, into seclusion. She was given the wings of a great eagle that she might fly to where she had a place prepared of God for her, where she was fed and nourished for 1260 years. While the church was in obscurity, invisible, outwardly inactive, it was still in existence, being nourished of God, for the time, when the two witnesses would arise and again testify. God's two witnesses, the Old and New Testaments testified in sackcloth during that period, not being permitted to reach the populace but then killed and lay unburied in the street of the great city, which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified (that damnable Satanic system) for three and a half days, 1260 years, but was resurrected and again began to testify. The Bible was, to all intents and purposes, legislated out of Europe during that time, but about three and one half years after its complete suppression, it was released and began again to testify to a limited extent.

THE HERALD OF TRUTH

Tom W. Phillips

I have read some two or three times Glenn Wallace's remarks concerning the Herald of Truth program; and knowing Glenn Wallace, his remarks rang with sincerity. He and I have about the same background in our religious training. I am somewhat older, but our reactions are about the same. I have gone over in my mind the same questions that were asked by Brother Wallace. My conclusions have brought a decision that there is nothing unscriptural with the way the Herald of Truth is being conducted within its organizational or money raising aspects. I can see no similarity between the Herald of Truth and the Epworth League or any society in the churches of denominational nature. Neither do I see an organization which could be termed one greater than the local congregation; it makes no dictates to any local congregation nor does it combine any or several congregations into a synod or anything like one.

I do not exactly think of the Herald of Truth in the same light as one of our papers or schools, but almost! I see Highland church elders overseeing the preaching that is being done; I also see them as guards of the financial integrity of the Herald of Truth organization. To me this is a splendid thing for Highland to do and gives greater confidence to the Herald of Truth efforts. I grant that the Herald of Truth is heard more than the church of Christ. After much deliberation, this seems wise to me, for it keeps the program from sounding sectarian; and no one can deny that the preaching on the broadcasts from the very beginning has certainly been true to the Book and has told of the Christ that purchased his church with his own blood. A church of Christ denomination has not been presented! Of that I am glad.

I own my own shoe store in Santa Barbara, California. There are three working in the store besides myself. If I were to have daily Bible teaching in the store with these three people, there would be nothing unscriptural in that; it would be more scriptural if the elders of the church supervised that teaching. From very few members of the church do I make my profit to run the store, yet there would not be an opportunity to have daily teaching with these three (if I did) without profit from people of the world. No, there is not a similarity between my store and the Herald of Truth, but the example does provoke thinking about what can be scriptural and what is not scriptural.

I must go along with the Herald of Truth.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

Roy Burgess, Box 212, Zellwood, Florida, November 30: Two confessed sins and were restored Sunday. We have had responses in most of our services in the last two months. "Work while it is called day."

Murray W. Wilson, Bentonville, Arkansas, December 1: A man and his wife, formerly Baptists, were obedient to the gospel here Sunday. This makes four Baptists in five weeks who have turned from their religious error to the truth of the Bible.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, November 26: Spoke at Henderson. Glad to be invited to speak in lectureships at Stephenville, Blanco, Georgetown, places I once served and other places. Young men led in a great prayer service here last night. 219 were present, 243 in Bible school and over 400 at worship.

Sylvan Gray, Gunnison, Colorado: We have just completed a meeting from the 24th through the 29th of November with an average attendance of 30, one baptism and one restoration. Brother Duward Lee of Grand Junction did the preaching, assisted by Brother Reginald Beavers of Delta, and Brother K. A. Stone of Montrose leading the singing. We are very much encouraged over the interest shown during the meeting.

Ira D. Brister, 234 S. Hampton Road, Dallas 8, Texas, November 30: Yesterday I spoke for the Mesquite, Texas, church both morning and night. I preached for them regularly some three or four years ago. It was good to be with them again. They now have a new building and prospects are bright for continued growth and development. The Sunset church is growing. Some twenty additions in November from all sources. Homer P. Reeves is now in his seventh year and the congregation is in the best condition ever. We are still looking for a song director and assistant minister.

J. David Taylor, Box 232, Gould, Oklahoma, November 26: Gould Church of Christ enjoyed a series of fine Bible lessons from different preachers from November 12 to 15, on the important subject of "Cost of Discipleship." Our second year here is accomplishing much good, we believe. Our men's training class, Monday nights, is making fine progress. We had two fine speeches this Wednesday night by a high school boy of the class and a fine man who is doing a fine part in different ways of the work of the church. Sincere Christians, can but enjoy the very fine articles appearing in the Firm Foundation recently.

E. Paul Mathews, 4701 E. 58th Street, Maywood, California: The church in Maywood is making rapid progress. Fifteen have been baptized here since my last report, (thirteen of them within the past six weeks). New attendance records are being made repeatedly, and our contributions have more than quadrupled over the past two years. Our auditorium is in the process of being enlarged, and we expect to be meeting in it by March 15, 1954. This is one of the hardest working congregations that it has been my pleasure to serve; we enjoy peace and harmony, and, almost to a member, everyone has a mind to work. To God and these faithful brethren go all the praise.

Howard A. Blazer, Sr., Route 1, Florence, Alabama, December 3: We have recently moved here to labor with the Shiloh congregation. All our friends please take note of the change of address.

William Reeves, 2 Keer Ave., Apt. 504, Newark, New Jersey, December 1: Brother Norman Gipson held a meeting at the new Central congregation in Newark November 22-27. One was restored. Please send us names of contacts in this area.

Horace Teddlie, Box 152, Midlothian, Texas: I have sold the Edition Bindery and I am now free to go anywhere to conduct meetings. Between meetings I will maintain a small shop for rebinding of Bibles and Hymn Books etc. If I can serve your needs, please contact me at the above address.

Claude B. Holcomb, 633 W. Collin, Corsicana, Texas, December 1: Today we are beginning our fifth year of work with this fine church which meets on Fifth Avenue in Corsicana. This has been a most pleasant association with consecrated Christian people, working together under the oversight of one of the finest elderships to be found anywhere. We pray the Lord's continued blessings upon his church throughout the world.

George S. Benson, President, Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas, closed a meeting with the Central Church of Christ at Chickasha, Oklahoma, on Sunday night, November 15. The attendance was excellent. The interest was good. Four men were baptized, each the head of a family. One woman was restored. Central church has an excellent eldership. The congregation is at peace and doing an excellent work. Robert Hawkins is the hard-working minister who is held in high esteem by the church and by the people of the town.

John L. Norris, Box 302, Mathis, Texas: We had our first services in our new building November 22. Brethren from Luling, Los Fresnos, Mathis and perhaps other places came to be with us during the day. The congregations meeting at Argenta and at Mathis helped us in a financial way on our building during its construction. We now feel that the cause of Christ is permanently established in Orange Grove, which is a town of mostly Catholic and Lutheran belief. For over four years we met in the high school library, during which time we carried on a full program of work. We beg the prayers of the faithful as we continue our efforts in this area.

Joe L. Banks, 857 South High, Denver, Colorado, November 24: After two and one half years' work with the Logan Street church at 595 South Logan, here in Denver, I am to move to Fayetteville, Arkansas, on December 7th to begin work with the Lord's church there. The work here has been pleasant and some progress has been made. In recent weeks several have been restored to duty, some placed membership and last Sunday three made the confession and were baptized. We are looking forward to a good work with the Fayetteville church. Correspondents please note change of address. Our new mailing address will be Box 84, Fayetteville, Ark.

G. L. Mann, Fayette, Alabama, December 1: The Lord's work here is in good shape and growing. A man and his wife were baptized last Sunday night.

Cleon Lyles, Little Rock, Arkansas December 1: Four were baptized and three placed membership the past two Sundays at the Downtown church (Sixth at Izard). Contributions for November averaged $1,755.00 per Sunday.

Elbridge B. Linn, 1903 University Avenue, Austin, Texas, December 7: Yesterday two were baptized and four placed membership here. In November, three placed membership, one was restored, and two were baptized at University Avenue congregation.

James Mathews, Bartlesville, Oklahoma: Central Christian College's annual lectures will be held March 29 through April 1, according to L. R. Wilson, president. The theme of the entire program will be, "The Pre-eminence of Christ in All Things." Speakers and individual subjects will be announced soon. Plan now to attend.

Mrs. Ella Davis, Fairlie, Texas: If you aid the church with donations, we would appreciate any amount. We are a few women and two men. We have put in new floors, roof, windows, doors, sheet rock and new ceiling. We owe four hundred dollars on the inside yet. The outside would cost five hundred and fifty dollars, which amount we may have to leave off for a while. We would thank you for any donation to the church of Christ.

Durward Boggs, 7825 Hillard Drive, Dallas, Texas, December 4: The Lord's church here at Pleasant Grove is putting forth efforts to go forward with the Lord. Plans are being made for the year ahead. Prospects are bright. Truly the harvest is ready in this area if we will only work we will reap many souls for him. We had two families to unite with us by membership and two individuals to confess sins during November. We lost two families so there is no change in our number. Pray for us that we may work that which is well-pleasing to the Lord, and visit us when in this area.

A. E. Wickham, Roscoe, Ohio, December 3: Last Lord's day we had two splendid audiences at the East Main Street church in this city. "Bombs in the Camps of Russellites and Jehovah's Witnesses" are being sent far and near. These people are working, and we must work. This book is dread by these people as it contains "bombs" that exploded in their camps when I had to meet some of their strongest men in public debates. Ten cents each or 12 or $1.00; "Christ's Will and Its Contestants" for 25 cents each or cheaper in lots.

E. C. McKenzie, Box 1164, Montgomery, Alabama, December 3: Within the past three weeks the Catoma Street congregation has lost two of its elders by death. They were brethren Elly R. Barnes and R. L. Douglas. Both of these men were godly in their daily living, humble in spirit, rich in faith, and fair and impartial in their judgments and decisions. They served their congregation long and well. For us to fill their places, as elders, will be next to impossible. Brother Barnes was an educator of renown for more than fifty years. Brother Douglas was a business executive and had been associated with one company forty-four years, his entire mature life. In the passing of these two beloved brethren, this congregation has been struck the most shocking blow in its long, eventful history.

B. E. Bawcom, 926 North "C" Street, Arkansas City, Kansas, November 21: Harmon Black of Detroit closed a fine meeting here November 15 with two baptisms. Four other confessions of sin since the meeting ended.

Truman E. Spring, Corpus Christi, Texas, December 1: I am now back with my local work after conducting a meeting in Hartford, Connecticut. The meeting was well attended; many contacts with outsiders were made, and one lady (a former Catholic) was baptized. When visiting Corpus Christi, you are cordially invited to worship with us at the Hillcrest congregation.

Frank L. Smith, 10th and Bell, Shawnee, Oklahoma, December 1: I enjoyed a good meeting with the Pike's Peak church in Colorado Springs the last part of October. One was baptized and one restored. Glenn E. Green works with this good church. Our meeting with Brother Eugene Brewer resulted in two baptisms and three restorations. Brother Brewer did a fine work in his preaching. Two have been baptized since the meeting. Our Bible classes are at an all time high in attendance.

Edward J. Craddock, 1714 Cass Street, Nashville 8, Tennessee, December 2: The four-Sunday joint meeting by the churches of Christ in Canton, Ohio, where Brother Edward White and Brother James Eaton labor, was extended an extra week by special interest. There were seventeen baptisms and eight restorations. There were several open sessions held by the public request and attended by more than 100 at a time. I am now in a good meeting with the Southeast Church of Christ, Akron, Ohio, with eighteen special confessions to date.

Eugene A. Pitts, 304 Mamie Street, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, December 1: One was baptized last week. Last month we began a daily radio broadcast on station WFOR—1400 kilocycles.

Herbert L. Newman, 559 West Mariposa Drive, San Antonio, Texas, -December 7: Eight placed membership with the West Avenue church, Sunday. When in San Antonio, visit us at West Avenue and Sherwood Drive. The Highland and West Avenue congregations are conducting a radio program every Sunday morning on KMAC, 630 kc, from 8:15 to 8:30.

Granville Jones, Box 364, Stinnett, Texas, December 3: Since writing to you last, there have been nine baptisms, nineteen restorations and three to identify themselves with this congregation, making a total of 31 added to the working forces here, for which we praise and thank God. We are planning to begin construction in the next two or three weeks, six new class rooms, and to enlarge the auditorium. When driving through the high plains of Texas, worship with us.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Ky. Ave., Paducah, Kentucky, November 30th: Large crowds, good interest, one identified and one restored yesterday at Clements Street. One great feature of the work here is the teaching program including a Monday through Friday broadcast over Radio Station WPAD. It is widely heard and we have knowledge of two recently being baptized as a result. The three years with this great congregation have been almost phenomenal. Most every phase of the work has increased 150 per cent.

Leon Savage, San Angelo, Texas, December 2: I recently returned from Twin Falls, Idaho, where I was in a very interesting meeting with the church in that city. Brother Billy H. Patterson is the local evangelist. One was baptized during the meeting. During my absence the congregation secured Brother J. W. Roberts and Brother Otto Foster to speak for them. Four were added by membership during that time. The work at Santa Rita is most pleasant. The future looks bright. We would be happy to have you visit with us when you are in San Angelo. Also, if you have any relatives in Goodfellow Field, we would be happy to have information regarding them.

Charles E. Parker, 711 Blackworth, Miami, Oklahoma, November 30: One was added to our forces by membership during November. The gospel meeting at Leedey, Oklahoma, November 16-25, resulted in one baptism. We hope other good was done. Brother Bill DaVee is doing a good work there. They have splendid facilities and the best location in the city. I am sure this will continue to be a fine church.

R. H. Bankes, Jr., 1331 East Eleventh, Shawnee, Oklahoma, November 23: Yesterday brought to a close a very successful gospel meeting at the East Main church. Brother Perry B. Cotham did the preaching. Seven were baptized, one placed membership, six were restored, and five of those restored also placed membership. We set a new Bible School record of two hundred and sixty-one, a new contribution record of $350.65 and at the final service of the meeting we had the largest audience ever assembled. Overflowing crowds characterized each service with a great number of non-members present. A special feature of the meeting was a daily radio program on KGFF.

Ben West, Lampasas, Texas, December 2: The young men's training class, forty-two in number, led the prayer meeting last night on the subject: "Salvation, Backsliding, Restoration." 242 were present.

Ross O. Spears, Bolivar, Missouri, November 31: There were two restorations, one from the Christian Church, last Sunday and one was baptized. The work here is slowly increasing in interest and attendance. We are anxious to receive any information regarding members who may be moving into this section or anyone living here that we may need to contact.

Clifton Rogers, 3325 Fifth Street, Port Arthur, Texas: November 23: Our recent meeting here at Proctor Street with A. C. Pullias doing the preaching was in many ways one of our best. There were eight baptisms, four restorations, and many indications of souls stimulated to greater devotion in the Master's service. Brother Pullias did us real good. My November meeting at Wellington, Kansas, was my seventh and final meeting of the year. It was as enjoyable and challenging as were the other six.

Paul S. Gray, P. O. Box 573, Bowie, Texas, December 1: During November the attendance at all services has been below normal. We have lost several members recently by their moving away. Several others have moved into the community but most of them seemingly have no desire to become identified with the church here. Even though the contribution has been above normal the past month conditions generally are discouraging. One has been baptized since the last report. We are now in the last half of our second year in Texas.

Otta Johnson, 720 W. Hull, Denison, Texas, December 2: We baptized two men here last Lord's day. One of them had, at one time, studied to be a Methodist preacher. There were two other baptisms and one restoration during the month of November. On November 15, I began on my fifth year's work with the Armstrong Avenue congregation. During the past four years, we have had about 100 baptisms. Many others have either placed membership or have been restored. Our attendance has grown to where many additional chairs have to be placed in the auditorium on Sunday mornings. May all of the praise be given to the Lord.

J. Loyd Rice, Box 421, Casa Grande, Arizona, November 30: For the first time in my life yesterday I saw a church of Christ program presented over Television. I just thought what a long step from the days of the apostles until now. I just wonder what the apostle Paul would have thought if he had been given the opportunity to talk to thousands of people at one time over Television. Knowing his zeal for the Lord as we do it is not difficult to imagine. I can believe that he would have done all within his power to get on a T. V. program covering the vast expanse of the Roman Empire. It seems to be unanimously agreed among those of us who saw the program yesterday, November 29, that T. V. is far more effective than radio. We here at Casa Grande believe that the Herald of Truth program presented over the Phoenix Station will aid our work here in this city. Therefore we feel that we should do a little bit financially, and much praying and talking and working to help make it a success. Personally I feel it a privilege to join hands with my brethren around the world in a great united effort to sound out the glad tidings that Jesus saves.

Stoy Pate, Memphis, Tennessee, November 23: In the past seventy days we have baptized fifty-two, restored eight, and we have had forty to place membership. That makes two hundred and thirty that have responded in the second year of our work in our new building. The most of these have come as a result of personal work or preaching from "house to house." "We thank God and take courage."

Church of Christ for the Deaf, 1500 Newton, Street, Austin, Texas, November 23: We have just closed a 10-day meeting with one baptism. Brother Gordon Crocker from Amarillo, Texas, did the preaching in the sign language, and Brother Don Stone interpreted for the hearing. As far as is known to us this is the first gospel meeting conducted in this manner and indeed was a fine meeting. Brother Crocker brought plain and forceful sermons each night and many of the deaf heard the gospel of Christ for their first time. We have great hopes through this zealous preaching. There will be more confessions of our Lord and Christ in the near future. All people that attended these services were inspired to a greater work of love.—C. J. HARCROW, SR.

Paul McClung, 1703 Speedway, Wichita Falls, Texas: During the last five weeks fifty-nine have responded to the invitation at 10th and Broad. Thirty-five have been baptized, sixteen restored, and eight placed membership. Sixteen of the baptisms were during our recent meeting with Raymond Kelcy doing the preaching. Fourteen of these baptized are men stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base, and all of the others are mature people with the exception of two or three young people. While at this writing I do not know the religious background of all who were baptized, two had been Catholic, three Lutheran, four Methodist, six Baptist, two members of the Christian Church, and one or two members of the Holiness Church. The church here has definitely taken on new life and we believe the future is very bright. My recent meeting at Tullia, Texas, resulted in three baptisms. Brother Wilburn Dennis is doing a good work there.

Layton L. Hall, 821 So. 20th Street, Mt. Vernon, Illinois, December 2: There have been three baptized and one restored at the Cherry Street Church of Christ in Mt. Vernon the past two weeks. (The Christian Church in this town goes by the name Church of Christ.) We are having our little building about full again at both services on Lord's days now after eleven families moved away last spring. Our mid-week Bible study attendance varies from about sixty to ninety-eight. Our membership is about one hundred. Our radio program over WMIX, Mt. Vernon, is getting a good reception among the sick and non-church going people at 1105 A.M. each Sunday. Our building is located at 2416 W. Cherry Street. When passing this way, worship with us. If you have friends or relatives in or near Mt. Vernon, who do not attend worship, please send me their names and addresses that I may contact them.

Max T. Neel, 5651 McCormick, Houston 23, Texas, December 2: Last Sunday brought three more added to our number here at Lawndale. One asked for the prayers of the church. The Wednesday night before, one was restored and placed membership, and after the Ladies Class this week, a lady who became dissatisfied with her baptism was baptized. We praise Jehovah for his goodness.

C. E. McGaughey, 1318 N. E. 38th Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, December 4: The meeting at Spring and Blaine in St. Louis resulted in four baptisms, fourteen restorations and four to place membership. At Commerce Street in Gainesville, Texas, 12 were baptized, eleven restored, and two placed membership. At present I am in an encouraging meeting with North Boulevard church, Murfreesboro, Tennessee. My last meeting of the year will be at Mountain Home, Arkansas.

Chester L. Hewitt, P. O. Box 182, Ritzville, Washington: Having just recently moved here to try to establish a New Testament church in this county seat town we are anxious to locate any members who may be living in or near Ritzville, or anyone we may call on. If you know of anyone we may contact, please write us. So far we have only contacted two members. Ritzville is a town of about 2500 population. It is the county seat of Adams County, and is located on two main highways in a rich farming country. The nearest congregation is at Moses Lake, Washington, forty-five miles away. As we are starting without members to help who live here, and with very little financial support, we will greatly appreciate an interest in the prayers of all Christians and any other support anyone cares to give. I am under the eldership of the congregation meeting at Cascade and Lewis Streets, Wenatchee, Washington.

TRACTS WANTED—Countless thousands of good tracts could and should be passed out in this area. If you have any good ones lying around idle, or if you have type already set up for printing tracts, please send them to me right away. About a month ago I decided I just had to have some good tracts. I tried to think of the busiest church and preacher in the brotherhood, for I figured I could most likely get tracts from them. So I wrote Norvel Young who doesn't know me and immediately got 1,000 very neat and good tracts. Brother Young also sent me some copies of the Twentieth Century Christian. This little book is a very scholarly work and about as neat as I have seen. If you know of a real busy church, let me know and I will write them for some more tracts.—JESSE LEWIS, Hammond, Indiana, 6243 Delaware.

Ralph R. Givens, 555—12th Street, Yuma, Arizona, December 2: During November six were baptized, and four restored.

LeRoy W. Thompson, 1720 Brown Street, Bakersfield, California, November 31: Our work here with East Bakersfield church is very pleasant indeed. We have been here almost five years and the church has grown steadily all along. Through November there have been eleven baptisms, two restorations and three identifications. Would like to arrange three or four meetings during this coming summer.

J. Loyd Rice, Box 421, Casa Grande, Arizona, November 30: We always face dangers of digression in our efforts to make progress. We cannot be too careful to keep out human creeds, dogmas, and ideas in the fundamentals of our teachings. All I know is what the brethren report, and from reports there are those among us who are drifting away from the old paths. They must be marked plainly, and straightened out, or withdrawn from. On the other hand there are those among us who are dragging their feet. They remind me of the Israelites at the Red Sea, they are afraid to go forward, for fear they might be drowned in the sea. They are so afraid of digression that they oppose everything that tends toward progress. I hear of some who oppose our colleges, our orphan homes, and our cooperative radio, and now T. V. programs. There is a great door opened to us now to preach the gospel by T. V., and I hear that some of our good preachers want to close that door. In our contentions against each other I fear we forget our great purpose. There is so much to do, and so little time, that we need to throw our whole weight into the united effort to encircle the globe with the word of truth. Listen to the voice of God from out the long ago, saying: "Speak to the Children of Israel that they go forward."

Sermon: Dec. 20, "The Bible and The Spade."

Earl K. Anthony, 4501 Richmond Avenue, Austin, Texas, November 30: Fifteen placed membership including two to be restored and place membership at Leander November 29th. I am planning to hold meetings all of next summer. I still have openings in my schedule for those wishing to engage me.

O. H. Tabor, 1506—24 Place, Lubbock, Texas: The Lubbock Bible School that began September 28, came to a close last Monday evening, November 30, with the best attendance on record. Classes were well attended throughout the school, and many people came from distant places. Over thirty congregations were represented in the school. Fourteen teachers took part in the school this year. Brother Mont Whitson, Director of the Texas Tech. Bible Chair, under whose direction the school was conducted, is to be commended for his fine work in arranging such a course of study. The people of Lubbock and vicinity are looking forward to 1954, when the Lubbock Bible School will open again. We are looking forward to even a better school in 1954.

Wayne Hargrove, Houston 21, Texas, December 2: One was baptized and one placed membership here at MacGregor Park last Sunday, making sixty additions (including thirteen baptisms) in the last fifty-six days. Our 1954 budget has been set at $1057 per week. Our membership is now 371. Eleven new deacons recently have been appointed.

L. L. Gieger, Tyler, Texas, December 5: The churches in Tyler began a television program over the local station, KETX-TV, channel 19, on Sunday afternoon, December 13. The present time is 4:45 to 5:00 in the afternoon. This station covers the central section of East Texas and is to have a connection with the cable at a later date and be an NBC outlet. All the work here seems to be progressing. About one-third of the members of the West Erwin congregation started a new work in the South section of the city two and a half years ago and our building is again filled and with chairs in the aisles each Lord's day for worship. God is good to us and we want him to have the praise for the development that is evidenced.

O. C. Hartsell, 612 Elm Street, Minden, Louisiana, December 3: Recently the churches of Christ in radius of 40 miles of Minden gathered up more than $1,000 worth of used clothing to be sent along with the clothing collected by the Minden church to one of the churches of Christ in Korea. The clothing is on the way and should reach these brethren by Christmas. This is Christianity in action. I see in the religious papers much of this being done by the churches of Christ everywhere. On the 4th Lord's Day night Dixie Inn church of Christ closed a series of gospel meetings in which brethren Elmer Gobels, Otis Rowe, Adrain DeLukie and myself did the preaching. Last night Brother DeLukie and the congregation of Evergreen met with us in a song service. Also, Brother Gobels and the Dixie Inn church came to enjoy the service with us. The elders with the congregation here plan a series of gospel meetings soon. We still owe quite a bit on our preacher's home. There is a lot we need to do, plenty to keep us busy till our spirits go back to God who gave them. Yes, in the kingdom there is no place for idlers.

Today the harvest is white and the gleaners are few. Macedonian calls are coming thick and fast. Many are answering these calls and the churches of our Lord are marching on. Denominationalism is surely losing its grip on mankind. It is either modernism or Christianity. It is either infidelity or divinity. No middle ground to stand on. Let the gospel message of our Lord ring around the globe. Only the Lord Jesus Christ can bring us out of chaos and plant our feet upon solid ground. The testimony of the two witnesses cannot be impeached. The tirade and criticisms of the word of the Lord labor in vain. Might as well try to destroy the Father, the Son on his right hand, and the Holy Spirit who inspired the writers of the Old and New Testament as to try to destroy the Scriptures which have been preserved and kept until now in spite of all the opposition hurled at the word of the Lord.

Robert Gordon Clement, 701 North Fourth Street, Marlow, Oklahoma, December 1: The Lord continues to bless our efforts. The church was greatly strengthened by the truth proclaimed by C. Dale Brooks of Sunset Ridge in San Antonio, Texas, during the meeting November 15-25. At the request of the bishops, he preached on Christian living for the morning services and upon the uniqueness of the church of the New Testament in the present denominational world, stressing the demands this made up members of the church to maintain its unique position. The sinners were instructed and the church edified. You would do well to secure his services in a similar series of lessons. Before the meeting, three consecutive Sunday morning lessons were given to a discussion of our privilege of stewardship. We are encouraged that during the month three were baptized into Christ, two erring members restored to usefulness, and that the contribution averaged an increase of 26% over previous months. Worship with us when in south central Oklahoma.

Robert R. Price, 336—30th Street, Richmond, California, December 5: It has been some time since we made a report of our work to the papers, but we have not been idle. On October 4th of this year I closed twelve years and nine months work with the congregation located at 309—36th Street in this city. Over two thousand persons responded to the invitation since we came here to work this congregation. We have always considered this to be one of the best churches on the West Coast. They now have four buildings on one of the leading streets of the city. A Bible School building, janitor's home, an auditorium which will seat a thousand people, and a nice well furnished apartment for the preacher. Brother Loyd C. Moyer is now preaching for this congregation. Brother Moyer came here from San Leandro where he did an outstanding work for the cause. He should do as well here if not better. Another congregation has been established in the city at 1430 Nevin Avenue; I shall preach for and work with this new congregation. We have our home here which is located at 336—30th Street, Richmond, California. Our friends and correspondents should note this change of our address from 309—36th Street to the new address given above.

Our Departed

SOLSBERY—A. L. Solsbery, 73, a resident of Lynn county since 1906, died at 1:40 p. m. Sunday, September 6.

Alonzo L. (Lonnie) Solsbery was born at Round Rock, Williamson county, on October 10, 1879. In early childhood, he moved to San Saba. He was married to Miss Etta Samford on September 27, 1906, and two days later they arrived in Lynn county to make their home. His first wife is deceased. He was married to Mrs. Dora Lee Murrah August 5, 1945.

Mr. Solsbery became a member of the Church of Christ in young manhood, and remained faithful until death.

He is survived by his wife, three sons and six daughters; four brothers, six sisters, one step-son, three step-daughters, and twenty-five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Tahoka Church of Christ, with Minister Doyle Keley officiating. Burial followed in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of Stanley-Jones Funeral Home.

Two sisters, Mrs. Nennie Burnett and Mrs. Jack Cavanaugh and her husband, all of Baltinger, attended the funeral services.

McDONALD—Hattie Belle Rainwater McDonald was born February 15, 1884, in central Texas and grew to womanhood in that state. She obeyed her Lord early in life and became a member of his church; and to that calling was faithful until the end of the way. Her passing came late in the evening of September 2, 1953 in the hospital at Fayette, Ala.

On Dec. 31, 1902, she became the wife of Hal P. McDonald. After ten or twelve years of both teaching and attending schools in their native state of Texas, they came to Henderson, Tenn., and spent some two or three years in Freed-Hardeman College under the presidency of A. G. Freed. In the summer of 1916, they moved to Alabama, and Brother McDonald became the president of Alabama Christian College at Berry, Ala.

The writer of this notice became a student in that College in 1919 and was there through 1921. Sister McDonald was a teacher in some of my classes. We were closely associated together as teacher and student; and there friendship was formed that only death could sever.

After I was married she and my wife soon became the very closest of friends. She visited often in our home and there they spent many happy hours together. Our children grew up to know and love her as one of the purest and sweetest of all the earth.

No finer character ever lived upon this earth. Her passing will leave her husband very lonely. The church has lost a faithful member and her community one of its very finest citizens. Yes, we sorrow, but not as those who have no hope. For really

"There is no death we fall asleep,
To waken where we never weep.
We close our eyes to grief and pain
Our breath ebbs out while life flows in."

The funeral was conducted by Brother Tim Walker of Dallas, Texas, on Friday, September 5, and her body was placed in the cemetery at Pine Tree, near Longview, Texas, by the side of her father and mother.

Charles M. Adams, 1010 NW 97th, Oklahoma City 14, Oklahoma, December 2: The cause of Christ continues to grow in every good way here. Seven have been added to this congregation during the month of November. I have time for one meeting in 1954, preferably in Missouri.

Homer A. Utley, 901 Madison Avenue, Redwood City, California, November 23: The work here in Redwood City is going forward in a fine way. Interest in the Lord's work is growing and the attendance is gradually increasing at all services. Three were added by primary obedience yesterday. We are enjoying our work with this good church.

C. Edwin Bills, Sr., Box 178, Freer, Texas, November 27: Our fall meeting with Brother R. D. Simmons of Corpus Christi preaching closed Friday night, October 30. Interest was high and a number of outsiders came to hear the truth, with some returning. There were ten responses to the invitation: two placed membership, two members made confession of sin, three were restored to duty after some years of neglect, and three were baptized. We have high hopes that others will obey the truth in the near future. Brother Simmons declared the truth plainly and forcibly, and his preaching will continue to do us good for days to come. The writer directed the singing for the meeting. I am to hold a meeting with the church at Hebronville, Texas, beginning November 30 to last through December 6. May we all work while it is yet day.

F. B. Shepherd, 1932 Keosumoku, T. H. December 1: Our work with the Mainlanders is showing more growth at the present than that with the "Local" people. Many more difficulties are met in combatting Buddhism and Shintoism among the Chinese and Japanese. We have some very fine "Local" people. Filipinos, Koreans, Japanese, Chinese, Portuguese. A most wonderful spirit pertains among these various nationalities. Last Sunday we baptized a young matron and a young service man. These baptisms mean a lot because they bring about two fully Christian families. We have an exceedingly fine group of Christians who are not in regular attendance. Very few we know to be Christians who are not in regular attendance. Friends and parents having loved ones here in the service send us their names and addresses. But cooperate with us in urging their attendance at worship. Have them contact us immediately upon arrival. Phones are: Meeting House, 1732 Keosumoku, 67952. Personal phones: 999099 and 468102.

P. L. Manning, P. O. Box 1423, Salisbury, North Carolina, December 3: Paul T. Dumm of Charleston, South Carolina, recently closed a good meeting here at Salisbury. Outside interest was at its best. Favorable weather conditions prevailed throughout the entire period. One lady was baptized. Brother Dumm has done an excellent work in Charleston and has a fine group with which to work.

Robert G. Cook, Springhill, Louisiana: It was my privilege to work with Brother Harold V. Trimble in a meeting here with the church in Springhill beginning September 27th and continuing through October 4. Brother Trimble is a good gospel preacher. He delivers his message in a plain constructive manner, teaching the doctrine of Christ as it is revealed in the Bible. It takes eternity to reveal the good that is accomplished by this type of teaching. He is doing a good work wherever he goes. My home state is Texas, where I was born and reared and I thought it was the only state where you could find nothing to complain of. Then one day, say July 27, 1950, I moved to Hope, Ark., into a state that I had never heard much good spoken of, but to my surprise I found so many beautiful drives in the hills of Arkansas that I began to feel that I would like to live there for a long time. But as the preacher's fever is to move if and when he thinks best, on July 31, 1953, I came to Springhill, Louisiana. Of course, I had heard many rumors about the swamps of Louisiana, but I must confess that in the past three months I have witnessed some of the most beautiful sights along the highways around Springhill that it has been my lot to view thus far. If California, Florida, Oregon, or any other state can show us more different colors of leaves at one time than the number I saw last week here in the woods along our highways, they should tell it to someone who could make people believe it.

Chester Estes, Sheffield, Alabama, December 7: Brother Ira A. Douthitt, Chattanooga, Tennessee, closed a good meeting recently with the Highland Park Church. There was one baptism and one restoration. We had splendid crowds, good cooperation on the part of other congregations. We were not able to seat the people the night Brother Douthitt spoke on "Things in and around Jerusalem."

Prewitte Copeland, Georgia Christian Institute, Valdosta, Georgia, December 4: Students, patrons, and friends of the Georgia Christian Institute enjoyed a heart warming Thanksgiving program on Thanksgiving Day. Several very able speakers gave some inspiring talks on Thursday, November 26th. The theme of the program was "Let Us Give Thanks." A basket dinner was spread in the partially finished gymnasium with some two or three hundred people present. This was one of the largest crowds ever present at any Thanksgiving program of the school. Ball games were engaged in in the afternoon and the day closed with the chorus singing between two lectures, one by Brother Richard Blackman of Valdosta and another by Brother Bennett Land of Tallahassee, Florida. These lectures were held in the new church house just completed which is located across the road from the school building. The following day, November 27th, featured lectures by Georgia Christian Institute students and open house to friends closing an enlightening address from Brother E. H. Ijams of Memphis, Tennessee, explaining about the active Living Endowment Program now underway and the purposes and ideals of the school. Brother E. H. Ijams, the former president of the school now serves on the Board of Trustees.

GLIMPSES OF A SACRED LAND. By Carl F. H. Henry. W. A. Wilde Co. Boston, Mass. 1953. Pages 240. $3.50.

A stirring volume on the Holy Land. The writing is graphic, augmented by actual sight of the one writing the volume. It is a valuable contribution to one's library on the Land of Palestine. There are also chapters on England, France, Italy and countries adjacent to the Holy Land. The author attempts to give some prophetic insight to what is going on in the world. The reader may not agree with these conclusions, but whether one does or not, does not detract from the view given of the problems besetting these lands—economically, politically, sociologically and spiritually. The address at the close of the book on PAUL'S SPEECH ON MAR'S HILL is well worth the price of the book.

PELOUBET'S SELECT NOTES. By Wilbur M. Smith. W. A. Wilde Co., Boston, Mass. 1953. Pages 439. $2.75.

Wendell Winkler, Box 133, Rayville, Louisiana, December 7: Since last report four have been baptized and sixteen restored here in Rayville.

O. C. Lambert, 1309 9th Ave. S. E., Decatur, Alabama: Ten speakers from nearby congregations participated in a fine meeting on Somerville Road. Fellowship was wonderful. Crowds were fine and there were two baptisms and one restoration. This was our first meeting since entering our new building.

W. Wallace Layton, Box 10086, Houston 18, Texas: The meeting in Altus, Oklahoma, closed November 29th with five baptisms and three restorations. Attendance was excellent averaging around 1000 each night. This was like a homecoming to me having worked with this congregation from 1944 to 1947 and have been returning most every year since, either there or in adjacent communities for meetings. Brother Boyett has been with them over three years and has done an excellent work. He has moved to Pecos, Texas, leaving Altus in need of a preacher. Work here at home at the Garden Oaks congregation goes forward. We have finished a new $60,000.00 auditorium and have appointed elders and deacons recently. We have had 96 additions here in the last twelve months. 20 of these were baptisms.

Here is the 80th volume on the International Bible Lessons for 1954 by a ripe Bible scholar. This volume is complete in every detail containing colored maps, full-page reproductions of paintings, a bibliography, a comprehensive index, and this year a listing of Audio-Visual Aids which can be used with the lesson in hand. Friends of ours may order their copies of these and other books from the Firm Foundation Publishing Company, Austin 77, Texas.

THE LIFE OF MRS. E. G. WHITE. By D. M. Canright. Published by B. C. Goodpasture, 932 Caldwell Lane, Nashville 4, Tenn. 1953. Pages 291. $3.00.

The author of Seventh Day Adventism Renounced, has given us a companion volume on the life of the founder of Seventh Day Adventism. This is a reprint which was first published back in 1919. This is a "must" for those who are confronted with this error. No preacher or Bible student should be without it. Brother Goodpasture has rendered the brotherhood an invaluable contribution in bringing this from the press again. Our friends may order from the Firm Foundation Publishing House, Box 77, Austin, Texas.

COLORED PREACHER DECIDES TO GIVE UP GOVERNMENT JOB TO GIVE FULL TIME TO THE GOSPEL

Doyle Banta

Berry Minor who is presently preaching for the Church of Christ in Helena, Ark., and County Agricultural Agent with the Extension Service, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has decided to give up that position which he has held for ten years in order to give his full time to the preaching of the gospel. Brother Minor is a graduate of Cotton Plant, Arkansas, High School; Mary Allen College, Crockett, Texas; received his B.S. degree from Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama. He is former Principal of Gordo High School, Gordo, Alabama, and faculty member of Tuskegee Institute. He has been preaching part time for the church in Helena while performing his duties as Extension Agent. Brother Minor is married to a fine wife and they have two children. He is thirty-six years of age. His wife is a graduate of Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Arkansas, and is teaching in the Helena school system. He desires full time work with some congregation in need of a preacher. They are willing to sacrifice their jobs in order to be of greater service to the Lord. Brother Minor has much ability, is clean in life, loyal to the Truth and a good personal worker as well as pulpit speaker. He can be reached at his home at 1140 College Street, Helena, Arkansas. I have worked with Brother Minor for more than three years. He has done much for the colored people of this area. The colored church in Helena is small and unable to support a man full time. Since he has his home here, it would be fine if some church could support him full time and let him stay right in this county. He is willing to do it. This would be a logical place since he has lived here several years and has the respect of the colored and white population. There are thousands of colored people in this county with only one small church. Why doesn't some good church support him here in this mission field? If in need of a good man, then contact him. If you desire other information, then contact me.

THINGS TO CONSIDER . . .

W. M. DAVIS

The Laodicean Church

The Lord said to this church, "Behold I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me" (Rev. 3:20).

An ingenious artist painted a picture of this scene. The door was closed tightly. The hinges were rusty. Poison ivy was growing over the door. Christ was represented as standing before the door, knocking with his right hand and holding a candle in his left hand.

Maybe the name "Church of Christ" was written on the house of assembly at Laodicea. But Christ was on the outside. Of course the house is not the church, but the house is where the church meets. And when the church meets, if Christ is left out the service is worthless. Christ is the church to the extent that he is in the members. Paul said, "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I but Christ liveth in me" (Gal. 2:20). A church may be called the church of Christ, but if Christ is not in the members, it is not the church of Christ. Any church that crowds Christ out is not the church of Christ. The Lord does not dwell in a church that is composed of ungodly members, who are trying to worship with innovations.

Jesus stands at the door and knocks. He does not tear the door down to get in. If men hear his voice, and open the door, he will come in. He does not open the door himself. Many people let him knock in vain. If the devil knocks, they open the door and let him in.

The church of Laodicea was lukewarm. It was not hot and it was not cold. And because it was lukewarm the Lord said he would spue it out of his mouth. Lukewarmness is a mixture of religion and worldliness. It is a comfortable condition for those who live after the flesh. People like a lukewarm climate, one that never gets too hot and never gets too cold. The church at Laodicea had that kind of a climate. Zeal never did run high. If they happened to get a preacher to hold their meeting, who warmed things up, they did not invite him back for the next meeting. And when he was gone, they opened up the church to more worldliness, so it would cool off. Hot sermons would make them uncomfortable; they wanted lukewarm sermons. A sound gospel preacher did not have a hearty welcome at Laodicea.

Laodicea's Defects

No congregation is perfect, but Laodicea thought it was. It said it had need of nothing. That is a bad state of mind for professed Christians to get into. That notion marks the end of progress. When a man thinks he is as good as he needs to be, he will not try to be any better. This church said it was rich, and increased with goods, and had need of nothing. But at the same time the Lord said it was wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked, but did not know it. Where man sees virtues, the Lord sees defects. Laodicea was a commercial emporium, and the church caught the spirit of the community. The world is a spiritual refrigerator, but the church has to live in it and stay hot. Instead of the world wielding an influence over the church, the church must wield an influence over the world.

The Lord's counsel to these lukewarm church members was, "Buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see" (Rev. 3:18).

Gold tried in the fire was purged from all dross. Fire could not damage it or reduce its value. In all ages, pure gold has had a fixed value. The value of other things are determined by gold.

The gold of heaven is not subject to earthly contingencies. Rust, moth, thieves, failing banks, depression and declining stock markets do not alter its value. Spiritual riches do not fluctuate in value—they are always the same. Men do not look at the market page of the morning paper to see what faith, hope and charity are worth on the stock exchange today. Therefore, I say unto you, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through and steal."

"Remember Lot's Wife"

Basil D. Shilling

"Remember Lot's wife" (Luke 17:32).

1. These words were spoken by Jesus. In them he called attention to a person who lived almost nineteen hundred years before the time he thus spoke, and admonished at least those to whom He spoke to remember Lot's wife by way of learning therefrom a very needful and vital lesson. So let us ask: What about Lot's wife?

The Story of Lot's Wife

1. For the facts about Lot's wife we must turn back to the book of Genesis, and even there not many facts about her are given. Her name is not given, she being spoken of simply as Lot's wife. However, in the 19th chapter of Genesis there is related a very strange and unusual story concerning her, which is, doubtless, what Jesus had in mind in the above statement.

2. According to the story of Genesis 19, Lot was then living, with his family, in the city of Sodom, where he had become a rather prominent and well known citizen. But the people of Sodom were exceedingly vile, wicked and corrupt. In Genesis 13:13 we read: "But the men of Sodom were wicked and sinners before the Lord exceedingly." Because of the wickedness of the people of Sodom, God decreed the destruction of the city and its people. Perhaps, for the sake of Abraham, Lot's uncle, God desired to spare Lot and his family from the destruction. Accordingly, two angels were sent to the city to inform Lot of the impending catastrophe. Lot was told to take his family and leave the city. Lot went out to tell his son-in-law of the impending doom, but they refused to believe it. When the morning dawned the angels hastened to Lot, saying, "Arise, take thy wife and thy two daughters, which are here; lest thou be consumed in the iniquity of the city." Still Lot lingered. The angels then laid hold upon him, upon his wife and upon his two daughters and led them forth from the city, in mercy. There they were told to flee for their lives and to "look not behind thee, neither stay thou in all the plain". With the departure of Lot and his family from this wicked and vile city, God rained upon it brimstone and fire, completely destroying the city and its inhabitants. But for some cause Lot's wife failed to heed the admonition of the angels to not look back to the city as she fled, along with her husband and two daughters, for her life. The record simply says: "But his wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt" (Gen. 19:26). And no doubt this is the event or thing about Lot's wife that Jesus referred to in saying: "Remember Lot's wife". The fact that Jesus thus spoke, is evidence that he regarded this as a real occurrence—that Lot's wife actually and really turned to a pillar of salt.

Some Lessons We May Learn From Lot's Wife

1. In what happened to Lot's wife we see an example of both the goodness and severity of God. The goodness, mercy and kindness of God was manifested and demonstrated in sending the two angels to the doomed city to tell Lot of the destruction that was to fall upon it, and thereby permit them to escape from the city to avoid perishing along with all others in the awful destruction. Had not God sent the angels to tell Lot, he and his family would have perished. But in the turning of Lot's wife into a pillar of salt when she disobeyed the commandment of God by looking back, we see a demonstration of the severity of God.

(1). Men should carefully consider both the goodness and the severity of God. To these characteristics of God or, perhaps, more correctly, the nature of his dealing with men, the Apostle Paul called attention, saying: "Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God . . ." (Rom. 11:22), pointing out a particular example thereof. Speaking of some of the examples of the severity of God, the Apostle Peter explained that they are intended as examples to deter men from living ungodly. Here are his words: "For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved into judgment; and spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing the flood upon the world of the ungodly; and turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes condemned them with an overflow, making them an example unto those that after should live ungodly" (2 Peter 2:4-6). It is true that God is a God of unfailing mercy and immeasurable love and great lovingkindness. But God is also a God of severity. He will surely punish men for living ungodly. He will punish men for disobeying his commandments. So far as we can determine, Lot's wife violated only one commandment of God—His commandment to not look back as she fled from the doomed city. Yet she was turned into a pillar of salt. Hence, in the words of the inspired writer, ". . . we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. For if the word spoken by the angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation . . .?" (Heb. 2:1-3).

2. We learn from a consideration and remembrance of Lot's wife that some of God's commandments may seem rather peculiar and strange, from a human viewpoint. From a human point of view, what could be more peculiar and strange than for Lot and his family to not look back upon the doomed city? I suppose that as they left the city, they left with sad and heavy hearts, because they were leaving behind some members of the family—at least the son-in-law who refused to believe the city would be destroyed, and if their wives were still living, then the daughters of Lot and his wife. The members of the family left behind would surely suffer the destruction that was to fall upon the city. It would seem only natural that love for the members of the family thus left to perish would cause them to want to look back, wondering, "Are they still alive? Has the fire fallen upon the city yet?" But just the same, and despite all this, God commanded them to not look back.

(1). In this connection we might observe that other commandments which God has given men from time to time seem equally peculiar and strange from a human point of view. What could be more peculiar and strange than God's commandment to Moses to make a brazen serpent and attach it to a pole for the Israelites to look upon in order to be healed of the bite of poisonous snakes? Yet this is what God commanded. See Numbers 21:8,9. What could be more peculiar and strange than God's commandment to Naaman to wash himself seven times in the Jordan River in order to be cured of leprosy? Even Naaman thought it was so strange that he became angry and started to go home without doing it. See 2 Kings 5:1-14. And what is more peculiar and strange than God's commandment for all men to be baptized in the name of Christ for the remission of sins? Like Naaman, many today think it is so peculiar and strange that they refuse to believe and do it. But it is God's commandment, nevertheless. See Mark 16:16, Acts 2:38, Acts 22:16 and 1 Peter 3:21.

3. We learn from a remembrance of Lot's wife that God requires strict obedience to his commandments, regardless of how strange and peculiar they may seem. Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt because she disobeyed God's commandment to not look back. So far as we can understand, there was nothing wicked, ungodly, immoral or unjust in her looking back. Her looking back would not make her guilty of injustice, gross wickedness or immorality. Yet she must not look back. Violation of this one commandment cost her life. God requires strict obedience of man. Many are the examples of the Old Testament which further demonstrate this vital truth. How supremely important then that we be careful and diligent to keep all of God's commandments! Dare we, then, neglect to study God's word; to abound in the work of the Lord; to worship the Lord and observe the Lord's Supper in memory of Christ; to lay by in store upon the first day of the week as we are prospered; to abound in love; to do good to all men as we have opportunity? These, and many more, things, God has commanded us to do.

4. We learn from a remembrance of Lot's wife that obedience to God must be placed above family relationships. While we are not told what prompted Lot's wife to look back, it seems reasonable and natural to suppose that she had in mind members of the family who had been left behind. If she was a normal woman, she was concerned about them. If her concern for them is what prompted her to look back, then it can be said that concern for her family caused her to disobey God. But it cost her her life. We knew that obedience to God must be placed above family relations also because Jesus said: "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me; he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me" (Matt. 10:37). It happens not infrequently that a person must turn his back upon the religious teaching given by his father and mother and upon the religious body or church in which they have brought him up if he is to obey the gospel of Christ. Some hesitate to do so. But he who hesitates is unworthy of the Lord. Yea, he who refuses so to do cannot be saved. Loyalty to father and mother is proper and right, so long as one can thereby obey God and do his will. But loyalty to father and mother at the expense of disobeying God and failing to do his will is never proper nor right. Peter said: "We ought to obey God rather than men" (Acts 4:29). No person should ever hesitate—to say nothing of refusing—to obey the gospel of Christ and be a Christian only and only a Christian because to do so would mean forsaking the religious training and the denominational body in which he was reared. Paul was brought up by a father who was a Pharisee, and who trained him to be a Pharisee. He was exceedingly zealous in the practice of what he had been taught was proper and right. But one day he learned that the things he had been taught, and which his father before him believed, were not right. Without hesitation he turned his back upon Phariseism and obeyed the gospel. I wonder what his father thought and did, if he was living then.

The Great Salvation

J. C. Choate

"Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward; How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him" (Heb. 2:1-3).

There are two types of salvation in the present world. First, we might think of physical blessings in terms of salvation. For instance, when a person is near death and recovers by a new drug, then, we might think of such as a physical salvation. A person might be saved from drowning, sorrows, distress, etc. Second, there is a spiritual salvation. This type of salvation deals with the soul. Many believe that there are many kinds of salvation in connection with saving the soul. Yet, the Bible teaches that there is but one great salvation. (Heb. 2:3; John 14:6). Now, the world may believe that there are many salvations, but, the world is in error on the matter.

From the above statements the definition of salvation should already be understandable. Salvation has reference of being saved from something. Hence, we suggested a physical salvation in that a person may be saved from various things physically. We also suggested a spiritual salvation in that a person is saved from past sins upon obedience to God. (Acts 2:38; Mk. 16:16). There is but one salvation spiritually speaking.

The Bible has a great deal to say about salvation. As a matter of fact, the Bible deals primarily with the salvation of mankind. First, let us notice salvation from the Old Testament standpoint. Notice, that the Old Testament deals with both physical and spiritual salvation.

1. Salvation of the Lord. "And Moses said unto the people, Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord, which he will shew to you today: for the Egyptians whom ye have seen today, ye shall see them again no more forever" (Ex. 14:13). "Ye shall not need to fight in this battle: set yourselves, stand ye still, and see the salvation of the Lord with you, O Judah and Jerusalem: fear not, nor be dismayed; tomorrow go out against them: for the Lord will be with you" (2 Chron. 20:17).

2. The Lord wrought salvation in Israel. "And Saul said, There shall not a man be put to death this day: for today the Lord hath wrought salvation in Israel" (1 Sam. 11:13). "For he did put his life in his hand, and slew the Philistine, and the Lord wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and didst rejoice: wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?" (1 Sam. 19:5).

3. Salvation belongeth to the Lord. "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

4. The Salvation of the righteous is of the Lord. "But the salvation of the righteous is of the Lord: he is their strength in the time of trouble" (Psalms 37:39).

These scriptures deal with salvation greatly in a physical sense. God was with the people of Israel. Many battles were won through the direction of God. At the same time the people of Israel were commanded to follow the law. (Ex. 20).

Now we turn to the days of Christ. The Lord came into this low land of sin and sorrow to save a lost world. (Lk. 19:10; John 3:16, 17). Christ died on the cross, was buried, arose from the grave, and ascended to the Father in heaven to assure salvation. (Matt. 27, 28; Acts 1).

The New Testament has a great deal to say about salvation. Notice the following points:

1. Salvation in the name of Christ. "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

2. The Gospel is the power of God unto salvation. "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Rom. 1:16).

3. Confession is made unto salvation. "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Rom. 10:10).

4. Godly sorrow worketh repentance unto salvation. "For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death" (2 Cor. 7:10).

5. The helmet of salvation. "And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God" (Eph. 6:17).

6. Work out your own salvation. "Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling" (Phil. 2:12).

7. The grace of God bringeth salvation. "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men" (Tit. 2:11).

8. The Great salvation. (Heb. 2:3).

9. Author of eternal salvation. "Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered; and being made perfect he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb. 5:8, 9).

Now, let us make a list of the reasons why this salvation is so great.

1. Given by God through Christ. (1 Tim. 4:10; John 3:16).

2. A simple salvation. (Isa. 35:8).

3. Saves from all sin. (1 John 1:7).

4. Saves from eternal punishment. (2 Thess. 1:7-9).

5. Brings eternal life. (Rom. 6:23).

6. This salvation is for all. (Mk. 16:16; Matt. 11:28-30).

Surely from this study, we can understand the importance and greatness of salvation. Therefore, let us not neglect our salvation.

The Second Coming of Christ

Cecil R. Wright

(Concluded from issue of December 8)

None of the foregoing passages could refer to the end of time or the second personal coming of Christ, for they have not come yet, and thus were not at hand then. And the apostle Paul makes that clearer still by penning these striking words: "Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and our gathering together unto him, that ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand. Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first" (2 Thess. 2:1-3). And then he went on to describe a great apostasy that was to develop, for at least one thing, before the coming of Christ and our gathering together unto him could be expected. That apostasy did develop in the centuries that followed, and is greatly in evidence even now. Time and history have proved Paul to be correct. The personal return of Christ was not then at hand, though his impersonal coming in providence to relieve Jewish persecution was not very far off.

But when the Lord is coming back in person, Paul did not say. Neither did any other Bible writer. The reason is that they did not know. And no man knows today. His return will be as the coming of a thief in the night—that is, it will not be heralded, but will be when least expected. "But as the days of Noah were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away so shall also the coming of the Son of man be." This is the language of Jesus himself in Matt. 25:37-39, in connection with the statement that "of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels in heaven, but the Father only." So, again we must say that those who declare that they know Jesus is coming back to earth soon are false prophets. He may come soon, and he may not. But we do know that he is coming some time, and we also know pretty well what will take place when he comes, for the Bible tells us that. So, before closing, let us look into that particular point.

Events at Christ's Second Personal Coming

For one thing, Christ will take the righteous unto himself. Said he, "I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (Jno. 14:3). Said Paul, he will "appear the second time . . . unto salvation" (Heb. 9:27). But at the same time he saves the righteous he will also destroy the wicked. We read this: that "the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power; when he shall come to be glorified in his saints" (2 Thess. 1:7-10). At that time "the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the arch-angel, and with the trump of God: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord" (1 Thess. 4:17, 18). Yet not only will the righteous dead be raised, but the wicked also; "for the hour is coming, in which all that are in the graves shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation" (Jno. 5:28, 29). Also: "When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats: and he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left. Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: . . . Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels: . . . And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal" (Matt. 25:31-46). "Then cometh the end, when he"—that is, Christ—"shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all rule and all authority and power. For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet. The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death" (1 Cor. 15:24-26). And finally: "But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, and the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up" (2 Pet. 3:10).

Summary

Now, summarizing, here is what we have described in the Scriptures as taking place when Christ comes in person the second time: (1) The resurrection of both the righteous and the wicked; (2) the judgment of both the righteous and the wicked; (3) the righteous received into everlasting life and the wicked banished into everlasting punishment; (4) Christ turning the kingdom back to the Father—not just the establishing it, and reigning one thousand years—but turning it back to the Father after having reigned ever since going back to heaven following his first advent; and, lastly, the end, with this old world set on fire and burned up. Think what a terrible occasion for the damned, yet what a glorious one for the righteous! Are you ready for that day to come? What if it were today? Would you be prepared?

OTA FELLOWSHIP MEETING

Logan J. Fox

November 3rd in Japan is now celebrated as Culture Day although it's really the birthday of Emperor Meiji and was celebrated as such until the American occupation. The church in Ibaraki, however, used this holiday as an opportunity for getting together and enjoying Christian fellowship. The church at Ota was host since their building is the largest we have, seating 300 people.

The meeting in every respect was inspiring and encouraging. The house was completely filled with representatives from over half of the thirty-five congregations in Ibaraki and a sizable group from Tokyo. The speaker for the day was Brother Ed Brown from Tokyo and his sermon entitled "What Will You Do With Jesus?" was impressive and caused much soul searching. In the afternoon there was a discussion period on the theme, "The Independence of the Japanese Churches." Brethren Nagano and Baggett made brief introductory talks which were followed by an unusually spirited discussion in which everyone seemed eager to participate.

Questions About "Herald of Truth" Answered

Glenn L. Wallace

A recent article in this paper, signed by my brother, Logan Buchanan, is an obvious answer to certain questions recently raised in connection with the operation of the "Herald of Truth." I sincerely asked some questions and the summary of my good friend's reply is this:

1. The Herald of Truth does have officers outside the Highland church. He furnished the names.

2. Brother Logan says that money is collected from individuals and that Herald of Truth is a scriptural name for an organization because brethren put the names such as "The Caller," "The Way," etc., on their bulletins and because they pass the collection plate to everyone on the Lord's day.

Brother Buchanan informed me by letter that he planned to write such an article, although the original article he wrote composes only the latter part of his paper of December 15. I appreciate the sincerity of Brother Logan and I recognize him as my good brother and he also gives me the same recognition. He is one of our best preachers. According to the bulletin he sent me from the place where he preaches, he evidently had the full endorsement of the Highland elders, as one elder and one of the preachers visited with him on the week-end before his article appeared in the Firm Foundation. My only reason for raising the questions was to provoke study and to make some corrections if possible. I shall add a further word and then my part of the discussion is finished.

The opinions and conclusions expressed in this and in a former article are mine and do not necessarily reflect the conclusions of any congregation or group of elders. I assume full responsibility for what I have written. I respect the elders where I preach and submit to them. They have never tried to dictate to me what I shall preach and I do not attempt to speak for them. They are good men whose wisdom and decisions are for the peace and progress of the congregation and those who know the circumstances cannot question their actions.

Brother Logan has given us the information about the salaries of the workers in the "Herald of Truth" office and although the expenses are some greater than I had thought, I do not raise a point of scripturalness in regard to the salaries. A good elder of Highland church informs me that they contribute $600.00 per month to this undertaking and that the money is transferred each month to the "Herald of Truth" treasury. Salaries for the three leading men call for $450.00 per week and our brethren at Highland furnish enough money to pay nearly two weeks' salary. The over-all office expense for October was more than $8,000. The new budget for the year calls for one million four hundred thousand dollars and besides the above expense, a percentage of this budget must be paid to a brother in Dallas who acts as the agent for this account with the network. The above one million four hundred thousand dollars would support about 269 preachers at an ordinary salary for a year. I feel that I have the Christian right to ask: Can two men, preaching each for only six months out of the year, fifteen minutes once a week, accomplish as much as 260 preachers working full time? Please do not brand me as a crank because I ask a question about a program which I have helped to support.

What Of The Name?

My good friend has suggested that churches use such names as: "Minute-Monitor," "The Caller" and other names for their bulletins. He then asks what is wrong with a title "Herald of Truth" as used by my good brethren. If you publish the "Caller" in a community and invite people to do personal work through the "Caller," and if the "Caller" is established at a certain address, receives questions, correspondence and contributions; if the treasurer is a man who lives in another city and if the "Caller" becomes a machine over the church, then you had better kill the "Caller." We have long argued that sectarian names and machines are unscriptural. Would my brother favor the establishment of the "Christian Endeavor Union" for our young people? Would such a "Union" with officers outside of the local group be acceptable?

I believe in the heralding of the truth, but not in a "Herald of Truth" organization. I am a baptist in that I believe in baptism, but I am not a "Baptist." I believe in Christian endeavor but I cannot accept a "Christian Endeavor." My good brethren of the "Herald of Truth" advertised this past summer, and in one circular, the name "Herald of Truth" appears five times in bold face type. It is impossible to tell what church, if any, is behind the movement. We are told in this circular: "You can do personal work in connection with the 'Herald of Truth'; 'listen to the program, Herald of Truth'; and finally, 'send all correspondence to Herald of Truth.'" Would I be permitted to substitute the name "Christian Endeavor Union" in place of the above named "Herald of Truth"? I call mid-week prayer service a "prayer meeting" but I do not select officers, name a treasurer and advertise to send all contributions and questions to the "Prayer Meeting." Brother Logan, if I am wrong in this reasoning, then I am going to have to undo a lot of preaching and so will you. I have heard you preach some mighty good sermons.

A New Testament Example

Logan suggested that we have a New Testament example in the famine of ancient Judea. The saints in Judea needed help. Paul encouraged Christians to send help. They sent this help to the ELDERS. Brother Logan, for an accurate parallel, you would need to show us how the Jerusalem church CREATED A PROBLEM, how they set up the "BAND OF HOPE," and how the brains of it lived in Rome and the treasurer in Philippi. Then show us how Paul urged Christians to send all contributions to the "BAND OF HOPE," Box 999, Jerusalem. This would be more like some of the problems that face us today. I am sincere, can this be justified?

Our brother has told us that a certain church in Abilene, Texas, supports the "Herald of Truth." He concludes therefore, that there are no questions about its operation. This is strange reasoning. If I wanted to prove that sprinkling was wrong, and I suddenly found some of my brethren practicing sprinkling, I would not immediately conclude that sprinkling is right.

The brethren who sponsor the program are my neighbors and I fellowship them. There are no ill feelings between us. They will contribute .514 percent of the amount of money it takes to operate the "Herald of Truth." I question their good judgment in such an arrangement. They ask me to support it. Have I the right to ask any questions?

I should like to add some additional questions:

1. If the elders of Highland church should decide to drop the "Herald of Truth" program sponsorship, would that stop the program? It was not born in an elders' meeting. Would it not be possible for the chief brethren of the Herald of Truth to simply change membership again, find some other eldership to give oversight, and continue?

2. A great part of the present budget comes from individuals and Brother Logan says that such is scriptural and reasonable. Some of the most ardent friends of this program have carried on a solicitation campaign for it, then is it not possible that it could live in the future without EITHER the supervision of an eldership or support from churches? Brethren, the "United Christian Missionary Society" (what is wrong with this title?) started IN the churches. Today, it lives WITHOUT the churches.

3. Did any New Testament church ever create a gigantic problem and then work in mass meetings, by newspaper and pulpit and other such mediums to make it live?

4. If one or two men can create a work and find some elders to sponsor it, then has not every other preacher in the world the same right? Then, in the end, will not the man who can present the most glamorous program create the biggest machine?

5. Is an organization that is larger than a local congregation, a New Testament church?

I have expressed my sincere feelings on a problem that faces our brethren. I may suffer the fate of the ostracized, but none can accuse me of being unkind and insincere. I expressed my feelings to the Highland elders, more than a month before my first article appeared. I talked face to face with the two James; the preachers for the program. God bless them, they are fine young men. Now, if you wish to give your money to a gigantic plan to televise the gospel for fifteen minutes a week, by means of the "Herald of Truth" organization, I have nothing more to say. I simply want to honor my Lord and give him glory "in the church—forever and ever" (Eph. 3:20, 21).

I love everybody. Happy New Year and AMEN.

The Satanic Roman power had become so great that fear of inward dissension arose within itself, thus engendering the possibility that it might destroy itself, or fall of its own weight. Therefore, in order to retain the gains that had been made toward prevailing against the church, Luther was prompted to begin what was termed "the reformation movement." Satan realized that by such a movement, millions could be further deceived and placated, thereby holding and even increasing the gains that had already been made. Luther, no doubt, had no idea of restoring the truth of the gospel to the apostate world. God used him and others to translate the Bible into live languages that his word again reach the people of the world. Luther, under the domination of the Satanic apostate system was used by God as he used Pharaoh, Cyrus and other heathen kings, the dumb animal, Gamaliel and others to restrain, encourage and to chastise his people and further his cause. "He makes the wrath of man to praise him."

After the supposed dissension of Luther was found, through the prompting of the Satanic spirit, to be so favorably accepted generally, additional daughters of the great prostitute, denominational churches, were born in rapid succession that the people might be retained in deception and the Satanic plan yet prevail against the true church, and the apostasy be strengthened in that the people may have a church of their choice, thereby preventing many from searching the scriptures, finding the truth and upsetting the Satanic plan. When the Satanic power, the apostate church, found that the church had been secluded in a place prepared for her of God, it cast out of its mouth a great flood of false teaching, hoping to yet destroy the church. But, the earth, the people of the world, those who had rejected New Testament teaching opened their mouths and drank in, accepted the flood of apostate teaching and thus perpetuated the false teaching, which also begat and gave birth to all denominationalism (Rev. 17:5).

The true church was given the two wings of a great eagle to fly to a place prepared of God for her. Since the American continent is symbolized by the flying eagle, and the active restoration of the New Testament church began in reality in the U. S. A., may this not locate a portion of the place prepared of God for her? The pagan power was wrath against the church, but it was not until the development of the papal power, the apostate church, to full strength, that the true church was driven into the wilderness. The period of the seclusion of the church was from about 533 A. D. to 1793 A. D. Near the close of that period, men of God in Scotland and England began to proclaim the truth of God's word in its fullness and purity (the two witnesses began to testify openly) and contemporarily in the U. S. A. men of God began to do likewise. All declaring and pleading for the restoration of the New Testament church. Knowing every seed must bring forth after its kind, the seed of the kingdom, the word of God, if sown in the heart of men would bring forth Christians only, the same as in the beginning, the word was extensively preached in its purity and as a result, the New Testament church was restored. The principle activities of the restoration movement were transferred to the land of the flying eagle and the New Testament church was brought out of seclusion and made great inroads into the sects of the apostasy and was very favorably accepted, generally. It expanded very rapidly and greatly disturbed the apostate church itself. Through the influence of the testimony of the two witnesses, Italy itself threw off the tyrannical papal yoke, establishing universal religious toleration, wrested the papal states from the pontiff and became dominant in Rome. The pope was sheared of much of his temporal power, secluded himself in the Vatican and held no communication with the king. A similar trend prevailed in France and other countries of Europe. However, the Satanic flood waters of perverse teaching continued to be emitted; daughters of the apostasy continued to be born, and under another symbol, the Satanic spirit continued to go about as a roaring lion seeking whom it may devour by the dispensing of perverse teaching, thus preventing men from accepting the true testimony of the two witnesses as presented. The flood of false teaching from the mouth of Satan's adherents, the roar of the pernicious Satanic teaching penetrated the true church in more recent years, drawing away a large percentage of the body. Those who were not rooted and grounded in the faith, those who desired to be like the nations around them (the denominational churches), those who rather liked the leeks, onions and garlic of the Satanic bondage from whence they came, became another daughter of the apostasy, regardless of the considerable amount of truth accepted and taught by them. The same old seductive spirit is in operation throughout the world today and will continue until it shall be destroyed by the Spirit (word) of the Lord's mouth." For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater: so shall my word be that it goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void but shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the things whereto I sent it" (Isaiah 55:10-11). "Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God" (Matt. 4:4; Dan. 8:3). "Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear: For our God is a consuming fire."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

How To Be A Christian Only.

Many persons outside of the kingdom of God would like to become Christians, but they are confused by the many different sects and denominations opposing each other. Let me suggest that you can be a Christian, and only a Christian, nothing more or less. Here is a simple plan to follow:

1. Acknowledge Christ as your only Lord.

You may be tempted to acknowledge allegiance to many different religious leaders, but pass by them all and come to the feet of Jesus Christ. Confess your faith in him as the son of God; follow him alone. Peter said: "And there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

2. Obey the simple gospel of Christ only.

Paul said of the Christians at Rome: "But God be thanked, that ye were servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered unto you" (Romans 6:17). These disciples had heard the gospel of Jesus, believed in him, confessed their faith to others, and repenting had been buried with him in baptism to arise and walk a new life. (Romans 6:3, 4). If you obey the same gospel today you will not be submitting to any ordinance of men, but obeying "the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ" (2 Thessalonians 1:8).

3. Maintain your freedom as an undenominational Christian.

Those who obeyed the gospel on Pentecost did not divide into opposing sects of parties. The Lord added them to the church or kingdom or spiritual body as they obeyed Christ. (Acts 2:47). They continued in the apostles doctrine, fellowship, breaking of bread, and prayers. They accepted no creed but Christ, no rule of faith, but the inspired Word of God. So we can do today, and work together in free, local congregations for the advancement of the Cause of Christ.

4. Wear the name of Christ only.

The disciples were called Christians first at Antioch. (Acts 11:26). Religious names divide believers in Christ just as names divide in politics, or economics. For example, in our last election many life-long Democrats voted for President Eisenhower in Texas because they could vote for him under some other name than "Republican." So do not contribute to further division by accepting any name except the name of Christ. Peter said: "But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters. Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God in that name."

5. Abide in the teaching of Christ only.

Christ was given all authority. His authority is expressed to us through the apostles and the writing of the New Testament. John said: "Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son" (2 John 9). Accept no human opinion or creed. Insist on following the Word of God. Study it prayerfully. Live with Christ and love your fellow man for His sake. In this way you can be a Christian only, nothing more or less.

BRETHREN AND THE BLUEPRINT

Bill Humble

Occasionally, when reading religious papers such as this, we find a well worded phrase, a timely warning or a bit or sage advice that we feel we just must share with someone. Usually we read it to the wife or one of the brethren. In reading The Preceptor for October, I ran across an article by Bill Humble entitled The Church of Christ is Different. The last few paragraphs of this article were in my opinion the "sharing" kind, so for the benefit of other readers, I have copied these paragraphs and hereby submit them for your consideration. Thank you. — Bill Fling).

"Since the Bible does contain a blueprint for the church, we who are members of the church of Christ have a duty. This duty is to judge every item of faith, every act of worship, every religious practice by the divine pattern. (Underlined statements were in bolder type—BF) If we fail in this responsibility, then we ourselves are guilty of practicing the modernistic attitude toward the Bible. This duty explains why members of the church are concerned about religious questions which are dismissed lightly by the average denominationalist. We have regarded such questions as the action and purpose of baptism, the nature and name of the church, and instrumental music as questions of vital importance; we have preached countless sermons showing that they do make a difference. The attitude of the Methodist or Presbyterian is quite different, for he dismisses them as "insignificant" with a wave of the hand, saying, "What difference does it make anyway? It isn't what ceremonies you go through that counts; it's whether you really love the Lord."

This duty to examine every practice by the divine pattern explains also why churches of Christ are often concerned with "issues" and "problems" which would be of no concern to the denominationalist. To him our discussions are foolish and silly, they are much ado about nothing; to us they represent a determined effort to conform to the blueprint. True, brethren often conduct such discussions in the wrong spirit and attempt to win a personal victory or discredit a brother rather than determine what the will of the Lord is. Discussions conducted in such a spirit are not right, and the sectarian may justly gloat, "Those Campbellites are at one another's throat again."

Through it all, however, there is one encouraging fact. Though discussions become heated, the very fact that discussions are being carried on indicates that we still believe in the necessity of determining just what the pattern requires. If the time ever comes that we assume the "it makes no difference" attitude and discussions cease, complete harmony might result; but the peace would not be worth the price. Our cause would be lost.

A century ago brethren were involved in controversy regarding the missionary society; they were asking one another whether such an organization was included in the pattern. Though the world laughed and though division came, brethren were determined to follow the plan and follow it they did! Today another generation of like-minded brethren are again discussing the question of "how" to do missionary work. Instead of accusing one another of being "anti-missionary" or "pro-society," would it not be better to dedicate ourselves anew to answering the question, "What does the blueprint say?"—and this without bitterness, malice and hate?

When the issue of "church support to colleges" arises, why charge that one brother is against educating our children or that another is against the Lord's church? Why not rather investigate the question, "What is the Lord's way?"

"Problems" and "issues" are sometimes unpleasant, but they are not wrong; their only alternative is the "it makes no difference" attitude. Be not deceived; for when this attitude arises, our cause is lost!"

EDITORIAL

G. H. P. SHOWALTER, Editor

"FROM THE BEGINNING IT WAS NOT SO"

The Christian Standard takes notice of the fact that state conventions and missionary societies have changed with the passing years, since they had their beginning, and that now they are not what they once were. In their incipency nearly a century ago they were "free associations" of individual members and of churches, voluntary gatherings of brethren for mutual edification and for cooperation in the evangelism of their own territory, determined by certain more or less arbitrary geographical limitations or political units. But they have grown older and modified somewhat their original design and changed from their original purpose. They have deviated so far from the presumptions that implied the necessity or feasibility of their existence that "there is today a tendency (whether planned or accidental is a question) to make of the state society simply a unit in a nation-wide organization." And, the Standard editor might be reminded that this very thing was feared and forecast by good brethren nearly a century ago. A religious society larger than the local congregation is too large. The churches of Christ are divinely constituted and capacitated for the performance of any and all good work that the Lord desires and that the Lord requires. Since they are designed of heaven for this very purpose, they should go forth in the execution of their God-ordained mission in the world as the pillar and ground of the truth. Both in their group life and in their individual activities Christians are under obligation to show forth the excellencies of him who has called them out of darkness into his marvelous light. And one of the ways this is done is to be satisfied with the church as a holy and divine institution and exhibit in their faith and practice its sufficiency for the accomplishment of the will and way of the Lord. No society founded by men can do a better piece of work than the one that has been founded of the Lord Jesus Christ. No such society can do as good a work. Then why should they be instituted, and why should they be founded, organized and operated? All their implications are to the effect that the local congregation as such is insufficient for the doing of what ought to be done in evangelism or benevolent and educational work. If not, why have them? And since God made no provision for them, the honor of their institution and operation does not go and cannot possibly go to God. God is not glorified through them. But he is glorified through the church, for Christ built it.

The supposed recognition of the necessity of bringing into existence these religious societies and conventions is of itself, an implication that the church, the local congregation in any locality is insufficient, incomplete and hence imperfect. But this is a grave error. If not, then would the Lord not have made at least some sort of provision for the more general and representative groups organized by uninspired men as time passed, and as exigencies, in the minds of men seemed to arise. Can the local church, the congregational group of disciples in any locality, do the work the Lord has commanded? The answer to this question is a most emphatic affirmative. They functioned perfectly well in the beginning. They had their elders and deacons. They had those with age and experience to instruct, assist, aid, and counsel those who were in need of the very things that age and experience can give. The strong bore the infirmities of the weak. They bore one another's burdens, exhorted, admonished, encouraged, edified and warned, with reference to the sound doctrine of Christ, and things needful and applicable in the practical things of life. And this was enough. At least they thought so; and the apostles thought so. And the apostles were guided by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Things read, received, considered and urged in the local congregation, and all things required or suggested are far more readily accepted than if the same things come to them from a distance, from some outside organization.

The Standard's editor says: "The purpose of both the society and convention often seems to be that of bringing churches and ministers under control of an official religious monopoly." Thus the church "society" people view their own work at least insofar as the Standard is to be relied on to represent their views. A "monopoly," a "religious monopoly," an "official religious monopoly"! An official religious monopoly of what sort, and of what kind of work? The answer is that it is that of bringing churches and ministers under its "control." Too late, alas, these brethren who urged "progress" and flattered themselves in being known as "progressives" are waking up to a realization of the "tail wagging the dog." Their society now would, or rather does, control the churches and the preachers, and all this by actual concession on the part of so prominent an exponent as the editor of the Christian Standard. But that this is a correct representation of the real and actual truth in the matter there can be no doubt. The society and the convention has become super-organizations in full control of all the churches and preachers! This is history repeating itself. This is the course of all the numerous denominational ecclesiasticisms that exist today. Some society, an arrangement wholly of men, is organized, and gradually it assumes the control of and the domination of the churches. In such an arrangement the church that Christ built is entirely subordinated to the greater organization that men have built.—G. H. P. S. in Firm Foundation, July 4, 1944.

The above editorial in the Firm Foundation appeared nearly ten years ago. It is exactly the view that the paper supports at the present time. The plea of those who began the organization of the Brotherhood Convention in 1849 together with the supplemental state organizations was a matter of an organization independent of the church or churches as such. The cooperation of the churches of Christ and of independent Christians has been carried on since the beginning of the church in the first century. That is being taught and practiced at the present time. No one church is lording it over the other churches. They are within the range of their God-ordained plan when they work together in love. I shall expect to follow this with some further observations.

"IMPROVING CONGREGATIONAL SINGING"

For reasons unavoidable to us, it has been necessary to defer the publication of our special, "Improving Congregational Singing," till our issue of January 5, 1954. We have a large number of writers in the brotherhood reporting on this special issue. We believe it will be of immense importance to all the churches. There is probably no greater thing connected with the work and worship of the church more important at the present time than singing. When this part of the worship is conducted in the proper way according to the Scriptures, much may be accomplished in any of the churches that cannot be done in any other way.

A large number of orders have been received, but others doubtless are ready to send in their orders. The price is $5.00 per hundred copies prepaid, and this is a very small consideration for this valuable special edition on the praise service in the church. One hundred copies to five hundred copies can be supplied at a very small consideration. Why not order them? In every locality, in fact in every congregation of disciples, great good may be done with this special issue. A cut-in picture of each of the writers will be a special feature. You are requested to send an order for as many copies as you can use as early as possible.

Reporting By Request

Foy E. Wallace, Jr.

In respect for continued requests, this brief report is given. A year has passed since my wife suffered the cerebral attack from which medical staffs said she could not recover. In the determination to reverse this fateful prognosis, we came to Hot Springs National Park. Here in the waters of these natural radioactive hot mineral springs, the hydro-physio-therapy method of manipulation and massage, a proven process to restore impotent members of the body, has been administered. Every day for many weeks, I rolled her in the wheelchair down "Bath House Row" to the Maurice Therapeutic Pool, where this special therapy is applied. Results were soon apparent and sustained. She, whom doctors once believed could not live and later thought could never walk again, not only now lives, but walks with assistance—and in time, she will again walk alone.

With us it has been a year of extreme crisis. Away from home, old friends and loved ones, my beloved and I have been companions in loneliness. I can remember no time when I have felt so humanly helpless as in these waiting weeks through months of vigil kept over a dependent loved one, so stricken and so trusting. In the shadows we have felt at sea, unable to look through hovering darkness to shore. The "lower lights" at times seemed not to "be burning." But we have believed that in some way it will sometime come out all right. We came here to restore the mistress of my heart and mother of our home to physical activity. We shall continue in the effort, returning as often and staying as long as the task requires. To accomplish this end, I count no personal sacrifice within my ability to sustain too great, no pecuniary means within my power to secure too much, regardless of present difficulties or future obligations. All these are accepted with the same determination that brought us to this national resort in quest of the hold on life embosomed in thermal fountains.

In this time of stress, it has not been possible for me to fill more than occasional appointments, but it appears hopeful now that I shall be able to meet a limited schedule of short meetings or special engagements through the coming year. My mail address, still unchanged for more than fifteen years, is post office box 1804, Oklahoma City.

No words of my own can communicate the depth of our feeling for the flow of good words from faithful friends. May God forever bless you all.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

16th and Decatur Streets, N. W.
Washington, D. C.

A. R. Holton, Minister
November 23, 1953

ARMISTICE DAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1953

The Sixteenth and Decatur Church of Christ at 4801 16th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., was host to the churches of Christ in this area at the annual Fellowship Meeting which is held on Armistice Day. The theme for the meeting this year was preaching the gospel in the cities. The morning session at 10:30 A.M. was addressed by Clyde Sloan, minister of the Church of Christ, Silver Spring, Maryland; Thomas N. Page, minister of the Church of Christ, Falls Church, Virginia; Wendell Kee, minister of the Church of Christ, Levittown, Pennsylvania. These brethren pointed out that there are great doors open for the Cause of Christ in the cities of our land and, as Paul says, there are many adversaries. Materialism, neglect, the fact that people move so much, was pointed out as hindering causes.

The song service in the morning session was led by Sam P. Durrance, minister of the Avalon Heights Church of Christ, Washington, D. C. Lunch was served in the Fellowship Hall at 12:30. During the meal we had the pleasure of hearing a choral group led by Curtis C. Combs, minister of the Alexandria, Virginia, Church of Christ.

The afternoon session began at 2:00 P.M. with the following speakers: Billy Hood, minister, Southeast Church of Christ, Washington, D. C.; Ivan R. Stewart, minister, Church of Christ, West Hyattsville, Md.; Fred B. Walker, minister, Church of Christ, Arlington, Virginia. The afternoon session carried out the same theme as the morning session. The song service in the afternoon was led by Curtis C. Combs.

The day was a day of great inspiration. Many visitors from this area came for the meeting. This meeting is held each year and it is planned for different congregations to hold the meeting. It is one of the great fellowship periods for the churches in this area. The Sixteenth Street Church was glad to have the meeting in their new building for this year.

FROM THE HARVEST FIELD

David Allan, 1020 Austin Avenue, Brownwood, Texas, December 13: We had excellent services today, both in interest and attendance, and an old lady who had lived all her life in the Methodist faith, made the good confession and was baptized. The work here goes along in a very fine way.

William B. Kughn, Jr., 506 Cotton Avenue, Caruthersville, Missouri: Three were baptized and two confessed wrongs. We are still witnessing record breaking attendance for all services and a steady increase in the contribution. Structure has begun on the twenty thousand dollar annex.

Doyle Ragsdale, Rocksprings, Texas, December 15: We recently closed a wonderful meeting here in Rocksprings, with Brother Luther Norman doing the preaching. His lessons were true to the Book and delivered in a most humble manner. He is one of the few old soldiers of the cross that have been preaching fifty years or more. May God bless all of them.

Harold Thurman, Lindsay, Oklahoma, December 11: During the last two years this congregation has enjoyed wonderful growth. There have been 118 additions, including 48 baptized. The average attendance and contribution has more than doubled. I would like to arrange for several meetings next year, including cities where the church is not self-supporting. This congregation is now contributing to the support of J. D. Bryant who lives here and devotes much time to the Lord's work in Lindsay and surrounding communities.

R. P. Drennon, Fort Sumner, New Mexico, November 28: As several brethren have asked about my health, I will write a few lines about it. I was operated on last January at Scott and White Clinic in Temple. The doctors found a cancer in my stomach that they could not take out. They sewed me up and told me I had from six to eighteen months to live. I have lived ten months of the time and am doing very well. I think I will go the eighteen months or longer. I am still able to preach, and the brethren here are very kind to me. The work here is doing as well as at any time since I have been here, which is almost seven years. I ask the prayers of the brethren that I may remain faithful unto the end.

J. W. Webb, Box 397, Moore, Oklahoma, December 14: We have just closed a very fine and successful meeting here. Brother Foy L. Smith, of Cleburne, Texas, did the preaching, and Brother Ben M. Hall, one of our elders, directed the song worship. There were three additions, two baptisms and one restoration. Brother Smith did some wonderful preaching. Interest was fine and increased throughout the meeting. The song service was very good. Both the preacher and the singer did their parts exceptionally well. The congregation was strengthened and edified by the great lessons presented by Brother Smith. Seed was sown, hearts were moved and stirred to action, and the church reaped great benefits through the meeting. We are a small congregation, yet a good one, and the work in all its phases seems to be on the increase. Much good has been done through the year 1953, but we hope to do more through 1954.

Sterli A. Watson, 1284 Morton Avenue, St. Louis 14, Missouri: Beginning December 20th, there will be two services on Sunday mornings at the West End church. Several have been baptized here recently. The early service will begin at 8:45. We hope to build up a large attendance for both services.

Gilbert Allan, 1112 West Baker St., Brownwood, Texas, December 13: Our attendance at both Bible study and worship service is rapidly building up, for these good brethren have a mind to work. Today we were made to rejoice, when a young man from a Baptist college, made the good confession and was baptized.

Omar H. Johnston, 2726 Gladstone, Dallas, Texas, December 10: In the closing days of the year 1953, I wish to thank, through the medium of your good paper, the kind elders and brethren in the various congregations where I have preached this year for their encouragement and hospitality. May God continue to bless them each and everyone in my prayer.

A. W. Chism, 415 Highland Park, Lebanon, Tennessee, December 5: The work continues in a fine way at the Highland church here in Lebanon. All attendance records have been broken several times and about 55 have been baptized this year. Last week was one of the most fruitful in our labor for this congregation. Eight adults were baptized and two were restored. May the Lord help us to be more thankful and appreciative for his constant blessings and to give all praise to him for whatever may be accomplished by working together in his name.

Harrell H. Dame, Rt. 1, Box 96A, Poteau, Oklahoma, December 7: After three and one-half years with the church at Panama, Oklahoma, I am leaving the work there to work with the church at Monroe, Oklahoma. The church at Panama is a fine group of people. No preacher could desire to work with a more cooperative church than Panama. The attendance there is at an all time high and interest is good. Four were baptized at the last two services I was there. I shall begin my duties with the church at Monroe, December 13, 1953. I am looking forward to a great work there in the Lord's kingdom. Pray for us in this work.

J. M. Wilson, Box 281, Dexter, New Mexico, December 7: I began my work here at Dexter, New Mexico, as local preacher November 18th. Since that time we have had six confessions of sins and one baptized today. This is a fine group to work with. They all have a mind to work. We recently pledged five hundred dollars to the Herald of Truth TV program and will send them the money this month. We also loaded a truck for the Navajo Indian work at Manuelito, New Mexico. This load consisted of one hundred and fifty used opera chairs and thirty-three boxes of clothing. We plan to start on our new meeting-house after the first of the year. We have some fifteen thousand dollars already in the bank to start on. It is a pleasure to work with people that love the Lord as these do. May we all start the year of 1954 with more zeal than ever before, always abounding in the work of our blessed master. Pray for us.

R. B. Rankin, Alamogordo, New Mexico, November 27: We have just concluded a meeting at 9th and Texas Avenue with Brodie Crouch of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico, doing the preaching. One was baptized, two were restored and two identified themselves with the church here. An epidemic of flu and colds kept our crowds down, still much good was done. Brother Crouch did a fine job of preaching the gospel during this meeting. When passing through Alamogordo, stop and visit us.

Joe H. Morris, 2707 Ky. Avenue, Paducah, Kentucky, December 9: Clements Street continues at high speed. Our two largest audiences in history of the congregation last Lord's day, 316 in Bible School; contribution, $461.00; 77 in Wednesday ladies' Bible class; 270 in mid-week Bible study. One restored and one identified.

Available for full time preaching. Married, graduate of Abilene Christian College plus a year of graduate study in Bible at Harding College. Two years of preaching experience. Could speak during Christmas vacation for purpose of getting acquainted. Have no hobbies. He and wife are excellent personal workers. Especially interested in work in western and northwestern states, but would consider any location. Contact T. R. Atkinson, 1518 Pierce Street, Amarillo, Texas.

Cornelius C. Abbott, 401 N. Park, Seminole, Oklahoma, December 12: After December 21st my address will be 105 Joyce Avenue, Chattanooga, Tennessee. Correspondents, please notice. I shall begin work with the Red Bank church in Chattanooga. Our work at Seminole moves forward in a very fine way. I am in my 4th year with this good church. My son, Neal Abbott, would like to conduct the singing for meetings during the summer of '54. Contact him at Florida Christian College, Temple Terrace Station, Tampa 4, Florida.

Pvt. Herbert H. Knight, U S 54139613, Co. D., 8th M.T.B. 2nd Regt., M.R.T.C., Camp Pickett, Virginia, November 26: Services are held on the Post here for members of the church of Christ each Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. in Chapel 1, located on the corner of East Parade and Military Road. The work here is moving along nicely. One restoration this month. If you have relatives stationed here who do not attend services, please contact me at the above address and I will be glad to visit him and talk to him about it. We have preaching each Lord's day by one of us boys stationed here.

Greer E. Hendon, Toledo 9, Ohio, December 11: Since we moved here July 20, there have been 38 additions to the body of Christ. There were seven responses to the invitation last Lord's day morning. The church is working, by bringing neighbors and friends to the services. I did the preaching and our son, Greer Chunn, led the singing in a meeting with the church at Bradner, Ohio. This meeting was conducted in the new meeting house. Bradner is a mission of Western Avenue. The church at Port Clinton, Ohio, is meeting in their new meeting house. They are a mission of Western Avenue. If you have relatives or friends that live in Toledo send us their names and addresses. We will look them up and encourage them to attend the services. We are having to use chairs in the aisles each week, but we have a list of names of people who are not attending, that would fill the building again, if they would just attend.

Kenneth J. Arrington, Wichita Falls, Texas, November 30: Brother Thomas McDonald of Waco, Texas, closed a very fine meeting with the 23rd and Grace Street congregation in Wichita Falls, Texas, November 22. Our attendance for every service was the best we have had. Brother McDonald did his part in a very fine and forceful way. There were seven restorations, one baptism and five to place membership during the meeting. We have had a total of twenty-two responses for the month of November. When in Wichita Falls, visit with us.

J. E. Wainwright, 547 East Walnut Avenue, El Segundo, California, December 11: Elders of Downtown church, Front at Beech, San Diego, invited me to speak at ordination services increasing their elders and deacons. Brother Rhodes is the capable and respected preacher. Elders of Culver-Palms, Los Angeles, invited me to speak several times during change of preachers. Brother Glen Rabe assisted commendably. El Segundo church securing two large lots, corner Grand and Lomita, near city park and plan to erect commodious buildings for every good work. These congregations are not afflicted, nor threatened, with divisive theories about the authority of the elders—rule or guidance; nor the duties and dues of every worthy gospel preacher.

RIVER AT LASALLE
WACO, TEXAS

Lowell E. Manchester, Pryor, Oklahoma, December 11: This is to let all the readers know that we are leaving the work here as of the first of the year to take up the work at Pearl, Illinois, and that section. Some of the best people anywhere to be found live here in Pryor. We are leaving of our own accord and anyone chosen for the work here will find a god congregation of humble Christians. I held three meetings this year—Davis City, Iowa; Claremore, Oklahoma; and Bible Grove, Missouri, which resulted in three baptisms and one restoration. Pray for us and write to us.

R. D. Simmons, 441 W. Clark, Corpus Christi, Texas, December 8: I am leaving the work here at Furman and Staples, Corpus Christi, Texas, January 31, 1954. On February 7th I will begin work with the Central church, 12th and Hoover Streets, Los Angeles, California. The work here has been pleasant and profitable in many ways and I can personally recommend the elders of this congregation to any preacher brother who might be interested in the work here. This month has completed five pleasant years with this congregation. Will all correspondents please note my change of address after February 1, 1954.

Ray O. Wright, Wellington, Kansas, December 1: The congregation here recently closed a meeting with Clifton Rogers of Port Arthur, Texas, doing the preaching. There were five baptisms, three restorations and two were identified with us. The brethren were edified and challenged to greater zeal by the fine lessons of Brother Rogers. Smith Kite, who preaches regularly for the congregation at Norwich, Kansas, led the singing for the meeting. The congregation suffered a great loss recently by the passing of Brother Charles W. Cole, one of our elders. We have purchased lots and have the blueprints and hope to begin construction of a new meeting house in the near future.

Duward E. Lee, 824 N. 7th, Grand Junction, Colorado: The church of our Lord is growing in Grand Junction, Colorado. Since the first part of July we have been working with the congregation at 7th and Teller. There are only about 85 members, yet we are having about 120 in class each Lord's day and approximately 130 for worship and preaching. Though there have been no baptisms, there have been about thirty-four responses to the Lord's invitation—confessing faults and restorations. Eight others placed membership. The elders have begun a plan for enlarging the present auditorium and building a class-room wing for additional classes. We believe the church here is really on the forward march. Only recently we were able to get the Herald of Truth program on our most powerful station (KFXJ). Casper, Wyoming, and Denver, Colorado, are the two nearest stations carrying the broadcast, and neither of these can be heard here. We believe this program along with our own weekly broadcast reaches many, who otherwise would not hear the gospel. November 8-15 I preached here in a series of meetings. Three pre-meeting classes were planned for the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th. Then November 24-29 the church here supported me in a meeting at Gunnison, Colorado. Gunnison, with a population of about 3,000, has long needed a congregation but just recently started meeting. Their services are held in Odd Fellows Hall. Anyone interested in helping the brethren there should write Sylvan Gray, Sapinero, Colorado.

J. Willard Morrow, 2203 Azle Avenue, N. Ft. Worth, Texas, December 9: Recently it was my privilege to close a period of ninety-four weeks of continuous gospel meetings. My health was and is the best. This week we are in a good meeting with the church at Johnsville. Brother Elton Bills is the efficient preacher, and together they are doing an excellent work. This has been the most fruitful year of my life in the ministry. We shall hope that 1954 will be even better for each of us—and for the church at large. I shall be glad to hear from congregations desiring meetings for the coming year—or even further ahead. I am in position to give two Lord's days in meetings where this is desired. Write me at the above address as soon as possible.

J. B. Hudson, Box 604, George West, Texas, December 10: December 4th marked our sixth anniversary with the church at this place. Everything moves forward with the least possible amount of friction. Peace and harmony prevail—the work speaks for itself. I was in a short meeting with the Dilley church in October. Brother Daniel Hiler, teacher in the public schools, preaches for the church there. The meeting in Three Rivers, in which I was privileged to preach, came to a close last Sunday night. One was baptized. Brother T. A. Grice is doing a good work there. On the last Lord's day of November, Brother Bommer Gist of Taft and I exchanged pulpits. Brother Gist formerly preached for the George West church. Thus goes the work, and thus goes life. May the Master find it acceptable in that day. Brethren, pray for us.

Perry B. Cotham, 3709 Rosemont, Nashville, Tennessee, December 11: I have recently conducted meetings and showed my Holy Land pictures at Ft. Worth, Texas (Meadowbrook church, Preston Cotham, local evangelist), Wewoka, Oklahoma (Harvey Scott, minister; Leo Richardson, associate), Shawnee, Oklahoma, (East Main, Russell Bankes, Jr., preacher) and Marshall, Texas (Ed Grantham, evangelist). In all these meetings the crowds were large and there were several additions. In the Ft. Worth meeting a Baptist preacher was baptized. I understand he is developing into a fine preacher. He seems to be a very fine young man, a student at the Seminary. It was good to visit again in Wewoka and Shawnee, where I spent six years at each place in local work. At this time I am preaching in the Washington, D. C. area: W. Hyattsville, Maryland, where Ivan Stewart works as local preacher. I have promised to preach for the Lindsley Avenue church in Nashville for a few weeks this winter.

NEW YEAR'S EVE SINGING—RIVERSIDE IN FORT WORTH

Gary Scott

The eleventh annual New Year's Eve Singing will be conducted at the church of Christ in Riverside, 2701 East Belknap St., Fort Worth, Texas, Thursday, December 31, 1953. Services will begin at 7:30 P.M. Brother Gary Scott, one of our ministers, will be in charge. In addition to great congregational singing, there will be quartets and special choruses.

As many as 1500 have attended these singings. This is a "high day" with us and we would like to have you with us in this great song service.

NOW BUILDING—THE NORTH'S FIRST HOME FOR ORPHANS

The walls are completed and the roof on since this photo was made in early fall, the home for homeless children being built by service-minded Christians at Valparaiso, Indiana, is making steady progress.

Located in one of the finest farm-land areas in the United States, the home at time of operation will have 250 acres, with another 250 in prospect—a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis of Valparaiso.

The structure now building will house administration staff and 32 children at the outset. It is hoped that cottages can be added as expansion is practical.

Christians have contributed better than $90,000 for this worthy work and an estimated $45,000 is yet needed to complete the fine building and equip it for Christian service.

Your help can be a vital factor in putting this home into action. Won't you send a contribution—large or small—to John H. Kemp, Treasurer, Shults-Lewis Youth Haven, Milford, Ohio? Your rejoicing as you see our first home in the north become a reality will be greater if you have had some part in making it ready for service.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

W. B. West, Jr.

George S. Benson, President of Harding College, was selected recently in a statewide poll made by the ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT, as the Arkansan of the Year. This selection was made by the people of Arkansas as an expression of appreciation for the service of George S. Benson to their state and nation. It is a high honor.

Paul said, "Honor to whom honor is due." It occurred to me that all the Christian friends of Brother Benson would appreciate knowing of this deserved honor which has come to him and would rejoice in it.

DEBATE

J. P. Lusby

Brother F. I. Stanley engaged Mr. J. Cullis Smith, President of the Orthodox Baptist Seminary, Ardmore, Oklahoma, in a four-night debate at Midland, Texas, September 22-25. I moderated for Brother Stanley. The matters discussed were salvation and the church. Brother Stanley did a very good piece of work, error was exposed and the truth was victorious. Even before the debate had closed, two, one a Baptist, the other a Presbyterian, said they were convinced of the truth and indicated their intentions to obey it.

This was the fourth debate engaged in by Brother Stanley this year. He has also preached in nine meetings in addition to his regular work with the Southside church in Midland.

I have signed propositions for discussion with Mr. Smith to be held some time after the first of the year (dates have not yet been set) in Amarillo, Texas. The propositions are baptism, apostasy, and the third being a little unusual I give it in full: Resolved, That the Scriptures Show Plainly and Unmistakably that J. P. Lusby and his Brethren are Following the Doctrines and Practices originated by Alexander Campbell, and are Therefore Campbellites. Of course, Smith affirms this and I deny.

COMMENDATION

This is to state that Brother Harrell H. Dame who has preached for the church here the past three and one-half years, is leaving the work here to work with another congregation.

Brother Dame is an able and a faithful gospel preacher. Much good has been done for the church at this place during the time he has labored here and it is regretted by the entire congregation that he is leaving the work here.

We commend Brother Dame and his fine family to the brotherhood, and the prayers of the congregation at this place go with them in their new work.

INFORMATION WANTED

J. D. Thomas

In order to make the 1954 Abilene Christian College Lectureship the very best in all departments, we are anxious to hear about churches who have been particularly successful in some phase of church work so that an exhibit might be arranged demonstrating their ideas that others may learn the method. We would like for members of these churches or other people who know about their results to send us the names and addresses of the churches so that we can have the best possible group of exhibits at the Lectureship. We would also be happy for representatives of the mission fields to plan an exhibit of their work and let us know of their plans so that we can arrange to provide space.

THE VICKSBURG TORNADO

By Joe T. Priestley

You have read the reports of the disaster and space will not be used here to describe it.

No casualties have been reported among the church members. A few did receive minor injury and some had property damage. We consider ourselves as a group fortunate.

Many calls are being received as to help needed.

The response by those not in the path of the tornado and various cities close by through various organizations has been great and it is believed that sufficient clothing is being received.

The Vicksburg congregation with the aid of congregations close by is supplying some clothing and miscellaneous supplies also.

The greatest work the church can do is going to be during rehabilitation, helping to rebuild and refurnish so congregations out of the immediate area who desire to help may do so better by sending cash contributions to be used in rehabilitation. Address Church of Christ, P. O. Box 901, Vicksburg, Mississippi.

OVERFLOWING CROWD AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN COLLEGE HOMECOMING

James Mathews

Approximately 300 parents, alumni, and friends visited the campus of Central Christian College on Thanksgiving Day for the Homecoming exercises.

After an informal program by the A Cappella Chorus and a welcome by President L. R. Wilson, Melvin Wise, minister of the Preston Road Church of Christ in Dallas, Texas, gave the principal address before an overflowing audience. Because of inadequate seating facilities many were compelled to stand outside the auditorium.

In the afternoon friends of Central Christian College gathered with Brother Wilson for an informal discussion concerning plans for the growth of the college. Keith Robinson of Lone Star, Missouri, was elected president of the recently-organized Alumni Association.

Lt. Col. Robt. M. Silvey, Cornhusker Ord. Plant, Grand Island, Nebraska: I was transferred from Tokyo, Japan, to Grand Island, Nebraska, in October. Glen Bettenhausen, who is now under the oversight of the elders of the Sanders and Live Oak Streets congregation in Bowie, Texas, was instrumental in establishing the New Testament church in Grand Island in July of 1953. The church has leased a building as a meeting place. It is located at 511 N. Clark Street. This week Glen Bettenhausen is holding a meeting in Davenport, Nebraska, where Christians from Kansas City, Aurora, Beatrice, and Grand Island met Thursday (Thanksgiving day) for an afternoon service at which time several brethren spoke and I had an opportunity to speak of the mission work in Japan and the work being planned for Korea by the 16th and Decatur church in Washington, D. C. Your prayers and your financial assistance are needed now to help take advantage of the many opportunities to spread the borders of the kingdom of Christ in Japan, in Korea, and in this mission field here in Nebraska.

Lloyd Moyer, 309—36th Street, Richmond, California, November 28: After a little over four years of pleasant work with the church in San Leandro, California, I began work with the church in Richmond October 18, 1953. Due to previous appointments for meetings I have only preached at Richmond four Sundays. At those services four were baptized, thirteen came for membership and twenty-two confessed faults. In spite of the trouble that has been there we look forward to a profitable work for the cause of Christ. It was most difficult to leave the fine brethren at San Leandro. We shall cherish the years spent with them as among the happiest of our lives. They have selected Brother Roy Osborne, of Nashville, Tennessee, to work with them. I recently closed a meeting with the church in Sunnyvale, California, where my brother, Otis Moyer, preaches, with four baptisms and one confession of faults. This finds me in a meeting at Watsonville, California, where Brother Claton Bussard is doing a wonderful work as preacher. The results of the first five nights here were one baptism, one confession of faults and two by membership. When in Richmond we invite you to worship with us at the above address.

H. F. Sharp, Conway, Arkansas, December 9: Brother C. R. Nichol met W. E. Sherrill, Baptist preacher, at Benton, Arkansas, in religious discussion December 1-4. The debate was held in the Baptist meeting house. The propositions to be discussed were: Establishment of the church of the New Testament, operation of the Holy Spirit in the conversion and conviction of the alien sinner, baptism and apostasy. Brother Nichol affirmed the first and third night and was in the negative the second and fourth night. In the first speech Brother Nichol tried to get Mr. Sherrill to tell him if the Baptists would have a man in their church that did not believe in the death, burial and resurrection of Christ. Mr. Sherrill, as most Baptist preachers, did not meet the issue but continually did his best to evade the propositions. The final night on the apostasy subject Brother Nichol crushed Baptist doctrine on depravity and the outer and inner man so completely that it is the opinion of many Mr. Sherrill will never again meet him. Under pressure Mr. Sherrill said his body was all that sinned about him. Brother Nichol quoted 1 Cor. 6:18: "Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is before the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body." The force of this argument was noted on Mr. Sherrill. With the grace, that characterized C. R. Nichol, a plea was made to the Baptists who were present. Nichol was the master every moment of every night. Mr. Sherrill and his Baptist people learned to respect C. R. Nichol. He is every inch a Christian and deserves the respect of those who know him and commands respect of those that meet him. Never a greater victory for "Truth" has been won in our day. The debate will be published. The price will be $3. Send all orders to C. R. Nichol Pub. Co., Clifton, Texas. Those who think C. R. Nichol is too old to debate should have heard this debate. He is clear in his thinking, quick to catch all points of controversy, and the experience of his well prepared background make him a man who fears no man. Call C. R. Nichol for any defense the "Truth" needs to make. He will handle the situation capably. Many preachers were in attendance. Many came from all over Arkansas and some from Texas. Brother Pace, evangelist of the Benton church of Christ made the arrangements for the debate and took the debate down on tape recorder. It was a privilege of mine to act as timekeeper.

L. W. Mayo, 81 No. 8th, San Jose, California: On November 1st we began our third year with the congregation here. During these two years we have not made a report to any of the papers. It is firmly believed that some progress has been made during these years of work. Since we came to San Jose there have been 56 baptized and about 50 to confess wrongs. Of course some have come by transfer of membership but no effort on my part has been made to keep a count of these. During the past two years we have had Pat Broadus, Paul Southern, Peter Wilson, and Jimmie Tolle with us in meetings. During the same time I have engaged in four debates and about ten meetings. I would not say that San Jose has been the hardest work in the land, but will assert that it has not been the easiest. In many things the work here has been hindered though no outstanding trouble has existed. But, the brethren say that the work is in the best shape it has ever been in. The attendance is better in the last year than before. More have been baptized than in the same length of time before, and the contribution has been better than ever before. It is my opinion that there are very bright hopes for the future of the work here.

A NEW CHURCH IN SAVANNAH, GEORGIA

C. A. Buffington

Old things can become new again. "Our inward man is renewed (made new) day by day." When the Saviour was betrayed, led away as a convicted criminal and crucified, the apostles were horrified, filled with fear and disappointment. Their exalted hope of a glorious kingdom died. Their light which had shined with heavenly brightness was extinguished. Disappointed and hopeless they would return to their old occupation, but in the midst of their darkest hour the power of the Almighty brought to life again the Crucified One. The disciples were electrified; they were transformed; they became new again. Peter wrote eternally, speaking not only for himself but for the body, saying, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who, according to his great mercy, begot us anew unto a living hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead."

So it is with the Forty-first church in Savannah. Satan to a great extent has taken over. Sin and dissension were to be observed everywhere. Many had forsaken the worship. Others were hopelessly holding on. Confusion, contention and disunity were surely rendering others inactive. But a great transformation has taken place. An old sinful, inactive church has become a new congregation. More than 60 confessions of wrongs and unfaithfulness have been made. Many straying sheep have returned to the fold. Four have put on the Lord Jesus in baptism. Spiritual robes have been substituted for worldly rags. The general atmosphere has been purified and sweetened by the sweet savor of the gospel. Unity, appreciation and love are our ever-present guests. Faith, confidence and cooperation is the cry of victory. We can now say with Peter: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who, according to his great mercy, begat us again (anew) unto a living hope"—unto a new church.

The new life, the new relationship, the new faith, the new hope and the new determination to be and to do will be seen in our today's collection, $2,842.62.

HARDEMAN-DEWEY DEBATEH. R. Little

The debate between Brother Pat Hardeman, of Urbana, Illinois, and Professor Richard Dewey, of the University of Illinois, was held in the building where the church meets in Urbana, Illinois. It lasted two evenings, December 2 and 3. The subjects were naturalism as opposed to supernaturalism.

Each speaker had a 20 minute affirmative speech in which he declared the reasonableness of his position, and this was followed by a 20 minute rebuttal. At the end of the discussion there was a 30 minute question and answer period with questions directed alternately to each speaker.

The conduct of both speakers was of the most superior kind. However, it became apparent as the discussion proceeded that Professor Dewey was laboring under an inadequacy, not of ability, but of proof to support the deterministic views of naturalism. On more than one occasion Professor Dewey stated that he did not feel qualified to discuss some of Brother Hardeman's points.

As a whole both men conducted themselves in a scholarly manner. Professor Dewey is a highly respected member of the University faculty, and Brother Hardeman is a very capable gospel preacher.

N. B. HARDEMAN LECTURES AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN COLLEGE*James Mathews

N. B. Hardeman will deliver a series of lectures at Central Christian from March 1-5, according to L. R. Wilson, president.

His talks will be directed especially to preachers and those who are training to preach. He will speak on the daily chapel program and at one special class per day.

All who are interested are cordially invited to make plans to attend these informative lectures by Brother Hardeman.

WALLACE-KETCHERSIDE DEBATEBy Sterl A. Watson

This debate was held in St. Louis October 26-30. Fine crowds were on hand for each session. We are very happy over this discussion. Brother G. K. Wallace did a splendid job prosecuting hobbyists and defending the truth. The debate is supposed to be published, and will be an asset to any library. The West End church sponsored the debate and the other churches co-operated nicely.

We invited Brother Ketcherside's folk to repeat this at the same time next year. He has stated that that one will have to wait till he has debated Brother Wallace in Georgia. Of course, that is a way to hedge. Let no one deceive you into believing that his crowd wanted to have the one we did have. It took plenty of pressure. One reason they want to take debates away from St. Louis is perhaps that Ketcherside is too well known here. He has too much trouble in his own ranks. One of his brethren speaks of Carl having his "fangs" in some of the churches. Some people know what mushy smiles sometimes mask. That crowd sued our brethren at Ellington, Missouri, to take their meeting house. They lost the case, but it does show that they have no regard for 1 Cor. 6. Fred Killebrew was one of their key witnesses. I testified on behalf of the church, as well as Brother L. O. Sanderson, of Springfield, Missouri. I have heard that their strongest congregation here baptizes less than an average of six per year.

Most of their young preachers are starved out of the pulpit and into factories. Ketcherside's teaching is simply a modified form of the work of an old faction. This faction has failed in the north. Now, they look to the south as a happy hunting ground. Our brethren will have to learn to meet them headon. When they learn that you won't be pushed around, you won't be bothered a great deal with them. They, and their sympathizers, should be promptly withdrawn from. Ketcherside's elders stated, before the last debate, that G. K. Wallace was not fit to debate with. That is exactly what they would say about any man who exposes the destructive work of their faction. May I suggest that no man should agree to debate Ketcherside's theories and divorce them from his practices.

When brethren generally get their eyes open to the fact that this faction has a record of wreck and ruin, they will fight them back into their corner. It is a fact well understood that West End church will not tolerate their foolishness. Carl does mail his paper to a few members and they bring them to me. So far as I know, not one member has turned to their hobby, from any of the churches, for several years. They catch folks who come here blinded to the dangers of this faction.

John Patrick Fogarty, 1028 E. Locust, Davenport, Iowa, November 25: A lady was immersed during a service last night that will be long remembered by the church here. The baptism took place while icy rain poured through the unshingled roof overhead. The circumstances of this first service in the new building yet unfinished deepened the determination of these brethren, to press on to the completion of their place of worship. Six others have since been baptized. Members here have for the last seven months done all the labor themselves on the structure and will continue to do what the city code will allow. We have given ten thousand dollars cash during the period. We plan to sell bonds paying five percent interest to finish the cost of the project. These bonds mature in one to fifteen years and fully protect those who buy the bonds from any loss. These brethren are worthy of your fellowship. The area in this part of our country is a mission section. The city of Davenport is a progressive city of nearly a hundred thousand. The Davenport congregation will be a strong radiating point for the gospel sooner if you will have a part in the Lord's work here and it need not change your helping your local congregation's program. We will be happy to write full information on how you can help upon request.

HOUSTON BIBLE SCHOOL

Houston Bible School realized its first accomplishment with the opening of two elementary schools September 8 with an enrollment of 155. The first two units are a part of a long range program that is to carry through Junior College, according to Clyde P. Findlay, president of the school. The first piece of property to be purchased by the school is the former Berry Foundation School for Paraletics. This valuable piece of property is located in the fastest growing section of Houston and consists of a beautiful wooded plot on which are several buildings. The latter is a beautiful log mansion which provides a large auditorium 45 by 75 feet and ample classroom and office space. The property on the Northside at Helmers and Linden site is leased. Teachers in the elementary schools are all graduates of Christian colleges and hold teachers' certificates. Principals of the two schools are Clovis Crawford and Doris Wardell. Present classes are provided through the seventh grade. There are also two kindergartens. A grade is to be added each year. The first annual lecture program was held at the new property, 2950 Broadway, on the evenings of October 19, 20 and 23 at 7:30 each evening. Evening classes in Greek Sermon preparations, Teaching the Bible to Children, and the Old Testament Background of New Testament Teaching are scheduled to begin on November 17. Interested persons are requested to get in touch with the school about these evening classes. The property cost was $60,000. Contributions from friends of Christian education everywhere are earnestly solicited. Box 14,446, Houston, Texas.

Our Departed

BERTLING—John William Bertling was born in Shawnee County, Kansas, December 25, 1871, and departed this life November 20, 1953, at the age of eighty-one years, ten months, and twenty-six days. He was united in holy matrimony with Oda Belle Wade, March 1, 1892. To this union was born six children, five girls and a boy. Of these one infant daughter preceded him in death, September 8, 1902. His survivors include the wife, Oda, of the home; one son and four daughters; thirteen grandchildren, twelve great-grandchildren, a number of nephews and nieces and a host of friends who will all miss him greatly. He obeyed the gospel in October of 1887 and served his Lord faithfully until death. He served as an elder of the church in Western Oklahoma for several years. He had been in failing health for the past five years, but took seriously ill November 15th and passed on to his reward on November 20th. His wife and four daughters were at his bedside when the end came. The body was taken to Michita, Kansas, for interment.

His life on earth is ended,
His voice no more we'll hear,
Nor know again his presence,
'Til we meet over there;

We have this consolation—
He lived for God, above,
And filled the hours of others
With happiness and love.

We wish to thank all our good brothers and sisters in Christ and our many good neighbors and friends for every kind word and deed as well as for the beautiful floral offerings.

Signed: Mrs. J. W. Bertling, Enid, Oklahoma; Mrs. Jewell Kile, Forgan, Oklahoma; Mr. Roy Bertling, Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Beulah Riley, Wichita, Kansas; Mrs. Lela Brown, Wichita, Kansas; Mrs. Arletta Lyon, Kansas City, Kansas.

CORDER—William Filmore Corder was born in Carroll County, Tennessee, November 15, 1858. He came to Texas when a young man. He was united in marriage to Annie T. Stanbaugh in 1894. He and his wife were baptized into Christ the same year. They settled in Greer County, Oklahoma, where they lived for many years. They moved to the Rio Grande valley of Texas in 1926. He passed on to the great beyond December 5, 1953, in Donna, Texas, at the age of 95 years, and 20 days. He was laid to rest in the Donna cemetery of Hidalgo County, Texas. He is survived by his wife. Brother Corder was loved and honored by those who knew him best. I found him to be a real friend and a wise counselor. We shall miss him.

NORMAN—In deep sorrow we report the passing of our beloved friend and brother in Christ, J. E. Norman. He came to our town about seven years ago. He got a small group of members together, preached for us, gave his time and money to build a meeting house. We now have a membership of about 60. We now have a young minister, begotten by Brother Norman's teaching. Young Kenney Rodriguez is now our minister, and is doing a fine job. Brother Norman established several congregations that are now working well. At the time of his death he was teaching at Lamont, California. He worked up to the last day of life. He passed away Thanksgiving day. We join his many friends in sorrow for his passing away, but his work as an endless chain will go on.

Cato Sheerer, Kerens, Texas, December 14: On Lord's day, December 6th, four responded to the invitation, confessing faults and were identified with this congregation to work and worship here. There have been ten others identified and expressing their desires to work and worship here since our last report. The church seems to be growing spiritually as well as in numbers, the attendance at all services are good. The elders outlined a good work for 1953, having part in five gospel meetings, assisting three orphan homes, as well as three smaller congregations. I mean even smaller than the congregation that meets at Kerens. By the help of the Lord, we have been able to meet our financial obligations for which we are very thankful. We only lack one Lord's day of completing two years' work with this congregation, which really amounts to three years and three months, as we worked fifteen months with them in 1949 and 1950. This has been a very pleasant work to us, and we hope and pray our services have been acceptable to the Lord. To him goes all the honor and glory for any success that has been accomplished here. The Lord has been good to us here at Kerens and we thank him for the many, many blessings that have been ours to enjoy. We are hoping and praying to be of more service in the work of our Lord in 1954 than ever before.

Roy Burgess, Box 212, Zellwood, Florida, December 14: Another erring one was reclaimed Sunday in Mt. Dora. This united a family. It is sad when husband and wife are going separate ways in religion. It is most wonderful to see harmony as the gospel is allowed its way in hearts. Beloved, have you pondered the path of your feet?

Will W. Slater, Box 7178, Sylvania Station, Fort Worth 11, Texas, December 15: The singing schools at Dixon, Missouri, and Heavener, Oklahoma, created quite an interest. Much good was accomplished at both places. I was invited back to Heavener, Oklahoma, for another school and a meeting. I will teach singing in the morning and preach at night. My next work will be in Luverne, Alabama, in January. If I can help you in a school or meeting, please write me soon.

Joe T. Priestley, 1108 Polk Street, Vicksburg, Mississippi, December 15: Sufficient seems to have been received for the Vicksburg Tornado Relief to be handled through the church. Response has been good for which we thank all who have had a part.

BROTHER A. C. HUFF'S LATEST REPORT

I had the pleasure of preaching at Hale Center Wednesday night to about 110 people. They told me that I had the largest audience they had ever had on Wednesday nights. Brother Bill Brown, the regular preacher, is responsible for that privilege. I visited him last Saturday and he invited me to preach, and he told the people Sunday that I would preach Wednesday night. He said that he was not disappointed.

Perhaps this is the solution to the problem of how to get the people out on Wednesday night. I have been telling the preachers that if they would have a program that the people enjoyed they would come without being prodded. This also may solve the problem of how to use the old discarded preachers.

I was also informed that the churches are having visiting preachers on Wednesday nights in these parts every Wednesday night, which I think is a good idea. Hope it will be adopted in all the churches where it can be done.

As to the aged preachers, they do not get too old to preach as long as they are able to preach. They should be used as much as they are able to do the work. Their experience is a great asset to the church and the churches should not neglect them. Many of them might be able to teach classes, even after their eyesight fails them so they cannot see to read. They can let the class read the lesson and they can direct the study. If they get to where they cannot read they can get a talking Bible and keep up on their reading. The state will furnish them record books on various subjects, and a record player free, and they can use the record player and the books free, and they can use the players to play the Bible records.

Our young men are doing a wonderful work and I am far from suggesting anything that would hinder them in the least.

The people are taking notice and wonder how it is that the church of Christ is growing faster than any other church. The church is growing fast and I think it is just getting started. The young men are leading in this crusade. I for one bid them godspeed. Go ahead boys and we older preachers are willing to help in every way possible. There is work for all. All should be kept busy.

When I said the people will come out if we have a program that they will enjoy I did not mean a show or anything just to entertain. Perhaps I should have added that they would come better if they love the truth and are interested in the salvation of souls.
